It seems that Dr. Jarman's heart-to-heart talk last Thursday morning held no water, for who should we see Friday walking down the street in open daylight holding hands but the same couple —who was it? I don't know, but I'll Oscar—

From the expression on M. A. B.'s face, we'd say an error in spelling had been made and correct it to M. A. D.—Why? Haurances tell tales, we're told.

We don't see much of the Overbey these days. Could it be that the opposite sex holds more attraction for her since she's blossomed away from a steady?

Nancy Bondurant's memory isn't very long. It seems she had a date for a show, but when asked who it was, she was speechless! That eternal triangle is working its way again. Mary Lou can't get settled, and there's turmoil in the cranium or should we say the palpitator.

Who is the blonde that is innocence personified but can't be convinced that she's not Hedy LaMarr?

Nimmo getting all befuddled these days what with V. M. I. in the running.

Congrats to Boo's Buddy upon being elected president of the German Club.

Flip wanted to know who the cute girl from New York was—It wasn't R. H. either but H. R.

Doris Chesnut was in her glory the night of the concert. What happened, Doris? Didn't you get what you wanted? It seems Jean Moyer got it—for who should she get a letter from D. C.'s man attraction from Duke.—Those Tar heels were all right, weren't they.

How is Mae Bryant getting along with the "Woo"? It seems to have been all there Sunday night.

In the Spring a young man's fancy naturally turns to thoughts of love—could it be that Hoskins thinks it's still Winter?

The George child still has that far away look in her eyes It's a hangover from Easter vacaition.

We suggest that Garland Harwood make his permanent home in Farmville. It would save expenses and worry too. How about it, Pi?

Orchids—to McCorkle, Rosenberger, Parsons and Fowlkes—to Jane and Buck—Congrats—it runs in the family—to Emily Lankes for that becoming blush when she tells those cute but rare jokes of hers—listen in sometimes . . . to May Winn for being captivated by the cigarette salesman and starting a new adventure of rolling her own—Thrifty May . . . To Wentz for making this the best Sing year ever . . . To Ed Davis for coming to his senses at last . . . To Scottie and Edna for their preseasonal sunians . . . To the attention given Mrs. Overton and to the Y. for bringing her here . . . to the Gibson girl—to Elizabeth Ann Parker for hypnotizing her horse and sticking with him—her first time on, too . . .

A certain sophomore's loud entertaining in the "rec" is abhorrible. Somebody ought to tell her.

Brickbats to Sunday Knick-knockers at Southside's door.

To those wall-setters, we dedicate this poem:

Some few girls sit on a wall—
Some few girls will have a great fall
All the pleading, begging, and such
Don't help the situation much!

Scene around the campus:

Sadie and Bob—steady as ever . . . T. Thompson running a race with Ella Marsh and Tripp. Alice Marie Coberly with a different man every time we see her. Anne Ayers interested in everybody's date. . . Mae (Virginian) Wertz—what more could we say? . . . Nancy Wolfe fingering up rides to Richmond for week-ends to come —It's baseball season, you know! . . . Martha McCorkle with Debergh from Tech (Lady's name) . . . Moomaw, Hazelwood, and Billups playing tag with the wood . . . Fifteen solemn figures descending the fire escape Saturday night and stepping into the cool water of the bottomless sea . . . some tall, some short, same round, some flat, but all calm and composed. What was their purpose? Splash!

More scenes—irresponsible Bussie, wide-eyed Sara Wade; calm collected H. W. Hardy—innocent Dot Childress—personality - plus Jeanne Sears—overenergetic Parham! The inseparables — Helen and Ed . . . McRae and McIntosh . . . Bess and Bobbie.

Campus Cuties (watching the Fords go by?) Colorful Spring . . .

All the things we'd like to have: Caralie's executive ability, Jane Powell's poise, Essie's grace, Cleo's dignity, Frances Alvis' disposition, Madge McFall's ease, Martha Whelchel's precision—Dot Lawrence's clothes, Mary Lou's eyes, Pudge's nose and smile, Lula's figure, Pierpont's hair, Fletcher's legs, Izzy's feet, Mooch's rhythm, and Wahab's hands.

It's signins off time. For future reference—V. M. I. and Virginia Easters are in the offing with Tech's Ring Dance following close.

GLEANINGS

By MARIE ALLEN

The English cabinet has been changed and Winston Churchill has been promoted! Now he is head of the vital service committees and also retains his position as first lord of the admiralty. With these two positions he is head of two important phases of war activity—the economic blockade and the strategy of the war. In fact, he and Gamelin will now be running the Allied side of the conflict.

The increased authority of Churchill does not increase the possibiltiy of peace in the near future. Churchill is a man of action and action he will have. Considerations for strengthening the blockade are in progress, but whether he would try the Black Sea as he did in 1914 is doubtful. Although there are few battleships on the Black Sea, there is an undetermined number of submarines and mines. Furthermore, this would antagonize not only Russia, but also probably Rumania. And to try something the success of which is doubtful but the detrimental effect of which is sure would certainly not be good strategy.

Closer home, in the Baltic would be a more logical place to strike Germany. Iron ore, vital to German life, comes from the Scandinavian countries. In order that England may not stop the ships en route to Germany, they have stayed within Norway's three-mile limit and thus made the blockade ineffective. But England is desirous of correcting that failure and so hinted she would ignore the three-mile line. International law in a war "is on the side of the heaviest artillery" and nothing could be done to stop English if she essayed this.

There have been threats from some of the Scandinavian countries, chiefly Norway, that any infringement of neutrality will lead to declaration of war. But really isn't that what England is asking for? If she can't get these countries to come in on her side from some German provocation then there is no other course to follow but to infringe upon their neutrality, hoping Germany will retaliate and draw the Scandinavian countries in against Germany. England would be using her strategy against these peace loving nations if she could turn this trick. They naturally lean toward England, having rulers that are related to English royalty and by their fear of German or Russian aggression. It seems the geographical advantages of these nations striving to remain at peace are their wartime disadvantages.

But can Germany be defeated if Churchill is successful in strengthening his economic blockade? Even if not an ounce of iron ore reached Germany would her defeat be certain? From the viewpoint of logic it seems doubtful. When Germany began her policy of increasing her territory she must have realized that she would antagonize the world. She was sure to know that sooner or later someone would be stubborn enough to resist, and that that someone would be in coalition with England and France. Germany must have known that they would try the same thing that defeated her the last time—economic blockade. So it follows that Germany would have prepared to withstand a blockade — that she would have made arrangements either to store up or secure everything she needed by means other than the sea.

Did Germany do these things? Only a few people including Hitler and Goering really know. Maybe she believed that by submarines and airplanes she could break down any blockade that could be imposed upon her, and so made no preparations for a rainy day that would never come. But as yet she has failed to break down that blockade. On the other hand, the blockade must be failing or there would be no need to strengthen it.

So Mr. Churchill rises to power when action is needed. He must make good use of his two weapons, strategy and blockade, if he is to keep the products of the neutrals from reaching the enemy. How will he succeed in his new role in the theater of war?

Honor Roll Lists Many Students

The honor roll for the winter quarter is considerably larger than that of the fall quarter. A total of 376 girls made the grade. Those making the honor roll are:

Rachel Abernathy, Lillian Agnew, Irene Alderman, Marie B. Allen, E. Anne Ayers, Frances Bailey, Martha A. Baldwin, Lois J. Barbee, Betty L. Barnes, Anne Barnett, Vera F. Baron, May H. Bartlett, Anne L. Benton; Nellie Brooke Benton, M. Anne Billups, Nancy G. Bland, Carmen L. Booth, Sara W. Booth.

Eleanor L. Boothe, Crews V. Borden, Mildred A. Bowen, Josephine Brumfield, Hazelwood Burbank, Mary E. Burford, Mildred Callis, R. Yates Carr, Anita M. Carrington, Mary O. Carson, Sarah E. Chambers, Corlida Chaplin, Doris Ray Chesnut, Jean S. Clarke, Imogen Claytor, Elizabeth Cline, Helene Cline, Sara F. Cline.

Anne L. Cocks, Josie Lee Cogsdale, Esther Coleman, Nahrea Coleman, Bernice Copley, Marguerite Costello, Rosa Courter, Thelma Courtney, Emma Louise Crowgey, Dorothy Sue Crumley, M. Henrietta Dawson, Rachael DeBerry, Barbara Drewry, Mary Anne Dryden, Sally K. Dunlap, Sue T. Dunlap, Caroline R. Eason, Anne H. Ellett.

Florence Elliott, Emil Ellis, L. Beulah Ettenger, Eleanora Faison, Marian Farley, Texie Belle Felts, Caroline Ferguson, Carolyn F. Ford, Carolyn L. Ford, Virginia Bliss Fowlkes, Margaret S. Foy, Nancy L. Fulton, A. Elizabeth Garrett, Mrs. Frances W. Gee, Margaretta Gerlaugh, Lillian German, Ollie G. Gilchrist, Elizabeth Jane Greig.

Martha Hammock, Martha M. Haldaway, Marion Lee Harden, Mrs. Annie A. Hardy, Betty J. Hardy, Helen W. Hardy, Virginia F. Harper, Carolyn C. Harvey, D. Maxine Hawks, Mary F. Haymes, Jeanne A. Haymes, Hallie M. Hillsman, Marjorie E. Holt, Katherine D. Holt, Rosemary Howell, Virginia A. Howell, Helen E. Hoyer, Frances E. Hughes.

Arlene G. Hunt, Jane Lee Hutcheson, Emma M. Hutchinson, Ella Hutcheson, Katherine E. Jarratt, M. Helen Jeffries, Elizabeth Jennings, Dorothy L. Johnson, Mary Jane Jolliffe, Frances E. Keck, Elva Mae Kibler, Rachel W. Kibler, Mildred Lawhorne, Mrs. Elizabeth H. Loving, Margaret Loving, Johnny Lybrook.

Martha McCorkle, Mary H. McCoy, Susan Marshall, Mary V. Mauney, O. Anna Maxey, Jennie E. Meggs, Mary W. Mitchell, Susie L. Moore, Mildred Morris, Nancy W. Moss, Mary Anna Mottley, Jean V. Moyer, Caralie Nelson, N. Kathryn Newman, Marjorie Nimmo, Emma Noblin.

J. Virginia Oakes, M. Allene Overbey, Mildred R. Owen, Evelyn I. Pankey, Elizabeth Ann Parker, Mary Va. Parker, Ruby Mae Parsons, Esther R. Partridge, Agnes Patterson, Frances Patterson, Catherine C. Phillips, Charlotte Phillips, R. Louise Phillips, Virginia A. Polley, Jane B. Powell, Katherine Powell, Anne F. Price, Florence B. Pride, Mary Marshall Prosise, Katherine L. Pugh, Ruth Lea Purdum, Agnes Pickral.

Evelyn M. Quillin, Amy R. Read, Eva Reid, Helen D. Reiff, Virginia G. Richards, Dorothy E. Robbins,

Continued on Page 4

Freshmen Debaters Meet Two Teams

Helen DeLong and Geraldine Beckner, Farmville's Freshman Debate team met Bruce LeFebre and Bob Mitchell of Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia, in a non-decision debate Friday night, April 5, in the Honors Room.

Helen and Jerry also met Frances Davis and Jean Wilkinson, of Averett Junior College, aDnville, in another non-decision debate Thursday night, April 4, in the Junior Building Parlor.

The question for both debates was, Resolved: That the United States Should Follow a Policy of Strict Isolation (Economic and Military) Toward All Nations Outside the Western Hemisphere Engaged in Armed International or Civil Conflict. Farmville upheld the affirmative and Emory and Averette the negative.

Morris Hale and Ivan Bennett accompanied the Emory debaters.

Hudson Will Play At Spring Cotillion

Dean Hudson and his Florida Clubmen wil play for Spring Cotillion, Saturday, May 18. Essie Millner, chairman of the music committee has announced. The 16 piece band was originally organized on the campus of the University of Florida.

In addition to his music, sweet or swing, the Dean carries a floor show, including Miss Frances Colwell, feature vocalist.

The band is a college favorite and a few of the proms for which they have played include Dartmouth, Harvard, W. & L., University of Florida, University of Virginia, William and Mary, Randolph-Macon, Duke, Purdue, and Ohio University.

There will be a tea dance from 4:00 to 6:00 in the afternoon and the formal from 9:00 to 12:00.

Dr. Morgan Guest Speaker of F. T. A.

Dr. Joy Elmer Morgan, Editor of N. E. A. Journal, was guest speaker at the F. T. A. meeting and reception held in the Student Building Lounge Friday evening, May 5.

Helene Cline gave a short talk on the organizing of the F. T. A. clubs in the high schools and she cited instances from the various high schools visited.

Dr. Morgan, introduced by Dr. J. P. Wynne, sketched the work of the F. T. A. movement and stressed the importance of keeping the movement going forward.

Open discussion followed his talk at which time questions were asked by the various members.

Among the guests present were Dr. and Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Wynne, Dr. J. L. Jarman, Mrs. S. M. Holton, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Graham, and members of the high school and training school faculties.

Collegiate World

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

Florida State College for Women is the first institution in the southeast to inaugurate membership in local government.

Haverford College has a new program to train students in work of relief, rehabilitation and social reconstruction.

The educational clinic of College of the City of New York has trained 22,000 "problem" children since its founding in 1913.

Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr., Harvard Law student and son of the Ambassador to Great Britain, will be a delegate to the Democratic national convention.

C. A. A. pilot training students have flown 80,000 hours without a serious accident. Some 3,700 students have soloed.

John Held Jr., famed cartoonist, is now an artist-in-residence at Harvard University.

One Boston University student will win a trans-Atlantic phone call with a leading European statesman in a contest to create interest in a Finnish relief campaign.

Creighton University medical students and faculty members last year treated free of charge 30,000 patients.

The N. Y. A. college program is teaching 18.8 per cent more youths this year than last year.

The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching has resources of $26,917,932.

Woman's College of University of North Carolina annually sponsors a summer art colony in an Atlantic seacoast town.

Drake University has a new course in "The Administration of Community Organization for Leisure."

The first book purchased by the University of Texas library was a concordance of the Bible.

Michael Supa, a blind Colgate University student, has been elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

Students of Connecticut College for Women annually conduct their own flower show.

Georgetown University students have voted Hitler the "most outstanding personality in the world today."

"No Ice Cream Cones In China", Says Eminent Chinese Scholar in Talk Here

By SARA CLINE

"I'm going home in August" replied Dr. T. Z. Koo, Chinese world leader in church, education, and state when interviewed Saturday, April 6.

"I will only be home about six weeks, as I must go back to India before my return to the United States. And since I am due back here in October, you see I won't be home long." Dr. Koo went on to say.

Dr. Koo mentioned the fact that his intended trip home in August will be slightly dangerous since he must go through Japan. "They will examine all my papers and should they decide that there was anything at all suspicious, I would be arrested."

Questioned as to Chinese meals, Dr. Koo said that "the ordinary Chinese dinner consists of courses just as you Americans have. First we have several cold dishes and then six or eight hot dishes. After these the real meal or course consists of eight more hot dishes. Fish follows this course, then soup and rice; and for dessert, we have a salty fish. By salty I mean, we don't have sweets as you do, but rather something like dumplings with meat. Of course we do not have such dinners now that our people are starving."

"I like your ice cream," continued Dr. Koo. "We don't have very good ice cream, nor do we have ice cream cones. My favorite dish is the Irish potato. We didn't have that but rather only the sweet potato."

Dr. Koo mentioned that the first time he ever tasted a strawberry was on his first trip to

DR. T. Z. KOO

America. "And then my American friend became very much disgusted with me when I drank the cream and left the berries."

When asked what he thought of Pearl Buck, Dr. Koo replied that Miss Buck doesn't give a representative picture of the Chinese people. She pictures them as being too solemn. They aren't that way at all. They're just as lively as you and like good times as you do."

"I only write as a hobby," Dr. Koo said. "I don't find much time to write. I have written two Chinese puzzle books and one book of folk songs. Incidentally, I don't sing these songs, but play them on my flute."

Questioned again on Chinese food, Dr. Koo said that "we eat rice not as a main course but as a bread. Also, our regular bread is very different from yours. It is filled with some kind of meat."

"Another difference I might mention in eating is that we only eat the skin of the pig, while you eat the meat. Sometimes when I'm in a home where I know the family well enough, I ask for the skin," Dr. Koo went on to say.

"Tea? Certainly I drink it whenever I can. My favorite is the green tea. This is the nearest to the raw tea. Then, of course, there is the red tea and the black tea." Dr. Koo spoke of the difference of the way we made tea and the way the Chinese did. "We just put the loose tea into hot water. We don't tie it up in bags. Also to make good tea, the pot should be hot."

"I'm going to Boston from here", Dr. Koo continued. "And from there to Columbia University. It seems foolish to go to Boston and then came back to Columbia, but that's the way my schedule runs. After Columbia, I go to Kansas. While there, I'm going to fly to Montana for one day."

In conclusion Dr. Koo said that his schedule wasn't complete until his return trip to the United States. "This summer I have conferences—one at Mollister, Mo., one at Estes Park, Col., and another at Seabeck, Wash. Following these conferences, I have three international conferences—one in Portland, Or., one in Berkeley, Calif., and the last one is to be held in Los Angeles, Calif. Then I leave for home—for six weeks anyway."

Two Classes Give Gifts to School

Freshman class has presented an automatic coca cola dispenser to the college. It has been installed in White House kitchen where it will be available to the students at any time.

Sophomore class has raised money for a radio for he infirmary by selling various articles. This will be formally presented to the school later in the week. Mary Katherine Dodson, president of the class, has announced. The class plans to donate another radio if the students continue supporting them in their sales.

Sophs Present Skit On Chapel Behavior

"Seeing Ourselves As Others See Us" was the theme of the skit presented by the Sophomore Commission in chapel Wednesday, April 10.

S. T. C. To Be Center For Latin Tourney

Six high schools will send representatives from first and second-year Latin classes to participate in the state-wide Latin Tournament for which Farmville is a center.

The examinations will be given on Saturday, April 13. Schools that will convene here are Prospect, Worsham, John Randolph Farmville, Marshall District, and Buckingham Central High schools.

There are other centers throughout the state for the contest.

"Our Personality"

Continued from Page 1

mented as you implement others. I like that word implement", she commented, "because there's so much in it."

Mrs. Overton pointed out that great friendships, great love, and great teachers are made when two create and walk into it together. She remarked that are not born with a personality, but with the capacity for developing one.

"Great personalities contribute to others fullfillment." Mrs. Overton gave as an example Mozart. In closing Mrs. Overton concluded by saying "Personality is something that has 'on-goingness' after you're gone and about which you can never say 'it's completed'."

"Gone With The Wind"

Gone With the Wind starring Clarke Gable Ayers Rhett Butler Faison Vivien Lee as Scarlett O'Farrell Wills be at the Echols Theater April 17-20.

The story Weavers around events of the Old South. After Reiding the following excerpts, you will enjoy the show Altomare.

Mammy Desaix Scarlett look De Berry and Gooden-ough to eat when she was pre-Parham to Tripp to the Ball at Twelve Oaks. Scarlett Turnbull Green when Lashley Wilkinson refused to Courter because of Loving Melanie. It was Jester Rapp because she Alvis had her way. She became Moody and Hurt Uti-ill she sees Rhett Butler who had Heard Avery thing because she had talked so Laird. She thought it was Crumley of him to have listened, but because he seemed so Sturgis, Jolly, and such a Musselman, she decided to Seward she could Dew.

Savory one went to war; Anderson of Booth North and South Vier-ed with each other. It was Hardaway times for the O'Farrells. Scarlett made Harvey one work because they Felts the Price of war time Sales. Things Wentz from bad to Wertz. Farmer Ritchie's were Draine(d) until they were forced to Steel.

Scarlett Spencer last Nicol to go to George(a) where she Sawyer sister's fiancee, Frank Kennedy, Rollins in Kash. She Duer everything in her Power to get him to Tucker in marriage although she didn't Wiley Carr for him; also to keep from Baron Payne. After Muse-ing Overbey question De-Long time, they decided to Mayton share Worley Goodes—

Winn Frank dies she didn't let the Moss grow under her feet, Trice she says, "I DEW". Her life Clements Agnew with Rhett. He Hume(as) her Averitt Will and Buyers her Procise(ly) what she Ackiss him. Still he doesn't Pierce her heart. Bonnie, their little Gerlaugh, meant Hall in the world to him. Their love Parrish(es as Fahr as Scarlett is concerned. When she becomes Huffy, he Pankey her and he Bellus "Pride cometh before a McFall." . . . . I May Borum you but Boya gonna listen to me. Eason if I have to Beaton you with my Wagstaff."—

Bonnie Tates to riding Horsley(s) like a duck to Waller. And while riding Barham back, she couldn't Holt the horse and it Keller—

Too late Scarlett realizes that she loves Rhett and Winstead of Claytoring to her, she finds that he doesn't Warner. With his Hatton his hand, he says "Franklin, my dear, I don't give a Dawn!"

Covington High Band to Play Here

James M. Grainger, Jr., son of James M. Grainger, head of the English department at S. T. C., is bringing the Covington High School Band to Farmville, Friday, April 12. The A'Cappella Choir will offer selections on the program.

Mr. Grainger, who is the director of music at Covington, attended Farmville High School and is a graduate of the University of Virginia. At the University he was a member of the band and at one time a student director. He has also done band work at a summer camp.

If the band arrives at Farmville in time they will parade in their uniforms of blue and gold. The band was organized in September 1938, when Mr. Grainger went there to teach, and consists of boys and girls in the upper grades and high school.

There are 115 in band work, but the group presenting the program will be comprised of 38. Funds were raised in the town of Covington for the instruments and uniforms.

The concert is given under the auspices of the Parent Teachers Association of Farmville, and the funds will help finance the Farmville High School Glee Club's trip to Richmond for the Intercollegiate State Musical Contest to be held April 19.

Sixty-Four Named On Dean's List

Sixty-four girls made the Dean's list for the winter quarter ending March 15th. Twenty-two of these girls were on the Dean's list for the entire session last year.

Those girls are Marie Allen, White Gate; Lois Barbee, Covington; Anita Carrington, Saxe; Doris Chesnut, Durham, N. C.; Jean Clarke, Martinsville; Marguerite Costello, Richmond; Thelma Courtney, Winchester; Ollie G. Gilchrist, Norfolk; Mrs. Annie A. Hardy, Boone's Mill; Betty J. Hardy, Farmville; Martha McCorkle, Farmville; Anna Maxey, Powhatan; Mary Walker Mitchell, Culpeper; Jean Moyer, Portsmouth; Dorothy Rollins, Arlington; Jane Rosenberger, Winchester, and Marguerite Russ, Norfolk.

Also on the list are Miss Nellie A. Shelton, Farmville; Virginia L. Smith, Sussex; Helene Stras, Tazewell; Betty Webb Blackstone; Mrs. Mary W. Witcher, Farmville; Frances Alvis, Lynchburg; Alice Leigh Barham, Portsmouth; Verna Mae Barr, Wise; Anne Billups, Norfolk; Nancy Goode Bland, Boydton; Carmen Booth, Danville; Hazelwood Burbank, Hampton; Elizabeth Cline, Stuarts Draft; Anne Lillian Cocks, Farmville, and Rachael De Berry, Blackstone.

Sally Dunlap, Lexington; Emil Ellis, Beaumont; Carolyn F. Ford, Virgilina; Mrs. Margaret S. Foy, Farmville; Nancy Louise Fulton, Danville; Maxine Hawks, Blackstone; Marjorie Holt, Matoaca; Rosemary Howell, Hopewell; Virginia Howell, Church Road; Helen Hoyer, Hampton; Mary Helen Jeffries, Culpeper; Mary Jane Jolliffe, Stephenson; Elizabeth Kent, Columbia; Mary Hille McCoy, Monterey, and Mary Mauney, Hickory, N. C.

Jennie Meggs, Marion, S. C.; Loiana Moomaw, Roanoke; Caralie Nelson, South Boston; Edith Nunnally, Richmond; Judith Virginia Oakes, Pamplin; Jane Powell, Hampton; Mary Marshall Prosise, Wilson; Evelyn Quillen, Farmville; Philippa Schlobohm, Newport News; Marion Shelton, Chase City; Sarah Mae Sibold, Newport; Margaret Tate, Norfolk; Agnes Wagstaff, Skipwith; Martha Whelchel, Hampton; Elizabeth Wilkinson, Lawrenceville; and Eliza Wise, Hampton.

Sigma Pi Rho To Hold Debates

Sigma Pi Rho, Latin fraternity, will sponsor a debate, Friday, April 12 on the question, "Resolved: That Mussolini Is As Great As Caesar." The four points to be considered are military, political, literary and oratorical.

The affirmative side will be upheld by Caralie Nelson and Helen Jeffries. Emma Hutchinson and Sally Dunlap will argue the negative side.

STORAGE

Furs and other Winter Coats, Rugs, Blankets. Anything one wishes guaranteed against fire, theft and moth.

We clean, repair and remold fur garments.

KILKARE LAUNDRY

Pi Gamma Mu Host to National Officers at Annual Banquet

Dr. Patterson, Pres., Dr. Hayden, Guests

Virginia Gamma chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, national honor society in social science held its spring banquet at Longwood, Saturday evening April 6 at 6:30 P. M. in honor of the fourteenth anniversary of its founding.

Dr. Russell Patterson, head of the department of Social Studies at University of Pennsylvania and national president of Pi Gamma Mu was present for the occasion, and the speaker of the evening was Dr. James J. Hayden, professor of law at Catholic University in Washington, D. C., now serving as national council for Pi Gamma Mu. Dr. Hayden, who is a nationally recognized authority on aviation law, centered his talk around the effects of increasing air traffic upon the future social order.

Other guests included Dr. James E. Walmsley, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Holton, Mrs. James J. Hayden and the faculty members of Pi Gamma Mu.

During the course of the evening toasts were proposed to Pi Gamma Mu and to its national officers by Frances Pope and Lorana Moomaw, and gifts were presented to Mr. S. M. Holton, adviser, and to Doris Chesnut, president for their work in the society throughout the year.

Mr. S. M. Holton, Mrs. J. J. Hayden, Dr. J. J. Hayden, national council member, and Dr. R. Patterson, national president of Pi Gamma Mu.

"Take One of These—"

"Take one of these little pills every two hours and drink plenty of water." These are the passwords of the old institution—The Infirmary. They may sound like a death-knell to some of us, but, boy, they bring a cure!

How many of us do they help? Well, here's the answer. At the end of the first quarter, 155 girls bunked there, for at least one night anyway and 730 girls entered the door with the "Doctor In" sign hanging out.

Sounds as if we aren't such a healthy bunch after all. But wait—that Christmas holiday in Florida evidently gave us all the vitamins we needed 'cause during the winter quarter only 130 girls had to claim a bed and 465 went down for office treatment.

Colds amount to about one-third of the complaints. Any trouble is welcomed (?) in the ole Pill Box, so don't hesitate. (P. S. If you're lucky, you might get a bed in the ward by that snazzy new radio.)

Briefly, here's a story and a half in a peanut shell. All the energy the average person uses in his thinking during one day could be obtained by eating one peanut, says Dr. E. Alfred Wolf, associate professor of biology at the University of Pittsburgh. The average college student, however, uses that much energy in one hour's sustained mental work. The average college student takes from 1,200 to 2,400 calories a day for mere subsistence. Anything he does—even eating—must be added to this basal metabolism figure. The average football player, for instance, needs enough energy to raise six gallons of water from freezing to boiling point. You could talk for two hours on the energy you need to eat your food everyday. Maybe that's the origin of the saying, "She'd rather talk than eat." Then, the student who plays Bach on the piano adds only 40 calories to his basal metabolism; if he plays one of Teddy Wilson's musical gyrations, his figure will be upped to 560 calories, which is the same number used when trottine down to the corner pool room. Wrestling is by far the most strenuous sport. It would take 125 hours of thinking to use up the same energy that you must have for one hour's wrestling. A note for girls who wish to reduce: If you eat enough proteins, these proteins will carry away the excess calories which you have eaten. Excess calories, you know, are responsible for that excess weight.

Platter Chatter

By Gerry Ackiss

Artie Shaw has remounted his throne as "King of the Clarinet". Three months have passed since his abdication and flight to Mexico. But now he is back with a 31 piece band! Shaw declares that the general idea of adding more instruments is not to get away from swing music, but to present dance music with more color and variety. However, Artie's scorching clarinet still has the same old thrill. His first recording is of two little Mexican ditties, "Frenesi" and "Adios, Mazouka Linda". They really are wonderful features.

Another hit is chalked up this week as "Polka Dots and Moonbeams' climbs swiftly to the top. It is distinctly out of the ranks of ordinary "pop" ballads. As played on the Tommy Dorsey trombone and sung by Frank Sinatra, this tune cannot miss.

Larry Clinton's new songstress, Helen Southern, reveals a soundly placed voice on her first record for the Clinton band. "Tiny Old Town" and "You Oughta Hang Your Heart in Shame" differ in style, the first being medium sweet swing and the last, a fast swing, but Miss Southern does them both up right. She's a humdinger!

The new "Sierra Sue" fits Sammy Kaye's orchestra to perfection. Tommy Ryan doubles the value of the recording with a smooth vocal chorus. On the other side tenor Clyde Burke sings "Please Take a Letter, Miss Brown," which will prove to be an intriguing ditty.

All who saw "Road to Singapore" are familiar with the rhythmic novelty "Sweet Potato Piper" which was recently released by Dorothy Lamour. Also on this record is "Palms of Paradise", a tropical ballad featuring Miss Lamour's sultry voice and Lou Bring's lush orchestral work. Really easy on the ears!

Honor Roll

Continued from Page 3

M. Rosalie Rogers, Dorothy Rollins, Jane Rosenberger, Marguerite Russ, Elizabeth L. Scales, Alice Seebert, Helen Seward, Janelle Shelor, Mrs. Nellie R. Shelton, R. Marion Shelton, Edith Sibold, Sarah M. Sibold, E. Perrye Smith, Estelle W. Smith, Geraldine Smith, Virginia L. Smith.

Dorothy V. Sprinkle, Loise Jane Steidtman, Olivia Stephenson, Helene Stras, Alfreda Strick, Margaret Tate, Mrs. Mary G. Taylor, Elizabeth Townsend, Edith A. Vassar, Agnes Y. Wagstaff, Mary S. Walmsley, Margaret L. Ward, Ann B. Ward, Betty P. Webb, May Wertz.

Emily A. Wescott, Sarah Elizabeth West, Betty Faith White, E. Patricia Whitlock, V. Lucille Wilkerson, Elizabeth P. Wilkinson, Mary E. Williams, Mary B. Willson, Lula R. Windham, Flora W. Winn, Ruth Winstead, Mrs. Mary W. Witcher, Elizabeth R. Wolfe, Violet Mae Woodall, Winifred Ann Wright, Betty M. Youngberg.

Two Dartmouth College kitchen workers recently did what man has been trying to do since the inception of the pay telephone—fool a slot machine—when they jarred the mechanism of the dining hall nickelodeon while moving it. The machine started to play of its own accord and reeled off 150 selecions without benefit of nickels.

Moyer Installed As New Y. W. President

Jean Moyer, new president of the Y. W. C. A., was installed by Dorothy Eades, out-going president, Monday, April 8, at a candlelight service in the large auditorium.

After taking oath of office Jean installed the other officers and heads of committees. Other officers are Martha Whelchel, vice-president; Lucy Turnbull, secretary; Carolyn Harvey, treasurer; Frances Rosebro, sophomore counselor, and Ellen Ebel, freshman counselor.

Those serving as heads of committees for the coming year are Nancy Pierpont, service; Sara Cline, membership; Rachel Keller, library; Anne Elliot, social; Sue Dunlap, church cooperation; Emma Noblin, town girls; Betty Hankins, music; Eleanor Feuk, prayers; Lillian Gorman, publicity; Charlotte Gresham, world fellowship; and Crabby Heard, sing.

Miss Moran to Speak

Miss Grace B. Moran head of the geography department and president of the Farmville Alumnae Association will speak at a joint meeting of the Hopewell Rotary Club and the Farmville Alumnae Association at 6.30 P. M., April 23 at City Point Inn, Hopewell, Virginia.

Miss Moran will speak and show slides taken while on her European trip last summer.

Finding a Purpose in Life Is Problem Facing Students

By SARA CLINE

"Finding a purpose for living is the most perplexing problem that I have found on college campuses," began Mrs. Grace Sloan Overton, teacher, lecturer, and author on men-women relations, when interviewed Friday, April 5.

"Unemployment has stimulated this search for a purpose more than anything else since it has caused traditional patterns to become blurred. Breaking this search for a purpose into its two most practical problems, I find that the questions of how to make a living and how to attain a successful marriage are the main concerns of students," continued Mrs. Overton.

Mrs. Overton went on to say that the most interesting feature of campus thought to her was the emphasis that was being placed on religious faith. "It is so vital to the students and they have actually found that it implements them—by implementing. I say that they feel a sense of fulfillment."

When questioned as to how her interest in this work commenced, Mrs. Overton emphasized that it did not begin as a hobby, but "grew out of my trying to smooth out the differences between young men and women in post war days. Everything was so changed after the war; patterns that had formerly guided relationships between the two sexes were broken. I had a studio where young people often gathered. It became a sort of banquet for them. So I say that the merging of my experiences as a teacher and as a confidant caused me to enter this field."

As to how long she has been lecturing to college groups, Mrs. Overton said that since 1933 she has been visiting college campuses and attending young peoples conferences. Before 1933, Mrs. Overton taught at New York University.

"This impresses me as being the most sincere generation," commented Mrs. Overton when asked how students impressed her. The questions you ask show that you are thinking and are trying to do the right thing in the right way. Your dating patterns are improving and your behavior has improved much in the past five years. You have more social insights," continued Mrs. Overton.

"What do I think of the causes of divorce?" exclaimed Mrs. Overton. "Young people take marriage too casually—that's the main fault. Then there's the lack of training. Parents should realize their responsibility of educating their children in social problems."

Mrs. Overton concluded by saying that our campus impressed her as being very lively and progressive. "The questions asked tonight showed good clear-cut thinking and that you are trying to find a philosophy of life."

DAVIDSON'S

Presents the Newest Styles for Spring

WE HAVE SPARED NO EXPENSE IN ORDER TO SECURE THE VERY FINEST AND THE LATEST STYLES FOR DRESS AND SPORT WEAR. SEE US FOR THE NEWEST AND YOU WILL NOT BE MISLED.

SKIRTS

For Sport and Dress Wear. Plaids, and Solids in all the newest styls and colors.

$11.98 and $2.98

BLOUSES

A Lovely Assortment of colors in all the New Pastel shades.

$1.00 and $1.98

DRESSES

The finest assortment we have ever seen. Chambray Wash Silks, and many other styles

$3.50 up

SPORT OXFORDS

Black and white saddle with black or red rubber soles

$2.25 up

DAVIDSON'S, Inc.

THE COLLEGE GIRLS HEADQUARTERS

Classes to Vie in Volley Ball Game

Tourney Slated For Week of April 15

Seventy girls have begun volley ball practices for this year. The practices are held each Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock. Each girl must have as many as 8 practices to be eligible to play in the games which will be played off in round robin style the week of April 15.

Those girls so far supporting their colors are May Winn, Sara Boothe, Crews Borden, Sally Hutchinson, Anne Ayers, Mary Dodson, Dot Johnson, Harriette Walker, Elizabeth Wall, Dot Fischer, Elizabeth Kidd, Martha Roberts, Geraldine Beckner, Helen De-Long, Jeanne Haynes, Fiddle Haynes, Betsy Jennings, Peggy Hughes, Helen Wentz, Esther Coleman, Mary Booker, Edna Woodall, Jean Carr, Terry Buyers, Jean Clarke, Nell Hurt, Cottie Radspinner, Helen Engleman, Margaret Foster, Frances Rosebro, Ellen Ebel, Doris Leonard, Nelson Hawkins and Mildred Minger.

Sara Lawson, Maxine Philpott, Elva Andrews, Margaret Darby, Winnie Webb Buchanan, Helen Jeffries, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Anna Johnson, Elizabeth Barlow, Corilda Chaplin, Helen Williamson, Jane Jones, Florence Lee, Louise Painter, Evelyn Krenning, Doris Alvis, Nancy Pierpont, Eliza Wise, Marjorie Gooden, Betsy Moore, Louise Phillips, Ruth Fraughnaugh, Anne Price, Carol

Continued on Page 6

Sign Up For Tourney!

Esther Coleman, Petie Barnett, Helen McIlwaine, Mary Sue Edmunson, Myra Smith, Betsy Jennings, Dot Fischer, Emil Ellis, Pat Gibson, Crews Borden, Helen Wentz, Catherine May and Kitty Price are the girls to this date who have signed up for the tennis singles tournament.

It is requested that everyone who expects to take part in the tournament, sign up on the A. A. Bulletin board as soon as possible since matches are to begin Monday, April 15. The winner will be determined by process of elimination.

Spring and Golf Activities Take Leisure Time of Girls

As Spring is making a galant effort to overcome the latest decrease in temperature, it has been pointed out to us the golf is rapidly becoming one of the major sports on our campus. This latest fad around here of putting, swinging, driving, and what have you, we are told can no longer be compared with ping pong, volley ball or any other of the minor sports. So high is the rate of interest in golf these days, that there are some of us who feel it to be deserving of the highest ranking possible in the sports world.

Daily girls flock to Longwood and down to the golf school to improve their form and swing. Our professional, Mr. Brown, tells us that it is not too late to take advantage of this splendid opportunity which is open to us on our campus, and that in the near future he hopes to see many more shining bright new faces to join the ranks at Longwood.

Sports Slants

By ANNE NEVILLE BARNETTE

Say, kids, my "roomie" just breezed in from a visit to that popular spot behind the library known as the tennis courts, and I'm telling you, she's just about to talk my ears off! Seems as though there's a single tournament goin' on over there that's got most everybody all "het up" over the game. I think, if it's as wonderful and "percitin" as she claims, that I'll go over and have a look. Tell you what, let's all go! That would be fun, wouldn't it? From what I hear those matches are tight, and you know how a few cheers stimulate and urge you on to victory. You may be ready to drop from exhaustion but when you can feel that there are friends nearby who have enough faith in your ability to come out and root for you—well, somehow or other, you reach down into those proverbial boots and pull out that extra ounce of energy. Come on, now, be honest with yourself. Haven't you at least one friend in that tournament whom you would like to see win? Matches are played off each and every afternoon this week, so we'll be lookin' for you!

Come closer, little ones, I've a deep dark secret to whisper in your ear. You know that Red and White are out in front in the race for the Color Cup, don't you? Well, had you thought about the fact that unless Green and White forges ahead with points gained in volley ball and tennis, they are lost chickens? It's true. It's also true that those in the lead now are determined to stay there. It's lots of fun being in the limelight, and I've a hunch that each team is going to do its best to win in these last two chances for points.

Volleyball has just oodles of "fiends", and they are out for every practice. There's something about this sport that appeals to everyone. It takes practice and skill just as all others do, and it calls for just as much cooperation from each player. Every member of the team can play at once, too, which definitely makes it more interesting. There are nine of the so-called "benchwarmers" in the gym these days—but they sho' keep that floor hot with their tripping, dancing feet! Next week the class games will be played off, so be sure to get in your eight practices if you want to be in on a lot of fun. It is fun, especially when someone misses a high one and takes a tumble!

Guess the members of the golf team will be getting snooty pretty soon, now that they are making weekly trips to the Lynchburg Country Club. I can't blame them because is does sound rather ritzy, doesn't it? I saw something the other day that amused me a great deal. Remember those pretty days last week when the sun was gracing us with its warmest rays and the breezes were playing havoc with our "prettiful" curls? Some few of our budding golfers went to Longwod to "putter" around a bit. Well, sir, I've never in my life seen such blushing beauties as they had been transformed into when they returned. And such sore complexions as they had the next morning! Oh, my! (Haven't noticed any peeling noses as yet, but look around, maybe you can spot a couple). I 'spec" maybe it's worth it, though, isn't it, you fiends and fans?

Golf Gossip

By Carroll Brown
Professional, Longwood

I can promise you that the Old Pro would not be here this time if he did not feel that he had plenty to rant and rare about. In spite of the usual opposition that every new movement is subject to, The Spring Golf Association has gone over with a bang. That the members are really interested is evidenced by the fact that the Pro has been plenty busy every day that Old King Sol has been out.

And, the girls are doing splendidly. It has been my pleasure to see, all told, the best assortment of shots this Spring that I have seen since coming here. Most of them are now ready to get some experience playing, and in order that they may be subject to all course conditions we plan to make a trip to Lynchburg on Mondays. In the time remaining this will afford every member a chance to go and every one should have a fine time and learn a lot of golf on these trips.

You, in the Spring Association who have not gotten started, are going to miss out if you do not perk up and get on the ball pretty soon. I might add that those of you who are as yet undecided about learning to play golf should do something about it right away. There is still time for you to join the Spring deal, and if you do, I promise you that you will not only learn some golf but you will also have plenty of fun. Longwood is great in this Spring weather and all of us are really enjoying it.

In conclusion I find I must harp a bit on the Winter Golf Association delinquent accounts. A few have shown the poorest spirit in refusing or failing to pay their bills. This money was guaranteed by all the members and you who have not paid are not only inconsiderate of me but also of your fellow members in the association. I am happy to say that we have not, as yet, been forced to face any such situation this Spring.

It is with all of the afore-mentioned in mind that I look forward to these last two months. Thus I find my very best grouch packed away with my temper, intending to let nothing prevent me from enjoying these last days at Longwood to the fullest extent.

COLLEGE SHOPPE
Special
For S. T. C. Girls
Hamburger Sandwich Salad
French Fry Potatoes and Drink
25c
Call 200 We Deliver

Martin the Jeweler
VISITING CARDS
75c a hundred
Also other expensive styles

G. F. BUTCHER CO.
"The Convenient Store"
Dealer in fancy groceries and confectioneries
600 High Street Farmville, Va.

Helena Rubinstein
Beauty Aid Products are now being sold at the . . .
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Weyanoke Beauty Shoppe
SPECIAL!
$3.50 Duart Perms., now .. $2.50
$5.00 Oil Perms., now $3.50
Shampoo, finger wave, regular price 50c
Shampoo, finger wave and manicure 85c
PHONE 331

RIDING BREECHES—All colors, suede leather protectors on legs,
$2.45 and $2.95
Smart Blouses, whites and pastels $1.00 & $1.98
New wedge heels are here, black and white—red and yellow and blue and white $2.45 & $2.95
THE HUB DEPT. STORE
APPRECIATES YOUR PATRONAGE

HOW TO WIN BOY-FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE STAG-LINES
By Dalea Dorothy Clix

Dear Miss Clix: I just received the intercollegiate grand prize for sculpture for my allegorical figure called "Womanhood", and the newspapers say I am the most "promising" sculptress of any college woman today. I love my work, of course, and spend a great deal of time with my hands dipped in modeling clay, but oh, Miss Clix, the men just pass me by for the other girls in school here. Yet people say I am attractive. What can I do to make nice men notice me? WONDERING

Dear Wondering: I have a hunch you spend so much effort on sculpture that you spend practically none at all "sculpturing" your own physical charm. How much time do you put into makeup? Into an attractive hair-do? Yes, and do your fingernails shout to the world you've been working in clay? That's the place to start! Have immaculately groomed fingernails, lustrous, smartly colored — then, who knows? — men may become putty in your hands!

AND NOW, DEAR, READ THE NEXT COLUMN CAREFULLY!

AND HERE'S WHAT YOU CAN DO ABOUT BEAUTIFUL NAILS

College women, like fastidious women everywhere, are switching to the beautiful new—and different—nailpolish, DURA-GLOSS! Goes on faster, keeps a beautiful gem-hard lustre longer, resists chipping longer. And best of all—it only costs 10 cents, in lovely fashion-approved shades. Have the most beautiful fingernails in the world! Buy DURA-GLOSS today! At cosmetic counters everywhere!

HAVE YOU SEEN THE CUTE PLAY SHOES AT
BALDWIN'S

LYNN'S MUSIC STORE
Has the Musical Hits
"WHEN YOU WISH UPON A STAR"
"ITS A BLUE WORLD"
"STARLIT HOUR"
"INDIAN SUMMER"

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

HOTEL WEYANOKE
Regular Meals
A La Carte Service
Salads & Sandwiches

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert
Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

Swing into Spring
With a complete
Tennis Outfit from
A & N STORE
Also
Lightweight Summer Jodphurs in tan and brown

Rose's
5-10-25c Store
ON THE CORNER
Cleansing Tissue
500 Sheet Box
15c

SHANNON'S
Good Food
Mixed Candies

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material used
All Work Guaranteed

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

KLEANWELL Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

NOTICE—We now offer special low student rates on RADIO REPAIR WORK!
Electric Appliance Co.
Armory Bldg. Phone 40

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

DRUMELLER'S
FANCY MEATS
AND GROCERIES

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

Fraternity Dance at U. Va., Nearby Cities Draw Many

Dances are still claiming S. T. C. girls. Among those attending the S. P. E. fraternity formal in Charlottesville were Virginia Rudd, Mary Jane Ritchie and Bill Stone.

Richmond still manages to claim many visitors. Those who traveled eastward were Ruby Adams, Betty Barnes, Dorothy Brookfield, Gloria Berry, Mary A. Bryant, Martha Cobb, Josephine Cluell, Marguerite Costello, Frances Pritchett, Helen Dawson, Toi Dew, Deanne Fauntleroy, Lena Hubbard, Ada Harris, Jeanne C. Hall, Mary Harvie, Virginia Howell, Jane Jones, Patsy Kilby, Johnny Lybrook, Anne Marshall, Sue Marshall, Katherine Price, Frances Pope, Mary Petticrew, Ada Claire Snyder, Mary Lou Shannon, Anne Stone, Mary Sue Simmons, Frances Stouamore, Keith Smith, Mary Gray Thompson, Bess Windham, Nancy Wolfe, Peggy Williams, Elizabeth Wilkinson, Grace Wallace, Carroll Costello, Doris Chesnut, Elaine Ross, May Bartlett, and Flint Moore.

Those girls going to Petersburg were: Josie Lee Cornelale, Charlotte Andrews, Marie Crowder, Martha Mayton, Dorothy Mayes, Florine Pride, Lorraine Swingle, Frances Savory, Mary Williams, and Lula Windham.

Going still further eatsward on to Suffolk, Portsmouth, Norfolk, and Newport News were: Faye Brandon, Dorothy Johnson, Alice Barham, Gertrude Hale, Carol Averett, Helen Rose Frazier, Elizabeth West, Jane Waller, Ollie Gilchrist, and Essie Millner.

Burkeville had quite a few visitors. Lillian Agnew, Jacqueline Hardy, Baylis Kunz, Frances Kash, Frances Mallory, Virginia Morris, and Ruth Palmore.

Those who journeyed to Lynchburg were: Roberta Grigg, Emily Hoskins, Polly Hughes, Eliza McDaniel, Mary Mason, Elizabeth Ralph, Mary Riggan, Virginia Worley, Betty Younberg and Yates Carr.

Among those visiting in Roanoke were Elizabeth Barrett, Doris Bishop, Margaret Bowling, Frances Ellett, Dorothy Eades, Geraldine Hatcher, Dorothy Menefee, Nancy Naff, Mary M. Perry, Elizabeth Summerfield, Shirley Stephens, May Winn, Anne Whitlow, Louise Painter, and Marie Utt.

Danville called Betty Mae Ayers, Nancy Bryant, Anne Covington, Sara Currie, Jamie Elliott, and Edna Mae McNeal.

Miss Moran Speaks To Home Ec Club

Miss Grace Moran, of the Science Department, spoke to the Home Economics Club at a meeting held April 4, in the Student Building lounge.

In her talk on "Home Life in Other Countries," Miss Moran described the houses, the people's dress and habits, and the food in each country, as she traced her journey through Norway, Finland, Russia, and back across the continent. In closing, Miss Moran passed around picture of the midnight sun, sod-roofed houses, and other sights seen on her trip abroad.

A social followed, at which time refreshments were served.

A. S. A. Party

The pledges of Alpha Sigma Alpha entertained the members at a party Thursday, April 4, at 9:00. An electric clock was presented to the chapter, and games centered around "time" were played.

Refreshments put a finishing touch to the affair.

S. T. C. Represented at Danville College Day

Ruth Lea Purdum, president of the Junior Class, and Mr. S. M. Holton, professor of education, represented S. T. C. at College Day held at George Washington High School, Danville, Virginia, on April 3.

Dean Herring, from Duke University, was the speaker for the occasion. His topic was "Graduation—What Next?" In the afternoon the representatives held a conference with the parents of the high school students.

The Home Economics Department of the high school served dinner to the visitors for College Day.

Y. W. Committee Sponsors Party

Joy and gaiety filled the "Rec" Wednesday, April 3 at 9:30 when the membership committee of the Y. W. C. A. sponsored an informal party for the Big and Little Sisters.

Strains of college songs played by Zeke's Zippers, welcomed the guests. The musical program consisted of "Oh, Johnny", "In the Mood", and other popular favorites. Peggy Bellus, featured vocalist, did the solos on "Comes Love" and "I Love You Truly". A "community sing" was held as the party joined in on "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi", "Kappa Alpha Rose", and other fraternity songs.

Refreshments consisted of delicious punch and cookies. Dancing followed.

Committees for the affair were: entertainment, Lillian Wahab, Jean Hall and Ellen Hudgins; publicity, Lottie Herald and Anne Moore; refreshments, Nancy Naff, Elizabeth Bernard, Dorothy Childress, May Bryant and Peggy Lou Boyette.

Theta Sigma Upsilon

Members and pledges of Theta Sigma Upsilon will be entertained at a party in the chapter room Wednesday, April 10 by Mildred Harry and Mary Lou Cunningham.

Volley Ball

Continued from Page 5

Pugh, Dorothy Anderson, Virginia Firesheets, Hallie Hillsman, Marge Nimmo, Grey Walden, Myra Smith, Helen McIllwaine, Essie Millner, Anne Ware, Aggie Pierce and Polly Clements.

Dr. Koo

Continued from Page 1

Dr. Koo closed by telling of the rising interest of the Chinese people in Christianity. Dr. Koo, who is at present Secretary of the World's Student Christian Association, was sponsored by the Y. W. C. A.

Sororities Choose New Heads

Seven of the eight sororities on campus have elected their officers for the coming year. The others will be elected in the next few weeks.

Alpha Sigma Alpha has elected Polly Keller, president; Betty Fahr, vice-president; and Ethel Carr, secretary. Ethel's assistant is Gene Hardy Killmon and Bobby Lattore is treasurer, assisted by Carolyn Harvey. Mary Jane Ritchie is Pan Hellenic representative, and Esther Atkinson, alternate.

Pi Kappa Sigma selected Louise Painter to serve as president with Boonie Stevenson as vice-president; Kay Phillips, secretary; Jo Ware, corresponding secretary and Ruth Winstead, treasurer. Elsye Berrye Yates will be Pan Hellenic epresentative and Boonie Stevenson, alternate.

Faye Brandon will head Alpha Sigma Tau and Anne Turner will serve as vice-president. Louise Hall is secretary; Marie Thompson corresponding secretary; Jean Moyer, treasurer; Frances Pritchett, Pan Hellenic representative, and Ruth Shumate, alternate.

Phi Zeta Sigma chose Sue Marshall, president; Martha Cobb, vice-president; Nahrea Coleman, secretary; Julia Hutcheson, corresponding secretary; Marjorie Holt, Pan Hellenic representative, and Martha Cobb, alternate.

Sigma Sigma Sigma elected Nancy Pierpont, president; Helen Seward, vice-president; Rachel DeBerry, recording secretary; Jane Lee Hutcheson, corresponding secretary; Harriett Scott, treasurer; Nan Duer, Pan Hellenic representative; and Nancy Naff, alternate.

Theta Sigma Upsilon elected Virginia Howell, president; Forrestine Whitaker, vice-president; Mildred Harry, secretary; Mary Louise Cox, treasurer; Harriet Haskins, Pan Hellenic representative, and Anne Price, alternate.

Dorothy Menefee will head Mu Omega next year. Anne Benton will succeed Dot as vice-head with May Bartlett as secretary and Yates Carr as treasurer. Sara Cline will be Pan-Hellenic representative with Elizabeth Ann Parker as alternate. Patsy Fletcher is the new chaplain.

A. S. A. Sends Five Girls to Regional Meet

Five members of Alpha Chapter of Alpha Sigma Alpha, social sorority, and their adviser, Miss Grace Moran, will leave Saturday, April 13, for Washington, D. C., where they will attend the regional meeting to be held at the Wardman Park Hotel, April 13 and 14.

Planning the trip are Virginia Lee Pettis, Polly Keller, Shirley McCalley, Betty Fahr, Ethel Carr and Miss Moran.

Regional meeting will be attended by representatives from Temple University, Drexel Institute of Technology, Marshall College, Madison College, Farmville, and alumnae chapters from Virginia, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania. Miss Evelyn G. Bell and Mrs. Charles Moyer, national president and national secretary, respectively, will also be present.

The meeting will open with a luncheon on Saturday, to be followed by business meetings. A formal banquet and midnight spread will form the evening's entertainment.

Kitty Roberts, Farmville graduate of '39, is regional director, and Mrs. Julia Derr Jones, also a Farmville alumna, will be the official hostess. Farmville chapter will have charge of the midnight spread.

Alpha Sigma Alpha is one of the oldest sororities functioning in the college of education field. It has 23 chapters in colleges throughout the country and 39 alumnae chapters located in cities extending from Boston, Massachusetts to San Diego, California.

Chinese Tea Given By Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. sponsored a tea on April 4, at 8:30 P. M., in the Y. W. C. A. lounge. This tea was given in order to arouse interest in a drive to be put on at S. T. C. for the benefit of the Chinese College students. Similar drives have been put on at Duke University, the University of North Carolina, and Randolph-Macon Women's College.

Mrs. Crawford, a former missionary to China, made a talk on China and the present conditions existing there.

The Oriental atmosphere prevailed in decorations and refreshments. Mrs. Hallie Laing, who donated Chinese tea for the affair poured tea and was dressed in Chinese robes.

The social committee of the Y. W. C. A. had charge of the decorations and refreshments. Approximately sixty girls, representing the various organizations on the campus, were invited guests.

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

In the first 50 years of its existence, the State College of Washington granted a total of 10,099 degrees.

EACO THEATRE
DAILY MATS AT 3:45 P. M.

Fri.-Sat., April 12-13
MAE WEST
W. C. FIELDS
"My Little Chickadee"
Color Cartoon—News

Mon.-Tues., April 15-16
JEAN ARTHUR
FRED MacMURRAY
MELVYN DOUGLAS
"Too Many Husbands"
Our Gang Comedy—News

Wed.-Thurs., Fri.-Sat.
April 17 thru 20
CLARK GABLE
VIVIEN LEIGH
"Gone With the Wind"
Tickets now on sale at box office

Hop Says
Keep Your Light Pastels Looking Springy
Phone 77. Third St.
Perrye Smith Representative

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store
Yolanda 500 Sheets
Facial Tissues
10c Box

HAURACHES—MEXICAN MADE—
All Sizes $2.45
Just received, newest gabardine skirts. All colors $1.97
DOROTHY MAY STORE
First to Show the Newest

Busiest Cigarette in the Country ... that's Chesterfield

Miss Aasta Pedersen
. . . the smiling hostess who welcomes guests at one of New York's most famous hotels. She will tell you Chesterfield is the busiest cigarette in the place.

Going "two packs at a time" because Chesterfield is today's definitely milder, cooler-smoking, better-tasting cigarette

These three qualities—MILDNESS, COOLNESS, TASTE... are the sum and substance of real smoking pleasure. You enjoy all three in Chesterfield's right combination of the world's best cigarette tobaccos.

At over a million places where cigarettes are sold you can see these clean white Chesterfield packages going into more pockets and more handbags every day. All over the country smokers are finding out you can't buy a better cigarette.

Chesterfield

Today's DEFINITELY MILDER, Cooler-Smoking, Better-Tasting Cigarette

Copyright 1940 Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

ATTEND ANNUAL PLAY CONTESTS

The Rotunda

SUPPORT YOUR VOLLEY BALL TEAM

File No.—Z773

VOLUME XIX | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 24, 1940 | NO. 24

Allen, Cock, Keck Gain Honors in Forensic Meet

Parker, Courtney Also Win Awards; 48 College Attend

Marie Allen, Anne and Jack Cock, Thelma Courtney, Frances Keck, and Elizabeth Ann Parker won six out of ten debates at the Grand Eastern Forensic Tournament held at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, South Carolina from April 11 through April 13.

Marie was acclaimed Southern Radio Announcer; Frances, Florida Impromptu Speaker, and Anne, Strawberry Leaf After Dinner Speaker and Winthropean After Dinner Speaker.

Elizabeth Ann reached the finals in the Oratory Contest and the semifinals in the Best Debater's Contest. Jack reached the finals in the After Dinner Contests.

Marie and Thelma as a negative team defeated Duke University, Tennessee Tech and Kultztown, Pennsylvania, and lost to Western State Teacher's College, Kalamazoo, Michigan. Frances and Elizabeth Ann as an affirmative team defeated Rosemont College and Shippensburg S. T. C., Pennsylvania, while they dropped contests with Alabama and Mount Mercy. Pennsylvania. Anne and Jack as an affirmative team defeated Alabama and lost to Toledo University.

The Grand Eastern Tournament which is held in April each year is the largest forensic tournament of its kind, being next in size to the national tournaments. Forty-eight colleges, representing the north, south, east and central parts of the United States sent delegates to the convention. Over two hundred and fifty contestants attended this tournament.

Alumnae Delegates Visit the Southwest

Miss Jane Royall and Mrs. M. B. Coyner traveled to southwestern Virginia last week to visit the alumnae chapters in that section. Mrs. Coyner, who is the alumnae secretary, told the groups about the work of the Alumnae Association and also of the activities at the college in Farmville.

Miss Royall and Mrs. Coyner attended an alumnae luncheon at the William Preston hotel in Blacksburg Saturday, April 16. Monday afternoon they attended a meeting in the high school library in Tazewell, Va., to aid the Tazewell alumnae in organizing a chapter.

At Norton, Va., they met with the alumnae on Wednesday afternoon to make plans for reorganizing a chapter of the Wise County Alumnae.

They were guests at a luncheon given at the George Wythe Hotel by the Wytheville alumnae on Saturday. Mrs. James Graham acted as hostess and Miss Frances Stevens rendered a group of piano selections.

During the trip Miss Royall and Mrs. Coyner visited various schols in that section.

A.C.E. Elects Brandon

Faye Brandon was elected president of the Association of Childhood Education at a meeting of this organization last Wednesady night.

Other officers elected to serve for the new school year are vice-president, Elizabeth Glasgow; secretary, Frances Pritchett; treasurer, Dot Menefee; chairman of Ways and Means committee, Charlotte Stevens; and parliamentarian, Boonie Stevenson.

Covington High School Band

Covington High Band Plays Here

Group Directed By J. M. Grainger, Jr.

Covington High School Band, under the direction of James M. Grainger, Jr., presented a concert together with the S. T. C. A'Cappella Choirs in the college auditorium Friday, April 15.

The program by the band consisted of marches by Bennett, and several novelty numbers. Two old English airs, and a group of negro spirituals were the selections the choirs sang. Sarah Lawrence, soloist for the Covington band, played the piccolo in the "Mutual March".

The band rendered short selections during chapel Saturday, April 13 with the drum major and two majorettes accompanying the band in two numbers. After the chapel program the band paraded and made formations in front of student building.

Mr. Grainger, the director, attended Farmville High School, and is a graduate of the University of Virginia, where he was a member of the band, and at one time a student director. He has also done band work at a summer camp.

The band was organized in September 1938, when Mr. Grainger went to Covington to teach, and consists of boys and girls from the upper grades through high school.

There are 115 students in band work, but the group which presented the program was comprised of 38 members.

This concert was given under the auspices of the High School Parent Teachers Association for the benefit of the High School Glee Club.

Brandon and Menefee To Attend Conference

Faye Brandon and Dot Menefee, president and treasurer respectively, will represent the Farmville chapter of A. C. E. at the national convention to be held at Milwaukee, Wisconson, April 29-May 3.

The study conference leaders in early childhood education, which is an annual affair, will carry out the theme, "Broadening Educational Opportunities in You School." There will be study classes, forums, studio groups and exhibits. Such internationally known speakers as Bess Goodykoontz, assistant commissioner U. S. office of Education; and Frank Baker, president, Milwaukee State Teachers College will be present

Granddaughter's Club Elects New Officers

Nancy Fulton, a junior, from Danville, was elected president of the Granddaughter's Club for the coming year, at a meeting Monday night, April 15.

Other officers for the new term are Carolyn Harvey, vice-president; Agnes Patterson, secretary; Polly Keller, treasurer; and Helen Wiley Hardy, reporter.

Sororities Bid Twenty-Five Girls

Spring Rushing Held Last Week

Spring rushing began on Wednesday, April 10th and continued through Friday, April 12th. Each afternoon rushees attended teas in the different chapter rooms from 5 till 6 o'clock.

Those girls accepting bids were Anne Beale Scott, Grace Wallace, Lois Wilkins, Louise and Nancy Allen, Roberta Grigg and Peggy Allen, Alpha Sigma Alpha; Lucy Tucker, Elsie Stossel, May Winn, Gay Ward Brown and Irma Graff, Sigma Sigma Sigma. Helen Williamson, Gamma Theta; Cynthia James, Alice Seebert, Anne Barnett, and Betty Page Harper, Elizabeth Carter, Pi Kappa Sigma; Betsy Austin, Bridget Gentile, Betty Gregg, Nancy Bryant, Corlalie Gilliam and Alice Goode Cahoon, Alpha Sigma Tau; Ruth Fraughnaugh, Theta Sigma Upsilon.

The Rotunda Gets Second Honors

ACP Rates Nation's College Newspapers

"The Rotunda", weekly publication at S. T. C. was awarded second-class honor rating by the Associated Collegiate Press, nationwide campus publications organization, at the University of Minnesota.

From a study of 406 college papers in 43 states, Hawaii and District of Columbia, 13 Virginia college papers were included in All-American honors for 76 college publications. The All-American honor for a weekly, with enrollment of 1,000-2,499, went to V. P. I., and first-class rating to Madison College, Harrisonburg.

With an enrollment of 500-999, "The Rotunda" received second class and the "V. M. I. Cadet" first class rating.

Weekly publications of colleges of enrollment less than 500 receiving first-class rating were "High Hat", College of William and Mary and V. P. I., Norfolk extension; "Tiger" Hampden-Sydney College, Hampden-Sydney; "White Topper", Emory and Henry College, Emory; and "Yellow Jacket", Randolph-Macon College, Ashland. Other colleges receiving honors were Mary Baldwin, Radford State Teachers College, Hollins, Stratford and Sullins.

These Human People Cross-Examined

By DOTTY ROLLINS

You know, when your name has been hallowed by an added few letters of grace indicating the extent of your education, whether M. A. or Ph.D., people are just bound to look upon you with awe. Not having occasion to ask, it's seldom that we wonder which of our faculty members so thoroughly dislikes galoshes, nor which one gave up a surgeon's career to become one of the most successful women in Rural education and one of the first to undertake the hardships of the field. And as for where they're from or their early ambitions or the other things you wonder about, no one has ever asked. But now, brazenly buttonholing several of our faculty members, we begin to question.

DR. WALMSLEY, will you answer a few questions for us? Well, yes sir, sort of personal . . . We'd like to know where you're from, first of all and then . . .

And so Dr. Walmsley tells us graciously all we want to know. With eyes twinkling, he says that as a youngster in his home town Bedford, Virginia, his early ambition was to go west to fight Indians. However, fortunately for us, he digressed a trifle to blaze new trails in education, and soon entered Randolph-Macon College where he received his A. B. and M. A. Later, after attending the University of Chicago and the University of Minnesota, he obtained his Ph.D. from Illinois Wesleyan. Dr. Walmsley has held several professorships elsewhere before coming here to Farmville to had our History department. After a professorship of History and Social Science at Winthrop College, South Carolina, Dr. Walmsley came to Farmville. He has been with us since 1925 and answers emphatically "yes" when asked if he likes it here. (May we editorialize and say it's mutual?) As for a pet hate . . . Dr. Walmsley was reluctant to say, but when he told us "Cigarettes and painted nails", we were proud of him . . . A true gentleman of the old school.

Taking our leave we find MISS CAMPER by a turn in the hall and proceed to ply her with the same questions. Her home is in Salem, Virginia, "City of Peace", and here, early in life, Miss Camper wanted to study medicine and be a surgeon. But after two years work here at Farmville, summer courses at the University of Virginia and Roanoke College she decided to enter Columbia for her B. S. and M. A. majoring in rural education. Since then she has served as teacher and principal

Continued on Page 4

Dramatic Club Host For High School Play Tournament

Richards Elected College Choir Head

Yates Is President Of Choral Club

Virginia Richards and Elsye Berry Yates, both juniors, were elected the new heads of the college choir and the choral club respectively for the coming year at a meeting of the two groups held April 8.

Forrestine Whittaker will serve as vice-president of the choral club; Betty Hawkins will be secretary and Amy Reed, treasurer.

VIRGINIA RICHARDS

Other officers of the College Choir are Elsye Berry Yates, vice-president; Mary Marshall Prosise, secretary and Ruth Winstead, treasurer.

The two groups have already begun plans for next year's activities one of which is a fall concert which will bring together groups from Virginia colleges. Plans are also pending for a return visit of the Duke University Glee Club together with the Harvard University Glee Club and Harvard Symphony Orchestra.

Dr. Wheeldon of Richmond, state chairman of the Harvard Club, met in conference with the new officers last Thursday at which time arrangements were made for the Harvard Glee Club to appear here. Besides these activities, Farmville plans to give a joint recital at Duke University and other colleges in Virginia.

13 Schools Entered In Annual Contest

Out of Town Judges To Select Winners

The annual Southside Virginia Play Contest, sponsored by the Dramatic Club will be held on Thursday, Frdiya and Saturday nights of April 18-20.

Thirteen schools will compete. Each night a cup will be awarded to the winning school.

Thursday night McKinney will present "Wildcat Willie"; Buckingham, "Highness"; Powhatan, "Nancy Orr's Day"; and Appomattox, "The Bishop's Candlesticks".

The program Friday night will consist of La Crosse, "Who Gets the Car Tonight"; Alberta, "The Perfect Gentleman"; Culpeper, "The Happy Journey"; and Clarksville, "Who's A Coward".

Plays to be given Saturday night are Crewe, "The Birthday of the Infanta"; Vinton, "My Wife, Poor Fool"; Orange, "Echo". Farmville, "The First Dress Suit"; and Amelia, "Road Into The Sun".

Judges for the contest will be Miss Clara Black, director of Dramatice at Jefferson High School in Roanoke; Mr. Kenneth Erff, dramatic instructor at Petersburg High School; Miss "Chubby" Gray, instructor of dramatice at Hampton High School; Mrs. Ormand Smith, from "Oakland", Charlotte County, Virginia, and Dr. Herman Bell from Hampden-Sydney College.

The price of admission for three nights is thirty cents, and for one night is fifteen cents. Students selling tickets are Agnes Patterson, Margaret Mish, Lillian Wahab, Carolyn Minnick, Nancy Saunders, Joe Nichol, Jerry Ackiss, Margaret Wright, Betty McConnell, Shirley A. Stephens, Marie Dix, Emily Owen, Josie Lee Cosgdale, Jeanette Ferguson, Jean Watts, Lorraine Swingle, Stella Harmon and Lillian German.

Y.W.C.A. Chairmen Choose Committees

Heads of the various committees of the Y. W. C. A. have chosen the girls who will assist them next year.

Nancy Pierpont is head of the Service committee; Hattie Moore, Bernice Callis, Virginia Howell, Ellen Royall, Mary Willson, Elizabeth Bernard, Vera Baron, Katie Crider, Jeanne Warwick, Agnes Patterson, Dot Lawrence and Barbara White will assist her.

For her Church Cooperative committee Sue Dunlap has chosen Sue Marshall, Martha Frances Cobb, Virginia Richards, Virginia Dawley, Betsy Moore, Beverly Smith and Helen Engleman.

Charlotte Greeley, Catherine May, Eleanor Boothe, Miriam Hanvey, Anne Burgwyn, Margie Rice, Ruth Shumate, and Gray Walden comprise the Prayers committee, of which Eleanor Folk is head.

Assisting Charlotte Gresham on the World Fellowship committee are Yates Carr, Mary Jane Jolliffe, Thelma Courtney, Tekie Belle Pells, Polly Hughes, Eugenia Ramsey, Florence Thiery, Dorothy Sprinkle, Frances Hudkins and Jane Lee Hutcheson.

Rosalie Rodgers, Juanita Leftwich, Alice Britt, Artie Marshall, Rose Pharis, and Margaretta Gerlaugh will assist Rachel Kibler on the Library committee.

Lillian German has chosen the following for the Publicity com-

Continued on Page 3

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia nine months a year

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO · BOSTON · LOS ANGELES · SAN FRANCISCO

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934.

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Mary K. Beck ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Alice Leigh Barham, Anne Barnette, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Bridget Gentile, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Dorothy Sprinkle.

Assistant Business Managers

Toxie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mildred Taylor, Daphne Williamson, Ellen Hudgins, Mary Sue Simmons, Dearing Fauntleroy, Dorothy Childress, Lucy Blackwell, Anne Moore, Frances Pope.

Typists

Thelma Courtney, Frances Pritchett, Virginia Rudd, Norma Wood.
Virginia Worley ..... Photographer

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 17, 1940

Formula for Success

Learn to get along with people.

Learn to exhibit more patience than any other person you know.

Learn to respect other people's ideas and opinions.

Learn to think problems through to the end.

Learn to put yourself in the other fellow's place.

Be democratic.

Be loyal.

Work.

Opportunity Is Knocking

This week-end the Dramatic Club will sponsor the Southside Virginia Play Tournament. This contest, which was originated at Farmville in the spring of 1935, has as its purpose the creation and encouragement of interest in drama.

Such contests have been sponsored in other states and elsewhere in Virginia, but these included only the larger high schools. Farmville has provided a "place in the sun" for the smaller schools and is proud to be working with such a fine group. In our five years as hosts to the contestants we have seen the number of schools participating increased and enjoyed new entries each year. Not only have the contests increased in number, but we feel that the selection and quality of the plays produced has undoubtedly improved.

As teachers, most of us will be called upon to take part in some dramatic work. Whatever our future position we ought to be prepared to help with public entertainments of this kind. These contests offer the best possible opportunity to see the type of plays that high schools, varying from rural to town schools, can successfully produce. They, in training us in judging worthwhile and easy-to-produce plays have real advantages for all.

SENIOR PERSONALITY

MARTHA MEADE HARDAWAY

Out-going President of A. K. G.

An infectious laugh (that's always present), blue, twinkling eyes with a hint of mischief lurking very near, rosy cheeks and a mop of curly hair that tops Meadaway's diminutive five feet plus give the first impression of an elfin creature that somehow strayed into college. But you know what they say about small packages, and "Ming" is no exception. Beneath the brown curls lies common sense galore and you can depend on her to think a sane way out of most any problem that comes along. Her smile isn't all that has attracted the many friends who know and love her, for Martha Meade is genuine sincerity itself, lending sympathetic understanding and interest to all that happens about her. She's one of those people who enrich Life for having stopped by for a moment, and she makes us wonder how we ever made out before she came along.

Experiences of Practice Teacher Reveal That It's a Queer, Queer World

Dear Diary,

I really have a lot to tell you today because I started teaching. That sounds funny, doesn't it, coming from me, but I actually did. Is it fun? I don't know. Is it hard? I don't know. Do I like it? I don't know. It's a queer world—this teaching one—that's all I can say. Why enough goes on in one period for me to write a book. In fact, I think I'll publish my memoirs as a guide book to all future student teachers of this campus and elsewhere.

Connecting names and faces is the hardest part. For instance, in French I, there are Helen and Anne. I remembered their names (I thought) and asked Helen a question (only I was looking at Anne all the time) and one little boy said I was cross-eyed. I almost laughed at that. Then some one asked me if I was engaged and I wanted to sit right down and tell him all about Joe, only we aren't supposed to do that, so I didn't. But I'm sure Joe would love to be told about.

Maybe you think teaching sounds like fun. Well, maybe it is, if you have a philosophy or such. But what I want to know is how does anyone ever pull an A on the stuff? Do you have to wear hornrims and long black dresses? No? Well, what then? Say, if the supervisor comes in and looks bored like they say he usually does, I'm done for.

One thing that puzzles me is that I didn't get any apples today. Course, I like bananas better, but apples sorta go with the first day at school. But I got something else—a white rat—not to keep of course but it peeked out of the desk at me. Ugh, what's so special about white rats? If that one ever got loose, I'd be loose (as in a minute. But the last period of the day was fun. I taught them "Oh, Johnny" in French. Tomorrow, I think I'll try "Goody, Goody". But that's another day.

Goodnight now,
Me (Again)

Vacuum—Empty space in Rome where the Pope lives.

Tune in On

He admits there are two sides to every question—his own and the wrong side.
—Channing Pollock

Many a man puts up a good fight because he's too scared to run.

Like a postage stamp, a man's value depends on his ability to stick to a thing.

Time and tide wait for no man —some women are more patient.

Thomas Jefferson founded the Democratic Party; Franklin Roosevelt dumbfounded it.

Nothing is really work unless you'd rather be doing something else.—James Barrie

Happiness is unrepented pleasure.—Socrates

Courage consists of doing and daring all that ought to be dared.
—Plato

I am quite willing to die; only I should like to know whether death will be any use to me.
—Renan

Daffynitions

Civics—A small type of pole cat.

Worm—A caterpillar that has played strip-poker and lost.

Whisker—A type of broom.

Beard—Face brush used on women.

Lips—What a person does who can't talk plain.

Eyebrow—A person who is high hat.

Census—What you are supposed to have six of.

Wig—The first syllable of an Indian house.

Wham—The last syllable of an Indian house.

Mummy—A person who cannot speak at all.

The Diet of Worms—A punishment under feulalism.

Goethals—Man who dug the alimentary canal.

Mercury—God of the weather because he is found in thermometers.

Equator—Managerie lion running around the earth.

Buttress—Wife of a butler.

Fiction—Books which are fixed to the shelves and cannot be removed.

Abstract noun—Something you can't see when you are looking at it.

Echoes from an Empty Space

First place of the week goes to V. M. I. and from what we hear it couldn't have been better. Passing in review—Mary Lou returning triumphantly with gardenias on her coat and an orchid on her hat . . . Patsy with Glenn Miller's autographed recording of "Star Dust" . . . Nimmo (so we hear) received a rush from all the Tech boys at V. M. I. . . . As well as Dodie from all the V. M. I. boys . . . Marty lunching at the Sigma Nu house with "the Miller" and all the boys.

And then to complicate affairs there was Senior dance at V. P. I. with some of us having to choose between the two. Gay Ward did you get your usual steak? And, Peggy, how many days until June?

S. T. C. was well represented at the Sigma Chi convention over the week-end. You might ask Jean how the rest of the Sigma Chis liked her silverware! Speaking of Sigma Chis, was Bob Dabney surprised when the Rotunda door opened Saturday night at 8:46 p. m.

Which brings to mind the Mu houseparty. It was old times seeing Gray, Blackie, and Ficklen again. Too bad Libby West's rash-ness kept her from going. Imagine the measles at a time like that!

This week-end reminds us of theme songs—"It's Been So Long" Baker and Irma and Billy and Naff; "With the Wind and the Rain in His Hair"—Essie's date; "Friendships"—Ella Marsh and Taylor; "Too Romantic"—Bess and Bobby "Time's a Wasting"—Student Body; "What's the Matter with Me?"—Gussie Parks.

Hitting it off smoothly nowadays is Crowgey and Kossen; Helen Long is now involved in a brand-new romance; namely, Jimmy Traylor—Ah! Spring. Brr-rr! Helen Mac never says die when it comes to a good ping-pong game. But how about your date, Helen? Doesn't he tire of losing?

Just comment—we really had a fine time at the party the Sophs gave us—the costumes surely were original.

Notes: Meatball's purpose defeated, as well as Bowen's when they departed from the Rotunda dateless—Tynes, ditto! . . . Caroline Eason surrounded by young, young men Sunday night . . . Bill Covington out begging Sunday evening for food and Marian . . . Walter Potter around town in his new car—but not with Dot! . . . Why was Kent so elated over six bells by the clock on Sunday eve?

Wedding bells beginning to ring already what with Buck buying a wedding dress, Jane sporting a new diamond, and who knows what Tech and its Ring Dance will reveal?

Question of the week: Who's having who to Cotillion? Not so long off you know.

Students come and students go —but gossip in the Rec goes on forever—Soooo till next time, friends(?).

GLEANINGS

* * * *

By JACK COCK

* * * *

During the present day war in Europe, the United States so far, has adopted a policy of cash and carry toward all belligerent nations, both allies and aggressors, those in authority believing it to be the safest and soundest policy for the economic well-being of the country.

Perhaps there is a better policy; perhaps it is the best, nevertheless, cash and carry does have its weaknesses.

Already Great Britain has made plans to curtail her non-war purchases in order that more cash can be made available for munition purchases in America. To meet this new demand it is going to be necessary for American munition plants to increase their productions. And this is just exactly what the United States does not want.

The inevitable result of too great an increase in munition production would be the dreaded war boom and after the boom what? A depression that would make 1929 look like a year of prosperity.

Unless a quota can be placed on munitions sales or even an export tax; then cash and carry and the United States are flirting with disaster.

Going a little further into the subject and assuming that an export tax or a quota of some kind should be placed on munitions, could we again be sure that the cash and carry policy would mean security? Possibly but not probably.

There are three means by which belligerents can pay the United States for the supplies which they receive—by credit, by barter, and by cash. To extend credit to the belligerents would be violating the Johnson Act which prohibits the United States from giving credit to any country already indebted to the United States.

To barter with the belligerents would mean an exchange of our products for theirs, also impossible. Due to the present situation, the countries over there are in dire need of every single one of the resources at their own command, and more besides. They have nothing to exchange—other than cash, last of three means of paying, and very little of that.

Cash which the United States does not want. Today the United States has a stock of money gold amounting to 60 per cent of the world's supply—this gold with which we have "lined" the Kentucky hills has little utility value to us. We have absolutely no use for all this gold as a monetary base. What then, does the treasury of the United States propose to do with this "Yellow Peril"?

To attempt an auxiliary plan for disposing of this gold would be to admit defeat and so the treasury continues to buy gold from all sources at $35 an ounce. So attractive is the price which we offer for gold, that foreign countries are rapidly responding to a value which may never be available again. So eager have they been to cash in on such a proposition that they have lost any relationship between money and gold, the result of which will undoubtedly lead to managed currency.

On the other hand would not too much gold then also lead to managed currency and heretofore managed currency has always resulted in some form of dictatorship. Is that what the suppporters of a cash and carry policy would have? An affirmative answer seems hards to believe in a country where Democracy is the chief cry.

And at that the question is left. Is cash and carry the safest and soundest policy to be followed by the United States, and if not cash and carry—What?

Sports Slants

ANNE NEVILLE BARNETT

She stood with her every muscle tense, waiting, waiting—. Her eye was fixed upon an object held in one hand; the other arm was held straight back from the shoulder. A signal was given; the arm came forward with the same rapidity that "Papa's" used to have when it descended in earlier days! But the result now is not tragic as it was then. Now the object which was in her hand hurtled over a net which was stretched in mid-air across the gym. Immediately it was sent back with bloodcurdling screams which would more become an Indian horde. Thus the two teams began to volley the volleyball. Oh, shucks, now I've told the answer to my riddle; I bet I had you fooled for a few minutes, anyhow. Why all the dissertation upon volleyball? Because the class games are "in session" and so far the spectators have been too few. Colors are still colors, you know, and you'd be mighty proud if yours won the cup. Support always gives a winning team more spirit and a losing team courage to stage a rally. Let's give them this!

Those who attended swimming classes last week were informed that the diving board was cracked beyond repair. Could it be that "The Professor" has gained weight? Then again, it may be just those Hampden-Sydney "waterducks." They do paddle around, don't they?

S. T. C. has acquired a "beach" covered with the best looking sunbathers I've ever seen. There's been a great deal of traffic going in and out of the door leading out onto the dining hall roof. Of course, we're lacking an ocean or two, but heck, name just one beach which has as beautiful a view of smokestacks and brick walls as ours has! Too, I'll wager a mint of money that not one of you can recall a single other beach with pebbles for sand. If all of these features don't make up for the absence of a little ocean, I think you're just too "perpendicular." At any rate, I guess you've noticed all these good-looking suntans struttin' around—they are the result of our improvised "beach".

Balls are flyin' thick and fast over on the tennis courts. You know, those courts are really the stuff now. After the rains came last week, they were rolled and lined off to perfection. Now a hot liner down the alley will kick up a spurt of white as it nicks the line. Doesn't that sound tempting? So alluring was it that early this past Sunday morning—(the mercury having fallen through) — while most of us were in bed quietly snoozing, some of our budding Helen Wills Moodys were working up an appetite for breakfast. They are really in earnest about this business of a tournament. A decision concerning the identity of the tennis queen of Farmville is in the offing, and don't ever let anyone persuade you that there aren't plenty of contentants. The tourney pairings have been posted so pick the matches you'd like to see and join in the fun.

Balls, balls, balls! In the gym, on the tennis courts and now at Longwood. Seems as though the cars that leave for the course each hour are always full. An ideal spot is the golf course at Longwood in the spring. I hear that they have a lot of fun searching for those lost balls in shady nooks and dampish little gullies. Our aspiring golfers definitely recommend their's as the best sport. What do you think?

Archers Find Spring Weather Excellent For Try at Bullseye

Archery practices are scheduled for Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons but that doesn't mean you can't catch up on your straight aim any time during the week-end. It would be a nice feeling to brighten up a dull Monday morning thinking about your gallant score and improvement over the week-end. You may take the equipment out on the hockey field any time you like. Ask Alice Britt and Myra Smith about it, they know!

Nell Hurt seems to be getting some place too. The bull's eye isn't far from her spot, and incidentally, she's manager of archery. Ask Ruby Adams what sport she likes best of all. And don't forget we want our team to shine and do us up right. One person can't do it all, it's up to all of us, the whole "Robin Hood Band".

Chinese Exhibit On Display in Library

A collection of Chinese relics and materials is now on display in a showcase of the main lobby of the new library. These were lent by Miss Hallie Laing whose daughter lives in China and who visited there several years ago, and by Mrs. Frank Crawford, for many years a resident of China.

GABARDINE SKIRTS AND SHIRTS

All the new pastel colors—grand for tennis and sports wear, all sizes $1.97

Saddle oxfords $2.97
New Fragee Anklets 25c
Carol King Cotton Dresses $3.97

DOROTHY MAY STORE
First to Show the Newest

TENNIS OXFORDS
79c & 98c

Knitting Wool, all the new wanted colors, per ball— and up 10c

Canvas Wedgies, pretty colors, the shoe you want for sport wear $2.45

THE HUB DEPT. STORE
APPRECIATES YOUR PATRONAGE

Even Teams Lead Volley Ball Tilts

Sophs and Seniors Set Rapid Pace

Volley ball class games began Tuesday, April 14, with Green and White bowing to Red and White in the first rounds of the tournament.

Round robin type of tournament was used with each class playing her sister team first. Three games between classes were played with the winning teams taking the victory. In the first round between sister classes, the Sophomores defeated the Seniors in two consecutive games and the Freshmen carried the honors against the Juniors.

Again the Sophomores were victorious as the clash between colors began. They defeated the Juniors in two games with scores of 15-7 and 29-5. The Seniors then tilted the Freshmen in two consecutive games, 21-6 and 19-3. These scores left Red and White leading so far for points towards the Color Cup.

Wednesday the Sophomores will meet the Freshmen and the Seniors will vie with the Juniors. This will decide the winner of the volley ball points toward the coveted Color Cup.

Tennis Team To Compete With W-M

Four persons in the finals of the tennis tournament being held now will be eligible for the varsity tennis team. They will enter into competition with William and Mary on April 26.

The tourney started on Monday, April 15 with the first round scheduled to be played off by Thursday, April 18. The pairings are posted on the A. A. bulletin board.

National Y. W. Sec'ty To Address Cabinet

Miss Augusta Roberts, National Secretary of the Y. W. C. A. will be on the campus Thursday and Friday, April 18 and 19.

She will speak to both the old and new cabinet members on Thursday at 4:30 in the lounge. She will speak to the student body in chapel on Thursday. Miss Roberts is a graduate of Texas University, and is interested in campus problems.

Last fall she was an important leader at the Regional convention in Richmond. At that time she led a discussion on the Purpose of the Christian Association. She will make suggestions and give help in program planning.

Miss Roberts, who visits many campuses, will tell the cabinet about the work on other campuses throughout the United States.

Mr. Miles Speaks To Commercial Students

The Commercial Club held its regular meeting on Friday evening, April 12th.

Mr. Miles showed a moving picture "The Blind Spot of Science." At the conclusion of the meeting he spoke to the club on finances.

Plans are now being made for a Spring Banquet at Longwood.

SHANNON'S
Good Food
Mixed Candies

COLLEGE SHOPPE
We serve the best food in town
Try us We deliver
Call 200

Sports Calendar

Pool

5:00-5:30—M., Th., F.
4:00-5:30—T., W.
3:00-9:00—Sat.

Tennis

Sign on bulletin board for desired time.

Archery

4:00-5:00—Daily
4:00-5:00 —T., W., Th., Fr.

Golf

Cars leave for Longwood course every hour.

Courter, Fischer Attend Conference

Rosa Courter, president of the Athletic Association, and Dorothy Fischer, outgoing president, will represent Farmville at the Conference of the Southwestern Section of the American Federation of College Women Service to American Youth at the West Virginia University in Morgantown, West Virginia, April 18-20.

Some of the outstanding features of the conference will include demonstrations in swimming and folk dancing. The Orchesis group of W. V. U. will present a demonstration program of modern dance. The leading discussion group sessions will concern such topics as "Conduct of Co-recreation on College and University Campuses." This discussion will be led by Duke University representatives. The Farmville representatives will conduct a discussion on "Basis for Organization of Intramural Competition."

Other group discussions will concern "Ways of Interesting Women Students in Recreational Activities", "Women's Athletic Association Club Organization and Projects", "Youth's Opportunity for Service", and "Leadership and Service".

West Virginia University is one of the most outstanding schools of physical education and athletic training in the southeast.

Sports Assistants Are Announced

Three new assistant managers of archery, golf, and tennis were announced Monday, April 15.

Alice Britt will assist Nell Hurt in archery. Assistant manager of golf is Agnes Patterson and Anne Neville Barnett will assist with tennis.

Martin the Jeweler
VISITING CARDS
75c a hundred
Also other expensive styles

G. F. BUTCHER CO.
"The Convenient Store"
Dealer in fancy groceries and confectioneries
600 High Stret Farmville, Va.

Helena Rubinstein
1-2 Price Sale
(April 27 to May 4) one week only
$2.00 Jar Cleansing Cream ... $1.00
Southside Drug Store

Weyanoke Beauty Shoppe
SPECIAL!
$3.50 Duart Perms., now ... $2.50
$5.00 Oil Perms., now ... $3.50
Shampoo, finger wave, regular price ... 50c
Shampoo, finger wave and manicure ... 85c
PHONE 331

Class Volley Ball Captains Elected

Leonard, Dodson, Wise, Borden, Lead

Liza Wise, Crews Borden, Mary Katherine Dodson, and Doris Leonard were elected captains of the senior, junior, sophomore and freshmen volley ball teams, respectively.

Girls have been practicing for the teams in the afternoons from 4 until 6 o'clock for the past two weeks. Intramural games began Monday, April 15. Points toward the color cup will be given to the winner of the games. Eight practices are necessary for eligibility to play on a team.

Y. W. C. A.

Continued from Page 1

mittee: Florence Lee, Alice Seebert, Harriette Walker, Gene Hardy Kilmon, Bertha McLaughlin, and Beatrice Dunton.

Emma Noblin heads the Town Girls committee. Working with her will be Hallie Hillsman, Betty Baldwin, Mamie Snow, Nahrea Coleman, Lucille Wilkerson, Eva Reid, Peggy Allen, Ann Cocks, Virginia Simmons and Evelyn Quillen.

Chubby Heard has selected Mary Catherine Dodson, Martha Roberts, Nell Hall, Louise Hall, "Fiddle" Haynes, Dawn Shanklin, Pat Gibson and Ellen Ebel to assist her with Sing.

The Social committee under the direction of Anne Ellett is composed of Lillian Agnew, Emma Louise Crowgey, Bobbie Tripp, Madge McFall, Ruth Palmer, Betty Laird, Margaret Mish, Imogene Claytor, Nancye Allen, Grace Hutcheson, Jean Hatton, and Emily Lankes.

The Music committee headed by Betty Hawkins has Elsye Berrye Yates, Lynette Honeycutt, Margaret Anne Foreman, Carroll Costello, Terry Byers, Sarah Elizabeth Whisnant, Caroline Rouse, Susie Pearl Crocker, and Ada Claire Sydnor as members.

Anne Moore, Elva Kibler, Anna Johnson, Boo Barham, Lucy Davis, Ellen Hudgins, Jeanne Hall, May Bartlett, Dorothy Rollins, Dorothy Childress, Elsie Stossel, and Jane Waller will serve on the Membership committee. Sara Cline is head of this group.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

HOTEL WEYANOKE
Regular Meals
A La Carte Service
Salads & Sandwiches

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert
Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

New Dramatic Club Officers Installed

Alice Leigh Barham, new president of the Dramatic Club, was installed by Shirley Stevens, outgoing president, Wednesday, April 10, at a candlelight service in the large auditorium.

After taking the oath of office, Alice Leigh installed other officers and heads of committees. The new officers are Patsy Smith, vice-president; Gerry Ackiss, secretary; and Lillian German, treasurer.

Those serving as heads of committees for the coming year are Lillian Wahab, play contest; Anna George, lighting; Harriett Haskins, properties; Dell Warren, staging; Peggy Watkins, acting; Florence Lee, posters; Norma Wood, music; Evelyn Thorington, publicity; Mary Lou Shannon, makeup; and Gene Hardy Kilmon, costuming.

"WHEN YOU WISH UPON A STAR"
"ALICE BLUE GOWN"
"WOODPECKER SONG"
"STARLIT HOUR"
"THE ISLE OF MAY"
All the latest hits may be bought at
LYNN'S MUSIC STORE

Rose's
5-10-25c Store
ON THE CORNER
Cleansing Tissue
500 Sheet Box
15c

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material used
All Work Guaranteed

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

$—DAY SPECIAL—$
Friday & Saturday
5 SWEATERS ... $1.00
4 SHIRTS ... $1.00
2 DRESSES, 1 BLOUSE ... $1.00
KEANWELL Cleaners & Tailors

NOTICE—We now offer special low student rates on RADIO REPAIR WORK!
Electric Appliance Co.
Armory Bldg. Phone 40

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

DRUMELLER'S
FANCY MEATS
AND GROCERIES

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

Many Girls Attend Dances In Lexington and Blacksburg

A. S. A. Delegates In Washington

V. M. I. and V. P. I. still rate first with the S. T. C. week-end goers. The Easter dances at V. M. I. attracted twenty-two girls from Farmville. Those attending the dances were Virginia Barksdale, Anne Covington, Alice Cogburn, Blanche Carper, Frances Ellett, Eleanora Faison, Patsy Fletcher, Jean Hall, Louise Huff, Eugenia Lloyd, Jane McGinnis, Theodosia MacKenzie, Sue Marshall, Anne Marshall, Jean Martin, Margaret Mish, Marjorie Nimmo, Martha Roberts, Virginia Rudd, Jane Saunders, Mary Lou Shannon and Barbara White.

Those attending the Mechanical Engineers Ball at V. P. I. were Gay Ward Brown, Cleo Jarman, Patsy Kilby, Eloise Layman, and Peggy Williams.

Virginia Lee Pettis, Polly Keller, Shirley McCalley, Betty Fahr, and Ethel Carr attended the convention of the Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority in Washington, D. C.Dot Eades and Jean Moyer were delegates to the Y. W. C. A. National Convention which was held at Atlantic City, New Jersey.

As usual Richmond, Roanoke, and Lynchburg drew the largest crowd. Those going to Richmond were Alice Belote, Dorothy Brookfield, Josephine Chelf, Minnie Cobb, Martha Cottrell, Betty Lee Downing, Nancy Dupuy, Rachel DeBerry, Caroline Eason, Marie Eason, Ellen Ebel, Elizabeth Gunter, Anne Lee Gardner, Mary Harvie, Johnny Lybrook, Kathleen Jones, Nancy Wolf, Edith Nunnally, Ada Nuckols, Emily Owen, Mildred Owen, Augusta Parks, Frances Pope, Helen Ruger, Margie Rice, Bobby Tripp, Mildred Taylor, Norma Wood, Mary K. Dodson, Anne Williams, and Harriett Scott.

S. T. C. girls visiting in Roanoke were Virginia Alexander, Virginia Bowling, Betty Barnes, Elizabeth Bundy, Margaret Anne Bunting, Doris Bishop, Margaret Carr, Harriet Cantrell, Elizabeth Carter, Jeannette Ferguson, Charlotte Greely, Nell Hall, Nell Hurt, Frances Hoback, Helen Lewis, Lorana Moomaw, Louise Painter, Betty Peery and Betty Tyler.

Rachel Abernathy, Doris Alvis, Emma Louise Crowgey, Imogene Hutter, Polly Hughes, Frances Kash, Doris Lee, Betty McConnell, Eliza McDaniel, Carolyn Mimmick, Judy Marshall, Katherine Price, and Betty Sexton visited in Lynchburg.

Others visiting outside of Farmville were Anne Billups, Katherine Gray, Helen Harrington, and Marguerite Russ, Norfolk; Jerry Smith, Gerry Ackiss, and Betty Boutchard, Newport News; Frances Mallory and Agnes Patterson, Lawrenceville; Betsy Austin, Estelle Paulette, and Katherine Burge, South Hill; Charlotte Andrews, M. K. Beck; Carolyn Ford, and Martha Mayton, Petersburg; Frances Alvis, Vera Jacobs, Williamsburg.

Irma Anderson, Halifax; Lillian Agnew, Burkeville; Nancy Bondurant, Blacksburg; Faye Brandon, Suffolk; Dorothy Bailey, Wakefield; Elizabeth Bernard, Boones Mill; Gloria Berry, Crews Borden, Charlottesville; Anne Bradshaw, Hampton; Corilda Chaplin, Hot Springs; Elizabeth and Helene Cline, Stuarts Draft; Marguerite Costello, Hurt; Martha De Crawley, Cumberland; Grace Hutcheson, Anne Elliett, Jennings Ordinary; Jane Engleby, Chevy Chase, Md.; Ada Claire Sydnor, Dearing Pauntleroy, Altavista; Betty Greig, Covington; Maxine Hawks, Jacqueline Hardy, Jane Hardy, Martha Hamock, Blackstone; Carolyn Harvey, Curdsville; Helen Jeffries, Bluefield, W. Va.; and Sara Keesee, Sycamore.

Sorority Notes

The Pi Kaps were entertained at an informal supper party in the chapter room Sunday evening at six o'clock. Guests included the new pledges.

Hostesses were Ellen Royal, Anne Boswell, Annabel Wescott, Margaret James, and Madge Horne.

Mu Omega Anniversary

A week-end party was held at Longwood April 13th and 14th to celebrate the fifteenth anniversary of the Mu Omega sorority. On Saturday afternoon a picnic was given and a banquet later, at which time alumna, Adele Hutchinson presided as Toastmistress. Decorations were black with flowers of narcissus and bridal wreath.

Those present besides the active members were Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Leola Wheeler, adviser, Miss Carolyn Cogbill, Pan-Hellenic adviser, along with alumna, Mrs. Edith Cornwell, the first head, Mrs. Nancy Pobst Ellis, Mrs. Mary Banks Fretwell, Miss Adele Hutchinson, Mrs. Kitty Hatch Whitfield, Edna Harvey, Louise Coleman, Marjorie Robertson, Rena Robertson, Ellen Mason, Elizabeth Sieber, Julia MacRainey, Martha Hamlet, Louise Bryan, Beverly Blair, Jean Taylor, Marguerite Blackwell, Eloise Williams, Dot Hatcher, Miriam Ficklen, Nancy Gray and Claire Eastman.

A. S. A. Entertained

Shirley Stevens, Peggy Bellus and Frances Alvis entertained the active members and pledges with an informal party in the chapter room Sunday night at 10 o'clock.

The Alpha Sigma Alpha national convention was discussed, Shirley McCalley, Ethel Carr, Virginia Lee Pettis, Polly Keller, Betty Beale Fahr and Miss Moran, adviser, attended the convention which was held in Washington, D. C. on April 13.

Gamma Theta Elections

New officers were elected by the members of Gamma Theta at a regular meeting on Tuesday, April 9, in the chapter room. The new officers are Norma Wood, head; Martha Whelchel, vice-head; Martha Cottrell, secretary; and Helen Wentz, treasurer.

Cross-Examined

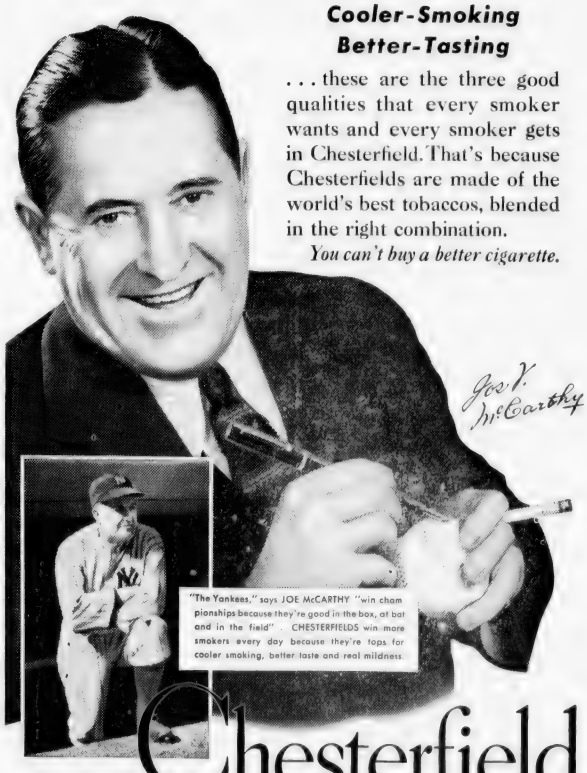
Continued from Page 1

in public school work in Salem, and as Rural School Supervisor. In speaking of Farmville, Miss Camper describes it as her second home . . . no better words are needed to tell us how much she likes it. Rather wonderingly we inquire of her, "What's your pet hate?" and receive the amazing answer "Apple pie . . . can't stand it."

Downstairs from the post office, we find Miss Stevens busy in her office, but she graciously permits the interruption and heeds our questionnaire. Her home is in Metz, West Virginia, where, she tells us, her greatest interest as a little girl was to go to school. This she did, attending West Va. University State Normal School, Fairmont, West Virginia, and receiving her Ph.D. from the University of Chicago. Miss Stevens just couldnt think of a pet hate, unless it could be crooked identification lines on our Biology drawings, but we do know about this favorite person business . . . a nephew moderne!

When you haven't got an education you just have to use your brains.

EACO THEATRE
DAILY MATS AT 3:45 P. M.
Wed.-Thurs. Friday-Sat.,
APRIL 17-18—19-20
VIVEN LEIGH
CLARK GABLE
"Gone with the Wind"
Tickets for all shows on sale at box office
Next Mon.-Tue., April 22-23
T. Brown, Peggy Moran
"Oh, Johnny, How You Can Love"
Carl Hoff and Orchestra
Next Wed.-Thur., Apr. 24-25
LINDA DARNELL
JOHN PAYNE
"STAR DUST"
Stranger than fiction story



Hop Says
SUNSHINE OR RAIN
WE MAKE YOUR CLOTHES
LOOK NEW AGAIN
DE LUXE CLEANERS

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store
Yolanda 500 Sheets
Facial Tissues
10c Box

New Spring
ARRIVALS
A BEAUTIFUL ASSORTMENT OF
NEW SPORT SKIRTS
. . To be had in GABARDINE and SHARKSKIN. All new spring colors, in a big seelction of sizes.
$1.98 and $2.98
NEW SPRING AND SUMMER
BLOUSES
ovely styles and colors
. . . The very thing for the warm days that are to come.
$1.00 and $1.98
DAVIDSON'S

AMERICA'S BUSIEST CIGARETTE

Chesterfield goes to bat with the World Champion Line-up Definitely Milder
Cooler-Smoking
Better-Tasting
. . . these are the three good qualities that every smoker wants and every smoker gets in Chesterfield. That's because Chesterfields are made of the world's best tobaccos, blended in the right combination.
You can't buy a better cigarette.

Chesterfield
Today's DEFINITELY MILDER, Cooler-Smoking, Better-Tasting Cigarette
Copyright 1940, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

CONGRATULATIONS TO NEW A. K. G. MEMBERS

The Rotunda

ATTEND OPEN SOCIAL SCIENCE MEETINGS

File No. -2773

VOLUME XIX | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 24, 1940 | NO. 25

Farmville, Vinton And Appomattox Win Drama Honors

11 Schools Enter Play Contests

Eleven schools competed in the Southside Virginia Play Contest sponsored annually by the S. T. C. Dramatic Club on April 18-20.

Each night a cup was awarded to the play giving the best performance according to casting, interpretation, theme, and individual acting.

Appomattox High school was awarded the cup for "The Bishop's Candlesticks," on Thursday night. Honorable mention was given Alberta High school.

"The First Dress Suit" given by Farmville High school, won the cup on Friday night.

William Byrd High School, Vinton, received the cup for its portrayal of "My Wife, Poor Fool" on Saturday night.

Miss Ida Leane Warren, South Boston; Mr. Kenneth Erfft, Petersburg; Mrs. Ormand Smith, "Oakland" in Charlotte county; Dr. Herman Bell, Hampden-Sydney; and Miss Amanda Gray, Newport News, were the judges for the plays.

The staging, lighting, properties, and music committees of the Dramatic Club assisted the schools.

Miss Eggleston Guest of Society

Miss Elizabeth Eggleston of Hampden-Sydney, a Virginia poet, will read her poem "Li'l Stracted" at a meeting of Beore Eh Thorn Thursday night at seven o'clock in the Y. W. Lounge. The poem first appeared in the North American Review and has attracted much comment nationally.

Mrs. Herman Bell will sing another of Miss Eggleston's poems, "And I Loved a Lady". She will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Gills.

Four new members, Verna Mae Barr, Frances Keck, Mrs. MacDowell, and Flora Winn will be initiated into the society at this time.

Refreshments will be served after the program. Members of the faculty and administration have been invited.

Eighty Books Added To Browsing Room

Eighty additional books of fiction have been placed for use in the Browsing Room of the new library, Miss Mary Snead, librarian reports. These books, all of them personal copies, were recently given the school by Miss Lula Andrews.

Miss Andrews, for many years head of the English language department here, now lives in Richmond and instructs in extension work in connection with the University of Virginia. She has also taught at Peabody, at Winthrop College, and the University Summer School. Although not a graduate of Farmville, Miss Andrews was named an honorary member of the Farmville Alumnae Association.

Miss Andrews often visits Misses Mary and Winnie Hiner and was present for the recent Founders Day.

Honor Organization Initiates Three Girls

Marie Allen, Pat Gibson and Katherine Wood were initiated into Pi Gamma Mu, national history and social science honor fraternity, in the honors room Tuesday night, April 23.

All three girls have shown outstanding ability in this field.

1940-'41 Sophomore Commission Elected

Fifteen freshmen were elected to the 1940-1941 Sophomore Commission by the secret ballot at the table in the hall, Wednesday, April 17.

New members of the Sophomore Commission are Gerry Smith, Anne Moore, Kitty Price, Jean Hall, Ruth Palmore, Nancy Saunders, May Bartlett Agnes Patterson, Helen Wiley Hardy, Margaret Mish, Amy Reid, Shirley Turner, Sarah Wade Owen, Betty Youngberg, and Peggy Lou Boyette. Betsy Jennings, president of next year's Sophomore class, and Ellen Ebel, Freshman Counselor, are ex-officio members of the new Commission.

Election of the officers of the Commission will be held at the first meeting. Frances Rosebro is the Sophomore Counselor for next year.

"Virginian" Staff Is Announced

Further Selections To Be Made Later

May Wertz, editor of the 1941 Virginian, and Anne Ayers, business manager, have announced their staff for the next year's annual.

Associate editor will be Anne Benton; literary editor, Jane McGinnis; assistants, Caroline Eason, Dorothy Sprinkle, Lois Jane Steidtmann, Helen Gray, and Harriet Cantrell; art editor, Dorothy Rollins; assistants, Anne Turner and Lillian German; photographic editors: Madge McFall and Gay Ward Brown.

Girls on the business staff besides the business manager are: assistant business manager, Dorothy Johnson; subscription manager, Kitty Parrish; publicity manager, Augusta Parks and typist, Sue Dunlap.

The editor stated that the staff was not entirely complete and that others would be added after the essay contest had ended.

Sarah Sibold Heads Home Economics Club

Sarah Mae Sibold, a junior, was elected president of the Home Economics Club at a meeting held Thursday, April 18 in the Y. W. C. A. lounge.

Sarah is a member of Alpha Phi Sigma and has been active in the Home Economics Club for the last three years.

Anne Cocks will serve as vice-president; Sue Dunlap, secretary; Nan Duer, treasurer; and Elizabeth Rapp, reporter.

Modern Athenians Bask In S. T. C. Penthouses

"Everybody's doing it, doing it, doing it." Yes, when ole King Sol shows his face in all his glory and permeates the April atmosphere with his brilliance, come eleven o'clock — classes are forsaken, chapel cut, and the 'sun-tanners" take to the S. T. C. penthouses.

A birdseye view the other day revealed some 50 modern Athenians languidly absorbing bright April elements. It was an extraordinary "pertiful" sight with bright reds, greens and blues showing above white beach robes with an occasional stripe or polka dot mingled in the color scheme.

All colors are popular on the roof this year, it seems and when it comes to wearing apparel well—anything is right in vogue.

Here and there are a pair engaged in that popular roof activity of reading "True Confession", and nearby is a little lady sopping olive oil on her face. Over there is a red-head reclined under a sun shade. I guess she's trying to get Vitamin D instead of freckles on her nose.

Ding! Dong! Lunch bell. Nobody stirred. What? Don't tell me they'd rather stay up here than eat, what with all the enticing aroma too?

Sure. Sol is giving his best at high noon and it just can't be missed; so, they just send down town for a coke and keep on basking.

"It's gobs of fun," they say, "and awfuly healthy, too; in fact one sun-bath gives twice as much Vitamin D as you could get in a grocery store in a whole week.

Honorary Art Frat Alumna Has Lead In

Anne Turner, a sophomore from Richmond, Virginia, was elected president of Gamma Psi, art fraternity, at a meeting of the organization last week. Other officers elected to serve for the new school year are vice-president, Harriette Walker; secretary, Patsy Fletcher, and treasurer, Dotty Rollins.

Anne has been outstanding in art work since her freshman year at school and is newly appointed to the art staff of the 1941 "Virginian".

Alumna Has Lea dIn Play at Staunton

Jacquelyn Johnson, of the class of 1938, took one of the key roles in the production of "Death Takes a Holiday" presented by the Staunton Players on Friday evening, April 12.

Finley Tynes, who helped reorganize the Hampden-Sydney Dramatic Club, played opposite her.

Jac, whose home is in Carrollton, is teaching in the Staunton primary school.

Social Science Group Convenes Here Friday

Miss Stubbs Is In Charge of Program

Miss Florence H. Stubbs, associate professor of history and social science, is chairman of the committee on local arrangements and the program of the Virginia Social Science Convention to be held in Farmville, April 26-27 with STC and Hampden-Sydney joint hosts.

Dr. George Sinclair Mitchell, assistant administrator of the Farm Security Administration, will be guest speaker at the general meeting Friday evening, April 26. His topic will be "Rural Planning". Dr. Maude H. Woodfin, president of the Association will also speak at this time.

Outstanding men and women in the social sciences will lead the section meetings.

The general public is invited to the general meeting. Sections on history, sociology, social science, political science, and economics are invited. These groups will meet in the Student Activities Building at S. T. C. and at Hampden-Sydney.

NOTICE

May Day will begin at 5 o'clock, Saturday, May 4. Supper will be later than usual. Students are urged to invite their friends and relatives.

Rabbi Lefkowitz To Address Students

Rabbi Sidney M. Lefkowitz, of Richmond, will address the student body of S. T. C. Thursday, April 25 in chapel on the subject, "The Talmud."

Rabbi Lefkowitz spoke here in January with Reverend Beverly M. Boyd and Father Edward L. Stephens, members of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. Rabbi Lefkowitz is secretary of the Richmond branch of this organization.

He has been associate rabbi and educational director of Beth Ahabah Synagogue in Richmond since 1933, and is a graduate of the Univeristy of Cincinnati and the Hebrew Union College. The Rabbi has also participated in civic and welfare work in his community. He is counsellor for Neighborhood House and the Richmond area of the Boy Scouts of America, and has served on committees of the Community Fund and Red Cross.

Alpha Kappa Gamma Taps Five Juniors

Gamma Psi Is Exhibit Sponsor

Gamma Psi, art fraternity, is sponsoring exhibits of two contemporary Virginia artists to be shown here through April 28.

The work of J. Binford, inruling three of his unusual gouchas paintings, is being shown in the Browsing Room of the new library. Mr. Binford, who is from Fine Creek Mills, Virginia, is outstanding in contemporary art work in the state and has won several noteworthy awards.

Miss Eleanor Burruss, instructor of art at St. Catherine's School, Richmond, has submitted several of her water colors for exhibit, which are hung in the hall and in the first classroom of the new art department.

Both exhibits are open to all students during the day, though the work of Mr. Binford is being shown only during library hours.

Music Students Attend Festival

Mr. Alfred H. Strick, professor of music, and nine music students attended the state-wide music festival for junior high schools and high schools, held in Richmond, April 18-19.

Those who went were Virginia Richards, Forestine Whitaker, Laura Nell Crawley, Virginia Barksdale, Irene Alderman, Margueretta Gerlaugh, Marion Farley, and Ashley Bell Hannah. Jane Powell, director of Farmville High School Glee Club, took the Glee Culb to compete in choral singing.

The music students observed the contests held at various schools. Thursday evening the program consisted of bands and symphony orchestras. Friday the bands paraded.

Miss Moran To Speak At Covington Meeting

Miss Grace Moran and Mrs. M. B. Coyner, will attend a Farmville Alumnae District Meeting in Covington, Va., on Saturday, April 27. They hope to meet both the Covington and the Clifton Forge alumnae. Miss Moran will be guest speaker.

Honor Organzation Conducts Services During Chapel

Alice Leigh Barham, Marion Heard, Dorothy Rollins, Elizabeth West and Martha Whelchel were tapped by Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honor fraternity, for leadership among women, before a majority of students and faculty in chapel Tuesday morning, April 23.

Eligibility for Alpha Kappa Gamma is based first upon the qualities of leadership, character and service to the school. A member must have an average scholarship rating and must have proven her worth to the college.

Boo Barham has done outstanding work on the Student Council—serving as Campus League Chairman in her sophomore year and treasurer this year. At present she is vice-president of the council and president of the Dramatic Club. Boo also served on the Freshman Commission her freshman year and has been on "The Rotunda" staff for two years. She is a member of Kappa Delta Pi.

Chubby Heard has also been active on the Student Council and ha sserved as class representative for two years. She is outstanding in class acivities, was head of the acting group of the Dramatic Club this year and is chairman of the Y. W. C. A. Sing committee. Chubby is also a member of Pi Gamma Mu.

Dotty Rollins is prominent in many phases of college life. She is president-elect of Kappa Delta Pi, treasurer of Gamma Psi, historian for Beore Eh Thorn and also chairman of the May Day property committee. Active also in literary fields, Dotty will be art editor of the "Virginian" next year and she is a member of "The Rotunda" and "Colonnade" staffs and of Pi Gamma Mu.

Libby West is managing editor of "The Rotunda" and has served on the staff for three years. She is also on May Day property committee and chapel committee. Libby is a member of Pi Gamma Mu and Kappa Delta Pi. She is incoming treasurer of the latter organization.

Martha Whelchel is the new vice-president of the Y. W. C. A. and also president-elect of Student Standards. She has been active in Y. W. work since her freshman year and has served on Stu-

Continued on Page 3

Sophomores Entertain Sister Class In "Rec"

Sophomores entertained their sister class, the Seniors, with a party in the Rec April 16, at 9:30 P. M. Each person was dressed to represent the month in which she was born.

Margaret Anne Bunting served as mistress of ceremonies. The program included Peggy Bellus singing "Indian Summer" with Antoinette Barrette at the piano. A tap dance representing the different months was given by Mae Desaix; the quartet, composed of Mary Katherine Zehmer, Buff Gunter, Polly Hughes, and Nancy Dunn sang "The Postal Shay" and Annette Prosise and Flora Winn did some of their ole "Jitterbug Dancing". Marie Utt entertained the audience with a hula dance and Sarah Chambers played "Rhapsody in Blue". During the evening Zeke Zuppe also played.

At the close of the program refreshments were served after which there was a parade of all the people in costume. Isabel Williamson received the prize for the most original and best costume.

These Human People Cross-Examined---Again

By DOTTY ROLLINS

Personally, we revel in this faculty questioning job . . . sleuthing is such fun, especially when your subjects are so interesting! Again, as we peruse around for a likely victim, the thought of the "fine arts point of view" intrigues us, so we wend our way to the new Fine Arts department on Old Library Hall to find Miss Bedford and to begin our query.

"I'm from Missouri!" says Miss Bedford, laughing, "I mean it literally," she added, "I spent my young girlhood on a farm in Columbia, Missouri, and my very earliest ambition, there, was to become a farmer's wife, to assume the responsibilities of a big menage. But after watching my two sisters realize their artistic ambitions, I began to be swayed in that direction myself and after attending various local schools I enered the University of Missouri for my B. S. in Education. I received my M. A. at Teachers College, Columbia University, and have had one summer's additional study there, too." As for previous positions, Miss Bedford has spent a year in Port Arthur in Southern Texas in high school art work and two summers at State Teachers College, Cape Girardeau, Missouri. "But Farmville is my favorite," she assured us. I like the informality here between students and teachers and the friendliness of the town. My pet hate," queries Miss Bedford, "why, I guess I've more than one, onions, and galoshes and especially gushing people! And I can't forget bright green," she added, coverying everything. Thank you so much, we say fervently, as we exit from the handsome new quarters, and head for the lower floor in search of more talent.

Ahead of us on the hall we see a resolute figure turning toward the Music department. We pursue with interest, for we know it to be Mr. Strick and we sense another delightful interview.

When we have captured him at length in his office, and when he is settled in his chair with his inevitable cigar, we mention our questioning idea. Mr. Strick pledges himself to the cause at once. "So you're going to question the faculty, eh? I think it's an excellent idea, 'don't you know I do? Yes!" And he tells us his story at once.

After spending his early boyhood in the Lake District of England, Mr. Strick attended, and received his diploma from Trinity College, London. His advanced Teacher's Diploma was received here in the good ole U. S. A.—from the famed Institute of Music, Washington University in St. Louis, Mo. Before coming to Farmville to be "our professor", Mr. Strick taught in several southern colleges being Dean of Fine Arts for fourteen years. He has directed State and local music festivals and has appeared in concert as accompanist for several nationally known artists. Discussing his interesting experiences and his travels abroad, Mr. Strick mentions with pleasure meeting John Ruskin in his home in Conniston, Lancashire, England and the fact that he has two of his letters. Also, he tells us of his study under the famed Chevalier Liebling, who was court pianist to the German emperor.

His pet hate, we find, is lack of punctuality, and his pet hobby—animals, but especially cats!

With these pleasant gleanings we hurry to spread the word again to our public. Our faculty soon will have no private life, if we can help it, for we love to query. Now lets see, who'll it be next time? We wonder.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia nine months a year

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO · BOSTON · LOS ANGELES · SAN FRANCISCO

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934.

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Mary K. Beck ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Alice Leigh Barham, Anne Barnette, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Bridget Gentile, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Dorothy Sprinkle.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mildred Taylor, Daphne Williamson, Ellen Hudgins, Mary Sue Simmons, Dearing Fauntleroy, Dorothy Childress, Lucy Blackwell, Anne Moore, Frances Pope.

Typists

Thelma Courtney, Frances Pritchett, Virginia Rudd, Norma Wood.
Virginia Worley ..... Photographer

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 24, 1940

"Teachers Are Sociologists."

President James B. Conant, of Harvard University said: "The ideals expressed by Thomas Jefferson 150 years ago have never died in this country. The chief of these is that inheritance and social position must never determine educational opportunities."

The test of every system of law and administration, designed to promote the welfare of children, is not how much is done for part of them, but the minimum that is absolutely assured to every child. These are the goals for which we are striving today. Not only are people coming to realize that the rural sections have as many, if not more, welfare problems than the city, but far more important, something is being done about it.

The school is the battlefield of all social welfare work. It is on this front that action must take place. It is here that the groundwork of citizenship is laid—be it good or bad. Thus, great responsibility rests with the teacher. She is first a social worker, then a dealer in subject matter. In a position to do more good than any other social workers, hers is the task of instructing the soul as well as the mind. The teacher cultivates the seed of future generations cares for the growing plant, nurtures it, and provides the best possible development; whereas others can do naught but trim the gaunt tree.

The latter part of this week we shall have the opportunity of viewing at close range the work of the Virginia Social Science Association which will hold its annual convention here on Friday and Saturday. Several of the meetings including those of history and sociology are open to the public. This means everyone of us—the teacher-sociologists of tomorrow!

Platter Chatter

By BETTY HAWKINS

The honors go to Tommy Dorsey this week for his wonderful new Victor recording of "Fable of a Rose." His traditional trombone takes the first chorus sweet and low, and Frank Sinatra carries the lyrics on the second. We all clamor for more of Tommy's sweet swing records and this is definitely the answer. Look for this one to be a favorite. On the reverse is a T. Dorsey arrangement of that new heart throb: "This Is the Beginning of the End". Also sung by Frank in his super style.

Leave it to "The Glenn" to take the old ones and dress 'em ready to hit again. His new arrangement of Hoagy Carmichael's "Star Dust" is really great. The "sax" and trumpet both take leads in their turn with Miller's trombone furnishing a smooth background. It's really worth your while to give this one a notice. Ask the girls who went to VMI and U. Va. about how he did on that little ditty "My Melancholy Baby" sung by Tex Beneke. He's good!

Mitchell Ayres gave "Do It Again" a good send-off to go to the top. With the aid of Mary Ann Mercer, his little songstress, it's a "neat" recording. On the reverse is the novelty, "The Man on the Ferry" sung by Tommy Taylor and the orchestra. The sound effects are especially good—boat whistles, water, and the like. Hear it.

An old one brought to life by Ozzie Nelson and Rose Ann Stevens is "Make Believe Dancetand". It's a swing number and Rose Ann sounds particularly good. Again his sax takes a catchy ride and it sets the tune off to a "T". On the reverse is "I'm Looking for a Guy Who Plays Alto and Baritone and Doubles on a Clarinet and Wears a Size 37 Suit". The name is long, but the record is worth it. It's an intriguing ditty and Rose Ann and Ozzie do it up like it should be done. This is another place on your "gotta hear" list.

Disc Data: Artie Shaw's "My Fantasy" features vocalist Pauline Byrnes on wax scene. Really tops . . . Vincent Lopez open May 11 at Billy Rose's Aquacade . . . Those new Bluebird discs of Dinah Shore are arrangements of Paul Weitstein, ex-T. Dorsey orchestrator . . . T. Dorsey opens May 21 Astor Roof, N. Y.

The average woman has a vocabulary of only 800 words. It's a small stock but think of the turnover.

SENIOR PERSONALITIES

JOHNNY LYBROOK
Retiring editor of "Colonnade"

Carefree, and with a merry eyed smile for everyone, Jon seems to suit her little boy name. Ever bubbling humor, and the inevitable "grande passion" make our favorite columnist the pride and joy of many a bull session, for she's delightfully refreshing to know, especially because of the good common sense opinions she formulates beneath that hood of soft black hair. A romanticist in every sense of the word, but thorough in her many responsible tasks, Johnny puts herself into whatever she does . . . whether it be gleanings of contemporary affairs, the make up of another prize winning magazine or reciting one of her dramatic and lovely and short poems. You can't segregate the lovely integration of her character to find the elusive qualities that make her so much a part of the spirit of her alma mater, nor to find the cardinal principles of her popularity. Good humor, good fellowship and sound thinking are characteristic of her refreshing personality, and of the ideals of college which she so well portrays.

A good two-in-one by maestro Tommy Dorsey has "Shake Down the Stars" on one side and "Moments in the Moonlight" over. Great future for these two. Medium sweet swing and trombone work by the maestro.

Glenn Miller and orchestra jive out on "My! My!" with vocals by the Hutton lass. Turn it over and we have "Say It" as only Ray Eberle could sing it. Four star hit.

"King Bridge" Abdicates; New Monarch Is Crowned

"King Bridge" has abdicated! He can't hold his own against the new monarch that has taken over STC. "King Bridge" declared in a public address to his followers that he would leave temporarily until this new force has burned itself out. "Many times my power has been threatened, but each time I have been called back to take over my old position."

Who is this new dictator? Don't you know—or are you blind? It's the charming "Prince Sewing." Really, everyone has joined the Sewing Circle and is displaying her sign of the new regime—a dirndl skirt. Yes, that's what those yards and yards of material draped around all sizes of—er—figures are called.

Ask anyone how you may join the Circle, and you'll get such an answer as this: "Buy about three yards of material according to your size. Then, sew up one side, draw it around the top and put a band on it, hem it—well, there you are, girls; you're a full-fledged member of the Order.

Our future teachers burn the midnight oil 'til the wee hours roll 'round working over their dirndls. It used to be bridge that gave those familiar dissipated looks. Now it's sewing. What new power will step in next? We wonder—

What We Think

Most versatile—Frances Alvis
Best all-'round—Isabel Williamson
The perfect senior—Jane Powell
Best personality—Ollie Graham Gilchrist
Most popular—Caralie Nelson
Cutest—Martha Meade Hardaway
Best-looking—Mary Lou Shannon
Most intellectual—Martha McCorkle
Craziest—Trudy Hale
Wittiest—Nancy Moss
Best dancer—Helen McIlwaine
Funniest—Fiddle Haynes
Most pessimistic—Augusta Parks
Cleverest—Harriet Scott
Best sport—Dorothy Fischer
Most class spirit—Katherine Wood
Most sensible—Ann Billups
Most efficient—Pat Gibson
Sweetest—Charlotte Phillips
Best disposition—Ella Marsh Pilkinton
Biggest pest—censored
Most indifferent—Hazelwood Burbank
Most fascinating—Helen Wentz
Most individual—Harriet Cantrell
Most modest—Martha Whelchel
Most boy crazy—Betty Fahr
Biggest talker—Esther Atkinson
Most influential—Those that have gone before.

Echoes from an Empty Space

This is station S. T. C. coming to you from the roof garden of Main Building in Farmville, Virginia. We present for your entertainment and pleasure the suntanned girls and music by coca-colas and gossip—We give you first and most important—gossip.

Robin is sporting a new frat pin—we thought things were calming down, but they just Bob right back up . . . Betty Reid has at long last gotten together with Dick, and everything's rosy now! Gus's education doesn't seem to be progressing—she couldn't begin to read a letter she got postmarked Richmond without a dictionary . . . Jane Engleby back from Washington and talking about weddings . . . A certain affair ready to corrode—Painter, may help! . . . Dot's Spangler got his job—and she's just a Frosh . . . Bess with Jessie Van Meter—ooh Bobby, where were you? . . . Edna dating Shannon's Dick constantly—and Bill in the race too (unexpected)—the Squirt's! And how did Mickey get that black eye? You bit too hard, kid.

Did you hear about Mr. French calling our home demonstraters "vets of the kitchen?" Was his face red!

We hear those Davies brothers were quite chummy Sunday what with Wood and Purdum at their best!

Jane Saunders quite the promtrotter these week-ends with Sara Keesee close behind.

Sunday afternoon crack to a certain V. M. I. keydet "good thing we have a navy"—in more ways than one, too.

The Rec's awfully occupied these nights with "Chi" putting in a reservation — it'll be a wreck if this keeps up — and who's the girl that wants to know all its secrets?

Congrats to the new Sophomore Commission—and luck!—to Red and White for volley ball—that color cup is really hot this year!

Play in one act—time: Sunday night; place: Rotunda.

Enter: Fouchee (Becky, supposed to be out of town, talking to 'nother man)

Exit: Fouchee

Curtains. . .

Hey! I'm getting too burned on this side—better turn over or I'll crack when I walk—Oh, Virginia Easters, did you say? Well—you knew Pat didn't go and Billy can't be found anywhere—What's up I wonder? Why did Jack's face fall when the Whitfield walked in the S. P. E. house—ask Mary Jane—she knows all about S. P. E.—of course Rudd came back triumphant because she ditched her date for her S. P. (not so secret now, Rudd!)—Then Ellen Royall thought it was all a dream and looked like a dream too. Paul Shu chaperoning Helen and her date the whole week-end!

Chubby's little club is carrying on very nicely with Tanglefoot and Home Office Haunt holding up their respective committees—nice work, Chub!

Famous last words: May Winn, "I can't study this kind of weather" . . . Ann Ware (on a dateless Saturday night), "I hate to see two boys leave the Rotunda without dates.'—Let's try a balcony scene, Anne . . Essie, "I felt like I was flying thru air." May Day or Easters? . . . Nancy Moss, "I'm uninvited, but I don't care." Just so you're not the thirteenth guest, Moss . . . Ann Covington, "Confidentially I'm invited to first-class hops." How would that sound unconfidentially—we're asking you.

Have you ever seen:
Jane Powell flustered
Allene calm and composed
Scottie not playing jokes
Nancy Moore not eager to help
Mildred Morris not neat as a pin
Mary Jane not talking about the men in her life
Elsye Berrye not on her way to Virginia
Hop not eager about something
Faison not down on life
Moomaw without a project
Mahone being herself
Cleo excited

Our expectations for Cotillion: Boo and Snead, Marge and Lyman, Nancy and Porter, Dot and Tynes, Blair and Tracy, Pudge and Lashley, Buck and Bobby, Helen and Ed, Beezie and Craig, Faye and Bill, Polly and Doswell, Kay and Ned, Webb and May, Nancy and Billy, Marty and Sam.—Sugar and anyone who'll ask him—the goat's every move being watched—careful goats!

We must be going now—these flashes have been brought to you through the courtesy of Vocal Organ makers of Syllables and Words—See you next week—same time—same station.

GLEANINGS

By MARIE ALLEN

The "war in earnest" is beginning to get under way! With Germany's invasion of Denmark and Norway the battlefield is brought closer to England. Already Germany has extended her control over the southern part of Norway in a line from Trondheim to Oslo and also controls the port of Narvik in northern Norway through which the Swedish ore is shipped.

It has been estimated Germany has some 85,000 men in this area and is transporting 2,000 more a day by plane. Every day Germany is strengthening her position in her newest acquire territory. However, if her 85,000 men are to be useful in case a pitched battle comes, they must have artillery and munitions, and of course a few tanks could be used. It is highly doubtful if Germany has these necessary supplies in the abundance she had in Poland. They are bulky and heavy and it would be impossible to transport all that are needed by air.

England, as usual, is cautious and slow to strike. She is landing her troops north and south of Trondheim and uniting with the Norwegian troops. She would be much better off if she could gain control of this port. It would mean she could get her other necessities into Norway much easier as the distance would be shorter and the expense much less. One advantage that England has over Germany is that she is allied with the Norwegians who are better acquainted with the terrain of their country and know the most advantageous places to strike.

Germany's move was another surprise in this once "war of nerves". Just what motivated her to leave her well protected Western front is puzzling the world. There would be, of course, military advantages if she could get control of Norway. She could thus keep Scandinavian supplies from getting into England and would be a menace to Britain in the North Sea, rendering the blockade less effective there.

But at the same time Britain could get supplies from the rest of the world, she would still be sea master over Germany in the greater part of the world. However, it would be a danger to have Germany so near England, and would make it possible for Germany to get some supplies via Norway from the rest of the world.

When Germany moved into Norway she got out of her well-protected shell and moved into strange and unknown territory. She moved the battlefield closer to England, making England's attack on Germany much easier. Furthermore, she moved away from her fortifications and her base of supplies—a strange thing indeed to do.

Was it because she was afraid the English blockade on Swedish ore would be effective? If so, it means Germany is weakening economically and must take definite steps to render the blockade useless. She has even ordered all scraps of iron in the country to be gathered up and used in the making of airplanes and all liquid cash must go in her war chests. Maybe the prediction that Germany is better off economically than in 1914 is mistaken, anyway Hitler is not making the Russo-German alliance function as he would like. But in spite of all this it would be only a few weeks until Germany could get Swedish ore by way of the Gulf of Bothnia and certainly she could wait that long.

An attack on Germany before she gets well organized and before she gets large supplies of ammunition, artillery and tanks would be the easiest way to oust Germany. It would hurt her economically to have to really fight for it would require large supplies of her scarce products—oil, gasoline, and iron. And if England were successful in defeating Germany in Norway it would be a ground wound in the morale of her people and their support of Hitler. But can the Allies defeat Germany in Norway? If they can't it doesn't necessarily mean they have lost the war, but they would lose a great deal—the confidence of many small countries in Europe. And if they win in Norway it doesn't mean that Germany is defeated, but it might. So the newest battlefield may be the scene of the decisive factor in the war, but it may not!

Sports Slants

ANNE NEVILLE BARNETTE

Due to an excess of that so-called "sky-juice", rain, volley-ball must necessarily take the spotlight in our sports this week. Not that it shouldn't, because if excitement ever ran high, it did in the gym last week during the class games. Those teams were really in earnest about the matter, too. Each member of each team went into the game with a determined glint in her eye, and each one did her best. Not once did you see anyone loafing on the job—oh, of course, everyone makes a mistake now and then, but the "up-and-at-'em" attitude displayed by those class aggregations, from the Seniors down through the Freshmen, was something fine to see. Red and White fought; Green and White fought; results: Red and White maintained their lead with a score that puts them within arm's distance of that coveted color-cup. In the Junior-Senior tilt the Juniors came out on top, while the Sophomore reigned victorious over the Freshmen. Those Juniors were "going to town" but they had their troubles 'cause the Seniors were "Wise-wise" when they put Liza at that net and kept her there; and Myra with her strong-arm serve—she reminded us of a modern Hercules. It was really comical to see tiny Dot Johnson and "lengthy" Jean Carr playing identical positions just across the net from each other in the Sophomre-Freshman game, but neither was daunted by the other's height.

Because of Mr. Brown's absence during the latter part of last week we found a lot of the members of the S. T. C. Golf Club practicing "slip" shots out on the athletic field. "Practice makes perfect" in any game, and don't our golfers know it? The ranks at Longwood were not completely dismissed, however, for our pro soon provided a way for his pupils to resume their visits to the course. There they carried on their work of driving, putting, swinging, etc., alone, remembering each and every word and each and every trick of the game that Pro Brown has taught them. The golf enthusiasts have shown their true interest in the sport by not skipping practices just because "teacher wasn't there."

Old Sol has had a nice long vacation now, and Jupiter, god of rain, thunder, and lightning, has had his fun (I hope). We're going to look ahead now to just a few nice sunny days (please!) in which we can play off our tennis tournament. The dead-line for the play-off of the first round was set for Thursday, April 18, but due to the rain and the inability of the contestants to get together on a playing time, it was postponed until Monday. It rained Friday; it rained Saurday; Sunday dawned with a sky full of threatening storm clouds. Miracle of miracles, it didn't rain, but neither did the courts dry off! (P. S..—I fear that that date will be set up a few more days). As yet, only three of the matches have been played off, and that is definitely not a good beginning. So, you contestants, if we ever again have a pretty day, please get together and play off these matches. Time's a-wasting!

Hop Says
DIRT OR DUST
SEND IT TO US!
DE LUXE CLEANERS

Martin the Jeweler
VISITING CARDS
75c a hundred
Also other expensive styles

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

G. F. BUTCHER CO.
"The Convenient Store"
Dealer in fancy groceries and confectioneries
600 High Stret Farmville, Va.

NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store
Have Sun Glasses
For "May Day"
10c Pair

Regular $2.00 jar
Helena
Rubinstein
$1.00
Southside Drug Store

BROWN & WHITE SPECTATORS
Pumps, low, medium and high heels $2.97 & $3.97
PLAY SUITS AND SHORTS—Sport shirts—ideal for riding and sports wear.
DOROTHY MAY STORE
First to Show the Newest

HAURACHES—
Mexican made $2.39
Make your own skirts, gabardine yellow, rose, blue ..... yd. 49c
THE HUB DEPT. STORE
APPRECIATES YOUR PATRONAGE

Red and White Takes Volley Ball Games

"Odd" Teams Bow In Final Combat

Winners Gain Lead In Color Cup Race

Wednesday night, April 17, marked the finals of the annual volley ball combat between Green and White and Red and White. Points toward the Color Cup will be awarded to the winner. The series of games was played in the form of a Round Robin tournament.

Red and White Seniors bowed to the Juniors in two consecutive games, their scores being 16-12 and 18-8. The Frosh took the first game from the Sophs in a hard fought battle scoring 19 points to their 12, but the Red and White teams was too strong for its competitors as it regained strength and were victorious in the last two games with scores of 19-2 and 14-7.

Those girls participating in the games for their respective classes were as follows—Seniors: Marge Nimmo, Liza Wise, Dot Fischer, Myra Smith, Helen Jeffries and Jean Clark. Juniors: Helen McIllwaine, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Crews Borden, Anna Johnson, Florence Lee, and Evelyn Krenning.

Sophomores: Anne Ayres, Nell Hurt, Mary K. Dodson, Cottie Radspinner, Corilda Chaplin, Frances Rosebro, Dot Johnson, Elizabeth Barlow, Polly Hughes, and E. Coleman. Freshmen: Winnie Buchanan, J. Carr, Margaret Darby, F. Pride, A. Pierce, E. Walls, Doris Leonard and Helen Williamson.

NOTICE

Archery practices will be held every afternoon except Monday from 4:00 to 6:00.

COLLEGE SHOPPE
We serve the best food in town
Try us We deliver
Call 200

Competitors Urged To Play Off Matches

Girls competing in the singles tourney have been asked to play off the first round as soon as possible and begin the second. It is necessary that this be done immediately in order that the varsity team may be selected for the William and Mary trip on April 26. Due to the condition of the courts, caused by the excessive rainfall, the date for the completion of the first round has been postponed several times. It has finally been decided that it will be best to set no date, but to ask the co-operation of the competitors in playing off their matches within the next few days.

The results of the matches which have been played off to date are as follows:

Betsy Jennings defeated Myra Smith 2-6, 6-3, 6-3.

M. S. Edmondson defeated W. Buchanan 6-4, 611.

"Petie" Barnette defeated H. Wentz 6-3, 6-1.

Pat Gibson defeated C. Borden 6-3, 6-4.

Helen McIlwaine defeated C. May, 6-0, 6-0.

Ruby Adams defeated Kitty Price 6-2, 8-1.

Dot Fischer defeated Esther Coleman 6-4, 6-2.

Alpha Kappa Gamma

Continued from Page 1

dent Standards committee for three years. Martha was chairman of the World Fellowship committee of the Y. W. C. A. this year and is a member of Pi Gamma Mu and Kappa Delta Pi.

Weyanoke Beauty Shoppe
SPECIAL!
$3.50 Duart Perms., now .. $2.50
$5.00 Oil Perms., now $3.50
Shampoo, finger wave, regular price 50c
Shampoo, finger wave and manicure 85c
PHONE 331

Riding Contest Is Slated For May 17

All Classes To Compete In Event

Riding contest will be held at the Riding School in Hampden-Sydney beginning at 2 o'clock on May 17.

Everyone is invited to enter. There will be classes for each type of rider. Beginners will compete against beginners. There will be a class for the people who begin riding now. You have one month to prepare yourself. Prizes and ribbons will be awarded to each class.

Horses will be furnished free for the contest. The one restriction is that you must ride at least once between now and May 12, at which time you will receive a pass card entitling you to the use of a horse for the event. This will enable the school to classify you properly.

Application to enter May 17 must be made no later than May 12.

Students may enter their own horses, however, it is the rider who will be judged.

Make reservations for horses and schooling between now and May 17 with Lillian German, Nelle White, or May Wertz.

A few people get up bright and early; but the most of them just get up early.

Man is the only animal that can be skinned more than once.

KLEANWELL Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the mangement of "CHARLIE" JOHNSON

G R A Y ' S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

HOTEL WEYANOKE
Regular Meals
A La Carte Service
Salads & Sandwiches

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert
Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

A. A. HAS ANNUAL BANQUET

Athletic banquet was held in the tearoom Tuesday night, April 23 at six-thirty P. M. Those present included the members of all varsity squads, the old A. A. council, heads of all athletic organizations, Miss Olive T. Iler and Dr. J. L. Jarman.

SHANNON'S
Good Food
Mixed Candies

GRADUATION WATCHES
All kinds and Sizes
LYNN'S MUSIC STORE

Rose's
5-10-25c Store
ON THE CORNER
Cleansing Tissue
500 Sheet Box
15c

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material used
All Work Guaranteed

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

$—DAY SPECIAL—$
Friday & Saturday
5 SWEATERS $1.00
4 SHIRTS $1.00
2 DRESSES, 1 BLOUSE $1.00
KEANWELL
Cleaners & Tailors

NOTICE—We now offer special low student rates on RADIO REPAIR WORK!
Electric Appliance Co.
Armory Bldg. Phone 40

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

DRUMELLER'S
FANCY MEATS
AND GROCERIES

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

HOW TO WIN BOY-FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE STAG-LINES

By Dalea Dorothy Clix

Dear Miss Clix: Can you help me? I'm terribly upset—nearly flunked in Romance Languages and Geology, and all because of a young man I met three weeks ago. He came over to one of our house parties. I had spent the afternoon in the chemistry lab, and my hands were a fright. When he started to hold my hand, he looked at it—and dropped it like a hot cake. He hasn't come to see me since. I can't study—oh, Miss Clix, he's simply divine, plays half-back on his school's football team! What shall I do? CAN'T SLEEP

Dear "Can't Sleep": Awful hands are the most effective way to scare a man away, more effective than anything else unless, of course, you are ugly enough to stop a clock. If you are, or if you can't take care of your hands, you'd better think of a serious career in Geology or something, and forget men entirely. However, if you'll invest a little time on making yourself lovely, why not begin with your hands—and that, dear "Can't Sleep", means waking up the beauty of your fingernails!

AND HERE'S WHAT YOU CAN DO ABOUT BEAUTIFUL NAILS

College women who value true fastidiousness of fingernails are most enthusiastic about DURA-GLOSS, the nail polish that's different. Easier to use, goes on more smoothly, dries quickly to gem-like lustre. Yes, and DURA-GLOSS keeps its gloss longer, resists chipping longer! Only ten cents at all cosmetic counters. Have the most beautiful fingernails in the world! Buy DURA-GLOSS—today!

AND NOW, DEAR, READ THE NEXT COLUMN CAREFULLY!

W. & L. and Virginia Claim Students For Weekly Dances

Your old file box investigator is back again with reports from the Home Office as to who went where and why this week-end.

What with May Day so close at hand, 'tis no wonder we find that many of Farmville's feather feet were seen a W. & L. Spring Dance. Namely, Betty Peerman, Gerry Ackiss, Blanche Carper, Emma Louise Crowgey, Roberta Latture, Josephine Ware, Elizabeth Warner, Nancy Bondurant and Louise Huff.

May Queen to be, Lula Windham, answered a "call to arms" at the United States Naval Academy Hop in Annapolis, Maryland.

Morgantown, West Virginia was host to Rosa Courier and Dot Fischer at the A. A. Convention.

Even the musical-minded maidens had entertainment a plenty, says Ashley Bell Hannah, Irene Alderman, Jane Powell and Mary Marshall Prosise, all of whom attended the Musical Festival in Richmond.

While Myrtle Cook and Margaret Kennett were "tripping the light fantastic" in Washington, D. C. Mary Louise Cunningham and Jean Watts were aiding Miss Camper in organizing an F. T. A. Club in Fincastle.

"I now pronounce you man and wife" was heard by Margaret Anne Foreman, Martha Va. Smith, Imogen Hutter at weddings in Portsmouth, Cape Charles, and Lynchburg, respectively.

Helen Briggs was a lone representative from here to a C. A. R. convention in Washington.

Last but not least on our list are the capering cuties who danced at "dear ole U. Va." Doris Bishop, Gay Ward Brown, Dorothy Brookfield, Sarah Boothe, Gloria Berry, Sara Currie, Gay Harris, Polly Keller, Nancy Maclay Gloria Niemeyer, Mary Jane Ritchie, Ellen Royall, Mary Riggan, Virginia Rudd, Elsye Berry Yates, Roberta Payne, Louisa Stephenson, Mary Lou Shannon, Bill Stone, Helen Lewis, Nancy Sale, Barbara White, Essie Millner and Catherine Curle Phillips were among those who attended.

Oh yes, I almost forgot: Martha Meade Hardaway went to Durham, N. C.

EACO THEATRE
DAILY MATS AT 3:45 P. M.
Fri.-Sat., April 26-27
JOAN BENNETT
Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.
JOHN HOWARD
"GREEN HELL"
Sport "A Skiing Technique"
Next Mon.-Tues., April 29-30
HENRY FONDA
JANE DARWELL
JOHN CARRIDINE
'GRAPES OF WRATH'
Latest News Events
Next Wed.-Thurs., April 1-2
SHIRLEY TEMPLE
Spring Buington Nigel Bruce
"THE BLUE BIRD"
Cart.—"The Bear's Tale"

Freshmen Entertain Soph Commission

Freshman Commission entertained Sophomore Commission with a picnic at the Longwood cabin on Wednesday, April 17, leaving school at 5:00.

Hamburgers, potato salad, Longwood buns and cokes were served.

Alpha Booth and Mary Louise Sterritt pledged Theta Sigma Upsilon during spring rushing season. Their names were omitted last week through an error on the part of The Rotunda.

Sorority News

Mrs. W. C. Fitzpatrick entertained the members of Mu Omega at a tea at her new home Sunday, April 21.

Miss Carolyn Cogbill, Pan-Hellenic adviser, Miss Adele Hutchinson, and Mrs. James Fretwell, alumnae were also guests.

Alpha Sigma Tau

Alpha Sigma Taus entertained the new pledges with a party in the chapter room, Friday night, April 12. A color scheme of green and white was carried out in the refreshments. After refreshments were served, games were played and songs were sung.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Sigma Sigma Sigma celebrated the forty-second anniversary of the founding of the sorority on April 20.

At the banquet held at Longwood at 6 o'clock, toasts were given by Marion Heard, Rachel DeBerry, Nancy Pierpont, Allene Overbey, Crews Borden, Sarah Button, Nan Duer, and Frances Rosebro.

Sara Keesee sang. She was accompanied by Jane Hardy.

The chapter had as their guest Mrs. Lucy Wright James, one of the founders of Tri-Sigma. Other guests included Miss Pauline Camper, adviser; Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Carolyn Cogbill, Miss Martha W. Coulling, Miss Lila London, Miss Willie London, and alumnae Mrs. Earl Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Wayne Metcalf, Mrs. Mary Richardson Lancaster, Miss Mable Putney, Mrs. Louise Shoffner and Miss Catherine Marchant. The mothers present were Mrs. W. A. Radspinner, Mrs. C. G. Patterson, Mrs. L. A. Heard and Mrs. R. P. Ellett.

Forty is the old-age of youth—fifty is the youth of old age.
—Victor Hugo

SAVE

By Buying Piece Goods From Our Big Piece Goods Stock.

SAVE

1/2

By Making Your Dress

DAVIDSON'S

the Busiest Pair in town

Smokers are buying 'em "two packs at a time" because Chesterfields are DEFINITELY MILDER, COOLER-SMOKING and BETTER-TASTING.

Chesterfields are made from the world's finest cigarette tobaccos and they're made right. In size, in shape, in the way they burn . . . everything about Chesterfield is just right for your smoking pleasure.

You get twice the pleasure watching the CRANE TWINS in the Broadway Revue Hit "Hellzapoppin'" because there are two of 'em . . . the busiest pair of dancing twins you ever saw.

Chesterfield

America's Busiest Cigarette

Copyright 1940, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Rotunda

STUDENT GOVERNMENT NEEDS YOUR SUPPORT

File No.—Z773

VOLUME XIX — FARMVILLE VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 1, 1940 — NO. 26

May Day

Custom of Ancient Rome Celebrated Here 30 Years

In the beautiful amphitheatre at Longwood where fairies have danced and courts have gathered, our annual May Day festival will again be celebrated this Saturday, May 4. It is with special significance that we celebrate this occasion, for it seems to symbolize that another school year is practically gone; that winter is over; and that the glory of summer will pervade all the land.

May Day has been an annual occurrence on our campus for thirty years or more; during which time great strides of progress have been made in each May Day program, which has always been sponsored by the student body.

Reviewing past May Day festivals reveals that the occasion itself has changed in manner and custom considerably from its original beginning. From time immemorial, May first has been celebrated as the time when nature's fertility was renewed. In America, because we think of it as the day for children to celebrate, we have changed it to the first Saturday in May.

Just as we view the occasion as a tribute to the beauty of nature, so did the Romans in their worship of Flora, goddess of the fruits and flowers. For an entire week the Romans celebrated what is quite a contrast to our one afternoon program.

Here we see that the May Pole, as much a tradition as May Day itself, began in accordance with the custom of the Roman children who twined garlands around the columns of the temple of Flora; and then joined hands and danced around the figure. As the English adopted the May Pole dances, they made it a very elaborate affair. The pole became a huge tree set firmly in the ground, around which were placed little booths and arbors.

Not only do we see that May Day has been revolutionized since the time of the Romans, but retrospect on our campus reveals that it has moved forward rapidly during these past thirty years.

Beginning as an entertainment in front of the infirmary down in what is now commonly known as the court, it has seen the front campus of the Rotunda, including the street, and the Episcopal church site; the slope in front of Longwood; and finally the "dell" as its location.

The history of the performers in May Day shows equal change. The queen and court were chosen by the student body then as they are today. But quite often the training school pupils and even those in the kindergarten participated. Each year has showed great improvement since the participants have seemed to realize that they must attain precision in movements and elaborate costumes if they wish to attain the beauty required for their lovely and picturesque setting.

Parents, friends, and visitors who come for our annual May Day festival make the occasion as great as Founders' Day. Hours of toil and labor will be justified as we celebrate May Day—our toast to the loveliness of spring.

"What Is This Talmud?"

"What is this 'Talmud' that has lived for so long?" asked Rabbi Sidney M. Lefkowitz, of Richmond, in his address to the student body in chapel on Thursday, April 25.

"The 'Talmud' is generally defined as the name of a book. So far as the Jews are concerned it was a volume that was open; that contained the literature of the people."

Compiled in the sixth century of the common era, it was a volume of provense criticism and legalistic work. Rabbi Lefkowitz stated that this great book contained statements of deep thought and some that had a great influence on the Jewish people.

In conclusion Rabbi Lefkowitz said that there are a few words upon which the world is established. They are study, worship, and deeds of loving kindness. If one abides by those few words he will be well rewarded.

Lula Windham, May Queen is shown at the right; seated at the left is Virginia Lee Pettis, Maid of Honor. The May Court is in the background.

Church Society Director to Speak

Y. W. Will Sponsor Social, Open Forum

Charles Edward Thomas, executive director of the Church Society for College Work, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, will speak in chapel Saturday, May 4.

The Church Society for College Work, which maintains its headquarters in Philadelphia, is a national organization of the Protestant Episcopal Church, organized to foster and to strengthen church work in college and university centers. It assists in locating and placing qualified clergymen and women church workers in college churches and on each campus throughout the country.

Mr. Thomas, who became the first executive director of the Church Society last January 1st, is a native of Ridgeway, South Carolina, and a graduate of Porter Academy, Charleston, and the University of the South at Sewanee, Tennessee. He formerly taught English at both Sewanee and Syracuse University. He served ten years as editor and assistant secretary of Sigma Nu fraternity, during which time he visited more than 300 colleges and universities throughout America, writing and speaking on university social and adminstrative life and work. After an extensive tour of European universities and English schools, he published "European Universities" in 1938. He is also the author of "Sewanee, the Oxford of America", and of "St. Stephen's Church, Ridgeway, South Carolina, 1839-1939".

The Church Society for College Work, although only organized in 1935, is now making grants to salaries of college workers throughout all parts of the country, holding conferences of students, conferences on the ministry, and women's vocational conferences, and weeks of Prayer and Study for college church workers, and is generally stimulating interest in and support for the col-

Continued on Page 4

Lula Windham to Represent S.T.C. at Apple Blossom Fete

Lula Windham of Petersburg will represent S. T. C. at the seventeenth Apple Blossom Festival to be held in Winchester May 2 and 3.

The princesses this year are May queens from the colleges represented. Tyler Taylor from Hampden-Sydney will escort Lula to the tea dance, the Queen's Ball Thursday night, and the Princesses' Ball Friday night. Boys from Massanutten Military Academy will be escorts for the pageant and coronation.

Senurita Lillian Samoza, daughter of the President of Nicaragua, will reign as Queen Shenandoah 17th, and will be crowned by Dr. Henry Grady, Assistant Secretary of State. The pageant will be presented on the steps of the Handley High school, Winchester.

The dresses of the court are modeled after "Gone With the Wind" costumes and wide brimmed leghorn hats will complete the picture.

Glen Gray's orchestra will play for the Queen's Ball Thursday night, and Tommy Tucker will play for the Princesses' Ball Friday night.

On the program for the members of the court are the reception of the princesses by the Queen at 9:15 p. m. Thursday night, and luncheon at Mrs. John M. Steck's Friday morning.

Brandon and Menefee Attend ACE Meeting

Faye Brandon and Dot Menefee, president and treasurer, respectively, of A. C. E. are attending the National convention in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. They left April 28 and will return May 5.

An outstanding feature of the convention will be a lecture by Miss Bess Goodykoontz, Assistant Commissioner of the United States Office of Education. The general theme of the convention, "Broadening Educational Opportunities in Your School" will be elaborated on in classes and open forum discussions.

Jeanne Hall Heads Soph Commission

Jeanne Hall, a freshman, was chosen chairman of the Sophomore Commission, Monday, April 29, at the first meeting of the newly elected commission.

Amy Read and May Bartlett, were voted secretary and treasurer, respectively. The Sophomore Commission was formed last year with the main purpose of acquainting the freshman with each other.

Pi Gamma Mu Elects Heard President

Marion Heard of Danville was elected president of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science society on Tuesday night, April 30.

Thelma Courtney will serve as vice-president; Louise Hall, recording secretary; and Ethel Carr, treasurer.

Dorothy Rollins will be the new reporter. Mr. S. M. Holton will be faculty adviser.

The society will entertain its associate members, Hampden-Sydney, out of town, and Farmville guests at a formal reception in the Student Building lounge, May 7 at 8 o'clock. Marge Nimmo will preside.

There will be three speeches on topics of present day interests. Ollie Graham Gilchrist will speak on "The Influence of a Third Presidential Term over the American People, Irrespective of Party." This will be followed by Mary Mahone's talk, "The Possibilities of a Republican Victory." "The Possibilities of a Democratic Victory" will be presented by Dotty Rollins.

Mary Walker Mitchell is in charge of refreshments, while Ruth Lea Purdum, Ollie G. Gilchrist and Marge Nimmo make up the project committee

Annual May Day Festivities Will Celebrate Coming of Spring

"Mery Engelond" Is Central Theme

Bold Robin Hood and his merry men, sprightly milkmaids, peasants and nobles, together with gay flashing colors and a sedate court will celebrate the coming of spring in "Mery Engelond" as they trip the green with grace and gaiety in the May Day fete to be held in the dell at Longwood at 5 o'clock on May 6.

"Mery Engelond" theme of this year's festival is a re-arrangement of the same theme used in 1938 with changes in costumes and dances.

Essie Millner, student chairman of May Day headed the theme committee and is general director of the various dance groups.

Sara Keesee is business manager and is in charge of publicity, finances and general arrangements.

Blair Goode and Virginia Polley are co-chairmen of costuming with Anna Maxey, Mildred Harry, Rosemary Howell, Josa Lee Cogsdale, Mary H. McCoy, Olivia Stephenson and Esther Atkinson assisting.

Heads of the various dance groups are Anne Bradshaw, Nancy Bondurant, Betsy Jennings, Ella Marsh Pilkinton, Nancy Pierpont and Anne Billups.

Music committee is headed by May Wertz. Helping her are Betty

Continued on Page 4

Frances Keck Wins Virginian Contest

"The Inalienable Rights of College" is the winning essay by Frances Keck, a junior transfer, in the contest sponsored by the Virginian. The contest opened April 11 and closed April 25.

Honorable mention goes to Ethel Beasley for her essay entitled "Impressions of College," and to Lois Jane Steidtman for her entry, "Any Day at S. T. C."

Forty essays were submitted. Five dollars were awarded to Frances Keck for her winning essay.

Local Poet Reads Poems to Society

Miss Elizabeth Eggleston of Hampden - Sydney, nationally known poet, was the guest of Beorc Eh Thorn, honorary English society, Thursday, April 25, when she read a group of her poems to members of the society and visitors.

"Little 'Stracted", her best-known poem, was the main attraction on the program. Several sonnets and other poems were also read. Mrs. Herman Bell sang another of her poems, "And I Loved a Lady". She was accompadied by Mrs. Gills.

Miss Eggleston is a graduate of Sweet Briar College and has also studied at Oxford University. She was a member of the English faculty here for one year. She is active with young people at Hampden-Sydney, her Saturday night groups for the study of symphonies being especially interesting. Folk-lore is one of her main studies.

Y. W. Drive Nets $150

Martha Whelchel, former head of the World Fellowship Committee, announced at the student body meeting Wednesday, April 24, that through contributions both from organizations and individuals, $150 had been raised for the Chinese Student Fund.

Your Student Government

The problem of new rules as set before the student body last week will remain an "action pending" affair until after May Day. The apathetic disinterest of many students may be a result of a want of knowledge concerning the proposed action of Student Council, but then again it may be just—well, disinterest. Why be passive? Its our student government. Why not take an active part in it and really make it a government of the students, by the students, and for the students? We are fortunate in having a faculty and administration which backs government by the students. There is no opposition there. The students themselves, through their lackadaisical attitude, are the biggest problem. The ideal situation would be to have no rules but they are essential for the proper functioning of a school as large as ours. There are certain things which we can do and others which we can't do—in deciding which is which great discretion must be utilized. Therefore, cooperation is needed—coperation in getting rules straight, plus an attitude of responsibility toward your student government. In developing these it is hoped that the general effect will be one of closer unity and greater inherent strength.

THE FORUM

The Missing Lynx

News of a little booklet entitled "Personal Magnetism!" (the exclamation point is not ours) has worked itself up through the mass of material on our desk. One chapter of the thing deals with "Timbre Quotations." "Timbre Quotations," the man says, are of the utmost impotrance if we are to have a magnetic voice. We will include here those "Tone Qualities" which the man says "are most useful in ordinary life."

The First Quality is Bright.—The Quotation is: "My happy heart with rapture swells."

The Second Quality is Dark.—The Quotation is: "Her death was sadly beautiful, and her soul was borne upon the perfume of earth's drooping lilies to the land of flowers that never fade."

The Third Quality is Neutral.—The Quotation is: "Though they smile in vain for what once was ours, they are love's last gift."

The Eleventh Quality (we skipped a few here, the man said they were "relatively unimportant") is Bright Gutturat.—The Quotation is "I loathe you in my bosom!" (We rather lived this one.)

The twelfth Quality is Dark Orotund.—The Quotation is: 'Toll, toll, toll, thou bell thy billows swung!"

We listened to ourself for a couple of hours muttering about "earth's drooping lilies" and bosom-loathing and "love's last gift" but we didn't improve much. No hope for us when it comes to being "magnetic," we just sound silly.

The Golden Mean in Education
—Southwestern University.

If passing time moved by cogs on cogs, and culture were the digital results of a long-divisional process—if in numbers and mechanics lay the secret of all life and all progress, then might there be reason in the protests of those who cry out against a university curriculum that devotes itself in portion to those studies we call "cultural."

There are those—fortunately they are in minority—who maintain with dogged insistence that a college course is an investment—an investment which should pay dividends than can be held in the hand or be deposited in a safety deposit vault. If any part of this venture does not pay off in dollars and cents, it is counted as waste.

Studies in English poetry or Aristotelian philosophy are regarded with sour disdain, for, indeed, they are symbols of an education whose head is high in the clouds. Yet, to do the practically-minded student credit, his complaint against this "aery education" is, in some respects, justifiable.

Somewhere between French Drama and mechanical drawing, then, lies the fabulous "golden mean" around which revolves the curriculum of a "liberal arts" education—an education tohat leaves to factories the task of turning our adding machines. – Duke Chronicle.

BRICKBATS and BOUQUETS

Between 18th and 19th
On Chestnut Street

Dear Column,

"I'm Goin to Sit Right Down and Write Myself a Letter" "Because" "It's a Blue World" "Night and Day" "Under the Starlit Hour" at S. T. C. "Watching the Clock" for "A Man and His Dream".

That's how I felt last week-end what with all the active and attractive ones abandoning S. T. C. But from all I hear Ring Dance was the perfect one. For further information see Roberta Grigg and Mary Harvie.

Well, there was positively and absolutely, no excitement. I just couldn't pin anything on anybody anywhere with a clear conscience, so I'm just going to forget this little thing called reality and imagine . . . Tynes and Izzie holding hands over a cup of tea every afternoon in Shannons . . . Anne Rogers waltzing around Blacksburg instead of Lexington . . . Pat Whitlock sane and sensible . . . Irma making her debut at the Metropolitan with Baker as her agent.

Oh! Yes, Column, I did find a poem which these would-be believers in Tennyson's philosophy ("In spring a young man's fancy . . .") might well remember. Warning, maybe?

Puppy love is very like
A sandpile, bright and new;
There two lovers play awhile . . .
Perhaps a year or two.

But as the seasons come and go
And the weather plays its part—
Rainstorms wash away the sand
And set adrift two hearts.

Jive Jottings: It seems that Billy Graham prefers Annes—Is it Boswell or Stone, Billy? . . . What secret is Peggy Watkins holding over Peggy Bellus' head? . . . How about Campy telling everyone that she was pushed down the "Rec" steps Sunday night.

The funniest story I heard this week runs thus. The Hurt says that Miss Wheeler doesn't read The Rotunda because it has too many dramatical errors in it—Oh, Oh! Is my face red?

Seems little wonder that everyone is counting the days 'til Saturday what with May Day and all the dates that are expected plus proud mamas and papas to see little daughter perform . . . Expected for the occasion is Helen Rose's Jack . . . and all the way from West Virginia, too, and Dot Fischer's Billy . . . from way up North.

Because exams are coming soon I caught up on my daffynition study this week-end as I cast my wandering eye on an exchange paper. "My Darling" didcha know that:

1. An engineer is the auditory center of a redskin?
2. Tennis twice five?
3. Chemical is a word describing something humorous?
4. Campus are people who sleep in the woods?
5. Study means to go with one person only?
6. Cram is a kind of berry?
7. Class is something out of which you drink?
8. Beer means to put up with or endure?
9. Dance is something involved or thick?
10. Civil is a city in Spain where they have a barber?
11. A laboratory is where you wash your hands?

Off the Record: Wish I had Mr. Mac for a class . . . Just heard that he served ham sandwiches to his class. Could it be that he believes in appeteasers for knowledge?

Randomettes . . . looking mighty happy Sunday was Josa Lee and her man . . . Jane Engleby, Gerry Ackiss, and Blair Goode entertaining W. & L. Sunday night . . . Dibby Shelburne sporting not one but two men Sunday . . . Jimmy Elliott and Betty Barnes looking mighty happy . . . envious glances at girls down for the Chi Phi party . . . Red and Libby waiting patiently to go to Burkeville Sunday afternoon (P. S. and so they went to church) . . .

"Goodnight Angel".

Your Girl Wednesday

P. S. And who is the girl who said that she was majoring in Hampden-Sydney?

Gleanings

By JACK COCK

Neutrality Act Applied to Norway

After nearly two weeks of intense and bitter fighting in the once peaceful and neutral Norway. President Roosevelt has finally ruled that a state of war exists between Germany and the Norse nation. Hence the right to do business with this country has become restricted to Norway on the same basis as to other belligerents. But NOT BEFORE she was given ample time to put in a goodly stock of U. S. munitions to aid her during the early part of this latest European uprising.

Exempt from the neutrality laws, however, is tiny Denmark invaded by the Germans at the same time the Nazi forces seized Oslo, Narvik and other Norwegian ports.

Strictly speaking, a state of war does not exist in Denmark as considered by state department officials. She still has a government, envoys abroad, and she is functioning pretty much as though the Germans were still in Germany.

Roros Captured and Recaptured

Following a brief stay in the hotly contested town of Roros—180 miles north of Oslo, Nazi troops abandoned the town to the Britains early Thursday, and began digging in at Tolga—fifteen miles South in the Osterdalen Valley.

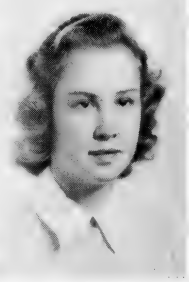
Late the following day, however, the Germans again captured Roros after a savage head-on clash with combined British and Norwegian troops. The victory followed only after bitter fighting in which artillery went into action on both sides, with gun fire so heavy that it could be heard across the Swedish frontier 25 miles to the east.

Heavy fighting was also reported in the vicinity of Lillehammer and Tolga, with heavy artillery and air forces participating. Tolga was reported to have been badly bombed.

Durng the invasion the Germans have used, and with some success, aerial tactics similar to those employed in Poland to prepare the way for the advancing German infantry in Norway.

Chamberlain's Popularity Declines

According to a survey just completed by the British Institute of Public Opinion, the popularity of England's "Umbrella Man", Neville Chamberlain, has shown a slight tendency to fall off in the last six weeks.



In February the Prime Minister was approved by 66 per cent of the British voters, while today he is approved by 61 per cent.

By this same poll it was learned that a large number of these same voters was in favor of enlarging the British Cabinet. Several prominent Englishmen were suggested by the voters, chief of whom was Winston Churchill whose popularity has been on the increase since the outbreak of the war with Germany.

Germany Threatens Bombardment

The German official news agency announced last week that British war planes had been bombing open, undefended towns of no military importance. They further stated that if this kept up Germany had a moral right to repay England "BOMB FOR BOMB". This German report said that the communities bombed were a village in Schleswig-Holstein and a sea resort on the island of Sylt. Naturally England denied the charge, but there's an old, old saying that goes WHERE THERE'S SMOKE THERE'S FIRE. Should this unmerciful bombing on the part of Great Britain continue, we wonder just how long American sentiment would remain pro-allied.

SENIOR PERSONALITIES

MARGE NIMMO

Outgoing House Council President

Many are the homesick girls who will always remember Marge as the one who, while wandering through the halls late at night calling "Lights Out", was never too tired or in too much of a hurry to stop and lend a hand in making school a more satisfying place for them.

Those who've gone through four years with her have found something even deeper than this behind those small, bright brown eyes — sincerity, understanding, and, above all, straightforwardness. Each year has brought her closer to her classmates, who gradually have cut through her subtleness to find the real, lovable "Nimmo".

The fun-loving side of her is the outward characteristic to which everyone is first attracted, and her sportsmanship, keen wit, sparkling ideas, and contributions to any session are all a part of her. To have known Marge as a friend is truly a cherished thought.

HOW DID IT HAPPEN . . .?

What's in a name? It has been asked before but what name and why? Why the names of these memorable halls on our campus! So lend your ears while we enlighten you about the how and why each building is so called.

For years now buildings have been going up on this site to help create for Farmville a bigger and better school. And time after time, names have been attached onto these buildings, maybe by us, maybe by someone else. But these names are significant to each building.

First, there was Main—meaning just that. It originally contained, just as it does now, the administrative offices and two wings of class rooms, the east wing and the left wing. Added onto the west wing was the section now known as Library Hall. Its name was taken from the old library which it housed until this year. The library had its start in one room and gradually increased until it covered the entire second floor of the wing. The old name will probably stick even though there are no longer shelves of books under its roof.

White House, containing the large auditorium in addition to dormitory rooms was named for a prominent local physician, Dr. White, who also served as the school doctor. At that time, there was not a private school doctor.

Student Building has a special significance, since it was built by us. Our Alumnae Fund and contributions from student organizations made it possible; and so it was named for us the students. Annex symbolizes just that—the connecting link between Student and White House.

Cunningham Hall, Junior and Senior Dormitory, was named in honor of the second President of the college, Dr. J. L. Cunningham. He preceded Dr. Jarman, serving for a period of ten years.

One thing we'd like to know is who named "Tacky Alley"?

Platter Chatter

Hal Kemp, currently at Chicago's Palmer House, has been delighting his dancing public with these two new ones. "Believing" and "They Ought to Write a Book About You." Bob Allens delightful baritone purveys the lyrics of both.

Remember a few seasons back when "Gloomy Sunday" was causing such a revolution? Well, Artie Shaw's second Victor release comprise this ballad as well as "Don't Fall Asleep". Pauline Byrnes shares the vocals on both sides with Artie's clarinet featuring solo spots.

Sultry-voiced Dinah Shore has waxed for us two important new "pop" tunes: "Say It" and "Imagination". Two slow torch songs of great promise.

"Gabriel Meets the Duke" and

Continued on Page 3

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934.

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Mary K. Beck ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Alice Leigh Barham, Anne Barnette, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Bridget Gentile, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Dorothy Sprinkle.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mildred Taylor, Daphne Williamson, Ellen Hudgins, Mary Sue Simmons, Dearing Fauntleroy, Dorothy Childress, Lucy Blackwell, Anne Moore, Frances Pope.

Typists

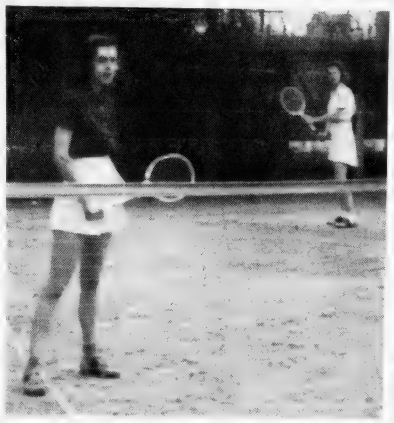
Thelma Courtney, Frances Pritchett, Norma Wood, Doris Alvis and Lillian Agnew.

Virginia Worley ..... Photographer

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

SUBSCRIPTION RATE
For the Collegiate Year
$1.50 Per Year

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO · BOSTON · LOS ANGELES · SAN FRANCISCO



Sports Slants

ANNE NEVILLE BARNETT

Well, as the end of our school year draws near, our sports are dwindling in number at any rate. There are now only two that are actually indulged in outside of classes: tennis and golf. Perhaps I'd best make that three because I've found that quite a few of our "youngsters" have been enjoying some of those "flys through the air" escapades in swings over at the training school. (With how much 'ease', I don't know.) It furnishes them with grand after-dinner exercise and the see-saws, how they do atract one when one is in a playful mood! Don't get the wrong impression, now; it's not that we haven't grown up yet, or that we have arrived at our second childhood, but that we do love fun (and exercise is more fun than a diet any old day!)

Our tennis tournament reached a complete standstill last week. What in the world has S. T. C. done to deserve so much rain? I can't understand it. Gee—oh, if anyone had been interested in canoeing or out-door swimming, the tennis courts would have made an ideal location. "Fiddle" could have easily collected a small fortune charging ten cent per for rides in her sailboat. This is all rather a far cry from tennis, but it somewhat explains the predicament in which we've been. Several matches were started the first of the week, but were completely "rained dout." Then one day the sun came forth in all its splendor; the courts dried off, and immediately after classes they were filled with players. You will recall that I said the "courts" had dried off—that doesn't include the territory around and back of them too. To be truthful about the matter, nothing in the world but mud was even in existence for about a foot just inside of the backstops. But, when it comes to a set point and a shot deep in the left-hand court, what matters a little mud to Ruby? I'll have to admit that she did resemble a runner sliding for home a "lettle mite" more than a tennis player trying for an almost impossible shot. But the main point is this: she made the shot and thus took the set. Maybe the skid helped her get there faster; maybe mud is an asset to a court; maybe we should have rain—who knows?

Too bad the William and Mary trip had to be cancelled, but I 'spect it was best. Point I: since the single tourney hasn't been fiinished, it would have been necessary to have short try-outs in order to pick the squad; II: they haven't had an honest-to-goodness chance to practice for two weeks; III: doubles were involved in this meet, too, and not having had a single wrokout together, our team would have been lost. There were many other reasons for not sending our team, but these few sufficiently show that it would have been rather futile. It may be possible to compete with them at a later date. We hope so at any rate, for S. T. C. does have some really good talent in the way of tennis players. Women belong to the tennis world—they're in to stay, and if those of you who like it would take a real interest in it, perhaps we could "have something there" as the old saying goes.

Helen McIlwaine and Helen Wertz, tournament players, get in some tennis doubles practice.

An Extremely Authoritative History of Golf

The King of England and Sandy MacGregor were having a time of it. They were all square going to the last hole. Sandy was playing with all that ..was ..in ..him. Some like to say that Sandy's head was at stake. I'm not sure about it as the match was played in 1754 and my memory hasn't been so good the last century or so.

Anyway, on that deciding hole His Majesty drove first. He teed up his feather-stuffed leather ball, took a slow back-swing and belted it down the fairway. Sandy did the same thing. All event. The next shot was the King's. He selected his baffy—a cross between Chamberlain's umbrella and a hockey stick. With royal power he overdrove the green into a castle moat, which was later removed along with the architect who put it there. To make a long story short Sandy won the match saving his head. Thus golf proved to be a means of saving something. The Scotch have loved it ever since.

When Sandy MacGregor kept his head on his shoulders by beating the King of England he caused many others to lose theirs. After this ignoble defeat the King wanted to play everyone, so all learned the game in self defense. The army took it up and formed a regiment known as the Royal Daffy Baffiliers. This is the regiment that beat the French in Canada by starving them to death. They hit pitch shots into the Crepes-Suzette of the Freshmen, ruining their digestion. No army could fight on a stomach full of golf balls. After this success of The Baffiliers other regiments were formed. The Duke of Dilly's Duffers, The Queen's Own Blasters and The Princess Pretty Putters, to name a few.

The Duffers were sent out to North America to whip the Yankees. But the ingenious Yankees whipped them. They painted sand traps and bunkers on bed sheets and carried the sheets in front of them. Of course the British shot over them. This was the famous battle of Bunker Hill. This disgusted the Duffers and they went home, leaving their clubs and balls in North America. The Yankees don't waste anything so we have golf over here.

The Putters went to India. They were plenty good. They won everything the Indians had. To this day the only thing Mahatma has to wear is the flag from the fourth hole of the Calcutta Country Club.

However, others are still less fortunate.

The Queen's Own Blasters were unquestionably the best of them all. They are the ones who beat the Dutch. They were not only good, they were lucky. One of them exploding out of a trap found the Kimberly Diamond Mine. Their campaign was a brilliant though uninteresting one. That is why it was called the Boer War.

So many people were playing golf in England by this time that these old regiments were sent out to secure more land for new golf courses. That they suceeded is evidenced by the British Empire. Victoria wanted a course that the sun never sat down on, and she got it. Victoria loved the game. Disraeli was her caddy and the first golf pro. He taught her to accomplish many things with a golf club. One of them was digging the Suez Canal. This was some divot. Teddy Roosevelt learning to play down in Panama did the same thing. Golf was the cause of Uncle Sam's getting Cuba. He wanted an island green that he could tee off to from Florida. This was the first water hazard. It was so successful that he picked up the Philippines for the same purpose.

A tragedy occurred about this time. Dr. Livingstone playing in Africa got lost in the rough. Stanley found him. After this they cut the rough down and raked all the tigers out of it. This made golf bags lighter because a rifle ceased to be equipment.

The longest drive was made by Admiral Perry. It made him rich and famous. He bet Cook he could drive a ball two thousand miles. He went up to the North Pole and drove one on the ice to Quebec. This feat has not been duplicated although Admiral Byrd is still trying.

Golf is responsible for the airplane. The Americans got tired of walking around looking for lost balls. The Wright brothers made a flying machine and consequently a lot of money. With their machine golfers flew over the lost balls and speared them with a fish gig.

Golf bags had now grown to gigantic proportions. Millions of caddys developed flat feet. Which later assisted them out of the army. Henry Ford built a self-powered golf bag known as the Model T. It was very popular as spare parts could be made from worn out clubs and old golf ball covers.

By 1929 everybody played golf. This led to the great depression. No one had time for anything else. Business houses failed. A lot of banks moved into bunkers, and a lot of bunkers into banks. The golf widows took over the country. Things were really bad. Roosevelt was elected President of the United States Country Club. He put everyone to work on the course. It is now the world's largest. A good politician can tee off in Maine and finish in California. The best time a President can play it in is four years. Roosevelt has been around twice and who knows?

Which all takes us back to Sandy MacGregor. He played for fifty years. He finally had to stop because of the head he had saved. He held it down too long and lost his ball.

Carroll Brown, Professional

Notice

Due to some confusion in the tennis courts, they are named one, two, and three; number one being the court nearest the Library or Main Building, court two in the middle, and three, the court farthest away from school.

Platter Chatter

Continued from Page 2

"Whispering Grass" by Erskine Hawkins contain medium fast swing on the "A" side and a slow ballad on the "B". The former starts as a piano solo and builds up gradually through trumpet, clarinet, and sax solos. The latter features vocalist Jimmy Mitchelle in one and half choruses with a subdued Hawkins' trumpet for variety.

Sports Calendar

Monday

4:00-5:00—Instructors Swimming
5:00-5:30—Recreational Swimming

Tuesday

4:00-5:30—Recreational Swimming
4:00-5:30—Archery

Wednesday

4:00-5:30 — Recreational Swimming
4:00-5:30—Archery
8:00-9:00—Instructors Swimming

Thursday

4:00-5:00—Instructors Swimming
4:00-5:30—Archery
5:00-5:30—Recreational Swimming

Friday

4:00-5:00—Life Saving
5:00-5:30—Recreational Swimming
4:00-5:30—Archery

Saturday

8:00-9:00 — Recreational Swimming

Daily

Tennis—Sign up on A. A. Bulletin Board for court and hour

Hop Says
MEET THE QUEEN IN A CLEAN OUTFIT
DE LUXE CLEANERS

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

WATCH FOR OUR WILL YOU COME?
MAY Carnival Sale!
FUN FOR ALL
NEWBERRY'S 5c—10c—25c Store

Martin the Jeweler
MANY SELECTIONS FOR
Mother's Day

G. F. BUTCHER CO.
"The Convenient Store"
Dealer in fancy groceries and confectioneries
600 High Stret Farmville, Va.

DELICIOUS FRESH STRAWBERRY
Ice Cream
25c A PINT
Southside Drug Store
Phone 356

MAY DAY . . .
MEANS SPRING CLOTHES
Carol King Dresses smart, crisply new $3.97 & $5.97
SUN SUITS 97c & $1.97
Pure Thread Silk Hose 59c
DOROTHY MAY STORE
First to Show the Newest

THEY'RE HERE—
ECONOMY SUMMER DRESSES
New, smart, different, Ideal for school $1.98 & $2.98
Walking and hiking oxfords and Moccasins $1.99 & $2.98
The best looking anklets 25c
THE HUB DEPT. STORE
APPRECIATES YOUR PATRONAGE

COLLEGE SHOPPE
We serve the best food in town
Try us We deliver
Call 200

Weyanoke Beauty Shoppe
SPECIAL!
$3.50 Duart Perms., now .. $2.50
$5.00 Oil Perms., now $3.50
Shampoo, finger wave, regular price 50c
Shampoo, finger wave and manicure 85c
PHONE 351

KLEANWELL Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the mangement of "CHARLIE" JOHNSON

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

HOTEL WEYANOKE
Regular Meals
A La Carte Service
Salads & Sandwiches

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

DURING MAY DAY
Make your headquarters at
SHANNON'S

GRADUATION WATCHES
All kinds and Sizes
LYNN'S MUSIC STORE

Rose's
5-10-25c Store
ON THE CORNER
Cleansing Tissue
500 Sheet Box
15c

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material used
All Work Guaranteed

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

NOTICE—We now offer special low student rates on RADIO REPAIR WORK!
Electric Appliance Co.
Armory Bldg. Phone 40

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

DRUMELLER'S
FANCY MEATS
AND GROCERIES

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

Glen Gray Charms Lasses At V. P. I. Ring Dance

V. P. I. Ring-Dance was the center of attraction for S. T. C. girls this week-end with Glen Gray playing Friday and Saturday night. Those attending were: Betsy Austin, Virginia Burnham, Faye Brandon, Katie Crider, Anne Lee Gardner, Ruby Henderson, Dorothy Rollins, Lillian Turner, Betty Mae Tyler, Helen Travis, Marie Utt, Nancy Goode Blande, Elizabeth A. Parker, Virginia Rudd, Peggy Williams, Marge Nimmo, Alice L. Barham, Roberta Grigg, Mary Harvie, Patricia Whitlock, Lucille Richeson, Eleanor Hutcheson and Sudie Dunton.

Richmond still claims many girls from S. T. C. Those going were Helen Briggs, Mary A. Bryant, Carmen Booth, Martha Cobb, Martha Cottrell, Marguerite Costello, Henrietta Dawson, "Toi" Dew, Ellen Ebel, Ruth Fraughnaugh, Betty Fahr, Lillian German, Winnie Harrell, Edna Harris, Sarah Joliet, Marjorie McAlister, Shirley McCally, Ernestine Meacham, Dorothy Mayes, Opal Nelson, Katherine Price, Virginia L. Pettis, Billie Pittman, Helen Ruger, Anne Sawyer, Keith Smith, Dawn Shanklin, Mary G. Thompson, Mildred Taylor, Barbara Tripp, Harriette Walker, Mary K. Zehmer, Betty Youngberg, Mary J. Ritchie, Mary L. Shannon, and Emily Westcott.

Roanoke and Lynchburg drew the second largest crowds of girls this week end. Those going to Roanoke were Virginia Alexander, Margaret Bowling, Margaret Carr, Josa Carlton, Alice Cogburn, Elizabeth Carter, Thelma Courtney, Jeanette Ferguson, Irma Graff, Charlotte Greely, Louise Hall, Geraldine Hatcher, Stella Harman, Eugenia Lloyd, Helen McGuire, Ethel Oast, Betty Perry, Louise Parcell, Elizabeth Rapp, Elizabeth Summerfield, Jean Shulkcum, Dorothy Smith, Beverly Smith, Betty Hawkins, Louise Painter, and Betty Barnes.

Those going to Lynchburg were Betty Reid, Rachel Burroughs, Margaret A. Bunting, Minnie Cobb, Eleanor Feagan, Polly Hughes, Lynnette Honeycutt, Imogen Hutter, Baylis Kunz, Frances Kash, Betty Laird, Sarah Lawson, Eliza McDaniel, Betty McConnnell, Judy Marshall, Mildred Ottinger, Rosalie Rogers and Elizabeth Ralph.

S. T. C. girls having fun in Suffolk, Norfolk, Newport News and Hampton were Frances Alvis, Ann Ayers, Betty Boutchard, Nancy Bryant, Mary K. Dodson, Virginia Dawley, Jean Hatton, Gertrude Hale, Nell Hurt, Betty Harper, Helen Jeffries, Emily Lankes, Aline Markland, Anne Moore, Essie Millner, Catherine Parrish, Martha Roberts, Jerry Smith, Anne Stone, Shirley Turner, Margaret Wright, Eleanor Scott, Mary A. Williams and Dorothy Johnson.

Petersburg had quite a few S. T. C. girls. They were Elizabeth Townsend, Charlotte Andrews, Rosalie Coberly, Ruth Loving, Martha Mayton, Genevieve Moody, Mary Mahone, Florence Powell, Nell Pritchett, Virginia Rose, Mildred Savory, Mary E. Williams, Lala Windham, Lucile Powell, Judith Spinner and Anne Turner.

Marie Bird Allen, Mae Desaix, Hazel Holmes, Dorothy Hahn, Helen Jacobs, Cynthia James, Catherine Phillips, Ruth Winstead, Marguerite Russ, Josephine Ware and Elsye B. Yates spent the week-end in Charlottesville.

Dearing Fauntleroy, Ada C. Snyder, and Terry Buyers went to Altavista.

FTA Organizes Teachers' Club

Future Teachers of America under the direction of Miss Pauline Camper, are organizing teachers' clubs in nearby high schools. The purpose of these clubs is to start students, expecting to enter the teaching fields in this training while they are still in high school.

Colonnade Staff Holds Banquet

Colonnade staff held its first banquet in the tea room Wednesday night, April 24, at six-thirty o'clock. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Grainger, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Coyner, Dr. F. B. Simpkins, Misses Lucile Jennings, Marjorie Booten, Ottie Craddock, Carrie B. Tallioferro, the old and new editors and business managers of the Virginian and The Rotunda.

Church Society

Continued from Page 1

lege work of the Episcopal Church. President John Lloyd Newcomb of the University of Virginia is a member of the Board of Directors of the Church Society for College Work. The Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church, the Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, of Virginia, is honorary president of the Society. The president and founder of the Society, the Rev. W. Brooke Stabler, chaplain of the University of Pennsylvania and Boardman lecturer of Christian ethics, is a graduate of both the University of Virginia and the Virginia Theological Seminary.

Friday night there will be a social and open forum for Mr. Thomas in the Y. W. Lounge sponsored by the Y. W. C. A.

May Day Festivities

Continued from Page 1

Hawkins, Jerry Hatcher, Beulah Ettenger, Helen Wentz and Norma Wood.

Dorothy Rollins is in charge of properties and setting. Her assistants are Frances Keck, Elizabeth West, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Florence Lee, Thelma Courtney, Anna Johnson, and Mae Desaix. Mary Katherine Dodson and Margaret Wright are in charge of transportation.

Mrs. Louise Fitzpatrick, physical education instructor, is faculty adviser of dancing and Miss Leola Wheeler, dramatic instructor, is directing the pantomime. Miss Katherine Tupper of the Home Ec Department is supervising the costumes. Other faculty members assisting with May Day are Miss Mary Barlow and Miss Olive T. Iler, both of the physical education department and Mr. James M. Grainger of the English department.

EACO THEATRE
DAILY MATS AT 3:45 P. M.
Fri.-Sat., May 3-4
MARTHA RAY
CHARLES RUGGLES
RICHARD DENNING
The Farmer's Daughter
Cartoon, Travelogue, News
Next Mon.-Tues., May 6-7
Lew Ayers, Lavaine Day
Lionel Barrymore
"DR. KILDARE'S STRANGE CASE"
Latest News Events
Next Wed. Thurs., May 8-9
TYRONE POWER
DOROTHY LAMOUR
"JOHNNY APOLLO"
Cartoon—Novelty

FUR COATS
Why Take Them Home for the Summer?
Ask About Our Storage
KILKARE
Launderers--Cleaners

'Nelly Don'
SPORT DRESSES
IN THE NEWEST AND FINEST QUALITY
IDEAL FOR DRESS OR PLAY
SHEERS AND SPORT MATERIALS
1.98 to 7.95
DAVIDSON'S

AMERICA'S BUSIEST CIGARETTE
...at every corner it's
Chesterfield
...today's definitely milder...cooler-smoking...better-tasting cigarette

When you buy a pack of cigarettes, give it the smoker's perfect quiz . . . Is it mild? Is it cool? Does it taste better? If you do that, you'll turn by choice to Chesterfield because Chesterfield has all the answers.

Their blend of the best tobaccos grown, their size, shape and the way they burn, all help to make Chesterfield America's Busiest Cigarette.

Make your next pack Chesterfield
You can't buy a better Cigarette

Copyright 1940, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS

The Rotunda

VIRGINIANS ARRIVE SATURDAY

File No.—Z773

VOLUME XIX | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 8, 1940 | NO. 27

Stevenson Heads Cotillion Club; Pierpont Is Leader

Goating Rules Are Published

Boonie Stevenson was elected to succeed Virginia Polley as president of the Cotillion Club Wednesday night, May 1.

Nancy Pierpont was chosen leader with Louise Painter as secretary-treasurer.

Faye Brandon will succeed Essie Millner as business manager, and Mr. M. B. Coyner has been elected adviser of the club.

Mr. T. A. McCorkle, former adviser of the club was made an honorary member.

Boonie is secretary of her class, a member of the A. C. E. and the house council. Nancy is chairman of the service committee of the Y. W. C. A. and a member of H2O Club and Orchesis. She was on the A. A. Council her freshman year.

Louise was on A. A. Council her sophomore year and a member of May Court this year.

Faye is incoming president of A. C. E., a member of the House Council, and was a member of Pan Hellenic Council this year.

The Cotillion Club sponsors two dances each year and attempts to improve dances here. Spring Cotillion will be May 18, with Dean Hudson playing.

Goat Week will be held May 13-15. The rules governing the invitation of new members are listed.

Boonie Stevenson, new president of Cotillion Club.

Episcopal Leader To Speak to Students

How the church works with colleges and schools was the theme of Mr. Charles Edward Thomas, executive director of the Church Society for College Work, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, at a series of lectures to the students at S. T. C. Friday, May 3.

Mr. Thomas spoke in chapel at 11 o'clock. He addressed the Episcopal Young People's Fellowship at 7 o'clock and then led a forum group for the Y. W. C. A. at 8 o'clock in the Y. W. lounge at which time the social committee served refreshments.

GOAT RULES

General Rules for Every Day

1—Wear green and yellow stockings
2—Meet in front of the Colonnade before lunch and dinner each day.
3—Wear a yellow ribbon at least an inch wide with Goat (your name) printed in green inch. Pin securely to the place where you would wear a corsage if you had one.
4—Fix your hair to suit each days costume.

Monday—Baby Dumpling Day (make your mother proud)

1—Wear a short cotton dress just above the knee. Watch those stockings—no gaposis please!
2—Wear a wide sash
3—Frilly bonnets with bows under the chin (or chins)
4—Carry a book of nursery rhymes which are to be read in baby talk to all Cotillion Club members and faculty to say nothing of the Home Department.
5—Learn to sing the following ditty in baby talk with proper gesticulations. Sing to the tune of "The Madame Is . . ."

Cotillion is a good club
To this we all agree
We love to greet its old girls
Upon our bended knee.
—We love you—

Tuesday—Labor Day

All work and no play
That's the slogan for Labor Day
Walk up to the old Cotillion girls
And in your own "sweet" way
Ask them if there's any job
You can do for them today.
1—Dress as some type of laborer other than student.
2—Carry a piece of working equipment such as a hammer, screw-driver, plow, axe, sewing machine, etc.—Oh, you know.
3—Be out on the athletic field at 7:00 a. m. for a mass strike against the fence. The roll will be called!! Carry appropriate signs on sticks. These are to be carried all day.
4.—A sit-down strike will be held in front of the Colonnade at 5:30. Please come early and avoid the picket line.

Wednesday—Sad-Pan Day

1—Wear black
2—No make-up
3—No jewelry
4—Have good jokes on hand for Cotillion members but remember not to smile for it's gloomy Wednesday.
5—Sing this mournful tune to "The Worms Crawl In, the worms crawl out."
I cannot laugh, I cannot grin
For think of the trouble I would get in
Now I am tired and all worn out
From pushing this sad face of mine about.

Afterthought: Bring a pair of scissors to the 12:30 meeting in front of the Colonnade on this day.
Any little items which you might want to buy for these doings may be bought at Rose's.
The above rules are confined to the campus. Old girls please remember this and don't cluter up Main Street by taking goats downtown.

Anne Cock Is New Debate President

Parker, DeLong, Keck Also Elected

Anne Cock, Elizabeth Ann Parker, Helen DeLong and Frances Keck were elected president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer respectively of the Debate Club at the regular meeting last Wednesday night May 1.

Marie Allen, outgoing president was elected counselor of the club.

Anne, a junior from Hampton, is a member of Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary forensic fraternity, and was a delegate to the Dixie Forensic Tournament at Winthrop last fall, and to the Grand Eastern Tournament this spring, where she won two awards for after dinner speaking.

Elizabeth Ann also attended the Dixie and Grand Eastern Tournaments and was delegate to the South Atlantic Forensic Tournament last March and to the national Pi Kappa Delta convention at Knoxville, Tennessee. She is a Sophomore from Portsmouth and is a member of Pi Kappa Delta.

Helen, a Freshman and a member of one of Farmville's junior debate teams has participated in several intercollegiate debates on the campus this winter.

Frances and Marie both juniors from southwest Virginia are members of Pi Kappa Delta and attended the Dixie, South Atlantic, and Grand-Eastern Forensic Tournaments.

All these girls have participated in intercollegiate debating both in and off the campus throughout the school year.

Riding Contest Slated for May 17

Entries in the Riding Contest and Horse Show, will be open until May 12. The event is scheduled for Friday, May 17, at 2 o'clock. All girls wishing to attend are asked to see Nelle White, Lillian German, or May Wertz, to make arrangements for transportation to Hampden-Sydney where the show will be held. Also anyone wishing to enter the contest should see one of these girls to make an appointment to ride at least once between now and May 12 in order to be classified and assigned a horse.

There will be classes for everyone. Those who have never ridden, may ride before May 12 and enter the beginners' class.

Anyone wishing further information may phone 201W, Miss Stella Fox, riding school director, any time before six o'clock.

Cline, Whelchel Will Represent Farmville At Alabama Meeting

Sara Cline and Martha Whelchel will represent S. T. C. at the annual Southern Student Christian Conference in Talladega, Alabama, June 6-13, and Frances Rosebro, Lucy Turnbull, Jean Moyer, Eleanor Folk, and Nancy Pierpont will represent S. T. C. at Blue Ridge, North Carolina, June 8-17.

The theme of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. leader is, "The Christian Faith and Contemporaneous Living". There will be also study classes, worship, seminars and forums.

The conference is planned for members of Student Christian Association in the white colleges in the ten southeastern states, and especially for the officers and cabinet members. Many men and women students who are active in the work of the Christian Association on their local campuses will join together for this nine-day period of inspiration and training.

A. K. G. Officials To Attend Meet

Royall, Hardaway, Purdum Delegates

Ruth Lea Purdum, Martha Meade Hardaway, and Jane Royall will leave Friday, May 10, to attend a meeting of the national officers and local incoming presidents of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honor fraternity for leadership, at the home of Mrs. E. R. Childs at Pawley's Island, South Carolina.

Martha Meade, outgoing president of Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma, is regional recording secretary, and Jane is regional corresponding secretary. Ruth Lea is the local incoming president.

This group is meeting to formulate plans for the coming year.

Jane, Martha Meade, and Ruth Lea will return Sunday, May 12.

Red Cross Offers Instructors Course

Mr. T. Gammage, American Red Cross field representative, will offer an instructors course at the college pool from May 13 through May 18. Fourteen students, from Hampden-Sydney and S. T. C. have enrolled for the class and have been receiving preliminary instruction for the past month.

The course offers an efficient program of valuable training in water safety. The two divisions of the work are life-saving and water safety instructorship. In order to participate in the group students must be 19 years old and must be senior life savers. The chief purpose of this course is to give special training for teaching swimming as camp counselors.

Soph Commission To Install Officers; Group Presents Skit

Jeanne Hall, chairman; Amy Read, secretary; and May Martlett, treasurer of the Sophomore Commission, will be installed as officers Thursday night, at Prayers.

Other members of the Sophomore Commission to be installed wil be Peggy Lou Boyette, Helen Wiley Hardy, Margaret Mish, Anne Moore, Sara Wade Owen, Ruth Palmer, Agnes Patterson, Betty Youngberg, Nancy Saunders and Jerry Smith.

May Bartlett will head the Morning Watch Committee, Peggy Lou Boyette, Prayers, and Agnes Patterson, chairman of devotions.

The Sophomore Commission sponsored a skit "As Others See Us", Monday night at student body meeting. Those taking part in this skit were: Betty Fahr, Harriett Vaden, Nancy Naff, Norma Wood, Eliza Wise, Marjorie Nimmo, Harriette Scott, Elizabeth Townsend, Robin Henning, "Chubby" Heard, Anne Moore, Shirley Turner, Betty Boutchard, and Betty Youngberg.

Choir to Sing In Suffolk and Norfolk

College Choir with Professor Alfred H. Strick, director, and Edwin C. Cralle, guest soloist, will leave Farmville Saturday, May 18, for a concert tour of eastern Virginia.

Saturday night they will sing at the Suffolk High school. Sunday morning they will be guest choir at the Trinity Methodist Church of Smithfield, and that night they will sing at the evening service of the Epworth Methodist Church in Norfolk, after which they will return to Farmville.

Windham and Pettis Reign Over May Day Fete In Dell

Coming Election Topic of Reception

Pi Gamma Mu Gives Third of Series

The presidential election of 1940 was the topic for discussion at a formal reception of Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity, Wednesday night, May 7 in Student Building lounge. Frances Alvis, a senior, Dorothy Rollins, a junior, and Mary Mahone, a senior, presented three phases of the primary political questions facing Americans today.

"The Effect of a Third Presidential Term on American People Irrespective of Part" was the viewpoint Frances discussed. She began by giving a background of former presidential elections, and situations in which the problem of running for a third term had arisen, and in what ways these former situations had been met. She emphasized the fact that there was more than one man in the United States capable of carrying out the executive duties of president.

In reporting on the "Possibility of a Democratic Victory" Dot explained that people liked a spending administration and liked to see where their money is going. Roosevelt's administration was the illustration she referred to. In essentials for president Dot mentioned that he must be a strong leader, have the ability to choose workers, and the ability for character insight in choosing a good cabinet. Roosevlt embodied these characteristics. Although he has his faults he has been outstanding and people would not consider him for a third term if he had not had something.

Mary Mahone in her presentation of "Possibilities of a Republican Victory" gave a picture of the direction the pendulum has swung at previous elections for a Republican or Democratic majority. Mary gave the results of a poll conducted by Fortune magazine which gave Roosevelt a lead with 35 per cent of the votes, and Republican Dewey 14 per cent. "But, she concluded, "people of the nation are against a third term by 8 per cent majority."

Questions brought out in the discussion following the talks were the effects of war develop-

Continued on Page 4

Court Presents Colorful Dances

"Greet was the feste that daye
And ekk the lusty season of that Maye
Made everyone to be in such pleasaunce
That all that Saturday hasten they and daunce."

Despite the lack of sun and warmth on Saturday, May Day was a sight to behold.

Can you ever forget that spectacular masque as Essie Millner danced the "Haile to the Morne" and opened the gala festivities?

Hardly had she disappeared when the "Meetine and Greetine" dancers, gaily attired in purple, white, and pink gored dresses cut over princess lines, tripped by two's an three's onto the green—some to dance and some to decorate the Queen's throne with the whitest of dogwood. When all was in readiness for the Queen they disappeared into the forest and Robin Hood and his band of outlaws, true to style in the Lincoln green huntsman garb ran forth to revel before the arrival of the Court.

They were soon joined by the coy milk-maides, curtseying and chattering among the group.

Hark! to the tingle of bells. Ah—the Morrice Dancers in their queer costumes of black pants and pink and blue jackets, appeared, led by the two hobby horses who immediately entered into a fight to the delight of the audience.

The blast of trumpets quickly brought this exciting event to a close as the heralds announced the approach of the Queen and her Court. From everywhere, from behind bushes and trees all the peasants came to witness the crowning. Then from out of the distance, slowly, sedately, came the Court — (our prettiest-never prettier), two by two. All in some shade of red—from wine to rose—toned in value so as to blend together—their gowns styled after the times—hoop skirts, puffed sleves and lacy collars.

Striking in contrast was the Maid of Honor—her gown of moss green richly outstanding. Last but not least with all the bearing and accustomed royalty came the Queen—her white dress standing out against the green background of trees and shrubbery. Truly a Queen was Lula Windham.

From out of the crowd came that lovable character of English folklore: Robin Hood—and to him

Continued on Page 4

Glen Gray, Tommy Tucker Featured At Apple Blossom Festival

Color, gaiety and an old southern atmosphere prevailed over the 17th Annual Apple Blossom Festival, in Winchester, Virginia May 1-3 when Senorita Lillian Somoza, of Nicaragua was crowned Queen of Apple Blossoms by Assistant Secretary of State, Dr. Henry Francis Grady. Lula Rouse Windham, S. T. C. May Queen, 1940, represented Farmville as a princess.

Beneath threatening skies the festivities proceeded. Thirty-three princesses attended the queen in her court. The princess represented many colleges of various sections in the United States. These young ladies wore Scarlett O'Hara style gowns which were flesh colored, crinkled organdy over pink with embossed flowers in green, blue, and red and white; and "Gone With the Wind" style Leghorn picture hats.

The setting for the coronation of the queen was the John Handley High School in Winchester. The throne rested at the footof a spacious flight of gray stone steps upon which the ladies-in-waiting and their escorts from the Massanutten Academy, and in military uniform, stood forming a colorful and picturesque background.

After the coronation a superb pageant, "The Quest for Beauty", was presented by the students of Winchester high school and grammar schools. One thousand students participated in this performance of dancing and entertainment.

A colorful parade, "The Trail of Pink Petals," consisting of thirty-five floats decorated with apple blossoms and other spring flowers paraded through the city of Winchester on Friday. The first float carried the queen and her maids of honor; the second and third the princesses.

Among the other events of the festival were the reception of princesses on Thursday night at which time Glen Gray and his orchestra furnished the music and the Queen's Ball, Friday night, when Tommy Tucker and his band played.

It was estimated that 25,000 people attended the Apple Blossom Festival.

"Hey, You, Down There"

Mary had a plot of grass:
She walked on it every day.
Now instead of the grass,
She only has a bale of hay.

Remember all those clever limericks we heard in the dining room last year? Well, you'd never think we'd ever heard 'em, from the looks of the newly trodden paths around school.

Do you know how many walks there are leading into the building beween Library and Student? Try counting them. There are nine! Looks as though they ought to be close enough to any place we want to go. Evidently they aren't though, because one look at those cutting across the campus gives you that idea, anyway.

Suppose the grass could speak. Bet they would be a pretty sorry lot. University of N. C. put up a loud speader and whenever anyone was seen walking on the grass it would bleat forth with something like, "Hey, you, down there, get off the grass!" It worked, too.

All winter we gazed out on that snow (when we were snow bound) and wished for Spring. Well, with its coming, that age old problem of how to effectively say "Keep Off the Grass" springs up—two of a kind, I guess.

THE FORUM

Teachers and the Teaching Profession

The more one sees of the teachers of today the more one feels of hope and despair. A large percentage of the teachers are sincere, seeking methods and materials to better themselves and their teaching so that they may give the best possible help and instruction to the boys and girls they teach. Of these teachers one can be proud, for they teach the children who will be the leaders of tomorrow.

Another group of teachers, for whose pupils one feels sorry, are those who teach entirely by hard and fast traditional fact learning and repetition. These are not the teachers who inspire boys and girls to think, to do things. Rather, they turn out of their schools little machines which repeat things much as a phonograph record does. Is such a teacher harmful to the child? Oh yes, for she carefully kills or curbs any creative impulses not directly connected with the basic subjects she was hired to teach. Vicious? She doesn't mean to be! Hopeless—for the teacher—for the child? Possibly, for to change them their minds must be jolted awake, and then they must be trained and disciplined to function even a little.

The group of teachers who give the wrong impression of the teaching profession to the general public, and cause educators, teachers and parents throughout the country to raise their voices in a cry of disapproval, is the group composed of just plain "bad teachers". "Bad teachers" because they were never meant to be teachers; "bad teachers" because they are poorly trained, poorly supervised and teach school only because they cannot do anything else.

Can the parents and educators of the school-age children, fairly and honestly condemn these so-called teachers for trying to teach year after year when we solicit their patronage and actually encourage them to try to improve themselves for a profession for which they are not fitted? Would we permit a quack doctor to perform a major operation upon us? Would we permit a poor driver to chauffer us about the streets of a busy city? Of course not, we value our welfare too highly. Yet, we who claim to love our children more than ourselves, will entrust them to poorly trained, unstable and corrupt teachers to form the patterns and lay the foundation for a child's whole life.

It has been proved in history the world over for countless ages that a nation cannot rise above its common—the greatest mass of its people. Therefore, let us each ask ourselves this question, "Just how are the children of the next generation going to be able to choose what is best unless they know how to think, to read intelligently, and to be able to stand firm upon their convictions, and where are they going to receive the necessary training if not at school.—Central State Teachers.

BRICKBATS and BOUQUETS

This past Saturday which was supposed to be a May Day, or so the calendar said, took on aspects of a Founders Day in more ways than one . . . Censored. Censored. Censored.

'Twas good seeing old faces—Jennie, Jinna, Jennie Belle, Fran, etc . . . 'Twas just as good gazing on new ones, too; to wit: The May Court Members. Excellent camouflage . . . Sweetpeas and Oldmaids to all the lovelies!

We wonder . . . If Sarah Booth has found herself as yet; if Sherlock-Gertrude-Allene Overbey can keep her Chatham-Hampden-Sydney relations without "finding herself" in a strained predicament; if Jan Savitt will sooner or later discover a successor to his "fee-de-row" singer, Bon-Bon, in Lena Butterworth; if the "two-cuties" who have asked four or five O. A. O.'s to Cotillion can find solutions or dates for them.

Speaking of Cotillion, we wish that we could have booked Will Bradley, "The Boy With the Horn". Two new songs, "Beat Me, Daddy, Eight to the Bar" and "Strange Cargo", were introduced by him the other night and were wowies.

Clowns in the Night . . . The Personnel of Third Floor Student, but especially Wood and Scottie, who insist upon having cokes in the wee hours: May Winn, 'nuff said; the instigators of "The Evil-Eye Society"; Hoppie and Ebo who are filled with "snooposity" to the nth degree.

It seems that Dot Lawrence isn't satisfied with Tommy Ford nowadays what with the subtle play she's making for S. T. C.'s Lochinvar Lashley . . . That ole "1-2" is much in evidence at the present since it's spring and Finals will soon roll around . . . Who were the Two Smart Girls who made it to the Chi Phi Parties? . . . How did "Cossie" decide on her date for Cotillion? . . . The Whitlock-Willis set-up is reaching a potent stage, while the McIlwaine-Russell affair is suffering with widow-trouble, to say nothing of the home-town competition.

Betty Hawkins has three Tech men. Ask her about the situation 'cuz it's veddy up-and-at-em . . . The Kilby must be cooling off for he was swathed in a yellow coat, arms included, while watching May Day . . . M. K. Zehmer deserves all sorts of posies for getting one Buddy Wheatley to trip the light-and-so-on in the Rec Saddy post meridian . . . Tripp appeared before Jimmy Saturday afternoon in her long black underwear . . . Sara Keesee's lil bro, Earle, looked over the Student Body and made his picks . . . What about the Five F-N Club with by-claws and red colors?

For fear that the following pome will never appear in print anywhere, it is inserted in this column. The aspiring young poetess is a well-deserving red-head.

The moon cast its shadow
Upon us.
And you smiled
At me . . .

I trembled and looked up
At you,
My love,
And waited . . .
Then, softly through
The night
Came your soft voice,
"Have some gum?"

Dining-Room Doin's (between choruses) . . . Mary Lou's remarkable piano playing, especially "Dance With a Dolly" . . . Table 13's Symphony Orchestra composed of the following: Wentz, the Mad Maestro with a fork for a baton; Chubby, who out-bazookas Burns; Beezie Marx at the harp; McFall, Worsham, Duer, the three-piano team of boogie-woogies; Martha, the flutist; Graff, hot-footin' it at the drums; and Mooch, bass-fiddler extraordinaire . . . Their rendition of Butchinsky's Melody in XY 2 Z Minor, Opus 00000 is soul-inspiring.

Goat Week should prove sensational as well as ridiculous. It's really a time of great fun if only the goaters and "goatees" enter into it with the right spirit. The appropriate theme song seems to be "Goat-Goat-Goat, Well, all right". But we shall see . . . remember the Alamo!!!

Gleanings

By MARIE ALLEN

With only two months until the nominations of the major parties all eyes are turned on who it will be. Roosevelt has decided to be different and so remains silent as to his intentions of running again. By this policy he will maintain the respect of the European dignitaries for the U. S. He will be listened to as the leader of a great nation, still believed in by his home constituents. Had he announced that he would not run again the European nations would have paid little heed to a man holding office only because his term had not expired. Whether this is his chief reason for silence is doubtful.

What Kind of a Platform?

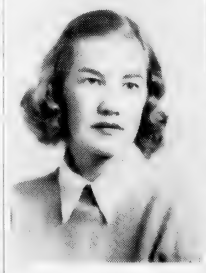
He baffles the Republican party. With their nominations coming before the Democrats they are faced with the decision of a platform against a New Deal Democrat or just a plain old time Democrat. This makes it doubly hard for them and puts the Democrats in a much happier situation. They have the advantage of drawing up a platform directed at someone they know, whereas the Republicans must draw up a platform against maybe a New Dealer, then again maybe not.

Another Roosevelt tactic in this game of politics is the speaking tour through the Middle West while the Republicans are in Philadelphia nominating. Of course, the president is hoping to draw some attention from the Republican Convention and he will naturally succeed. The speeches will be on the subject of conservation. Could it be they will relate to the conservation of the New Deal or F. D. R.?

Democratic Aspirants

It is likely that Roosevelt could be persuaded to run again and it is generally believed he will since he has allowed the third term talk for two years. But should he refuse to run who would it be? There are Hull and Farley, conservatives, Liberal McNutt, and New Dealers, Jackson and Wallace. The latter would receive the whole-hearted support of Roosevelt and he would probably be glad to see them nominated. But, at present, their hopes are very weak. McNutt bloomed and faded all too soon and at the present seems out of the way. Hull and Farley are the leading aspirants. Hull has received the sanction of the people with his reciprocal trade treaties but his age is against him and Jim Farley is such a good vote-getter for other people it would be a shame to change his job.

Among The Republicans



In the Republican ranks is the good looking Tom Dewey—young enough to be saved for another time, some thought, but he is proving otherwise. Already he has crowded Vandenberg into the background. Dewey is going after votes and the chances are he'll get them. Taft, older and more conservative, having lived in the White House once, is his chief rival now—but with Wendell Willkie rising rapidly there could be some shifting.

Until Roosevelt decides or rather publicizes what he will do, he will keep the world guessing. He could come nearer holding the Democratic party together than any other man. The Republicans are together. But in this theater of politics, the limelight shifts and different ones play the leading roles at different times. Whom it will spot at the convention we must wait and see.

The first book purchased by the University of Texas library was a concordance of the Bible.

Mary's got a little hen
That's feminine and queer.
It lays all right when eggs are cheap,
And quits when they are dear.

SENIOR PERSONALITIES

SARA KEESEE

Dimpled darling of S. T. C. (five and one-half is the exact number) Sara is the "trottinest" prom trotter of them all—from Navy Balls to Fancy Dress. Small, blonde and lovable she is enough to cause a crisis in anyone's vocabulary. 'Tis said that Jan Garber once kissed her after she sang with his orchestra as who wouldn't for Sara's melody-laden voice gets right to the bottom of your heart.

As likeable as she is lookable. Sara's accomplishments are not limited to the beauty realm alone but spread out in the brainy regions also. Her splendid cooperation, dependability and willingness to work have made her a valuable asset to her Alma Mater. Sara is a vivacious little girl whose "I love life" attitude toward the world has made it a sunnier place for those of us who know her.

I. Ear Reveals That Campuses Are Crazy Things

"Monkeys are the craziest people", terms Lew Lehr. "And people are the craziest monkeys". Who said that? (Always heard that it was a poor rule if it didn't work both ways—so don't blame me for trying). Anyhow, paraphrasing the Lehr, people do the craziest things. Yes Siree! And right here on our own campus. For example:

Tim McCoy, of Home Ec fame, while striving diligently to vie with the tea room in making biscuits, was veddy veddy perplexed and perturbed when her creations failed to rise. But following ye ole maxim, "If at first they don't rise, mix, mix, mix again", Tim with a dash and a mix and a stir, once again put her biscuits in the oven and waited with great expectations for the completion of her great art. "All's quiet in the oven," she thought; and after "Watching the Clock" for a time, she felt with great assurance that the biscuits were done. But alas and alack! Same situation (guess you think that this is where you came in). But wait! Remember the climax. Poor disillusioned Tim—she had used sugar instead of baking powder. Take heed, my chillens.

"Retributive Justice"

Best luck of the week belongs to Nancy Sale. Seems that the young lady proved that a nickel can make another nickel; and from our own coca cola machine at that. Formula: Put one nickel in and turn the handle down and the nickels come out. That's what happened when Nancy was getting her roomie a coke. "I'm Like Emerson," said Nancy, "I believe in retributive justice". It seems that Nancy had lost a nickel at Longwood that afternoon, and was consequenly denying herself. But compensation comes . . .

Poetic Fever

Not spring fever, but poetic fever seems to be the symptoms prevalent on the campus; what with all the poems we've seen. Noted in an exchange paper from down the Carolina way is this poetic composition. We offer it her for the benefit of poetry lovers.

Spring

Birds, bees, budding trees;
Cupid's darts, captured hearts
Bliss.
Nowhere care nor sorrow.

Woodland walks, quiet talks
Fragrant flowers—golden hours
Phooey!
History quiz tomorrow.

For the Wittiest

I nominate Mary K. Zehmer. Reason: The other night I saw the Zehmer ambling down the hall with the limping Pie draped on her. "And who do you all think you are?" I queried. "Oh I'm Cain and Pie is disAbel", retorted Mary K. Well All Right now!

Creighton University medical students and faculty members last year treated free of charge 30,000 patients.

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934.

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Mary K. Beck ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Alice Leigh Barham, Anne Barnette, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Bridget Gentile, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Dorothy Sprinkle.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mildred Taylor, Daphne Williamson, Ellen Hudgins, Dearing Fauntleroy, Dorothy Childress, Anne Moore.

Typists

Thelma Courtney, Frances Pritchett, Norma Wood, Doris Alvis and Lillian Agnew.
Virginia Worley ..... Photographer

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

SUBSCRIPTION RATE
For the Collegiate Year
$1.50 Per Year

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO · BOSTON · LOS ANGELES · SAN FRANCISCO

Sports Slants

By MICKEY BECK

With May Day practices taking the spotlight and so-called "recreation hours" of a large number of students last week, our campus sports were somewhat neglected. But where there are girls there is bound to be play, so I guess this is one place for such goings-on, don't you? When old man weather cooperated with us, golf and tennis set a new pace and seemed to challenge each and everyone for the anxious sportswomen of the college.

Thursday old Sol did his best to dry off the tennis courts and so Friday found quite a number out there polishing up their serve for their next opponent in the round robin tournament which has been slowed down on account of they "ain't" had no time. The first round had not been completed Saturday but the following girls had defeated their first rivals: Ruby Adams, Dot Fischer, Betsy Jennings, "Petie" Barnett, Mary Sue Edmonson, Pat Gibson, and "Mooch" McIlwaine. With an optimistic viewpoint, good weather, et cetera, we hope that the tennis tournament will be completed this week.

"It is a test of temper, a trial of honor, a revealer of character." "It is also a cure for care, and an antidote to worry." I am quoting from David R. Forgan and of course you can't miss the sport in question—GOLF—by all means. Hazelwood Burbank, O. G. Gilchrist, and Sue Owen are just a sample of these quotations, and right here on our campus, too. Golf is an excellent sport, and one which we will enjoy even perhaps when we're old and gray, to say nothing of our "happy, happy collich days." Then too, the Pro is living up to his candid "Cameramanship", (which means; WATCH YOUR SWING!)

Archery doesn't seem to have been bothered by any outside forces because it has been progressing all right. Nell Hurt and some of the others are steadily trying their bows. "Mow" West and Pat Gibson are looking mighty good on the tennis courts these days too. Maybe they need more competition, who wants to take them on for a set or two? Not I!!

The horseshow coming up Friday week, which is being sponsored by the riding club, has given each person whether she is an experienced horsewoman or merely a beginner, a chance to participate and enjoy the privilege. Chappy announced that even she was rather weary after riding all Monday afternoon. Polishing your pace, Chappy? Esther Atkinson is really taking the show seriously. I understand she has a new riding habit specially for the occasion!

Congratulations, new Monogram Club officers!!

As near to field and track I can get is in gym class. Now there you can track down some of the fastest runners and highest jumpers you ever saw. I'll tell you more about it when we have a little private tourney of our own.

Hop Says
LOOK THAT WAY FOR MOTHER'S DAY
DE LUXE CLEANERS

Martin the Jeweler
MANY SELECTIONS FOR
Mother's Day

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

G. F. BUTCHER CO.
"The Convenient Store"
Dealer in fancy groceries and confectioneries
600 High Stret Farmville, Va.

WATCH FOR OUR
MAY
Carnival Sale!
FUN FOR ALL
WILL YOU COME?
NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store

Mother's Day
GREETING CARDS
ON SALE HERE
Southside Drug Store
Phone 356

SHOW MOTHER THE REAL THING
in a Carol King frock
Latest styles
$3.97 to $7.97
Wide selection of Mother's Day gifts — Gloves, Bags, Hose.
DOROTHY MAY STORE
First to Show the Newest

REMEMBER MOTHER ON MAY 12TH
. . . with Colorful Scarfs, Slik Slips, Batiste Gowns, Frilly Blouses.
EVERYTHING FOR THE MODERN MOTHER
THE HUB DEPT. STORE
APPRECIATES YOUR PATRONAGE

Nell Hurt shoots at the bull's eye

Monogram Club Elects Seward

Helen Seward was elected to succeed Chlotilde Jarman as president of the Monogram Club for the coming year at a meeting held Monday night, May 6. Helen McIllwaine, succeeding Helen Jeffries, is the new secretary-treasurer.

Helen is social chairman of the Athletic Association for the coming year and was manager of archery last year, Helen Mac was manager of minor sports last year and has been on varsity hockey team all three years here, as well as class hockey teams. Her freshman year she was assistant manager of basketball and has played on class volleyball team for two years. She is ping pong champion of S. T. C. Both girls are from Petersburg.

New members elected to the club Monday night were the following: Martha Roberts, Peggy Hughes, Florence Lee, Corilda Chaplin and Dorothy Johnson.

"Marty" is from Norton and has been outstanding in sports at Farmville. She is secretary of the A. A. and plays on varsity basketball squad. Peggy, from Richmond, is manager of swimming and is a member of the H2O Club. Florence Lee is a member of class hockey and basketball teams and is from Hampton. "Chappy", who is from Falling Springs, is publicity chairman for the A. A. and plays on varsity basketball; while Dot, from Suffolk, is the new treasurer of the A. A. and also on varsity basketball squad.

Classes Will Clash In Archery Tourney

Friday, May 10, the archery tournament will be held on the athletic field at 3:30.

Each girl will shoot three flights of arrows. With each flight consisting of six arrows, from a distance of eighty feet, seventy feet, and sixty feet. The first flight will be considered a practice round and will not be counted on the score.

Green and White will compete with Red and White and points toward the color cup will be awarded.

Varsity Tennis Team Announced

Betsy Jennings, Helen McIllwaine, Cleo Jarman and Frances Farham have been selected to comprise the varsity tennis team of S. T. C. They left this morning for Williamsburg to compete with the feminine aggregation of the College of William and Mary. The tournament will consist of both double and single matches.

Miss Olive Iler is tennis coach.

The N. Y. A. college program is reaching 18.8 per cent more youths this year than last year.

The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching has resources of $26,917,932.

HOW TO WIN BOY-FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE STAG-LINES

By Dalea Dorothy Clix

Dear Miss Clix: The instructor who teaches Poetry 3-A at our college is a wonderfully handsome young bachelor with a divine Harvard accent, who expresses beautiful thoughts. I've fallen in love with him—but though I sit in the front row, he doesn't even seem to know I'm in the room. My parents, who are wealthy but provincial, taught me never to use cosmetics, yet—in class today!—My Poet said: "Only through artifice is the merely female transmuted into the ravishingly feminine." IN A DILEMMA

Dear "In a Dilemma": If your parents are wealthy they probably hate being provincial, or they wouldn't have sent you to college. My guess is that if you can snaffle a perfectly good Harvard poet they'll be proud to show off their new son-in-law to the neighbors. They'll forgive you the cosmetics. Don't forget that poets are extremely susceptible to beautiful hands—the Swinburne influence. So, transmute! – make your fingernails ravishing.

AND HERE'S WHAT YOU CAN DO ABOUT BEAUTIFUL NAILS

To have those lovely fingernails that men admire—tint your nails with the amazing new nail polish, DURA-GLOSS, that millions of women have switched to in recent months! No wonder DURA-GLOSS is different! It flows on with amazing smoothness, hardens to a brilliant gem-hard lustre that lasts far longer without tacking and chipping! Have the most beautiful fingernails in the world! At any cosmetic counter, buy DURA-GLOSS, 10 cents a bottle!

AND NOW, DEAR, READ THE NEXT COLUMN CAREFULLY!

Finals Reached In Singles Tourney

Jennings, Adams, McIllwaine In Run

Three girls have reached the finals in the round robin singles tournament. The first and second rounds have been completed with the exception of one match to be played between Emil Ellis and Mary Sue Edmonson. The tourney, which was scheduled to be completed before, was delayed because of inclement weather. Results of the matches which have been played off are as follows:

Mary Sue Edmonson defeated Pat Gibson 6-3, 6-3. Emil Ellis defeated Petie Barnett 7-5, 4-6, 6-3. Cleo Jarman defeated Ann Burgwyn 6-1, 6-0. Frances Parham defeated Cottie Radspinner 6-3, 4-6, 6-1. Betsy Jennings defeated Dot Fischer 6-2, 6-3. Ruby Adams defeated Frances Parham 7-5, 6-3. Helen McIllwaine defeated Cleo Jarman 3-6, 6-3, 6-4. Kaki Peery forfeited to Helen McIllwaine.

The three girls reaching the final round are: Betsy Jennings, Ruby Adams and Helen McIllwaine. After the William and Mary trip, the final round will be played to determine the singles tennis champ of S. T. C.

In the Wisconsin Alumni Association quarterly recently there was an item asking for aid from alumni for the university's needy students of today. Remembering the aid she had once received, she wrote the Alumni association.

"Ask your economics department how much $120 in 1899 is worth today; I'll give that much to you to repay what the university once did for me."

The authorities contacted a statistician who, after great computation, gave he final result: "The $120 in 1899 is worth $235 today."

The alumna said she'd be glad to give the amount, which will afford scholarships for four needy students. These recipients are supposed to be of the same high character of the generation in which this lady received hers.

COLLEGE SHOPPE
We serve the best food in town
Try us We deliver
Call 200

KLEANWELL
Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the mangement of "CHARLIE" JOHNSON

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

HOTEL WEYANOKE
Regular Meals
A La Carte Service
Salads & Sandwiches

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert
Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
236 MAIN STREET

Don't Forget Mother on
MOTHER'S DAY
May We Mail Your Orders Early
SHANNON'S

Special Gifts for Mother's Day
BRACELETS—RINGS
SILVERWARE—NOVELTIES
SHAFFER'S
PENS AND PENCILS
LYNN'S MUSIC STORE

Rose's
5-10-25c Store
ON THE CORNER
Cleansing Tissue
500 Sheet Box
15c

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material used
All Work Guaranteed

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

NOTICE—We now offer special low student rates on RADIO REPAIR WORK!
Electric Appliance Co.
Armory Bldg. Phone 40

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

DRUMELLER'S
FANCY MEATS
AND GROCERIES

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

SOCIALS

Juniors Guests of Frosh

The Freshman class was hostess to the Junior class at a weenie roast at Longwood Friday, May 3 at 5:30 p. m. Approximately five hundred juniors and freshmen attended.

Miss Olive Iler and Mr. Raymond French, advisers of the two classes and Miss Elizabeth Grady were also present.

A. S. T. Entertained

On Tuesday night, April 30, Helen Watts, Jean Martin, Jean Moyer, Katherine Beaton, Helen Briggs, Katherine Burge, Evelyn Looney and Nancy Goode Bland were joint hostesses at an informal party given for the members of Alpha Sigma Tau sorority in the chapter room.

Commercial Club

Commercial Club is entertaining its members tonight, May 8, at a picnic at Longwood.

Jean Warwick is chairman of the entertainment committee. Betty Barnes and Betty Perry are assisting her.

"Dibby" Shelborne, Betsy Jennings, and Marie Thompson are helping Virginia Rudd, chairman of social committee.

K. D. P. Reception

Kappa Delta Pi will entertain with a reception May 17 in the Student Building Lounge. This is an annual affair and Freshmen and Sophomore girls who are in the upper quartile of their classes will receive invitations.

A. S. T. Entertained

A. S. T. pledges entertained the members Thursday night at eight o'clock at a buffet party and presented the chapter with a mirror for the room.

As part of the entertainment Helen Hoyer sang.

Presbyterian Y. P. Announce Officers

At a candlelight service Mr. Hollingsworth, Presbyterian minister, installed the new officers of the Presbyterian Students Association, Sunday night, May 5.

Officers installed for the coming year are Margie Rice, president; Nancy Dupuy, vice-president, and Bert McLaughlin, secretary.

Chairmen of committees are: Carolyn Harvey, visitation; Buff Gunter, Church Cooperative; Anne Ayers, publicity, and Yates Carr, program and social service.

May Day Fete

Continued from Page 1

went the honor of crowning the Queen as the Peasants bowed before her majesty.

Then the Court payed tribute to the Queen by presenting a graceful dance for her pleasure.

As they resumed their places Morrice Dancers gathered, and clapped and skipped 'midst the lively tinkling of their bells.

Then the "Cudgel Bout" with Robin Hood the victor over the other three contestants and the exciting "Tug o' War" that resulted in a tumble for both sides.

Robin Hood and his band then displayed their skill with their bows and arrows.

A rustling among the peasants and the Garland Dancers in bright yellow and green costumes took the center of the green and gaily waved their garlands as they, too, danced before the Queen.

What would an English May Day be without the Newcastle dancers in their dresses of red and green?

From the top of the hill appeared the May Pole carried by the dancers in yellow and grey. Great was the delight of the group as the pole was set up in their midst and the traditional dance was given.

As an exciting climax the entire groups excluding the Queen and her court, gathered in concentric circles and danced the Sellenger's Round. The peasants then dispersed and the court, this time led by the smiling Queen, walked sedately back into the woods.

"Haile Farewell" by "Meeting and Greeting" group closed the festive occasion.

Coming Elections

Continued from Page 1

ment on Roosevelt's chances, why wouldn't the South rally 'round Hull, as he embodies all the South stands for, is Roosevelt being strategic by holding his answer to third term, and who will run for the democratic ticket if Roosevelt doesn't?

Marjorie Nimmo, outgoing House Council President, presided. Assisting her on the project committee were Ollie Graham Gilchrist, and Ruth Lea Purdum. Mary Walker Mitchell was in charge of refreshments. Instead of bringing speakers to the campus Pi Gamma Mu this year had receptions every quarter for discussions on national and international affairs and invited faculty members, town people and students particularly interested.

Students Leave School After May Day Festivities Saturday

After May Day many students went home for the week-end. Those who visited in Richmond were Ruby Adams, Mildred Owen, Elizabeth Bellows, Jane Saunders, Dotty Chapman, Blanche Carper, Ethel Carr, Helen Dawson, Nellie Dawson, Nellie Dodson, Sudie Dunton, Nina Lee Hall, Mary Haynes, Geraldine Hatcher, Peggy Hughes, Katherine Powell, Muriel Pippin, Mary Harvie, Bobbie Taylor, Elizabeth Shelburne, Emily Owen, Baylis Kuntz, Hallie Bulman, Helen Briggs, Sue Howell, Marie Stowers, Texie Belle Felts, Dot Fischer, Dorothy Robbins, Anne Stone, Margaret Franklin, Ada Harris, Lois Shorter, Ann Reese Whitlow, Lois Wilkins Grace Wallace and Josephine Newman.

Journeying to Roanoke were Elizabeth Summerfield, Frances Ellett, Elizabeth Glasgow, Virginia Alexander, Betty Barnes, Margaret Bowling, Sara Currie, Louise Painter, Margaret Carr, Frances Hoback, Lorana Moomaw.

Polly Keller was the guest of Louisa Sanford in Newport News. Others staying in that city were Doris Lee and Dorothy Lee Wood.

Blackstone attracted Katherine Burge, Mary Klare Beck, Mary Crews, Jane Hardy, Jane Pratt, Marie Thompson and Betty Webb.

Anne Billups and Elenora Faison attended a Science Convention in Lexington. Evelyn Pankey visited Mary Louise Sterrett there.

Ruth Winstead spent the week-end with her sister in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Elizabeth Gunter attended dances at Meredith College in Raleigh, North Carolina, while Alice Goode Cahoon visited Elon College there.

Dorothy Menefee and Faye Brandon have returned after representing S. T. C. at an A. C. E. Convention in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Michael Supa, a blind Colgate University student, has been elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

Chesterfield Radio Scores at Colleges

Fred Waring's School Songs Make Hit With Students; Miller Popular

Among the programs liked best by college students today, are Fred Waring's "Chesterfield Pleasure Time" and Glenn Miller's "Moonlight Serenade". Each offers specialties to please the college generation.

Fred Waring's idea of writing new school songs to order was in response to petitions signed by thousands of students from nearly every American college for an original Waring song. One song each week is dedicated over the air on "Pleasure Time" broadcast—selected as the best quarter hour on the air by the radio editors of the United States and Canada.

The Miller program, voted America's foremost dance band, has an average age under 25 years—including Glenn Miller and Larry Bruff, its announcer. Miller's popularity with swing devotees everywhere is shown by the fact that he is probably America's busiest band leader today. He has just one day open in the next six months, and that day a Sunday.

The Fred Waring "Pleasure Time "broadcast comes over NBC stations 5 nights weekly, from Monday through Friday and Glenn Miller is heard over CBS on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

EACO THEATRE

DAILY MATS AT 3:45 P. M.

Fri.-Sat., May 10-11

ERROL FLYNN
MIRIAM HOPKINS
"VIRGINIA CITY"

Latest News Events

Next Mon.-Tues., May 13-14

DEANNA DURBIN
WALTER PIDGEON
KAY FRANCIS
"IT'S A DATE"

Next Wed.-Thur., May 15-16

MERLE OBERON
GEORGE BRENT
PAT O'BRIEN
Geraldine Fitzgerald
"'Til We Meet Again"

Ted Fio Rita and Orchestra

MOTHERS' DAY
SUNDAY, MAY 12TH

"Nothing Is Too Good For Mother"

A Quality Gift to Last The Year Through

"DANIEL GREEN Leisure Footwear"

$2.95 up

DAVIDSON'S

Introducing Chesterfield's own graduation cap

Learn Real Mildness . . . it's easy

Just make your next pack Chesterfields, that's all, and as quick as you can light up, you'll learn the meaning of real mildness . . . and you will learn this too, Chesterfields are cooler and definitely better-tasting. You get all of the right answers to your smoking pleasure with Chesterfields . . . the busiest cigarette in America.

Chesterfield

THEY SATISFY

Copyright 1940, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

CONTRIBUTE TO RED CROSS FUND

The Rotunda

ROBERT FROST TO LECTURE MONDAY

File No.—Z773

VOLUME XIX | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 15, 1940 | NO. 28

Commencement Plans Are Formed; Speakers Named

Rev. W. C. Gum and Hon. Francis Miller To Address Grads

The committee on arrangements for Commencement exercises has completed the program for the graduation of the Seniors of 1939-'40.

Senior chapel, which will be held May 24 will mark the beginning of the exercises. Senior Sing will be presented the following Saturday night May 25.

Senior Banquet will be at Longwood May 31 and the Junior-Senior Prom is to be Saturday night, June 1, given by the Juniors. Rev. Walter C. Gum of Barton Heights Methodist Church in Richmond will preach the baccalaureate sermon which will be in the large auditorium Sunday, June 2.

Sophomore Class Day will be held in the large auditorium Monday morning June 3 at 10:30 followed that afternoon by the Senior Class Day. Immediately after Senior Class Day the Seniors and Little Sisters will form the Daisy Chain under the colonnade. That night at 8:30 in the Student Building lounge a Reception will be given for the Seniors. The Seniors and Little Sisters will have the Lantern Parade at 10:30 that same night on the campus.

The final graduating exercises will be held in the large auditorium Tuesday, June 4 at 10:30. Hon. Francis P. Miller of Fairfax will be the guest speaker. Student speakers will be Martha McCorkle and Ruby Mae Parsons who will give the valedictory and salutatory addresses.

Senior chairmen who are in charge of these events are Johnny Lybrook, Sing; Frances Alvis, Senior Banquet; Jerry Hatcher, Senior Chapel, and Marie Eason, Class Day.

Colonnade Staff Announces Rules For New Contest

Allene Overbey, editor of the Colonnade, has announced the rules for the short story contest which will run until October 1.

The story must be approximately 2,500 words and typed. It must meet the unwritten requirements of a short story as to length, plot and character development. October 1 is the dead line.

The judges will be two members of the English department, two members of the Colonnade staff and one member from the student body at large. Five dollars will be the first prize; three dollars, second prize; one dollar, third prize. Winners of the contest will be eligible for the short story contest sponsored by Beorc eh Thorn, English Society.

May 23 the senior issue of the Colonnade will appear.

A. C. E. Sponsors Children's Musical

A musical program will be presented by the children at the training school in the little auditorium, Tuesday, May 21. The Association of Childhood Education, a national organization recognizing leaders of little children, is sponsoring the program.

A rhythm band and choral groups of the grades will feature the musical selections. Frances Alvis, who assisted in the training school for three years, will speak on the part music plays in the primary and elementary school education.

Faye Brandon and Dorothy Menefee, president and treasurer, respectively, were delegates to the national convention held in Mil-

Continued on Page 3

DR. GEORGE W. JEFFERS

Dr. G. W. Jeffers Heads Virginia Science Academy

Faculty Members Attend Convention

Dr.George W. Jeffers, professor of Biology at Farmville State Teachers College, was elected president of the Virginia Academy of Science Saturday, May 4 when the association held its convention at Washington and Lee University. Dr. Jeffers succeeds Dean Wortley F. Rudd, of Medical College of Virginia, as president.

Dr. Edith Stevens, associate professor of biology; Mr. M. B. Coyner, professor of psychology; and Dr. Jean M. Martin, physician at the college, and Elenora Faison and Anne Billups, students, attended the convention. Representatives included those interested in medicine, psychology, mathematics, astronomy, physics, biology, and geology.

The main result of the acadamy was a discussion to create a Junior Academy of Science and to establish a commission for long-range planning for improvement of Virginia conditions. The Junior Academy will be comprised of science clubs to be established in Vir-

Continued on Page 4

Crowgey to Head Chapel Committee

Emma Louise Crowgey, a sophomore from Wytheville, has been appointed chairman of the Chapel Committee to succeed "Liggie" Ellett.

Anne Ellett, Eleanor Folk, Carolyn Harvey, Louise Huff, Frances Parham, Ellen Royall, and Nora Wood have been selected by Emma Louise to work with her.

Kappa Delta Pi To Give Reception For Honor Girls

72 Freshmen And Sophomores To Be Guests of Fraternity

Beta Epsilon chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national honor society for scholarship in education, will hold its annual spring reception Friday evening, May 17, in the Student Building lounge.

Recognizing excellence in scholarship and distinction of achievement, Kappa Delta Pi encourages high intellectual and scholastic standards and fosters outstanding contributions to education. A national organization composed of over one hundred and twenty-five collegiate and honorary chapters, Kappa Delta Pi is spoken of as the Phi Beta Kappa of the educational institution. Founded in 1909 at the University of Illinois through the inspiration and work of Dr. William Chandler Bagby, it now is widely known and numbers among its members such famous educators at Dr. John Dewey, Dr. Edward Lee Thorndike, Sir John Adams, Dr. Paul Monroe, Dorothy Canfield Fisher, Jane Addams, Dr. Charles A. Beard, Walter Damrosch, Patty Smith Hill and many others.

Beta Epsilon chapter, founded at Farmville May 21, 1928, from the local honor group Pi Kappa Omega, entertains annually at a reception in honor of the freshman and sophomore students maintaining upper quartile ranking in scholarship.

This year the receiving line will be composed of Dorothy Rollins, newly installed president, Dr. J. L. Jarman, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Wynne, Miss Pauline Camper, adviser to the Beta Epsilon chapter and Anne Billups, retiring president.

Officers for the coming year who were installed at a meeting held May 9 are Dorothy Rollins, Arlington, president; Jean Moyer, Portsmouth, vice-president; Thelma Courtney, Winchester, secre-

Continued on Page 4

List of New Rules To Be Compiled

Caralie Nelson, president of Student Body has announced that the suggestions from the discussions held on the halls Wednesday, May 8, will be compiled and taken to Miss Mary W. Cox, head of the home and Dr. J. L. Jarman, president, for approval.

A list of the rules, as approved by Miss Mary and Dr. Jarman, will be mimeographed and a copy handed to each girl later this year or the first of next year.

Enter Your Prize Pictures In Collegiate Digest Contest

The year's best pictures!

Outstanding prints of student and faculty amateur photographers, selected from 770 entered in a special nation-wide contest, are featured in this week's issue of Collegiate Digest. The Rotunda's weekly pictorial section.

The Salon Edition, presenting the beautiful and unusual masterpieces of collegiate amateurs, is an annual special feature of its rotogravure section and it pays special honor to the high artistic and technical excellence of the work of camera artists on U. S. college and university campuses.

The prize-winning photos reproduced in the special section were selected from those entered in the largest collegiate amateur photographic contest ever conducted. The record-breaking number of entries is an accurate indication of the widespread interest in photography on campuses in all sections of the country, the contest judges stated.

Of all photos entered, the judges stated that winners of the scenic, still life and portrait divisions are the most unusual from the standpoints of composition and subject matter, and were judged to be the most nearly perfect technically. The special honor award photo on the front page, "Squeeze Play" was given prominent position because it combined photographic excellence with great reader appeal.

The editors of Collegiate Digest, always active in furthering the interests of good potography, announce that the salon edition will be featured again next year. Students of Farmville S. T. C. are invited to enter their prize pictures in the contest. The deadline for this 4th national contest will be about April 1, 1941.

Robert Frost, New England Poet, Will Speak Here, May 20

Robert Frost, famed poet who will speak here Monday evening, May 20. The lecture will be sponsored by Beorc Eh Thorn, honorary English fraternity.

Beorc Eh Thorn Sponsors Program And Reception

Robert Frost, the winner of the Pulitzer prize for three years, will lecture on the campus May 20. Mr. Frost will be sponsored by Beor Eh Thorn, English society.

Mr. Frost was awarded the Pulitzer prize for poetry in 1924, 1930 and 1937. "Death of the Hired Man" and "Mending Walls" are two of his well known poems. After a few months at Dartmouth he married and spent two years at Harvard. Then he took up teaching, shoe making, journalism, and farming. In 1912 he sold his New Hampshire home and settled in England, where he received recognition as a poet after publishing "A Boy's Will." After returning to America in 1915, he has divided his time between farming and poetry.

Admission for the lecture is fifty cents and tickets are now on sale from members of Beorc Eh Thorn and will be reserved.

Richard Halliburton and John Erskine were brought to the campus in past years by Beorc Eh Thorn.

Miss Nancy Byrd Turner was the guest speaker at the installation of the society on the campus.

Mr. Frost was originally scheduled to speak here January 11, but because of illness was unable to travel before this date.

Mary Jane Jolliffe is president of the society which endeavors to bring some outstanding speaker to the campus every year.

The address will be followed by a reception for out-of-town guests, visitors, and Beorc Eh Thorn members. Mr. Frost, who is coming from the Agnes Scott College campus, will leave immediately after the reception for New York.

Dr. Walmsley Gives Convention Speech

Pi Gamma Mu Has Washington Meet

Dr. James Elliott Walmsley, of the history department, attended the meeting of national and regional officers of Pi Gamma Mu, honor fraternity in the Social Sciences, in Washington Sunday, May 12.

Before the night session, Dr. Walmsley gave a talk issuing a challenge to the new members.

The theme of the meeting was our Latin American neighbors, and all the talks Sunday night were given first in English and then in Spanish to be broadcast to the South American countries. The entire program was repeated over CBS Monday night since the Sunday program couldn't get through to some of the foreign stations.

Silence Reigns Not— Construction of New Dorm Presents Aural Problem

Just in case you've been wondering what wakes you up every morning at six o'clock, it's likely six times out of seven, to be a steam shovel and six trucks. Fantastic? Maybe so—to you Freshies and Sophs, but boys, not to us living in Cunningham. What was once "all quiet on the western front" over night became a-well-a sensation. "With a screech, screech here and a scrape, scape there" we are aroused every morning "made enough to pull the trigger." But the trucks rumble on.

It all started like this. One morning we woke up to find a giant silver slot-machine-looking contraption (which turned out to be a cement mixer) under our window. And- I'm mortified to tell this—sitting in the tree outside our window was a man. Just imagine what my Grandmother would saw. Yep, he was a real G. Washington in the way he proceeded to whack it down. "Timber!" was the password, me pal. The next foreign element to enter the scene was a huge green steam shovel, which gives off those rarely heard grandfatherly snores—it's really a treat.

Here's a warning to all night wanderers! Watch for the hole (trench, we calls it) behind Senior dorm. You might go over the

Continued on Page 3

YW Represented At Roanoke Meet

Rosebro, Hawkins, Harvey Delegates

Frances Rosebro, Betty Hawkins, and Carolyn Harvey represented the Farmville Y. W. C. A. at the annual convention of the Virginia Council of Religious Education which was held in Roanoke, May 8-12.

The theme of the convention, which is held to promote cooperative Christianity and church activity in Virginia, was "Church and the Present World." It sponsors week-day religious education and one of the aims is to put religious education in the schools.

Outstanding speakers were John R. Samply, who spoke on "The Bible—the Central Textbook in the Sunday School", Minor C. Miller who used "Cooperative Christianity in Virginia" as his topic, and George A. Buttrick of New York who discussed "Grounds for Present Hope." The special Youth Conference at Amsterdam was discussed by Ivan Gould.

Freshman Advisers To Be Appointed By Dr. Jarman

Dr. J. L. Jarman, president, will appoint ten faculty advisers for the incoming freshman class next year. This was announced at the final meeting of the old and new members of Student Standards Committee, Thursday, May 7.

The committee is working to put a telephone at Student-Annex apex but it has not been completed yet. They are also following up the suggestion from members of the Student Body that Student Standards organize a schedule for extra curricula activities and leave one night in the week free from all meetings.

The suggestion that locks be put on senior building doors was discussed and decided against because it would cost $500 more, and if cheap locks were used it would ruin the doors.

A faculty member advised that announcements be read in chapel before devotionals because students would settle down to hear the announcements and an atmosphere of reverence would prevail for devotionals. Checking seats first would also penalize those late.

Student Standards Committee decided that allowing everyone to

Continued on Page 3

Alpha Phi Sigma Bids New Members

Alpha Phi Sigma, the only honorary fraternity for scholarship to which freshmen and sophomores are eligible, bid 29 students Monday, May 13.

Girls receiving bids were Rachel Abernathy, Anne Ayers, Virginia Barksdale, Vera Baron, Peggy Bellis, Corilda Chaplin, Imogen Claytor, Esther Coleman, Emma Louise Crowgey, Mary Katherine Dodson, Betty Lee Downing, Mary Anne Hyden, Caroline Ferguson Martha Hammock, Jeanne Haymes and Betsy Jennings.

Others bid were Mildred Lawhorne, Jane McGinnis, Emma Noblin, Mary Virginia Parker, Esther Partridge, Agnes Patterson, Charlotte Phillips, Amy Read, Margy Rice, Gerry Smith, Lois Jane Steidtman, Anne Ware and Betty Faith White.

Choirs Present Chapel Program

Junior and Senior A Cappella choirs presented a program in chapel Friday, May 10, under the direction of Elsye Berrye Yates and Portestine Whitaker.

Junior choir opened the program by singing "Ave Maria Stella", followed by both choirs singing "Jehovah I Would Sing Thy Praises" and "Puerl". Senior group presented "The Old Woman and the Pedlar" and the concluding number "Ave Maria" by Schubert was given by the Junior choir with Virginia Richardson soloist.

Elsye Berrye directed the Senior A Cappella and Portestine the Junior A Cappella.

SENIOR PERSONALITIES

ISABEL WILLIAMSON

Outgoing editor of the Virginian

That walk you would know anywhere—as if she carried the world on her shoulders. Izzy, the symbol of the spirit of S. T.C. High and fine, her sound advice has helped many over the rough roads to success. He: road has been rough too, and she's had to take many detours, but she still comes out on a smooth highway with happy motoring.

Her interest and enthusiasm have caused her to contribute to nearly every activity on campus. Her side-splitting wit is surpassed only by her dependability.

Business - like through and through, her ability to make people want to work for her without raelizing the size of the task is wondrous to behold.

All work and no play makes Johnny a dull boy, but a happy medium between the two makes "Iz" the bulwark of our college career.

BRICKBATS and BOUQUETS

Since yours truly last spoke through the voice of the press, many, many things have been going on in this institution of ours. On last Friday night at the evil hour of 11:30 a low whistle was heard sounding hrough the halls of Senior Building. Chi was on the march. Watched by many eyes, and cheered on by vague figures hanging out of the windows of Junior Building, Chi held its annual bonfire. This correspondent hopes that Misses Sink, Horseley and Mayo take especial heed to the warning given them.

Things we never knew until now . . . how much credit Blair and Polley deserve for their work on the May Day costumes. In our opinion, they "made" May Day . . . that Cottie Rad. has been flashing off and on a gorgeous PiKA pin. The flashing seems to depend on her mood, and the mood, perhaps, on Snow . . . What a good sport Betty Barnes is. How that goat can polish shoes! . . . That the Chi bonfire was almost lighted an hour earlier than planned by other than the members. What a laugh that would have been! . . . What a big bunch or orchids should be tossed at Liza Ollie Graham and Moss for injecting a spirit of good, clean fun into the Goat rules. They evidently have the right idea—more laughs and less misery. . . .

We demand that the Virginian staff of '40 be given all credit possible for the best annual ever. In publishing an entirely new and different book, the staff showed splendid cooperation, ingenuity and hard work under excellent leadership. Bouquets especially to the literary editors! Next years staff has something to live up to.

Cotillion promises to be everything we've hoped for—a perfect week-end but woe unto the new girls who have dates.

Because everybody is just beginning to wonder whether their flowers, if any, for Cotillion will match their new dream dresses, the following little bit of verse caught our wandering eye in an exchange paper from down Florida way:

Roses are red;
Violets are blue;
I prefer orchids—
How about you?

We hear that our fresh-air fiends merely had their appetite whetted the other night. Seems that some had even taken mattresses out. You've the right spirit girls, take it from one who knows. Better luck next time.

Hope Patsy and Anna won't mind but we couldn't resist:
"This is a Lazy watching you,
Were you a Lazy this month?"

College Graduate (standing on street corner): Madam, could you give a poor cripple enough for a cup of coffee?"

Kind Old Lady: My poor lad, how are you crippled?

College Graduate: Financially.

Gleanings

By JACK COCK

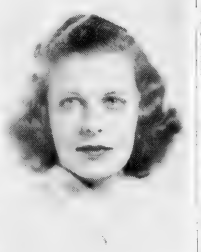
Out of the chaos of the European war, there arose in London a new leader for disheartened Britain. Making his last speech from Number 10, Downing Street, his voice breaking with emotion, Neville Chamberlain, Prime Minister of England, relinquished his duties to the people's favorite, Winston Churchill, first lord of the Admiralty.

With characteristic speed Churchill had by Saturday night replaced Chamberlain's old 8 - man board of strategy, and formed a new British government including all parties. A 5-man cabinet composed of Chamberlain, Lord Halifax, foreign secretary under Chamberlain, and the Labor Party leaders, Clement R. Attlee and Arthur Greenwood. Left out completely was David Lloyd George, ex-premier of World War.

Will Churchill manage somehow to succeed where Chamberlain has failed? Was it merely "bungling" that led to surrender in Norway? Could is be that Germany is destined to win?

Meanwhile across the English Channel in the low countries, Adolf Hitler staged his third blitzkrieg with the invasion of The Netherlands, Belgium, and Luxembourg. Allied troops rushed to the defense of the surprised lowlands, but the Nazi army already claimed a firm foothold in this newest strategic point of the war.

Already they have captured Eben Enail, the strongest fortress in the Belgium Leige defense, in which the fort commander and one thousand men surrendered.



A shroud of mystery envelops this latest development, as the Germans put into use a new weapon of war. A weapon which kept the fort out of commission following a Nazi air attack until Nazi troops arrived from the North and demanded a surrender; a weapon about which authorities refuse to give further details other than that it is new. Some speculators believe this to be the weapon which Hitler mentioned in a speech at Danzig last year, while others hint that it might have been the magnetic mine.

Thus, after a brief twenty years Allied and German forces are again fighting on the soil of Flanders. So bold has been this most recent step on the part of Germany, that young America raises its hands in horror at the situation. And yet, was it not inevitable? And, when you stop to think that what's going on in Europe today is what has been going on in Europe all through the centuries, does it seem so shocking after all? Would the world be so much worse off if Germany were the dominant power in Europe? Wouldn't we go on getting up at the same time and going to bed at the same time?

It has been said that war is the normal situation in Europe with occasional peace, while in America peace is the normal situation with occasional wars. Perhaps that is why we in America can't seem to realize that it's not such an abnormal situation. It's just another of Europe's wars, just as it was Europe's war in 1914, and the sooner we learn to stay out of Europe's wars the more we have to gain, the less to lose.

The royal flush is said to be reflected in a few faces down Stanford way. During exams recently, a bunch of the boys in the dorm were having a little poker session when they heard a knock. "Who the devil is it?" one of the boys yelled. The knock was repeated, "Well, come in." They came in—the president of Stanford and the prexy of Rochester University. Dr. Wilbur (Stanford) had wanted to show his colleague what a typical Stanford dormitory looks like.

SENIOR PERSONALITY

JANE POWELL

Senior Class President

Nature had a rare desire when she cast the mold labeled 'J. B. P.", for into it she poured a slimness of form which stands erect and proudly walks where honesty and right predominate; a head full with an abundance of sincerity and a clear thinking mind; and a heart overflowing with a will to do things justly.

A fortunate girl was Jane to have been the recipient of this mold, but luckier yet was nature to have had her desire live and develop into such a gratifying success.

"The Madam", with her level gazing eyes, seems to miss nothing. Her interest in others, her friendly "hi" and crazy cutups have endeared her to all. Serious —yes; but possessed of a fine sense of humor, too. A "glamour" girl? Well you'll have to ask her?

Republicans vs. Democrats

The radio said the other day that Republicans are quite successful in founding young Republican clubs in middle-western colleges. The Democrats are combatting the drive with a similiar program, with about equal success.

Leaders of both parties, rejoicing over the results, claim that at last students are beginning to take their politics realistically, and show an active interest in them.

While participation in campaigning which will result in a heavier college age vote is a fine thing, it is a pity that it has to be stimulated in exactly this manner.

For the indication is that the fellows whose fathers are Republicans will seidom join the young Democrat clubs, and vice versa.

And the inevitable results is that college-trained men will end up as hidebound, blind partisans, who shout and argue for their respective organizations for no other reason than they have made a half-cocked decision back when they were students, and haven't the energy or the mental guts to change their minds.

Universities should turn out fellows who will size up the candidates, wipe off the mud that has been slung, see what the electioneers and their associates stand for, and make their choice more or less logically.

For it is accepted that after the party wheelhorses have cancelled each other off the boys who swing elections are the fence straddlers and party jumpers. And it is necessary to the well-being of the nation that they be swayed by real issues rather than cash in the pocket or silly campaign promises.—Washington and Lee Ring-tum Phi.

Why Don't We:

—either show a little more reverence in Chapel or turn it into a comic recreational show? In other words why set aside those few minutes for the better things then go in acting like so many "magpies" and "giggle boxes."

—have more "formals"? At least we'd get a chance to wear those dust gathering frocks. Too it would be a good excuse to get our hair done up; To say nothing of its effects on others, I guarantee it'll boost up your spirits.

—Give some of these quite little girls a chance to show what they can really do? Bet more people than one would be surprised at the hidden talent.

Put up signs, placards, and such to let out-of-towners find, recognize, and learn about our college?

—Say 'good night" at a decent hour and get rid of these deep, dark circles? "King Bridge" may be fascinating, but a "Date With a Dream" can be better.

Etiquette in Library

Several times in the past year since the opening of the new library, this paper has carried suggestions on library etiquette. It is to be feared and admitted, however; that the nature of these editorials has been miscontrued, or at least not well heeded.

The worse violation of public etiquette is the making of undue noises. The student who seeks the library is there for work in the sort of atmosphere a library should naturally offer. Streams of persons pouring noisily and shufflingly into the room, laughingly whispering until they have at last settled down to their own tasks, gathering about them several books at a time can create a disturbance of atmosphere which would be annoying to even the most studious and unassuming of us.

Our library offers ample situations for all sort of quiet work. The stacks are available for secluded work or reading of back periodicals. The reference and reserve rooms are for use and study. The browsing room offers comfort and light pleasure room.

However, etiquette plays or should play it's part in our library as in any. We like to think that there is a time and a place for everything. The library should have an atmosphere of almost reverence for conduciveness to quietness and concentration. How will we create and continue ours?

Does This Mean S. T. C.?

From the magazine called "The Women" I found some very interesting data on the fair sex. In case you are interested, here tis:

The Average Woman
(Some Half-Wit Has Found)

Lives 75 years
Marries at 26
Quarrels with her husband twice during first year of marriage
Is 5 ft. 3 in. tall
Weighs 130 lb.
Goes to the movies 2,700 times
Sleeps 26 years
Spends 8 years at housework
Cleans her teeth 28,000 times
Eats 3 tons of candy costing about $2,500
Grows 38 yards of hair
Spends 6 days hunting for her glasses
Talks for 8 years.
Spends 21 days rolling up her hair
Spends 32 days fixing her nails
Spends? days cleaning saddle shoes
Writes 200 letters a year.

Figures Prove That There Will be No Classes Next Year

To hear that there would be no classes next year would really be news, yes? In fact, it would be sensational—!

Nevertheless, figures prove that we won't have to go to classes next year. In case you're dubious, your correspondent presents the tabulated results of one eager class goer—so figure it out for yourself.

Every year has	365 days
If you sleep 8 hrs. each night	122 days
This leaves	243 days
If you play 4 hrs. a day (recreation)	122 days
This leaves	121 days
There are 52 Sundays	52 days
This leaves	69 days
If we get 1-2 day on Saturdays	26 days
This leaves	43 days
If you have 1 1-2 hrs. for meals	28 days
This leaves	15 days
Holidays	14 days
This leaves	1 day

And on Founders Day nobody has to go to classes.

THE ROTUNDA

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934.

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Mary K. Beck ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Alice Leigh Barham, Anne Barnette, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Bridget Gentile, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Dorothy Sprinkle.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mildred Taylor, Daphne Williamson, Ellen Hudgins, Dearing Fauntleroy, Dorothy Childress, Anne Moore.

Typists

Thelma Courtney, Frances Pritchett, Norma Wood, Doris Alvis and Lillian Agnew.

Virginia Worley ..... Photographer

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

SUBSCRIPTION RATE
For the Collegiate Year
$1.50 Per Year

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO · BOSTON · LOS ANGELES · SAN FRANCISCO

Choirs To Sing In Tidewater

To Visit Suffolk, Smithfield, Norfolk

College Choir will leave school Saturday, May 18, at 11:30 o'clock for Suffolk, Virginia, where they will present a musical program before proceeding to their other engagements in Smithfield and Norfolk.

Saturday night the choir will present a program of light numbers at the Suffolk High School. Members of the Suffolk High School Glee Club are finding private homes in which the visiting girls will stay.

A program of sacred music will be given at the Trinity Methodist Church in Smithfield, Sunday morning. After this presentation, the group will go to Bay Cliff, a private home lent by its owner for the occasion, where they will dine and rest before going on to Norfolk.

In Norfolk the choir will give another program of sacred music in the Epworth Methodist Church. The choir will return to Farmville Sunday night.

Miss Virgilia Bugg, college registrar, will accompany the choir as chaperone.

Platter Chatter

By JEANNE SEARS

On the "Victor-Bluebird Bandwagon" for this week the top honors go to Glenn Miller, not only for being selected the favorite band of the collegiate world, but for his extra specia recording of Cab Calloway's top jazz number "Boog-It". It's really wonderful. Marion Hutton carries the vocal supported by the orchestra in a couple of tricky "clap hand" sessions. Its a sure hit and the reverse with Ray Eberly singing "Shake Down the Stars" is another killer. Particularly is the introduction to this exceptional—his soft trombone carries the lead. Leave it up to G. Miller to be "on the ball."

Tommy Dorsey was voted the third best in the college poll. If you haven't heard his "Charming Little Faker" you just wait till you do. It begins with his sweet swing trombone and then his super deluxe trumpets. I've always been sorta partial to his trio and they sing this. It's just the smoothest one. Frank Sinatra sings "Imagination" on the reverse, and he has that certain something that always makes a song sound the best ever. Sorta whispers 'em and it's—well hear it yourself. The entire recording carries a soft clarinet trill that is just right.

Larry Clinton has been steadily climbing up the ladder of fame again. For awhile there he was sorta slipping but he has made up for it by releasing some splendid records recently. His latest study is most unusual. The name "Study in Modernism" and it's definitely different. The electric guitar adds a little "ping" every now and then that seems to be just what it needs. The trumpets are exception too—truth is, it's the best dance music for a long time. Listen to "Missouri Scrambles" on the back, too. The "tricky tick" drummer is swell—his breaks are few but outstanding—Add this Clinton recording to your must hear list. It's bound to sky rocket to the top. So different 'n stuff.

Remember Bea Wain that used to sing with Larry Clinton? She's just released an intriguing ditty for Victor, "It's Somebody Else". Sorta makes you wanna cry. So-o sad. Theres something about her voice that's so appealing and that something is shown off on this recording. The reverse is "It's a Lovely Day Tomorrow" is in a slightly light vein. The words are catchy and quite swingy. Her record chorus deserves recognition too.

Mitchell Ayers has a new one for you fans for his fashions in music. This time Mary Ann Mercer sings "Make Believe Island" and nicely too. Its a waltz with the trumpets carrying the lead 'sweet and slow'. "Poor Ballerina" is another of his waltz hits, but this time the "saxs" lead. Tommy Taylor sings this in his own inimitable style.

All you sunburn beach fans will be eager to know Hal Kemp has been signed to open the "Cavalier Beach Club" at good 'ole Virginia Beach.

Choral Club Head

ELSYE BERRYE YATES

Faculty Members Talk to Students

Miss Grace Moran attended a tea in Norfolk for the alumnae and high school graduates on Friday afternoon, May 10, 1940.

Mrs. M. B. Coyner attended a banquet in Emporia for the graduating class. She was the principal speaker of the occasion.

Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Grace Moran, Miss Pauline Camper, and Mrs. M. B. Coyner are attending a tea for the high school senior girls at the Richmond Country Club tonight, Wednesday, May 15.

United States Office Of Education Reviews Elementary Education

The importance of the elementary schools in the Nation today is clearly indicated in a report on Elementary Education just issued by the U. S. Office of Education, as a part of that agency's Biennial Survey of Education in the United States.

The elementary school, it is stated in the report, furnished the basic education for practically all children and "the quality of its services should be commensurate with its responsibilities." Sixty per cent of all American teachers are in public elementary schools, which is "one of the largest professional employee groups with common interests and common purposes."

Biggest Educational Program

"Elementary education represents our biggest educational program," it is statew. Twenty-two and three-fourths millions of children aged from 5 to 14 years, make up this group, Most of them are in the public schoolsIt according to the report. Of every 100 students, 75 are in the elementary school, 21 in the high school, and 4 in college. In other words, the sheer size of the problem of elementary education is a characteristic which cannot be over-emphasized.

The school program for all of these millions of school children is greatly influenced by the wide differences in the home backgrounds of the children. For instance, of every 100 children attending elementary schools, 52 live in the country or in villages; 17 in towns or from 2,500 to 10,000 population; 7 in cities or from 10,000 to 30,000; 5 in cities of from 30,000 to 100,000; and 19 in cities of 100,000 and more. Thus it is shown that approximately 70 per cent of the Nation's elementary school children live in the country or in small towns.

Many Questions Answered

The report furnishes the basis for an information quiz on elementary education, since it is organized on the basis of questions and answers. How is the declining birth rate affecting enrollments in the elementary schools? How are elementary school enrollments divided between public and private schools? How much is spent per elementary child for education? How many children of elementary school age are out of school and employed? How many elementary school children complete eighth grade? In how many States is medical inspection required in the schools by State law? These and many other questions of interest to teachers and laymen are answered by statistics and illustrations in the complete report, which is available (10 cents per copy) as Chapter I of Voulme I of the Biennial Survey of Education in the United States, from the Superintendent of Documents, United States Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

The report was prepared by the Assistant U. S. Commissioner of Education, Bess Goodykoontz, who states: "It is hoped that the material thus presented will be of assistance to he many persons who are interested in the elementary schools—in the children they serve, in the teachers, in the kinds of changes taking place in the school program."

Goat Week Brings Fourth Literary Attempt from Observer

(A playlet in one act)
Setting—S. T. C. campus
Time—Tuesday afternoon 5:45
Characters—Two visitors

First visitor—"What kind of an institution is this anyway?"

Second visitor (amazed) "Why! Its a college of course!"

First visitor (still doubtful) "Are you certain?"

Second visitor (quite perturbed) "My good woman, I am positive!"

First visitor: "Humph! Looks more like an institution for the mentally unbalanced."

Second visitor (now thoroughly put out. Her daughter is an inmate of the same) "And what evidence do you have for such an assertion, pray?"

First visitor: "Ample evidence, my good woman (sarcastically), ample evidence!"

Second visitor (bewildered) "I'm afraid I don't understand."

First visitor (belligerently) "Well,you will when I finish! I first noticed it right after lunch today. I was walking down town, and as I approached the last building on the right of way I saw a girl sitting there fishing out of a glass of water."

Second visitor: "Fishing?"

First visitor (emphatically) "Fishing! And dressed most outrageously to be a college student. Well, naturally I thought she was —well you know—so I said to her very sweetly, 'My dear little girl, what are you fishing for?' Just as sweet as any mother could ask. And why! she was as saucy as a young jaybird. She tossed her head and snapped back at me, 'Compliments'."

Second visitor (gasping weakly) "Amazing, amazing."

First visitor (seeing that she was making an impression) "But that's not all. I was up on the hall in the Senior dormitory this afternoon and there in front of all the doors sat a pair of shoes just like early morning in a hotel, and at one end of thehall, beginning on the first pair, was one of those peculiarly attired young ladies polishing away. Positively morbid!"

Second visitor (now rather white around the gills) "Yes, go on."

First visitor: "Well, next I went into one of the rooms in the Junior building. You see I'm a hair ribbon survey agent, and while I was investigating hair ribbons I heard the most earsplitting noise outside the window. Needless to say, consumed with curiosity, I looked to see who was being murdered. And there in the trenches of that new building they're building were four more of those ridiculous mortals playing soldiers. Having a real war mind you, Ba-a-a-a-ing at one another with machine guns. And up at one of the windows were the commandant yelling at one below to play "Big Bertha", another to play Hitler, and another to operate "Big Bertha". Why! I almost swallowed my chewing gum!

But to stop it all they all had the same name."

Second visitor (her face thoroughly ashen) "The same name?"

First visitor: "The same name!"

Second visitor: "But what was it?"

First visitor: "Goat!"

Silence Reigns

Continued from Page 1

top—or if you start at the finish, you might come to deadend.

All in all, though, what do we care about all the noise since we're going to get a new building?

New Virginians Feature Six Girls

Personalities on campus were formally announced in the 1940 Virginian, Saturday, May 11.

These six girls were selected by the students for their outstanding personalities. Each of these girls has contributed some service or spirit which has made successful the past four years.

Marie Eason, outgoing president of the Student Body, Martha Meade Hardaway, outgoing vice-president of the Student Body, Jane Powell, president of the Senior Class, Isabel Williamson, editor of the 1940 Virginian, Marjorie Nimmo, outgoing president of the House Council and Johnny Lybrook outgoing editor of the Colonnade were the girls pictured in the personality section.

Staff Dedicates Annual to Mr. Mac Saturday in Chapel

"This is your story—for it is you who have made this annual possible," said Isabel Williamson, after dedicating the 1940 Virginian to the one and only main character "Mr. Mac" on that memorable Saturday morning in chapel. After standing, eagerly anticipating the prize ahead, in a line that knew no end, at last we held close, our own Virginian—green box and all! Oh, that luscious cream cover—and the lovely lining. But look, see there's a new arrangement . . . don't the seniors look swell! Oh, I love this snap of Peg . . . but how in the world did they ever get this of Butch? Wait, I can't see. Let's go sit down and take our time with it—please! I want to revel in it—good.

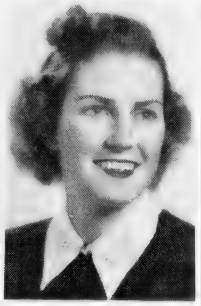
Ah! the beginning! Oh, I love this color . . . and Dr. Jarman's picture, and the faculty and Miss Mary, and everybody! Don't they look grand? And the freshmen . . . Whew, what a lot! Sophs too . . . good pictures, huh?

Good night what's that onrush coming? Fire? Flood? Blackout? Oh, somebody let his class out to come and get annuals. Move your feet . . . that is if you can. No, those are mine!

Gee, will you look at these snaps? No, that's not Anne . . . it's Suzy. I don't care if it does look like her. Well, I can't help it. Well, all right! Ooooh! The senio:s. They look so wonderful. Whew! I bet any of them could get a job on those pictures . . . Hey wait, there goes Izzie and Mr. Mac . . . "Wait, You alll! I want your autographs." I can't forget a thing . . . with story like this to keep for always, 1940 has come alive. I'm so glad I have mine!

Freshman Advisers

Continued from Page 1



go down town Saturday night from 10:00 to 10:30 placed too much responsibility upon Government girls and members of the Home department.

DUKE UNIVERSITY School of Nursing

DURHAM, N. C.

The Diploma of Graduate Nurse is awarded after three years, and the Degree of Bachelor of Science in Nursing for two additional years of approved college work before or after the course in Nursing. The entrance requirements are intelligence, character and graduation from an accredited high school. After 1940 two years of college work will be required. The annual tuition of $100 covers the cost of uniforms, books, student government fees, etc. Catalogues, application forms and information about college requirements may be obtained from the Admission Committee.

Fire Chief

Anna George, a junior, from Portsmouth, Virginia has been appointed fire-chief for the coming year. She succeeds Virginia Polley.

Duties of the fire-chief include sounding the siren every Wednesday at noon, managing fire drills throughout the year and appointing fire marshalls on each hall.

Anna is chief typist for Colonnade Staff, head of lighting group of Dramatic Club, and a member of Cotillion Club.

Riding Academy Puts On Horse Show

Starting at two o'clock Friday afternoon, Miss Stella Fox, riding instructor for Hampden-Sydney boys and S. T. C. girls, will present a combination horse show and riding contest in the riding ring adjacent to the Tate residence at the end of Via Sacra. Petite Miss Fox promises 15 well filled classes with a total of over 60 contestants to provide entertainment for all those who wish to attend.

Miss Fox's first plans had only provided for a few horsemanship classes for her pupils but enthusiasm rose to such a point that she saw the possibilities of classes for local horses and has consequently carded several classes in which her six horses and entrants from the stables of Farmville owners Padgett, Baldwin, Hanbury, Scott, Zimmerman and others will take part. With her own horses, Miss Fox expects about twenty entrants in the classes to be judged on performance, conformation, and horsemanship.

Special Beginners Classes

The majority of the afternoon's classes will be composed of horsemanship events for beginners. There will also be classes for advanced riders and for local men and women.

Three judges have been secured, two of whom are Miss Burger and Mr. Ellett of Farmville. The other judge is from Chase City.

There will be three ribbons and one prize awarded in each class. Dr. Gammon, the mayor of Farmville, and others will present these awards. The prizes offered are gifts from various Farmville business men.

Miss Fox announced last evening that anyone wishing to enter and not having done so may still enter by seeing her before noon Tuesday.

Church Groups Elect Officers

Baptists, Methodists Name New Leaders

Newly installed officers of the Baptist Student Union, who will serve for the year 1940-1941 are p:esident, Frances Hudgins; first vice-president, Hattie Moore; second vice-president, Ellen Hudgins; third vice-president and music director, Grey Walden; secretary, Jean Martin; treasurer, Eleanor Boothe; reporter, Carolyn Rouse; Ridgecrest representative, Edith Wood; Sunday School representative, Arlene Hunt; B. Y. P. U. representative, Texie Belle Felts.

Parker Heads Methodist

New officers of the Wesley Foundation are president, Elizabeth Ann Parker; vice-president, Evelyn Quillen; secretary, Marjorie Holt; treasurer, Faye Brandon; chairman of worship, Charlotte Gresham; publicity chairmen, Lillian German and Sue Marshall; social chairmen, Allene Overbey and Mary Katherine Dodson; chairmen of missions, Rachel DeBerry; and chairman of church attendance, Rachel Kibler.

Officers of the college Sunday School class are: Rachel Kibler, president; Charlotte Gresham, vice-president; Sue Marshall, secretary; and Sara Seward, treasurer.

Group of Methodist young people comprised of the members of the Farmville Wesley Foundation went to Charlottesville Sunday, May 12, to conduct the evening program of the Wesley Foundation there. Two Sundays ago, a group of U. Va. boys came to Farmville for this same purpose.

Sage-ites Decree Ideal Prom Dates Conduct

Swains who date the girls at Russell Sage College, Troy, New York, at prom-time should remark at least once in the evening on the beauty of their feminine partners.

And that's not all, for the Sage-ites have decreed the ideal prom man shall:

Be tall and handsome; go down the receiving line with ease and refrain from such remarks as "Pleased to meetcha", or "Gee, it's swell out, isn't it?"; dance divinely; refrain from smoking on the dance floor; drink punch "as is"—no spiking? send his date an orchid for the prom and tea roses for the post-prom dance, unless otherwise directed.

He shall not dash off to exchange a dance with an eager look of newly-acquired freedom; he shall suggest they leave in ample time to reach a restaurant before curfew rings; refrain from commenting that his tux or tails were borrowed or rented; limit his conversation to comprehensible topics; attempt no experimental psychology on his prom-mate; not lose the hat and coat checks; leave his fraternity pin in possession of his hostess for at least one week; make a date for at least one week; make a date for the following weekend.

Brighten up your Cotillion Gown with ACCESSORIES IN GOOD TASTE
Evening Bags—Sandals—Costume Jewelry—New Blouses—Also
The latest in evening dresses
DOROTHY MAY STORE
First to Show the Newest

Everything to make you
LOOK YOUR BEST AT COTILLION
Evening Dresses—Evening Shoes—Sheer Hose
Evening Slips—Accessories
THE HUB DEPT. STORE
APPRECIATES YOUR PATRONAGE

Dean Hudson's Band Will Play For Spring Cotillion

Pettis Assisted By Officers of Club To Lead Figure

Dean Hudson and his Florida Clubmen will play for the tea dance in the college gymnasium Saturday afternoon, May 18, from 4-6 o'clock, and Saturday night from 8-12 o'clock at which time the Cotillion Club will have the annual dance.

The Hudson band features a glee club, quartet, trio, solo vocalizing and comedy stunts with floor show. The vocalists are Frances Cowell, drummer, Sam Latiner, Torchy Clements, Senator Howard, and Western Cowboy Harold Willis. The Miami Trio, a rumba section and the Dixieland Gang led by 19 year old Ray Linn, a young man with a horn, are also part of the group.

The band is also a musical organization with a glee club concert style, suggestive of Fred Waring.

Some of the schools where he has played include Dartmouth, Washington and Lee, University of Virginia, William and Mary, Randolph-Macon College at Ashland, Amherst, Duke, Ohio University, Harvard, Perdue, University of North Carolina, Sweet Briar, Hollins, Citadel, and University of Richmond.

The figure will be composed of all old members and their dates and will be led by Virginia Lee Pettis with the officers of the club assisting. There will be a thirty minute intermission after the figure. Refreshments will be served in Student Lounge. Miss Frances Houck and Mrs. Lois Davis will preside at the punch bowls.

Dr. J. L. Jarman, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McCorkle, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Coyner and officers of the club will be in the receiving line.

Chaperones will include Mrs. H. K. Laing, Mrs. Eva Warren, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Graham, Dr. and Mrs. George W. Jeffers, Dr. and Mrs. Gammon, Dr. and Mrs. David C. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Tulane Atkinson and Misses Pauline Camper and Jane Royall.

Gamma Psi is in charge of decorations. An Hawaiian theme will be carried out.

Dean Hudson and his orchestra who will play at Spring Cotillion Saturday

Soph Commission Installation Held

Installation of the incoming Sophomore Commission was held last Thursday night, May 9 at a candlelight service at prayers.

The Sophomore Commission was organized last year on this campus. At the service the charter members of the commission lit the candles of the new commission. Jeanne Hall will succeed Frances Rosebro as head. May Bartlett and Amy Read are replacing Sara Cline and Jane Engleby as treasurer and secretary respectively. Frances Rosebro will act as counselor next year taking Caralie Nelson's place.

Red Book Editors Hold Story Contest

Red Book editors are sponsoring a short story contest for undergraduate students of American Colleges.

The story, to be eligible, must have appeared in an undergraduate college publication in 1939-1940.

A first prize of $500 will be awarded to the writer of the winning story and $250 will be presented to the college magazine wherein the story appeared.

The Colonnade, local publication, is considering entries for the contest which will close July 1940.

New Officers Installed

New officers of the Phi Zeta Sigma were installed Tuesday night, May 7, in the chapter room.

Those officers installed were Sue Marshall, president; Martha Cobb, vice-president; Nahrea Coleman, secretary; Julia Hutcheson, corresponding secretary; Marjorie Holt, Pan Hellenic representative, and Martha Cobb, alternate.

Final Examinations Are Collegiate Nightmare Survey Reveals

By Student Opinion Surveys

AUSTIN, Texas—With the approach of summer, one of America's college nightmares, final examinations, again makes its appearance. For the first time in a national scientific survey representing all U. S. colege and university students, opinions are expressed on finals and the grading system. They say:

NO—Final examinations are not a fair test of a student's knowledge in a course.

YES—We'd rather be graded by the usual ABC system than be just either passed or failed.

Long a matter of controversy in both undergraduate bull sessions and faculty meetings, the final examination as a gauge of learning get a low rating from those who have to take it.

They reverse themselves, however, by almost identical percentages on the matter of grading these examinations or courses as a whole. Some schools have adopted the method of merely approving or disapproving of a student's work. Most collegians, 62 per cent, do not like this system, prefer the old one of a graduated scale with A as top mark.

These are the results of the sampling, based on a carefully-elected cross-section of the nation:

Do you think final examinations are a fair test of a student's knowledge in a course?

Yes	34 per cent
No	53 per cent
Don't Know	3 per cent

Would you rather be graded in your courses by the ABC system or just be either passed or failed?

	All students	Men	Women
ABC system	62	60	63
Passed or failed	36	37	33
Don't know	2	3	2

Kappa Delta Pi

Continued from Page 1

tary and Elizabeth West, Portsmouth, treasurer.

Committee chairmen for the reception as announced by the president at that time are Anna Maxey, refreshments; Martha McCorkle, arrangements, and Thelma Courtney and Beulah Ettinger, invitations.

In addition to the seventy-two freshmen and sophomore guests, others present will include members of the college faculty, high school and training school supervisors and members of the home department and administration

Science Academy

Continued from Page 1

ginia secondary schools.

Papers were presented by Dr. D. M. Allan and Dr. W. Joe Pierson, of Hampden-Sydney, and by representatives from University of Virginia, William and Mary, Harrisonburg State Teachers College, the University of Richmond, Hollins, Randolph-Macon, Radford State Teachers College, Washington and Lee University, and V. M. I. were included among those Virginia colleges sending delegates.

Dr. Yoe, University of Virginia, won the academy research prize for his work in the field of organic and analytical research.

The academy decided to hold its next meeting at the Medical College of Virginia

Six New Members Added to Annual Staff

May Wertz, editor of the 1941 "Virginian", annual publication, has added six members to her staff completing it for next year.

Elizabeth Townsend, sophomore, will be in charge of group pictures. Martha Roberts, a sophomore and Mary Willson, of the freshman class, have been added to the photography department.

Frances Keck, a junior and Ruth Palmer, a freshman, were selected to work on the literary staff.

Eight New Students Sign Honor Code

Eight girls signed the Honor Code last Tuesday night, April 23 in the Student Council room.

These girls are new students who entered school during the winter and spring quarters.

They are Estelle Victoria Broda, Hallie Hume Bulman, Margaret Anne Finney, Helen F. Harrington, Anne Elizabeth Stone, Ruby Wellington Trice, Grace Louise Wallace and Lois Angel Wilkins.

Orchesis Issues Bids To Three Girls

Louisa Sanford, Anne Bradshaw and Jeanne Sears received bids to Orchesis, the modern dance club, Tuesday, May 14.

These three girls have shown outstanding ability in dance work throughout the year. They participated in the annual dance recital sponsored by the club in February and also in the May Day exercises.

A. C. E.

Continued from Page 1

waukee, Wisconsin, April 29 through May 5.

Other officers elected to serve next year are Elizabeth Glasgow, vice-president; Frances Pritchett, secretary; Charlotte Stevens, chairman of the Ways and Means committee; and Boonie Stevenson, parliamentarian. A silver offering will be collected at the door.

Y. W. C. A. Sponsors Red Cross Drive

World Fellowship Committee of Y. W. C. A. is sponsoring a drive to raise funds at S. T. C. for the emergency drive put on by the Red Cross for aid in those European countries which have recently been invaded.

A box for contributions will be placed at the table in the hall on Wednesday, May 15, and will remain there until the following Wednesday. Everyone in the Student Body, Faculty and Home Department is urged to help in this drive.

Thursday, May 16, in chapel Mr. Hollingsworth, Presbyterian minister will talk about the drive and explain the importance of everyone's contributing.

Gerlaugh Heads Future Teachers

Parsons, Ramsey, Cox, Parsons Heads

Margaretta Gerlaugh, a junior from Martinsville, was elected president of the J. L. Jarman Chapter of Future Teachers of America, Tuesday night, May 14.

Mary Louise Cox was chosen vice-president with Esther Partridge, secretary. Ruby Mae Parsons will serve as treasurer and Eugenia Ramsey as librarian.

Farmville chapter was organized last fall and was named in honor of Dr. Jarman, college president. Dr. J. E. Morgan addressed the group at its organization.

Margaretta has served as chairman of the Library Committee, of the Y. W. C. A. this year and is a member of the college library staff.

Peace Is Desired By U. S Students

NEW YORK CITY—(ACP)—Campus polls conducted this week as an aftermath to the nation-wide student peace acion, reaffirmed youh's demand that America stay at peace.

At Columbia University, 88 per cent of 1,500 students voted opposition to war participation, 6.5 per cent favored entry, and 4.7 per cent were without opinion. Three per cent of Radcliffe college voted for America's participation in the war now and 97 per cent vetoed the suggestion.

An estimated 1,000,000 students in colleges and high schools demonstrated their opposition to American involvement in war in the peace action, called by the United Student Peace committee under the slogan, "The Yanks Are Coming."

Reports at the USPC office here indicate this year's mobilization, given impetus by the actuality of war and the spread of fighting to the Scandinavian front, was the greatest in numbers and effect in the history of the student peace movement.

Dr. Hancock Speaks To Social Science Students

Blandford Speaks to Welfare Group

Position of the Negro in the world picture today was the topic discussed by Dr. Hancock, a Negro graduate of Harvard University—when he addressed sociology classes at S. T. C. Monday, May 13.

Miss Florence Stubbs, of the Social Science department, introduced Dr. Hancock—gave first the anthropology of the Negro. In statistics the Negro is one-tenth of the population of the U. S., which is a minority group. A minority group always suffers.

Dr. Hancock continued by saying that his race had grown culturally but was still far behind civilization.

The Negro is down at present and can only rise through change in the white man. Questions were asked concerning the Negro's attitude toward the prevailing war conditions. Mr. Reynolds, who brought Dr. Hancock from the Union University in Richmond, also spoke.

Mr. Paul Blandford, superintendent of Virginia Industrial School at Beaumont, Va., was also on campus this week. He spoke to the child welfare class.

Home Ec Club Initiates Five

Five new members were initiated into the Home Ec Club Thursday night by formal initiation in the Y. W. C. A. lounge. The new members were Helen McGuire, Bernice Callis, Dorothy Bailey, Libby Carter and Alice Duncan.

After initiation, the new officers of the club were installed with the theme that they receive their light and inspiration from the retiring officers.

Miss Frances Houck talked to the club on the necessity of an educational program and aim for the coming year.

Acting Group Presents Play

"The Man in the Bowler Hat" was presented by the acting group of the Dramatic Club at a regular meeting Wednesday, May 8.

The cast included Margaret Mish as the herone; Anne Ellett, chief villian; Imogene Claytor, hero, and Virginia Sydnor, the bad man. Grace Hutcheson and Jacqueline Hardy were Mary and John, respectively. Gerry Ackiss enacted the man in the bowler hat.

This play was coached by Margaret Watkins, head of the acting group for next year.

Early College Days of D'gnified Seniors Recalled

Heavens, wish the meeting would start. I hate waiting around this Rotunda office. Hum—here are some old Rotundas—1936 issues. Why that's the year our Seniors were freshmen.

Here's an interesting article—Jane Powell, of Hampton, Virginia, was elected president of the Freshman Class at a meeting in the auditorium, Wednesday September 7. "I'm so shocked. I hope I won't disappoint you. We shall try to make ours the best Freshman class the school has ever had." Huh, as if the "Madam" could be disappointing.

This one's about the Frosh Sing stunt—Did you know Chlotilde Jarman could tap dance? No, me either. Right here ti says, "That feather-weight tap dancer Chlotilde Jarman—she was everywhere at once." In the same article I see that "Little Sara Keesee" moved the audience with "Sing Baby Sing". And she still can. Course now we'd rather it be "The Stars Fell Down."

From Sports Slants of December 16, 1936—"You should have seen the freshmen down in the gym. They were eager to play any position at any time. Those raring, ready New Yorkers (wonder who they could mean?) represented the Freshman Class with fighting spirits!" And they've still got that spirit!

Here's some more about our sporting Seniors when they were't such sophisticated upperclassmen but green rats instead.

"Chlotilde Jarman, Ruby Adams and Dotty Fischer are amongst those making the varsity basketball team." Miss Iler saw and recognized good players when she saw 'em even if they were Freshmen. But what's become of Marie Dix's basketball playing? She was also on this list of varsity players. Lose your energy Marie?

Helen Jeffries is added to the Rotunda staff according to the November 18 issue. That was a lucky break for the Rotunda.

"Gerry" Hatcher why didn't you tell us about attending home-

Continued on Page 6

Golf Gossip

By Carroll Brown
Professional, Longwood

We believe that the Spring Golf Association has done very well, indeed. All told most of the members have taken advantage of the little bit of good weather we have been allotted, and I hope that I am not wrong in saying that everyone who has come out has had a lot of fun.

One thing that has been very pleasing to me is the way that the girls that only started this Spring and Winter have been hitting the ball. And, of course, those that started last Fall and have continued straight through are doing very well.

However, every ointment has its flies and the association is no exception. Some of the members have gotten out of the habit of coming out. Some few have not been coming out at all. I sincerely regret this because I want every girl to take full advantage of the time she is paying for. So, lets get on the ball for the remainder of the quarter and close out with a strong finish.

We have made arrangements (not complete) for some golf matches in Lynchburg next week. When we have all the details you will get all the dope. I feel satisfied that we will be able to make a good showing.

In conclusion those of you who have not paid your accounts with me can make it a lot easier for the Old Pro by coming down and paying your accounts. I need this money and hope that I will not be permitted to leave Farmville when school is out with any unpaid balances on my books.

We Wonder Why

Hubby: My shaving brush is very stiff. I wonder what happened to it?

Wifey: I don't know. It was nice and soft when I painted the bird cage with it yesterday.

Botany Teacher—Where do we find mangoes?

Pupil—Where woman goes.

Red & White Bows Arched To Victory

Smith and Britt Gain Top Scores

Red and White chalked up five more points toward the color cup when Myra Smith, a senior, with a score of 196 points was winner of the archery tournament which was held on the athletic field Friday afternoon, May 10, at 3:30. Alice Britt, a freshman, representing Green and White, was runner-up with a score of 165. Each of the six contestants Myra Smith, Alice Britt, Nell Hurt, Virginia Musselman, Irma Page, and Katherine May shot three rounds of arrows one of which was a practice round from distances of 60, 70, and 80 feet.

This is the second successive year that Red and White has been victorious in the archery tournament. Last year Ruby Adams was champion with Myra Smith, this year's winner, as runner-up. Two years ago in 1938 Louise Anthony, a senior with Green and White for her colors was victorious.

Girls have been practicing for the tournament for approximately four weeks. Eight practices were the requirement for entering.

Aquatic Students Honor Gammage

Members of the H20 club and the instructor's swimming group will give a dinner in the tea room on Friday, May 17 at 5:30 o'clock.

Mr. Ben Gammage, Red Cross field representative, who is now conducting the instructor's course at the college pool, will be guest of honor.

Mrs. Louise Fitzpatrick, faculty adviser, Buddy Wheatley, Guy DeMuro, John Sivelle, William Luck and Sam Cotten will also attend the affair.

First Kangaroo: "Annabelle, where is the baby?"

Second Kangaroo: "My goodness, I've had my pocked picked."

Sports Slants

ANNE NEVILLE BARNETT

Gee, have we had fun this week or have we? Archery, golf, horseshow plans, tennis, more tennis, et cetera and et cetera. Red and White, we salute you! And we extend our hearty congratulations to Myra Smith for making your archery victory come true. A veritable Robin Hood is she as she "twangs" the bow for 196 points and a Red and White win. (Put Essie and Myra together on this Robin Hood business and I think you'll have something there!) Not only have we a man of Sherwood Forest; a William Tell also appeared on the scene Friday afternoon—after the tournament. Of course we couldn't provide the apple (nor could we find a willing head), but if we had had one I'm sure Fran Alvis would have done something with it. Declaring that she had never tried it before, she picked up a bow, "sighted" for a full minute, and started on its winged way an arrow which proved her to be a very good marksman. Maybe it was beginner's luck, but when a novice can do as well as that, I feel that the archery team has been missing a link for the past four years. It seems that the fall practice brought forth a great many more enthusiasts than did this spring season. In fact, there were just six entries in the class tournament: Myra Smith, Alice Britt, Nell Hurt, Catherine May, Virginia Musselman, and Irma Page. We'll have to smoke up a little this time next year. I expect May Day practices caused a lot of our archers to lose out on their practice, though, and this is one sport whose formula calls for an abundance of that ingredient.

Those who happened to see Mr. Graham and Mr. Brown playing golf together the other day might have thought that perhaps the former was trying to qualify for the Pro's job next year. But no; it all could be attributed to something that the Pro has had on his mind for some time. They were playing over the course and discussing its condition. It is their intention to have it worked over and put into good shape in time for the members of the club to play a few rounds before May 31. Then they will really "swing out" on those "golf sessions."

All of you know that the riding club is sponsoring a horseshow on May 17, but only the members of the organization seem to be excited over it. Honestly, if you just knew of the fun they are having planning for and practicing for it, you would be all "up in the air" too. There are going to be all sorts of competitive classes on the program, such as jumping, etc., and the girls are really going to work for those blue ribbons. Sometimes they are more anxious than the horses, such as the time Lillian German's mount decided, almost in mid-air, that he didn't feel in the mood to take that certain mump. You can't blame Lillian for her gymnastics following a stop as suddenly executed as that one! I hope we're all planning to trek out to H.-S. C. on this coming Friday afternoon and watch the big show. Don't forget—if you want someone to dig up a ride for you, see May Wertz, Nelle White, or Lillian German.

Congrats, Betsy Jennings, on playing number 1 position on the S. T. C. team which motored down to William and Mary last Wednesday. The same are in order for Cleo Jarman, who also played singles, and for Frances Parham and "Mooch" McIlwaine, who paired in the doubles. There's something about our team which makes us stop and stare. Though they lost every match, they return to S. T. C. with smiles upon their faces and William and Mary praises upon their lips. Their spirit was undaunted, and not once did they lose their sportsman-like attitude. We are proud of our team whether they draw from their trials victory or loss. We know that they played their best and that is all we ask. We want to say, however, "Better luck next year, girls!"

Racqueteers Lose To William & Mary

Matches Played In Williamsburg

Betsy Jennings, Cleo Jarman, Frances Parham, Helen McIlwaine, and Miss Olive Iler, coach, journeyed to Williamsburg last Wednesday to compete in a tournament with William and Mary College. In the singles Betsy Jennings played in the number one position, with Cleo Jarman as number two. Frances Parham and Helen McIlwaine paired in the doubles. The results were as follows:

W. & M. defeated B. Jennings 6-1, 6-0; W. & M. defeated C. Jarman 6-0, 6-0; W. & M. defeated F. Parham and H. McIlwaine 6-1, 9-7.

Immediately after the matches the William and Mary team held a social in the field house with the S. T. C. girls as guests of honor. In the evening Miss Iler and the Farmville team were the guests of the victors at a dinner given at the Williamsburg Lodge.

On Thursday the William and Mary team left on a northern trip which included matches with Swarthmore and Manhattan University.

Day Tennis Doubles Tourney Scheduled

A tennis doubles day tournament has been scheduled for Saturday, May 25. The tourney will be played to completion on that day. A prize will be awarded to the winners.

Partners will be chosen by drawing names from a hat. After the matches, refreshments will be served to the contestants. Further notices will be given to those wishing to enter, at which time students may sign up for the tournament.

POOL NOTICE

The swimming pool will not be open for recreational swimming this week due to the instructors class. See the A. A. bulletin board for next week's schedule.

HOW TO WIN BOY-FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE STAG-LINES

By Dalea Dorothy Clix

Dear Miss Clix: The instructor who teaches Poetry 3-A at our college is a wonderfully handsome young bachelor with a divine Harvard accent, who expresses beautiful thoughts. I've fallen in love with him—but though I sit in the front row, he doesn't even seem to know I'm in the room. My parents, who are wealthy but provincial, taught me never to use cosmetics, yet—in class today!—My Poet said: "Only through artifice is the merely female transmuted into the ravishingly feminine." IN A DILEMMA

Dear "In a Dilemma": If your parents are wealthy they probably hate being provincial, or they wouldn't have sent you to college. My guess is that if you can snaille a perfectly good Harvard poet they'll be proud to show off their new son-in-law to the neighbors. They'll forgive you the cosmetics. Don't forget that poets are extremely susceptible to beautiful hands – the Swinburne influence. So, transmute! – make your fingernails ravishing.

AND NOW, DEAR, READ THE NEXT COLUMN CAREFULLY!

AND HERE'S WHAT YOU CAN DO ABOUT BEAUTIFUL NAILS

To have those lovely fingernails that men admire—tint your nails with the amazing new nail polish, DURA-GLOSS, that millions of women have switched to in recent months! No wonder! DURA-GLOSS is different! It flows on with amazing smoothness, hardens to a brilliant gem-hard lustre that lasts far longer without tacking and chipping! Have the most beautiful fingernails in the world! At any cosmetic counter, buy DURA-GLOSS, 10 cents a bottle!

Hop Says
Swing to the music of Dean Hudson In a fresh, clean gown.
DE LUXE CLEANERS

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

WATCH FOR OUR
MAY
Carnival Sale!
FUN FOR ALL
WILL YOU COME?
NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store

Martin the Jeweler
MANY SELECTIONS
FOR COMMENCEMENT GIFTS

G. F. BUTCHER CO.
"The Convenient Store"
Dealer in fancy groceries and confectioneries
600 High Stret Farmville, Va.

GRADUATION AND Father's Day
GREETING CARDS
ON SALE HERE
Southside Drug Store
Phone 356

FUR COATS
Why Take Them Home for the Summer?
Ask About Our Storage
KILKARE
Launderers Cleaners

COLLEGE SHOPPE
We serve the best food in town
Try us We deliver
Call 200

KLEANWELL
Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the mangement of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

G R A Y ' S
DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

HOTEL WEYANOKE
Regular Meals
A La Carte Service
Salads & Sandwiches

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert
Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
236 MAIN STREET

We welcome the old girls and all their friends at
SHANNON'S
After the dance

LARGE SELECTION OF
Graduation Gifts
WATCHES RINGS
SHAEFFER'S PEN AND PENCIL SETS
LYNN'S
MUSIC STORE

Rose's
5-10-25c Store
ON THE CORNER
Cleansing Tissue
500 Sheet Box
15c

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material used
All Work Guaranteed

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

NOTICE—We now offer special low student rates on RADIO REPAIR WORK!
Electric Appliance Co.
Armory Bldg. Phone 40

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

DRUMELLER'S
FANCY MEATS
AND GROCERIES

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

SOCIALS

National Officer Honored

Mrs. Leon W. Mason, National historian of Alpha Sigma Tau, was guest of honor at a party in the chapter room Friday night, May 10 at 9 o'clock.

Miss Mary Nichols, faculty member, and Miss Marjorie Ellet, an alumna, were also present.

Gamma Theta Banquet

The annual spring banquet of the Gamma Theta sorority was held Saturday night, May 11, at Longwood.

Those present other than active members were, Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Carolyn Cogbill, Pan-Helenic adviser, Miss Florence Stubbs, faculty adviser and alumnae, Virginia Baker Crawley, Mrs. Thomas McIlwaine, Mrs. Boyd Coyner, Mrs. R. G. Young, Anne Galusha, Peggy Young, Virginia Whitehead Smith, Margaret Stallard, Meade Neale and Mrs. Mildred Dickinson Davis.

A. S. A. Supper

The members of Alpha Sigma Alpha entertained the chapter with a supper party at Mrs. Brumfields on Monday, May 13, at 6:00. Active members and pledges were present.

The supper was served picnic style under the trees.

Y. W. C. A. Picnic

The Y. W. C. A. entertained the old and new cabinets, the committees, the Y. W. C. A. advisers and the Farmville ministers and their wives at a picnic at Longwood on Tuesday, May 14 at 6:00 P. M.

Anne Ellet, chairman of the Y. W. C. A. social committee made arrangements for the picnic.

Madison, Wis.—(ACP)— Good deeds have a way of rewarding both the offerer and the recipient.

Today this alumna lives in California, has never married, but for 41 years has benefited greatly by her university training.

Annual Banquet

Virginian staff held its annual banquet in the tea room Tuesday night, May 14 at six o'clock.

The guests included Dr. J. L. Jarman, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McConkle, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Williamson, Miss Nancy Foster, Lucy Blackwell, Frances Alvis, Yates Carr, Allene Overbey, Jane Rosenberger, Johnny Lybrook and the old and new members of the annual staff.

Isabel Williamson, the editor-in-chief of this year's annual, was given a fountain pen as a gift from the staff. The place cards were made from the annual cut of each person present.

Alumnae to Wed During Summer

Vaughan-Carpenter

The parents of Mary Harrison Vaughan of South Boston, Virginia, announce her engagement to Dr. Brown Carpenter of Tennessee. Mary Harrison teaches in Danville, Virginia, and Dr. Carpenter is on the staff of the hospital in Danville.

Quinn-Muire

The announcement has been made of the engagement of Josephine Quinn to Willis Muire, both of Newport News

Beale-Matthews

The engagement of Sara Melba Beale of Smithfield, Va., to Thomas David Matthews, Jr., of Norfolk, and Dayton, Ohio is announced. The wedding will take place in the late summer.

Tiller-Meredith

The parents of Lucille Rebecca Tiller have announced her ingagement to John Frederick Meredith, both of Richmond, Virginia.

Clark-Johnson

The engagement of Mary Wilson Clark to Harold Lee Johnson, both of Newport News, Virginia is announced. The wedding will take place during the summer.

1940 Seniors

Continued from Page 3

coming dances at Roanoke College and the game with Susquehana? Did you have fun? Oh pardon, I forgot. This was in '36.

Seems "Fran" Alvis began her convention going early. I see here that she attended an Episcopal convention in Hopewell in '36. Bet "Fran" will be going to conventions till she's old and gray and making just as much of an impression, too.

Marguerite Costello, as seen by October 28, 1936 issue—was doing all right as a Freshman dance goer. This time it was to H.-S. Pan Hels. Didya' have as much fun as at more recent Richmond proms, circuses and stuff? Oh, and Marie Eason's name's on the list, too. Was it the first dance with the fraternity pin? Or was it he at all?

Oh shucks, the meetings going to start and just when I was getting real good and dirty with these old Rotundas. I can hardly wait to get back to 'em. And here's some 1924 issues. Bet they're beauties. O. K. "Pat", I'm here.

400 Girls Leave School For Mother's Day Visits

Numerous groups of girls visited their homes for Mother's Day. Since this was almost the last week end open to leave before the end of school, many had one last fling at dances at other schools. Four hundred girls in all left.

Mary Katherine Zehmer traveled to Raleigh, N. C. State. Lois Wilkins also went to the tar-heel state to dances at University of North Carolina. Jane Powell was the guest of Ruth Curtis Robeson, now a student at the University of Carolina.

Virginia Rudd attended the Kappa Sigma formal at the University of Richmond. Mary Owens West prom-trotted at Randolph-Macon in Ashland.

Those who visited in Richmond were Barbara Drewry, Marguerite Costello, Martha Frances Cobb, Frances Hoback, Winnie Harrell, Johnny Lybrook, Marjorie McAllister, Opal Nelson, Ada Nckols, Dorothy Perkins, Jean Steel, Lucy Turnbull, Grace Wallace, Mary Gray Thompson, Barbara Tripp, Anne Stone and Alice Lee Britt.

Hazel Holmes, Crews Borden, Elsye Berye Yates, Gloria Berry, Sara Curle, Martha Smith, Mariall went to Charlottesville for the week-end.

Mary Lou Shannon was the guest of May Winn, Barbara McKaskill of Margaret Ann Bunting, Gerry Ackiss of Jane Engleby, and Eugenia Lloyd of Imogene Hutter. Other vistiors in Roanoke were Betty Mae Ayers, Martha Baldwin, Blanche Carper, Harriet Cantrell, Alice Cogburn, Dorothy Deacon, Sara Cline, Nina Lee Hall, Virginia Polley, Doris Bishop, Geraldine Hatcher, Nell and Louise Hall, and Lottie Herald.

Those gir's visiting in Lynchburg were Virginia Dawley, Helen Watts, Esther Atkinson, Imogen Hutter, Baylis Kuntz, Eloise Galloday, Marjarie Gooden, Ruth Loving, Betty McConnell, Eliza McDaniel, Carolyn Minnick, Dorothy Mayes, Mary Mead Mason, Elizabeth Ralph, Jessie Stone, Ann Ware, Elsye Grennall, and Doris Alvis.

Peggy Lou Boyette, Katherine Beaton, and An anGeorge spent the week-end in Portsmouth.

Marguerite Russ, Shirley Stevens, Aline Markland traveled to Norfolk for Mother's Day.

am Worsham and Essie Milliner

EACO THEATRE

DAILY MATS AT 3:45 P. M.

Fri.-Sat., May 17-18

MERLE OBERON
REX HARRISON
"OVER THE MOON"
Novelty "Roughouse Fiesta"

Next Mon.-Tues., Wed. May 20, 21, 22

LAWRENCE OLIVER
JOAN FONTAINE
JUDITH ANDERSON
NIGEL BRUCE
"REBECCA"
Latest News

Next Thursday, May 23

BILLIE BURKE
FRANK MORGAN
ANN RUTHERFORD
The Ghost Comes Home

Get Ready For

COTILLION

We have a lovely selection of NEW STYLE EVENING GOWNS. In a lovely assortment of styles and colors.

$8.95 UP

Evening Shoes

IN GOLD AND SILVER

$2.95 UP

DAVIDSON'S

Listen to CHESTERFIELD'S MARION HUTTON
in Glenn Miller's Moonlight Serenade
all Columbia Stations . . . Tues., Wed., Thurs.

Eyes Right to
CHESTERFIELD
for Real Mildness

Smokers by the millions are making Chesterfield the Busiest Cigarette in America. . . . It takes the right combination of the world's best tobaccos to give you a cigarette that is definitely MILDER, BETTER-TASTING and COOLER-SMOKING . . . all at the same time. For real smoking pleasure, buy Chesterfields every day.

Copyright 1940, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

CONTRIBUTE TO RED CROSS FUND

The Rotunda

SENIORS BID FAREWELL IN CHAPEL SATURDAY

File No.—Z773

VOLUME XIX | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 22, 1940 | NO. 29

Ellett Announces Hall Presidents For Coming Year

20 Appointees To Form Council

Frances Ellett, president of the House Council announced hall presidents for the coming year Tuesday, May 21.

Juniors appointed for service in the Senior Building are Kay Philips, first floor; Marion Worsham, second floor; and Virginia Howell, third floor.

Sophomores selected for Junior Building are Katherine Hawthorn and Aggie Mann, first floor; Polly Keller and Josephine Ware, second floor; and Elizabeth Ann Parker, third floor.

Bridget Gentile will be hall president on second floor Student Building, and Margaret Mish and Brookie Benton on the third floor. On Annex, Ruth Palmer will have first floor; Charlotte Phillips, second floor; and Rosalie Rogers, third floor.

Jane Saunders and Bobbie Hannah were chosen for the second floor Main, and Eliza McDaniel and Ann Burgwyn, third floor.

Doris Smith will be on third floor Library and Elizabeth Bernard first floor Whitehouse. Appointments for Richardson and Venable will be made next year.

The duties of a hall president are to enforce the regulations of the House Council, keep a record of the call downs for students on her hall for each quarter, and to report them to the president of the House Council. They also assist in Fire Drills. The House Council meets every other Monday to discuss problems that have arisen.

Four more appointments have not been made, and will be announced at a later date. Halls not yet appointed are Gym, first and second floors; Junior building; and second floor Whitehouse.

Episcopal Fellowship Names New Officers

Leigh Taylor, vice-president of Student Government at Hampden-Sydney, was elected president of the Episcopal's Young People's Fellowship, for next year, on May 8.

Margaretta Gerlaugh will serve as first vice-president, and Elizabeth Townsend as second vice-president. Jean Carr was voted treasurer of the fellowship.

Irma Graff is the new committee head for service, and Betty Faith White is chairman of the worship committee.

Colonnade Notice

Colonnade subscriptions for seniors and graduating sophomores wanting them for next year will be $1.00 See Yates Carr about subscribing.

Senior Chapel To Be Held Friday

"Near draws the end of college days" is the theme of the traditional Senior Chapel Day which will be observed Saturday, May 25. This is "goodbye" of the seniors to the school. Wearing their caps and gowns, they sing ther songs of friendship and farewell to the "friends we have known." The president of the calss will say a few words to the student body after which the seniors will form an arch with their caps for the juniors to march under. The juniors then become the senior class.

This ceremony is the first of the traditional rites of the school at the close of the year at graduation time.

Pi Kappa Delta Elects Allen Head

Courtney, Cock and Keck Also Chosen

Marie Allen, Thelma Courtney, Jack Cock and Frances Keck were elected president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, respectively of the Virginia Alpha chapter of Pi Kappa Delta at a meeting held last Wednesday night, May 15.

Marie, a junior, is out-going president and newly elected counselor of the Debate Club. She attended the Strawberry Leaf Forensic Tournament at Winthrop College last fall, the South Atlantic Tournament at Hickory, N. C. during the winter and the Grand Eastern Tournament at Winthrop this spring.

Thelma and Jack, juniors from Winchester and Hampton, respectively, both attended the Grand Eastern Tournament this Spring.

Frances, also a junior, from Danville, is treasurer of the Debate Club and attended the Strawberry Leaf Tournament and the South Atlantic and Grand Eastern Tournaments.

The new officers were installed immediately after the election.

Formal initiation of Miss Mary Nichols, Thelma Courtney and Frances Keck was held at the opening of the meeting.

It was announced that Marie was eligible to receive the Diamond Key, highest honor in Pi Kappa Delta.

Freshmen Present Musical Program

The Freshman class gave a short musical program in chapel Tuesday, May 21.

"Humoresque", by Anton Dvorak, and "The Volga Boatman", a Russian folk song, were the two selections rendered. Monday mornings Freshman class sings during chapel time. Upper classmen are not required to attend chapel on Mondays.

Robert Frost Reads Poems, Lectures On Writing Style

Beorc Eh Thorn Sponsors Program

Robert Lee Frost, distinguished New England poet, read selections of his poems and lectured at a program sponsored by Beorc Eh Thorn Monday, April 20, in S. T. C. auditorium at 8:00 o'clock.

As a preface to "Birches", the first poem Mr. Frost read, he explained that birches were small trees meant to be played with, and that the thought of the poem was that everyone likes to get away and think by himself at one time or another. His woodchuck poem depicted Vermont's smugness.

Mr. Frost said that in writing poetry he attempted to make each poem sound differently. "The Runaway" illustrated a poem with a self-righteous tone. Before reading "A Favour" he explained that something beautiful can happen and change your whole day. Nature's favour can make you feel necessarily mean you are anybody", added the poet.

"Death of a Hired Man", "Witch of Coos", and a poem about little pools were also selections he read. Mr. Frost announced that he only read "Death of a Hired Man" two or three times a year.

To illustrate the fun in rhyming he used his poem "Stopping by Woods on a Snowy Evening". In answer to applause he read "Departmental". This poem has not been published. By request he read "Mending Walls", "Good Fences Make Good Neighbors" is not my line, he explained. Mine is "Something there is that doesn't love a wall".

In closing Mr. Frost recommended five of his poems for those who were interested. They were "The Grindstone", "Paul's Wife", "Lost in Heaven", "Desert Places" and "A Blue Ribbon at Amesbury".

Mary Jane Jolliffe, president of Beorc Eh Thorn, introduced Mr. James M. Grainger, head of English department, who introduced Mr. Frost.

Student Art Exhibit Held This Week

The annual S. T. C. student art exhibit is being held from May 21-28 in the art department.

This exhibit includes all work done through the year by the students of S. T. C. Some of the work on exhibition includes elementary art education, art structure for freshmen, figure drawing and composition, poster making and water coloring.

Among those drawings on exhibit are water coloring, Sue Owen, Cleo Jarman, Hazelwood Burbank, and Mildred Morris; figure drawing, Bess Windham, Dodie MacKenzie, Blair Goode, and Anne Turner; and art structure, Marjorie Rice, Helen Ruger, Estelle Smith, Imogen Claytor, Winifred Wright, and Emily Wescott.

On Thursday afternoon work from the crafts class will be shown. This group includes jewelry, metal work, weaving, cardboard construction, word decorations and pottery.

Eight Accept Bids To Honor Society

Eight girls were initiated into the apprentice degree of Alpha Phi Sigma Monday night, May 20 in the Honors Room.

The new girls are Vera Frances Baron, Imogen Claytor, Emma Louise Crowgey, Martha Hammock, Amy Read, Lois Jane Steidtmann, and Anne Ware.

Texie Belle Felts was promoted from the novice degree to the apprentice degree.

The silver service set, gift of this year's graduating classes, is displayed by Miss Mary White Cox in the senior parlor.

Jimmy Hamner To Play For Finals

Juniors Will Honor Seniors at Dance

Jimmy Hamner and his orchestra, from Richmond, will be featured at the annual Junior-Senior Prom, June 1, when the Senior Class will be the guest of the Juniors at a dance in the gym. The dance will begin at 8:30 and last until 12 o'clock.

Mary Elizabeth Petticrew of Roanoke is in charge of the figure which will be led by the officers of both classes. Dorothy Rollins, Florence Lee, Anne Lee Gardner, and Nancy Pierpont are planning the decorations. Faye Brandon and Virginia Howell had charge of selecting an orchestra and Crews Borden is managing tickets.

Dr. J. L. Jarman, president, Miss Mary White Cox, head of the home, Miss Virginia Bedford and Mr. Raymond French, classmen of the Seniors and Juniors respectively, and Jane Powell and Ruth Lea Purdum, class presidents, will compose the receiving line.

Keck Is Chairman Student Day Chapel

Frances Keck of Danville has been announced as head of Student Day Chapel Committee for next year. She conducted Student Day Chapel last Wednesday for the first time.

Others that make up the committee are Thelma Courtney, Dorothy Rollins, and an underclassman pianist who will be announced later.

The committee expects to plan various types of programs representing all organizations on campus, present talented students, and spiritual programs for any occasion that falls on or near Wednesday.

Frances, speaking for the committee, expressed her hope that "the programs will be worthwhile, educational, entertaining, and interesting with as many different people taking part as possible."

Debate Club Installs Officers

Anne Cock, president; Elizabeth Ann Parker, vice-president; Helen Delong, secretary; Frances Keck, treasurer; and Marie Allen, counselor, newly elected officers of the Debate Club were installed at the regular meetihg of the club.

The debate club takes part each year in intercollegiate debates with other schools throughout the state and is represented at various inter-state tournaments. This year the club sent representatives to the Grand Eastern Tournament in Rock Hill, South Carolina in April and to a regional meet there in December.

Peerman Will Edit Handbook

Nelson, Moyer and Courter on Staff

Betty Peerman, a sophomore from Danville, will edit S. T. C.'s 1941-1942 handbook.

Frances Ellett, from Roanoke, president of the House Council, is editor of the 1940-1941 handbook. Other members of the staff are Caralie Nelson, president of Student Government; Jean Moyer, president of the Y. W. C. A.; and Rosa Courter, president of the Athletic Association.

The handbook is published annually for freshmen and new students, and is used as a text for orientation classes. The handbook is sent out to new students at S. T. C. in the late summer.

This year a change has been made in financing the publication. Each organization is contributing a sum of money, instead of the three major organizations which has been done previously.

Pi Gamma Mu Names Committee Heads

Dorothy Rollins, a junior from Arlington, will head next year's Mardi Gras committee, with Yates Carr from Charlottesville as co-chairman. Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science society, sponsors Mardi Gras festival annually.

Mary Jane Jolliffe will be chairman of the project committee; Marjorie Holt, a junior was appointed chairman of socials; Carmen Booth, a junior from Danville, will serve as chairman of the scrapbook; and Thelma Courtney, the vice-president of Pi Gamma Mu, will be the head of the program committee for next year.

Seniors And Sophs Present Silver Service to S. T. C.

Founders Day Sum Added to Gift Fund

A five piece silver service on an old English style antique silver tray is the joint gift to be presented to the college by Jane Powell, president of the senior class, and Mary Katherine, president of the graduating sophomore class, on Senior Class Day, Saturday, May 25.

The gift was purchased by a donation of the two classes supplemented by money from the Founders Day Fund given by Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the college.

Blair Goode and Harriet Vaden are giftorians for the senior class, and Emma Louise Crowgey and Margaret Anne Bunting are the giftorians of the graduating sophomore class.

A committee composed of Blair Goode, giftorian of the class of '40, Emma Louise Crowgey, sophomore giftorian, Miss Jane Royall, sophomore classman, and Miss Mary White Cox, head of the home, selected the gift.

Last year Vera Ebel, president of the class of '39 presented their gift of a portrait of Thomas Jefferson for the library. Ruth Lea Purdum, president of the Sophomore graduating class last year, presented as their gift to the college two sterling silver sandwich plates.

A. C. E. Sponsors Musical Program

Association of Childhood Education presented a program of songs and rhythms by the lower elementary children at the training school in Student Building auditorium May 21, at 7:30 P. M.

Faye Brandon, president of the association welcomed the guests. Frances Alvis, a senior and an active member of A. C. E. spoke on the place of music in the elementary school.

The first grade presented selections by the Rhythm Band. Songs were sung by members of the second grade and rhythmic games were also played. The Kindergarten gave rhythmic songs and interpretations.

The vested choir of the third grade rendered religious selections.

The program presented by the fourth grade consisted of two rounds, songs and "My Little Dutch Garden". A row of crepe paper tulips and a windmill furnished the background. "Reuben and Rachel" as a duet concluded the program.

A silver offering was taken at the door.

Hawaiian Atmosphere Prevails At Spring Cotillion Dance

A South Sea Island atmosphere filled the Gym Saturday, May 18, from 4 to 6 and again from 8 to 12, when the Cotillion Club held its annual spring dance. Decorations of native girls dancing on the beach in their grass skirts to the music of the guitar played by a native boy made the guests really feel that they had taken a trip to Hawaii. Overhead hung coconuts and large palm leaves; while in the corner stood "the little grass shack."

Out of this hut the members of the club filed for the figure at 9:30. The figure was led by Virginia Lee Pettis with Bill Lashley. Virginia Polly with Anne Billups with Emory Sumner, and Essie Millner with Bruce Eherwein. The leaders wore leis of real flowers.

Dean Hudson and his Florida Clubsmen proved to be very popular with the listeners by furnishing excellent "swing and sweet" music for the dances.

During intermission at 10 o'clock, refreshments were served in Student Lounge.

The receiving line was composed of Virginia Polley, president of the club, Dr. J. L. Jarman, Mrs. M. C. Coyner, Mr. Coyner, adviser, Essie Millner, business manager, Anne Billups, secretary, and Virginia Lee Pettis, leader.

New Englander is Simple Man Who "Just Writes"

He is not a large man; he was the biggest thing in the room.

There was a look of quiet, peace and contentment back of Robert Frost's tired yes as he said, "Yes, call me a farmer. I have three farms in Vermont. Four children, too, live in Boston and vote in South Shaftesbury, Vermont."

A simple man himself, Frost writes in the language of the common folk, describing rural life and scenes. The dignity and serenity of his mind which is mirrored in his face is to be found in all his works. His poems "the majority written within a fifteen mile radius of Lawrence, Massachusetts portray realistically, yet with fine reference everyday country life in New England where much of his life has been passed.

The famed poet is now professor of poetry at Harvard. He has even in times long past taught psychology in a normal school.

Admitting that he wrote "just anywhere" Mr. Frost emphasized thinking as the real thing. "Writing is just putting down what you're thinking. Then turning suddenly, he continued, "I never go anywhere to escape anything. That's no good. You must go in pursuit."

Weary and travel-worn, the silvery headed poet did not turn to go without a kind word for S. T. C. which was one of the colleges he determined to visit as soon as he was able to go on a lecture tour after his illness this spring. Why? Our letter pleased him.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934.

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Mary K. Beck ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Alice Leigh Barham, Anne Barnette, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Bridget Gentile, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Dorothy Sprinkle.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

WEDNESDAY, MAY 22, 1940

If Winter Comes

Guest Editorial by James Elliott Walmsley

This week we are reading Louis Lochner's reports from the Nazi front saying that "exactly fitting substitute bridges ready for every strategic river or canal-crossing in Belgium and France" have been prepared for instant use in case of destruction by dynamite. Only thus can wars—and peace be won. Should not students of democracy, especially college students, have substitutes for bridges that may be wrecked?

If Great Britain is defeated, and it would take a confirmed optimist to hope for any other outcome of scientific warfare against 'feeble leadership", what becomes of the British Commonwealth of Nations? Is it an end to the tacit understanding that the two great navies should plan together, British for the Atlantic, American for the Pacific? What would the collapse of Britain mean to what we still call the British Empire, to the United States, to the Western Hemisphere?

Why not try to use terms with more scholarly accuracy? It is not a British Empire in the old sense but a British Commonwealth of Nations, it is not Britain losing her dominions, it is the Comonwealth losing one, and not the largest one, of her component parts. The Empire goes on. By the Statue of Westminster in December, 1931, it was provided that Great Britain and the Dominions were "autonomous communities within the British Empire, equal in status, in no way subordinate one to another—though united by a common allegiance to the Crown". That is, George VI will still be king of Canada, of Australia, of South Africa, and of the other English-speaking dominions, even if Britain disappears as a part of the Commonwealth.

Where will be its center of coalescence? Canada has its claim, so has Australia and South America: Canada is a more likely site for a commonwealth capital.

Certain problems of constitutional organization can be more easily adjuster after a new set-up. "Will the United States take Canada now?" Frankly, that is a second grade question. Self-governing democracies do not "take" or "rule" each other. They inevitably unite for common purposes, and on account of common ideals. Stranger things have happened than a Federation of Anglo-American peoples from Washington to Cape Town. Its capital city? Probably in Washington, possibly in Canberra, with presidents in Eire and United States, and kings in Canada and New eZaland.

The worst that Herr Hitler could do would be to enforce on Great Britain the terms, unchanged of the Versailles Treaty, loss of navy, loss of colonies, loss of trade opportunities. And Germany recovered from Versailles. Great Britain may come back also, not as head of the Commonwealth, but as a member. No sane person expects to se a Nazi general enthroned at Westminster though we may see a British premier go to Munster to sue for terms of peace. But Anglo-American democracy will survive and grow stronger.

Perhaps the Germans will not blow up this ancient political bridge, but it is a good plan to have a substitute in mind in case they do. And also some of us could cease "hysterical chattering."

Platter Chatter

The season's biggest hit comes on the first paragraph this week, as well as on the wax scene by Dinah Shore. The tune: "Shake Down the Stars". There is some exceptionally fine orchestral background by Paul Wetstein just as deserved of honorable mention as are the vocals of the charming songstress. The reverse is a snappy tune "Just A-Whistlin' and A-Whittlin'." Although this tune is not heard of a great deal, it is destined for a hit.

Tommy Dorsey takes a pair of the new Irving Berlin lovelies for a medium tempo ride on the record: "It's a Lovely Day Tomorrow" and "You're Lonely and I'm Lonely". Both introduced by the maestro's famous trombone, and Frank Sinatra carrying on the vocals. The entire band kicks out for a brilliant finish. Dorsey's recordings are superb, particularly these two. Please lend your ears to these tunes! You just can't miss 'em.

Leo Reisman and his orchestra have two wonderful excerpts from a current musical production called: (A) "Clear Out of This World" and (B) "A Latin Tune, A Manhattan Moon and You". The former is a sorta medium fox trot, just right for dancing. Anita Boyer is vocalist, being somewhat surrounded by a lush orchestral setting. The latter is a rumba fox trot, featuring "Brick" Holton's singing and a humming obbligato by Anita Boyer in a beautiful fade-out finish. It's really great!

Blue Barron presents a smooth new pair of ballads on his record of the week. "I'll Pray For You", with Alan Holmes on the vocals. One of the prettiest tunes out. The reverse is "Wait Till I Catch You In My Dreams", a record with a future! The tricky set of lyrics are on the ball by The Three Blue Notes and promises to be a favorite as was the "Man That Comes Around"!

Have you heard what the Smoothies have made this week? It's terrific and what is guaranteed to be their best yet. "Down by the O-Hi-O" is a super-super with the supporting band kicking in tremendous fashion, the trio singing in an inspired manner, and the solo as sung by Babs showing pertness itself. The reverse "Sh! The Baby's Asleep" is a new novelty tune and allows The Smoothies much freedom for their smart vocal style. For listening and dancing, you just can't miss these.

BRICKBATS and BOUQUETS

The chief topic of conversation after such a glorious, collossal, gigantic, stupendous week-end is naturally the dance. Here's to bigger and better Cotillions.

You probably saw or know everything already but maybe there's one thing your optics missed. So here are our observations—Willie Ash putting on a Lil' Abner act and getting rushed off his feet—craziest boy at the dance—thought it was Sadie Hawkins Day—perfect match for Moss. The Mary Washington girls trying to show S.T.C. how to be glamorous and scare all the boys away, green claws, too! More snakes than you could find in the African jungle or to be more precise—the Dismal Swamp . . . Lost dates—those that didn't arrive and those that were better late than never—for further observation see Mary Lavor, Faison, Blind dates—Franklin and Ayres can tell you about those.

Tech and many uniforms—the most we've ever seen—brass buttons are still the rage.

Peggy Lou begging her big brother to be careful of the war and reckless driving—and he looking for gossip for his dirt column with the eyes, ears, nose and throat of the world. Watch for that Tech paper girls.

Booty going Miles for a good time . . . E. Scott making too much time—a goat too. She just took that poor little neglected boy in tow. But she wasn't the only goat we were watching.

Pistols at dawn to the sophomore who told a member that crashed the dance—also to the one who bought someone else's ticket under pretense.

S. T. C. Campus Beseiged By Autograph Hunters

The coming of Spring, annuals, and the hunt for autographs are simultaneous. The inevitable call, "Will you write in my annual?" always comes when you're in one of those most rushed moments, and then the brain scramble for a good excuse comes. Oh, to be a master at the art!

The things we hate best are the autographers that either write all over their own and a few other's pictures or those that cover practically an entire page. The funniest yet is the girl that wrote by her own picture in her own annual "To the sweetest girl I know!" How embarrassing!

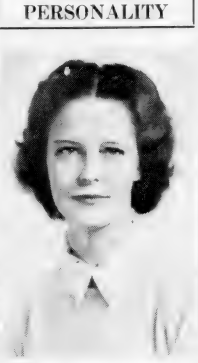
When you look back about twenty years from now and see that warm phrase "Love and Best Wishes," you'll forget how many times the writer wrote that in other annuals. Then you'll probably only remember her nicer points and think, "The old dear, what fun we used to have together in the class of '40." You'll even forget the written-over pictures, ink blotted pages, and fingerprinted covers. For then you'll have a mind's picture softened and blurred by memories.

The cute little brothers who stole the show—Polly Hughes', Maggie's, Liggie's.

The things S. T. C. needs more of—that we're mighty proud of—the best band that's ever hit this gym and what a hit—no studies, no faults, no errors either—Porter could tell you! It was great! The novelties they presented were equal to anything out, especially "Keep Jiving All a'time" and "Annie Laurie"—their answering requests and friendly attitude appealed to us, too. Of course, home town talent held some interest.

The difference of the figure—it went over beautifully—Congrats to the Club and Pudge—the beautiful flowers and gowns that were made for Spring dancing—the good behavior—the alumnae—Betty Lucy, Wicks, Peggy, Kitty Roberts, Ebo, Clara, Virginia Whitehead, Tony, Army.

What more could we ask of a week-end? Let's have more like it.



Then Jean S. found the opportunity to trip to Tech for the horse show.

One part of Easter vacation and a dash of swingeroo—too many parts goat week so add one Cotillion Club dance, and saddle shoe stamp, a bit of Dean Hudson's music well mixed with a little study and hair-tearing—a dash and a half of May Day, one great portion of Robert Frost—all these to the base of regular classes, stops at Shannon's, and the Rotunda, bridge, tennis, and sun-tanning, and garnished with Commencement—shake well and mix with a little rain water—voila—the Spring Cocktail!

Try it sometimes—it's a good chaser.

Final conclusion: What is so rare as an A in June?

SENIOR PERSONALITY

ELIZA WARWICK WISE

Vice-president of Senior Class

There have been many times when the lamps were burning their last drop of "post midnight" oil, and "Warwick", still in what she herself calls a "merry mood", has been right in the big middle of the rarest sessions. To say that 'Liza is unpredictable is making an inadequate statement; but her associates have found her stable and most dependable when there is a job, large or small, to be done.

Blessed with the gift of an uproarious sense of humor, 'Liza has long been the cause of many of our hysterical moments, and her contributions to "sings" and other skit occasions have been indispensable.

Our memories of four years of college would not be by any means complete without the impressions of 'Liza's hilarious clownings, her interest and services to various activities and organizations, and her insatiable desire for "sessions" lasting into the wee hours.

DID YOU KNOW . . .

that 143,000 college and university students graduate each year throughout the nation?

that only 12 per cent of our college age persons are registered in a college or university?

that of the 30,587,000 persons enrolled in full-time day schools, higher educational institutions only possess 1,208,000 of this total?

that there are approximately 276,5000 public and private schools and colleges in the United States?

that there are 1,073,000 teachers engaged in this business of education?

that the nation's investment in colleges and universities is $493,-000,000?

that 3.32 per cent of the nation's adults are college graduates?

that 15.1 per cent of the adults including the college graduates, are high school graduates?

Gleanings

by

MARIE ALLEN

Today in Europe along the borders of France, Belgium, and Holland is being waged one of the greatest battles of history—a battle that will be the turning point in the history of the world.

The English army in Belgium is moving back, the French army in northern France is ordered to die on the spot rather than give further ground", and the German army is ordered to devastate, destroy, and take. Whether we wish to accept it as true or not, the German army is doing this with a speed unprecedented in all history. Already Holland has capitulated, the endurance of Belgium is bound to be limited with the English army on the retreat, and France has been invaded.

Can the English army get out of the Low Countries without being annihilated? Why does the French commander give such orders? Does he prefer to die fighting for his country rather than see it defeated?

Evidently they realize that on these things their future hinges. Before this war started few believed that Hitler could defeat the Allies. The majority of the people of this nation believed that the navy of England could defeat Germany by the same tactics they used in the last war, that the air force of Germany would prove ineffective in a war and even if it were effective, lack of gasoline and oil would render it useless, that the motorized tanks of France were superior to those of Germany, that neutrality of a nation was respected, and that the Maginot Line would stop any German invasion.

But today Germany is changing these ideas. The Maginot Line has been broken and Germans are on French soil. Of course, it is true that the sector of the Maginot Line pierced is not the strongest part, but it is only natural the German would pick a weak section—no chain is stronger than its weakest link. We are surprised however, that France would let some part of her one great fortification be so weak that it could be broken in such a short time—only a matter of a few days!

Coupled with this is the usefulness Germany has made of aerial warfare, she has adeptly shown that planes for transit, planes for location, and planes for bombing are an integral part and are practically essential for working with her land troops and tanks. The inferior force of the Allies is showing up and it is amazing they didn't equalize or surpass it. Were they hoping the Navy and the Maginot Line could defeat the world?

Now that Germany is on French soil again, there comes to the Allies the realization of the gravity of the situation. No reports are available as to the numbers killed, but with such intense fighting, thousands must be destroyed and once productive territory laid to waste. Paris is in danger! England is in danger! There is the danger that the Germans will annihilate the English army by a pincer movement.

Can the Germans win, or will the Allies be able to gradually push them back? This is the question the world is waiting for the answer to. Germany has ignored the word neutral—they have been dealt with ruthlessly. By invading Belgium she was able to strike at a weak place in the once thought impregnable Maginot Line and break it. Her air force has proven its efficiency and superiority. But can Germany keep up this intense fighting? Does she have the necessary resources to equip her forces? It seems, that at the rapid pace she is going, her resources will outlast her foes.

If the Allies can hold the Germans back now there is some hope that everything is not lost. If they hope to win this war they must hold them back, although the Germans at the present time are pushing forward with all their might—which means a whole lot!

Sports Slants

By PETIE BARNETT

Talk of the campus this week (since Friday, at any rate) has been the horseshow which the riding club sponsored. Hampden-Sydney was a scene of excited and happy confusion on last Friday afternoon between the hours of two and five. Those lucky, or rather, skillful, riders of S. T. C. who were awarded blue ribbons were Jean Hatton,

Doris Bishop, Nelle White, and Betty Baldwin. Happy? Well, I should smile! They came back proudly wearing those ribbons and proudly showing them off. We went around congratulating and patting backs until the wee hours that night. One second-prize winner showed me her red ribbon and whispered, "I nearly fell out of the saddle, I was so surprised!" Another of the ribbon winners remarked, "I nearly dropped my teeth!" Catherine May took the cake, though, when the judges asked her to walk her mount before the judges' stand. She was astride "Norman", who was at that moment either very tired or in a stubborn mood. He refused to even budge. Catherine coaxed, yelled, and then began to kick. He went not a step. His rider became frantic and then subsided with a pitiful, "He won't go!" (P. S. He immediately stepped forth to prance briskly around the ring.) My frans, if you missed it this year, just pray that the club will sponsor another of these gala affairs in the Spring of '41, 'cause they sho are fun. General verdict:—and a good time was had by all.

Speaking of fun, we're all looking forward to oodles of it this Saturday. The day tennis doubles are scheduled for the afternoon of May 25 and will be completed in this single day. Contestants will not sign up for a berth on one of the teams until May 23. By that time they will be sure of being here on Saturday. The competitors will be paired by drawing the names from a hat, which job will probably fall to Miss Iler. These machines are not Red and White vs. Green and White; they are purely personal—team for team instead of class for class. So, you tennis fiends, get out and practice up. You'll need plenty of it, because before it's over, you're going to meet some good competition. Further announcements will be made in reference to signing up for the tourney. Remember, there's a prize for the winners, and refreshments will be served to all contestants. Now I bet you'll practice!

Golf is going along at a good pace with all of the girls showing a great deal of improvement. Plans have been made for some competitive matches in Lynchburg but they have not been completed. Good luck, girls. S. T. C. is betting on you!

You know, golf is lots of fun, but when one tries to show off before one's date, one may make a score of twelve for a par five hole, how's about it Chappie?

Planters Bank & Trust Company

Farmville, Virginia

Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

G. F. BUTCHER CO.

"The Convenient Store"

TO THE S. T. C. FACULTY AND STUDENT BODY—We appreciate your patronage for the past year It has been a pleasure to serve!

THE whole college is talking about them —the low fare, we mean! And no wonder, with the back-home movement almost ready to begin! You can travel the Greyhound way—in Super-Coach comfort —at only ½ the cost of driving, at far less than by other public transportation. See your Greyhound agent today—or tomorrow anyway — about schedules and savings for our trip home!

GREYHOUND BUS STATION
Continental Hotel Phone 78

Sample One-Way Fares

Charlottesville	$1.75
Blacksburg	2.80
Durham, N. V.	2.15
Roanoke	2.00
Wytheville	2.75
Knoxville	4.75
Norfolk	2.75
Washington	2.65
Baltimore	3.30
Williamsburg	2.75

GREYHOUND

S. T. C. Girls Win Ribbons at Riding School Horse Show

Awards Donated By Merchants

Members of the S. T. C. Riding Club made a beautiful showing taking five of the ten blue ribbons offered in the Hampden-Sydney horse show presented by Miss Stella Fox, which was held at the riding ring adjacent to the Tate residence at the end of Via Sacra on Friday, May 17, at two o'clock. The show was witnessed by about 200 people.

The classes were judged on horsemanship only and the S. T. C. girls winning awards were, in class one, Jean Hatton first, Corilda Chaplin, second, Stella Harman third; class two Doris Bishop first, Kay Spencer second, Harriette Walker third; class three, Nelle White first, Lillian German second, Jane Scott third; class five, Betty Baldwin first, Elizabeth Townsend second, Esther Atkinson third; class six, Peggy Williams and Marie Brickert tied for third. Others who participated in the show were local men and women. Hampden-Sydney boys and Farmville High school boys and girls.

There were ten classes which ranged from beginners to advanced groups and which were judged by Miss Elizabeth Burger of Farmville, Mr. F. C. Elliott, also of Farmville, and Mr. Garland Moss of Chase City.

Three ribbons and a prize were given in each class. The gifts were presented to the winner in each class along with the blue ribbon and were donated by Kilkare Laundry, Martin the Jeweler, Chappell's, Lt. Hirst Katy, Gray's Drug Store, Patterson Drug Company, Davidson's Department Store, Hub Department Store, DeLuxe Cleaners, Shannons, and Southside Drug Company.

Miss Fox's original plans were to present only five classes in horsemanship in which her own pupils would participate, but because of the enthusiasm which arose of entrants also included horses from the stables of Farmville owners Padgett, Baldwin, Hanbury, Scott and Zimmerman, as well as her own horses. After the show an exhibition of jumping was put on by Mr. Baldwin and his son, Mr. Kyle Baldwin.

Miss Fox will be here through commencement and any girls wishing to ride at any time are urged to do so.

Do right and fear no man!
Don't write and fear no woman!

NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c Store

We appreciate the business you gave us Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen

Petticrew to Head Orchesis Next Year

Mary Elizabeth Petticrew was elected president of Orchesis, modern dance club, Friday, May 17, for the coming year. Ethel Carr was selected to serve as secretary-terasurer with Madge McFall as costume chairman.

Three new members were initiated at that time. They were Louisa Sanford, Anne Bradshaw, and Jeanne Sears.

Mrs. Louise Fitzpatrick is adviser to the club.

Sing Brings Forth Dear Old Maybe Day

"Dear old Maybe Daye—maybe it will snow—maybe not". That was the spirit set forth at Sing last Saturday night.

There, before our eyes, we saw again the "dancers on the green", "Ebo", Sarah Wade Owen, Betty Boutchard, Dawn Shanklin, and Shirley Turner—making merry as "London Bridge" gave way. Then entered the court, as graceful a group of galloping giddies as ye've ever seen—May Winn, Jack and Anne Cock, Wahab and Jean Carr were our beauties.

And last and most important to any May Day—the crowning of the Queen. No one knew the identity of the lucky person. There was an excited breatless moment before she enetered on her coal black sled. 'Twas Florence Lee! And her crown, proudly borne by Marty Roberts, was none other than—a pair of ear muffs.

PLAY SEASON IS HERE!

PLAY SUITS
IN SHARKSKIN & SPRING RAYON
$1.98 to $3.98

SLACK SUITS
A LOVELY ASSORTMENT OF COLORS
$1.98 to $5.95

SLACKS
FOR LEISURE TIME
$1.00 to $3.98

DAVIDSON'S

Nine Swimmers Are Awarded Instructors Rating

Mr. Ben Gammage Directs Course

Myra Smith, Marge Nimmo, Martha Whelchel, Sara Keesee, Nancy Dupuy, Peggy Hughes, Pat Gibson, John Sivell and Guy DeMuro have successfully passed the Red Cross Instructors course which was given here last week under the direction of Mr. Ben Gammage, Red Cross field representative. The class made up of students from Hampden-Sydney and S. T. C., covered many phases of water work including water safety, life saving, techniques in teaching swimming and diving.

Mr. Gammage showed several rolls of films on canoeing techniques and activities at Camp Letts, Aquatic School in Edgewater, Maryland. He also spoke to the H20 club about requirements for entrance to the aquatic schools. A bulletin containing full information about their schools has been posted on the A. A. board. Anyone interested in attending should see Pat Gibson.

The champion athlete in bed with a cold was told that he had a temperature.

"How high is it, Doctor?" he asked.

"A hundred and one."

"What's the world's record?"

Waiter—Would you like to drink Canada Dry, sir?

Customer—I'd love to, but I'm only here for a week.

KLEANWELL Cleaners & Tailors

Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling

Main St. Opposite P. O.

Phone 98

Under the mangement of "CHARLIE" JOHNSON

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

PURE DRUGS MEDICINES

Perfumes—Toilet Articles

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Quality—Price—Service

HOTEL WEYANOKE

Regular Meals

A La Carte Service

Salads & Sandwiches

Patronize

Patterson Drug Co.

—AT—

Money Saving Prices

—FOR—

Drugs and Toiletries

Expert

Prescription Service

Clean Fountain

Featuring

Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream

238 MAIN STREET

Pool Schedule

Daily

3:30-5:00 — Senior Life Saving class

5:00-5:50 — Recreational swimming

Saturday

8:00-9:30 — Recreational swimming

He: Didn't you see me downtown yesterday? I saw you twice.

She: I never notice people in that condition.

Give..

"APPLE BLOSSOM"

For Graduation Gifts

Southside Drug Store

Phone 356

Martin the Jeweler

MANY SELECTIONS

FOR COMMENCEMENT GIFTS

LARGE SELECTION OF

Graduation Gifts

WATCHES RINGS

SHAEFFER'S PEN AND PENCIL SETS

LYNN'S MUSIC STORE

Rose's

5-10-25c Store

ON THE CORNER

Cleansing Tissue

500 Sheet Box

15c

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop

"From old to new with any shoes"

Only First Class Material used

All Work Guaranteed

WILLIS, the Florist

Flowers for All Occasions

PHONES 181—273

NOTICE—We now offer special low student rates on RADIO REPAIR WORK!

Electric Appliance Co.

Armory Bldg. Phone 40

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.

Visit us for the

BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

DRUMELLER'S

FANCY MEATS

AND GROCERIES

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

SOCIALS

K. D. P. Reception

Beta Epsilon chapter of Kappa Delta Pi held its annual spring reception Friday evening, May 17 in the Student Building lounge.

Besides the 72 students invited, other guests included members of the faculty, the supervisors of the training and high schools, and the college home department.

Mrs. H. Q. Laing and Miss Edna Bolick served frosted coffee and punch to the guests.

Beore Eh Thorn Picnic

Members of Beorc Eh Thorn, the honorary fraternity of English, were entertained Thursday, May 16 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Grainger. A program was presented and three members received their first degrees. They were Mrs. Helen McDowell, Lois Barbee and Edith Nunnally.

Pi Gamma Mu Entertains

The annual picnic of Pi Gamma Mu is being held this afternoon at Willis Mountain.

Marjorie Holt, chairman of socials, is in charge.

Those present at the picnic are members of the faculty, and associate members.

A. K. G. Is Guest

Miss Jane Royall and Miss Adele Hutchinson entertained members of Alpha Kappa Gamma, honorary fraternity, Monday afternoon, May 20, at Bear Creek Lake, at a picnic.

Besides the members present were faculty members Miss Grace Moran, Miss Mary Nichols and Miss Winnie V. Hiner.

B. S. U. Retreat

Old and new B. S. U. Council members went on a retreat to Willis Mountain May 17 at 5 o'clock.

After the picnic supper, everyone joined in singing songs.

Invited guests included Rev. H. Lee Scott, Polly Keller, Carolyn Harvey, Margaretta Gerlaugh and Rachel Kibler.

Senior Garden Party

Members of the Farmville Alumnae Chapter of S. T. C. will be hostesses at a garden party to be given for this year's graduating classes. It wil lbe given on Saturday afternoon May 25, from 4 to 5:30 in Dr. Jarman's flower garden.

In the receiving line will be Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Grace Moran, general alumnae president, Mrs. M. B. Coyney, alumnae association secretary, Mrs. W. Edward Smith, Farmville Chapter president and other officers of the alumnae chapter.

Choir Dinner

Miss Virdilia Bugg, college registrar and sponsor for the college choir, entertained the members and directors of the choir at a dinner in the tea room Tuesday night, May 21, at 6:00. Approximately sixty guests were present.

Mu Omega Picnic

The active members of Mu Omega had their spring picnic at Whitaker's Lake May 16 from 4 o'clock to 6. Miss Leola Wheeler, adviser, and Mrs. Kitty Hatch Whitfield were guests besides the active members.

Kay Spencer was in charge of the food.

A. S. T. Picnic

A. S. T. entertained its members and pledges with a picnic at Longwood last Wednesday, May 15, at 5 o'clock.

Pi Kap Party

The members of Pi Kappa Sigma will entertain in the chapter room tonight, May 22, with a lingerie shower for Miss Jane Royall, whose engagement has been announced.

Day-Johnson

The engagement of Norma Johnson of Norfolk to Lt. M. M. Day of Kansas City, Missouri, has been announced by her parents. Norma was a Pi Kappa Sigma at Farmville.

Barclay-Coleman

The parents of Katherine Coleman of Norfolk announce her engagement to Robert Barclay of Newport News. The wedding will take place early in June.

Katherine is a graduate of S. T. C.

Miss Mary Hostess At Picnic for Officers

Miss Mary White Cox entertained the old and new Y. W. C. A. cabinet, the old and new student council, and the old house council at a picnic on the front lawn at Longwood this afternoon, May 22 at 6 o'clock.

This picnic has been a yearly event for some time and is always looked forward to with anticipation. The girls played games and sang.

Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Winnie V. Hiner, Miss Pauline Camper, and Miss Jane Royall were among the guests.

A. P. S. Entertains Members at Picnic

Alpha Phi Sigma, national honor society for scholarship at Farmville, will entertain its members at a picnic to be given Friday, May 24, at 6:00. It will be held at Longwood. Miss Helen Draper, adviser, will be among the guests.

Cotillion Keeps Majority Of Girls at School

The little brown box on the home office table was occupied, as usual, by those week-end slips. And also, as usual, Richmond was the main destination. Virginia Alexander, Dot Bailey, Helen Briggs, Anne Benton, Martha Cottrell, Helen Dawson, Margaret Franklin, Gerry Hatcher, Winnie Harrell, Johnny Lybrook, Lois Wilkins, Jane Saunders, Nancy Sale, Louisa Stephenson, Jane Lee Sink, Evelyn Timberlake, Harriette Vaden, Jane McGinnis, Patty Vier, Roberta Payne, Jo Ware, Jo Chelf, Elizabeth Wilkinson and Mary Katherine Zehmer were those there.

Marie and Caroline Eason tripped off to Lexington.

Welcomed to Petersburg were Charlotte Andrews, Florence Pride, Mary Klare Beck, Martha Mayton, Nell Pritchett and Virginia Rose.

Lynchburg was the second most popular spot. Among those going were Margaret Carr, Bertha Drake, Dorothy Davis, Lucy Davis, Louise Painter, Polly Hughes, Ruth Fraughnaugh, Betty McConnell, Judy Marshall, Ruth Lea Purdum, Norma Wood, Mildred Ottinger, Maxine Phillpott, Dawn Shanklin and Elizabeth Ralph.

Helene Stras, Elizabeth Carter, Mary Riggin and Lena Hubbard motored up to Charlottesville.

Sadie Cobb, Llewellen Custis, Becky Lowry and Frances Kash attended the Horse Show at V. P. I.

Home was a sunny spot for Nancye Allen, Jean Bourne, Violet Woodall, Eloise Galladay, Virginia Boyd, Nina Lee Hall, Lucille Richeson, Marion Harden, Dot Sprinkle, Frances Hudgins, Ellen Hudgins, Katherine Hawthorne, Marguerite Russ, Mary Charlotte Jones, Anna Maxey, Virginia Morris, Mary Alice Marshall, Estelle Paulette, Elizabeth Jennings, Hazel Holmes, Betsy Briggs and Sarah Booth.

EACO THEATRE
DAILY MATS AT 3:45 P. M.
Fri.-Sat., May 24-25
ANN SHERIDAN
JEFFRY LYNN
ZAZU PITTS
'IT ALL CAME TRUE'
Cartoon—News
Next Mon.-Tues., May 27-28
LORETTA YOUNG
RAY MILLAND
GAIL PATRICK
"The Dr. Takes a Wife"
Community Sing—News
Next Wed.-Thu., May 29,30
JOHN GARFIELD
ANN SHIRLEY
CLAUDE RAINS
"Saturday's Children"
Technicolor Fashion Forec't

SEE THE NEW
Playtex Living Girdles pink and white $2.00
Carol King Cotton Dresses, sizes 11-17 $3.97 $5.97 $7.97
And a large selection of graduation gifts
DOROTHY MAY STORE
First to Show the Newest

Make Your Graduation Gifts
THE USEFUL KIND
BAGS, HANDKERCHIEFS, HOSE, BATISTE GOWNS, UNDERWEAR, BLOUSES.
Cotton Dresses All sizes and styles $1.98—$3.98
THE HUB DEPT. STORE
APPRECIATES YOUR PATRONAGE

Try our delicious
COLD PLATES
25c
COLLEGE
SHOPPE
CALL 200 WE DELIVER

COME TO . . .
SHANNON'S
FOR COLD DRINKS
ICES AND ICE CREAM

Hop Says
"Have your white
Cleaned right
For Commencement"
DE LUXE CLEANERS

DO YOU SMOKE THE CIGARETTE THAT SATISFIES

CHESTERFIELD GIVES YOU A
Cooler

POLEY McCLINTOCK and DONNA DAE are two of the busiest stars on Fred Waring's Chesterfield PLEASURE TIME broadcasts.

BETTER-TASTING
DEFINITELY MILDER SMOKE

The one aim of Chesterfield is to give you more smoking pleasure. And no cigarette gives smokers such complete smoking enjoyment as you get from Chesterfield, with its Definitely Milder, Cooler, Better Taste.

The best cigarette tobaccos that grow in Tobaccoland, U. S. A. and in far-away Turkey and Greece are combined right in Chesterfield to give smokers everything they could ask for. If you want real smoking satisfaction . . . make your next pack Chesterfield.

BETTER MADE FOR BETTER SMOKING
Every Chesterfield must conform to the one right standard of size and shape for a cooler, better-tasting, definitely milder smoke. Chesterfields are made right in every detail to give you the cigarette that really satisfies. (As seen in the new film "TOBACCOLAND U. S. A.")

Chesterfield
AMERICA'S BUSIEST CIGARETTE

Copyright 1940 Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

SUMMER SCHOOL
BEGINS JUNE 17

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS AND GOOD LUCK, SENIORS

File No.—Z773

VOLUME XIX | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, TUESDAY, JUNE 4, 1940 | NO. 30

151 Girls Graduate Tuesday, June 4th

114 Receive Degrees Awarded By Dr. Jarman

Grads Candidates For B. S. and A. B.

151 girls graduated from State Teachers College, Farmville today, June 4, 1940. Of these, 114 were candidates for Bachelor of Science or Bachelor of Arts degree. The other 37 received diplomas which will enable them to teach elementary work.

Members of the degree class of 1940 are:

Ruby Arretta Adams, B. S.; Louise Baird Allen, B. S.; Maude Frances Alvis, B. S.; Vivian Mae Anderson, B. S.; Lois Johnson Barbee, A. B.; Margaret Anne Billups, B. S.; Ellen Gibson Bowen, B. S.; Nancy Hall Bryant, B. S.; Agnes Dinwiddie Buchanan, B. S.; Hazelwood Burbank, B. S.; Mary Evelyn Burford, B. S.

Virginia Mildred Callis, B. S.; Margaret Anne Carr, B. S.; Anita Mildred Carrington, B. S.; Doris Ray Chesnut, B. S.; Jean Scott Clarke, B. S.; Elizabeth Ann Cline, B. S.; Helene Albine Cline, B. S.; Margaret Elizabeth Coalter, B. S.; Josie Lee Cogsdale, B. S.; Bernice Lucille Copley, B. S.; Marguerite Virginia Costello, B. S.; Janet Cralle, B. S.; Laura Nell Crawley, B. S.; Mary Louise Cunningham, B. S.

Dorothy Dade Davis, B. S.; Dorothy Elizabeth Davis, B. S.; Sudie Doughty Dunton, B. S.; Marie Gary Eason, B. S.; Mrs. Florence Cutts Elliott, B. S.; Emil Ellis, A. B.; Laura Beulah Ettenger, A. B.; Marian Farley, B. S.; Jeannette Estaline Ferguson, B. S.; Dorothy Lina Fischer, B. S.; Ollie Graham Gilchrist, B. S.; Virginia Blair Goode, B. S.; Katherine Nelson Gray, B. S.

Martha Meade Hardaway, B. S.; Marion Lee Harden, A. B., Mrs. Annie A. Hardy, B. S.; Betty Jarman Hardy, B. S.; Jane Elizabeth Hardy, B. S.; Mildred Lansdale Harry, B. S.; Geraldine Mae Hatcher, B. S.; Dorothy Maxine Hawks, B. S.; Ruby Lee Henderson, B. S.; Mary Louise Holland, B. S.; Hazel Juanita Holmes, B. S.; Rosemary Wesley Howell, B. S.; Helen Elizabeth Hoyer, B. S.; Eleanor Barksdale Hutcheson, B. S.

Vera Helen Jacobs, B. S.; Mary Chlotilde Jarman, B. S.; Mary Helen Jeffries, A. B.; Anna Brown Jones, A. B.; Sara Belle Keesee, B. S.; Elizabeth Ann Kent, B. S.; Elizabeth Lobelia LeGrand, B. S.; Mrs. Elizabeth Harris Loving, B. S.; Johnny Lybrook, B. S.; Martha Strain McCorkle, A. B. (in Education); Mary Armistead Mahone, B. S.; Frances Estelle Mann, B. S.; Myrtle Frances Martin, B. S.; Octavia Anna Maxey, B. S.; Jennie Ethel Meggs, B. S.; Essie Roberta Millner, B.S.; Mary Walker Mitchell, B. S.; Lorana Tillman Moomaw, B. S.; Nancy Ward Moss, B. S.; Kathryn Newman, B. S.; Marjorie Lois Nimmo, B. S.

Judith Virginia Oakes, B. S.; Mildred Rose Owen, B. S.; Virginia Sue Owen, A. B.; Katherine Hall Peery, B. S.; Virginia Lee Pettis, B. S.; Margaret Mason Pierce, B. S.; Virginia Ann Polley, B. S.; Frances Bland Pope, B. S.; Jane Buffin Powell, A. B.; Mary Carrington Power, A. B.

Ramonita Rameriz, B. S.; Helen Dorothy Reiff, A. B.; Mabel Lucille Richeson, B. S.; Jane Louise Rosenberger, B. S.; Marguerite Russ, B. S.; Agness Virginia Sale, B. S.; Elizabeth Lesueur Scales, B. S.; Philippa Elizabeth Schlobohm, B. S.; Janelle Shelor, B. S.; Ruby Marion Shelton, B. S.; Mary Sue Simmons, B. S.

Continued on Page 4

Sitting: Bliss Fowlkes and Ruby Mae Parsons, second and first honor graduates of the diploma class. Standing: Martha McCorkle and Jane Rosenberger, first and second honor graduates of the degree class.

Thirty-Seven Will Receive Diplomas For Primary Work

Thirty - seven girls received diplomas from S. T. C. Farmville, which were awarded at Commencement, Tuesday morning, June 4. These students have taken a two year course majoring in primary and elementary education.

Graduating sophomores are: Pauline Antionette Barrett, Elizabeth Gordon Boatwright, Sarah Wyche Booth, Mrs. Thos. M. Brooks, Margaret Anne Bunting, Annie Marie Cardwell, Sarah Chambers, Emma Louise Crowgey.

Nette Elizabeth Davis, Millian Henrietta Dawson, Thelma Louise Echols, Virginia May Evans, Virginia Bliss Fowlkes, Mabel Beatice Garland, Sue Howell, Sarah Burton Jollett, Gladys Virginia Jones, Barbara Bland McCaskill, Aggie Louise Mann, Dorothy Elizabeth Mayes, Emily Flynt Moore, Hattie Cloveland Moore, Nancy Hodnett Moore, Evelyn Inez Pankey.

Ruby Mae Parsons, Billie Pittman, Annette Prosise, Eugenia Elizabeth Ramsey, Frances Dupuy Snell, Judith Isabell Spinner, Florence Georgia Thierry, Mary Virginia Walker, Eleanor Miller White, Mary Hilda Wills, Mary Elizabeth Wolfenbarger, Dorothy

Continued on Page 4

Graduates Choose Alumnae Delegates

Jane Powell, president of the senior class, and Helen Wentz, vice-president of the House Council were chosen alumnae representatives by the senior and graduating sophomore classes respectively.

They will preside at alumnae meetings of their classes, and represent them on reunion year at Founders Day. It is also their duty to keep the members of their class informed about reunions and to make arrangements for themes.

Magazine Awards

Beorc Eh Thorn, honor society in English, has awarded first place in the annual short story and poetry contests to Mary Mahone, a senior, and Helen Reiff, also a member of the graduating class.

Mary's story, "Drew's Children," appeared in the senior issue of the Colonnade which came out May 23.

Helen's prize-winning poem, "Sea Yearning", was in the fall edition of the magazine.

Each year Beorc Eh Thorn sponsors these contests, and all stories, poems, and essays appearing in the Colonnade during the year are entered. A prize of five dollars will be given each of this year's winners.

Both of these girls have been frequent contributors to the magazine. Helen served as assistant poetry editor last year.

Notice

Don't forget to write for the Colonnade short story contest during the summer. Enter your story in the fall. A prize of five dollars will be awarded the winner.

Class Day Program Presented Monday In Auditorium

Daisy Chain Follows Senior Exercises

Senior Class Day exercises were held Monday, June 3, at 3:30 o'clock in the auditorium. The theme was "Remember". The scenes were taken from the outstanding productions, sings, and circus stunts throughout their four years at college.

Mary Mahone read the class history from the 1940 Virginian.

Eliza Wise and Isabel Williamson, giftorians, presented the gifts.

Each member of the class received a gift. Also special gifts were given to Jerry Hatcher and Jane Hardy for their good work in music accompaniments. To the school the senior class and graduating sophomores gave a silver-service set.

Miss Grace Moran, president of the alumnae association, welcomed the members of the class of '40 as new alumnae.

Jane then presented the symbol of office to Ruth Lea Purdum, president of the incoming senior class.

Sophomore Exercises

The graduating sophomores dressed in white, marched into the auditorium, Monday morning, June 3. Mary Katherine Dodson, president of the Sophomore class gave the welcome in the Class Day exercises.

The theme for their exercises was a good will tour, making the first stop here.

Mary K. Dodson who piloted the plane presented the symbol of office to Betsy Jennings the incoming president of the sophomore class.

Emma Louise Crowgey and Margaret Anne Bunting, hostesses, were giftorians and presented each member of the class with a gift. The graduating sophomores with the degree class jointly gave the silver-service set.

The exercises closed with the farewell song written by Aggie Mann and Annette Prosise.

The traditional "Daisy Chain"

Continued on Page 4

Powell Chosen Honorary Member

Jane Powell was chosen honorary class member by the class of '41. The election was announced by Ruth Lea Purdum, president of the incoming senior class at senior chapel, May 25.

It has been a tradition of Farmville S. T. C. for the Junior class to choose one of the graduating class to be an honorary member of their class. Jane will lead the figure at the Senior Dance next year.

S. T. C. Commencement Speakers—Above is Rev. Walter C. Gum, pastor of the Barton Heights Methodist Church, who preached the baccalaureate sermon in the auditorium Sunday, June 2, at 8 o'clock. Below: is Mr. Francis P. Miller, member of Virginia House of Delegates from Fairfax, who delivered the graduation address on Tuesday morning, June 4, in the college auditorium.

Honor Graduates Named by President At Final Exercises

Dr. J. L. Jarman announced the honor graduates following the presentation of diplomas and degrees at commencement exercises, June 4. In the diploma class were Sarah Elizabeth Chambers, Emma Louise Crowgey, Virginia Bliss Fowlkes, 2nd honor, Nancy H. Moore, Ruby Mae Parsons, 1st honor, and Florence Thierry.

In the degree class were Frances Alvis, Lois Barbee, Anne Billups, Evelyn Burford, Anita Mildred Carrington, Doris Chesnut, Jean Clarke, Marguerite Costello, Beulah Ettenger, Ollie Graham Gilchrist, Blair Goode, Marion Harden, Mrs. Annie A.

Continued on Page 4

Miller and Gum Address Seniors, Graduating Sophs

McCorkle, Parsons Deliver Speeches

Ruby Mae Parsons, salutatorian; Martha McCorkle, valedictorian; Hon. Francis P. Miller, commencement speaker, and Rev. Walter C. Gum, who delivered the baccalaureate sermon, made principal addresses during commencement exercises June 2-4.

Ruby Mae Parsons, of Cullen, first honor graduate of the sophomore class, opened final exercises of commencement week, June 4, in the auditorium. Her subject was "We As Future Teachers". In the development of her topic, she said, "It is truly imperative that as teachers of the future we must do all we can to raise the standards of the profession." She continued by saying "guidance and leadership are the developing factors of intelligence and therefore, the desire to guide, to lead and to inspire are essential characteristics of a teacher's personality."

Martha McCorkle, of Farmville, first honor graduate of the degree class, had "The New Woman" as the topic for her valedictory address. The general theme was the overthrow of the traditional prejudice against women in public life that must come about "if the new woman is to fulfill her destiny without delay."

"We women, who are going out to work as professional teachers, should face the situation calmly and unafraid. Only then can we deal with it effectively. The way to full maturity for women must be kept open and broadened. If we assume the attitude of the new woman, and accept our responsibility, we can do these things. Women who have had opportunities, such as we have had here at Farmville must take the lead if society as a whole is to follow. It is in our hands that the modern world puts the education of the young." In concluding her speech, she quoted Dorothy Canfield Fisher. "It is simple and natural for us as educators, to keep the road open to complete development for women, by training them to accept no life which leads to less dignity than that of full human maturity and usefulness, and by standing guard over the public opinion which will insure to each one of them the work, the authority, the chance to serve, which she deserves by her ability."

Honorable Francis P. Miller of Fairfax was commencement speaker.

Rev. Walter C. Gum, of Barton Heights Methodist Church in Richmond, delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the graduates Sunday night, June 2.

"All through life you're going to be testing truth. This is a test of Christianity and every man's doctrine or faith" began Mr. Gum in his baccalaureate sermon.

He continued by saying that we aren't judged by the fruits of man today but by works or profession. To illustrate he quoted from the Bible, "By their fruits shall ye know them." It is the fruits of the spirit of our own life that makes us afraid to put others to the test.

"I want to say as these girls leave this school that self application of the principles Jesus laid down is the need of Christianity today. Truth cannot be inherited. It has to be instilled in the warf and woof of our own beings.

Continued on Page 4

Senior President Reminisces

By Dotty Rollins

"You know," Jane Powell said gravely, "leaving school is like the end of a perfect existence. I feel like the bottom is dropping out of everything. These four years have been so short . . . so pleasant, each one going a little more quickly and being a little more perfect. And every little incident goes into the making of a more perfect memory.

"I know," she grinned reminiscently, "that I shall never forget some of those incidents. For instance, being called up before rat court our freshman year . . . and our good old Freshman Production. 'Course all the productions were good—but our very first one was super! And all those bull sessions we've had—and Sunday morning breakfasts in Senior building . . . all of us together."

Suddenly more serious she continued, "when you think that all these people you've known so long—played with, had such fun with—that they'll be leaving and that you might not see them again for ages—it's such a tug at your heart strings!"

"But with all the things to remember, bells, classes, holidays—everything—I shan't forget the dedication of the song 'The Madam'!" Twinkling, Jane added, "Thanks to my friends I have quite a reputation set to music! The whole class picked it up, too . . . in fact everybody . . . I shall miss it. I wish I didn't have to make plans for a new future . . . really I'd like to come back here!"

But even though reluctant, Jane seemed ready to face the future . . . in spite of "natural qualms". Hating to see her go, we bid an affectionate au revoir . . . and Madam—do hurry back!

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934.

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Mary K. Beck ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Alice Leigh Barham, Anne Barnette, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Bridget Gentile, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Dorothy Sprinkle.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

TUESDAY, JUNE 4, 1940

Adieu, Graduates

The day has come when we must bid adieu to our graduates. Sad? Of course! But only so when we look backward. Instead of tears and sorrow, let us have happy, glad hearts—bright, gay spirits going forth into a new world. College days are o'er but Life has just begun.

With this thought behind us we wish to congratulate all the graduates, we are proud of you and sorry to see you go. As you leave this campus we wish you happiness and success. We hope you will come back often to see your friends.

And so we say "Bye now. We think you are mighty fine."

America, Keep Out!

Comrades pour the wine tonight,
For the parting is with dawn!
O the clink of cups together,
Greet the morn, with a double horn,
When strong men drink together!

Comrades give a cheer tonight!
For the dying is with dawn!
O to meet the stars together,
With the silence coming on!
Greet the end as a friend,
When strong men die together.
—Richard Hovey

Staid old England is encouraging her soldier boys to have a gay fling in the night spots before going out to die, or as the poet more soothingly puts it, "to meet the stars, with the silence coming on."

Hitler has forbidden dancing in Germany. We shall now have it proven whether a man with, or without, a hangover, really enjoys dying most. And all of this just to change Adolph Hitler's name in history, from "The Mad Paper-hanger of Berlin" to "The Mad Butcher of Berlin."

Anthony Eden said, after a conference with him, "The man is quite mad."

He has found him a diabolically clever mad-man. Many mad-men are, as their keepers can testify. Others call him a phobiac.

The definition of phobiac is: One who is unable to fit himself into the complicated scheme of modern living; and refuses to accept the complex pattern of life today. So Der Fuehrer decides to make a pattern for himself.

At present his pattern looks like Grandma's crazy quilt, with the little neutral countries stitched on in machine gun stitches.

The Kaiser, too, was probably a phobiac, and his ambition was for, "a place in the sun."

There have always been and always will be, ambition-mad men.

Call them phobiacs or fools— the result is the same.

Row on row of lonely white crosses, with only the wandering, lonely winds to keep them company.

Lonely women, weeping lonely tears, for the fine boys sacrificed on the altar of a mad-man's dream, and the fine lives they never lived to live.

America, keep out! Doris Bishop.

Senior President

Ruth Lea Purdum

Leading her class for three years, Ruth Lea has become a familiar figure here at S. T. C. As the old Seniors leave we present her to you—president of the rising Senior class.

Self-assurance and efficiency plus poise and a real interest in everything go toward making Ruth Lea the leader she is. It's a long and tortuous journey from freshman to Senior year in college and the one who guides the ship must be strong. The new Seniors have found their strength in Ruth Lea.

Serious — yet possessed of "crazy moments" too, the "prexy" has gained friends and followers among her classmates. It will be, we predict, the best year yet for the class of '41.

Senior Colonnade Issued May 23

The last edition of the Colonnade for 1939-40, issued on Tuesday, May 22, was dedicated to the senior class.

On the cover is a still life symbol photographed by Mr. Lee Williamson, father of Isabel Williamson. "Baccalaureate" by Mr. Williamson expresses the thought of the symbolism in the picture.

Should duty triumph over love? Mary Mahone's story, "Drew's Children" answers this.

"D. Pedigo—Alias", Helen Reiffs story, is woven around a night in Atlantic City.

A lane is as long as you make it or so Bob Carter convinced Cherrie in Marion Harden's story "It's a Long Lane".

Lula Windham, May Queen and Apple Blossom princess accepted the challenge in November issue of the Colonnade entitled "Candidates for the Firing Squad" by "Kappa Alpha, Hampden-Sydney," with "Back at You".

"Requiem" by Isabel Williamson, editor of the Virginian, illustrates a mood in poetry.

Love is the theme of "Love" by Betty Hardy and "In the Spring" by Johnny Lybrook.

Longwood surrounded with an atmosphere of the traditions of the old South has an interesting history told by Frances Alvis in her essay, "Longwood".

Marie Eason reminisces in semi-poetry, "Things I Will Remember."

Lest We Forget

Lest we forget, classmates—as if we could!

Freshmen 1936-1937

October 7—Jane Powell elected class president. The second Freshman commission announced the following members: Marge Nimmo, Betty Hardy, Marie Eason, Jean Watts, Lula Windham and Phil Schlobaum.

October 16—Johnny Lybrook crowned as joint circus queen.

October 17—Sara Keesee, Olivia Stevenson, Virginia Polley and Chlotilde Jarman were announced at Big Rat Court as the good sports of the "rat period".

October 20—Miss Bedford elected "classman".

October 28—The water carnival skit, "Mr. White's School of Fish" won first place.

January 23—Virginia Lee Pettis discovered in freshman Sing.

March 10—Johnny Lybrook elected business manager of "Colonnade".

March 12—Jane Powell is re-elected president of class.

April 3—Class won swimming meet.

Sophomore 1937-1938

October 10 — Martha Meade Hardaway elected Campus League Chairman.

November 14—Katherine Newman elected captain of varsity hockey squad.

March 19—"Izzie" Williamson elected vice-president of Y. W. C. A., and Martha Meade was elected secretary of Student Council, Dot Fischer, treasurer of A. A., Cleo Jarman, secretary.

Juniors 1938-1939

October 12 — Martha Meade Hardaway, Jane Powell and "Izzie" Williamson tapepd by Alpha Kappa Gamma.

November 5—"Izzie" acted as ring master at circus.

November 11 — Bounds and Moomaw debated Anglo-Irish team.

November 30—Red and White wins Color Rush!

January 11—"Dot" Fischer acted "Captain Henry" in class production, "Showboat".

February 2—Frances Alvis, Dot Fischer, Marge Nimmo, Dot Eades, Marie Eason and Helen Reiff tapped by A. K. G.

February 23—Class won Sing contest for "Columbus discovered America".

March 8—"Fran" Alvis elected head of Rotunda, Johnny Lybrook elected head of Colonnade, "Izzie" Williamson elected head of Virginian.

March 17—Virginia Polley elected president of the Cotillion Club.

March 2—Marie Eason elected president of Student Body. Dot Eades heads Y. W. C. A. Dot Fischer A. A. president. Marge Nimmo heads House Council.

April 23—Martha Meade Hardaway heads A. K. G.

May 6—Sara Keesee, "Pudge" Pettis, Lula Windham were in May Court.

Seniors 1939-1940

October 4—Essie Millner chosen head of May Day.

October 20—Chlotilde Jarman elected head of Monogram Club.

October 28—Virginia Polley voted Circus Queen.

November 8—Names of ten seniors appeared in "Who's Who".

November 9—New Library dedicated.

November 17—Ruby Adams, archery champ.

December 2—Senior Dance.

December 13—Seniors experience last hanging of green.

January 24—School was homebound; classes and activities halted.

February 6 — Essie Millner crowned Mardi Gras queen.

February 20—Eliza Wise and O. G. Gilchrist were elected giftorians for the class and Mary Mahone, historian.

February 21—Chlotilde Jarman elected captain of varsity basketball team.

April 4—Martha McCorkle and Jane Rosenberger announced as honor graduates.

May 6—Lula Windham reigned as May Queen with "Pudge" Pettis as maid-of-honor.

May 15—Class presents silver service to S. T. C.

May 18—Virginia Lee Pettis leads Spring Cotillion figure.

May 24—Red and White wins Color Cup.

May 25—Senior Chapel and Senior Sing.

June 1—Junior-Senior Prom.

June 4—Graduation.

Quite Different

The banker was questioning the Negro applicant for a chauffeur's job.

"Are you married?" the banker asked.

"Nawsah, boss," replied the applicant, "nawsah; Ah makes my own livin'."

A fiery tempered Southern gentleman wrote the following letter:

"Sir, my stenographer, being a lady, cannot type what I think of you. I, being a gentleman, cannot dictate it. You, being neither, will understand what I mean."

Down By the Old Brick Wall

1

Down by the old brick wall
By the Senior Hall
'Tis here we sing
In the good old spring
We're leaving soon
On the fourth of June
We will return
For you we'll yearn
Down by the old brick wall.

2

We will miss your smile
Down the chapel aisle
We will miss the fun
Of our color run
We will miss the sound
Of your return from town
Oh please come back—and often, too
Down by the old brick wall.

FIFTH COLUMN

The Fifth Column gives you the lowdown on all your Senior pals—what they do in off moments, what they like and what they definitely don't like. Hear ye.

The Madam likes to sit on the bed "buddha-fashion", singing with a nasal twang "Do you ken John Peel?". She detests people who borrow her Times-Dispatch without telling her.

Maury and Shirley have a purple passion for bridge.

Katherine Wood delights in ticket campaigns.

Anne Billups detests silly chatter.

Louise Allen likes every single movie that comes to this town.

Tee Bowen loves tuna fish with plenty of pepper.

Izzy's pet peeve is people who don't cry at Senior Chapel.

Liza likes big men.

Kaki loves to tell a wild tale.

Dot Fischer dotes on imitating a machine gun with her mouth.

Jane Hardy hates to be told she's fat.

Hazelwood Burbank hates to be told he's low when she really is.

Helen Jeffries would rather talk than eat and loves to eat.

Moomaw likes to think up projects.

Lula Windham adores the U. S. Naval Academy and chocolate goo.

Moss—pet passions are big hats and crazy dates.

Pudge has a passion for light literature and refused to write in people's annuals.

Essie Millner detests gardenia perfume.

Mary Walker Mitchell likes to drag Mary Lou downtown.

Jean Watts' pet expression, "Love Is Wonderful".

Susie Owen also has a weakness for going downtown.

O. G. likes to sing hill-billy songs.

Jeanette Ferguson has a weakness for interne's uniforms.

Agnes Wagstaff dotes on playing Monopoly.

Emil Ellis likes picnics, hayrides and such.

Mary Lou Cunningham detests running water and squeaking doors.

Sara Keesee doesn't like to talk after she goes to bed.

Nancy Bryant can't forget mustaches.

Betty Greig is always eating a "Dream" candy bar.

Johnny Lybrook can't stay away from Richmond.

Frances Alvis—achievement of her latest diploma—also peanuts, pickles and cheese.

Polley screws the back of her sweater when she gets aggravated.

Anna Maxey—always willing to locate us girls when company comes.

Mildred Harry dotes on sandwiches all trimmed up.

Olivia Stephenson says "Sleep is my greatest hunger."

Josie Lee Cogsdale likes fun and laughter.

Ruby Adams never passes up a chance to enter some outdoor sport.

Kent carries on over new "Vic" records.

Vivian Anderson's grand passion is bridge.

Gleanings

by

MARIE ALLEN

Who can deny that a German victory is imminent? The British Expeditionary force is moving out of Flanders as rapidly as possible, and the prayer on every Britishers lips is that they will be able to get their entire force home! Does that moving out indicate that this great battlefield is today a German victory—a reversals of 1914?

Just which enemy Hitler decides to devastate first is as yet doubtful. Two weeks ago it seemed the English would get the blow and the French would be given the privilege of surrendering after that. Today, the opposite seems the trend. Military experts seem to believe that a larger area in northwestern France is necessary for a successful attack on England. So the logical thing to do would be to get that section and probably all of France before starting on England. Naturally, in Paris there is the dread of the march on the capital but if the Germans can destroy General Weygand's army—the best Allied army in France, then there would be little left for France to do but to crumble! A German ruler again crowned in the Hall of Mirrors!

To aid the Germans capture France the Italians are contemplating entering the war. It is the belief that the Italian entrance into the war would divert a large part of the French army and thus quicken the French capitulation. However, the Italians might fool France and concentrate their attack on the Suez Canal in order to get some of the British and French colonies in Africa. Justification of Italy's entering the war is meager—coming in at such a late date she could only expect a very minute share of the spoils, at the probability of a great cost to her country.

But what is the best course for the United States to follow in this great threat to the democracies? That is the most important thing for us to think about. How will a Germany victory and a German treaty affect us?

Nothing short of a great miracle could save the Allies, so what must we do? To enter the war would be utterly foolish — would take us a long time, possibly a year before we could send well-equipped troops to fight. Would there be any need of them by that time? If the present speed is continued there would not. Furthermore, we entered one war, we influenced the decision, a treaty was made which is the direct cause of this war, and all we got was a defaulted debt. Do we want that repeated?

We must get accustomed to the idea of living in a world in which there is a German dominated Europe. We in America do not want war, we want economic stability so we can prosper and advance. Dorothy Thompson has predicted that a German victory will result in a custom union of Europe with headquarters in Berlin that will control the economy of Europe and as a result of the world. Such an idea seems slightly far fetched to us. To defeat a nation in military strength is one thing, but to conquer a people of different culture and language and tell them what to produce and who to trade with is vastly different. Even the Nazifying of little Czechoslovakia is meeting many obstacles!

Roosevelt has struck the keynote of the situation. Arm America so no nation will want to fight us, so every nation will give in a litle to avert war with us. Arm America so its possession can be protected and its institutions preserved. America may have to accept a German victory in Europe, but to strengthen our military strength would be the greatest good to democracy that we could accomplish at the present time.

Red and White Win Color Cup On Points

Fischer Awards Cup To Seniors, Sophs

Red and White, composed this year of seniors and sophomores, was the winner of the much coveted color cup for 1939-40.

Dot Fischer, out-going president of the Athletic Association, presented the cup to the Red and White students, Friday, May 24, in chapel.

The cup on the mantle in the Rotunda wore Green and White ribbons last year, but Red and White restored their colors for this year with 20 points to their opponents 15.

After the award was made, the seniors and sophomores sang their Red and White song and then cheered Green and White.

Red and White won the cup with 50 points gained in hockey, swimming, archery, and volley ball.

For hockey they received ten points for winning the class matches and ten for the largest per cent on the varsity squad. They were awarded ten points for swimming, ten for archery and ten for volley ball.

Green and White gained a total of 30 points. Ten points were won in basketball, ten in swimming, and ten in tennis.

In a little country town, it was the custom for the pastor to kiss the bride after the ceremony.

One young woman who was soon to be married didn't care for the prospect of following the usual custom and told her husband-to-be to tell the minister that she didn't wish him to kiss her.

"Henry," she said, the next time she saw her swain, "did you tell the minister I didn't want him to kiss me?"

"I did, darling," he answered.

"What did he say?" she asked.

"He said in that case he would charge only half his usual fee."

GRAY'S
DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

KLEANWELL
Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the mangement of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert
Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

McIlwaine Is Singles Champ

Defeats Betsy Jennings to Win

Helen McIlwaine defeated Betsy Jennings on Wednesday, May 29, in the final round of the singles tennis tournament. Runners-up in the semi-finals were Mary Sue Edmonson and Ruby Adams. These girls were defeated by Betsy Jennings and Helen McIlwaine, respectively. Scores for the final match ran 6-4, 2-6, 4-6.

Helen Mac's win gave Green and White ten more points toward the Color Cup, although it did not alter the winning of the cup by Red and White.

Four Swimmers Pass Red Cross Life Saving

Jean Carr, Louise Phillips, Harriette Walker and May Wertz have successfully completed the requirements of the American Red Cross for the Senior Life Saving and Water Safety Certificate. These girls are now eligible to wear the Senior insignia. The course was given under the direction of Pat Gibson, swimming instructor.

They're Off! Listen It's the "Camperoo"

Once again we come to the parting of the ways and once again we find many Farmville girls migrating to camps. A counselor with the S. T. C. spirit—What an addition to any camp!

The Smith is off to Camp Farewell, Vermont for the second season. This time, though, she's taking no chances on invading that Yankee territory all by her lonesome. May Wertz and Sara Keesee will back up the line teaching music and swimming and tennis, respectively, while Myra goes to town with her trusty bow and arrow.

It's home again for all; but Dot Fischer just can't stay put. She's off to Pinecrest Dunes, Peconic, Long Island teaching land and water sports. We hear she loves the latter—especially at night.

Nancy Dupuy left early last week for her North Carolina camp near Brevard where she will direct recreational activities. It seems that she has several jobs this summer, this being the main one.

Never heard of such a combination! Nimmo, Izzy and May Winn—all in one camp. Poor Mrs. White, wonder if she knows? Virginia Beach will certainly hear of these Farmvillians come but a few weeks more. And the dear children—may they grow like little weeds under the guiding hands of our gifts to the teaching profession.

Buff Gunter, Frances Alvis and Johnny Lybrook plan to do a little social work along with their camping. Buff will teach swimming at Camp Cedarcrest, Chimney Rock, N. C. and also at Camp Alliulana (for underprivileged children) at Milborn Springs, Virginia. Bear Mountain Mission school children will be fortunate enough to have "Fran" Alvis as their teacher for two weeks in June. Our Johnny is for Camp Merriwood in Harrison. If it is like the name, it must be grand.

Our naturalist (or didn't you know), Mildred Harry is going to pass on her knowledge at Camp Matoaka here in dear old Virginia.

While Eliza Wise is heading for Vademecum, we'll just leave you. Have fun and remember — we're all for you.

The guest's nose was exceptionally large, and father had noticed Willie staring at it. Expecting the boy to make some frank and outspoken comment, he gave him a disapproving glance.

"That's all right, dad," came the reassuring response. "I'm not going to say anything. I'm just looking at it!"

Senior Sport Review

"Hear ye! Hear ye!" bellowed the Town Crier. (We hired him especially for this occasion because we knew of old how well he could perform as Master of Ceremonies for such affairs. (You see, upon this fourth day of June, the seniors, arrayed in their caps and gowns, are displaying before their parents and friends their scholastic ability, which has enabled them to graduate from dear old S. T. C. Now to us "sportive-minded" students, it's just as interesting, if not a tweeny bit more so to see them parade their athletic abilities before us. So we have rounded up a few bits of elusive but choice data, have engaged the Crier, and have succeeded in persuading these modest seniors to hop, skip, jump, or just plain walk across our little stage while the M. C. tells us just what each has contributed to the sports world of S. T. C. Now that all has been explained—on with the show!)

"Dottie" Fischer—Come forth! My friends of the audience, you are gazing upon the out-going president of the Athletic Association. "Porky" has served us well in this capacity, and we do hate to see her leave. In her four years here she has given valuable service as a member of the varsity hockey, baseball, and swimming teams, and as a member of her class volleyball and baseball aggregations. It will be years upon years before we forget "Dottie" and her breaststroke or "Dottie" flitting (?) down the gym in some one of her natural dancing classes! Of all the athletically-inclined seniors there were just three who received both the Red and White and the Blue and White S. T. C. blazers. We are proud of them! Of these three, "Dora" was one.

Chlotilde Jarman — graceful, agile "Cleo" is another of the seniors who have climbed to heights of athletic fame in our little college world. She has been a skillful unit around which the basketball, hockey, volleyball and tennis class and varsity teams have revolved for four years. It is very seldom that "Cleo" loses that quiet dignity peculiar only to her, but—well remember the Harrisonburg game of '39-'40? Miss her? Well, I should smile (but I weep at the thought). Here we have another of those lucky gals who are carrying away the two blazers which point to excellence in sports.

Ruby Adams—our varsity hockey goalie, our last year's archery champ, our versatile basketball player (good at either forward or guard position), and a member of the champion doubles tennis team last spring—these characteristics are all combined in one black-haired member of the senior class. Ruby is another who has worked hard for the glory of her school and class and who has been awarded the two blazers. She is the last of the three mentioned but by far not the least.

Marjorie Nimmo—a member of the varsity hockey team for four years "Marge" was manager in this, her senior year. She played, too, on the basketball and volleyball teams. How anyone could be an athlete along with staying up until all hours trying to get her "chickens" to bed, as she did, is beyond our feeble comprehension, but she combined her House Council duties and her training rules very nicely.

Katherine Newman and Estelle Mann—How's about letting these two strut across together, "being as how" they are unbeatable as a team of two when it comes to cooperation, coordination, etc? They have played hockey together for eight years now, four in high school and four at S. T. C. Their teamwork is a sight at which to marvel as they tear down the field with the ball in perfect control. Newman was captain of varsity for two years and co-captain this year with Mann.

Sara Keesee—a varsity hockey player and swimmer, and class basketball and volleyball player. Sara ranks eighth in the backstroke in minor colleges of the U. S. A. She may be little, but gosh-oh-gee, she can skim through that water!

Myra Smith—that strong right arm of Myra's comes in rather handy in her archery as well as in her volleyball (who could forget those serves?). She now holds the school record in archery with 196 points. That's awfully close to "tops", if you ask me! And I haven't yet mentioned her contributions to varsity hockey.

Harriette Vaden—Ringmaster Vaden was a renowned varsity player for the hockey team at the center half position for three years. The team has missed her this year. She also participated in the class volleyball and basketball games. And just watch her swing that baton.

Isabel Williamson—"Izzie" will long be remembered as a Red and White cheer leader and as manager of the Frosh basketball team. She also joined in and helped ring up a few (?) color cup points in the class basketball and volleyball games.

Eliza Wise—can we ever forget the look on "Liza's" face (or the open-mouthed crowd) when she looped that ball into the basket for the first senior class team field goal last quarter? We thought at first that she was a swell sport to even try to play because she hadn't practiced in ages, but we soon changed our minds. When volley-ball season rolled around, her long-arm reach and ever-lasting height made her a class team captain to be greatly feared.

Lucy Blackwell—Lucy was a whiz at tennis and made the varsity team in her frosh year. She helped her colors on to victory in hockey, basketball, and volleyball, too.

Essie Milliner—We can't bear even the thought of losing this year's president of Orchesis. Essie has been often in the limelight, just where she belongs with her marvelous exhibitions, but none of us will ever forget her dancing at the May Day exercises of 1940. Most of us will like to remember her as the modern Robin Hood as she tripped across the green, bow in hand. Essie was a member of the varsity swimming team, which was very successful this year.

Helen Jeffries—Helen contributed much to the success of Red and White by offering her services in the class volleyball, basketball, and baseball clashes, as did—

Jean Clarke—she was more interested in hockey, however, than in baseball, and showed her skill on the field many a time.

Well, folks, that's all. These Red and White girls really put on the pressure. They wanted S. T. C. to win in the intercollegiate sports, and they put forth their best efforts to help her do so. We hope that you will return for the Green and White parade next year, and that we will have just as many athletically-minded seniors to set before you as the finest examples of sportsmanship to be found.

Six Girls Win Athletic Awards

Class and School Blazers Presented

Dot Fischer awarded six blazers. The girls receiving them were juniors and seniors.

Marge Nimmo, out-going president of the House Council, and outstanding in hockey and basketball was awarded a red and white blazer with an old English "F" for 785 points.

Pat Gibson, new editor of The Rotunda, won a green and white blazer for three years on varsity basketball squad.

Mary Sue Edmonson and Rosa Courter, new Athletic Association head, also won green and white blazers for three years on varsity basketball squad.

Dot Fischer awarded Ruby Adams with a blue and white blazer for 917 1-2 athletic points. Ruby won her red and white blazer last year. She has been prominent in many athletic activities all four years.

Helen McIlwaine was awarded one dollar because she was the winner of the fall ping pong tournament in 1939.

After Dot made those awards, Rosa Courter awarded Dot a red and white blazer for three years of varsity basketball and also a blue and white blazer.

Cleo Jarman received both a red and white blazer, for three years of basketball, and a blue and white blazer last year.

Visiting Nurse: "And do your children use toothbrush regularly?"

Fond Parent: "Do they, mun? First thing when they get up in the morning, it's a race to see which one can get to the toothbrush first!"

Teacher—Can you give me an example of wasted energy, Bertram?

Bertram—Yes, sir. Telling a hair-raising story to a bald-headed man.

Goldstein: Wherever you go in the world you will always find that Jews are the leading people.

MacGregor: Och man, hoo aboot the North Pole?

Goldstein: Vell, Iceberg ain't no Scot's name.

HOTEL
WEYANOKE
Regular Meals
A La Carte Service
Salads & Sandwiches

Juniors Serenade Seniors in Court

Juniors serenaded the seniors beneath the windows of the senior dormitory Saturday night, May 25, at 10:30.

Suiting songs of farewell, composed by members of the junior class, the class was led by Jean Moyer and Virginia Richards.

"Down by the Old Brick Wall" written by Betty Fuhr was the favorite of the seniors.

The juniors concluded "Friendships" and the Alma Mater.

Try our delicious
COLD PLATES
25c
COLLEGE
SHOPPE
CALL 200 WE DELIVER

LARGE SELECTION OF
Graduation Gifts
WATCHES RINGS
SHAEFFER'S PEN AND PENCIL SETS
LYNN'S
MUSIC STORE

Rose's
5-10-25c Store
ON THE CORNER
Cleansing Tissue
500 Sheet Box
15c

Lovelace Electric
Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material used
All Work Guaranteed

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

NOTICE—We now offer special low student rates on RADIO REPAIR WORK!
Electric Appliance Co.
Armory Bldg. Phone 40

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

DRUMELLER'S
FANCY MEATS
AND GROCERIES

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

Reception Held In Seniors Honor

Graduates, Guests Entertained By Administration

Miss Mary White Cox entertained with her annual reception for the seniors, their parents and friends on Monday, June 3, 1940. It was held in Student Lounge at 8:30 P. M.

Among those in the receiving line were Miss Mary, Dr. J. L. Jarman, Jane Powell, Marie Eason, Dorothy Eades, Miss Virginia Bedford, Miss Jane Royall, Martha McCorkle, Ruby Mae Parsons and Mary Katherine Dodson.

Caralie Nelson, Alice Leigh Barham, Nancy Naff and other members of student government received the guests at the door.

Serving at the punch bowls were Caroline Eason and Elsye Berrye Yates.

Members of student council and a representative group from the student body assisted Miss Mary as hostesses.

The lounge was decorated with spring flowers.

Miss Mary was in charge of the entire reception.

Students remaining for graduation and members of the faculty were also present.

Week-enders Leave In Spite of Exams

Several girls deserted S. T. C. while most of them remained to spend the week-end in "deep study" for approaching exams.

As usual, Richmond was the most popular of the visiting places. Those who went were Ruby Adams, Margaret Anne Bunting, Martha Ann Baldwin, May Alice Bryant, Harriet Ball, Carroll Costello, Marguerite Costello, Blanche Carper, Nette Davis, Sarah Goode, Nina Lee Hall, Frances Pope, Billie Pittman, Bobbie Tripp, Lois Wilkins, Marian Mitchell, and Josephine Ware.

With Lynchburg just fifty miles away, few can resist the trip even so late in the quarter. Among the ones who could not stay away were Nancy Bonnurant, Imogen Hutter, Eleanor Hutcheson, Ora Mayo, Bobbie Taylor, Anne Williams, Elizabeth Bowman, Jeanne Hall, Nancy Sale and Anne Covington.

Jerry Smith was the week-end guest of Helen Lewis in Roanoke. Others, who journeyed to this city were Louise Painter, Betty Barnes, Charlotte Greeley, Betty Perry, Margaret Whitfield and Murie Utt.

The bright green mountains, or whatever it is about Charlottesville, beckoned Mary Jane Jolliffe, Harriet Haskins, Mary Carrington Power, Jane Rosenberger, Myra Smith, Yates Carr and Martha Meade Hardaway.

Blackstone rates next on the list as girls visited their families and friends. Among them were Iris Bryant, Martha Hammack Ruth Loving, Jane Pratt, Emily Diven and Mildred Diven.

Of course, we always have at least one prom-trotter! This week it's Lillian Ann Turner who attended the Phi Delta Party at Randolph-Macon in Ashland.

Good-bye until next year when we bring you week by week the news of who goes where and sometimes why.

Planters Bank & Trust Company

Farmville, Virginia

Member: Federal Reserve System

Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

G. F. BUTCHER CO.

"The Convenient Store"

TO THE S. T. C. FACULTY AND STUDENT BODY—We appreciate your patronage for the past year. It has been a pleasure to serve!

Junior-Senior Prom Held Saturday in Gym

The seniors were the guests of the juniors at the Junior-Senior Prom Saturday, June 1, from 8:30 to 12 in the gym.

Many couples swayed to the music of Jimmy Hamner and his orchestra, from Richmond. Faye Brandon and Virginia Howell were in charge of selecting the orchestra.

Decorations of red and white, the senior class colors, and blue and white, the school colors, were arranged around the gym. Dorothy Rollins, Florence Lee, Anne Lee Gardner, and Nancy Pierpont were responsible for the display.

At 9:30 the seniors and officers of the junior class presented the figure which was led by Jane Powell, president of the senior class and her escort, Homer Hatton. Mary Elizabeth Petticrew was in charge of the figure.

The receiving line was composed by Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Virginia Bedford, senior classman, Mr. Charles French, junior classman, Jane Powell, senior president, and Ruth Lea Purdum, junior president.

Seniors Attend Last Chapel

Senior chapel, the last chapel exercise the seniors attend, was held Saturday, May 25, at the usual chapel hour.

The seniors headed by their class president, Jane Powell, and their classman, Miss Virginia Bedford, marched down the main aisle of the auditorium to their seats for the last time to the Alma Mater.

Jane Powell addressed the student body, telling them how much college had meant to her and left her best wishes for those they were leaving behind.

Ruth Lea Purdum, president of the junior class, then extended to Jane an invitation to honorary membership in next year's senior class.

By requests from various Seniors throughout the year, Dr. J. L. Jarman gave the Senior class his parting gift—he sang his favorite song, "Keep on Hoping".

The entire senior class sang to their class man, Miss Bedford. Then they faced the student body and sang a number of songs to them.

After this the seniors formed an arch down the aisle with their caps and the juniors marched through this to the Alma Mater. This was the first time the new seniors had marched to their Alma Mater and thus were officially made seniors.

Seniors Take Part In Lantern Parade

Annual Lantern Parade which plays an important part in the final commencement program, took place Monday night, June 3, at 10:30 o'clock.

The parade followed the reception given in honor of the seniors and their guests by Miss Mary White Cox, Head of the Home, in Student Building Lounge.

Seniors and their little sisters wearing white marched from Student Building Lounge across the campus and through the Rotunda and back again singing school and class farewell songs. The letters S. T. C. and '40 were reflected in the lanterns.

The seniors follow this procedure each year, it having become a significant part of the commencement program.

Honor Graduates

Continued from Page 1

Hardy, Mildred Harry, Maxine Hawks, Rosemary Howell, Helen Jeffries, Elizabeth Kent, Mrs. Elizabeth Harris Loving, Martha McCorkle, 1st honor, Anna Maxey, Jennie Meggs, Mary Walker Mitchell, Lorana Moomaw, Frances Pope, Jane Powell, Mary Carrington Power, Helen Reiff, Jane Rosenberger, 2nd honor, Marion Shelton, Virginia Louise Smith, Jean Watts, Betty Webb, and Katherine Wood.

SOCIAL

Senior Garden Party

Members of this year's graduating classes were guests of honor at a garden party given by the members of the Farmville Chapter of S. T. C., Saturday afternoon, May 25, from 4 to 5:30 in Dr. Jarman's flower garden.

Pi Kappa Sigma Picnic

The pledges of Pi Kappa Sigma entertained the members at a weiner roast at the cabin at Longwood Saturday evening at 5:00. Miss Iler, faculty adviser, and Mr. Graham were among the guests present.

Also, Sunday evening at 6:00, the Pi Kaps entertained their graduating seniors at a supper party in the chapter room. Gifts were presented to the out-going members and Miss Iler, faculty adviser.

Home Ec Picnic

Home Economics Club entertained its members and all home economics majors at a weenie roast out at the Longwood fireplaces, Thursday, May 23, at five P. M. After supper the club members and their guests played games. Miss Frances Houch, teacher of home economics, chaperoned the party. About sixty girls were present.

Sigma Seniors Guests

Sigma Sigma Sigma entertained the senior actives with a picnic at Bear Creek Lake May 23 at five o'clock. Miss Pauline Camper, active members, and the pledges attended.

Crews Borden was in charge of the arrangements.

A. S. A. Entertained

Miss Grace Moran entertained the members of A. S. A. with a picnic at Longwood, Thursday, May 23 at 5:30. It was given in honor of the graduating sophomores and seniors who received gifts at this time.

Sunday, May 26, Edna Harris, Virginia Rudd, Esther Atkinson and Martha Ann Baldwin were hostesses at a buffet supper in the chapter room at 5:00.

Methodist Picnic

Members and advisers of the Wesley Foundation held a picnic at Bear Creek Lake Saturday, May 25.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Potts, Dr. J. E. Walmsley and the members attended.

Mary Katherine Dodson and Allene Overbey were in charge of the food.

Degrees Awarded

Continued from Page 1

Myra Elizabeth Smith, B. S.; Nancy Vaughan Smith, B. S.; Virginia Louise Smith, B. S.; Virginia Winston Smith, B. S.; Shirley Ann Stephens, B. S.; Olivia Daughtrey Stephenson, B. S.; Mary Catherine Sturgis, B. S.; Harriette Spencer Vaden, B. S.

Agnes Young Wagstaff, B. S.; Margaret Louise Ward, B. S.; Kathryn E. Watkins, B. S.; Jean Shields Watts, A. B. (in Education); Betty Porter Webb, B. S.; Elizabeth Penn Wilkinson, B. S.; Isabel Holmes Williamson, B. S.; Martha Flanagan Wilson, B. S.; Lula Rouse Windham, A. B. (in Education); Elizabeth Warwick Wise, B. S.; Evelyn Hogood Woltz, B. S., and Katherine Lucille Wood, B. S.

Finals Speakers

Continued from Page 1

Truth is something that has to be experienced and lived by."

In conclusion Mr. Gum said that if you have love, joy, peace, long-suffering, meekness, kindness, gentleness, faithfulness and self-control in your own life, you have learned the truth of Jesus. "This will be your test of life."

A friend who asks for ten
Is one in need;
But one who lends you ten
Is one indeed

Longwood Scene Of Senior Banquet

Tribute Is Paid To Jane Powell And Guests

One hundred and twelve Seniors attended the Senior Banquet at Longwood Friday, May 31, 1940 at six thirty o'clock.

The color scheme and decorations were the class colors, red and white, and each place card had a portrait of a graduate on it.

Lorana Moomaw gave a toast to Dr. Jarman. Eliza Wise, Isabel Williamson and Johnny Lybrook gave toasts to Miss Virginia Bedford, Miss Mary White Cox, Jane Powell and to the class.

Guests included Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox Misses Virginia Bedford, Virgilia I. Bugg and Jane Royall.

Frances Alvis was in charge of arrangements for the banquet.

Organization Heads Discuss Activities

In an effort to cut down the activities of the various organizations on the campus, Marie Eason called a meeting of the heads and advisers of all the organizations for a discussion in Mr. Strick's classroom Tuesday night May 21, at 9:30 P. M.

Several suggestions were made although nothing definite was decided upon. Important among the suggestions were those that organizations be limited to a certain number of activities, that meetings of organizations be limited or held during class periods, and that the number of students' membership be restricted by scholarship.

It was also suggested that some like organizations combine and that some be made purely honorary.

The girls were asked to hand in a written statement telling what part that organization would play in helping to remedy the situation.

37 Get Diplomas

Continued from Page 1

Lee Wood and Edna Woodall.

Ruby Mae Parsons and Bliss Fowlkes are the honor graduates of this class.

Hop Says

Congratulations to Seniors

And Graduating Sophomores

DE LUXE CLEANERS

Martin the Jeweler

WE APPRECIATE

YOUR BUSINESS

GRADUATION

GIFTS

at

Southside Drug Store

Phone 356

SHANNON'S

Wishes You a

Happy Vacation

PHONE—WE DELIVER

Congratulations

SENIORS!

NEWBERRY'S

5c—10c—25c

Store

Barham Announces Orientation Leaders

Alice Leigh Barham, vice-president of Student Government, has announced orientation leaders for the year 1940-1941.

Leaders for orientation classes are Caroline Eason, Martha Whelchel, Chubby Heard, Patsy Fletcher, Gene Hardy Kilmon, Liggie Ellett, Rosa Courter, Norma Wood, Nancy Naff, Libby West, Pat Gibson, Allene Overbey, Anne Ayers, Crews Borden, Ruth Lea Purdum, Mary Katherine Dodson and Polly Keller.

Others are Emma Louise Crowgey, Betty Hawkins, Boonie Stephenson, Elizabeth Ann Parker, Dot Johnson, Jane Engleby, Ellen Royall, Faye Brandon, Frances Rosebro, Margaret Wright, Lucy Turnbull, Anne Boswell, Sara Cline, Forestine Whitaker, Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, Martha Roberts, Esther Atkinson, Martha Cottrell, and Elsye Berrye Yates.

Classes will begin as soon as possible after the opening of school in September.

Class Day

Continued from Page 1

Monday afternoon and "Lantern Parade" Monday night in which the "Little Sisters" assisted the graduates closed the events for the day.

Miss Mary Entertains Graduates at Tea

Miss Mary White Cox, head of the home, entertained the seniors, graduating sophomores, their guests and members of the faculty, administration and home department at a tea in the parlor of the senior dormitory Sunday afternoon, June 2, so that the graduates who gave a silver service set to the school might enjoy using it once before graduation.

Mrs. Eva H. Warren, Mrs. Hallie Laing and Miss Jane Royall received at the door.

Liggie Ellett, Alice Leigh Barham, Anne Benton, Frances Rosebro and Virginia Richards assisted in serving.

EACO THEATRE

DAILY MATS AT 3:45 P. M.

Fri.-Sat., June 7-8

CAROLE LANDIS

LON CHANEY, JR.

'One Million B. C.'

Cartoon—News

Next Mon.-Tue., June 10-11

'Baby Sandy', Hugh Herbert

"Little Accident"

On Our Stage

BEAUTY CONTEST

Competing for 'Miss Virginia 1940'

Next Wed.-Thu., June 12-13

Spencer Tracy, Rita Johnson

"Edison the Man"

Cart. 'Hardships of Miles Standish'

Congratulations to the Class of 1940

MUCH LUCK, SUCCESS AND HAPPINESS

WE APPRECIATE YOUR

PATRONAGE

THE HUB DEPT. STORE

APPRECIATES YOUR PATRONAGE

SUCCESS TO THE SENIORS

and

GRADUATING SOPHOMORES

IT HAS BEEN A PLEASURE

TO SERVE YOU

DOROTHY MAY STORE

First to Show the Newest

FAREWELL

TO S. T. C.

Another school year has come to a close. We have enjoyed seeing all of you and it has made us real proud to have been of service to you. Our best wishes and sincerest congratulations to the Senior Class.

DAVIDSON'S

NOVEMBER 9 IS FALL COTILLION DATE

The Rotunda

WRITE FOR THE COLONNADE

VOLUME XX — FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 25, 1940 — NO. 1

Musical Program Scheduled As First Lyceum

Miss J. Schiener Will Conduct

Women's Chamber Orchestra with Miss Jeannette Schiener as conductor will present the first lyceum number on October 8, 1940.

Women's Chamber Orchestra of New York is composed of 18 outstanding women artists, has been carefully organized and trained for this work. It is capable of playing symphonic work and chamber music for unusual combinations of instruments, as well as popular classics.

Miss Schiener, the conductor, is a distinguished clarinettist, and a musician of first rank. She is peculiarly fitted by temperament and experience to train a young orchestra. She is one of the first women conductors to emerge directly from the ranks of the orchestra.

Other lyceum numbers to be presented during the year are: Jesus Maria Sanrama, January 22, 1941; and the Siberian Singers, March 8, 1941.

Other lyceum numbers will be announced at a later date.

906 Matriculate For '40-'41 Session

26 Increase Noted In Enrollment

Matriculation blanks indicated that 906 students had enrolled here at the end of registration Friday, September 20; an increase of 26 as compared with the corresponding day of last year. Approximately 950 are expected to register before the end of the session. The total enrollment for the year 1939-40 was 932.

Of this year's 906 students, there are 559 upperclassmen, returning from last year, 298 freshmen and 49 transfers.

Elsye Berrye Yates Injured In Crash

Elsye Berrye Yates, a senior at S. T. C., suffered a slight fracture of the skull and a broken collar bone when the car in which she was riding overturned on the Farmville - Charlottesville road near Willis Mountain on her way back to school Sunday night, September 22. Elsye Berrye was taken to the Southside Hospital where her condition is reported to be fair. At present she is not allowed visitors.

Rotunda Notice

Try-outs for places on the Rotunda staff will begin Wednesday, September 26, at a meeting to be held in the publication office at 7 o'clock. Tryouts will continue over a period of a month, or four issues of the paper, before selections will be made of staff members.

Those students old and new who are interested in newspaper work are requested to come to the publication office in the Student Building at 7 o'clock tonight. Assignment of articles for the following issue will be made at that time. At the end of the month nine girls will be chosen to fill vacancies on the staff.

The various phases of work on the Rotunda include straight news, features, society, sports, editorials, business, and typing.

New Instructors

Sitting, left to right: Dr. A. Swing, Miss M. Cable, and Miss E. Burger. Standing: Dr. F. Swertfeger and Miss E. Kauzlarich.

Wertz Announces Virginian Plans

Suscription Drive To Start Soon

May Wertz, editor of the 1941 Virginian, has announced that the theme and general scheme of the new annual will be an informal story of the college year.

The literary portion of the book will be short and concise, but definite, and captions will be larger.

One afternoon during every week the Virginian photographers will be on the campus to take snapshots of the students at play. Everyone is asked to cooperate with the staff by letting the cameraman take the pictures. Individual pictures for the Virginian will be taken next week.

The annual subscription drive will begin soon. "Lulu", the Virginian's right-hand girl, will adorn each poster which will be placed in the halls.

If permissible, the annual staff will sponsor a dance in October.

Extra-Curricular Work Is Revised

Representatives of the school in extra-curricular activities are required to uphold a C average in their classes, and organizations on campus will meet less frequently and for shorter periods according to the plan presented by Student Standards Committee at the first Student Body meeting, Friday, September 20.

The plan, presented by May Wertz, editor of the Virginian, was voted upon and passed by the student body with the exception of abolishing sophomore and junior productions. Student Standands will enforce the regulations agreed upon.

Clubs will meet less often and a shorter length of time. There will be no call meetings and parliamentary procedure will be followed by organizations here at school. Clubs forming on campus must have the consent of Student Standards.

Dr. Jarman approved the changes made by Student Standards before it was presented to the student body. The plan will be presented to the faculty for approval at the next meeting.

Colonnade Sponsors Short Story Contest; Prizes Are Offered

Winning short stories of the contest sponsored by the Colonnade will be published in the fall issue of the S. T. C. magazine.

The contest, which began last summer, closes Tuesday, October first. Two judges will be chosen from the advisory staff of this publication, two from the student

Continued on Page 4

College Buildings Continue to Grow

Treasurer's Office Is Renovated

An addition to the recently built Senior dormitory was completed and ready for occupancy August 24, 1940 at a cost of $48,000.

The new dormitory built on the back of the year-old Senior dorm has 24 rooms and 12 baths. The basement is divided into a recreational hall and a trunk storage room. The new "rec", complete with four bridge tables, two ping pong tables, sofas, and easy chairs, is to be used by the girls only and not for dating.

Not only is this dormitory fire proof even to the closets, but it is practically sound proof. In place of the old-type transoms there are shutter ventilators which can be regulated as to the amount of ventilation desired. Another improvement is the separate refrigerating unit which keeps the drinking fountain water at forty degrees both day and night.

In the opinion of well known architects this new addition to S. T. C. is a thoroughly modern dormitory in all respects. It was built with money appropriated through the Noel Act.

Other improvements around the school included the Treasurer's renovated office and various paint jobs. Plans have also been formulated for the construction of a new hockey field south of the present one and six macadam tennis courts which are to be located on the old hockey field. This project will not be completed until spring.

Faculty Gains Five New Members This Session

Two Instructors On Leave of Absence

New faculty members at S. T. C. for this year include Dr. Floyd F. Swertfeger, Fairfield, Iowa; Miss Madge Coble, Liberty, North Carolina; Miss Emily Kauzlarich, Canton, Illinois; Miss Elizabeth Berger, Farmville, Virginia, and Dr. Anne Swing, Millpoint, West Virginia.

Dr. Swertzfeger, who replaces Mr. Leon Bell as instructor of education and philosophy has been a student assistant at the University of Illinois and the University of Virginia.

Miss Coble attended Guilford College where she received he B. S. degree and was awarded her M. S. degree at the University of Tennessee. She has done additional work at Columbia and State University. Miss Coble will replace Miss Frances Houck in the home economics department who was married this summer. She formerly taught at the University of Arkansas and the University of Georgia.

Miss Kauzlarich, who will instruct in the physical education department in the place of Mrs. Louise Fitzpatrick who has been granted a year's leave of absence, obtained her B. S. degree from the University of Illinois and her M. S. from Teachers College, Columbia University, where she also did special work. She has been teaching in the public schools of New York City.

Miss Berger attended Farmville State Teachers' College for two years and received her B. S. and M. S. degrees from William and Mary College. She will teach general science here. Formerly, she taught at Farmville High school.

Dr. Swing, new resident physician, is replacing Dr. Jean Martin who is on leave of absence. She is a graduate of West Virginia University and the Medical College of Virginia. Dr. Swing is from Hudson, New York, and has done post graduate work in London, England.

Marshall, Sexton, Looney and Haymes Are Hall Presidents

Four new hall presidents have been added to the house council staff for this year.

Sue Marshall will be on third floor Gym, Betty Sexton, on second floor Main, Evelyn Looney, on third floor Main and Jeanne Haymes on third floor Whitehouse.

New Orientation and Guidance Program Is Initiated This Year

President's Message

To Our New Students:

Just a word to freshmen and other new students to say we welcome you to our college with its many opportunities. Most of you are new to college life, and to make the transition from school to college or from home to college requires a little time for adjustment. It is surprising how quickly the adjustments are made. That is because of youth. Put your regular work first, and start with the determination to do your best with it. Then find an opportunity to develop your special talents, for you have different talents. Identify yourself with one of the extra-curricular activities in line with your particular gift or talent. Wholehearted participation in at least one of the many student activities on the campus will give added zest to your regular work and will do much to develop your personality. Remember that you are among friends. Every one here—student, faculty, administration—is eager to help you find your place in college life.

J. L. Jarman

Nancy Wolfe Is S. T. C. Princess

Represents College At Tobacco Festival

Nancy Wolfe of Lynchburg represented Farmville S. T. C. at the sixth annual National Tobacco Festival held in South Boston September 5 and 6.

Events at the festival consisted of a feature parade classed among the most colorful staged in America, a sequence of balls, and a spectacular historic pageant of tobacco with 1,000 characters in authentic costumes.

Climaxing the events was the Coronation Ball at which Miss Martha Scott, star of stage, screen, and radio, was crowned Queen by Ex-Postmaster James

Continued on Page 4

Mr. S. M. Holton, Jr. Heads Program

As a means of attaining better adjustment for members of the freshman class, Farmville S. T. C. is this session inaugurating a new orientation and guidance system.

Members of the freshman class came to Farmville several days before last year's students returned. During the initial period of orientation the freshmen were divided arbitrarily into twelve groups for orientation classes, each having a faculty member and two students to advise and instruct them.

Faculty Advise Through Year

Faculty advisers will meet their groups once a week for the first three weeks of school, and will have an individual conference with each new student in his group by the end of the second week here. As a minimum, individual conferences will be held with each new student and her faculty adviser once every quarter and as many more times as may be needed.

The faculty members will work with the registrar, the home department, and the faculty in trying to help new students become better adjusted to college life and in seeing that high standards of scholarship and citizenship are attained.

Classes conducted by the student orientation leaders began Thursday, September 19. The examination on the Students Handbook will be given Wednesday, September 26. Student leaders will work cooperatively with the faculty advisers throughout the year in helping to meet the problems of the new girls.

Holton Is Committee Head

To carry out this new system of orientation, Dr. Jarman selected 12 faculty members to act as advisers. Mr. S. M. Holton, Jr., professor of education, headed the committee to formulate plans for the experiment. Working with him were Mrs. Mosby Phlegar, formerly Miss Jane Royall, of the home department, and Miss Helen Draper, French instructor. Faculty advisers for this year include Miss Virginia Bedford, Miss Draper, Mr. Charlie French, Mr. S. M. Holton, Jr., Miss Lucille Jennings, Mrs. Elizabeth Hull Martin, Miss Grace Moran, Miss Mary E. Peck and Miss Florence Stubbs. Mr. Holton is chairman of the student advisory work.

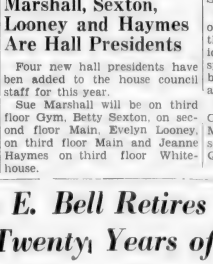
24 Student Leaders

Student orientation leaders are Ellen Royall, Lucy Turnbull, Ruth Lea Purdum, Jane Engleby, Crews Borden, Faye Brandon, Gene Hardy Kilmon, Beanie Stephenson, Margaret Wright, Mary K Dodson, Marty Roberts, Martha Whelchel, Anne Ayers, Forrestine Whitaker, Caroline Eason, Carolyn Harvey, Sara Cline, Elizabeth West, Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, Anne Boswell and Nancy Naff.

Dramatic Club Holds First Meeting Tonight

Dramatic Club will hold its first meeting of the 1940-41 session in the large auditorium Wednesday, September 25 at 7 o'clock P. M.

Apprentice classes will begin at this time for Freshmen who wish to try out for the Dramatic Club. This organization consists of six major groups; acting, staging, lighting, make-up, costuming, and properties.



The period of apprenticeship will last until the end of March, at which time each group leader will give an exam on the material taken up in her group. Apprentices passing exams will be voted upon by members of the Dramatic Club.

Professor Leon E. Bell Retires From Faculty After Twenty Years of Service

Professor Leon E. Bell who has been a member of the faculty of the State Teachers College of Farmville for the past twenty years has tendered his resignation. Professor Bell will be succeeded by his son-in-law, Dr. Floyd T. Swertfeger, professor of philosophy at Parsons College, Fairfield, Iowa.

Professor Bell came to Farmville twenty years ago from State Normal School, at Keene, N. H., where he was head of the department of psychology and pedagogy. With a record of faithful and loyal service, Professor Bell is held in highest esteem and affection by the students with whom he has been affiliated during his stay at the college.

He holds the degree of B. A. from Northwestern University, S. T. C. from Boston University, M. A. from Columbia University, and also master's diploma in education from Colubia University. He studied a year in the department of experimental psychology and the department of neurology in

LEON E. BELL

University of Chicago, and pursued further graduate work at the University of California, Cornell, and Harvard. He is also a graduate of the Emerson College of Oratory, Boston, and received his degree from Boston University. He holds a diploma in music from the Northwestern University.

His experience in educational work before becoming associated with the State Teachers College at Farmville was extensive. He taught at Vashon College and University of Puget Sound, Washington; was superintendent of city schools in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi; and taught one summer in the Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College. He became head of the department of psychology and pedagogy in the state normal schools in Indiana, Pennsylvania, East Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania, and Rhode Island Normal School at Providence.

Since coming to Farmville, Pro-

Continued on Page 3

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margarta Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Mary K. Beck ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Anne Barnette, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Bridget Gentile, Mariam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Dorothy Sprinkle.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Typists

Frances Pritchett ..... Chief Typist
Doris Alvis, Thelma Courtney and Jean Warwick ..... Assistants

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1940

Address to Newcomers

By this time greetings and salutations have been extended and re-extended to you, you are settled though perhaps not adjusted, the first days of classes are over and with everything clean and fresh, you are thinking to yourself about making a good start. That good start is dependent upon your educational, personal and social adjustment. It means first sticking to the rules which were formulated by people thinking not only of the individual but of the good of the whole school. It means, too, observing the Honor Code which you will soon sign. This is the life breath of Farmville and by living up to it we foster high ideals and promote coordination in our everyday life. You are trusted here. It is your responsibility to fulfill that trust.

S. T. C. is now your home. You've sisters" galore with a love of Farmville as a common bond. We wish you happiness.

Revision of the Extra Curricular Program

Student Standards Committee's proposed revision of the extra curricular program has been accepted by the student body and will be presented to the faculty at its next meeting.

The plan has as its aim quality—quality in scholarship as well as outside activities. The proposed action places restrictions upon the number of club meetings and upon the number of organizations in which each individual may hold membership in addition to requiring all officers to maintain a "C" average. Membership in some organizations also demands a "C" average as a prerequisite.

It is important that we have upon our campus an integrated program of required and extra curricular work with as much emphasis placed upon one phase as the other. We are not here to major in extra curricular activities but to prepare for continued learning in life. Whether oh not this "continued learning" demands a "C" average is the main issue.

There are as usual two sides to the story and the question arises "Should a girl with a mediocre record of college grades but genuine and sustained interest be deprived of taking an active part in some activity of her choice while her brighter sister holds a passive membership in many organizations.

Our policy in this matter is not to take sides, for whatever revision of the extra curricular program is finally made it will not be perfect. We are merely trying to acquaint you with some of the various angles of the situation which are bound to come up.

Religion and Freedom

We rightly boast of freedom of religion as a very rich inheritance of the past, but freedom of religion does not mean freedom from religion. Liberty of conscience must never beconfused with liberty from conscience. We can never exepect the rights of man to be respected where the right of God are disregarded. s one looks back across the history of our nation and of al nations, one quickly discovers that leadership has always come from the ranks of those who keep their faces toward the stars and give their hearts to God.—V. B.

Crossing Streets

Our haphazard "jay walking" is fast becoming a grave problem to the townspeople. Several cases of "nerves" have been developed since the opening of school due to the utterly unconcerned attitude which the students have developed toward crossing streets—most especially Southside-Shannon's corner and the one near Student Building.

Let's all try to ease the strain put on Farmville drivers by observing the rules set forth by Hygeia magazine this month.

1. The safe walker does not step out carelessly from behind parked cars or obstructions.

2. He does not try to weave his way through traffic.

3. He crosses streets at right angles.

4. He uses care in getting on and off vehicles.

5. He looks left and right when crossing a street.

6. He obeys traffic signals.

7. He holds his conferences on sidewalks, not in the middle of the streets.

8. The pedestrian walks toward the traffic, not with it, on open highways.

Tendencies

The tendency of the modern college girl is to let things drift. It is so easy to let work slide until tomorrow, or to let opportunities wait until next week, or to disregard the pleasures of self. hTe girls whose intentions are good but whose intentions never materialize is always among us. What is your type? Does duty rule you, or does that conscienceless part of you triumph? The beginning of the year is the time to use that extra spurt of energy which everyone withholds until some definite need arises. The time of need has come! let us then folow Carlyle in his lines: "Do the duty that lies nearest thee which thou knowest to be a duty! The second duty will ready become clearer.—V. B.

Europe is not doomed. The price which England pays today for survival makes democracy as never before precious to all Englishmen. The history of my own country shows that Frenchmen have never long endured hyranny. Unlike the Germans, the French cannot be tricked into slavery. Since the days of Jeanne d'Arc, oppresion has always bred leaders among us.

This is the spirit of France—the France that gave you the symbol of Liberty—the goddess who even today from your shores turns her eyes towards Europe. There, in ruined cities and plundered fields, millions of humble folk are quietly determined that that spirit shall not perish. I affirm that it will not perish. To doubt this would be the only treason.—G. Tabonis.

Bouquets AND Brickbats

Green to the right of me; green to the left of me. And with all this color, Farmville embarks upon another scholastic year with your ole friend (?), the common-tater, to b ing you "What's new". To you eager, bright eyed freshmen, we extend a welcome—And now after a summer tinged with excitement and romance, we return to find—well, let's see.

First to grasp our attention were the customa:y neophytes in our clan (Frosh to you)—By coming two days earlier they seemed to have had Hampden-Sydney well under control by the time we arrived.

Glimpes: Quite a few frat pins are being sported as a result of summer romances—Mim Hanvey crashed thru with a beauteous one—diamonds are still the order of the day—Congrats Petticrew—also is Dot Menefee wearing a V. M. I. pin.

Round the campus we go observing to find—Jim Traylor linked up with one of the Trigg twins from Hopewell—Bill Lashley with Pierpont—Are you taking a P. G. at Farmville, Bill? . . . In case you've been wondering whom Robin Heming's attractive date was Sunday night, we mention the name—Walter Engle—Yeah Bob's 'lil bro.

Amongst the missing—Moss, Pudge, and Nimmo teaching in Tazewell—Incidentally they send word that they'll be back for Fall Cotillion . . . Izzie holding down Holland along with Libby Morris and Kitty Roberts . . . 'Tis heard that Bobbie Hannah, one of last year's freshmen, will soon say "I do" . . . Ah! youth . . . and so will Bruce Crowell, who was "Miss Farmville State Teachers College" at the National Tobacco Festival in 1938.

It seemed like old times Sunday to see so many of our ole grads around. F ances Dudley reports that teaching is all right—who could it be? And then there was Hattie Vaden and her car—'twas good also to see Norma Wood, Hoppy, Wentz and Rudd—and all looking mighty fine.

Libby Warner reports a change from Sigma Chi to Theta Chi . . . and just why was Red Madison in town Sunday? . . . Newest resident of Farmville is Allene's Jack.

Scene in the Rec—Jeanne Sears with Bro, who we understand is now working in Richmond . . . Lillian and Jackie double-dating again—yeah, the usuals . . . the return of John Dennis to Hampden-Sydney—and May Wertz.

"Lindy" — Patterson's, you know—is included among the missing. He was finally caught and is now living in Richmond—but there's still Flip—who is reported saying that he has never in all his life dreamed that such a group of girls existed.

Just wondering why Peggy Lou gets so excited over letters postmarked Blacksburg? . . . And why Jimmy Dodson had such a hard time finding Mary Lou Thursday night? . . . If Rosebro found romance at Blue Ridge this summer?

Suggested theme songs: "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life"—the return to school . . . "Back in the Saddle again"—classes . . . "How Can I Ever Be Alone"—freshman . . . "Come On In"—Caralle Nelson and Jean Moyer . . . "Just One More Chance"—hall presidents . . . "It's My Turn Now"—new sophs . . . "I'll Never Smile Again"—nostalgic victims . . . "The Years"—seniors . . . "Busy as a Bee"—orientation . . . "Let There Be Love"—student body . . . "Just a Dream of You, Dear"—Virginia Campfield . . . "Only Forever"—Ruth Lea . . . "Three Cheers for Anything"—Junior Building . . . 'So Far, So Good"—Sing . . . "Indian Summer"—Present . . . "On the Old Park Bench"—Pie and Garland . . . "Sparkling Blue Eyes" — Jane Saunders . . . "Goodbye Little Darlin'. Goodbye" — Sunday nights.

That's all Folks!

GLEANINGS

By JACK COCK

Aerial War Continues

Like so many droning bees and hornets the deadly planes of the Nazi and the R. A. F. continue their destruction on London and Berlin in the greatest battle of the skies the world has ever known. Just how long each side will be able to uphold its morale and material strength remains to be seen.

Last week, for the first time since the beginning of the war battle Britain and Germany acknowledged heavier losses than their enemy. Without a doubt the losses on both sides have been heavy and the pauses between attacks only slight as air raid warnings seem to become a perpetual thing.

Rumor from abroad would have us believe that the German ground forces in the Netherlands are weakening, that due to the tremendous loss of life the morale of the German army is breaking, and that now an invasion of Britain seems unlikely. Propaganda perhaps but food for thought. As yet the proposed invasion has not come. Will Hitler after all eat his Thanksgiving dinner in a fallen London?

Famine in Europe

In France the government has placed upon the French people the strongest food rationing possible in keeping with the general health of the public, giving as its reasons, the destruction of crops in the war zone and the British Blockade.

The inevitable results of war are these almost starvation food rationings, and reason enough alone to be thankful that we live in a so far peaceful America, where food supply is unlimited, where man is not herded into a compulsory bread line, nor shoveled like so many tons of coal into dreary crowded bomb proof cellars.

Latest tragedy of the war in Europe was the sinking last Tuesday of a British warship with 406 war refugees aboard. Heralded as one of the most outrageous acts of the war, the sinking shocked the world anew as to the horror and brutality that is this war.

Stories of heroism, suffering, and dying were told by the survivors, while messengers carried the news of lost ones to bereaved relatives in London.

Newspaper correspondents write indignantly of cruel and brutal German U. Boat Captain who torpedoed without warning in a tempestious storm raged sea when neither child nor adult could survive. So go the bitter consequences of war.

America—Draft and Election

Foremost in the thoughts of most Americans are the draft and the forthcoming election.

Army Officials announced late Friday that married men would not be exempt from the draft simply because they were married, but only if wives, wards, or relatives were dependent upon their earnings.

As for the election in November, anything might happen. Holding the trump card and keeping folks guessing is the independent voter. What he will do is still the question.

Said to be greatly cheered, however, is Wendell L. Willkie, Republican candidate now on a campaign tour of the West. An increase in audience attendance and attentiveness is reported to be the cause of Mr. Willkie's good cheer.

The Far East

In the far East, in spite of the negotiations by Major General Isaker Nishibara head of the Japanese military mission in Wanoi, Japan's South China army invaded Indo-China Sunday night in an effort to reach China through her back door. The Japs, however, met with heavy resistance in the past of French troops and were forced to cease their attack. The attack came several hours after an agreement was reached by General Nishibara in an effort to keep the South China Army out of the French colony.

Do's and Don't's For Freshmen

Ahoy, there. My bonnie Freshmen—Lower the sails, drop the oars and heed the words of an old landlubber—Ifen you don't all might not be smooth sailing ahead.

The first bulletin says "Be good to your big sister". The reason is that she may be just as scared of you as you are of her. But don't let her know that you're just as intelligent as she is.

Be particularly respectful to the sophomores—You'll find out why before long.

Do tremble in awe of the seniors and their dignity and be the best of riends with your sister class, the Juniors.

Don't walk around barefooted—we don't want A. F.

Do wear your snazziest housecoat on Sunday night—it looks better from the Rotunda.

Don't ever go to class on time. The teacher can get a better look at you when you come in late.

Don't talk up in class. Wilkie got a sore throat from talking too much.

Do turn your radio up loud e nough for your next door neighbor to hear.

Always leave the ring in bathtib. Remember—you had to wash it too.

Continued on Page 4

• Sports Slants •

By "PETIE" BARNETT"

Well, well—I'm not stuttering, even though it may seem that I'm trying to extend another welcome. Those things do seem to be in order at present, don't they? Everyone welcomes the new girls and "re-welcomes" the old ones, with no reservations. Dr. Jarman and Mr. Potts have had an especially good time welcoming us all. Of course, far be it from me to wish to cause any boredom at S. T. C., so I'm going to issue a special little glad handshake and pat on the back in behalf of the A. A. and all you sports fans. To all the old (not in years, I hope!) athletes and to each and every new girl who wishes to participate in our "games and fun", we wish to extend our best wishes for a most successful year in any and all sports which you choose. Gosh, we do hope there are just oodles of you new girls who can scarcely wait to try out the tennis courts, hockey field, archery range, and golf course.

You know, we're going to miss our old faithfuls, such as Cleo, Dot, Myra, Ruby, Nimmo, etc. 'Course we have Pat, Marty, Chappie, Nell, Dotty, and lots of others to fill those places, but pray tell me, who's going to take theirs as they step out? Freshmen, it's up to you to come out there and show what you can do. There's bound to be lots of athletic talent in that big class of yours, and, confidentially, we're willing—in fact anxious to see some of it. Practice will be starting for most of our fall sports this week, and we'll be "powerful" disappointed if a mob of Frosh doesn't show up. We were terribly proud of you down at the pool this past Saturday night. Don't say it—it was merely envigorating. 'Tis a purty place to swim, isn't it? I hear that some of you have signed up for the swimming classes, too. You'll be glad of that little thing when Water Carnival time rolls around and you find that you can be in it.

We'll tell you more about that later; it's all great fun. And I suspect you'll find that your instructor will actually pull you out if you happen to go down in the deep end. (Don't be frightened; it's really very safe!)

By the way, I had an announcement to make concerning hockey practice. But first, let me congratulate "Ebo". She's our new assistant hockey manager, and an excellent one she'll be, too. Now, about practice. Each Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock hockey practice will be held on the hockey field. This practice, for the present, will be mainly for the beginners and the new girls who are interested in making the teams (varsity or class). However, Miss Iler will be delighted to have any of the old girls who would like to come out to help her in teaching the beginners.

Just wait until class hockey games begin! Boy, oh, boy, does excitement run high then! Especially the Soph. vs. Frosh. one, which is the deciding factor between taking off those rat caps or wearing them until Christmas! Better rustle up a good team, you Frosh, if you want to "de-cap" yourselves!

Tennis should go off pretty well this year. There's a new plan "in the offing", or "in the making", or sumpin'. At any rate, it's just being developed and has not yet been approved. I'll give you just a hazy idea of what it's all about. You know, Parham's rather good at thinking up things like this, and, if it works out, it should make for a much better organized team than ours has been heretofore. The plan will have all those actually interested and it does mean those who are wiling to work, not those who want just to mess along, sign up for a place on a tentative team—preferably, not more than twenty girls. These girls are to play among themselves this fall, not at regularly appointed times, but as often as possible. Two of the three courts will be available to them at any time of the day, while the other one will be available to anyone else who wishes to play. Of course, if these two courts are not occupied by those girls who signed up, others may use them, but they must be relinquished in favor of the "signees". Then, next spring, it will be a much easier and fairer task to pick up a good varsity team. Speakng of spring reminds me that we are planning to have by that time six new asphalt courts located on the site of the present hockey field. A new hockey field will be situated immediately behind the courts. How 'bout that? We'll be plutocrats then won't we?

Some more plans are in the offing, this time concerning transportation to Longwood for the golf and archery fiends. We are hoping to provide rides each Monday and Wednesday afternon at four o'clock, but that, too, is not yet a completely formulated plan. Announcements will be made concerning this part of our fall sports program.

Tell you what, let's all drink a toast to the most successful year S. T. C. has ever known in the sports world. And let's all do our part to make it such by attending every practice from beginning to end. Don't go out for something for which you haven't time; practice is the most important item in any successful team's career. Through it we find co-operation, teamwork, and perfection. Here's to Farmville, at her best in 1940-'41!

WELCOME S. T. C. GIRLS!

Make This Store Your—Headquarters

DOROTHY MAY STORE

Charge it if you like

Would You Like to Buy Five Recordings for the Price of One?

Watch four our advertisement in next week's Rotunda
IN THE MEANTIME for latest msuic or anything musical visit

SOUTHSIDE MUSIC CENTER
119 West Third Street

Only Complete Music Store Within 50 Miles

Free Riding Lessons Offered By Miss Fox

Students Must Have Home Permission

Miss Stella Fox, riding instructress, is offering free preliminary instruction to girls interested in horseback riding. Stables this year are located behind the last house on Pine street.

Thirteen rides are being given for $10 or fifty rides for $30. All these rides must be taken in one quarter. Anyone wishing information may see Lillian German.

The Riding Club will meet Wednesday night to plan the year's work. Permission from home is necessary for students wishing to ride.

Hectic "First Days" Is Theme of Sing

Saturday night and Sing! What is one without the other? The first sing of the year found us once again leaving the dining room early, to grab a seat for Jane and Sue, and Nancy and Alice and Mary and Flo, and gee whiz, a whole row of seats.

After a more formal begining with the introduction of the ministers of the various churches, the lights dimmed and Chubby Heard announced, "Tonight, we bring you two scenes from a typical first day at Farmville". May Winn howling for Mommie like a six year old, presented herself before Joan of Arc, played by Ellen Ebel, and the "Y" girls, Trudy Hale and the Hall twins. She was taken screaming to her room and other girls came streaming into the Rotunda—fat girls, thin girls, scared girls, cocksure girls,—all looking for their rooms, with the exception of that athletic gal (Pat Gibson) who was looking for the swimming pool. Marty Roberts clutching her squirrels, movie queen, Louise Painter, and other types added excitement.

That night found the whole assortment collected in one room firing questions at each other. The phone in the hall was a magnet to all except meek and mild Marty who still clutched her squirrels. And it was for her that the call turned out to be.

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert
Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet"
Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

Sports Calendar

Hockey
Tuesday 4:00-5:00
Thursday 4:000-5:00

Swimming
Monday-Friday 4:00-5:00
Saturday 8:00-9:30

Golf and Archery
(at Longwood)
Monday 4:00
Wednesday 4:00

Tennis
Courts available at all times

Prof. Bell Retires

Continued from Page 1

fessor Bell has been teaching philosophy, psychology and education. Not only has he contributed much as an educator and citizen in the community, but for years he has been a member of the Farmville Methodist Church Choir, and is active in musical circles.

KLEANWELL
Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

WELCOME
SENIORS, JUNIORS
SOPHOMORES, FRESHMEN
Visit . . .
NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store
. . . Today!

All Frosh Must Pass Beginners Swimming Test

Red Cross Exam To Be Given

Under a new plan set up by the physical education department every freshman is required to pass the American Red Cross beginner's swimming test before her first year gym course is completed.

Students who believe themselves capable of passing the test may take it at scheduled hours which will be announced by Pat Gibson, swimming instructor. Girls who cannot swim are urged to join the M. W. F. 3:30-4:30 o'clock non-credit class.

During the spring quarter provision will be made for students who have not passed the test to spend one gym period a week in the pool. Any student who fails to pass this work, unless she be excused by the school doctor, will not receive a passing grade on the spring quarter of freshman gym.

Mr. Bell and his family will continue to make Farmville their home.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

Welcome Back S. T. C.—Make
Shannon's
Your Headquarters
Phone 224

BALANCE YOUR DIET
With Fruits from the
Economy Food Store
Main tSreet Farmville

Ebel Is Assistant Hockey Manager

Harriette Walker, hockey manager, has named Ellen Ebel assistant hockey manager for the 1940-'41 session.

Ellen was a member of the freshman squad last year.

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

COLLEGE SHOPPE
Welcome Students
WE APPRECIATE
YOUR BUSINESS
Phone 200

Hop Says:
His Freshmen
DELUXE CLEANERS
will give you the best dry cleaning in town at the following prices:
Skirts 25c
Sweaters 25c
Blouses 25c
Street Dresses 50c
Evening Dresses ..... $1.00 up
3RD STREET—PHONE 77

ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner
WE WELCOME YOU
MAKE THIS YOUR STORE

Martin, the Jeweler
Rytex Stationery
200 single sheets or 100 double sheets and 100 envelopes
FOR $1.00

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

MAKE. . . .
BALDWIN'S
YOUR HEADQUARTERS
—For 1940—
Our Ready-to-Wear Department
Has Just Been Remodeled and
This Year We Are Specializing in COLLEGE TYPE CLOTHES
Come To BALDWIN'S
For Your School Needs

HOW TO WIN BOY-FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE STAG-LINES

By Dalea Dorothy Clix

Dear Miss Clix: I'm going to ask you to look into my very soul, because I need all the help your wisdom can give me. I am considered the "wholesome" type, because I'm a good basketball player, mix well with people, and made Phi Beta in my Junior year. But oh, Miss Clix, I'd rather be a "femme fatale," and to hell with that "wholesome" stuff! How can I make the world—men, that is—realize I'm just a Daughter of Eve? How does one begin?

YEARNING

Dear "Yearning": Let me tell you right from the horse's mouth, "femmes fatales" are born, not made. If I were you, I'd give up the idea. Also, by the time you've learned all the femme fatale tricks, it'll be time to teach 'em to your grand-daughter. Better idea: make yourself physically attractive in ways anybody can learn. You play basket-ball. Well, have you got "basket-ball hands"? Start there—make your hands, your fingernails, well-groomed, attractive, alluring!

AND NOW, DEAR, READ THE NEXT COLUMN CAREFULLY!

WHAT YOU CAN DO TO HAVE MORE BEAUTIFUL NAILS

Let the brilliant, gem-hard lustre of DURA-GLOSS give your fingernails that marvelous attraction and allure that men admire! DURA-GLOSS is the amazing new nail polish that's different! DURA-GLOSS flows on more smoothly, keeps its brilliant beauty of color longer, resists tacking and chipping better! Have the most beautiful fingernails in the world—buy DURA-GLOSS!

NEW SHADE ZOMBIE

A NEW FORMULA BY LORR 10¢
Lorr Laboratories, Paterson, N. J.

Yourself and Others

V. M. I.-Roanoke Football Game

V. M. I.-Roanoke College football game attracted several S. T. C. girls this week-end, in spite of the fact they have just returned to resume their studies. Those girls who attended the game were Helen McGuire, Ruby Trice, Marie Utt, Helen Lewis, Catherine Radspinner, and Ruth Loving.

Richmond received a number of girls—some to visit parents and some to attend the football game. Mary Sue Edmonson, Helen Hawkins, Kathryn Lancaster, Margaret Lawerence, Jennie Noel, Ruth Lea Purdom, Mary Lou Shannon, and Jane Jones were among those who went.

Letha Barnes, Lena Hubbard, Elizabeth Bellows, Ruth Handley, Leta Burford, and Dorothy Massie traveled to the near by cities of Burkeville, Whitestone and Amherst.

Two S. T. C. girls returned to Lynchburg for the week-end.

The postage bill mailing the Montgomery Ward catalogues last year totaled $7,000,000.

Weddings During Vacation

Watkins-Hutchinson

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hutchinson of Charleston, W. Va., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Adele, to John Watkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Watkins, of Farmville. The wedding took place in Salem Methodist Church, Salem, Virginia, on August 31.

Adele is an alumna of S. T. C. and a member of the training school faculty.

Mr. Watkins attended Hampden-Sydney and is assistant cashier of People's National Bank of Farmville.

Holland-Williams

Dean and Mrs. J. E. Williams, of Blacksburg, have announced the marriage of their daughter Peggy to William Holland of Suffolk. The ceremony was performed in Blacksburg in June. Peggy was a member of this year's junior class and Billy is a graduate of V. P. I.

Catlett-Hutchinson

Eleanor Hutchinson, a graduate of last year, was married on August tenth to Charlie Catlett of Alabama, a V. P. I. alumnus. The wedding took place in Blacksburg. The couple are now living in Tampa, Florida.

Phlegar-Royall

Jane Royall was married to Mosby Phlegar on August 31, in the Methodist church in Tazewell, Virginia. Jane was President of the Student Body before she graduated and since then has been secretary to the head of the home.

Mr. Phlegar, who is from Norfolk, was graduated from Hampden-Sydney and later attended Harvard. They will make their home in Norfolk.

Big-Little Sister Party Given by Y. W.

Y. W. C. A. entertained the Big Sisters and Little Sisters at a reception in the gymnasium Monday night, September 2, at eight o'clock. The purpose was to acquaint the new girls with the administration and major officers of the college.

The receiving line, which formed in the Y. W. C. A. lounge, consisted of Dr. J. L. Jarman, Caralie Nelson, Jean Moyer, Martha Whelchel, Carolyn Harvey, Ellen Ebel, Mrs. J. W. Watkins, Misses Mary and Winnie Hiner, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Coyner, Miss Lucille Jennings, and Dorothy Eades, past president of the Y. W.

Marion Heard, chairman of the sing committee, presented a fashion show and refreshments were served.

The decorations were blue and white, the college and Y. W. C. A. colors.

The faculty, the town ministers and their wives were invited.

GOOD OFFER: This letter was received in Salem, Virginia in answer to an advertisement which offered "for sale or trade" an airplane: "I would like to trade you the following things: a fine red rooster, two pair pigeons, one crystal radio set I made; three red hens, one radio, has five tubes, four bantams and one Erector set. If this suits you let me know and I will be able to come and get the airplane." The writer was Jo. Alex Osborne, III, aged 10.

Gamma Theta Elects Officers

New officers were elected by Gamma Theta sorority at a meeting held on Saturday, September twenty-first to replace vacancies left by girls not returning to school.

Betty Peerman will be head, Nancy Dupuy, vice-head, Charlotte Phillips, treasurer, and Anne Williams, alumna secretary.

Dorothy Lawrence was elected Pan-Hellenic representative.

A. A. Picnic Is Held At Longwood for Freshmen

Longwood was presented to the freshmen and transfers Thursday, September nineteenth, when the Athletic Association entertained the new girls with a picnic there.

On Friday, September twentieth at four o'clock, the freshmen and new girls hiked to Longwood "the long way". Cokes were served.

Story Contest

Continued from Page 1

staff, and one from the student body at large.

Prizes for the contest consist of five dollars, first prize, three dollars, second prize and one dollar third prize. Stories of the first and second winners of the contest will appear in the fall issue of the Colonnade. November fourteenth is the tentative date set for this issue. The third prize-winning story in last year's contest will also appear in the first issue of this year's Colonnade.

Do's and Dont's

Continued from Page 2

Don't ever burn the toast. The girls next door may drop in— accidentally.

Don't answer the hall telephone. It's never for you.

Don't bother to put all the trash in the cans. The maid will clean it up.

Don't bother very much about dressing well. Your personality will compensate.

For godness sakes, don't worry about your classes. You're only young once.

Festival Princess

NANCY WOLFE

Tobacco Festival

Continued from Page 1

Farley. Nancy was presented as representing the oldest state teachers college in the state.

Other girls from the college representing their respective sections were: May Wertz, "Miss Blue Ridge"; Cottie Radspinner, "Miss Southside"; Mickey Beck, "Miss Dinwiddie"; Lillian Agnew, "Miss Burkeville"; Virginia Mae Ellett, "Miss Nottoway"; Rebecca Jones, "Miss Mecklenburg"; Nancy Pierpont, "Miss Roanoke"; County"; Esther Atkinson, "Miss Prince Edward"; Martha McCorkle, "Miss Farmville"; Betty Bridgeforth, "Miss Lunenburg"; Katherine H. Price, "Miss Brookneal."

Y. W. Girls Entertain At Welcome Party

New girls took their first trip to the "rec" Tuesday night, September 17 at eight o'clock to attend the welcome party sponsored by the Sophomore Commission. Jeanne Hall, chairman of the commission presided and all major officers of the student body as well as the members of the commission were introduced, after which Sara Cline, chairman of the membership committee, acted as master of ceremonies. Games such as bingo and a quiz were played.

Farmville songs were sung while refreshments were being served.

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop

"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

WELCOME GIRLS

We Are Glad to Have You Back

Make Our Store Your headquarters

DAVIDSON'S

The House of Quality

STATE
"Your Community Center"
PHONE FARMVILLE 21
Today Thru Thurs.!

Friday-Saturday!
A Merry Menu of Love and Laughs!
LORETTA YOUNG — MELVYN DOUGLAS
in
"HE STAYED FOR BREAKFAST"

LEE
"Your Family Theatre"
PHONE FARMVILLE 252
Wednesday Only!
GEO. O'BRIEN in
"PRAIRIE LAW"
Thursday-Friday!
CAROLE LANDIS — HENRY WILCOXON
Mystery Sea Raider
Saturday Only!
CHAS. STARRETT in West of Abilene
Monday & Tuesday
JOAN BENNETT and FRANCIS LEDERER
in
"THE MAN I MARRIED"

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS — MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

BUTCHER'S
A hearty welcome to faculty and student body

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE
Famous for Good Food
Phone 356

A & N STORE

Lady's jodphurs, tan and brown	$2.95
Jodphur Boots	$3.75
Jodphur Shoes	$2.75
Riding Breeches, tan and brown	$2.95
Riding Boots	$5.95
Sweat Shirts and Athletic Socks

WELCOME S. T. C. STUDENTS
Redecorate your rooms with beautiful new curtains, bed spreads and rugs at
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Appreciate Your Patronage

CHECK YOUR EXTRA CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

The Rotunda

CHECK YOUR EXTRA CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

VOLUME XX FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, OCT. 2, 1940 NO. 2

Honor Fraternity Announces Oct. 26 As Circus Date

Rosa Courter Is General Chairman

October 26 has been announced at the date of the 1940 S. T. C. circus which is sponsored each year by Alpha Kappa Gamma, national leadership fraternity.

Rosa Courter, a senior from Amelia, has been named general chairman of the event and will direct the activities of classes and organizations. Each class will put on a stunt and judges will choose the best as winner. Many organizations will set up booths and "side-show" attractions in the gym.

Chairmen of the various committees are Chubby Heard, parade; Caralie Nelson, stunts; Liggie Ellet and Dorothy Eades, animals; Dorothy Rollins, costumes; Jean Moyer and Martha Whelchel, queen and court; Boo Barham, decorations; and Pat Gibson and Libby West, business.

The S. T. C. circus is a gala affair combining booths and freaks with a tent show, "wild" animals and clown acts. A grand parade in the afternoon culminates with the presentation of the queen and her court at night.

109 Students Make Honor Roll

Miss Virgilia Bugg, registrar, has announced that 109 girls currently enrolled at Farmville State Teachers College made the Honor Roll in the spring quarter of the 1939-40 session.

To be placed on the Honor Roll a student must make a grade of A or B on at least three-fourths of her work for the quarter, must have no failures, no conditions, no unexcused absences from class or chapel and no reports from the Government Association.

Those students who made the Honor Roll are listed below.

Rachel Abernathy, Mary Frances Adams, Lillian Agnew, Marie Bird Allen, Elva K. Andrews, Louise Applewhite, E. Anne Ayres, Elizabeth Barlow, Vera F. Baron, May Bartlett, Anne Benton, Brooke Benton, Carmen Booth, Eleanor Boothe, Betty Boutchard.

Lena Butterworth, Margaret Campbell, Josa Carlton, E. Carr, Sarah Chambers, Corida Chaplin, Imogene Clayton, Mary Ann Cobb, Iwil Cocks, Esther Coleman, Nahrea Coleman, Thelma Courtney, Martha De Crawley, Barbara Mae Drewery, Mary Anne Dryden, Nan Duer, Sally K. Dunlap.

Anne Ellett, Betty Fahr, Texie Belle Felts, Virginia Firesheets, Carolyn Frances Ford, V. Bliss Fowlkes, A. Elizabeth Garrett, Mrs. Frances W. Gee, Margaret Gerlaugh, Carrie Gibboney, Luella Hall, Martha Hammock, Helen Wiley Hardy, Jean E. Hatton, Jeanne Haymes, Mary F. Haymes, Marion Heard, Hallie Hillsman, Marjorie Holt, Virginie Howell, Jane Lee Hutcheson.

Emma Hutchinson, Katherine Jarrett, Elizabeth H. Jennings, Ann Johnson, Dorothy Johnson, Mary Jane Jolliffe, E. Rebecca Jones, Frances Keck, Polly Keller, Elva Kibler, Rachel Kibler, Mildred Lawhorne, Margaret Lovins, Sue Marshall, Susie Lyle Moore, Mildred Morris, Jean Moyer, Caralie Nelson, Ada Nuckols.

Edith Nunnally, Allene Overby, Emily L. Owen, Ruth Palmer, Esther Partridge, Roberta Payne, Betty Peerman, R. Louise Phillips, Agnes Pickral, Katherine Powell, Lula Power, Anne Price, Mary Marshall Prosise, Ruth Lea Purdum, Evelyn Quillin, Amy Read, Dorothy Robbins, Rosalie Rogers.

Dorothy Rollins, Alice Seebert, Sara Seward Mrs. Nellie R. Shel-

Continued on Page 4

Extra Curricular Program Published

The revised extra curricular schedule is listed on page 3 of this issue together with an example schedule blank. Students are urged to figure out their program according to this blank so that there will be no mistakes made next week when Student Standards distributes three of the same type of cards to everyone. These will be filled in and filed by the Home Office, Registrar's Office and Students Standards, respectively.

The Roman numerals are used to denote each of the four weeks in the month. Open time is to be used for meetings when a speaker or program take up the regular allotted time of any organization.

Juniors, Seniors Elect Circus Heads

Classes Start Work on Stunts

Circus chairmen for the senior and junior classes were selected at class meetings Tuesday night October 1.

Yates Carr and Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, of the senior class, will direct the senior stunt. Heading the dance booth committee are Patsy Fletcher, Helen Gray, and Louise Painter.

In the junior class Frances Rosebro is chairman of the class stunt. Working with her are Elizabeth Rapp, Shirley McCalley and Margaret Wright. Co-chairman of the junior booth are Virginia Alexander, and Miriam Hanvey. Their committee includes Jo Newman, Texie Belle Felts, and Sally Hutchinson.

Chambers Is YWCA Music Head

As chairman of the music committee of the Y. W. C. A. Sarah Chambers of Clifton Forge will succeed Betty Hawkins, Roanoke, who did not return to S. T. C. this fall.

The duty of this committee is to furnish special music for Prayers, Morning Watch, and any other occasion for which the Y. is in need of music.

Fire Marshalls Named by Chief; Moore Assistant

Aides Located In Every Building

Anna George, fire chief, has announced her committee to work with her this year.Anne Moore, a sophomore, is Anna's assistant.

Fire marshalls in Main building include Betty Clemmons, Nancy Roane, Alice Goode Cahoon, Virginia Watts, Marjorie McAllister, and Mary Harvie. Jeanne Haymes and Jeanne Hall were appointed on Whitehouse.

On Annex Kitty Price, Nancy Alen and Ann Ellett will be marshalls. Lorana Moomaw and Nuitie Johns are on Gym Hall.

Peggy Lou Boyette and Jerry Smith have Student Building and Eugenia Bradshaw, Library building.

Sue Dunlap will be fire marshal for the front half of Junior building and Virginia Barksdale for the back half.

In Senior building are Frances Pritchett, Jean Upshur, and Frances Keck. Charlotte Gresham is in Richardson and Colleen Jackson in Venable.

Signs have been posted designating exits for halls. A new automatic sprinkling system, costing $7,000 is being installed. There will be no fire drills until this is completed.

Date of Cotillion Set For Nov. 9

Saturday, November 9, is the date which has been set by the Cotillion Club for the annual fall dance. This dance will be held in the gymnasium and many alumnae and out-of-town visitors are expected to be present.

Members of Cotillion Club issue bids to the affair. Each member is entitled to invite two girls and one boy to the dance.

Faye Brandon heads the committee which will select an orchestra for the affair.

Sophs Elect Haymes Vice-President

Mary "Fiddle" Haymes, of the sophomore class, was elected to replace Eliza McDaniel, as vice-president of the class, at the first meeting this quarter, Tuesday, October 1.

Educational Study To Be Made Here By Mr. A. L. Wingo

Local High Schools Subject of Survey

Representing a cooperative effort on the part of the college and the State Department of Public Instruction to improve instruction in high schools Mr. Alfred L. Wingo will act ac liason officer between the colege and the State Department of Public Instruction.

Mr. Wingo, who has studied at the University of Richmond, University of Virginia and Columbia University, will study high school problems and familiarize the Farmville college faculty with these problems with the hope that solutions can be found. He has been appointed field representative of the State Department of Public Instruction and also a member of the college faculty.

His work will be visiting high schools of 20 counties of Southside Virginia with reference to improving the instruction in the high schools. Mr. Wngo has specialized in curriculum work and had valuable experience as principal of several high schools both large and small in Westmoreland, Henrico and Arlington counties. He also served as one of three members on the steering and editing committees of the Virginia State Curriculum.

Named By A. K. G. Committee Heads

Alpha Kappa Gamma, honorary fraternity for leadership, has appointed committees to conduct activities for the year 1940-1941.

Jean Moyer and Alice Leigh Barham will serve as program chairmen. Pat Gibson will be editor-in-chief of the Alumnae Magazine with Liggie Ellett as assistant.

Dorothy Rollins will head the library committee assisted by Elizabeth West. Caralie Nelson is acting as membership committee chairman. Dot Eades of the policy committee, will be aided by Martha Whelchel. Marion Heard will head the social committee.

Notice

The editorial staff of The Rotunda will find assignments posted in the publication office. A discussion meeting will be held next Wednesday evening at 9:30 o'clock.

Miss Rachael Royall New Junior Classman

Miss Grace E. Mix Back In Farmville

Miss Grace E. Mix, former supervisor of the training school kindergarten, who has been living in New York City for the past year has returned to Farmville to take up permanent residence.

While in New York Miss Mix did welfare work among little children and attended child psychology study and writing classes.

Miss Mix took an active part in many phases of college work here at Farmville before her retirement in the spring of 1939.

Dr. G. Roy Jordan Will Speak Here

Dr. G. Roy Jordan, a well known inspirational speaker from Methodist Seminary, Winston-Salem, N. C. will speak in chapel and at open Y. W. C. A. meeting on Thursday, October 10. "What Do You Want In Life?" will be his topic for discussion.

Dr. Jordan is being brought here by the Y. W. C. A. which asks three or four speakers every year to appear before the student body. Mr. Sherwood Eddy, noted speaker on national and foreign affairs, will be guest speaker at some time during the winter quarter.

Annual Pictures Scheduled To Be Taken This Week

Individual pictures for The Virginian will be taken throughout the week ending Saturday, October 5, in the Rec. Group pictures will be taken starting October 9 at Longwood and on the campus.

This year each class excepting the freshmen will have a set uniform for the annual pictures. The freshmen may wear anything they wish provided it's not too dressy. Sophomores will wear rose colored cardigans, while the juniors will wear silk shirts with pointed collars and a blue sweater. At a meeting Tuesday night the seniors decided to wear white silk shirts for their final picture.

The annual staff hopes to gain more variety by having pictures taken at Longwood and on the lawns in front of the newer buildings as well as the usual campus scenes in front of the main buildings.

Chaperones, Historian And Cheer Leaders Named by Seniors

Twelve seniors were elected Tuesday night, October 1, by the class to chaperon under-classmen to games, the dances or dentists' offices in town.

Senior chaperons are Rachael DeBerry, Faye Brandon, Martha Whelchel, Helen McIllwaine, Yates Carr, Boonie Stevenson, Nancy Pierpont, Anne Benton, Jean Upshur, Kay Phillips, Louise Painter and Dorothy Rollins.

Anna Johnson, a senior from Charlottesville, was elected historian of the senior class Tuesday night, October 1. Anna has been a reporter on The Rotunda staff for three years.

Louise and Nell Hall and Anne and Jack Cock were chosen cheerleaders. These girls comprise the two sets of senior twins.

Cottrell Is Student Council Represent.

Miss Rachael Royall, secretary to Miss Mary White Cox, was unanimously elected classman for the junior class, Tuesday, October 1, at the first meeting this year.

Miss Royall, who graduated from Farmville in 1930, was society editor on the Rotunda staff, senior representative on the Student Council and chairman of the service committee of the Y. W. C. A. while a student at S. T. C. She succeeds her sister Mrs. T. Moseby Phlegar, nee Miss Jane Royall.

Martha Cottrell, who served as property manager for the sophmore production last year, was elected junior representative to Student Government, replacing Norma Wood, who did not return this year.

YWCA Retreat Held at Longwood

"Interpreting Christianity on the Campus" was the general theme of the Y. W. C. A.'s retreat held Saturday, September 28, at Longwood cabin.

Cabinet members discussed the existing attitudes on our campus toward religion and formulated plans for the year whereby a more abundant life could be promoted on the campus through our personal relations, our economic relations, and our interracial relations.

Tentative plans provide for forums on these pertinent questions which will bring to the campus noted speakers. Sherwood Eddy, noted writer, is scheduled to speak here, whose definite date will be announced later. Dr. G. Roy Jordan will initiate these forums Friday, October 11.

Sara Clinedinst led a discussion on freshman plans at which time Y. W. C. A. membership was divided into two categories—active and general. Freshmen orientation

Continued on Page 3

New Students Sign For Apprenticeship To Dramatic Groups

Dramatic Club initiated its usual apprentice period with the signing up of 125 freshmen and new girls Wednesday night, September 25th. The period of apprenticeship will culminate the last of March, at which time apprentices will be judges according to their ability, interest and attendance.

A business committee, including the poster and publicity departments will be headed by Lillian German, treasurer. In addition to its regular activities, the committee will be responsible for the care and distribution of 150 costumes and various stage equipment, which constitutes a loan made by the Federal Theatre Project. This equipment, lent to stimulate interest in local talent dramatics, may be used with the permission of the Dramatic Club by neighboring high schols at various times during the year.

To accommodate the new properties, the club has been given a new work room, formerly the carpenter's headquarters, in which the stage scenery and costumes may be made and stored.

In accordance with the plans inaugurated by Student Standards, the club will meet twice a month. An amendment to the constitution has been made to the effect that a member or apprentice missing two regular or departmental meetings will automatically be dropped from the roll.

Dietition Discloses Startling Data Regarding Amazing Food Consumption in Dining Hall

By DOT ROLLINS

Mrs. Shelton, S. T. C. dietition, smiles tolerantly on the press in spite of the fact that she has been misquoted by it to the extent that the state papers saw fit to publish the astounding news that students at Farmville used enough milk for a normal weekly supply in one day. This experience is enough to frighten anyone away from the curious reporter, but Mrs. Shelton is exceptionally civic minded, for she opened the doors of her domain again to satisfy the nosey scribe. And such a domain! No mere kitchen or pantry oh no! A realm of orderly shelves drawers and cabinets, rows of interesting tins and boxes. . . . Tables filled with bowls of fruit. Packages of cookies on the shelves and an adequate business like desk completed the picture.

Our dietition looks up from an account book to smile on your reporter and to say "what can I do for you?" Wanting to know all about this meal business, we rush heading into a discussion. . . "How many tables . . . How much silver . . . How much linen. . .How many oranges do we use and. . . . In the pause for breath, Mrs. Shelton inserts answers.

First of all, we have eight-five tables. . .one for those few students who are under strict diet by doctor's orders. At each meal, 3,995 pieces of silver are used and duly counted afterward. This is a difficult problem, for the silver is very hard to keep track of and often disappears. The table cloths and napkins are all linen and number something over 300, including the reserve supply. Here we pause and began to figure several columns of figures. . . . Soon we gather that almost unbelevable amounts of food are consumed here during the daily grind of meals. . . .During the week, for instance, we used about 240 dozen eggs. Our quota of milk per week totals about 525 gallons. One day's baking requires a barrel of flour, and about 900 pounds of sugar are used in a week.

Having oranges about twice a week, entails six crates of over 100 oranges per week, and approximately 25 bushels of apples are made away with each seven days. . . . whew!

The ice cream that we have for dessert requires a 271-2 gallon order per meal. . . .when we have cookies they are bought in huge boxes in large quantities.

Baking a typical day's requirements of vegetables etc. we find that per meal, we need the following amounts: four bushels of string beans, six bushels of spinach, 95 quarts of black-eye peas, six bushels of white potatoes and six of sweet potatoes, and for a typical luncheon dish, salmon loaf, we require eight dozen cans of salmon. . .per meal! Mrs. Shelton twinkled as she totaled the number of rasting ears nessitated by 85 tables f eager diners. . . . "960", she tells me, "including reserve!" By this time we were deeply impressed with the amount of work each meal entailed and as a "clincher", Mrs. Shelton informs us that for one day we had fresh peaches for desert, the maid cut and peeled seven bushels of peaches during the day . . . This dietition business-really! And speaking of dietitions just between us-ours is a wonder! Thank you, Mrs. Shelton—loads!

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margarta Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Mary K. Beck ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Anne Barnette, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Bridget Gentile, Mariam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Dorothy Sprinkle.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Typists

Frances Pritchett ..... Chief Typist
Doris Alvis, Thelma Courtney and Jean Warwick ..... Assistants

WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 2, 1940

The New World Order

The agreement of Germany, Italy, and Japan as to the parts of the world that are to be under their individual control and the part that is to be under Russian "leadership" is one of the world-shaking events of this week. Secretary Hull described the pact as a public statement of something already known in informed circles. As a matter of fact every one of us has forseen this outcome of war if it should ever come, but its realization is nonetheless a distinct shock.

German sources describe the agreement as so perfect that "there can be no question of encroachment in foreign spaces by their powers." In form it is an assertion of the same kind of "Influence" that is familiar to man as the Monroe Doctrine. This was described by Secretary Olney in the Cleveland Administration in these words. "Today the United States is practically sovereign on this continent, and its fiat is law upon the subjects to which it confines its interposition." This is verbally the same as the axis statement of control in Europe, Africa, and Asia.

Two big questions come to every American; can Asia, Africa, and Europe be summarily divided and Britain ignored as a conquerer country, and can one believe the spirit of the axis Doctrines to be the same as that of the Monroe Doctrine?

As to the first it would be undoubtedly over optimistic to consider Britain as winning, but her chances, ranked by inside army opinions in Washington as 45 per cent last October, as 35 per cent in May, and 25 per cent in June, are now estimated as a 40 per cent chance to win. And yet one must remember that German resources are still superior to British.

The second question means still more to an American, but he is more convinced and convincing in his belief that a democratic "influence" is far and away better than dictatorial "control."

A recent American writer has outlined the four economic spheres much as the axis agreement has indicated: United States leading in the Western Hemisphere, Japan in Eastern Asia, Russia in Central Asia, and Germany in Europe and Africa, with France and Italy as junior partners with Germany. The axis partners by implication and Japan specifically assert that none of the three have ambitions in the Western Hemisphere To this one we may say that no warring country is to be trusted out of sight, but that each of these programs calls for more interval expenditures and adjustments than any country can complete in five years, and that our present plan of defense and our newly acquired islands and coast bases will make us absolutely invincible in four years.

All of this is conditioned on one other question. Have we so managed our foreign affairs that we are on the point of war immediately on both sides and in both oceans? "But that," as Rudyard Kipling would say, "is another question."

—Dr. J. E. Walmsley

On Being Late Or Leaving Early

Good manners demand that we remain at the table until others present are through their meals. Etiquette also demands that we be on time for meals.

During the past week Student Government has adopted the policy of locking the dining room doors ten minutes after the bell rings. This system has its bad points, we admit, but it is serving its purpose in doing away with negligence—"strollers" have become "steppers". However, the desire to leave before announcements is yet with us. Here are just a few of the excuses for leaving early given last week.

1. To get a long distance call from Hampden-Sydney.
2. To meet a bus.
3. To catch a bus.
4. To call a sick uncle.
5. To return a book to the library.
6. Taken suddenly sick.
7. To wash hands before class.
8. To get ready to go home at 9 o'clock.
9. To finish dressing before class.
10. To tidy room before class.

All of these denote much time and energy spent in deep thought. We would suggest that those of the fertile brains stick the dining room out until after the announcements are read. This will save wear and tear on their imaginations and Student Government's nerves.

Cure

No one will deny that the world today presents a sorry spectacle of international turmoil and domestic uncertainty. But to conclude that we who believe in education and religion ar victims of a pleasant delusion, seems to me quite unwaranted. Rather should I say that in the past neither education nor religion has had a fair chance to show what it could accomplish for human welfare, and that in the future we shall need more rather than less of both. I say this because the disease from which humanity is suffering seems to me to be one which only education and religion can ever hope to cure."—Dr. F. B. Snyder

There are over 3,000 co-eds at Wisconsin.

In a typical year the average girl would have quite a round of activities to cover. She would have 210 quarts of "coke" to imbibe, and 20 pounds of candy to ruin her complexion with, not to mention 20 feet of gum to chew.

Seven and a half days would be squandered in the movies and 55 days devoted to studies to compensate for the 99 classes cut.

Preparing for her 80 days of dates, she would sleep 115 days for beauty, spend three days putting her hair up, and 16 combing it, bathe 90 hours, and zip 1,000 zippers.

Bouquets AND Brickbats

Here it is the second week of school and we find ourselves just as confused as the freshmen. STC becomes more complicated each year. And the absence of last year's seniors isstill making itself felt. . . .and plenty. T'was swell to have Marge here though, and we are angry at Pudge and Tee for not making their visit of a longer duration. Speaking of Marge . . . She brought lots of news. She is to be bridesmaid in a June wedding. . . . That of Helen Jefferies. . . .to her Hugh. Helen aranged to teach in Suffolk to be near him this year, only to have him moved to Blacksburg. The irony of fate!

Things To Wonder About: Why Mary Lou carries her alarm clock to Shannon's?. . . . How May Wertz will be able to prevent the annual from coming out in November? Surely it will be ready by then. . . . what the fortune teller told Pat Whitlock? . . . How long Izzie, the Madam, Essay, and Liza will be able to stay away?. . . Where Cleo Jarman is? Sue Owen doesn't know. . . How we'll be able to do without Hoppy until Christmas?. . . .The similarity of Ruth Lea to a KA placque. . . .Why Maggie Wright sent a birthday card on September 29th?. . . If Boo's being with Alex Saturday marks the continuation of last year's interest?. . . . If anyone could hear the phrase "young man" without thinking of Barbara and Ora? . . . Why Dot J. treats him so mean?

While everyone else delights in "Beat me, Daddy, etc." and "I'll Never Smile Again", we find time to enjoy "Only Forever" "Five O'clock Whistle", and Chopins prelude no 7, lived up a little. By the by, if any one cares to refresh their memory, by looking in a spring number of the Rotunda, you will find a discovery not of "Beat Me, etc". and it was plugged by your commontator. . . . . .

Raves of the Week: The new rec in the basement of the new wing of Senior building. It is beeoo--ti-ful. . . . The little boy jackets that everyone is wearing. Such scope! . . . .The sunny afternoons that are just cold enough to wear a coat. . . .The intentions of Parham to study this year. Knock on wood. . . People like Sarah Wade, Helen Mac, Helene Straa, and Lila Marsh Pilkinton, who always put us in a good humor.

Tilted Noses To: These people who delight in slamming doors at crack of dawn. . .People who use home office phone for more than fifteen minutes a stretch. . . .The freshmen who still don't speak to other people in the hall.

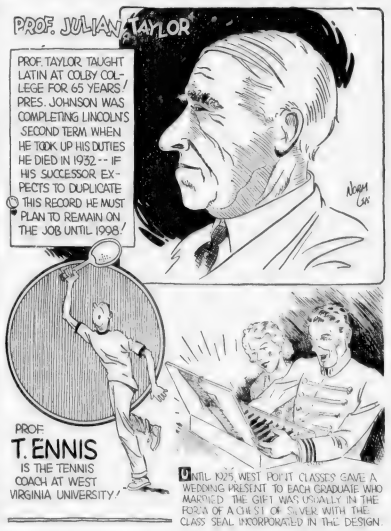
Add Familiar Faces: Petty's Jerry, Cottie's Les, Sadie's Bob; Jane's Graham; Virginia's Billy-It's the same ole place.

Jive Jottings: It looks like a track meet or Color Rush these days for our Juniors and Seniors what with the speed we not in their approach to the dining room. . . .even Caralie was among those to be locked out for Saturday's lunch. . . .We think it mighty fine the way everyone is going to meals now.

At Random: Sunday was a mighty cheerful day. . . .With the O. O. A's and our families here. . . Anne and Marty playing crack-the-whip with V. M. I. . . .Kitty Moncure seemingly "out of this world". . . .it was good to see Tommy Ford, a well-fledged W. and L. man now. . . .Nancy declares she can't concentrate for at least two weeks cause Billy's vacationing. . . . so don't disturb her. . . .

Remember Cotillion is November 9th

NO HURRY



"My daughter wants a roll of No. 120 camera film."

"Regular or verichrome?"

"What's the difference?"

"The verichrome is a much faster film than the regular, but it is five cents higher."

"Give me the regular. My daughter has plenty of time."

GLEANINGS

By MARIE ALLEN

Today the Western Hemisphere is facing a military alliance of the three greatest totalitarian nations—Germany, Italy, and Japan and especially is the role of the U. S. important in coping with this alliance. Being announced to the world soon after we embargoed scrap iron to Japan and traded 50 "over-age" destroyers to Great Britain there can be little doubt that the military pact is aimed at the U. S.—maybe as a colossal bluff, maybe not.

We as a nation do not want war. For two decades we have tasted of the sweets of peace but we remember the bitter reality of war. We know that it stalemates economic and cultural progress; we have an idea of what modern warfare means with its mass destruction of life and property. For these reasons we will try to avoid war. But for us peace does not mean subjection as it did with the Balkans.

The U. S. must use discretion in the way she moves—discretion that does not humble us but that will save for posterity the things we have accumulated since 1607. At this crucial stage in the picture more than ever before a step in the wrong direction may mean a destruction of these things. Just how far we may aid Great Britain without direct involvement, just how much more we can antagonize Japan and still maintain peace, few if any can say with certainty. But it is sure that they do not desire war with us any more than we with them. It is certain that Germany does not want us in the war as an ally of England for our aid to England could be much greater than the addition of Japan as a Nazi ally. Each of the three powers has all the enemies it can master and the addition of the U. S. would be a serious handicap to victory. On this assumption there is hope we can avoid war.

The great thing facing the U. S. is the necessity of an English victory. If England can win that means our civilization is preserved and so we are faced with the problem of aiding England all we can without direct involvement in war and at the same time building up our national defense in case we take the wrong steps. That this is a gigantic task for Mr. Roosevelt and his staff of assistants is apparent to all.

At the present time England is getting the breaks. With winter approaching and bringing with it its usual mud and fog the German blitzkrieg on England will have to be slackened. A breathing spell will mean that England can continue her preparation, while the lull for Germany will mean that her enemy will be growing stronger and her people becoming more impatient for peace and what that brings.

But with Japan we must tread particularly softly. An enemy 6000 miles away and with the third largest navy in the world would be a serious menace. Not only would it mean war now but it would weaken us in our diplomatic relations with other nations and cut off all aid to Great Britain thus enhancing the possibility of a totalitarian dominated world. This is just the thing we as a democratic nation are trying and must continue to try to avert. To our representatives in Washington, the representatives of a peaceful democratic nation there is necessity to be wary in the moves you make. "The Triple Alliance of 1940" may be a bluff but it is warning enough for us to tread with cautious steps.

Collegiate World

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

The Emory Wheel, newspaper of Emory Universtiy, declaring that "since the professors divide students into classes it is safe to assume that all professors can also be divided into classes," offers these groupings:

1. The killer type. He wants to kill off the lower third and thinks the best way is by overwork.

2. The Card type. He is a card, but not an ace. He's a 3x5 card. Outstanding is his index appeal.

3. The Spicy type. He has a lot of cheek and plenty of tongue to put in it. His lectures kick up intellectual sparks of the academic flint.

4. The Skimmer type. The surfacing in his courses is fine. But the foundation is weak.

5. The Fatherly type. He is the unexpectant father, always giving pop quizzes.

6. The Hard Rock type. You have to be more than a good musician to hit a high C under this joker. If he were a movie critic he wouldn't give the United States flag 48 stars.

7. The Uh-Man type. He doesn't know any punctuation except "uhs". For variety he throws in a "but uh" now and then.

8. The Cocktail type. He whets your intellectual appetite. He knows a great deal but doesn't try to make everybody realize it.

10. The Axe-Grinder type. He can't sharpen his wits, so he has to grind an axe. Sometimes it's propaganda he grinds out.

Optional—The Nomad type. Like the Nomad of the desert he loves to wander, and what he wanders over is as dry as the desert.

What's When

Monday

I
4:00 French Circle
5:00 B. S. U.
P. S. A.
Wesley Foundation
7:00 Virginian Staff
Choral Club
8:00 College Choir
10:00 House Council
Campus League

II
5:00 Pan-Hellenic Council
7:00 Virginian staff
Choral Club
8:00 College Choir

III
4:00 French Circle
7:00 Virginian staff
Choral Club
8:00 College Choir
10:00 House Council
Campus League

IV
7:00 Virginian staff
Choral Club
8:00 College Choir
Open time—9:00-10:00.

Tuesday

I
3:30 Orchesis
5:00 Sororities
7:00 Class meetings
7:30 Pi Gamma Mu
7:30 Gamma Psi
7:30 Delta Omicron

II
3:30 Orchesis
5:00 Sororities
7:00 Debate Club
8:00 Commercial Club
Home Economics Club

III
3:30 Orchesis
5:00 Sororities
7:00 Class meetings
7:30 Pi Gamma Mu
7:30 Sigma Pi Rho
7:30 Beta Pi Theta

IV
3:30 Orchesis
5:00 Sororities
7:00 Cotillion Club
7:15 Kappa Delta Pi
Alpha Phi Sigma
Open time I—8:30-9:30
Open time II—9:00-9:30
Open time III—8:30-9:30
Open time IV—8:30-9:30

Wednesday

I
3:30 Orchesis
4:45 Y. W. C. A. Cabinet
Rotunda circulation
7:00 Student Body
9:00 Alpha Kappa Gamma

II
3:30 Orchesis
4:45 Y. W. C. A. Cabinet
Rotunda circulation
7:00 Dramatic Club
9:00 Sophomore Commission
Freshman Commission
Y. W. C. A. committees
9:30 Rotunda staff

III
3:30 Orchesis
4:45 Y. W. C. A. Cabinet
Rotunda circulation
7:00 A. C. E.
F. T. A.
9:00 Alpha Kappa Gamma

IV
3:30 Orchesis
4:45 Y. W. C. A. Cabinet
Rotunda circulation
7:00 Dramatic Club
9:00 Y. W. C. A. committees
Freshman Commission
Sophomore Commission
9:30 Rotunda staff
Open time I—8:00-9:00
Open time II—8:00-9:00
Open time III—8:00-9:00
Open time IV—8:00-9:00

Thursday

I
5:00 Student Standards
7:00 Athletic Council
Choral Club
Beorc Eh Thorn
8:00 College Choir
H2O Club

II
5:00 Colonnade
7:00 Athletic Council
Choral Club
8:00 College Choir
Monogram Club

III
5:00 Colonnade
7:00 Athletic Council
Choral Club
8:00 College Choir

IV
5:00 Colonnade
7:00 Athletic Council
Choral Club
8:00 College Choir
Open time—9:00-10:00

Friday

I
4:30 A'Capella
7:00 Northern Neck Club

II
4:30 A'Capella

III
7:00 Riding Club
4:30 A'Capella

IV
4:30 A'Capella
7:00 Pi Kappa Delta
Open time I—8:00-10:00
Open time II—7:00-10:00
Open time III—8:00-10:00
Open time IV—8:00-10:00

CONFESSION

"I'm a self-made man."

"You're lucky. I'm the revised work of a wife and three daughte:s."

EXTRA-CURRICULA SCHEDULE

NAME ..... Scholastic Average .....
CLASS ..... Room No. .....

Hours	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thurs.	Fri.	Points
3:00
3:30
4:00
4:30
5:00
7:00
7:30
8:00
8:30
9:00
9:30
10:00

Total points .....

Approved By .....

GIRLS

•

Make Davidson's Your Store For All Wearing Apparel

•

DAVIDSON'S

The House of Quality

Rules For Riding

1. Do not enter the dining hall in your riding habit.
2. Have a riding permission from your parents filed in the office before making an appointment to ride.
3. "Sign-out" at the home office before each ride.
4. Anyone riding Sunday morning must return to school no later than ten o'clock to dress for church.
5. Appointments must be made in advance for your ride. This may be done in the club room immediately after dinner (1:15 P. M.) or by phoning 411-W.
6. Anyone making an appointment and not keeping it will be charged for the ride. (This is done in fairness to other girls who may have ridden at the time you reserved.)

Daisy 'n Abner

Dear Abner Little,

As one close friend to another I'll tell you, Abner, these here folks use some o' the biggest, widest words I ever heard of. My 'twas a good thing I brought along the book Uncle Webster gave me. Goodness knows I'd never know anything 'cept for that book. The fust time I set my foot inside o' this place some Nancy lady, all dressed up in white, steps up to me and says, she says, "Go trix-migate." I felt all prowd when she told me to fix her gate—you know how Mammy used to say I was right handy at such things. I looks good but I didn't see no gate. . . Anyway I walked on into a room, an' they shoved some paper to me. They was trying to see if I could write. Hump! How they do carry on! Of course, I wouldn't fit the ol dgate for 'em.

After a while they gave t'me what they call a slip to my room where they said I was supposed to stay in. I haven't (not ain't) seen why they told me to slip in, but I thought I'd be on the cautious side an' go in real easy like. I opened the door, and what didn't lay before me'. There were three whole beds right there. Mammy told me 'fore I left that I would gain pounds, but I says to myself, "Honey, you haven't gained pounds yet and you're not so big as to need three beds right now." I thought of Cousin Luther's children an' how they sleep three in one. Wouldn't be nice for me to be so elegant like. So out in the hall went two of 'em (the beds, of course). No body saw me do it 'cause I peered 'round. Don't fool yoself I'm enjoying this fust day. Somebody said my roomates were coming. I don't know on which side o' the room I'll put them yet. I hopes they're pretty. This room needs something fancy.

'For I close I must tell you about the great big, red box that sits down the hall and looks like the devil's house. But I didn't go close to it at fust, you know how polite I be. I kept walking raound and some gal that looked like she wan't scared o' nothing went up to it and put something in it. Then along a little trough slid a long bottle of something black-might a been ink. She jest took that bottle and sang as she drank. I told myself I was an old scardy-cat. I'm not a scardy-cat, so I went up and patted the big red box. Just as I did that the thing went "burrr-rank". I don't need to tell you I made tracks away from thar.

I doubt if I git my letters. I can't add the numbers on that little box they gave me. It jest don't do.

Se' yo' Xmas,
Daisy.

ROSE'S

5c—10c—25c Store

On the Corner

Candies
Stationery
&
Room Furnishings

8 ENLARGEMENTS 8
AND FILM DEVELOPED
25¢ COIN
116 SIZE OR SMALLER
SPECIALISTS IN 35M.M.
ALL MINIATURE FILMS ARE VAPORATED AND FINE GRAIN DEVELOPED
36 EXPOSE ROLLS TO 3X4 $1.25 PER ROLL
18 " " " .65¢ "
SPECIAL ENCLOSE THIS AD WITH YOUR NEXT ORDER OF FILMS OR NEGATIVES AND WE WILL MAKE A PHOTOGRAPHIC SOUVENIR CARD FROM ONE YOUR FAVORITE NEGATIVE ABSOLUTELY FREE
ENLARGE PHOTO BOX 791 BOSTON MASS. SEND

German Heads Riding Club Here

White, Spencer, and West Are Officers

Lillian German was elected president of the Riding club at the first meeting last Friday, September 28. Other officers elected for the coming year are: Nelle White, vice-president; Kay Spencer, secretary; and Mary Owens West, treasurer.

Space for a riding ring and jumps, located at Longwood, has been made available by the school. Girls, however, must have permission from home to jump as well as ride. Plans were discussed for a horse show which will include not only college girls, but town and out of town people who may compete for ribbons and trophies.

Miss Stella Fox, riding instructor, announced that girls may ride on Sundays. Classes will be held once a week in the new club room located near the recreational hall, for all persons interested in horses. Miss Fox has as her topic "The Origin of the Horse".

Hop Says:

Keep your sweaters looking new with our special drying cleaning methods.

DeLUXE CLEANERS

NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store
SOOTHIES
FACIAL
500 Sheets
TISSUES
15c Box

Southside Exclusive Toilet article agencies

ELIZABETH ARDEN
HELENA RUBINSTEIN

SOUTHSIDE
DRUG STORE

Try Our
"Hamburger Special"

With French-Fried Potatoes, Sliced Tomatoes and any 5c Drink
Special 20c

COLLEGE SHOPPE

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert
Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

Y. W. Retreat

Continued from Page 1

into the Y. W. C. A. will begin Tuesday night, October 8, and installation will be Friday, October 11.

After the business meeting, Anne Ellett, chairman of social committee, and her committee entertained the cabinet with a picnic supper.

Frances Rosebro and Charlotte Gresham were in charge of devotions.

BUTCHER'S

The convenient store for faculty and student body.
Good things to eat and drink

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia

Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

Welcome Back S. T. C.—Make

Shannon's

Your Headquarters
Phone 224

BALANCE YOUR DIET
With Fruits from the

Economy Food Store

Main tSreet Farmville

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

KLEANWELL
Cleaners & Tailors

Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling

Main St. Opposite P. O.

Phone 98

Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

Martin, the Jeweler
Rytex Stationery
200 single sheets or 100 double sheets and 100 envelopes
FOR $1.00

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Sloppy Joe Cardigan Sweaters
RED and COLORS $1.97
SKIRTS—As You Want 'Em $1.97 to $3.97
DOROTHY MAY STORE
Charge it if you like

RECORDS RECORDS RECORDS

DECCA, BLUEBIRD, Etc.
10c Each, 6 for 50c

VICTOR AND COLUMBIA
15c Each, 4 for 50c

Goodman, Basie, Crosby, Ellington, Barnett, Savitt, Waller, Kyser, The Dorseys, Ink Spots and many others

Some New Some Slightly Used

SOUTHSIDE MUSIC CENTER

119 West Third Street

Only Complete Music Store Within 50 Miles

Permanent Wave Specials

$10.00 Revitalizing Oil Permanent Waves that almost never sell below this price . . . but if you will clip this add and bring it to us the price will only be $5.95

Any $7.50 Permanent wave with this add will only cost you $4.45

Bring this add and a friend with a friend so we will give you two beautiful $3.50 permanent for only $4.95 Remember that Baldwin's is considered Farmville's Best Beauty Shop and all our work is guaranteed

Baldwin's Beauty Shop

PHONE 159 FARMVILLE, VA.

Yourself and Others

Football season is here again and we saw Josephine Bishop, Catherine Phillips, Marie Utt, and Margaret Whitfield waving banners and ribbons at the University of Virginia game last weekend. They attended the dances, too.

At Annapolis last week-end were Jane Saunders and Betty Clemmons giving the middies a treat.

Hampden-Sydney, just seven miles away, called Jane Ford and Anne Leigh Coates to the football game.

Three of our girls attended weddings last week-end. Jeanne Sears went to Norfolk, while Beezie Townsend attended her cousin's wedding at Petersburg, and Madge McFall took in a friend's wedding at Danville.

Mary Washington College was frequented by Farmville girls last week-end when Mary Taylor, Mary Anne Williams, Elizabeth Warner, Elizabeth Callan, and Mary Drewery visited there.

Methodist Church entertained S. T. C. and Hampden-Sydney Methodist students at a reception at the church Thursday night, September 26 at eight o'clock. The guests were received by Rev. and Mrs. Edgar A. Potts, Dr. J. L. Jarman and members of the S. T. C. faculty. Get acquainted games were played and refreshments were served.

Episcopal S. T. C. and Hampden-Sydney students were honored at an informal reception held at the rectory on Thursday at 8:00 p. m. Rev. and Mrs. Tucker received the guests. Games were played and refreshments were served.

Presbyterian church entertained at an informal reception Thursday night at the church for the S. T. C. and Hampden-Sydney students.

Games and songs made up the entertainment.

Baptist Church entertained the S. T. C. and Hampden-Sydney Baptist students at an informal reception, Thursday night, Sept. 26, at 8 o'clock at the church.

Hetzel-Thompson

Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Thompson, of Tazewell, Virginia, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Mary Gray to Robert Heltzel of Richmond. The wedding took place on June 15 in Tazewell.

Mary Gray is an alumna of S. T. C. and Mr. Heltzel was graduated from V. P. I. The couple are residing in Richmond.

Trimyer-Gresham

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Trimyer announce the engagement of their daughter, Doris to Earl Thomas Gresham, Jr., The wedding will take place in October.

Doris graduated from Farmville in diploma class of 1938 and Mr. Gresham is an alumnus of V. P. I.

Fashion Notes

All you who have been studying fashions for the past several months preparing for a college life full of interest, S. T. C. still possesses an added enthusiasm in what's new for your wardrobe—and what your friends found exciting in clothes.

Newest addition to our campus is the Glastique Shoe for evening, either clear or in colors with the prediction that come spring they'll be in use for daytime, too. Careful, girls that means no holes in the toes of your stocking and no chipped nail polish! By the way, the Glastique shoes are made of plastic material that's nearly as clear as glass. You've seen belts out of it, haven't you?

No longer are black, brown, and dark green the only accepted colors for winter. The brightest colors imaginable are all the go for this year on our campus. However, we see our smartest dresses in black cepe or jersey, side draped with a pencil slim skirt. Speaking of the pencil slim skirt they're all right for girls with figures like Venus de Milo but the majority of us had better stick to the graceful swing of a full skit. Any opposition?

Plaids are next to red and black from evidence found on S. T. C.'s campus. They are found in suits, long coats, dresses, skirts, and even hankies and bags. By mentioning plaids in suits, it brings to mind those smart and sleek looking long jackets. But please, short girls, leave 'em to your taller sisters!

Going up! and here we end up with a comment on hats and hair-dos. Those off-face hats look—oh! so good with pompadours. These, though, call for jewels (costume variety) and simplicity of the classic Greek seems to be the keynote.

Well, girls, we put things in reverse from "head to toe", but at least we included all the anatomy! To you who have discovered these new G. C.'s (glamour clothes) we doff our hats.

STATE

"Your Community Center"

Today-Tomorrow!

Ronald COLMAN — Ginger ROGERS

IN

"Lucky Partners"

Friday-Saturday!

ERROL FLYNN in Jon HALL—Lynn BARI

IN

"The Sea Hawk"

Monday-Tuesday!

Jon HALL — Lynn BARI

IN

"Kit Carson"

LEE

"Your Family Theatre"

Today Only!

BILL ELLIOTT in

"Prairie Schooners"

Thursday-Friday!

The Great WALT DISNEY FESTIVAL OF HITS!

"Snow White and The Seven Dwarfs"

"FERDINAND THE BULL" "THREE LITTLE PIGS"

"DONALD'S LUCKY DAY"

Saturday Only!

"Range Busters"

Monday-Tuesday!

James CAGNEY — Ann SHERIDAN

IN

"Flowing Gold"

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop

"From old to new with any shoes"

Only First Class Material Used All Work Guaranteed

58 Students Teach This Quarter

Fifty-eight girls are doing their student teaching this quarter in the elementary and high schools of Farmville and neighboring county schools.

In the Farmville elementary schools are Catherine Blount, Emily Hoskins, kindergarten; Aseita Altomare, Jeanne Haymes, Marian Heard, first grade; Rachael DeBerry, Evelyn Krenning, Boonie Stevenson, Edna Woodall second grade; Frances Eliett, Ruth Loving, Jean Upshur, Sarah Whisnant, third grade; Betty Fahr, Ann Lyons, Ruby Trice, Elva Stephens, fourth grade; Ethel Carr, Dorothy Menefee, fifth grade; Frances Patterson, sixth grade.

At John Randolph Gertrude Hale, Jean Martin, Dorothy Payne, Katherine Price, Eleanor Scott, Juanita Smith, Elizabeth Wall, Nell Hall, Bert McLaughlin, Georgia Watson, are teaching

At Worsham, Louise Hall is teaching English and history

Home economic teachers at Farmville High school are Dorothy Bailey, Dorothy Crumley, Rosa Counter and Helen Seward.

Bess Windham, Dorothy Rollins and Anna Johnson are teaching the seventh grade; Mary Jane Jolliffe, Carol Averitt, Frances Keck and Evelyn LuLpton, eighth grade; Jacquelin Adams, Thelma Courtney, Susie Crocker, Anna George, Helen Gray, Harriet Haskins, Julia Hutchinson and Evelyn Quillan, English; Jacquelin Adams, Marie Allen, Susie Crocker, Helen Gray, Harriet Haskins, Julia Hutchinson and Evelyn Quillan, history; Marie Allen, Louise Applewhite, Ann Cock, Elizabeth Hillsman, mathematics; Patsy Fletcher, Virginia Howell, science; Thelma Courtney, Latin; Edith Nunnally, French; Marjorie Gooden, physical education.

Freshmen Remarks On Customs and Rules Amuse Upperclassmen

For once it seems that the old girls at S. T. C. aren't saying "You can always spot a freshman". Those two days head start seems to have given them an advantage over the freshmen of past years. However, they didn't fail to furnish merriment of upper classmen by their remarks about the rules and customs of the school.

Sing was still a mysterious something that bordered between a hymn sing and rat court. When one "big sister" invited her charge to Sing, she was apologetically told that "I can't sing." Well—!

From what observation we've done (and we've been around!) this year's group will be a law abiding class, but perhaps the freshmen should inform their fellow classmen at present rather than the sophomores. (Moral: Don't forget Rat Week). It so happened that one "rat" from orientation class encounte ed another student smoking in the hall. She walked up and timidly informed the wrongdoer saying, "I'm a freshman too, and you aren't supposed to smoke out here." The other replied, "Yes, I know. I'm a sophomore!" So—?

From ove.heard conversation, one gets the idea that the confines of campus and town aren't satisfying. ll frosh seem to think that the joys of car riding will become an art of the past. But the freshman who heard that girls gained eighteen pounds the first quarter will find compensation in walking.

Then there's the "rat" who wants to know why the juniors and seniors need a half an hour to walk to their buildings. "Honest it doesn't take five minutes to walk there", she sincerely exclaimed—Ah! Youth . . .

25 CENTS IN COIN

ROLLS DEVELOPED

Any size Kodak film developed 8 never-fade Velox prints only 25¢

Low Prices On Candid Film

Handy Mailing Envelopes Furnished

VALUABLE PREMIUMS GIVEN • MAIL YOUR FILMS TO

JACK RABBIT CO.

SPARTANBURG, S.C.

Honor Roll

Continued from Page 1

ton, Sarah Sibold, Estelle W. Smith, Mamie Snow, Dorothy Sprinkle, Lois Steidtmann, Stella Marie Stowers, Helene Straus, Sadie Vaughan, Edith Walden, Mary Stuart Walmsley, Anne Ware, Sarah Elizabeth West, Mary Barnes Wilson, Flora W. Winn, and Violet Woodall.

DIFFICULT

Visitor: 'And how old are you, Bobbie?"

Bobbie: "I'm just at the awkward age."

Visitor: "Really? And what do you call the awkward age?"

Bobbie: "I'm too old to cry and too young to swear."

SPY

"It's the little things in life that tell," exclaimed the fair co-ed as she yanked her kid brother from under the sofa.

WILLIS, the Florist

Flowers for All Occasions

PHONES 181—273

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

PURE DRUGS MEDICINES

Perfumes—Toilet Articles

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Quality—Price—Service

Chub's Turtle

'Twas on second floor senior building and all through the hall, not a creature was stirring—'cept, of course, "Chubby" (and we don't mean our G girl!)

Now "Chubby" is one of our freshmen this year, but there the comparison ends—not just 'cause "Chubby" rooms in Senior Building either! "Chubby" hails from New York World's Fair, having made an amazing entrance into Farmville in a brown pasteboard box. Statistics reveal that "Chubby" holds the title as the youngest in the class—maybe this contributes to Chub's nostalgia for New York with its bright lights and stock market.

Besides these amazing accomplishments, "Chubby" claims to be the only male in school this session—reason for his entrance to Farmville is due to his terrific history. 'Tis rumored he's from the aristocratic phylum—belonging to the old family of prehistoric turtles who are noted among evolutionists for their long life line.

Chubby plans, incidentally, to take several F. G.'s at Farmville. Chubby also is distinct in that he has a special orientation class for him only.

Every day his student teacher, Chubby Heard, exercises him on the screen (and he did an extra inch today—cool weather, I suppose); but up to the cool spell his teacher was quite disturbed about him. No he didn't break any rules but he had begun to hibernate in water up to his eye-brows and oh his appetite! Imagine anyone in Farmville not being hungry but Chubby just won't eat. Mooch and Chubby decided he needed a change of atmosphere so they are now constructing an aquarium with trees, locks and bugs too. Since he's allergic to carrots they thought bugs would make a better diet. Dr. Jeffers, his faculty adviser, suggested this change and his student teacher is hoping for its success.

We tried awfully hard to get our four legged friend to give us a personal statement, but to no avail. He just crawled 'round 'n 'round the bed and almost fell off. Guess maybe he's bashful about this publicity and 'sides he doesn't make friends very easily. However his teacher says he responds to both baby and double talk but we're no good at either.

Oh! We almost forgot to tell you. He's a lovely shade of green with a red shell, and his name is written clearly on his back in black letters. So if and when he ever gets lost just pick him up and return him to his orientation leader 'cause he's her responsibility.

OXFORDS

The kind you saw In Mademoiselle

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Appreciate Your Patronage

O.K. Mister—here's the Smoker's Cigarette

COOLER, MILDER, BETTER-TASTING

. . . that means Chesterfield

There's a whole World's Series of good smoking in Chesterfields . . . that's why it's the smoker's cigarette. The best tobaccos in all of Tobaccoland . . . blended together for MILDNESS, COOLNESS and BETTER TASTE.

Do you smoke the cigarette that SATISFIES

PAUL DERRINGER, one of the game's great pitchers pleases the crowds . . . just as Chesterfield satisfies millions of smokers!

Chesterfield

MORE AND MORE . . . AMERICA SMOKES THE CIGARETTE THAT SATISFIES

Copyright 1940, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

DON'T MISS ANNUAL GROUP PICTURES

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS TO NEW AKG MEMBERS

VOLUME XX — Farmville, Virginia, Wednesday, October 9, 1940 — NO. 3

Six Students Recognized As Leaders By A. K. G.

Two Seniors, Four Juniors Tapped

Six girls, two seniors and four juniors, were recognized by the Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honor fraternity for leadership and womanly service, at a tapping service during chapel Thursday, October 3.

Yates Carr and Faye Brandon were the seniors honored and Mary Katherine Dodson, Allene Overbey, France: Rosebro, and Margaret Wright the juniors.

Ruth Lea Purdum, president of the organization gave a brief history of the Circle since its founding in 1925 and its purposes.

Yates is business manager of the Colonnade, the college magazine, and last year served as assistant business manager. She is a member of Pi Gamma Mu and treasurer of Mu Omega sorority.

Faye is president of the Association of Childhood Education, chairman of the music committee of the Cotillion Club and head of Alpha Sigma Tau sorority. She has also been active in all phases of class activities.

Mary Katherine is president of the junior class and served as president of the sophomore class last year. She is an assistant business manager of the Rotunda, and a member of the Cotillion Club.

Allene is editor of the Colonnade and last year was chairman of the social committee of the YWCA and vice-president of her class. She also belongs to Cotillion Club.

Frances is sophomore councillor of the YWCA and last year served as parliamentarian of the Dramatic Club and a member of the Sophomore Commission. She is a member of the Cotillion Club.

Margaret is news editor of The Rotunda and last year was secretary of the Dramatic Club and a member of the Sophomore Commission. She is a member of Alpha Phi Sigma and Cotillion Club.

A. K. G. Names Three Delegates

National convention of Alpha Kappa Gamma, leadership fraternity will be held October 18-20 at Queens College, Charlotte, N. C., with Olympian ClCrcle as hostess.

The local chapter plans to send three delegates, Ruth Lea Purdum, president of Alpha Kappa Gamma here at Farmville S. T. C., Alice Leigh Barham, active member and Mary Katherine Dodson a newly tapped member.

Camera Fiends! Earn Easy Money

Collegiate Digest, the national photo supplement for college papers, is offering all camera fiends an easy way to earn money. The demand is for news and human-interest pictures of events and personalities on the campus. Here are the requirements. Why not take a chance?

1. Pictures should be at least "4x6" in size. Good quality gloss prints are essential. They must be sharp in detail and tone Action shots are preferred.
2. All photos must be captioned with full details.
3. Unused photographs will be returned to sender.
4. Payment of $3 for each photo will be made upon acceptance.
5. Mail your picture to Editor, Collegiate Digest, 323 Fawkes Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn.

Frosh and Sophs Plan For Circus

Stunt And Booth Committees Named

Freshmen and sophomore committees to plan class circus stunts and booths have been appointed.

Mary Evelyn Pearsall and Shirley Pierce, freshmen from Roanoke, were chosen chairmen of the freshman class stunt and booth committees respectively. Working with Mary Evelyn are Sara Jeffries, Julia Eason, Louise Foster, Nancy Watts and Hannah Lee Crawford. On the booth committee with Shirley are Mary Keith Bingham, Nancy Williamson, Dorothy Gaul and Faye Nimmo.

In the sophomore class Jeanne Sears is heading the stunt committee and Elva Andrews is the chairman of the booth committee. Helen Lewis, Sarah Wade Owen, Miggie Mish, Ella Marsh Pilkinson and Betty Youngberg comprise the sophomore stunt committee. Iris Geyer, Hallie Hillsman, Betsy Jennings, Lucy Davis and Rosalie Rogers are planning the sophomore class circus booth

Freshmen Will Meet Y. W. Committees

Tonight in the large auditorium freshmen and new girls will be introduced to the heads of the various Y. W. C. A. committees by Jean Moyer, president of the "Y".

After introducing the new girls to the various heads, Sara Cline, head of the membership committee, will distribute cards on which the girls wil state in which groups they prefer to work and if they wish to be active members or not.

Class of 1940 Gains Positions

Girls Teaching Throughout State

Of the 114 graduates of the degree class of 1940, 94 received teaching positions, six are engaged in advanced study and two are employed in other work. Of the 37 receiving diplomas last year, 21 are teaching and nine doing advanced work.

Graduates of the degree class and their present locales are listed below:

Ruby Adams, Chesterfield county; Louise Allen, Dinwiddie county; Frances Alvis, Raleigh, N. C.; Vivian Mae Anderson, Alleghany county; Lois Barbee, Chesterfield county; Anne Billups, Norfolk county; Ellen Bowen, Richlands; Nancy Bryant, Pulaski county; Hazelwood Burbank, Elizabeth City county; Evelyn Burford, Amherst county

Mildred Callis, Powhatan; Margaret Carr, Roanoke; Anita Carrington, Campbell county; Doris Chesnut, Durham, N. C.; Jean Clarke, doing graduate work; Helene Cline, Mt. Sidney; Margaret Coalter, Henrico county; Josie Lee Cogsdale, Ivor; Bernice Copley, Hampton; Janet Cralle, Clifton Forge; Laura Nell Crawley, Wytheville.

Mary Louise Cunningham, Troutville; Dorothy Dade Davis, business position with Federal Reserve Bank, Richmond; Dorothy Elizabeth Davis, Henrico county; Sudie Dunton, Accomac county; Marie Eason, Richmond; Emil Ellis, Wicomico Church; Beulah Ettenger, Manchester; Marian Farley, White Stone; Jeannette Ferguson, Pulaski county.

Dorothy Fischer, Bellport, N. Y.; Ollie Graham Gilchrist, doing graduate work; Blair Goode, Ashland; Katherine Gray, Albemarle county; Martha Meade Hardaway, Callis; Marion Harden, Hanover county; Mrs. Annie A. Hardy, Bedford county; Betty Jarman Hardy, Pulaski; Jane Hardy, Norfolk county

Mildred Harry, Eagle Rock; Maxine Hawks, Stony Creek; Ruby Lee Henderson, Montgomery county; Mary Louise Holland, Bassett; Rosemary Howell, Blackstone; Helen Hoyer, Poebus; Chlotilde Jarman, Morrison; Helen Jeffries, Cypress Chapel; Anna Brown Jones, attending business school; Sara Keesee, Pulaski; Elizabeth Kent, Belmont.

Elizabeth LeGrand, Dendron and Surry H. S.; Mrs. Elizabeth Loving, Worsham; Johnny Lybrook, Amelia; Martha McCorkle Blackstone; Mary Mahone, Strasburg; Frances Mann, Amelia

Continued on Page 3

Professors Attend Educational Meeting

Dr. J. P. Wynne, Miss Bessie Jeter, and Miss Sarah B. Tucker attended the Virginia Educational Association regional conference for officers of the local branches at the John Marshall Hotel in Richmond, Saturday, October 5.

Mr. Francis S. Chase, editor of the Virginia Journal of Education cited the Future Teachers of America Association at Farmville as an outstanding example of such an activity in an institution for the preparation of teachers. Mr. T. D. Martin from the National Education Association headquarters spoke on education s the essence of national defense, and called attention to the development of the F. T. A. movement.

95% of Farmville Graduates Placed

Excellent Records Made in Six Years

During the past six years 95 per cent or over the four-year and two-year graduates of Farmville State Teachers College have been placed. The figures for the class that was graduated in June, 1940, show that all but ten of the 151 four and two-year graduates are placed for the present session. Of the 114 graduates receiving degrees all but six have been placed. Of the 37 receiving the two-year diploma four were not placed, and nine returned for further study and did not seek position.

Farmville's record of placement of graduates is a source of pride to the college authorities as during the entire period of depression when positions were scarce, 90 per cent or more of Farmville graduates were placed. As have been stated during the past six years the percentage has averaged 95 per cent.

Farmville graduates are teaching in practically every county of Virginia, and last year's statistics show the greater majority of counties in the state with recent graduates on the teaching staffs.

Fashion Show

Freshmen—Mademoiselle, Harper's Bazaar, and Vogue, collaborating with the Sophomore Commission, will present for you a fashion show tonight at 9 o'clock in the small auditorium. What's correct and incorrect for campus activities will be the theme—so don't delay! 9 o'clock is the time.

45 Girls Listed On Dean's List

Miss Virgilia Bugg, registrar, has announced that forty-five students enrolled at Farmville State Teachers College are placed on the Dean's List for the fall quarter, 1940.

To be on the Dean's List a student must make a grade of all A's and B's except on floor work in gym for the preceeding term and must have an average of C for all preceeding college work.

Those who made the Dean's List are Rachel Abernathy, Dolphin; Marie Bird Allen, White Gate; Virginia Barksdale, Roanoke; Anne Benton, Locust Dale; Carmen Booth, Danville; Marie Brickert, Farmville; Rebecca Yates Carr, Charlottesville; Sarah E. Chambers, Clifton Forge; Corilda Chaplin, Falling Springs; Sara F. Cline, Roanoke; Esther Coleman, Greenfield; Nahrea Coleman, Crewe; Thelma Courtney, Winchester; Dorothy Crumley, Bristol; Sally Dunlap, Lexington.

Sue Dunlap, Lexington; Carolyn Frances Ford, Virgilina; Annie Elizabeth Garrett, London Bridge; Lillian German, Richmond; Helen Gray, Chatham; Virginia Howell, Church Road; Jane Lee Hutcheson, Farmville; Elizabeth Jennings, Madisonville; Mary Jane Jolliffe, Stephenson; Frances Keck, Danville; Aggie Mann, Petersburg; Jean Moyer, Portsmouth; Caralie Nelson, South Boston; Elizabeth Ann Parker, Portsmouth; Louise Phillips, Hampton; Mary M. Prosise, Wilson.

Evelyn Quillin, Farmville; Marjorie L. Rice, Richmond; Dorothy Rollins, Arlington; Mrs. Nellie R. Shelton, Farmville; Sarah Mae Sibold, Newport; Virginia Simmons, Farmville; Helene Stras, Tazewell; Lucy Turnbull, Richmond; Sadie R. Vaughan, Burkeville; Elizabeth Vincent, Suffolk; Dell Warren, Midland; May Wertz, Roanoke; Sarah Elizabeth West, Portsmouth; and Martha Whelchel, Hampton.

Mission Study Class Is Held by Dr. Wynne

Mission Study class, to be conducted by Dr. J. P. Wynne, will have its first session Thursday, October 10 in Dr. Wynne's class room.

Thespians to Present J. M. Barrie's Play

Miss Leola Wheeler Will Direct Play

Rehearsals are now in progress for "What Every Woman Knows" by James M. Barrie with the S. T. C. Dramatic Club again joining the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs in presenting the annual fall play. Miss Leola Wheeler, director of the play, has set November 15, as the tentative date.

Of the eight members of the cast, seven are veterans of previous performances on the S. T. C. stage, while Mary Hunter Edmunds, a junior transfer from Stratford College, will make her initial appearance before the college. As Maggie Wylie, a Scotch-woman, "without charm", she becomes party to an arranged marriage on the part of her anxious brothers and father.

John Shand, to be played by Johnny Pancake, is the victim of the plan, having been forced into marriage in order to borrow three hundred pounds from the Wylies for educational purposes.

Lex Allison will portray Jack Wylie, Maggie's father, while the brothers, equally guilty in the conspiracy, will be interpreted by Keith Eubank as David and Tedo Savage as James.

Through education, the serious-minded John Shand advances in diplomatic circles, eventually becoming a member of the House of Commons. Among his associates is Charles Venables, a minister of the government, to be played by Alex Jones.

Jane McGinnis, as Lady Sybil, through her coquettery succeeds in establishing the inevitable triangle, while the Countess de la Briere, a charming woman of fifty, who helps solve the mystery of John Shand's great success, will be portrayed by Peggy Bellus.

The play, which is light and full of subtle overtones, is well-known to theatre-goers. Helen Hayes and others have been presented in this play.

DR. G. RAY JORDON, Centenary Church, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Dr. G. Ray Jordon To Speak In Chapel

Y. W. Committee Sponsors Program

Dr. G. Ray Jordon, minister of Centenary Methodist Church in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, will be the guest speaker in chapel Friday, October 11.

Dr. Jordon is being brought here through the Public Affairs Committee of the Y. W. C. A., of which Charlotte Gresham is the head.

Not only is Dr. Jordon well known for his religious books, of which "Adventures in Radiant Living" is his most recent, but also for his distant travels. In 1933 he traveled in Syria, Palestine, and the near East; in 1937 he attended the World Conference in Edinburgh and at Oxford; and in 1938 he spent the summer in Mexico. These are only a few of his far reaching travels.

In his many fields of endeavor are included his special preachings at various colleges including Duke, Emory, University of Alabama, Sweetbrier, University of North Carolina, Women's College, Clemson and numerous others.

Throughout the year this same committee will birng other well-known speakers to the campus.

ATTENTION

Town girls and other students, please read the notices concerning group pictures—what to wear for them, and when and where to meet. These notices will be posted in the home office and on the bulletin board by the table in the hall.

Circus Promises Excitement With Animals, Freaks, Fun

"Ladies and gentlemen you see before you the greatest collection of wild animals ever assembled before by mankind! There are wild cats from wildest jungles, ferocious lions and tigers from darkest Africa, gigantic elephants from far off Asia and last but not least we have placed before your eyes the greatest collection of civilized monkys, apes and skunks ever assembled before in the history of the world."

Should one of you students of S. T. C. happen to hear these words, immediately you would shout, "The circus is coming to town!" And right you would be because the Farmville S. T. C. Circus is coming to town on October 26. Such a gigantic collection of animals has never before been witnessed by faculty, students or Rats! This circus which is sponsored by Alpha Kappa Gamma each year has become an annual event to which everyone looks forward. Starting with a parade and featuring sideshows, freaks, clowns, etc.; the circus climaxes its show with the crowning of the circus queen. Each class has a booth, each one of a different nature. So come on girls, and set aside October 26 as a red letter day and come to the Circus. Besides seeing your favorite and dignified senior or junior taking the part of a pig or a monkey, you will see a parade that would make Barnum turn green with envy.

Who will be Circus queen? Who is the cute zebra? Will the rhinoceros suddenly go wild? These and many more questions will be answered October 26 at the annual Farmville S. T. C. Circus!

Women's Chamber Orchestra Charms Students at Lyceum

By ELIZABETH TENNENT

On Monday night the first lyceum of the year was presented by the Women's Chamber Orchestra of New York City to a very responsive audience. Composed of a group of very outstanding women artists of New York City, this group was started three years ago by Miss Jeanette Scheerer. It was organized on a commercial basis Miss Scheerer stated, because she felt that so many young women who spend hours on their work should receive something for their efforts. They decided to tour colleges all over the country and this has proved to be very successful. Miss Scheerer, added Sunday night, October 6, they played before the student body at Sweet Briar and they also appeared at Mary Baldwin College.

Miss Maria Sebriansky's violin solo proved to be one of the highlights of the evening. Besides having made her debut at Town Hall last October, Miss Sebriansky had the honor of receiving the 1939 Naunburg Artist's Award.

Perhaps the selection that was best received by the audience was Debussy's Prelude, Cortege Et Air De Danse, a very melodious composition and one of his lighter works. Miss Scheerer announced that although she had had many requests for the Blue Danube Waltz, they were not able to play it because they had not bought the music. Instead they played "Tales From the Vienna Woods" which was greatly enjoyed.

In an interview members of the orchestra said they had never seen such a quiet or appreciative group of young women; and that it was indeed a pleasure to play here.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Mary K. Beck ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Anne Barnette, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Bridget Gentile, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Dorothy Sprinkle.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Typists

Frances Pritchett ..... Chief Typist
Doris Alvis, Thelma Courtney and Jean Warwick ..... Assistants

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1940

Pen-Points

Ever since you came to college you have been constantly reminded to write for the publications. Their representatives confront you at every turn, and if you escape a staff itself, you are "rail-roaded" right into themes and compositions by the English department. Perhaps you dread the next day's assignment because it requires you to "take pen in hand, etc." It is here that we should like to digress, if we may, in order to prove a point, which, contradictorily enough, needs no proof. We should then not attempt to prove, but rather to clarify.

There are two words in the English language which hold a particular fascination for us: they are "original" and "creative". There is little difference in the literal meaning of either, and yet each has its special identities. To us, originality is a quality to be prized, and we doubt that we are alone in our opinion. That thing which you originate is yours and yours alone; it gives you a distinction, and human nature inspires a craving for individuality. The remarkable feature of originality, too, is that it is common to everyone, paradoxical as it may seem. Finally, the thoughts that are original within you give rise to creation, and therein lies your power for success.

Now, back to our point. It is not for the standing or progress of the publications that you are urged to give expression to your own ideas. The publications were organized for your benefit, to give you an outlet for self-expression and self-assertion, and to give you a chance to make yourself known and heard among a large and diverse group. We do not, then, in view of all this, urge that you write for a publication so much as we urge that you realize the opportunity thus afforded. Don't condemn your talents before you've tried them: don't bury your originality alive!

A. O.

The Y and Why

What does the Y. W. C. A. here on campus offer its membership? This and similar questions will doubtlessly perplex numerous freshmen during the week as they are invited to join the Y. W. C. A. and to take an active part on one of the various committees.

In answering the above question we must remember that active membership in the Y. W. C. A. is not just another extra-curricular activity. It is infinitely more than that. As its name implies Christianity is the core of the whole Young Women's Christain Association. To interpret Christianity in terms of practical campus living is our main goal. To fully attain this goal we need the whole-hearted support and cooperation of each new girl. Christianity as nothing else deals with the complete individual on her highest level. To get the full benefit of college life each new girl must lose herself in working to make God's kingdom a reality here on campus. Then and then only will her life have purpose and the proper perspective.

—J. M.

Shoulder Arms

The pulse of America's collegians is quickening. It will be an interesting study, when things have returned to a more normal state, to analyze this wing in collegiate opinion during the months when congress was debating and passing the conscription bill.

Comment of the Daily Athenaeum at West Virginia university is typical: "Strangely enough, the consensus on the campus has changed considerably since last spring. Many who were then opposed to conscription are now in favor of the draft." The Athenaeum also beserves that American youth has no argument with peoples of any land and would rather spend its energy in friendly rivalry of sports—BUT YOUTH IS READY."

At Louisiana State university, the Daily Reveille urges "a vote of confidence to our congressional leaders who finally secured passage of the conscription bill. Why should we not have selective service when the imminent black clouds of war are shadowing every phase of liberty designed by peace-loving peoples?"

At East Texas State Teachers college, the East Texan believes that the munitions makers are now satisfied, and that "they smile as they run their hand in their pocket to feel the place that will hold those fat, juicy profits." But the Texan adds that from past demonstrations of patriotism on the campus, it is evident that all students will answer the call and that they will be glad to defend their country."

While admitting it is "natural enough" that some college men should not favor the draft law, the College Exponent at Mayville (N. D.) State Teachers college warns the public not to "get the wrong opinion of this college youth. The majority believe in military training for the defense of our country. No class of youth is more patriotic or loyal to these United States."

"Conscription should be hated," declared the Brown University Daily Herald, "but it should not be shunned. We should use it in the same way we use a dangerous and distasteful medicine when the body must be protected from the onslaught of a deadly disease."

Analysis of nationwide collegiate opinion reveals considerable support for the view expressed by the Alligator at the University of Florida: "Conscription is a sacrifice worth making so long as the conscripted defend—not offend, invade or seek to conquer." Echoing this warning is the Dartmouth, which fears "there may be a danger in the spirit that runs through it all. If we do not intend to find our own war, he had best keep the fact in mind. If our talk of war against the principles of fascism is sincere, it would do no harm to fight it at home with action and not words. A beaten-up Jehovah's Witness makes unconvincing copy for an anti-fascism crusade."

Thus the nation's student youth accepts the principle of conscription, willing to sacrifice when necessary but on the alert to safeguard historic liberties.

—A. C. P.

Prelude

Ain't I cute? I've got a date
Whew! at S. T. C., I rate
I feel all fresh and pretty
And think I'll be extra witty.

Over the Rotunda I run and peer
And find he's nowhere near
Not a man I know, I see
Where can he be?

I wait until I ache
And wonder if it's all a fake
All the other girls have gone
Why can't he come on?

Twice I've run back to primp
For my hair has all gone limp
My nose is shiny as a cup
And my skirt is wrinkled up.

A though I'm mighty curious
I'm also mighty furious
Ain't got no patience any more
My pride's walked out the door.

I almost cuss the time I've wasted
An hour this thing has lasted.
Alas! I forget I was gonna bless him out
There he comes, without a doubt.

Bouquets AND Brickbats

Dances and fotball games seem to be foremost in our minds this week. Accomplishment in love affair and blooming romances are quite noticeable since the week-end. For further information we refer you to Hampden-Sydney . . . Who, by the way, certainly had a glorious set of dances. . . . we hear. Congrats to the German Club. 'Tis wonderful that fate had given us the advantages of a co-ed school.

Of week-end interest. . . . Mary Lou's new hair-do for that Fork Union date. . . . Emily celebrating her birthday party. . . May Bartlett's ruch for the ping pong set. . . . Could it be reminiscing for the beach?. . . Say D . D. don't you know tunafish and apples arn't for 2 A. M.? . . . Izzie in town and up to old tricks. . . . Excitement over orchids.

Will Bradley's playing for German Club dances this week-end gives V. P. I. a victory over V. M. I. . . . . one sweet young thing decided in favor of the former. . . 'cause she wanted to hear "Beat Me Daddy".

Dot, maybe you could give a little word of cheer. . . . you know a person doesn't fall in love from the effect of will-power. . . . it's just one of those things that can't be prevented.

Heartiest congratulations to those tapped Alpha Kappa Gama. . . . . namely, Margaret, Allene, Dodson, Yates, Rosebro, and Faye. Let's pause in the midst of heart fluctuations for a fond word or week-end. . . . there are more than one who feels sorry for him and are willing to make a sad situation cheerful. What'cha say, Dot?

'Twill be ole times for Nancy and Billy when they trip the light fantastic at V. P. I. this week-end . . . the same applied to Allene and Jack this past week-end. . . I would be wrong to mention blossoming romances and omit the Edmunds-Gordon affair.

How 'bout those Government meetings that one freshman is so eager to attend? Without an invitation—another thing to the Frosh—we'd still like to see some speaking to upper classmen—after all "dear ole Rat Week" you better watch your "p's & q's"!

Around this campus—Say Ebo how 'bout explaining that light in your eyes on your return from Richmond—and how 'bout those freshmen (fresh out of orientation) who stretch out around 2nd and 3rd floor Rotunda—just to see the sights—better try standing up, it looks better that way—Hey, Jerry, where did you spend Sunday night that calls for that "sleeping sign" on your door on Monday? Latest song hit of the Pilkinton these days—"An Apple For The Teacher"—guess maybe Lashley's apple instigated this theme—Guess maybe Pat missed the boat on Saturday night—Tyler just won't ask her—then those seniors who go for red headed freshmen at H.-S. From reports the dances were grand

GLEANINGS

By JACK COCK

Twenty-six, twenty-seven, twenty-eight. Steadily the consecutive nightly air raids on Britain's capitol mount, but as yet there have been few signs of an invasion by land.

Although still apprehensive, the British are now beginning to wonder if Germany's proposed invasion will come before Spring, if the invasion will come at all.

According to military experts, authorities on European geography, Germany is far more vulnerable at this time, when it comes to an attack on England, than is England herself.

These experts agree that September and October are the two wettest months on the year for England and that should German forces break through strong British defenses, they would find themselves knee deep, so to speak, in British mud, mud that would render Nazi mechanized units, so effective in the attack on Frances, practically useless with winter staring them in the face.

Their progress would be slowed to a minimum and against them would be desperate men fighting on their home front, every mother's son of them fighting not with the desire for power in their hearts but instead the love of their mother country, a country that has not been thoroughly undermined by Hitler's Fifth Column.

The increasing bad weather would not only affect the German land forces but would hinder her air force as well. Despite modern instruments, Nazi dive bombers would find it difficult to locate their troop targets in a murky London fog.

Under steady bombings by John Bull from their air and hampered by high winds, it would be almost an impossibility to mass even very few barges along the main land of occupied France.

Final argument for the British in the views of these military experts is the British navy, and this last argument speaks for itself. Great Britain is still "Mistress of the Seas". Regardless of losses suffered in her naval forces, she still outnumbers a combined Italian-German force with nearly twice as many tons afloat.

On the other hand however these experts suggest an equal number of arguments in favor of an immediate German attack—equal, true, but less convincing.

First that "they've had only four months to prepare a British Maginot Line against the Germans and to produce the necessary armaments." How could England possibly do in four months what it took France twenty years to accomplish?

Second—"their communications are being hampered more and more every day by German bombings." That's a fair enough statement. Naturally the daily bombings are beginning to take their toll—but this bombing hasn't been any one sided affair Surely if communications are being hampered in London, they are likewise being hampered in Berlin.

The same goes for number three—"the nerves of the civilian population in the rear are already shaken by constant day and night bombings." This might be true of either side, but when you stop to reason that these bombings have been concentrated mainly on only two cities, London and Berlin, it seems improbable.

Number four is more difficult to get around. "Their man power (that is the man power of the British) is less than one to two against the Germans". There is no denying that when it comes to man power, the British are definitely outnumbered, but it does seem that in a country where this freedom has been so completely suppressed, an inevitable lack of morale would lessen this power.

Last—"The sooner the Germans attack, from their point of view, the better. Britian's air production is mounting. American aid will be increasing from now on."

Either way they look at it the risk is bound to be great. It is up to the German high command to decide when to take that risk, and if we can judge from the past it will not be this winter.

Meanwhile America and the rest of the world can only watch and wait.

Gallop Poll

First week in a Freshman's Life

Arise 6:30, take bath, dress, eat breakfast, go to classes on time, pay attention, prompt at chapel, lunch on the dot, spends leisure hour constructively, goes to P. O. once a day, studies full time required, in bed by nine, lights out by 10. Sleeps sensibly and normally.

Second Week in a Freshman's Life

Arise 8:00, skips breakfast, to P. O., late to class, chews gum, writes to Jimmy, slides in at chapel through which she nods and sleeps, to P. O., reducing, so omits lunch, at three can't get to Shannon's fast enough, there drinks dopes, smokes, chats, sees Bob, John, etc. until two minutes to six, eats crackers, jelly for dinner, spends half of night in friend's room where group devours remains of box from home, lopes into own room at 2 p. m., stumbles to bed, having received twenty letters, smoked two packages of cigarettes, eaten six bars of candy, consumed three cokes, decides that education is a wonderful thing and mentally pats on the back, he who created it Sighs, turns over and so blissful sleep.

Sports Slants

By FAYE NIMMO

Everyone having been officially welcomed by all worth of saying welcome; all freshman are now acclimated to dear State Teachers college and acquainted with its rules; freshmen also no longer ignorant of those to be kow-towed to, the upper classmen; may we get down to bare fact and to the more important sports phase of this column?

Tennis

Flash: All Day Tennis Tournament to be held at Farmville State Teachers College October 12! This tournament is really for everyone, not just old hands, nor for professionals—do we have any? Yes, this tournament is for every student at S. T. C. who has a racquet, tennis racquet of course, to hold in their hands. If you are interested, and surely you will be, put your "John Henry" on the A. A. bulletin board Friday.

This tournament will be carefully planned so that before it is ended, each contestant will have met with every entry, and will be worked out accordingly. Don't fail to enter because you feel you're an inexperienced player. If you're eliminated early—So what? All with the exception of one will be with you before the day is spent and winner tallied. By the way, if it rains on Saturday, don't be dismayed it will simply be postponed, this giving all entrants more time for practice. This ends the tennis news, but hurry, old or new girls, get out your racquets and put your names on this list.

Golf

What's wrong with golf enthusiasm here? I know, Agnes Patterson has lost none! But—Is it the weather is too chilly? If so—come on out to Longwood on Monday and Wednesday and you will find out that it's not so cold after all when you're walking over those grassy knolls of our golf course hitting, or hitting at, those white balls. Is it too far to walk? If so—don't walk, it isn't at all necessary. Each Monday and Wednesday there are cars present to take you all the way—just for golf—and more walking. See? Not only do you have a chance to play golf but to ride in an automobile legitimately! Do you fear the competition because of your ignorance of the game or your control of the club? Don't let a small thing like that hamper you. Most of the girls out for golf are new and those learning to play. Come out and make an attempt at it. The new girls are now practicing shots, drives, and the old ones are back at their playing.

(P. S. It's a marvelous way to keep away those unneeded, and unwanted extra pounds.)

Archery

Now, along with all these golf hounds—Some of you fowls of a different sport hop in for Longwood. For what? The ride? Ah no—Archery, of course. This art claimed more student than golf last week. Everyone come out and try it. Honestly, you don't have to be a Pocahontas, Hiawatha, nor William Tell just to come out and try. Nell Hurt says it's loads of fun, and she should know. As with golf, this sport is—same place, Longwood, same time—Monday and Wednesday same ride—a real automobile! Come on girls!

There isn't so much being said about our ping pong now, but don't forget—remember—a tournament is coming in the near future. No details having been announced, rest assured that it is to come. Start practice now so you'll really be good, and to those that aren't acquainted with the game, start learning now so that you'll have no excuse for not entering when this tournament does arrive. Get your paddles from Nancy Pierpont or from Parham. Don't be afraid of them, they're really very nice and don't mind getting the padles and balls for you. It's an honor to be able to say, the new tables in the Senior Rec. are grand.

Hockey

In case any of you aren't aware of the fact that there is to be a freshman hockey team, come out onto the athletic field and watch a few practices. After they get their rat caps and you know which is which you'll see what I mean. In short, there is to be a freshman team, and they are going to play for their class—also by chance, to get rid of those tiny but troublesome caps they will be wearing.

Miscellaneous

More freshmen are always welcome and needed, too, all old girls know how much they are needed and wanted. You get free easy lessons for playing hockey, not 10—but more, from Adam Soph, Junior and Senior. Wonderful teachers!

It's a little early for basketball, but do remember, it's coming. Some freshmen may not know what teams we do have, also what fun, but you all have something to look forward to! When you hear these cheer leaders, you'll wonder how; and why; but when you see the team you will not wonder . . . . You'll know. Basketball is coming.

And girls! We have no football here—but how about that Tech versus Richmond game all you homegoers witnessed? Tch, Tch, shame. We need a football team too.

Girls—Try sports! Keep up with sports! Support sports! And most of all—Enjoy sports with all the Student Body!

PERMANENT WAVES

Given by the operators in our store have to be better for the store personally guarantees all work that is done.

PERMANENT WAVE SPECIALS

• Guaranteed machineless permanent. No electricity, no heat, cool and comfortable.

$5.00 and $7.50

TWO

Beautiful $3.50 Oil Permanents for only $4.95

Bring someone with you.

Use your charge account for all your Beauty work

OPERATORS

Miss Hartis—Miss Jones—Miss Dickerson—Miss Pankey

BALDWIN'S BEAUTY SHOP

Phone 159 Farmville's Best Beauty Shop

Hockey Practice Gets Underway

Captain Elections Held This Week

Class hockey practices are being held every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at four o'clock. A player must have eight practices before she is qualified for her class team. Eligibility for class teams is based on skill, sportsmanship, and attendance at practice.

Captains for the four teams will be picked this week. Girls who have not been able to come to practices yet may come now in time to get their practices before the teams are picked.

Girls who have reported for practices up to date are—Anna Johnson, Helen McIllwaine, Florence Lee, Crews Borden, Pat Gibson, Rosa Courter, Elizabeth Barlow, Dot Johnson, Corilda Chapman, Spilly Purdom, Harriette Walker, Sally Hutchinson, Jane Lee Sink, Elizabeth Walls, Rosalie Rodgers, Hallie Hillsman, Helen Lewis, Jerry Smith, Ellen Ebel, Elizabeth Anne Barnes, Betty Bridgeforth, Mary Wilson Carper, Hester Chatten, Frieda Dekkar, Dot Dorrocott, Mildred Droste, Ruth Dugger.

Grace Ellerton, Ellen Goode, Mary Hazelgrove, Lulie Jones, Mickey Lawrence, Dorothy Massie Faye Nimmo, Tate Patterson, Shirley Pierce, June Smith, Dot Sue Simmons, Lee Foster, Louise Ranson, Liz Tennent, Sara Trigg, Nancy Williamson, Marjorie Whitlow, Mary Parrish Viccellio, Jane Hobson, Elsie Verelle, Sara Jefferys, Dixie White, Sara Hardy, Betsy Trigg, Patsy Connelly, Frances Adams and Dorothy Gaul.

Class of 1940

Continued from Page 1

county; Frances Martin, Pittsylvania; Anna Maxey, Victoria; Essie Milliner, Richlands; Mary Walker Mitchell, Shenandoah.

Lorana Moomaw, Roanoke, Nancy Moss, North Tazewell, Kathryn Newman, Darlington Heights; Marjorie Nimmo, Tazewell; Virginia Oakes, Deltaville; Mildred Owen, Melfa; Sue Owen, Halifax county; Katherine Peery, doing graduate work at W. & M. Richmond; Virginia Lee Pettis, Tazewell.

Margaret Pierce, Farmville; Virginia Polley, Wicomico Church; Frances Pope, Boykins; Jane Powell, Wytheville; Ramonita Rameriz, Puerto Rico; Helen Reiff, doing graduate work at Drexel; Lucille Richeson, Amherst county; Jane Rosenberger, Speedwell; Marguerite Russ, Norfolk; Elizabeth Scales, Henry county.

Philippa Scholbohm, Hampton; Janelle Shelor, Buchanan; Marion Shelton, doing graduate work W. & M., Richmond; Mary Sue Simmons, Surry Court House; Myra Smith, Criglersville; Nancy Vaughan Smith, welfare work; Virginia Louise Smith, Halifax county; Virginia Winston Smith, Richmond; Shirley Stephens, Norfolk; Olivia Stephenson, Windsor and Isle of Wight schools; Mary Catherine Sturgis, Exmore.

Harriette Vaden, Colonial Beach; Agnes Wagstaff, Big Island; Margaret Ward, Buffalo Ridge; Kathryn Watkins, Washington county; Jean Watts, Vinton; Betty Porter Webb, Amelia; Elizabeth Wilkinson, Burkeville.

Isabelle Williamson, Holland; Mrs Martha Flanagan Wilson, substitute work in Norfolk; Lula Windham, Norfolk county; Liza Wise, Hampton; Evelyn Woltz, Halifax county.

Members of the 1940 diploma class and their present situations:

Antionette Barrett, Ivor; Sarah Booth, Endicott; Mrs. Thomas M. Brooks, returned to S. T. C.; Sarah Chambers, returned to S. T. C.; Emma Louise Crowgey, returned to S. T. C.; Nette Elizabeth Davis, Capron; Henrietta Dawson, Northumberland county, Virginia Evans, Campbell county, Eliss Fowlkes, returned to S. T. C.; Mabel Garland, New Point; Sarah Jollett, Bonesville; Gladys Virginia Jones, Campbell county.

Aggie Louise Mann, returned to S. T. C.; Dorothy Mayes, Prince Edward county; Emily Flynt Moore, Heathville; Hattie Moore, returned to S. T. C.; Evelyn Pankey, Prince Edward county; Ruby Mae Parsons, Charlotte county; Billie Pittman, Southampton county; Annette Prosise, Amelia; Eugenia Ramsey, expects to return to S. T. C. after Christmas.

Frances Snell, returned to S. T. C.; Judith Spinner, Broadnax; Florence Thierry, returned to S. T. C.; Mary Virginia Walker, Esmont; Eleanor White, Luden; Hilda Wills, Boykins; Mary Wolfenbarger, Osaka; Dorothy Lee Wood, Morrison; and Edna Woodall, returned to S. T. C.

1940 Graduates

	Degree	Diploma
Number teaching	94	21
Number employed in other work	2
Number doing advanced work	6	9
Number married	1
Number who did not desire positions	4	2
Number who did not secure positions	7	5
Total graduates	114	37

A & N STORE

Lady's jodphurs, tan and brown $2.95

Jodphur Boots $3.75

Jodphur Shoes $2.75

Riding Breeches, tan and brown $2.95

Riding Boots $5.95

Sweat Shirts and Athletic Socks

8 ENLARGEMENTS AND FILM DEVELOPED 8

25¢ COIN

116 SIZE OR SMALLER

SPECIALISTS IN 35MM.

ALL MINIATURE FILMS ARE VAPORATED AND FINE GRAIN DEVELOPED

36 EXPOSE ROLLS TO 3X4 127 25¢ PER ROLL

18 " " 65¢

SPECIAL OFFER FREE

ENLARGE PHOTO BOX 731 BOSTON MASS

Sports Calendar

Archery, 3:30—Monday and Wednesday, Longwood.

Hockey, 3:30—Tuesday and Thursdays.

Tennis, Sign on bulletin board for desired time.

Swimming, See A. A. bulletin board.

Truck leaves back porch at 3:30 every Monday and Wednesday for anyone who wishes ride to Longwood.

Quicker Service at the

COLLEGE SHOPPE

Phone 200

ROSE'S

5c—10c—25c Store

On the Corner

Knitting Wool and Needles

20c—25c

Patronize Patterson Drug Co.

—AT—

Money Saving Prices

—FOR—

Drugs and Toiletries

Expert Prescription Service

Clean Fountain

Featuring Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream

238 MAIN STREET

Nov. 14 Is Named Water Show Date

Buff Gunter Is General Chairman

Prominent in the sport spotlight of this season is the Water Carnival which is to be presented November 14 in the school pool.

Plans for the 1940 carnival are different from the class competition stunts which have been a custom for the last few years. Swimmers this year from each class are joining to present a unitary exhibition of various aquatic skills. Such a unique and colorful performance will be general in its appeal.

Group practices will be held every afternoon in the pool at 430. Any student may participate.

The carnival is sponsored each year by the H2O Club. Buff Gunter is general chairman of the event. Any student may participate.

For Latest Sheet MUSIC or RECORDINGS visit

SOUTHSIDE MUSIC CENTER

119 W. Third Street

BUTCHER'S

The convenient store for faculty and student body.

Good things to eat and drink

Planters Bank & Trust Company

Farmville, Virginia

Member: Federal Reserve System Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

BALANCE YOUR DIET With Fruits from the

Economy Food Store

Main tSreet Farmville

On the Mystery of The Appearing Pop

There was something mysterious in the air over in Cunningham. I had seen several of the girls drinking from a bottle, and I thought nothing of it. People often do that. Then I saw my roommate. Low and behold, she was drinking too! She never drank bottled drinks. "Bad for the constitution", she always said. Then, I bumped into my suite mate. It was strange, she was drinking something too, and I had thought that she was on one of those "no expense" budgets. By a weakness of mine, I wondered if I shouldn't celebrate a little too. As I approached my room to rake up one of my hidden emergency nickels, I heard a mad rush in the hall behind me. A few "yipee's" and "hurry up's" and I stood in amazement. Good heavens! Was the president outside, or was the town on fire? Somebody grabbed me by the arm and yelled, "Come on".

"What in the world?" I yelled back.

"Oh, haven't you heard? The man's out back giving away free drinks."

S. A. Legus, Tailor

Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing

We call for and deliver

All Work Guaranteed

Phone 203

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.

Visit us for the

BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

Martin, the Jeweler

Rytex Stationery

200 single sheets or 100 double sheets and 100 envelopes

FOR $1.00

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Careful Management Courteous Service

Interest paid on Savings Deposits

KNITTING YARNS—All colors per hank ..... 10c—20c—50c

SHOE CABINETS, colors rose, blue and wine $1.98

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Appreciate Your Patronage

SKIRTS AND SWEATERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS

—SKIRTS—

Plaids and Solids

Wools and Corduroy

$1.98 to $3.98

—SWEATERS—

Cardigans and slipovers. Lovely assortment of styles and colors

$1.98 to $5.95

—JODHPURS—

Come in and see our new selection. Brown, tan, green and black in a lovely quality of gabardine.

$1.98 to $3.98

DAVIDSON'S

The House of Quality

Yourself and Others

H.-S. Homecomings

Hampden-Sydney Homecomings claimed many S. T. C. girls Friday and Saturday nights, October 4 and 5. Some girls attended the dances both nights and others attended only one dance; however, all reported it a gala affair. The dances took place in the gymnasium and music was furnished by Dan Gregory. On Saturday a number of alumnae returned for the football game and dance.

Among those attending dances were Jennie Noel with Garnet Greear; Dot Robbins, Buck Crockett; Mary Prince Arnold, Pat Booth; Josephine Bishop, Maurice Flinn; Anne Boswell, Billy Baskerville; Nancy Bonderant, Louis Johnson; Lena Butterworth, Wiley Umstead; Josephine Canada, John Sivell; Sarah Cline, Bob Dabney; Sarah Carter, Taylor Bruce; Genevieve Cooke, Fred Edmunds; Katie Crider, Bobby Fulton; Nan Duer, Gus Goddin; Mary H. Edmunds, Paul Gordon; Betty Fahr, Buck Thompson.

Sarah Goode, John Jones; Irma Graff, Mr. Burks; Helen Gray, Ed Kelley; Roberta Grigg, Ned Crawley; Mary Harvie, Pelham Myers; Louise Huff, S. M. Chitwood; Polly Hughes, Marshall Doswell; Grace Hutchison, P. T. Atkinson; Ruth Johnson, William Floragan; Betty Jones, Frank Sullivan; Rebecca Jones, John Foushie; Dot Lawrence, Tom Ford; Ruth Loving, Sid Weed; Jane McGinnis, Lewis Richards; Helen McIlwaine, J. B. Jackson; Marjorie McAllister, Marion Tyshan.

Carolyn Minneck, Charlie Graborn; Agnes Pickral, J. D. Ridgeway; Nancy Pierpont, Ryland Wrisiger; Frances Powell, Frank Sillers; Kitty Price, Ranny Chitwood; Frances Pritchett, Sam Lippincott; Cottie Radspinner, Lester Dillard; Jeanne Rhodes, Henry Schatz; Jeanne Sears, Jack Wood; Helen Seward, Emmet Hoy; Martha Smith, Jack Dozier.

Elizabeth Townsend, Craigh Burks; Jean Upshur, Doc Goriedin; Elizabeth Warner, Joe Hereford; Jeanne Warwick, Bill Willis; Bess Windham, Bobby Trice; Marion Worsham, Charles Brinler; Ruth Woody, Gordon Leach; Josephine Wade, Momo Maceth; Louise Bell, Bob Wisdom; M. K. Ingham, John Harrison.

Nina Lee Hall, Arthur Flippo; Joe Hardy, Billy Baskerville; Dorothy Johnson, Maynard Johnson; Louise Parcell, Ned Douglas; Harriette Walker, Lawrence Myers; Caroline Webster, Carter Noble and Pat Whitlock, Tyler Taylor.

V. P. I. Homecomings

Many of our girls cheered the ole Tech team at the V. P. I.-Richmond game and danced at the hop last Saturday night to celebrate V. P. I. Homecomings. Among those who attended were Betsy Austin, Anne Benton, Nancy Bland, Rosa Courter, Betty Davis, Charlotte Greely, Vivian Gwaltney, Anne Henry, Evelyn Lupton, Helen McGuire Dorothy Massie, Allene Overbey, Estelle Paulette, Nell Scott, Helene Straus and Peggy L. Boyette.

V. M. I. Openings

V. M. I. Openings attracted girls to Lexington for the week-end. At the football game and listening to Dean Hudson at the dances we saw Martha Cottrell, Helen Gilliam, Helen Hanks, Cynthia James, Roberta Lattire, Shirley Sutton, Barbara White, Eleanor Messick, Patsy Fletcher, Rozelle Eckford, and May Wertz.

Sophomore Picnic

Miss Olive T. Iler, sponsor of the sophomore class, gave a picnic for the sophs at Longwood Thursday, October third. Members of the class hiked to the cabin singing their class and school songs. The group left school about 3 o'clock and returned at 6 oc'lock. They were served hot dogs and all that goes with them, including cokes.

Platter Chatter

By JEANNE SEARS

This week Victor has published a top notch match set of Southern College Songs arranged in a most attractive folder. The first record has two super schools of of "Ole South." First "Kentucky, Fight, Fight, Fight," and "On, On University of Kentucky" both from the University of Kentucky. Then on the other side comes Tennessee's "Spirit of the Hill", and "Fight! Boys Fight!" Just somehow puts you in a most collegiate mood and sets you off for a real football game. On the other side comes "Alabama" and next, Auburn offers "Fight 'em Tigers" and their "Alma Mater." Record number two has schools all over "Tarheel" followeres will love. South Carolina's "Carolina Day", North Carolina's favorite "Hark! the Sound of Tarheel Voices" and "Here Comes Carolina." The reverse had "Rambling Wreck From Georgia Tech" and "Hail to Georgia" followed by "Cavalier Song" and "Virginia, Hail, All Hail" from the good ole U. Va. And lastly comes Duke with "Blue and White" and "Dear Ole Duke," followed by "Washington and Lee Swing" and "College Friendships" from W. and L. On the back or this is "Roll on, Tulane," and "Fight for L. S. U." and "Alma Mater" of Louisiana State. All these records are made by the All-American Glee Club and these male voices do credit to each of these songs.

Now in the popular trend come, Bea Wain's recording of "Our Love Affair" from "Strike Up The Band" and "I Don't Want To Cry Anymore"—the latters my pet. Her voice is so clear and sweet and the words are grand. In the second chorus the tempo is doubled and just fits. Make this one a "must hear along with Tommy Dorsey's recording of "Looking For Yesterday" sung by Frank Sinatra, and "I Wouldn't Take A Million" done rightly by Connie Haines. Need I say anything about the Mr. D's trombone? I think it speaks for itself. I mean that literally too. Incidentally, his hour program on Saturday afternoon from four to five is definitely worth listening to.

Lloyd-Hannah

Mr. and Mrs. William Nathaniel Hannah of Solitude, Palmyra, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Alice Roberta to William Enmons Lloyd of Petersburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Loper Llyod of Manassas

No date has been set for the wedding.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

KLEANWELL
Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

STUDENTS!
ATTENTION!
If your parents have not enrolled you for protection against acidents under the Medical Reimbursement Policy issued the State Teachers College, ask them to do so at once. Information regarding this coverage has been them.
F. W. Hubbard, Agent
Planters Bank Building
Farmvile, Virginia

NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store
Latest Anklets
10c—15c—20c pr.
Shop Here
First!

Ice Cream
15c A PINT
29c A QUART
How about ordering some at night?
SOUTHSIDE
DRUG STORE

MEET ME AT . .
Shannon's
For good food and drinks
Phone 224 We deliver

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

GRAY'S
DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

Lovelace Electric
Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

TAILORED SUITS, Satins, washable silks, whites and colors $1.00 and $1.97
Any Way hats, Black and colors $1.97
DOROTHY MAY STORE
Charge it if you like

STATE
"Your Community Center"
Today-Tomorrow!
First Time on the Screen!
LUM AND ABNER
in
"Dreaming Out Loud"
Friday-Saturday!
MICKEY ROONEY JUDY GARLAND
in
"STRIKE UP THE BAND"
Monday—Tuesday!
TYRONE POWER LINDA DARNELL
in
"Brigham Young, Frontiersman"

LEE
"Your Family Theatre"
Today Only!
JACK RANDDALL in
"Wild Horse Range"
Thursday-Friday!
ANN SOUTHERN in
"Gold Rush Maisie"
Saturday Only!
JOHNNY MACK BROWN
"Ragtime Cowboy
Monday-Tuesday!
Return Showing
By Popular Demand!
BING CROSBY DOROTHY LAMOUR BOB HOPE
in Joe"
"Road to Singapore"

25 CENTS IN COIN
ROLLS DEVELOPED
Any size Kodak film developed
8 never-fade Velox prints only 25¢
Low Prices On Candid Film
Handy Mailing Envelopes Furnished
VALUABLE PREMIUMS GIVEN • MAIL YOUR FILMS TO
JACK RABBIT CO.
SPARTANBURG, S.C.

HOW TO WIN BOY-FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE STAG-LINES

By Dalea Dorothy Clix

Dear Miss Clix: How can I impress our drama teacher that I ought to get the part of Juliet when our school does "Romeo and Juliet" this year? The teacher comes from New York, is handsome, worldly and mature (around 35), but he's as aloof as a Greek god on Mt. Olympus. I feel like a babe in arms in his presence. How can I get the role? ASPIRING

Dear "Aspiring": I don't want to pooch on any of Mr. Freud's preserves, but you sound as though your mind aspires toward the drama teacher more than toward the drama. However, Juliet was only fourteen, so maybe feeling like a babe in arms (even his arms) might help psychologically. Beyond that, remember that an actress must express deepness as well as with her hands. Makeup over be artful and remember, civilized New Yorkers expect a woman's finger nails to be beautifully colored.

AND NOW, DEAR, READ THE NEXT COLUMN CAREFULLY!

WHAT YOU CAN DO TO HAVE MORE BEAUTIFUL NAILS
Let the brilliant, gem-hard lustre of DURA-GLOSS give your fingernails that marvelous attraction and allure that men admire! DURA-GLOSS is the amazing new nail polish that's different! DURA-GLOSS flows on more smoothly, keeps its brilliant beauty of color longer, resists tacking and chipping better! Have the most beautiful fingernails in the world—buy DURA-GLOSS!
NEW SHADE ZOMBIE
A NEW FORMULA BY LORR Lorr Laboratories, Paterson, N. J. 10¢

DO YOU SMOKE THE CIGARETTE THAT SATISFIES
IT'S THE Smoker's Cigarette
Definitely Milder, Cooler-Smoking
decidedly Better-Tasting,
Chesterfield is one up on 'em all
Smokers say that Chesterfield is the one completely satisfying cigarette. Everybody who tries 'em likes 'em. Chesterfield's right combination of American and Turkish tobaccos is the best that money can buy.
Do you smoke the cigarette that SATISFIES

BETTER MADE FOR BETTER SMOKING
Every Chesterfield must conform to the one right standard of size and shape for a cooler better-tasting, definitely milder smoke.
(As seen in the new film "TOBACCOLAND, U.S.A.")
Chesterfield
Copyright 1940, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

VOTE FOR CIRCUS QUEEN

The Rotunda

VOTE FOR
CIRCUS QUEEN

VOLUME XX FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, OCT. 16, 1940 NO. 4

Puerto Rican Students

Far away from home but happy nevertheless are S. T. C.'s seven Puerto Rican students. Seated left to right in the front row are Sarah Carbonell, Lolita Robert, Carmen Portela and Norah Beauchamp; standing: Celia Sosa, Priscilla Barreto and Rosaura Sosa.

'South of the Border' Senoritas Charmed By Farmville Ways

"Buenos dias, Senorita!" say the seven petite Latins—Carmen Portela, Celia Sosa, Rosaura Sosa, Lolita Robert, Sarah Carbonell, Norah Beauchamp, and Pricilla Barreto. They hail from "south of the border down" Puerto Rico way.

Should some pondering student inquire how they are faring in these halls of learning, they would probably hear, "Oh, we like eet fine. Ze professairs—zey are so-o-o sweet." Incidentally, they think geography and chemistry are the hardest subjects. They didn't come to college merely to be "exposed to education"! Their arrows are all shot for one bull's eye—teaching in Puerto Rico. There are numerous colleges and universities in Puerto Rico they tell us, but their main reason for coming to America was to improve their English.

When the three freshmen—Sarah Carbonell, Norah Beauchamp and Priscilla Barreto—came to America in September they informed our inquiring reporter that they felt greener than the common garden variety of freshmen. Our customary ways of living were so novel to them. For instance, in Puerto Rico they cannot have a date without a chaperone. If they go to a dance, the girls go with their parents and meet the boys there. By the way, girls, if you have a secret passion for rumbas, boleros and congas just pick yourself up and hotfoot it over to one of their rooms. They'll gladly demonstrate.

To the accompaniment of a green gleam in our eyes, they complacently informed us that they had seen Errol Flynn, Henry Fonda, Kay Francis and Annabella in person at the numerous Beach Clubs in Puerto Rico. Their favorite movie stars are, oddly (?) enough, males—Tyrone Power, Robert Taylor, Nelson Eddy, Errol Fynn and Mickey Rooney (!!!).

Can you feature not ever having seen a football game before last week-end? Sarah Carbonell had never, and when asked what she thought of the great game (with gestures of horror) she replied that she didn't see how anyone, including the players, could get much fun out of running around and knocking each other down on the ground. Small wonder that everyone has seen snow round these localities, but not these three freshmen. Gulp! They confessed that they were eagerly looking forward to some of Farmville's exceptional snowy weather as they had heard witnesses relate about last winter's abundance.

Continued on Page 3

YWCA Plans Series Of Panel Discussions

"Can one be a Christian and still support the war?" will be the topic for the first Y. W. C. A. panel discussion group Thursday October 17 from 9:00 to 10:00 o'clock in Student Building Lounge.

Martha Whelchel, vice-president of the Y. W. C. A. will lead the discussion. On her committee for this program are Sara Cline, Charlotte Gresham, and Lucy Turnbull. This is the first in a series of forums that the Y. W. C. A. will sponsor throughout the year pertinent to the question, "Christianity on the campus". Other forums will be conducted by members of the cabinet.

French Honor Society Is Reorganized Here

Five girls from eleven eligibles at S. T. C. have accepted invitations to join Beta Pi Theta, a French national honor society. They are Martha Wright, Texie Belle Felts, Elizabeth Garrett, Helen Virginia Sydnor and Jane Lee Hutcheson.

This organization began at Farmville in 1930, but having been discontinued three years ago, it is being reinstated this year.

In order to be eligible, a student must make a B average in French, C average in her general college work, and have had at least two years of college French.

There will be only two meetings yearly of Beta Pi Theta as a separate organization, but this club will meet twice monthly with the French Circle, an organization to which any student taking French may belong.

Sigma Pi Rho Initiates Three

Initiation was held last night for Sigma Pi Rho, national Latin organization for teachers' colleges. Sara Cline, Jane Lee Hutcheson, and Mrs. Coon, of the Farmville High school faculty, joined the group.

To be eligible for the club, a girl must be a junior and continuing Latin, with a B average in the subject, and at least a C average in her general college work.

Classes Announce Nominees Chosen For Circus Queen

Scott, McIlwaine, Carper Are Elected

Circus Queen nominations were made at the class meetings, Tuesday, October 15.

Helen McIlwaine was chosen to represent the senior class; Harriet Scott was the juniors choice for queen; Shirley Turner, Sarah Wade Owen, Jeanne Sears, Ellen Ebel, and Lillian Agnew are tentative candidates for the sophomore circus queen nominee, and will be voted upon by Saturday. Mary Wilson Carper was selected from the freshman class.

The circus queen is elected by the student body, and voting is done by the penny-a-vote system. The nominee receiving the most votes reigns as queen with the other three candidates composing the court.

Forensic Group Sets Program

Debaters to Argue National Question

Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary forensic fraternity has announced the outcome of the final vote for the official debate question for the 1940-1941 season. It reads, subject to revised wording, as follows: "Resolved, That the Nations of the Western Hemisphere should form a Permanent Union." The committee is still at work on the final wording of the proposition.

Montevallo, Alabama has been chosen as the seat for the bi-annual provincial convention to be held April 7 and 8. Virginia Alpha chapter at Farmville was hostess to this convention in the spring of 1939.

The local chapter of Pi Kappa Delta plans to send delegates to the Dixie Tourney at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C. in December, and to the Grand Eastern Forensic Tournament, also at Winthrop, in the spring. The usual intercollegiate debates are being scheduled and a full year is anticipated.

Dr. J. P. Wynne Gives Education Dinner

Dr. J. P. Wynne, head of the Department of Education at the State Teachers College, gave a dinner recently at the College Tea Room for the men concerned with the development of the teacher training program of the college. Present as guests of Dr. Wynne were Dr. J. L. Jarman, Mr. C. L. Ramsey, principal of the High School, Superintendent T. J. McIlwaine, Mr. Armstrong Smith, principal of the John Randolph School, Mr. Leon E. Bell, Mr. M. B. Coyner, Mr. S. M. Holton, Mr. E. M. Johnson, Mr. A. L. Wingo, and Dr. F. F. Swertfeger. After the dinner, in honor of Mr. Bell who is retiring after twenty years service at the college, different features of the development of the schools and of the training of teachers during the last two decades were reviewed by those present.

Overbey Made Junior Production Chairman

Allene Overbey, editor of the Colonnade, was appointed junior production chairman at class meeting Tuesday night, October 15. December 10 was announced as the tentative date for the junior production.

Mary Katherine Zehmer and Irma Graff were also elected cheer leaders for the junior class at the meeting last night.

Freshmen Elect Betty Bridgeforth Class President

Kauzlarich Named Faculty Adviser

Betty Bridgeforth, of Kenbridge, was elected president of the freshman class Monday, October 14 at their initial class meeting. Miss Emily Kauzlarich, physical education instructor was selected for faculty advisor of the class of '44. Class officers, Student Government and Student Standards representatives were chosen Tuesday night, October 15.

Tuesday, Faye Nimmo, from Suffolk was chosen vice-president; Bradnar Harrison, Lawrenceville, secretary; Mary Parrish Viccellio, Chatham, treasurer. Mary Evelyn Pearsall, fom Roanoke, and Hannah Lee Crawford from Farmville will be the freshman Student Government representatives. Julia Eason, of Richmond and Nell Quinn, will serve on the Student Standards Committee.

Freshmen nominated candidates for the Freshman Commission at the table in the hall today, October 16. Each freshman nominated two girls. 24 girls receiving the highest number of votes will form the ballot to be voted upon Friday, October 18. From this ballot 12 girls will be elected to form the Freshman Commission.

Mary Katherine Dodson, president of the junior class, the sister class of the freshmen, presided at the meeting Monday night until the election of the president.

Twenty-Three Girls Pledge Honor Group

Alpha Phi Sigma initiated twenty-three new girls into its fraternity Tuesday night, October 15, at 9:00 in the Honor Room.

Those initiated into the apprentice degree were Louise Bell, Rosemary Elam, Louise Foster, Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, Frances Lee Hawthorne, Lorraine Hurst, Alice Elizabeth Overcash, Nell Olen, Nellie Quinn, Ernestine Scott, Virginia Seward, Jerry Smith, Doris Taylor, Frances Thackston, Dreama Waid, Miriam Weger, and Gladys Wilson.

The new members of the novice degree are Nancy Guy, Ann Pharis, Delle Pursell, Mary Lee Pittard, Elizabeth Scott and June Smith.

Alpha Phi Sigma is a national honorary fraternity for scholarship. It is the only honorary organization on campus to which freshmen are eligible on matriculation.

U. S. Can Easily Be Fascist Warns Barnes

Proclaiming that the United States has "one foot in an ox cart and the other in an airplane", which is a simple way of saying that there exists a great gulf between our institutions and machines, Dr. Harry Elmer Barnes, Cooperstown, N. Y., educator, lecturer and writer predicted at the annual one day meeting of District C of the Virginia Education Association which was held at Thomas Jefferson high school on Friday, October 11, that unless America finds a way to budge this gap gradually she is doomed to become a Fascist Nation. He advised further that we keep out of war and its inevitable chaos and devote our energies to improve social conditions rather than to a hysterical preparedness program.

Dr. James Elliot Walmsley of the college faculty, Ruth Lea Purdum and Pat Gibson attended the lecture.

Class Circus Stunt Chairmen

Seated, left to right, Jeanne Sears, sophomore; Mary Elizabeth Pettierew and Yates Carr, seniors. Standing, Mary Evelyn Pearsall, freshman, and Frances Rosebro, junior.

1940 Virginian Given First Ronor Rating

1940 Virginian, annual publication edited by Isabel Williamson, received first honor rating by the National Scholastic Press Association.

With 870 points last year's annual received a higher rating than ever before. Thirty additional points would have given the year book a superior rating and placed it in All American class. The National Scholastic Press Association judges school annuals throughout the United States and returns a criticism of the publication.

1938 Virginian, which was edited by Ruth Montgomery, was the last yearbook entered in the National Scholastic Press Association.

NOTICE TO FRESHMEN

Test requirements for beginners swimming credit are posted on the athletic bulletin board beneath the pool schedule. Students wishing to do so, may pass off work this Saturday, October 19, at 3 o'clock.

Juniors Sponsor "Lost Horizon"

College Choir Also Listed on Program

"Lost Horizon", screen production of James Hilton's famous novel of the same title, will be presented Thursday, October 31, at the State Theatre under the auspices of the junior class.

Starred in "Lost Horizon" are Ronald Colman, who plays the part of Robert Conway, and Jane Wyatt, who is the lovely Sondra. Other players featured are Edward Everett Horton, H. B. Warner, Sam Jaffe, Margo, John Howard, Thomas Mitchell and Isabel Jewel. It is a Frank Capra Production and was adapted to the screen play by Robert Riskin. The College Choir will give a short concert prior to the movie.

Statistics and Slang of Shannon's Stuns Cafe Society

Well, here it is, folks! What you've all been waiting for! We've laid bare the facts, faced all issues and really gone to town. We suppose a few of you gals know what Shannon's is and where it is. Well, we've interviewed a certain young man who works there and who knows all (and really told all!) From his information we really learned a thing or two about S. T. C. girls. For instance could you guess what the favorite drink is? That's right—cokes. But did you know that a short orange runs a close second? Getting deeper into the subject we nosed out the astounding fact that Shannons uses about 41 gallons of coca-cola syrup a week allowing one ounce of syrup to each coke. Figuring this out (and this requires higher mathematics!) we arrived at the conclusion that approximately 5,248 cokes are made each week! And S. T. C. girls consume about 85 per cent of those! Of course we allowed for the H.-S. patronage! Incidentally each coke contains calories so watch your figures girls. Also 4 gallons of orange juice was sold in 2 days, an all time record, we think.

Out of 900 girls perhaps (and this is mostly guess work) 400 come to Shannons a day.

As for the vic the approximate number of nickels inserted a day is 100. Again in this case we allow for Hampden-Sydney.

And now we come to a most interesting part of our interview. Perhaps many of you are puzzled at the queer language in which the boys sing out the orders—but don't be too discouraged or in a quandary because it's very simple when you know and understand the "Shannon Slang". Most of you by now know that "81" is a coke but do you know that "81 squeeze it" is a coke with orange? Or that "81 white-wash it" is a coke disguised with vanilla? You deep, deep Southerners please don't take offence when you hear "drag one through Georgia" because it's just a coke with chocolate. Would you ever connect water with "sky juice" or "sky juice with hail" as water with ice in it? Next time you're in Shannons order a "flat foot floogie" if you want a grape and if you want a grape with lime just say "flat foot floogie with floy floy"! For those of you who stick to your good old milk we add that a large chocolate shake is a "black cow" and naturally a small one is a "black calf". Simple isn't it?

So if you should go in Shannon's and hear a voice yelling, "81 whitewash it, wrapped, on wheels and a bar of chicken feed", you wouldn't get excited would you, because you'd know that someone had ordered a coke in a paper cup to take out and a bar of popcorn!

Many thanks to Shannons (and the young man) for the splendid information but don't be too, too surprised if some innocent young freshman should walk in and demand an "81 black cow with a flea flea". We can't guarantee they won't!

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative. 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teacher College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Mary K. Beck ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Anne Barnette, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Bridget Gentile, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Dorothy Sprinkle.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Typists

Frances Pritchett ..... Chief Typist
Doris Alvis, Thelma Courtney and Jean Warwick ..... Assistants

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1940

Teachers For a Democracy

The history of mankind may be viewed as the story of the interactions of human beings, their agreement on principles of action, their coming to view these principles of common action not as mere conveniences but as right ways of life, their attempts to extend these ways of life to other groups which have likewise agreed upon certain (and somewhat different) ways, the conflict and accommodation between such divergent group ways, and the resulting general trends of culture. Such a long-time cultural trend has already in ancient Greek times assumed clarity of outline, and has developed as it passed through the life experiences of Romans, mediaeval serfs, crusaders, colonizers of the new world, and many another group until it now makes up that complex known as occidental or western civilization.

This growth of our civilization has been anything but a smooth orderly process; many once generally accepted beliefs and practices have not fitted into the care of the cultural development and have largely fallen into obsolescence—the belief in the divine right of kings, slavery, trial by ordeal; and some are only now emerging—belief in the possibility of a society of nations, a rise in the general standard of living, subordination of group to social interests.

Among the enduring values which have appealed to conscience are respect for law as a non-personal arbiter of disagreements, the worth of human life as such, and the conviction that democracy is the highest form of human association.

It is our lot to live in a period in which these values are seriously challenged both by forces without our culture and by reactionaries within it. The reactionaries have been most vocal in attacking the alleged inefficiency of the democratic mode of life.

As members of the democratic society we must evaluate these attacks. We are convinced anew of the greater richness and worthwhileness of human life in a democratic than in any of the currently proposed totalitarian modes. And we think it certain that further progress in the democratic way holds even greater promise for the future.

We naturally wish our children to enjoy and continue our most cherished heritages. To this end we establish schools and train certain of our citizens to teach in these schools. We expect a consciousness of the privilege of service on the part of those entering upon such training and in this we are not disappointed. In the present period of turbulence in international affairs it is heartening to note the response to such a pre-professional organization as the Future Teachers of America. This indicates a healthy concern for what it is that American democracy does and can mean. In a war of ideologies a teacher is perforce in the front line trenches: a major duty is that of understanding democracy, defending it against misunderstandings, and widening its significance in a world of change.

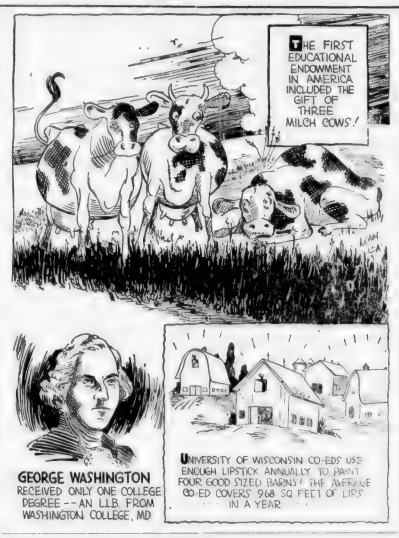
—Dr. Floyd F. Swertfeger

But It Did

(Editor's note: The following is an excerpt from Jan Struther's book, "Mrs. Miniver", a story of everyday England at the beginning of the present war and the year previous to it.)

It oughtn't to need a war to make a nation paint its kerbstones white, carry rear-lamps on bicycles, and give all its slum children a holiday in the country. And it oughtn't to need a war to make us talk to each other in buses, and invent our own amusements in the evenings, and live simply, and recover the use of our legs, and get up early enough to see the sun rise. However, it has needed one: which is about the severest criticism our civilization could have.

America Forever; War Never



Today some 16,000,000 men all over the United States registered for selective military service. This is America's answer to the totalitarian states; it is America's way of keeping our free land free and our liberty intact. President Roosevelt said this morning that the measure was being taken purely for defense. We hope that this is so. We don't want war, its accompanying evils and inevitable aftermath. Entry into the war now would mean the destruction of civilization. Nobody can be the victor.

It is Dr. H. E. Barnes opinion that the United States may become a Fascist nation quite unconsciously "when we have enough desperate citizens to furnish sucker bait for future Huey Longs". This country's best path then is to arm only enough for defense and then concentrate upon clearing up our home problems to prevent dissention from withing which might leave America wide open for a Fascist attack.

"At a time of great emotional appeal such as that which now prevails, one will do well to concentrate upon one's work more than ever and to be unswayed by speculations or vague commentaries filled with foreboding for the future."—Pres. Thomas S. Gates of the University of Pennsylvania cautions against false prophets.

"There is no greater menace at the moment than the danger that sensitiveness to evil should become numb by reason of constant familiarity with evil. We shall not save our way of life through denunciation of the wrong; salvation can only be achieved by active practice of the right."—Pres. Charles Seymour of Yale university calls for an alert creed in which right excludes all wrong.

"Our Latin American youth have never become compromising, pampered and soft, and have been ever ready for great sacrifices. That, I believe, is the heart, the most inspiring feature, in our Latin American life."—Mrs. Concha Romero James, chief of the Pan American Union's division of intellectual co-operation, Washington, D. C., hands a laurel to young Latin Americans.

GEORGE WASHINGTON RECEIVED ONLY ONE COLLEGE DEGREE -- AN LL.B. FROM WASHINGTON COLLEGE, MD.

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN CO-EDS USE ENOUGH LIPSTICK ANNUALLY TO PAINT FOUR GOOD SIZED BARNS! THE AVERAGE CO-ED COVERS 9.68 SQ. FEET OF LIPS IN A YEAR

Bouquets and Brickbats

Football, dance, and romance,
Will Bradley's band—a big sigh
A full moon—away they prance
Here, there, 'n everywhere
It's just the spirit of S. T. C.

. . . Claimants to our "light fantastics" were V. P. I. and W. & L. We hear that there were many unusual episodes at both colleges—Mary Katherine, why did you suddenly need sleep Saturday night after the dance? Could it have been a nearby acquaintance? . . . Freshman Calamita also can tell you some mighty interesting details about W. & L.

Also calling week-ends was Richmond . . . the V. P. I.-William and Mary game being the added attraction. Virginia Barksdale was seen there with a powerful attractive one . . . now which one was he, Virginia?

Sunday night was mighty confusing—at least to Beezie. Both Chick and Craig came . . . exit Beezie and Chick . . . enter Craig with the Whelchel. What do you say, Beezie?

Questions for the week: Why does Jean, the Y. W., get so eager over letters marked Ashland? . . . isn't this a change (we thought it was Blacksburg) And why are Parham and Charlotte Phillips consoling each other? . . . which reminds us, have Parham sing for you . . . Has Boo resigned yet from the Hampden-Sydney marathon?

Patchwork:

"And would you believe it"—dopey looking faces at breakfast—the mad dash to Senior building kitchen on Sunday mornings . . . the chatter at Shannons . . . specials on the home office mantle . . . "I do so love him" . . . a new moon . . . "And may I come next Sunday, too?" . . . The relentless shrill of the alarm clock . . . My hair does so need washing . . . freshmen eager over boys from home . . . "war is horrid" . . . "Beginning Monday I'm going to diet" . . . boxes from home . . . "Shhh! Prayers" . . . Anxious mobs haunting post office boxes . . . the strains of Artie Shaw.

Jive Jottings:

"Every man is a volume if you know how to read him" . . . does this mean Alex Jones?

"Cooperation and not competition is the life of trade" . . . does that include snaking?

Pome

Some persons have the habit of collecting and memorizing asinine poems. Here's a contribution—May those who read it and like it have pity; and may those who simply love it keep it in their pates:

Baa! Baa! Black Sheep
Have you any wool?
Sure, what did you think I have, Feathers?

Vestpocket Descriptions:

"My heart is like a singing bird"—Peggy Bellus

"Quiet and fragile"—Katie Crider

"And all I ask is a merry yarn"—May Winn

"My loves like a red rose"—Rachel DeBerry

"That smile—that makes the miser's treasures poor"—Margaret Wright

"Something of angelic light"—Jean Moyer

After walking up street with Tynes we noticed Martha Smith wearing a Chi Phi pin. Did Tynes give it to her or is it all a joke? And where, Anne Cocks, did you get your K. A. pin?

That's all Folks! Natcherally! Small Wonder! Gulp! As yo can plainly see.

Hither and Yon

Advice to Freshman

Don't study when you're happy,
Don't study when you're blue;
Don't study when you're tired,
Or have something else to do.
Don't study in the daytime,
Don't study in the night,
But study at all other times
With all your main and might.

Roses are red,
Violets are blue.
Orchids cost $3.50,
I wonder would dandelions
Look nice on you.

Everybody Speaks
Everybody speaks to everybody
Everybody speaks back to everybody
Everybody speaks
The noise is awful.

Then there's the story of the Chinese laundry-man who was struck by an automobile while crossing the street. He went down with flying collars!

John Horner

Diminutive John Horner
Seated himself in a retured place
Masticating his Yule tart;
He thrust in his short, thick diget,
Drew out a drupe of the genus Prunus
And enunciated, "What a socially agreeable male child am I!"

Have you ever heard someone tell of a cow who drank some purple ink and mood indigo?

Friend: "Which of your works of fiction do you consider the best?"

Author: "My last income tax return."

Grandma—Doesn't the little boy swear terribly?

Grandson—Yes'm, he sure does. He don't put any expression in it at all.

Gleanings

By MARIE ALLEN

At a time when German troops are marching into Rumania supposedly to train the Rumanians "to use the new material in accordance with the new method of war," American men are marching to some 125,000 registration places to register for selective military service. As indication of the seriousness of the situation is the fact that this is the first time we have had military registration in our peacetime history. Not only do we have the responsibility of protecting our own 130,000,000 people and their property but we have assumed the burden of protecting the entire Western hemisphere.

Of these 16,000,000 men who will register, 400,000 will answer the first call for training. They will be representatives of the "cream of the land", men between the ages of 21 and 35 who are physically perfect, who have no dependents to support and whose jobs are not classified under the heading of "necessary for national health, safety or community well-being.

This represents a beginning in the American preparation for war—not that we as a nation are desirous of war. We want war kept far from our shores, we want our men kept from the targets of totalitarian soldiers, we want peace and contentment to reign at our firesides. But in a time when the watchword of dictators is "divide and conquer" as President Roosevelt characterized it, steps of a military nature must be taken as precautionary measures.

We do not believe that democdacy is a decadent thing for our government. We do not believe that dictators are supreme to representatives of a people. We are opposed to the idea that quick decisions as the dictators are capable of making are superior to slow deliberate conclusions our representatives make. We are preparing to be able to fight to protect these ideas when and if they are challenged. Not only will we protect these ideas but we are pledged to protect the solidity of this hemisphere. We do not want the methods and techniques of a Hitler transplanted to our hemisphere.

We have seen German domination of Poland, Denmark, Norway, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, the Balkans and France. We are aware that the people of these once independent countries have lost their liberties, their rights to think and act as their inner wills guide them. We have witnessed them become cogs in a vast machine that rings out "Heil Hitler" with each revolution of the wheels. They function as the Nazi regime tells them, they read what the Nazi press prints for them, they give to the Nazi machine what it asks and receives from it little it can spare from its "brave soldiers who are fighting to rid man of the evils of a capitalistic society."

Yes, Americans know the consequences of totalitarian victories whether they are won by wars or diplomacy—if the tip of a sword can be called diplomacy. We are sure that we never want to tolerate them in the New World—the world where the individual has rights.

So today we are glad that there is a march of the men to the polls—men who are willing to lose their lives to save posterity from the harness of a Hitler puppet. We are proud that this act came as a result of the vote of the representatives of the nation. We are proud of the wisdom of our leaders who foresaw that democracy and its supremacy are at stake and if it is to go forward there must be strength behind it to give its voice impetus and force in our changing world.

In another three weeks there will be another march to polls—this time election polls to vote for the president of our nation. And whether we vote Republican or Democratic we can be sure that every effort to preserve peace will be exercised by the victor.

• Sports Slants •

By FAYE NIMMO

Surely there will be some big sports now soon. Games are to be played and things will really start "popping."

Hockey

As yet, the hockey captains have not been elected, but just as soon as possible, they will be. The classes need plenty of thought and consideration before selecting their captains, for out of the many who are out for hockey, it is hard to choose a leader.

Basketball

As promised, basketball for Freshmen has started! Last Thursday, October 10, the gym was crowded with bare legs and tennis shoes. Yes—You walk into gym and there in the midst of all, stands your greatest rival in high school. Now you must meet as allies, both hoping to play together in harmonious accord for S. T. C.

There's plenty of time and room for more freshmen, however, so come on down to the gym every Thursday and meet others interested in your favorite sport! It's a swell way to become acquainted—and in sports one can really discover what a person is; and judge just how much there is to her.

Golf

Trucks are yet leaving for Longwood bound for the golf links and archery practice. The response to this sport has been grand, so there must be something in it! Come on out and try. You're apt to like it once you start!

Tennis

We all know the tennis tournament just wasn't—but it was no fault of any one person. More plans for those who are interested in playing are to be made, so those of you who did go out Saturday, don't be discouraged—Keep up your practice! There will come a time for you yet, and soon, at that!

Although we have this as a required class, it is a sport. This is physical education. These classes are now coming along fine and it is in these classes, remember, that much talent is shown. Get it out of your heads that this is a class and make it a sport as well. It really is fun, and too, here you can get real training.

Skating

We've discovered that, as at home, roller skating is found here at Farmville. Although not many pairs are here as yet, after being begun, who knows how many will turn up after a few visits home are made?

Ping Pong

The lament? Ah these rainy days! How they do make one wish he were elsewhere! Why say this! Come on down to the "rec" and try your hand at ping pong! It's lots of fun and is one game to be played regardless of rain, snow, or heat.

Swimming

Another good one for rainy days is swimming, and I do mean in our pool here. You may not enjoy watching water run down the window pane, but come down the pool and let water really run over you. Swim a little and dive a little, this is but definitely, excellent exercise!

Out of all the sports at Farmville every student here should be interested in one. Pick that one, or more, and come out! Try out for tennis, swimming, golf, archery, or basketball.

Picture Taking Brings Forth Pageant of College Beauties

Lights! Camera! Action! No, we aren't transfering you to Hollywood, but location is your own Farmville campus—and your producer—the Virginian. (Guess that makes May Wertz Cecil B. DeMille!) Incidentally, didn't the pictures that were taken around school recall to you the old game of Freeze? You know when someone yelled "freeze" and you didn't have your fingers crossed, you had to stop right where you were until someone said "melt".

You would see groups of girls with a foot poised in mid-air, arms stretched forward, and heads thrown back—that was a still, and when you see the picture you'll think surely they were striding rapidly across campus. Don't let your eyes fool you though, 'cause they were posing as proud as peacocks.

Did you happen to notice that group of girls sitting on campus smiling ho—so sweetly at one another? I'amour! I'amour! Don't be deceived 'cause they didn't pass one friendly word (or unfriendly—in fact they didn't speak at all.) Presently a click was heard, and then the babble that broke forth was deafening.

"Oh, my hair looks awful. I just washed it and can't do a thing with it."

"Not yours, but mine!"

"I blinked my eyes just as he snapped the picture, and I know I'll look horrible!"

But then comes a word of comfort—the photographer forgot to put a plate in, and there's to be a retake.

"Look this way, please! Smile!" Click!

It's all over, and we eagerly await the results only to find there wasn't room and that picture had to be left out!

Bids Issued By Monogram Club

Five Students Are Recognized

Monogram Club on Monday, October 14, issued bids to Crews Borden, Rosa Courter, Pat Gibson, Marjorie Gooden, and Harriette Walker in recognition of their athletic leadership, participation and sportsmanship. All five girls accepted the bids.

Crews, by her service to the A. A. as secretary last year, her participation in class hockey, golf and volley ball, and vice-president of the A. A.

Rosa, also a senior, has proved her ability and skill in the swimming pool, on the hockey field, three years of varsity basketball and one year's service on the A. A. council as treasurer. This year of the A. A. has proved her worth.

Pat, swimming instructor at S. T. C., has shown her prowess in three years of playing varsity basketball, class hockey and by serving as vice-president of the A. A. council last year.

Harriette Walker, hockey manager, has also contributed much during her two years at Farmville by participation in swimming events.

Marjorie Gooden, who came to S. T. C. a transfer her sophomore year, played on varsity basketball last year and on her class hockey team. This year Marjorie is managing basketball.

Senoritas

Continued from Page 1

To the homesick freshmen we'd like to impart a bit of eye-opening news. Some of these girls haven't been back to Puerto Rico in three years! To the grumbling students we'd like to say this—these girls study on a yearly basis. They not only go the regular nine month, but they continue their studies at a summer school.

Many thanks to them for their information so jovially given. Ah well, that's just an old Spanish custom!

Hasta la vista, Senorita.

Andrew Johnson, 17th president of the United States, married when he was 18 years old. His wife was not quite 16 years old.

Notice

Golf equipment for all students is supplied by the Athletic Association and is kept at Longwood. All this equipment and instructions are free to those wishing to play or learn.

Hockey Days Are Here; Thanksgiving Coming

The air's right, the time's right, you're right. Right for what? Right for you and you and you! Hockey is in the air, and we want you to come out—player or spectator—one sunny afternoon to join in the fun.

And fun it is—believe one who knows! There, the game has strated. After the "sticks and ground" the ball gets into play. Whee! "Hey, come back here, breath." You see what Ella Marsh has done? Knocked the ball six feet away. Pat has it now! (She still has it). Everybody seems to be after the ball. Poor, thin Florence has hit it for a loop. So—on and on into the game.

Excuse the interruption, but freshmen, ah, gentle rats, will those high and mighty sophs cause you to keep the "tell-tale" caps on your heads or will your fair locks twirl in the breezes come Thanksgiving? What say, sophomores? This is the question.

Collegiate World

They're guffawing about a new one by Wisconsin's Coach Harry Stuhldreher, rated as the best collegiate story-teller in his weight class. Seems a couple of idiots were out duck hunting together. A flock of mollards zoomed overhead and one of the idiots aimed carefully and dropped a duck.

"You ninny!" bellowed the other. "What did you waste a shell for? The fall would have killed him!"

We were really beginning to worry about the plight of the University of Michigan where the only key to the lost and found office was lost, when we were jolted by a report on some eye tests at the University of Washington, where it was learned one-fourth of the co-eds are incapable of winking.

Riding Club Boasts Large Membership

New Horses Are Added to Stables

The Riding Club, one of the newest organizations, now boasts a membership of approximately one hundred members. Many freshmen and new girls have joined, and there is still time for those interested to come into the club. Regular meetings are held the last Friday in each month. Those interested in appointments for riding will find someone in the club room from 12:30 until lunch and also after lunch until 1:30.

The club has recently acquired the small room adjoining the "rec" and has done much to beautify it. They have secured new curtains and magazines which add much to the attractiveness of the room.

Three new horses have been added to the riding school. Two for advanced students and one especially for jumping. Hurdles, not to exceed three feet, are going to be put up out at Longwood.

This quarter the club is planvember. The time during the winning on presenting a fall show sometime about the middle of November quarter will be devoted to the development of riding in formations, and again in the spring they will sponsor a show.

One of the main aims of the club is for every girl to be able to handle a horse by herself.

Class Captains To Be Elected Thursday

Class hockey captains will be elected Thursday, October 17, at the regular hockey practice.

Practices are held every Tuesday and Thursday afternoons on the athletic field. Each player must have eight practices to be eligible for class teams.

She: "But why are we dining in a cafeteria?"

He: "Because the doctor says I must take a long walk before every meal."

"A MUST"
FOR EVERY
S. T. C. STUDENT
"SADDLES"
Black and white or
Brown and white
$2.98
$3.95
BALDWIN'S

500 SHEET
TISSUE
15c
ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

8 ENLARGEMENTS AND FILM DEVELOPED 8
25¢ COIN
116 SIZE OR SMALLER
SPECIALISTS IN 35M.M.
ALL MINIATURE FILMS ARE VAPORATED AND FINE GRAIN DEVELOPED
36 EXPOSE ROLLS TO 3X4 1/2 25¢ PER ROLL
18 " " " 65¢ "
SPECIAL ENCLOSE THIS AD WITH YOUR NEXT ORDER OF FILMS OR NEGATIVES AND WE WILL PRINT A PHOTOGRAPH, ANY SIZE FROM FILM YOU HAVE NOT TAKEN OVER 4 MONTHS AGO FREE
ENLARGE PHOTO BOX 791 BOSTON MASS. DEPT. 12

MEET ME AT
Shannon's
FOR BREAKFAST
PHONE 224

NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store
Spend Your Dime
Here!
We Welcome You

For best sandwiches
and drinks
Meet me at the . . .
COLLEGE SHOPPE
Phone 200

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert
Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet"
Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

BUTCHER'S
The convenient store for faculty and student body.
Good things to eat and drink

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.
BALANCE YOUR DIET
With Fruits from the
Economy Food Store
Main tSreet Farmville

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

By Popular Demand
WE OFFER YOU OUR LAST
SPECIAL in PHOTOS!
3—8x10 with proofs
$3.00
Oct. 17, 18 and 19 ONLY
THURS.—FRI. AND SAT.
Davidson's Studio
PHONE 163

For Latest Sheet MUSIC or RECORDINGS visit
SOUTHSIDE MUSIC CENTER
119 W. Third Street

Phone
356 for service to the College
SOUTHSIDE
DRUG STORE

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

Martin, the Jeweler
Rytex Stationery
200 single sheets or 100 double sheets and 100 envelopes
FOR $1.00

Yourself and Others

Two distinct attractions lured Farmville femmes from studies this week-end. Namely the V. P. I. dances at Blacksburg and the W. & L. dances at Lexington.

Most popular of the two was V. P. I. and those lucky enough to be some were Anne Ayers, Nancy Nall, Anne Page Francis, Ella Marsh Pilkinton, Shirley Turner, Gay Ward Brown, Margaret Thomas, Nancy Bondurant, Dearing Fauntleroy, Jeanne Sears, Virginia Campfield, Mary Katherine Zehmer and Rachael DeBerry.

Off to W. & L. went Elinor Johnson, Callie Radspinner, May Wertz, Dorothy Darracott, Blanche Colanita, Roberta Latture, Marie Lee, Pat Womack, Virginia Whitfield, Margaret Whitfield and Gertrude Wright.

Among the enthusiastic supporters at the University of Richmond game Saturday afternoon were Rosa Courter and Elizabeth Warner.

Strains of the wedding march were heard by Ann Bradshaw, Betty Sexton, Shirley Lee Sutton and Barbara Timberlake at a wedding in Hampton, and by Dorothy Jean Bazeman at a wedding in Norfolk.

Visiting at various colleges this week-end were Helen DeLong at Mary Washington, Louise Huff at William and Mary and Elizabeth Wimmer at Randolph-Macon Women's College.

Ruth Winstead journeyed north for a week-end visit in Philadelphia.

A. S. T. Party

Charlotte Avery, Betsy Austin, Kathryn Hawthorne, Lucy Ellen Powell, Anne Turner, Maude Rives and Marie Thompson entertained the active members of the Alpha Sigma Tau sorority at a party, Thursday night, October 3, in the chapter room.

A. S. A. Attends Tea

Alpha Sigma Alpha pledges and active members were entertained at a tea Sunday afternoon, October 13, in the chapter room. Peggy Allen and Peggy Bellus were hostess.

Gamma Theta Spaghetti Supper

Active members of the Gamma Theta sorority entertained at an Italian spaghetti supper, on Thursday night, October 10, at Longwood.

Maggie Mish was in charge of the social committee. Active members and Miss Florence Stubbs, faculty member, were present.

Sigma Pajama Party

Mary Prince Arnold, Mickey Beck, Ellen Ebel and Frances Parham are entertaining tonight at 7:30 at a pajama party in the Sigma Sigma Sigma chapter room. Active members, pledges and Miss Pauline Camper, adviser, will be present.

Alumnae Visit

S. T. C. was honored to have back for the week-end a few of the alumni.

Jane Powell, who is teaching at Wytheville this year; "Liza" Wise, who is teaching in Hampton; Frances Hutchinson from Lexington was here also for the week-end and Martha Meade Hardaway who is a teacher at one of the schools in Northern Neck.

Ruby Adams and "Dickie" Lybrook were at S. T. C. for this week-end. Also Betty Lee Downing was here; she is working in Newport News in the First National Bank.

Phi Zeta Sigma Tea

Members and pledges of Phi Zeta Sigma were entertained at a tea in the home of the Misses Willie and Lila London Tuesday afternoon, October 8, from 5 until 6 o'clock.

Episcopal Picnic

Episcopal girls went on a picnic to Willis Mountain Saturday, October 12. At sunset they had a Holy Communion service. This was followed by a picnic supper. About thirty girls attended.

Home Ec Club Entertains

New and old home economics majors were entertained at a social after the regular club meeting Tuesday, October 8, in the new Senior Recreation Hall. Sarah Sibold, president, presented the aims and plans of the club for the coming year.

Anne Cocks was in charge of games and the theme was introducing everyone to everyone else.

BE PREPARED

"What's the idea of the Smiths taking up French?"

"Oh, they've adopted a French baby and they want to understand what it says when it begins to talk."

Mu Omega Awarded Pan Hellenic Plaque

Mu Omega ranked highest among the campus sororities in scholastic ratings for the year 1939-'40 with a 1.79 average, Miss Carolyn Cogbill, adviser for the Farmville Pan Hellenic Association has announced thereby winning possession of the scholastic plaque for the year 1940-'41.

Phi Zeta Sigma placed second with a 1.76 average, and Theta Sigma Upsilon, third, with an average of 1.73.

The ratings of the other five sororities were: Alpha Sigma Tau, 1.69; Gamma Theta, 1.59; Alpha Sigma Alpha, 1.57; Sigma Sigma Sigma, 1.57; and Pi Kappa Sigma, 1.45.

Mu Omega headed the fall quarter with a 1.88 average, Theta Sigma Upsilon ranked second with an avearge of 1.80 and Phi Zeta Sigma third with a 1.79 average. Other averages were Alpha Sigma Tau 1.69; Gamma Theta, 1.63; Alpha Sigma Alpha, 1.51; Sigma Sigma Sigma, 1.51 and Pi Kappa Sigma, 1.42.

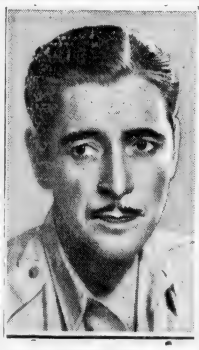
Averages for the winter quarter were Theta Sigma Upsilon, 1.79; Phi Zeta Sigma, 1.73; Mu Omega, 1.72; Alpha Sigma Tau, 1.69; Gamma Theta, 1.62; Sigma Sigma Sigma, 1.61; Alpha Sigma Alpha, 1.57; Pi Kappa Sigma, 1.55.

Spring quarter averages were Phi Zeta Sigma, 1.78; Mu Omega, 1.77; Alpha Sigma Tau, 1.70; Alpha Sigma Alpha, 1.65; Theta Sigma Upsilon, 1.61; Sigma Sigma Sigma, 1.61; Gamma Theta, 1.53; Pi Kappa Sigma, 1.40.

A woman came into a car with five children. She busied herself seating them. A sailor arose and gave her his seat.

"Are these all your children, madam," he asked, "or is it a picnic?"

Platter Chatter



By JEANNE SEARS

Heading the list of this week comes T. Dorsey's super swell recording of "Shadows on the Sand" and "You're Breaking My Heart All Over Again" both done rightly by Frank Sinatra. Mr. D's trombone is the smoothest ever, particularly in the first of these. It's all done in that soft sweet swing that always starts you reminising. I 'spect you will get what I mean when you hear it.

Doubt if you've heard much about Harlan Leonard and his Rockies but wait 'till you hear his "SnakyFeelin" and "Rock and Ride". The first of these is strictly snaky with a solid drum backing and a swell piano. The words are set off by Jimmy Ross. This may be a new band but with recordings like these he's certain to be slated for bigger things.

"Fine and Mellow" sung by Dolores Brown with Erskine Hawkins is another new must hear recording. On the reverse comes "Midnight Stroll". You'll find his sax mellow, and you know that brass section he has—he's noted for swell dance music and this follows suit particularly if you're partial to "Frisco"— it just fits.

"Night and Day" is one that you just can't get tired of. Well, Charlie Barnet has just issued a new arrangement of this and it's a just a wee bit jazzy but extremely good. The first chorus is a mean sax ride—sorta low down. The tempo proves to make another quite dancable tune. Then on the back of this is "Wild Mob of the Fish Pond" and you'll love it. I do anyway. It's swingy but not too much, just regular jive and it's solid too. Take a hint and hear these recordings. You'll like 'em all and to those cute girls going to W. and L. tihs week-end have fun—and you'll love Larry Clinton!

As the idealistic "Robert Conway" who finds peace and beauty in Shangri-La, Ronald Coleman plays the most ambitious role of his career in "Lost Horizon." The film, directed by Frank Capra, will open Oct. 31 at popular prices at the State Theatre.

Dr. J. P. Wynne Gives Patriotic Address

At the registration for government service at Burkeville, Dr. J. P. Wynne, professor of education ta S. T. C., gave a patriotic address to the school children, Wednesday, October 16. "Obligation of the Home Folks" was Dr. Wynne's subject.

WILLIS, the Florist

Flowers for All Occasions

PHONES 181—273

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

PURE DRUGS MEDICINES

Perfumes—Toilet Articles

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Quality—Price—Service

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop

"From old to new with any shoes"

Only First Class Material Used

All Work Guaranteed

SALE OF HOSIERY—Pure thread silk chiffon, ringless, 79c values, all the wanted fall shades 59c

Zipper Rain Coats, natural color gabardine, ideal for all weather $4.95

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

STATE

"Your Community Center"

Today-Tomorrow!

Funnier Than Ten Thousand Mother-in-law Jokes!

Dick POWELL Joan BLONDELL

in

"I Want a Divorce"

Friday-Saturday!

Ann SHERIDAN James CAGNEY

in

"City of Conquest"

Monday-Tuesday!

Pat O'Brien—Gale Page

in

"KNUTE ROCKNE -ALL AMERICAN"

LEE

"Your Family Theatre"

Today Only!

TWO BIG FEATURES

CESAR ROMERO in

"The Gay Caballero"

No 2

Dick Foran—Peggy Moran

"The Mummy's Hand"

Thursday-Friday!

Martha Raye—Joe Penner

"The Boys From Syracuse"

Saturday Only!

DOUBLE FEATURE!

TIM HOLT in

"Wagon Train"

No 2

Lynn Barr—Lloyd Nolan

"PIER 13"

Monday-Tuesday!

Randolph SCOTT Kay FRANCIS

in

"When The Daltons Rode"

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

KLEANWELL Cleaners & Tailors

Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling

Main St. Opposite P. O.

Phone 98

Under the management of "CHARLIE" JOHNSON

STUDENTS! ATTENTION!

If your parents have not enrolled you for protection against accidents under the Medical Reimbursement Policy issued the State Teachers College, ask them to do so at once. Information regarding this coverage has been them.

F. W. Hubbard, Agent

Planters Bank Building

Farmville, Virginia

PARIS FASHION OXFORDS—As shown in Sportswear magazine, 2 tones, white and brown tan and beige, brown and black, $2.97 and $3.47. Included are wedge cheeks.

DOROTHY MAY STORE

MOJUD HOSIERY 79c Charge it if you like.

25 CENTS IN COIN

ROLLS DEVELOPED

Any size Kodak film developed

8 never-fade Velox prints only 25¢

Low Prices On Candid Film

Handy Mailing Envelopes Furnished

VALUABLE PREMIUMS GIVEN • MAIL YOUR FILMS TO

JACK RABBIT CO.

SPARTANBURG, S. C.

DO YOU SMOKE THE CIGARETTE THAT SATISFIES

IT'S THE SMOKER'S CIGARETTE, because All America has a line on their

DEFINITELY

Milder

BETTER TASTE

ROBERT RAPELYE GEORGETTE McKEE featured in "THE RAMPARTS WE WATCH" The March of Time's full-length photoplay

What smokers like yourself want most is mildness, coolness and taste... and that's just what you get in Chesterfield's right combination of the finest tobaccos grown... a definitely milder, cooler, better taste. That's why it's called the Smoker's Cigarette.

MAKE YOUR NEXT PACK

Chesterfield

This picture of Chesterfield buyers inspecting tobacco crops in the field before auction time is one of many interesting scenes in the new book "TOBACCOLAND, U. S. A." This fascinating story of how Chesterfields are made, from seed to cigarette, is yours for the asking. Mail your request to Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company, 630 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Copyright 1940, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

THE CIRCUS IS COMING TO TOWN

The Rotunda

Don't Forget To Vote For "Virginian" Personalities

VOLUME XX — FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, OCT. 23, 1940 — NO. 5

Dodson Elected To National A. K. G. Office

Mrs. Mosby Phlegar Is Reelected

Mary Katherine Dodson, newly elected member of Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honorary fraternity for leadership was elected national recording secretary and historian at the national convention held at Queen's College, Charlotte, North Carolina, October 18-20. Mrs. T. Moseby Phelgar, who has served as executive secretary for the past two years, was reelected to the same position.

Ruth Lea Purdum, Alice Leigh Barham and Mary Katherine Dodson, representatives to the convention left S. T. C. Friday October 18 and returned Sunday night.

Osa Johnson, wife of the late Martin Johnson and author of the adventure novel, "I Married Adventure" spoke at the meeting Friday night. Saturday business meetings were held in which discussions and circle reports were the main issues. The election of national officers was also held.

Joan Circle of S. T. C. won first prize for its scrap book. The prize was a gavel which becomes the permanent property of the circle winning it three times.

Saturday there was a banquet at Thacker's Restaurant at which Mrs. Janet Robinson spoke on "Leadership in Womanly Service."

Sunday, the closing day, of the convention, the new officers were installed.

MARY KATHERINE DODSON

MARGARET RICE

Dramatic Club Gains Costumes And Properties

During the past summer the Dramatic Club of S. T. C. received a donation of costumes and scenery left to the disposal of the National Youth Administration when the Federal Theatre Project was abandoned.

The Federal Theatre Project was begun as an aid to unemployed theatre workers which included actors, new playwrights, musicians, scenery designers, directors, dramatic teachers, stage hands, artists, electricians and costume designers.

Mr. Robert Porterfield, head of the Barter Theatre at Abingdon and a former member of the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs has

Continued on Page 4

S. T. C. Represented at Regional Meeting Of College Deans

Miss Mary White Cox, head of the home, attended the annual meeting of the Regional Association of Deans of Women and Advisers of Girls at Hollins College, Virginia, October 19.

"Students in a World at War" was the subject of the main address delivered by Dr. Thomas Cary Johnson, professor of history at the University of Virginia. That deans of women and advisers of girls have the important duty of directing students in recognizing real values in these critical times was one point Dr. Johnson emphasized. He also stressed the importance of the study of literature, history, and philosophy in conjunction with current affairs.

The program consisted of registration at 10:00 o'clock A. M. and a business meeting at 10:30 o'clock A. M., Dr. Johnson's address and luncheon at 1:00 o'clock P. M. Bessie C. Randolph extended greetings to the Deans and Advisers at lunch. A panel discussion was held at 2:30 o'clock P. M. at Presser Hall. "Student Living in a Changing World" was the topic for the speeches of the afternoon.

Miss Pauline Camper, supervisor of rural education accompanied Miss Cox.

Frosh To Be Crowned By Sophomores

Rat caps will be presented to freshmen by the sophomores in the gymnasium Wednesday, Oct. 23 at 10:00 o'clock. The crowning of the freshman class by the sophomores is an annual event.

During the ceremony the juniors will pin their class colors, red and white, on their sister class, the freshmen. Miss Emily Kauzlaurich, freshman classman, will be crowned by Miss Olive T. Iler sophomore classman. Miss Rachael Royall, adviser for the junior class will pin red and white colors on her.

The ceremoney will end with singing of class songs and the Alma Mater.

Rice Takes Top Writing Honors In Colonnade Contest

Edmunds, Nunnally Also Prize Winners

Allene Overbey, editor of the Colonnade, has announced the decision of the judges for the short story contest which ended Tuesday, October 1.

The first prize of five dollars was awarded to Margaret Rice, a junior, for her story, "Wood Magic". Margaret came to S. T. C. a transfer her sophomore year. The second prize of three dollars was won by Mary Hunter Edmunds, a junior transfer from Stratford College, for her "Thirty Cents". The third prize of one dollar went to Edith Nunnally also a junior, for her story, "All Things Come". Honorable mention was given to freshmen, Lorraine Jansen for her "Silver Candlesticks" and Elizabeth Goodwin for her "Star Dust". The first two prize winners will be published in the November issue of the Colonnade.

Judges for the contest were Miss Lucille Jennings, Mr. James M. Grainger, Mary Jane Jolliffe, Harriett Cantrell and Jeanne Haymes. This committee is composed of two members from the faculty advisory board to the magazine staff, two members of the staff itself, and one member chosen from the student body at large.

This year after the contest closed, Jeanne Haymes, the representative from the student body on this committee, was asked to accept a position on the staff of the Colonnade as an assistant literary editor.

Modern Dance Group Bids Covington, Smith and Edmunds

Orchesis, modern dance club, has issued bids to three new girls. They are Jerry Smith, Anne Covington, and Mary Hunter Edmunds.

Membership eligibility is based on interest, creative ability, interpretion, and general ability.

Other members of the dance group are Mary Elizabeth Pettigrew, president, Peggy Allen, Mickey Beck, Ethel Carr, Nancy Pierpont, Louisa Sanford, Jane Lee Hutchinson, Jeanne Sears, Anne Bradshaw, Helen McIlwaine, Patsy Fletcher and Betty Peeman.

S. T. C. Circus Comes to Town On Saturday, October 26th; Queen's Identity Is Kept Secret

Displaying the winning smiles are the queen candidates, each of whom has hope of reigning over the circus festivities Saturday night. Also in the contest is Mary Wilson Carper, freshman candidate, who was absent when the picture was made. Seated from left to right are Harriet Scott, junior; Sarah Wade Owen, sophomore; and Helen McIlwaine, senior.

Parade, Stunts and Booths Featured

Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honor fraternity, will sponsor their big tent of the year and the highlight fun of October—the circus—Saturday night, October 26 at 8 o'clock in the gym. Admission is 10 cents for students an 15 cents for others.

Rosa Courter, general chairman of the circus and other committee heads together with Mrs. Adele H. Watkins, instructor at the training school, and Ruth Lea Purdum, president of Alpha Kappa Gamma, as advisers have arranged a big night of fun and frolic with popcorn, peanuts, animals, bingo, pink lemonade, portrait drawing, candy, fortune tellers, hot dogs—yes, and stunts, too.

Class Stunts

The freshmen are presenting as their class stunt "Baby at the Side Show", under the direction of Mary Evelyn Pearsall. The sophomores, with Jeanne Sears in charge, are giving, "It Couldn't Happen in Reality", "Heck's a Poppin" will be the juniors' act. The seniors are featuring Bingley's Raham and Bailey Circus". Yates Carr and Mary Elizabeth Petticrew are heading the senior stunt. Each class stunt will be judged on originality, presentation and appropriateness. First prize will be $2.50 and honorable mention will go to the second winner. Miss Grace Mix, former member of our faculty, Miss Virginia Bedford, art instructor, and Mr. Boyd Coyner, professor of psychology will act as judges.

Circus Queen

Then comes the Ringmaster?? and all the animals—lions, tigers, zebras, giraffes, elephants and monkeys—and the circus queen—who is she? Seniors are betting on Helen McIlwaine, juniors are rooting for Harriet Scott, sophomores are all for Sara Wade Owen and the freshmen are all behind Mary Wilson Carper.

After the queen is crowned

Continued on Page 4

Twelve Named As Freshman Commission Girls

Twelve members of the freshman class were elected by secret ballot to serve on the Freshman Commission for this year, Wednesday, October 16.

Mary Keith Bingham, Richmond; Helen Gilliam, Petersbur; Frances L. Hawthorne, South Boston; Sara Jeffries, Goldsboro, N. C.; Mickey Lawrence, Salem; Louise McCorkle, Farmville; Shirley Pierce, Roanoke; Nell Richards, Norfolk; Shirley Sutton, Hampton; Doris Taylor, Lawrenceville; Dreama Waid, Fincastle; and Ruth Woody, Richmond will compose the Freshman Commission.

Acquainting freshmen with the Y. W. C. A. and its work is the purpose of this organization. The duties of the commission are to conduct morning watch, to do social work, to sponsor the hanging of the greens and the caroling at Christmas ,to assist with prayers, and to post dining room announcements. The commission reports its proceeding to the freshman class each meeting.

Cast Your Vote For "Virginian" Personalities

All students are urged to cast their vote next week for their choice of the eight outstanding seniors who will be featured in the personality section of the "Virginian".

Caralie Nelson, Jean Moyer, Pat Gibson, Rosa Courter, Liggie Ellet, Ruth Lea Purdum, Libby West, Boo Barham, Chubby Heard, Boonie Stevenson, Dot Rollins, Faye Brandon, Yates Carr and Martha Whelchel have been listed as eligible.

It has not yet been decided whether or not the results will be kept secret until the annual is published. An announcement of the winners may be made as soon as the results are known.

A. C. E. Committees For Year Announced

Miss Sibyl Henry, second grade supervisor, addressed members of the Association of Childhood Education at a regular meeting October 16.

Miss Henry discussed the relationship between hearing difficulties and reading disabilities based on a study she has been making for a number of years.

Faye Brandon announced the committees for this year. Charlotte Stephens is chairman of the ways and means committee. Working with her are Trudie Hale, Emily Owen, Florence Thierry, and Virginia Richards. Elizabeth Glasgow, yearbook committee chairman has on her committee Evelyn Krenning, Martha McCaleb, Forrestine Whittaker, and Martha De Crawley.

Frances Pritchett heads the committee on attendance. Roberta Payne, Sarah Elizabeth Whisnant and Jean Martin are on Frances' committee. Ethel Carr's social committee is comprised of Emma Louise Crowgey, Jean Upshur, Bill Stone and Dorothy Reynolds.

Asieta Altomare is chairman of the scrapbook committee. Working with her are Margaret Kennett, Frances Snell, Helen Watts and Margaret James. Coralie Gilliam heads the committee to work on books for a shelf in the browsing room. Assisting on this committee are Dot Eades, Keith Smith and Genevieve Cooke. The initiation committee is comprised of Anne Benton, chairman, Josa Carlton, and Mrs. Watkins.

Dr. Wynne Speaks To American Legion

Dr. J. P. Wynne, head of the education department, spoke before a special membership drive meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Tuesday night, October 15. Dr. Wynne is the local post commander of the legion.

Our relationship to England and what her survival in the present situation will mean to us was the main constituent of the address. He particularly stressed the advantage of a year's military training to the individual and the imperative need of an adequately trained force to meet the present emergencies.

Alpha Phi Sigma Names Committee

Committees for Alpha Phi Sigma were appointed at the regular quarterly meeting Tuesday, October 22 at 7:30 in Student Building Lounge.

Jerry Smith, a sophomore, was appointed chairman of the book store committee. Working with her are Imogen Claytor, Dreama Waid Nell Quinn and Anne Ware. Assisting Amy Reid, chairman of the membership committee, is Brookie Benton.

Texie Belle Felts is heading the poster committee and is to announce the meetings. Assisting her are Mildred Morris and Doris Taylor.

Relentless Sophomores Pass Rare Rat Rules Governing Rodent Activities

As a kind act (believe it or not) the sophomores take great pleasure in publishing the rat rules which are to be diligently observed from Oct. 28 through Oct. 30.

General Rules
(all three days)

1. All rules must be carried out by every freshman living either in school or in town. No rules are in effect after 6:00 P. M.
2. No freshman may get mail (?) until after chapel.
3. Freshmen must walk in single file, never two or more abreast.
4. Rats must carry out the following as for dress (adornment, attire (or whatever word may be applied)
1. Hair parted in middle, rolled up on right side with curlers and in two plaits on left side tied with red and white ribbon.
2. No make-up what so ever, including finger nail polish.
3. Two front teeth blacked out.
4. Rat, with removed squeak, on left arm. Rat trap on right arm. No jewelry.
5. Black stockings and mismatched shoes. (Heels must be same height.)
6. Bright clashing skirt and sweater.
7. Large sign bearing—I am Rat —on front and back.
8. Large size paper bag for a hat. (Not in class or chapel).
9. Red ribbon at right knee.
10. White ribbon on left ankle.
11. Address sophomores as miss and answer "yes ma'am" when spoken to by a sophomore.
12. Freshmen must seat sophomores in the dining hall and stand until every one else is seated.
13. Freshmen must attend all meals.
14. Meet in front of the Colonnade after chapel and at 12:30.
15. Do not go down town Monday afternoon.
16. Know all sophomores' names.
17. Carry matches for sophomores.
18. Collect tinfoil.
19. Be able to say the sign off below at any time.

Oh sophomores, with your sacrosant, salience, and sententious sensibleness, you have shamed our saponaceous, selfish superiority until we bow before you in lamentible, lowly, yet loquacious lubricity. In order to acquire your blithesome, benignant, bounteous, brainy, beautiful benevolence, we pray the punctilious, palative, productible, privilege of serving you. Praise '43.

On Monday

1. Freshmen must meet on athletic field wearing gym suits and rat accessories at 6:00 P. M.
2. Go up all steps backwards.
3. Be able to present an original four line poem commenting on their lovely smiles (?).
4. Carry tooth brush.

On Tuesday

1. Carry books to classes in small suitcase.
2. Tip-toe through halls.
3. Be able to tell a good joke to sophomores.

On Wednesday

1. Freshmen must give signals (driving signals) at all corners.
2. Freshmen must mumble or talk to themselves all day.
3. Freshmen must collect cocoola bottles and take them to White House Kitchen.
4. Drop the tinfoil collected during week in box in front of Colonnade at 12:30.
5. Attend Big Rat Court at 10:00 P. M.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Mary K. Beck ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Anne Barnette, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Bridget Gentile, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Dorothy Sprinkle.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Typists

Frances Pritchett ..... Chief Typist
Doris Alvis, Theima Courtney and Jean Warwick ..... Assistants

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1940

Rededication

Upperclassmen next week will re-sign the Farmville Honor Code. Before the form is carried through let us hope that something else, something materially important, is done. Re-signing merely means signing again. But that is not the meaning that it is hoped will be given the formal matter of re-signing. Upperclassmen have already signed the Code. That in itself should be enough. If the Code has no meaning for you since you signed it, what is the use of going through the form again?

However, the Honor Code says something. It speaks of co-operation, of working together, of democracy. When you re-sign the Honor Code, why not do it in the spirit of rededicating your actions and lives to the spirit of right living, of working together for the good of all? These times in which we live are every day presenting new dangers that Democracy has to face. In re-signing the Honor Code, let's rededicate ourselves to the ideal of Democracy. Let's say that Democracy can work, and, what is more important, let us proclaim abroad that we, the Students of Farmville State Teachers College are going to see that DEMOCRACY AT FARMVILLE WILL WORK.

—S. M. H., Jr.

No Dilemma

Americans pride themselves on the fact that the laws and customs of the land allow them to select a new rules every four years. But this condition is more apparent than real; for both the inexperienced and the thoughtful complain that there is no choice between the usual two candidates. This is as it has always been except occasionally. It is that way today. Mr. Willkie and Mr. Roosevelt represent the same upper social and economic group. Their religions are the same. After a careful measurement of popular trends, Willkie has endorsed many of the principles of the New Deal. In the serious matter of foreign policy, there is unity; whether or not there is to be war, both candidates profess to leave that to the gods and to the Germans.

So the prospective voter need not take too much pain in casting his ballot. Perhaps who is elected is not a matter of vital concern. Perhaps we had better vote according to custom: for the Republican candidate if our ancestor stood at Gettysburg on one side of Missionary Ridge; for the Democratic candidate if our ancestor stood on the other side of that historic landmark.

No doubt this is as it should be. Remember that the greatest disaster in American history came as a sequel of the only presidential election in which there was a vital conflict of interests. The election of Lincoln was followed by bloody civil war. Don't blame Mr. Willkie for not challenging Roosevelt on fundamental points. If he did that, he might sacrifice votes or even be treated like Tories after our Revolution or like Marxians in Germany. The American people, despite what they and their newspapers say, are united in thought and interest. They want no class or sectional struggles of history-making significance. The conscientious citizen can vote either way without sacrificing the friendship of neighbors. The contest is so uninteresting and so unreal; but this fact makes for that harmony which Plato (and George Washington) said was the ultimate aim of Government.

—F. B. S.

Pan-America

America's collegians are enthusiastic sponsors of the rise of Pan-Americanism. The trend toward solidifying relationships between the United States and her sister nations of the New World is evident in developments on hundreds of campuses.

Importance of education's role in this field is noted by the New York Times, which points out that in recent months the republics to the south have been subjected to a quiet but nevertheless intense "penetration", the invasion of American school teachers. "Even more significant," says the Times, "were the visits of whole groups of teachers and undergraduates who went south on serious study tours. The invasion undoubtedly will have beneficial repercussions on both continents."

On the other side of the picture, the University of Iowa Daily Iowan notes that student enrollments in Spanish language classes at American colleges and universities are showing substantial increases over 1939. "This trend," the Iowan observes, "holds one of the strongest hopes for real improvement in understanding between the United States and its neighbor nations to the south."

A practical application to the subject is given by the Louisiana State university Daily Reveille, which cautions that "more than 200 students on this campus are not getting the co-operation that they should. These are Latin-Americans." Charging that "the student body reneges in doing its part by mildly 'snubbing' our Latin-American friends," the LSU publication comments that "the welfare of the United States in protecting its democracy and its people depends as much upon solidarity with its neighboring countries to the south as it does on its army and navy."

At Lafayette college, the Lafayette requests new courses in Latin-American history and culture, declaring, "there is no doubt that our ties with these countries are becoming increasingly more important to our national defense."

Similar is an editorial in the Harvard Crimson. "As the United States peers out into the future," observes the Crimson, 'its leaders attempt to find security not only in rearmament and conscription, but in carefully cultivated friendship with Latin-America. More and more men will go south to find a career, as cultural exchange increases and trade-nets tighten. Clearly it is a function of a wide-awake college to offer such individuals the chance to prepare themselves. And it is equally clear that, as this new world opens beyond our shores, it is the university's duty to be ready and willing to educate all interested in these peoples and their ways of life. . ."

—A. C. P.

Gleanings

By JACK COCK

With November the fifth just around the corner, a history making political campaign rapidly draws to a close, and in the mind and on the tongue of every American is the question, Roosevelt or Willkie?

Delegates at the Republican National Convention this summer chose as their candidate for the presidency a man who, according to his own statement, "grew up the hard not the 'soft way'": a rugged, unpolitical, uncompromising, obstinately independent character with a firm belief in the individual rights of man.

In his crusade to give this nation back to the American people, Wendell Willkie has made a simple but definite progress. Here is a man, who believes he can convince his public with plain simple talk, who believes that a political campaign should be a matter of pure logic, and who believes that all national problems should be debated, with the voters as judges.

Taking a deliberate attitude of sober seriousness, he has discarded splendor and heroics, and is giving his listeners the simple unvarnished truth.

Rather than compromise a single one of his beliefs, he will go so far as to lose ten thousand votes in a crucial area, and explain by saying, "I would rather be right than president."

Opposing Mr. Willkie is Franklin Delano Roosevelt, President of the United States, and third term candidate for the Democratic party.

Fifty-eight years of age, the son of a country gentleman, he is spoken of by those who know him as a man, "serenely sure of his own judgment, meets any given situation with impulsively quick action, does all that can be done, then relaxes with a clear conscience."

Famous for his fireside chats and alphabetical organizations Mr. Roosevelt has endeared himself especially to the middle and lower classes of people.

In his present day campaign, the Democratic nominee has his hands full of defense measures—defense of the third term grab, defense of the national debt, the inadequate national defense, his failure to put men back to work, and his attempt to pack the Supreme Court.

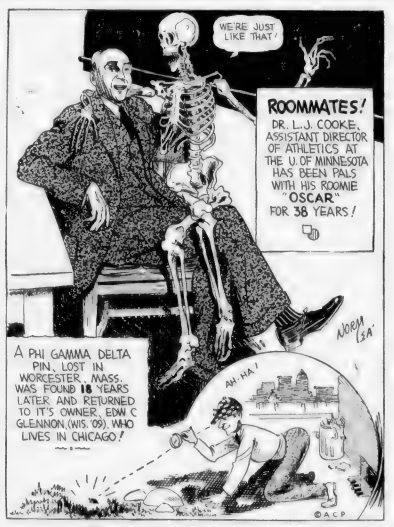
The keenest difference between the Republicans and the New Dealers centers particularly on the place of capitalism in our present day national life. Mr. Willkie believes that private capitalism alone can carry the ball, while New Dealers believe that private capitalism alone is inadequate, and must be supplemented with public spending.

Mr. Willkie himself is directly opposed to the New Deal philosophy and asserts that industry given its own head will give employment to everyone.

The philosophy of his campaign is simply that "the individual is greater than the state, and that the purpose of government is to make men free, since only free men will be able to build a productive and prosperous society."

He has pledged himself to end "industrial stagnation, and to rebuild, rehabilitate, and revitalize business." In order to accomplish this he has set forth four steps.

(1) Rules under which business is to be conducted must be clear and must be stable.



(2) Government policies affecting business should be consistent.

(3) Government competition with business must be kept within well-defined limits.

(4) Business must be given a chance to make a profit.

It seems that for the first time in the history of the United States the 45,000,000 voters are being asked to judge between the state's rights and the citizen's rights. How will they vote?

According to the latest nation wide Gallup Poll checkup, Roosevelt so far carries the lead in 38 states—Willkie in 10, with 453 electoral votes going for Roosevelt—78 for Willkie, and 55 per cent of the popular vote for Roosevelt and 45 per cent for Willkie.

Bouquets and Brickbats

Prelude

Brisk days—long, golden days—full of sunshine and blue sky—week-ends packed with fun, football games, and dances—this weather makes us long to start our week-ends on Thursday and end them on Wednesday. In other words, it's October.

Week-end Notes

From all reports, that was quite a game down Charlottesville way. The Wertz said the week-end was wonderful and we were glad to hear that the Flying Keydets came through as usual. Why in the world didn't we take that offered bet? Ask Hurt and Ginny how it sounded on the radio—Ginny gets sooo excited.

Flea, Boo, and Dodson seemed to have seen every college in North Carolina on their way from Alpha Kappa Gamma convention in Charlotte. We're so proud of Dee-Dee being elected national historian of A. K. G.

Thoughts at Random

Cactus to freshmen and new girls who persist in ignoring our friendly greetings on the campus. It's not nice, girls! . . . We like red roses too, but Sadie is the one who gets them. Some people know the nicest men . . . For instance that Davies boy who spoils Ruth Lea so . . . Still think that best record of 'em all is "I Don't Want to Cry Anymore." And speaking of new pieces, ask Louise Sanford to sing her original composition to you. It's called "Playing With Fire", and is a genuine honey—we were awfully impressed.

While you're in the askng mood, mention to Allene the word "matches" and watch her go mad. We'll tell you this much: Scottie was mixed up in it, and that's 'nuff said.

We thought Hunter was majoring in History, but it seems that she switched courses while at W. & L. this week end. It's law, now—imagine being the only girl in a class full of men!

Beezie has definitely made up her mind to learn how to cook, since Craig brought her that great box of candy his mother made. There's a subtle hint for you. By the way, that Craig-Beezie-Chick triangle still has us baffled. We're watching for the best man to win, and from all we've heard, even money is being laid.

Congratulations and a truckful of orchids to the new members of Orchesis—Hunter, Jerry Smith and Ann Covington.

Variety is the spice of life, eh Gussie? Saturday night the young miss was with "Ding Dong" Bell, and Sunday night the escort proved to be another Hampden-Sydney product—the Booty Shelton. Also, Gussie, we would like to know why telephone calls from Blacksburg and vicinity infuriate you?

Substitution Department

Campus clamour was thrown into relief this week end past when football heroes (they obviously took Burma Shave's hint) swept so many college cuties off to spots of interest (and otherwise). Monday morning chatter revealed a number of strange events. It seems that Cottie and Hattie "put up" at Lexington's oddest of odd homes. When they asked for the lady of the house they were confronted with the maid: "Do you really want to see Mrs. Etc.? The reply was positive. The lady was negative. But they stayed anyway. Incidentally, they named their room "Rome"—all roads lead, etc. The five years old of the house took a great affection for the two and when they found her hanging outside the door she meekly said: "I don't want anything. I'm just waiting for an aspirin!"—After that, aren't we all!

Also, we wonder which team the William and Mary transfers who accompanied the H.-S. doll-ings rooted for—maybe they were running on an indifferent ticket.

Point System

Back to school! we're in mind of a new club or two—and without permission, too! There's the Tri-Circle group of which Mary Lou is president because she was its charter member. And the "Mighty-nighty" organization with special membership robes (Montgomery-Ward, 98c) and Sunday egg-diet requirements. Then there's the S. S. S. (Shannon's-Sittin' Sisters) who haven't done very much to date. Their creed: Throw your brain into neutral and let your tongue idle on.

Sports Slants

By MICKEY BECK

Interclass hockey games are only a little over two weeks off at which time Red and White and Green and White will vie for those much coveted points toward the Color Cup. Class captains have already been elected. They are Mooch McIlwaine, the senior class; Spilly Purdum, junior class; Hallie Hillsman, of the sophomore class; and Lee Foster for our brand new baby team. Speaking of the baby team, by the way, one might not think of such a group being freshmen. They looked good. Many of them are experienced from high school and have been on All-State high school teams. Then too, they have honestly got something which many upperclassmen have evidently lost, not that it is too late to regain it, but should they have lost one bit of this valuable and intangible spirit, Farmville is known statewide for the spirit the girls carry with them wherever they go, whether it be to other schools, on week-ends away, camp, conventions, parties, or anywhere else they travel, and it cannot be over ruled that S. T. C. girls don't travel around. Coming back to my point again, if all of this is true, then why, in the name of spirit and sport, don't we have a larger and more enthusiastic attendance at hockey, archery, and swimming practices?

To change the subject, it is not an old fashioned hayride one sees on Monday and Wednesday afternoons on the way to Longwood, but the S. T. C. Robin Hoods or maybe we could call them Maid Marions. Archery is taking the limelight in a vague sort of way now, because there will be a tournament in the early part of November. We were forced to say vague because one could hardly determine the importance of such sports, could one? Let's hear the arrows humming to tune, could we say, for the color clashes which will soon vie.

Basketball will begin at early date for the upperclassmen. We should have great possibilities for a smooth team this season. Of course we can't help missing Cleos' grace, Dots' accuracy, and Rubys' steadiness, but we still have veterans of the court in Pat, Rosa, Chappy, Dot and Marty, and all the rest, so why can't we be optimistic?

Buff Gunter has announced that the theme for the water pageant this year will be Hawaiian, and as for further information, we just don't know what to expect. We do know that form swimming, fancy diving (that means ultra-good diving), and lovely costuming will be the features of the show.

Water Carnival Head

BUFF GUNTER

Hawaii Is Theme Of Water Carnival

Committees Are Announced

Buff Gunter, water carnival chairman, has announced that the theme of this year's aquatic event will be "Hawaii". Formation swimming and fancy diving are to be included on the program but the H2O club will give out no further information as to the nature of the show.

Assisting Buff are Nancy Dupuy and Pat Gibson, formations and diving; Carelda Chaplin, programs; Frances Mallory and Frances Parham, costumes; Harriet Walker and Peggy Hughes, scenery; Helen McIlwaine and Mary Sue Edmonson, music, and Nancy Pierpont, publicity.

"Lost Horizon" To Be Presented By Junior Class

Frank Capra's production of the mythical Shangri-La, "Lost Horizon", will be presented under the auspices of the junior class for one day October 31st (Hallowe'en) at the State Theatre. The matinees will begin at 3:15 P. M. and evening shows at 6:45 P. M. There will be no advance in prices.

Tickets for either the matinee or night performances may be purchased from any member of the junior class.

Class Hockey Captains Elected

McIlwaine, Purdum Hillsman, Foster Are Named

Class hockey team captains were elected last Thursday, October seventeenth. Lee Foster, who made all-state high school hockey team, and a member of the Farmville High School team last year, was elected captain of the freshman team. Hallie Hillsman, also a former member of the Farmville high school hockey team and who made varsity team here last year was elected captain of the sophomore team. Spilly Purdum, who previously played two years at Stratford, was chosen junior captain. Helen McIlwaine, a member of the varsity team here for three years, and who was captain of her class teams in her freshman and junior years was made senior captain.

Interclass games will begin on Monday November 11, and will continue throughout the week. There will be six games, one each afternoon Monday through Saturday inclusive.

The state hockey tournament will be held at Sweet Briar on Friday November 1. Ten or more girls will be chosen to attend this tournament.

Freshmen Gain 2-1 Victory Over Local High in Basketball

Farmville high school hockey team met the college freshmen team Tuesday afternon at 4 o'clock on the athletic field in a pre-season practice game. The frosh defeated the high school team with a 2-0 score.

Fifteen minute halves were played. In the first half Sara Hardy scored one goal for the freshmen and Dot Gaul scored in the second half. The high school team pressed the Frosh with speed and strength throughout the game.

Lineup:

Pos.	Farmville	Freshmen
R.W.—	E. Fulcher	M. Droste
R.I.—	L. Ransone	L. Foster
C.F.—	E. Dowdy	S. Hardy—1
L.I.—	C. Warwicke	G. Ellerton
L.W.—	R. Anderson	D. Gaul—1
R.H.—	B. Dudley	M. Lueckert
C.H.—	C. Smith	D. Simmons
L.H.—	P. Cabaniss	J. Smith
R.F.—	M. Verelle	J. Strick
L.F.—	C. Diggs	R. Dugger
G.K.—	C. Hardaway	J. Hobson

Total—Farmville 0; Frosh 2.

Umpires: Beck, Gooden and Dupuy. Scorers: Walker and Ebel. Timer: Miss Iler.

Hockey Captains

Pictured above are this year's class hockey captains. Left to right; Helen McIlwaine, senior; Lee Foster, freshman; Spilly Purdum, junior, and Hallie Hillsman, sophomore.

Notice

Freshmen who wish to take the Red Cross beginners swimming class are urged to report to the pool at 4 o'clock on Thursday, October 24.

OVERDONE

Nurse: "That new patient in Ward 34 is very good looking."

Head Nurse: "Yes, but don't wash his face. He al eady has had that don by six nurses and he's beginning to complain."

Archery Tourney Plans Underway

Archery practice is being held at Longwood every Monday and Wednesday afternoon. The truck leaves the back steps at 3:45 o'clock and will carry those interested in practicing out to Longwood.

Sometime next month there will be an archery tournament between Red and White and Green and White. Come out and support your class colors.

S. A. Legus, Tailor

Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing

We call for and deliver

All Work Guaranteed

Phone 203

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.

Visit us for the

BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

Martin, the Jeweler

Rytex Stationery

200 single sheets or 100 double sheets and 100 envelopes

FOR $1.00

NEWBERRY'S

5c—10c—25c

Store

Are you having a Party?

'Hallowe'en' Candies

Party Favors

Candles

On sale now!

For best sandwiches and drinks

Meet me at the . . .

COLLEGE SHOPPE

Phone 200

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Careful Management Courteous Service

Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Hot Soups, Hot Chocolate, Home made pie, delicious fountain drinks toasted sandwiches, hamburgers and hot dogs

Shannon's

Phone 224 — We deliver

KNIT! It's the Vogue—Our store is headquarters for knitting wools. Priced from 10c hank up.

Enter your work in our contest—Win $10.00. Come in and ask about it.

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

HOW TO WIN BOY-FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE STAG-LINES

By Dalea Dorothy Clix

Dear Miss Clix: My brother, a sophomore at X College, is an absolute lamb about bringing his boy friends over to our school and introducing them to me. But oh, Miss Clix, they never come back of their own accord! I ask my brother why, but he just poo-poos me evasively. I'm so upset that I bite my fingernails! What can I do? AGONIZED

Dear "Agonized": Say listen, young woman! Don't you realize what's wrong? You've put your finger on it yourself—you bite your fingernails! If there is anything in the whole calendar of female wrong-doing that gives men the gripes, and sends them away like a stag at bay, it's ugly, bitten fingernails. Take your character—if it isn't all weak—by the scruff of its neck—say: "Never again!"—and then, just to make it easier, manicure them with a mother's care and keep them tinted regularly with a fashionable shade of nail polish. Then—ask Brother to bring on the Wild Game again!

AND NOW, DEAR, READ THE NEXT COLUMN CAREFULLY!

WHAT YOU CAN DO TO HAVE MORE BEAUTIFUL NAILS

Let the brilliant, gem-hard lustre of DURA-GLOSS give your fingernails that marvelous attraction and allure that men admire! DURA-GLOSS is the amazing new nail polish that's different! DURA-GLOSS flows on more smoothly, keeps its brilliant beauty of color longer, resists tacking and chipping better! Have the most beautiful fingernails in the world—buy DURA-GLOSS!

NEW SHADE ZOMBIE

A NEW FORMULA BY LORR 10¢

Lorr Laboratories, Paterson, N. J.

For Latest Sheet MUSIC or RECORDINGS visit

SOUTHSIDE MUSIC CENTER

119 W. Third Street

8 ENLARGEMENTS AND FILM DEVELOPED 8

25¢ COIN

116 SIZE OR SMALLER

SPECIALISTS IN 35M.M.

ALL MINIATURE FILMS ARE VAPORATED AND FINE GRAIN DEVELOPED

36 EXPOSE ROLLS TO 3¼"4" 1.25 PER ROLL

18 " " " .65¢ "

SPECIAL ENCLOSE THIS AD WITH YOUR NEXT ORDER OF FILMS OR NEGATIVES, AND WE WILL MAKE A PHOTOGRAPHIC XMAS CARD FROM YOUR FAVORITE NEGATIVE WITHOUT CHARGE

FREE

ENLARGE PHOTO BOX 791 P BOSTON MASS. DEPT. D

Patronize

Patterson Drug Co.

—AT—

Money Saving Prices

—FOR—

Drugs and Toiletries

Expert

Prescription Service

Clean Fountain

Featuring

Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream

238 MAIN STREET

Girls . . .

Our New Ladie's Ready-To-Wear Department on the Second floor is complete . . . New fixtures with new lighting facilities . . . Modern conveniences, and a brand new stock in Sport and Dress Frocks to delight your heart.

Come to see us. You will be delighted with our beautiful, exclusive Ready-To-Wear Department.

Davidson's Inc.

Yourself and Others

Valley Club Picnic

Lena Butterworth, Ora Earnest, Mary Jane Ritchie, Martha De Crawley, Louise Parcell, Josephine Bishop, Betsy Austin, Mary Harvie and Anne Ellett were among those S. T. C. girls who were invited to the picnic given by the Valley Club of Hampden-Sydney. The party was held at Bear Creek at 4:30 on Friday, October 18 and besides hot dogs and lemonade all the usual picnic refreshments were served.

McLaughlin-Staples

Mr. and Mrs. William Cabell Staples of Lynchburg announce the marriage of their daughter Lucy Clark, to Guy McLaughlin, Jr., of Lancaster, Pa., which took place October 13 at Memorial Methodist church, Lynchburg.

Guy is a graduate of V. P. I. and Lucy is an alumna of S. T. C. They will live in Lancaster.

Orchesis Party

Orchesis entertained Monday night, October 21, at 9:30 in the New Rec of senior building. It was a hot cider and doughnut party given by the club for the initiates, Ann Covington, Mary Hunter Edmunds and Jerry Smith.

Mu Omega Supper

Anne Moore Barbara Drewery, and Brookie Benton entertained the members of Mu Omega sorority at a buffet supper in the chapter room Sunday, October 20, at 5 o'clock.

Miss Mary Visits Salem

Miss Mary White Cox visited Mrs. Bessie C. Jamison at her home in Salem, Virginia this past week-end. Mrs. Jamison, until her resignation two years ago held the position of dietition at the college for thirty-three years.

Games, Convention Attract

University of Virginia proved itself to be the most attractive place for S. T. C. girls last week-end. Those off to the dances and game were: Martha Crawley, Evelyn Lupton, Helen Stras, Betty Davis, Marie Kelly, Josephine Bishop, Mae Desaix, Dorothy Hahn, Mary Klare Beck, May Bartlett, Sara Currie, Nancy Dupuy, Rozelle Elizabeth Eckford, Nina Lee Hall, Ora Mayo, Gloria Pollard, Lula Power, Nell Quinn, Betty Smithdeal and Sally Hutchinson.

W. & L. ran Virginia a close second with Gerry Ackiss, Emily Tankes, Helen Lewis, Anne Page Francis, Marion Heard, Harriett Cantrell, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Ora Earnest, Lulie Jones, Cottie Radspinner, Margaret Mish and Elaine Ross at Openings.

Anne Williams, Katie Crider, Elizabeth Callan and Margaret Wright went to William and Mary for the game.

University of Richmond Homecomings attracted Martha Cottrell, Elizabeth Gunter, Lois Harrison and Nancy Wolfe.

Those attending weddings were Elizabeth Barrett, Ann Burgwyn, Ann Bradshaw, Boonie Stevenson, Lillian Wahab and Jerry Smith.

Boo Barham, Ruth Lea Purdum and Mary Katherine Dodson journeyed to Charlotte, N. C. to represent the Farmville Chapter of Alpha Kappa Gamma at the convention there Oct. 19 and 20.

Dorothy Eades attended the regional meeting of the Y. W. C. A. in Atlanta, Georgia.

Dramatic Club

Continued from Page 1

been recently named Dramatic Art adviser of the Virginia State Board of Education. Through his efforts Virginia was chosen the one state among 48 to receive the F. T. P.'s costumes and staging equipment, valued at 100.000 dollars.

Farmville State Teachers College, William and Mary College, University of Virginia, Radford State Teachers College, Madison College and Mary Washington College were offered an equal allotment. Each college that accepted did so agreeing to lend the equipment to high schools and other dramatic organizations in an effort to stimulate an interest in the theatre. The colleges also agreed to pay the cost of cleaning the costumes and to cover the freight charges.

Dr. Luther A. Richman, Supervisor of Music of the State Board of Education undertook the responsibility of dividing the equipment. The N. Y. A. stationed at Fort Eustis was the first place of storage where the theatrical equipment was stored and catalogued. The colored normal school at Petersburg was in charge of cleaning and distributing the costumes.

Complete costumes for four Gilbert and Sullivan operas were shipped to S. T. C. on October 1. The operas included were "Iolanthe", "Mikado", "Trial by Jury" and "Gondoliers".

The costuming department of the Dramatic Club, headed by Gene Hardy Kilmon now has possession of over 1.000 costumes. The department will also receive at a later date between 100 and 150 damaged costumes to be used as a sewing project for the costume department, and later added to the collection.

Dell Warren's staging department will have the work of cutting down and painting the newly acquired scenery.

The entire staging and costume equipment of the Dramatic Club will be moved to the Dramatic Club workroom, formerly the carpenter's shop. The building is now being made fire-proof, rat-proof, dust-proof and moth-proof. Space is to be provided for the storage of the costumes, a sewing room, a workroom for the staging group and cupboards for properties and other equipment.

Miss Leola Wheeler, dramatic instructor, says that it is the hope of the Dramatic Club that the costumes and other equipment may prove to be of great value to other organizations in the college, as well as to schools and other groups in the vicinity interesting promoting better drama in Virginia.

Circus

Continued from Page 1

everyone will be "let in" for rets of the fun. Here's where the popcorn and pink lemonade comes in. Booths are being sponsored by each of the four classes and organizations in school. Seniors will have a dance pavillion with all the dance orchestras; juniors will sell hamburgers, hotdogs and coca colas; sophomores are offering candy, candied apples, peanuts and a penny pitching contest; ice cream will be the freshman commodity.

Committee Heads

Heads of the various committees who have worked on the circus are Martha Whelchel and Jean Moyer in charge of queen and coronation; Liggie Ellet, Frances Rosebro and Dorothy Eades, animals; Boo Barham and Margaret Wright are doing the decorating; Dorothy Rollins and Faye Brandon are in charge of costumes; Elizabeth West has the advertising, Pat Gibson and Yates Carr are managing the tickets and Chubby Heard and Mary Katherine Dodson are featuring the parade.

Don't miss that big aspect of the circus called the parade. At 2:00 Saturday afternoon preceeding the circus the whole outfit complete with the bareback rider and caliope with all the trimmings will march down Main street and around town.

Would you like to have a free ticket to this hilarious event and all its side shows? All right, just sell the tickets and you'll get it. If someone happens to outsell you by a ticket or so, and you run a close second you can still get an admittance ticket.

House Council Elects Officers

Josephine Ware, a junior, and Margaret Mish, a sophomore, were elected vice-president and treasurer of the House Council Monday night October 14.

Josephine will replace Helen Wentz of Danville, who did not return to school, and Margaret is serving as treasurer in place of Margaret Franklin of Richmond.

Cannon To Play At Fall Cotillion

Boonie Stephenson, president of Cotillion Club has announced that Jimmie Cannon and his orchestra will play for Fall Cotillion November 9.

Two vocalists, Jean Atkinson, thirteen-year old attraction, and Charlie Holt tenor, will accompany the orchestra which is comprised of fourteen pieces.

STATE
"Your Community Center"
Today-Tomorrow!
THE SEX-PLOSION OF THE SEASON!
ROSALIND RUSSELL BRIAN AHERNE VIRGINIA BRUCE
in
"HIRED WIFE"
Friday-Saturday!
The Musical Extravaganza
Two Continents Have Been Waiting For!
DON AMECHE BETTY GRABLE
CARMEN MIRANDA
in
"Down Argentine Way"
In Technicolor
Monday-Tuesday!
The New Season's First Musical Comedy Hit!
BING CROSBY MARY MARTIN
in
"Rhythm on the River"

LEE
"Your Family Theatre"
Today Only!
Two Feature Pictures!
DENNIS O'KEEFE CLAIRE CARLETON
in
"Girl From Havana"
No. 2
RICHARD ARLEN ANDY DEVINE
"Leather Pushers"
Tomorrow-Friday!
Victor Mature—Louise Platt
"Captain Caution"
Saturday Only!
2—Big Features—2
Robt. Sterling and Jean Rogers
in
"Yesterday's Heroes"
No. 2
GEO. O'BRIEN in
"Triple Justice"
Monday-Tuesday!
Dennis Morgan and Elizabeth Earl in
"River's End"

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

Freshmen! Complete Rat Week Accessories
29c—Suckers and Name Plates Free
ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

Phone
356 for service to the College
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

KLEANWELL Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of "CHARLIE" JOHNSON

25 CENTS IN COIN
ROLLS DEVELOPED
Any size Kodak film developed
8 never-fade Velox prints only 25¢
Low Prices On Candid Film
Handy Mailing Envelope Furnished
VALUABLE PREMIUMS GIVEN • MAIL YOUR FILMS TO
JACK RABBIT CO.
SPARTANBURG, S. C.

BUTCHER'S
The convenient store for faculty and student body.
Good things to eat and drink

The Student's Choice
ECONOMY FOOD STORE
for
FANCY FRUITS, COOKIES, AND "SNAX"
For All Times

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

Sweaters are tops—we've oodles of 'em—reds and all colors $1.97 to $2.97.
Skirts—of every description—reds and colors $1.97 to $3.97
DOROTHY MAY STORE
MOJUD HOSIERY 79c. Charge it if you like.

DO YOU SMOKE THE CIGARETTE THAT SATISFIES

It's the Smoker's cigarette
COOLER...MILDER
BETTER-TASTING
Chesterfield has all the qualities that smokers like best — that's why it's called the SMOKER'S cigarette. Smoke after smoke and pack after pack, they give you more pleasure.
Chesterfields are made of the RIGHT COMBINATION of the world's best cigarette tobaccos.

SUSANNE TURNER MARY STEELE and JEAN DONNELLY members of the Women Flyers of America

Chesterfield
MORE AND MORE...AMERICA SMOKES THE CIGARETTE THAT SATISFIES
Copyright 1940, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

ATTEND BIG RAT COURT TONIGHT

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS, "WHO'S WHO" GIRLS

VOLUME XX — FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, OCT. 30, 1940 — No. 6

Forensic Team To Meet U. of Va. In Initial Debate

Courtney and Allen Uphold Affirmative; Tryouts Scheduled

University of Virginia debaters will meet members of the Farmville Debate Club in a debate Friday night, November 1 which will open the forensic activities on this campus for the '40-'41 season.

The initial debate is to be on the question, Resolved: "That Roosevelt should be President." Thelma Courtney and Marie Allen are to compose Farmville's team and will debate the affirmative side.

Thelma, a senior, debated on the varsity team last year, attended the Grand Eastern Forensic Tournament at Winthrop in the Spring, and is vice-president of the Virginia Alpha Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity. Marie has been on the varsity squad three years, is president of Pi Kappa Delta, and is councelor for the Debate Club.

The clash has already aroused interest in that this is the first time Farmville has ever debated the University.

Farmville representatives placed in the upper quartile last year, and have six varsity debaters with two year experience each to her advantage.

Girls who wish to try out for the club are urged to see Anne Cock before Friday.

Strick Publishes Patriotic Song

Alfred H. Strick, professor of music at State Teachers College, Farmville, has composed a patriotic song entitled "Faith in America", which was written especially for the Student Cooperative Association and will be broadcast for the first time over WJZ blue network of N. B. C. November 12, at 12:15 noon, by Glen Darwin, vocalist.

Senior A'Cappella and the senior choir will sing Mr. Strick's new composition tomorrow night, Thursday, October 31, at the State Theatre. It will also be featured at the State Teachers Convention in Richmond November 20.

The S. C. A. will present "Faith in America" at their annual meeting held at State Teachers College, Radford, Virginia, in November. Later it will be sung by all the county units of S. C. A. of Virginia.

Circus Queen

HELEN McILWAINE

"Lost Horizon" To Be Presented

Frank Capra's production of the mythical Shangri-La, "Lost Horizon", will be presented under the auspices of the junior class for one day, October 31, Hallowe'en, at the State Theatre. The matinees wil begin at 3:15 P. M. and evening shows at 6:45 P. M. There will be no advance in prices.

New York Times commented, "A grand adventure film, magnificently staged, beautifully photographed and capitally played . . . by all means worth seeing" and the Philadelphia Inquirer's notice, "A cinematic masterpiece of exotic allure and dramatic excitement" were just two of the many equally as complimentary write-ups this James Hilton novel has received. Its fame and praise reaches as far as Australia, South America, and Italy.

Ronald Coleman, recently starred in "Lucky Partners", plays the role of Robert Conway, kidnap victim to the strange land of paradise, Jane Wyatt plays the role of "Sondra", a citizen of Snrangri-La with whom Conway falls in love. Others in the cast are John Howard, Margo, Thomas Mitchell (of "Gone With the Wind" fame) and Edward E. Horton. Most of the story is laid in Shangri- La, a place of indescribable beauty and serenity, where people never grow old or discontented. Once visited, one never forgets Shangri-La, the land of peace and happiness, and so Robert Conway, having visited this paradise once, starts searching for his "lost horizon".

Magazine Sponsors Poetry Contest

Three Cash Prizes Are Offered

Allene Overbey, editor of the Colonnade magazine, announced a poetry contest beginning November1, and closing December 1. Any phase of poetry is eligible for entry. Prizes will be three dollars, two dollars, and one dollar, respectively. Submissions may be made through the Colonnade box or to Frances Hudgins, chairman of the contest in Annex 49. The first and second prize winning poems will be published in the winter issue of the Colonnade which will appear in January.

Judges for the contest will be two members of the advisory board of the Colonnade, two student staff members and one member of the student body.

The editor urges everyone to enter the contest and to make their submissions early.

Cotillion Club Bids Thirty-Two

Cotillion Club has issued bids to thirty-two old girls prior to the first club dance, November 9. The purpose of the club is to further social dancing on the campus.

Those who received bids are Nancy Allen, Virginia Barksdale, May Bartlett, Brookie Benton, Elizabeth Bernard, Margaret Bowling, Imogene Claytor, Alice Marie Coberly, Ann Covington, Emma Louise Crowgey, Dorothy Sue Crumley, Anne Ellett, Lilly Beck Gray, Buff Gunter, Jeanne C. Hall, Jackie Hardy, Betty Page Harper, Grace Hutcheson, Mary Martha Peery, Charlotte Phillips, Kitty E. Price, Amy Reid, Betty Reid, Nancy Sale, Jean Shuikoum, Elsie Stossel, Ruby Trice, Grace Wallace, Peggy Watkins, Anne Ware, Anne Williams and Winifred Wright.

Dr. Lacy Will Speak In Chapel Thursday

Dr. Ben R. Lacy, Jr., president of the Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, will be the religious speaker in chapel Thursday, October 31.

Dr. Lacy will be presented under the sponsorship of the Y. W. C. A. Martha Whelchel, vice-president of the Y. W. C. A will introduce the speaker. Dr. Lacy is conducting a week of services at Hampden-Sydney College beginning Monday, October 28 and lasting through Saturday, November 2.

Dr. Lacy will also have charge of chapel services at Hampden-Sydney this week.

Twenty-Six Receive Kappa Delta Pi Bids

Kappa Delta Pi, the national honorary society in scholarship and achievement on the campus, will initiate twenty-six new members on November 26. At present there are ten members of the society. Only those students with full junior stadings whose grades are within the upper quartile are eligible for membership.

The students who will be initiated next month are Rachel Abernathy, Marie Allen, Virginia Barksdale, Anne Benton, Carmen Booth, Sarah Chambers, Sara Cline, Emma Louise Crowgey, Rachel De Berry, Caroline Eason, Carolyn Ford, Pat Gibson, Louise Hall, Marjorie Holt, Jane Lee Hutcheson, Kathryn Jarratt, Elizabeth Jennings, Mary Jane Jolliffe, Frances Keck, Rachel Kibler, Earnestine Meacham, Edith Nunnally, Allene Overbey, Esther Partridge, Mary M. Prosise, Mrs. Nellie R. Shelton, and Sarah Sibold.

At the last meeting on October 22 the members outlined the pro-

Continued on Page 3

These girls have been selected to represent Farmville S. T. C. in "Who's Who". Seated from left to right in the first row are Yates Carr, Caralie Nelson, Liggy Ellett, Faye Brandon, Boo Barham, Martha Whelchel, Rosa Courter and Ruth Lea Purdum. Second row: May Wertz, Pat Gibson, Dot Rollins, Boonie Stevenson, Mary Katherine Dodson, and Libby West. Back row: Jean Moyer and Chubby Heard.

Fourteen Students Selected to Represent STC in "Who's Who"

The names and activities of "Boo" Barham, Faye Brandon, Yates Carr, Rosa Courter, Mary Katherine Dodson, "Liggy" Ellett, Pat Gibson, "Chubby" Heard, Jean Moyer, Dot Rollins, Boonie Stevenson, May Wertz, Libby West, and Martha Whelchel will appear as representatives of Farmville S. T. C. in the 1941 edition of "Who's Who Among Students In American Colleges and Universities". These girls along with leaders of other colleges and universities in the country will be listed in the book which is to be released in January.

"Boo" is vice-president of the Student Council, president of the Dramatic Club and member of Cotillion Club and Alpha Kappa Gamma. Faye is president of A. C. E. and holds membership in Cotillion Club and Alpha Kappa Gamma. Yates is business manager of the Colonade and a member of Pi Gamma Mu and Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Rosa is president of the Athletic Association and belongs to Alpha Kappa Gamma, H2O Club, Home Economics Club, Monogram Club and Student Standards. Mary Katherine has been president of her class for the past two years and was recently elected historian and corresponding secretary of Alpha Kappa Gamma. She is also an advertising manager on The Rotunda staff and a member of the Home Economics and Cotillion Club. "Liggy" is president of the House Council and a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma. Student

Continued on Page 4

Back Stage Activities Of Dramatic Club Underway

By TRUDY BURWELL

From all accounts, "What Every Woman Knows" is going yonder! We all know that without a doubt the acting is going to be superb in every way. Indeed, much credit is due our actors, but how about the staging, lighting, properties, and costumes that go into the making?

It may sound queer, but if you happen to glance into a downtown barber shop and see a missing chair, just know that it has been swiped for the second act of the play. Although we do have genuine properties for the real showing, everything from coats for chair covers to a catsup bottle for a decanter have been used during practice. We also hear that there's a need for an old fashioned carpet bag.

You are all going to be charmed with the Scotch accents and the costumes of the period—latter 19th century. The exact outfits haven't been decided upon yet, but there has been fun trying on silks, frills, and ruffles. There ought to be some extra good lighting this time too, because the lighting group has acquired four new flood lights and four new dimmers. This play is going to have a ceiling to its scenes that you really know is there!

We've got a notion we're in for a fine entertainment. How about you?

Five To Attend ACP Convention

Five representatives of student publication on campus will attend the Associated Collegiate Press convention which will be held at the Book-Cadillac hotel, Detroit, Michigan from November 7 through 9.

Pat Gibson, Elizabeth West and Josa Carlton, editor - in - chief managing editor and business manager, respectively, of The Rotunda together with May Wertz and Anne Ayres of the Virginian will represent Farmville at this national meeting.

The convention program includes sight-seeing tours, round table discucssions, two informal dances and a dinner which will be given for the delegated by General Motors Corporation. Charles F. Ketterling, vice-president, will be the guest speaker.

Margaret Wright and Lillian German of The Rotunda staff will attend the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association convention which will be held at V. P. I., in Blacksburg, Virginia at the same time as the national convention.

Alumnae Secretary Forms New Chapters

Mrs. M. B. Coyner, secretary and treasurer of the Farmville Alumnae Association, left Farmville Friday, October 25th for an extensive trip on which she aided in the formation of new alumnae chapters. She returned to Farmville Tuesday, October 29th.

In Philadelphia Mrs. Coyner was the guest of Helen Reiff, a 1940 graduate, who is interested in organizing a chapter there. About twenty-five alumnae in and around Philadelphia were invited to Miss Reiff's home for organization of the chapter Friday night.

Saturday afternoon Mrs. Coyner was guest speaker to the New York Chapter which Miss Grace Mix of Farmville organized last year.

On her return trip, Mrs. Coyner stopped in Baltimore for the purpose of organizing a chapter.

She also met with the Potomac chapter at Arlington Hall Monday where Miss Carrie Sutherlin was hostess to the group.

STC Is Democratic In Landslide Vote, 562 to 151 Majority

Third Term Fails To Faze Students; 77% Cast Votes

Third term or no third term, students of S. T. C. want Franklin Delano Roosevelt to win the coming election. The president gained an overwhelming majority of the votes cast by the students in a mock election sponsored by The Rotunda, on Monday, October 28. Of the 719 votes cast, 562 were for Roosevelt, 151 for Willkie, three for Thomas, and one for Browder. Also on the presidential candidate list were Aiken, and Babson.

A similar election held here during the Roosevelt - Landon campaign in 1936 resulted in a 400-90 Democratic victory.

Straw votes have been held in various Virginia colleges as well as colleges all over the country. Among the Virginia colleges conducting mock elections were Randolph-Macon, Washington and Lee, Hampden-Sydney and Madison. At Randolph-Macon Roosevelt triumphed over Willkie by a majority of 33 votes while Hampden-Sydney went Republican by a seven vote margin.

NOTICE

All material submitted to the Colonnade becomes their property and is not returned. Make a copy of your article for your own use before turning it in to the Colonnade.

All Students Sign Honor Code This Year

This year upperclassmen, as well as the freshmen, will sign the Honor Code in order to renew their promise to uphold their part in the student government of S. T. C. The seniors and the juniors re-signed the code on Monday and Tuesday nights, respectively and the sophomores will sign it Wednesday. The freshmen will sign for the first time at a later date.

In order to bring the Honor Code to the minds of the freshmen and to remind the upperclassmen of their promise given as freshmen, two programs have been presented in chapel. Mr. S. M. Holton, Jr., spoke Tuesday on the history of the student government at Farmville S. T. C. He told of how it has developed since its organization in 1911.

On Saturday, October 26, Mary Katherine Dodson, president of the junior class, talked on the responsibility of each member of the student body to the Honor Code. She stressed particularly the responsibility of the upperclassmen in setting an example for the freshmen and new girls.

Social Science Frat Initiates 10 Students

Ten girls were initiated into Pi Gamma Mu, national social science fraternity, on Tuesday evening, October 22.

New members included Sally Dunlap, Elizabeth Garrett, Anna Johnson, Frances Keck, Elva Kibler, Evelyn Quillin, Anne Ayers, Vera Baron, Bliss Fowlkes, and Betty Peerman.

Initiates were selected by the active members of Pi Gamma Mu on the basis of scholastic average and an evidenced interest in the development of the social science.

Notice

Town girls may subscribe to the annual after chapel this week. Augusta Parks, head of publicity, will take the subscriptions.

McIlwaine Reigns As Circus Queen; Sophs Stunt Wins

Yes, siree, that's what they all said! Such a circus as was seen at Farmville S. T. C. last Saturday night would have made Barnum turn green with envy! 'Deed it would. Such a gigantic assemblage of animals, clowns, amusements, and stunts has never been seen by man, woman, or child.

The festivities shot off to a rip roaring start with the colossal parade down Main street. And what a parade! It blocked traffic in Farmville for a full half hour. Such craning of necks, such crowding to the sidewalks, such a babbling of voices. Such animals! Such freaks! Such personalities! Right in with the best of them was Popeye (and of course Olive Oyl a glorious regalia of clowns, an abundance of freaks, and, naturally, the indispensible bare-back rider so ably portrayed by "Chubby" Heard.

But on with the show! At eight o'clock, the gym was pos-i-tive-ly packed with punctilious, pulsating, pondering people. Who would be the circus queen? Which class would win the prize for the best stunt? Would the ringmaster keep the ferocious animals under his control? The tense audience was finally rewarded. The stunts came first in fast succession. The sentors began with their presentation of the one, the only, the original "Bingley's Raham and Railey Circus." The freshmen followed with "Baby At The Side Show," the sophomores next in "It Could'nt Happen In Reality", and the juniors finaled with "Heck's a Poppin."

"Who won the class stunt prize?" shouted the ring master. The crowd gasped until the decision was announced—the sophomores! Such cheering as followed!The sophomore class literally brought the house down with glad shouting. Then more rejoicing followed when the juniors were awarded honorable mention. Then came the grand finale. The Queen's identity which had been kept a solemn secret for a week was at long last divulged. The smiling seniors proudly presented Helen McIlwaine!" The queen was triumphantly transported into the circus ring escorted by six boy scouts where she was crowned by Mary Wilson Carper, fresh-

Continued on Page 3

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Mary K. Beck ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Anne Barnette, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Bridget Gentile, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Dorothy Sprinkle.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Typists

Frances Pritchett ..... Chief Typist
Doris Alvis, Thelma Courtney and Jean Warwick ..... Assistants

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1940

A Charter for Childhood

Dr. Sidney B. Hall, State superintendent of public instruction, delivered an address to the Co-operative Education Association of Virginia last night, that was far more significant than the average statement that the educator makes in speeches to congresses of patrons of the public school system. Dr. Hall's paper may take its place among the most important declarations of policy in the history of Virginia schools, for it outlined the public educator's sense of responsibility for the well-being of democracy's children, beyond the classroom and the school yard. Once the public schoolmen were so constantly engaged in contending for the right of childhood to an education at the hands of the State, that they scarcely had time to insist upon the "right of children to live in clean, safe, and wholesome homes, and, if possible, with their own parents."

Only a few years ago, the head of a State Department of Education who said that "the right to be properly fed in infancy, and to be protected against the communicable diseases of early childhood," was one of the "inalienable rights" of children, would have been regarded almost as a revolutionary. Today we are holding such truths to be self-evident, and we are putting them into practice. Through aid to dependent children, through the public health program, and in other ways, we are giving recognition to Dr. Hall's "charter for the children of Virginia."

How futile education in the principles of democracy must sometimes have seemed to those teachers who had before them children ill-clothed and ill-nourished, and could no nothing about it. Because of Federal and State Government programs, and thanks to the work of parent-teacher associations throughout the State, the number of such children has been greatly reduced. The mothers in these associations realized that their first and most important task was to make democracy mean bread and milk to underfed children.

In his charter, Dr. Hall recognizes the right of handicapped children to be trained in the public schools "to the maximum of their ability." He admits and champions the right of the Negro child "to enjoy public facilities for his care and protection which are neither inferior nor necessarily identical with those provided for other children;" he challenges the public school to meet the physical, mental, and emotional needs of children and to make its aim the "continuous development" of the child rather than his merely "formal training".

Under Dr. Hall's administration of the Virginia public school system, progress is being made steadily toward the realization of his charter. He deserves the thanks of every Virginian for asking the patrons of public education in the state to work continuously for its further translation into reality.

—Richmond Times-Dispatch

John Dewey, Educator And Philosopher

John Dewey, prominent American philosopher and educator celebrated his eighty-first birthday on October 20. His prestige in the field of education is as great as his pioneering in the American field of philosophy.

Few schools have not felt his influence and few teachers have not acknowledged his leadership. His books, Democracy and Education, Schools of Tomorrow, The School and Society, and others, contain his theories on the subject.

From his fifty years experience in observation and actual contact with the American system of education at the Universities of Minnesota, Michigan, Chicago, Columbia university, he still believes there is room for progress and improvement.

When interviewed last year by a New York Times reporter, Professor Dewey gave the following views on modern education: "Education," he said, "is the entire process of forming the attitude and inclinations of individuals in relation to the world in which they are going to live. Education brings culture and vocation together.

Education has fallen down in recent years. Our schools and colleges have neither taken care of the increase in the number of students, nor in many instances kept pace with the rapid advancement in knowledge. The result is that the boy who was graduated sixty or seventy years ago with a knowledge of the three R's was in many ways better fitted to cope with the problems of his simple world than the student who receives his degree today.

Most of Mr. Dewey's life has been devoted to the betterment of education. Although no longer in active life, this white haired Vermont philosopher with a kindly smile will be remembered as a great American who successfully combined education and philosophy.

—Campus Comments

"American problems today all lie in the field of education. We approach significant economic, social and political questions with much more of our citizenship illiterate in these fields. We vote, relying on catchwords and outworn formulas; capitalizing on group animosities; appealing to passions; calling names and challenging the motives of those with whom we disagree. We are seeing how easy it is for whole peoples to slip down the ladder up which they have climbed with infinite pain through many centuries. We are discovering how difficult it is to make wise choices. We are embarked on the hard road, the democratic way. If ever we needed civic competence, it is today."—Clarence A. Dykstra, president of the University of Wisconsin and recently appointed national selective service director, points to the vital need for education.

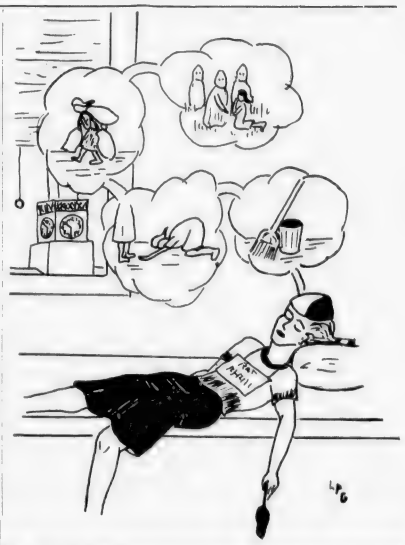
"College students compose the most conservative element in the country today, but the reason the public doesn't know it is that it's only the 'crackpot' student who makes headlines."—Grinnell college's new president, Dr. Samuel N. Stevens, debunks the nation that collegians are predominantly red.

Gleanings

By MARIE ALLEN

With totalitarism creating "new orders" in Europe and the far east, not only in military but also in economic fields the U. S. must plan to cope with this in some manner. We must face the bitter reality of a future peace in which there will be fewer nominally independent countries. These countries will be larger, their control will cover wider territories, and they will probably seek to attain economic self-sufficiency.

Just how many spheres there will be depends largely on the outcome of Great Britain and whether Hitler fumbles in his European plans. Undoubtedly there will be a German sphere of influence, probably a weaker Italian sphere, a Russian one and in the Far East the Japanese sphere. The outcome of the German-British conflict is inevitable and will have little influence on the New Orders, excepting whether or not Hitler will grant Great Britain her sphere of influence.



Omitted in this Hitlerized setup is the Western Hemisphere. Just who will get these vast continents the little man with the mighty arm has not said. It is highly possible that the southern territory could be advantageously used to furnish agricultural products and minerals for the factories of the industrialized Czechoslovakia Hitler dominated territory.

But Hitler very wisely has reasoned that it would be easier to leave this hemisphere out of his plan at the present. In the face of this courtesy it would be wise for the Western Hemisphere to work out its own plan. To form an union of the nations of the Western Hemisphere is faced with vitally different problems from that of totalitarian Europe and Asia. No doubt it would be wiser not only from the standpoint of every other nation of this hemisphere to work in closer harmony. Harmony that implies some form of union. Whether this union would be a federation, confederation or only a Pan-American union as at present would have to be worked out in complete accord with every nation concerned.

And this is the strategic point facing the diplomats of the Americas. What is each country willing to give up for this union? We have no dictators to say you shall be agricultural, to supply raw materials for factories in another section. No, indeed. But this is the fact that makes a union harder for this hemisphere to obtain. For each nation to voluntarily enter, and that is the only union conceivable at the present time, each would have to make sacrifices. How large would the sacrifices have to be? And the answer to this question would be the answer to the problem of whether or not we could have an union.

No doubt the wheat and cattle sections of South America would want the United States to import their products, whereas the Great Middle West would vehemently oppose this. There are other questionable points at the present time including Canada and her alliance with Great Britain. And certainly a union without Canada would defeat the whole purpose. To leave out the vast nation to our north would absolutely prevent hemisphere solidity—the very thing that the proposal would be working for.

We have been accustomed to living in a world of trade—with an idea that by trading relations we build up peaceful relationships with other nations and thus eliminate war. Hitler in his domination of Europe and Asia is introducing a new idea—that to keep peace you must build up a world of your own, economically self sufficient and then keep to yourself. If this idea prevails in Europe and Asia there remains little for the U. S. and the other nations of the Western Hemisphere to do but to comply with it in our own democratic way. Whether we can comply largely depends on our willingness to make economic sacrifices and on this depends our ability to remain at peace. Whether or not Hitler fumbles in his plan remains to be seen, but it no doubt would be wise to begin thinking of ways to adapt ourselves to the new world in the making—if we want to continue as a great nation of the world.

Bouquets and Brickbats

Week-End Mutterings

Climaxes for week-end trips was that of our own Trudy Hale who went to New York Saturday and was back in time for lunch Monday. How was the Fair, Trudy?

Ask Jean Moyer and the "Mow" West what they were doing at four o'clock last Sunday morning. It couldn't have been sleeping, could it, girls?

—Where was Peggy Hughes Sunday that she missed seeing her family? Was he all that interesting, Peggy?

—Why does Freshman Ott prefer Richmond and Blacksburg to Farmville on week-ends?

—Has Helen McGuire definitely changed her romance—or is it the nearness of Vic. Moral: Absence makes the heart grow fonder but propinquity gets the woman (or man).

—Mary Anna Motley's date for the circus was sumpin'—with a gun. He nearly stripped the Y. W. booth of all its candy.

—All bets that were laid on the Riding Club cake as to who would have it—Bob or Sadie—were lost. They divided it.

—Polly and Rosebro, you were really good as Popeye and Olive Oyl. But did you know that you have competition, Rosey? You just oughta see and hear Dozzie.

Our first bouquet for the week we give to Alpha Kappa Gamma for sponsoring such a splendid circus—and especially to all who helped decorate and clean up the gym. That's some work.

We are wondering if it was Lorana Moomaw or the food that she brought that caused such a furor on third floor Gym on Sunday. It was nice to see your sister back, "Little Moo."

It seems that Elizabeth Ann Parker's date almost had two drags for the dances at Randolph-Macon this week-end. You couldn't possibly be slipping could you Elizabeth Ann?

Congrats to the sophomores for winning the circus skit contest.

Have you noticed Faye Nimmo's good spirit during Rat Week? She seems to be following in her sister's footsteps. Look out, Faye, the worst is yet to come—tonight is Big Rat Court.

Rat Helen Gilliam seems to have the Institute all aflutter. Who are the three cadets whom you manage so well, Helen? And what happens when the first learns of the second and the first and second of the third? Don't say we didn't warn you.

Orchids to the new Cotillion members. You may laugh today at the "Rats" but wait until "Goat Week" next May.

It looks as if we have had more air raids here in Farmville in the last few days than London has had in months—one way of reducing, anyhow! What say, Rats?

We wonder whom Spilly Purdum told she was so smooth the other night. Tell you about it, Spilly!

Hunter, why don't you try taking English 101 so you will know how to pronounce your words or is it the influence of the play?

The beam on Nell Hurt's face and the glow in her eyes is very noticeable these days. Could be that Spessard is coming to Cotillion?

Be sure to see the Dramatic Club play in November. We hear that Miss Wheeler has been giving Johnny Pancake six easy lessons in how to hold (?) your woman. Have you noticed any improvement, Jane?

Freshman Department

Rat theme song: "I'll Never Smile Again."

There once was a freshman who thought, a mushroom was a place to make love.

Sophomore theme song: "Day Dreams Come True at Night" (Rat Court).

A word to the wise is sufficient: Say it with flowers, say it with sweets, say it with eats, say it with jewelry, say it with drink, but always be careful not to say it with ink!

'Bye now! See you at Rat Court.

Platter Chatter

By JEANNE SEARS

The unpredictable Mr. Arthur Shaw (Artie to you) heads this week with a brand new all-star outfit and the cream of Artie's own compositions for its public introduction. This new group leads off with "Special Delivery Stamp", and "Keepin' Myself for you". This is done rightly by the Gramercy Five—that's the name of the new quintet. Both of these are different but definitely catchy—a harpischord carried Artie's new classical theme and you can always depend on his clarinet for tops in its field. It's good—natchally!

Wait'll you hear Mr. T. Dorsey's new "You've Got Me This Way"—s'wonderful. Particularly the Pied Pipers' version—mellow, yes swingy—then another "pop" tune on the reverse "I'd Know You Anywhere"—Tommy lends his flawless trombone to both of these. Frank Sinatra carries the vocal on the 'latter and—oh so-o-o sweetly, too. Zippy Elman's powerful trumpet carried a sweet lead to the finale.

• Sports Slants •

By FAYE NIMMO

While Parham is wishing and working for the new tennis courts, let's remember that we need players for them. An interest in tennis may result in our getting new courts! Although no games could be scheduled this fall because of the condition of our courts, spring is coming, and with the new courts, games will be scheduled. For games we need good players; good players are a result of practice; not only for the pleasure, but for our future teams!

Yes, the same old truck is leaving for the same old place, with the same girls! This is the S. T. C. truck going out to Longwood—but why not some new girls? It's not that the old girls aren't good, but with the set up here at Farmville for archery, more girls should attempt the game.

Archery matches are next month, so everyone come on and practice! Some of the Freshmen may not ever have been out and tried to hit that little round circle. Try it! After the freshman circus booth, you can see how much of a thrill there is to hitting a mark (even though it isn't a live one.) Have you ever noticed the musical sound of arrows humming? Sounds good.

With only three and one half more weeks before the intramural hockey games, don't we all need practice? Trot out your sticks and get out there with all your teammates. Better take shin guards for safety, because the balls are hard and it is dangerous if you are hit. The practices have improved and there are so many players now. If you saw the first practice game with the Frosh versus Farmville High School, you can really appreciate hockey. Its a good, clean sport, so even if you have never learned to play during your college or high school days, do so now while you have an opportunity and see how you'll enjoy it!

Our physical education classes are really zooming now. Captains have been elected and teams chosen for field ball. We can't have football here but we can have the next sport to it—hocky and fieldball!

How about ping pong lately? Now that the days are getting chilly and it's a little too much for some of us to get outdoors to sit or walk—come down to the "Rec" for your recreation. No matter whether it's cold or hot, ping pong can always be played. It is an all year sport that is very entertaining. Seniors can enjoy the game in their lovely new "Rec", with two brand new tables.

You know, the freshmen have to pass this beginners swimming test, but how about some of you upperclassmen? This is a grand time for you to learn to swim and just a little bit more. Come down and begin with the beginners—Learn to swim!

Be a sport, support sports, and love sports.

G R A Y ' S DRUG STORE

PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

WILLIS, the Florist

Flowers for All Occasions

PHONES 181—273

BUTCHER'S

The convenient store for faculty and student body.

Good things to eat and drink

For best sandwiches and drinks

Meet me at the . . .

COLLEGE SHOPPE

Phone 200

S. A. Legus, Tailor

Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.

Visit us for the

BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

What Will "Charlie" Think Up Next?

What is this strange new contrivance that keeps Mr. "Charlie" French so occupied in the Science Building? We see him rush up to the dark little "lab" and suddenly we hear peculiar, grotesque sounds and exclamations greeting our eager ears.

One day before the door is closed we slip through the entrance which shrouds the room with mystery. Alas! We see Mr. French bending over a sort of triangular structure from which a great fire suddenly gushes forth, while hot lava covers all the room.

What is this that keeps Mr. French so occupied and which acts so strangely. Gaining courage, we question "Charlie", who seemed amazed at our presence—and especially at our fear of his creation. Calmly he (laughing at us because of our timidity) explained that 'twas nothing but a miniature, artificial volcano he had constructed for his science class—and indeed it was, for it acted similarly to the actual volcano in both structure and behavior.

Once we summoned enough courage to move closer, we felt Vesuvius, Etna and other landmarks are mere nothings compared with this phenomena. "Good enough, Mr. French."

NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c Store
PLAN YOUR HALLOWE'EN PARTY WITH
Peanuts
Candies
Favors
From our store!

COMPLIMENTS OF
Shannon's
Phone 224—Call us

WOOL—KNIT!—We say knit because its the rage now. All colors, all kinds, and you can use the lay-away pan—get it as you need it.
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

High School Turns Tables On Frosh

Second Practice Game Is Scrappy

Farmville High school hockey team met the freshmen team for a second practice game this season Wednesday afternoon, October 23, on the athletic field. The freshman team having been victorious in the previous game with the high school met with defeat by a close score of 3-2.

During the first half the freshmen were unsuccessful in scoring but during the second half Hardy and Foster both came through for the much fought for points. Ranson, of the high school team, scored two points and Reed one.

Lineup:

Pos.	Farmville	Freshmen
R.W.—	E. Fulcher	L. Jones
R. I.—	L. Ranson	M. Droste
C. F.—	E. Dowdy	S. Hardy 1
L. I.—	C. Warwicke	L. Foster 1
L. W.—	R. Anderson	J. Hobson
R. H.—	B. Dudley	D. Gaul
C. H.—	B. Smith	L. McCorkie
L. H.—	P. Cabaniss	L. Ransone
R. F.—	M. Venable	J. Strick
L. F.—	C. Digges	H. Crawford
K. K.—	C. Hardaway	Darrcott

Subsitutes high school—M. Reed, K. Dowdy, J. Cocks, P. Brooks, C. Smith, L. Elliott.

Riders To Receive Class Credit

Horse Show Will Be Held November 29

Credit will be given for riding in place of seasonal sports, announced Miss Stella Fox, riding instructor, at the regular meeting of the Riding Club on October 25. Any girls who are interested in the credit class for this quarter are urged to see Miss Fox at once.

The Greek name Pegasus has been selected as the name of the riding club, corresponding with the winged horse which is the symbol. Tan and green, the clubs official colors, are to be used in making pennants for members.

The horseshow which will take place at Longwood in the riding ring is scheduled for November 29. Participants of the show are arranged according to knowledge and skill classes, thus making an equal opportunity for the less experienced riders.

Shirley Pierce has been elected publicity chairman of the club and Margaret Bowling will be housekeeper of the club room. Four magazines, Country Life, Spur, You, and Redbook have been secured for the club room and may be used by members at any time.

Farmville Host To State Baptist Meet

State Teacher's College will be hostess to the Annual Virginia-wide Baptist Student Union Convention, November 1-3. This meeting is prepared especially for college students, and has as its keynote the theme, "Conquer With Christ".

Mr. William Hall Preston, of Nashville, Tennessee, who is assistant southwide secretary for Baptist Student Union, will be guest of honor.

Registration will begin at the First Baptist Church of Farmville Friday afternoon. The registration fee for out-of-town students has been placed at $1.00. Students of S. T. C. and Hampden-Sydney are allowed a special price fee of twenty-five cents. Approximately 150 students are expected to attend.

The convention will open Friday evening at 5:45 o'clock with a banquet at the Farmville High School. Afterwards there will be a meeting at the church lasting until 9:30 o'clock. A service will be held on Saturday morning and a business session Saturday afternoon. Saturday evening the local B. S. U. will present a play, "Decision Determines Destiny."

Circus

Continued from Page 1

man circus court member—the queen's other attendants were Harriet Scott, junior and Sara Wade Owen, sophomore.

Then a big night of fun and frolic was topped off with popcorn, peanuts, hotdogs, cokes, candied apples, games, and yes—even dancing!

Yes, indeedy—right you are. A won-der-ful time it was!

Kappa Delta Pi

Continued from Page 1

gram for the year and planned a year book which will summarize the activities of the society for the year.

Do your Christmas Shopping early
CHRISTMAS CARDS
50 for $1.00 and up
Martin, the Jeweler

Everything for your Hallowe'en Party
ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store On the Corner

Freshmen Antics Entertain; Soph Dictators Reign Tonight

Amid great wailing and knashing of teeth, Rat Week was started off with a bang or rather a squeak! From all buildings on Monday morning in the cold and gray dawn came grotesque—looking figures. An outsider might have mistaken those "things" as an invasion from Mars' but to all sophomores it was only the beginning of three days of torture for the defenseless little freshmen.

All day Monday came orders every side to "Skip, Rat", and "Up those steps backwards, Rat", and "Where are your teeth, Rat?" Then all of a sudden would come an awful yell, "Air Raid" and immediately 10 freshmen would fall to the floor and lie there 'till the all clear signal was called out. To add variety or color to the little scene, Rats were making siren noises as they'd never done before. There were also many peculiar noises supposed to be bombs but they passed. From all the "Air Raids" called you'd think that Germany had really come to S. T. C. full force!

On all sides lowly Rats were landing and singing praises of the "blithesome, benignant, bounteous, brainy, beautiful and benevolent" sophomores. Out of the kindness of the sophomores hearts, the rodents were allowed to make beds, entertain with songs and dances and sing many a part of a soci book to the tune of "Yankee Doodle". Then at supper many of the chosen freshmen arrived to their tables to find omnious little slips of paper summoning them to Little Rat Court. Again, groaning and wailing.

But from all reports no one was seriously embarrassed or will they just won't talk?" Have you ever "scrambled like an egg," "hunted for a tune", or been asked to elaborate on how cute you thought you were? The Rats have certainly had plenty of it to do.

Wednesday night and the horror it embodies has been the greatest topic of conservation these past few days. No need to discuss it further because everyone knows that Big Rat Court will be held tonight—especially the rodents. Well, see you in Big Rat Court, tonight at 10, freshmen!

For Latest Sheet MUSIC or RECORDINGS visit
SOUTHSIDE MUSIC CENTER
119 W. Third Street

8 ENLARGEMENTS AND FILM DEVELOPED 8
25¢ COIN
116 SIZE OR SMALLER
SPECIALISTS IN 35M.M.
ALL MINIATURE FILMS ARE VAPORATED AND FINE GRAIN DEVELOPED
36 EXPOSE ROLLS TO 3"x4" 1.25 PER ROLL
18 " " " " .65¢
SPECIAL ENCLOSE THIS AD WITH YOUR NEXT ORDER FOR FILMS OR REPRINTS AND WE WILL MAKE A PHOTOGRAPH, XTRA CARD FROM YOUR FAVORITE NEGATIVE, IN YOUR CHOICE FREE
ENLARGE PHOTO BOX 791 / STATION MASS. DEPT. 3

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

NEW SKIRTS AND SWEATERS
Arriving Daily
In All New Colors
Sports Department
Second Floor
Davidson's Inc.
THE HOUSE OF QUALITY

BALDWIN'S

A Hair-do That's Smart! Natural! Easy to Manage!

A smart, natural coffure that suits the contours of your face is often difficult for an amateur to achieve. But for skilled operators like ours, its achievement is smple. Come in and let us style your hair the way you'll look most charming!

Beauty Specials This Week Only:

Re-Vitalizing Oil Wave . . regular 10.00 6.95

Natur Glo Wave . . . regular 7.50 4.45

Manicure Cards that entitle you to three Manicures 1.00

Shampoo and Finger Wave Complete 50c
the Rest of October

Permanent Waves 2.50 to $10

BALDWIN'S
Phone 159

Yourself and Others

Dances, Games Attract

21-0. What a score! Those rooters for V. P. I. celebrated a victory, but there were lots of faithful rooters for W. & L. too. Some of those who saw the game in Lynchburg were Vivian Gwaltney, Harriette Haskins, Irma Anderson, Augusta Banks, Lena Hubbard, Lillian Anne Turner, Tommy Barnes, Peggy Stevens, Becky Lowry, Imogen Hutter, Nancy Hutter, Marjorie Gooden, Charlotte Greeley, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Ann Bradshaw, Esther Atkinson and Doris Alvis.

University of Richmond had Reggie Childs for Openings last week-end. Among the prom-trotters from S. T. C. we saw Emma Louise Crowgey, Martha Cottrell, Carroll Costello, Ethel Carr, Jean Hall, Martha Messick, Ellen Scott, Elizabeth Williams and Mary K. Zehmer.

Williamsburg was the scene for the W. & M.-University of Virginia game. Those cheering for the home team, which was victorious, and attending the dance were Evelyn Cannon, Marjorie Lee, Katherine H. Price and Miriam Jester.

Randolph-Macon held Homecomings with four of our girls there. Emily Lankes, Elizabeth Ann Parker, Mary Owens West and Jean Moyer were the lucky ones.

Way down to North Carolina journeyed Lliwyn Bennett, Elizabeth Bowman, Jeanne Hall and Martha Smith for dances at the University.

D. U. Houseparty at Washington and Lee was enjoyed by Bobby Latture.

Then there are always a few at Charlottesville. Finstance Josephine Bishop, Mae Desaix, Dot Hahn and Jeanne Rhoades.

Presbyterian Conference in Richmond had several S. T. C. representatives. Nancy Dupuy, Elizabeth Gunter, Caroline Eason, Carolyn Harvey, Margie Rice, Lila Weathers, Helen Engleman, and Sue Dunlap are those who went.

Pi Kaps were entertained Monday night at six o'clock by Miss Olive Iler, their adviser, with an outdoor hamburger party. Sara Wade Owen, Jeanne Sears, and Betty Boutchard wil give a Hallowe'en party for the chapter tomorrow night at 10 o'clock.

A. S. A.'s had their fall banquet Wednesday night, October 23 in the tea room. Dr. J. L. Jarman, Dr. J. E. Walmsley, Miss Carolyn Cogbill and Miss Grace Mix, Pan-Hellenic adviser before Miss Cogbill, were there.

The theme carried out was Halloween with pumpkins and witches as decorations.

Who's Who

Continued from Page 1

Standards committee and Cotillion Club.

Pat is editor-in-chief of the college newspaper and the Alumnae magazine. She is also treasurer of Alpha Kappa Gamma and a member of Kappa Delta Pi, Pi Gamma Mu, Student Standards committee, H2O, Monogram Club, and Cotillion Club. "Chubby" has served on the Student Council as class representative for three years and is president of Pi Gamma Mu. She also heads Sing committee and is a member of Cotillion Club.

Jean is president of the YWCA and vice-president of Kappa Delta Pi. She is also a member of Grand-daughters Club, Student Standards committee, College Choir, A'Capella Choir, Cotillion Club and she is associate editor of the Torchbearer, official Alpha Kappa Gamma publication. Dot is president of Kappa Delta Pi, art editor of the Virginian and a member of The Rotunda staff, Pi Gamma Mu, Alpha Kappa Gamma and Gamma Psi.

Boonie heads Cotillion Club this year and is secretary of the senior class. She is also a member of A. C. E. May is editor of the Virginian, a member of Student Standards committee, Pegasus and Cotillion Club. Libby is managing editor of The Rotunda and treasurer of Kappa Delta Pi. She also holds membership in Pi Gamma Mu and Alpha Kappa Gamma. Martha is vice-president of the YWCA and chairman of the Student Standards committee. She also belongs to Pi Gamma Mu, Kappa Delta Pi and Alpha Kappa Gamma.

The Student's Choice
ECONOMY FOOD STORE
for
FANCY FRUITS, COOKIES, AND "SNAX"
For All Times

AST Convention Here Next Week

Fourth District of Apha Sigma Tau sorority will hold its tri-annual convention Saturday and Sunday, November 2 and 3, at S. T. C. where the local Zeta Tau chapter will be hostess for the occasion. Delegates from Concord College, Athens, West Virginia, Shepherds College, Shepherdstown, West Virginia, as well as alumnae from these chapters and from Richmond and Norfolk-Portsmouth alumnae chapters will be present.

Delegates will register in Student Building on Saturday at 9 P. M., and then attend business meetings until 12:30. Luncheon will be held for the delegates in Brumfield's Tea Room.

After short group discussions in the early afternoon, the meetings will be adjourned until 6:15 when the banquet will be held at Longwood. At 8:30 Saturday evening the delegates will be more informally entertained at a party in the Student Building lounge, to which all the advisers and visiting representatives have been invited.

Among the guests for the convention, will be Mrs. Meade McNeill, vice-president of the National Council of Alpha Sigma Tau and president of the Fourth District. It is the custom of each district of the sorority to hold a convention every three years, each chapter alternating as hostess to the group. The next convention of the Fourth District of A. S. T. will be held at Shepherds College, Shepherdstown, West Virginia.

Ruth Lea Purdum, president of the senior class, and Caralle Nelson, president of the Student Council were recognized last year.

These girls have been selected because they meet the qualities of character, leadership and scholarship, and have potentialities of future usefulness to business and society.

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

Phone
356 for service to the College
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

KLEANWELL Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of "CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Ronald Coleman and Jane Wyatt, leads in "Lost Horizon" sponsored by the junior class of S. T. C. at the State Theatre October 31. Tickets may be purchased from junior class members.

Carr, Rollins Head Mardi Gras Festival

Yates Carr and Dorothy Rollins, seniors have been selected co-chairmen for Mardi Gras celebration which will be held February 25. Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honorary fraternity sponsors this event annually.

Working on Yates' and Dot's committee are Libby West and Pat Gibson.

A delicate meter which will measure the electric voltage of a nervous shock has been developed

Haymes Named Publicity Chairman

Jeanne Haymes, a sophomore will replace Lillian German as head of the publicity committee of the Y. W. C. A. Because of the point system Lillian was forced to resign her position.

Jeanne was recently appointed assistant literary editor of the Colonade. She is hall president on third floor Whitehouse and her freshman year was chairman of the decorations for the freshman class production.

Radio Is Installed For History Students

To hear news broadcasts and important speeches that may come during class, Dr. Jatman has equipped Dr. Walmsley's history room with a radio for history students.

This radio will be employed only during class and will have a lock switch to safe-guard its use.

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

REVERSIBLE COATS—Tweeds, camel hair, corduroy.
Boy Coats $5.97 to $9.97
DOROTHY MAY STORE
Charge it if you like

STATE
"Your Community Center"
Today-Tomorrow!
ANN SOTHERN IAN HUNTER
in
"DULCY"
Tomorrow Only!
THE JUNIOR CLASS State Teachers College Presents
S. T. C. Glee Club
In conjunction
With a special return engagement of Frank Capra's mightiest production
"Lost Horizon"
Tickets now on sale by all members of the Junior Class S.T.C. No advance in price of admission
Friday-Saturday!
DEANNA DURBIN
"Spring Parade"
Monday-Tuesday!
LEW AYRES LIONEL BARRYMORE
in
"DR KILDARE GOES HOME"

LEE
"Your Family Theatre"
Today Only!
TWO FEATURES!
ROY ROGERS in "COLORADO"
No. 2
"Fugitive from a Prison Camp"
Tomorrow-Friday!
RICHARD DIX
"Men Against the Sky"
Saturday Only!
TWO FEATURES
"Charlie Chan at The Wax Museum"
No. 2
"Trailin' Double Trouble"
Monday-Tuesday!
Returned by Demand!
"Buck Benny Rides Again"

25 CENTS IN COIN
ROLLS DEVELOPED
Any size Kodak film developed
8 never-fade Velox prints only 25¢
Low Prices On Candid Film
Handy Mailing Envelopes Furnished
VALUABLE PREMIUMS GIVEN • MAIL YOUR FILMS TO
JACK RABBIT CO.
SPARTANBURG, S.C.

THE WAY TO MORE SMOKING PLEASURE

Today, more than ever, people are taking to Chesterfield because Chesterfield concentrates on the important things in smoking. You smoke Chesterfields and find them cool and pleasant. You light one after another, and they really taste better. You buy pack after pack, and find them definitely milder.

For complete smoking satisfaction you can't buy a better cigarette

Make your next pack CHESTERFIELD

Copyright 1940, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK NOV. 10-16

The Rotunda

WATCH FOR THE COLONNADE

VOLUME XX | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1940 | NO. 7

S. T. C. Celebrates Nation'l Education Week In Program

Students To Give Chapel Speeches

Education Week begins Monday, November 11 and continues through Saturday, November 16. The educational achievement and needs of the nation will be called to the attention of the public throughout the country and particular emphasis will be given to our needs in the present world crisis. Just as the results of the first World War aroused the National Education Association and the American Legion to set aside the week in which Armistice Day falls each year at a time for taking stock of our educational situation, so these organizations this year have planned a program which stresses the importance of our taking stock of our educational situation in the midst of the second World War.

The general theme for Education Week this year is Education for Common Defense. This topic is broken down into six sub-topics as follows: Enriching Spiritual Life, Strengthening Civic Loyalty, Financing our Government, Developing Human Resources, Safeguarding Natural Resources, Perpetuating Individual Liberties, and Building Economic Security. As has been the custom in our college for years, we have this year used the national program of Education Week as a basis for orientation in calling the attention of the students and faculties to certain demands which currently existing conditions make upon us, whose privilege it is to live and work in a great institution dedicated to the education of teachers. Some of the more important features of our program here are as follows:

General Features of the Program For Education Week and Book Week

Sunday, November 10 to Saturday, November 16, College Library—Display of School Textbooks—Juniors in Elementary Education.

Monday, November 11, 11:00 a. m. College Auditorium—Enriching Spiritual Life in College—

Continued on Page 3

West Heads Dramatic Club Ticket Campaign

A comprehensive ticket campaign has been launched for 'What Every Woman Knows" to be presented by the S. T. C. Dramatic Club and the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs Friday, November 15. Mary Owens West is ticket manager.

Not only will the school be canvassed thoroughly, but Mary Owens, with the help of Jerry Smith, will cover the stores and offices downtown. Shirley Pierce will interview the faculty.

Bill Tracy will be in charge of selling tickets at Hampden-Sydney, while Peggy Watkins, Hallie Hillsman, and Jean Strick will sponsor the sales in town.

Arrangements have been made with White's to handle the reserve seats. Starting November 11, general tickets may be exchanged at the drug store for reserve tickets any time after chapel. Next week tickets will be sold at the hall table, and if anyone should wait until the last moment, they can be purchased at the door.

Girls have been appointed to canvass the dormitory halls each night until the play is presented.

Those selling tickets on the halls are Margaret Bowling, Shirley Turner, Anne Ellett, Betty Reid, Miggie Mish, Mary Vendle Haug, Betty Watts, Dot Childress, Edith Sibold, Flip Apperly, Ella Banks Weathers, Theresa Fletcher, Stella Scott, Sydney Bradshaw, Lucy Davis, Lucile Lewis, Betty McConnell, Sue Dunlap, Sally Hutchinson, Texie Belle Felts, Patsy Smith, Kitty Powell and Edith Nunnally.

Scene above is the cast for the Jongleurs-S. T. C. play "What Every Woman Know" to be presented in the S. T. C. auditorium Friday night, November 15. Sitting (left to right) are Lex Allison, Peggy Gella, Jim Pancake, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Jane McGinnis and Alex Jones. Standing are "Teds" Savage and Keith Eubank.

Strick Announces Music Activities

Groups Will Present "Messiah" in Spring

Mr. Alfred E. Strick, head of the music department, has announced that this year's activities will begin with the Junior A'Capella singing "Faith in America" at the American Legion meeting to be held in Farmville November 11.

The Madrigal Singers with Mae Desaix, soloist, will join Rev. Campbell Tucker November 17, in Burkeville and sing at the regular Sunday evening service. On November 20 the Senior and Junior A'Capellas have been invited to sing at the Teachers' Convention in Richmond. The annual Christmas carol service will be presented December 15 jointly with the Hampden-Sydney Glee Club. The program will present for the first time in Farmville the new group known as the Madrigal singers directed by Virginia Barksdale.

The event, anticipated by Mr. Strick to be by far the most outstanding that the department has ever arranged, is the spring festival, the "Messiah", which will be given by Harvard, Duke, and the S. T. C. choral groups, on April 4.

Plans also include a radio appearance. The music department which includes about one-fifth of the student body is composed of seven different units all of which are under supervision of Mr. Strick who outlines the work for each group. The Senior A' Capella is directed by Forrestine Whitaker and Virginia Richards directs the Junior A'Capella. The undergraduate A'Capellas are directed by Carol Lee Averett and Irene Alderman.

Senior Installation To Be Thursday Night

One hundred thirty-nine seniors will be capped Thursday night, November 7, by Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the college, at the annual senior installation service held in the large auditorium. Senior little sisters will hold the caps for the seniors and hand them to Dr. Jarman in the ceremony.

At this service, seniors, wearing their academic caps and robes for the first time, will be officially recognized by Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the college, the faculty and student body. They will also have the privilege of marching out of the auditorium to the Alma Mater for the first time in their class history.

Virginian Sponsors Photo Contest

Madge McFall, photographic editor of the Virginian, has announced a picture contest which will begin November 6 and continue through December 5. Two cash prizes of $2.50 and $1.50, respectively, are being offered to the persons who have the greatest number of pictures accepted for publication.

Students are urged to take snaps while away on week-end trips as well as around campus and Longwood. All pictures are to be placed in an envelope with the owner's name on the outside and turned in to any member of the annual staff. Competitors should not turn in negatives.

Pi Gamma Mu Sends Delegates

Martha Whelchel, Marion Heard, Thelma Courtney, and Marie Allen, as official delegates from Pi Gamma Mu will represent Farmville at the State International Relations Club meet at Charlottesville, November 15, 16, and 17.

The Program of the Club will be centered around Pan American Unity. The four topics to be discussed are: "Economic Problems of South America and the United States", "Yankee Imperialism," "The Latin and Anglo Saxon", "The Good Neighbor Policy".

Marie, Thelma, and Frances Kock will present papers from various angles on the last mentioned.

Many prominent government men will address the gathering. Every college in the state is expected to be represented as plans are laid for the largest meet yet held by the organization.

Other girls from Farmville expecting to attend are Carmen Booth, Yates Carr, Dot Eades, Louise Hall, Mary Jane Jolliffe, Dorothy Rollins, Anna Johnson, Elva Kibler, Ethel Carr, and Ruth Lea Purdum.

Pi Gamma Mu, on this campus, is a convention of the national Pi Gamma Mu, honorary fraternity in history and of the International Relations Club.

Spanish Circle Elects Morris President

Mildred Morris, a junior from Rocky Mount, N. C., has been elected president of the newly-formed Spanish Circle. Other officers are Betty Youngberg, Richmond, vice-president, Carmen Portella, Puerto Rico, secretary-treasurer; and Sarah Carbonell, Puerto Rico, program chairman.

Magazine Features Stories, Verse And Previews

Fall Edition Out On November 11

Three prize-winning short stories will be featured in the fall issue of the Colonnade, the college magazine, which will be out November 11. An editorial, several current book reviews and many other articles of interest have been included, also

"Wood Magic", the short story which won first prize in the recent contest was written by a junior, Margie Rice. This story is Margie's first contribution to the magazine. The second prize was awarded Mary Hunter Edmunds, a junior, transfer from Stratford college, for her dialect story entitled "Thurty Cents." The other prize winning story is by one of the winners of the last year's contest, Jack Cock, a senior who wrote "From the Magnolia Tree, the third prize story.

"Why can't we keep the political merry-go-round in the back ground when an international storm hovers over head?" This is the question discussed by Harriett Cantrell in her editorial "Future Citizen Questions' in this issue of the Colonnade. Harriet, a junior is a member of the Colonnade Staff. Dr. Walmsley will supple-

Continued on Page 3

Beore Eh Thorn To Sponsor S. S. Smith

Noted Drama Critic Will Lecture Here

S. Stephenson Smith, noted professor, author and lecturer in the field of dramatic criticism, will speak here on the subject "Broadway and Hollywood in Wartime" November 29. He will be brought to the college campus under the auspices of Beorc eh Thorn, honorary English fraternity.

Professor Smith received his B. A. from Reed College, Portland, Oregon, and did his graduate work at Oxford where he was Oregon Rhodes Scholar from 1920 to 1923. He was correspondent for the Associated Press at Oxford and for the Manchester Guardian Commercial in Spain and Germany.

While teaching comparative literature at the University of Oregon, Professor Smith directed the production of many original college musical comedies and revues, and produced "The Beggar's Opera".

There will be no admission for Professor Smith's lecture. His lectures and conferences at colleges are at the expense of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

Library Exhibits Old Text Books

To celebrate National Book Week an exhibit of text books covering the last century are on display in the show cases at the library. They were collected and arranged by Miss Alice Carter's education class.

Among the geographies, which date from 1828 to 1938, is the twenty-sixth edition of the first geography printed. History books used in the grammar grades from 1839 to the present day are exhibited. Also in the collection are Science and health books demonstrating the progress in education from the nineteenth century to the twentieth century.

Primers, spellers, and reading books will be displayed Wednesday and Thursday November 13 and 14, respectively. Arithemtic books will be in the show cases Friday and Saturday. National Book Week is November 10-16

Roosevelt Victory Decisive; Democrats Control Congress

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT
President

HENRY A. WALLACE
Vice-President-Elect

President Given 427 Electoral Votes

According to the incomplete return which have been reported this time, President Roosevelt is assured of a decisive victory over Wendell Willkie, Republican candidate, for the presidency, of the United States. Today's edition of the Richmond Times-Dispatch tabulated 427 electoral votes for the president to 87 for Willkie. The electoral college give Roosevelt a much larger margin than does the actual popular vote which was recorded this morning as 19,117,311 for Roosevelt to 15,911,047 for Willkie. Only 266 electoral votes are needed to elect the president.

South Remains Solid

The South remains solid, backing the President all the way. And in this region as well as all over the country voters turned out in unprecedented proportions — a warming which promises to bear out preliminary estimates of the record 50,000,000 votes.

Willkie Concedes Defeat

Willkie conceded his defeat in a radio address at 10 o'clock this morning and pledged himself to support the government.

The Democratic majority in the House increased slightly when the party lost three representatives and gained ten bringing the count to 162 to the Republican 46. No great change has taken place in the political position of the Senate.

Foreign Opinion

Britain is reported today to be jubilant over the re-election of Roosevelt and while there is no official news from Italy it is generally known that government leaders do not like the turn of events. Germany avoided the issue by declaring the election to be "of no concern to this country." Meanwhile from South of the border came favorable reports of Mexican approval of the election as "a triumph for the good neighbor policy".

Dr. Sheppe Succeeds Rev. E. A. Potts As Methodist Pastor

Dr. Edwin S. Sheppe arrived Thursday, October 31 to succeed Rev. Edgar A. Potts as pastor of the Farmville Methodist church. Mr. Potts has been transferred to Staunton, Va.

Dr. Sheppe, formerly pastor of Raleigh Court Methodist Church in Roanoke, attended Randolph-Macon College and Emory University and preached in Rockbridge, Md., before coming to Roanoke. He is particularly interested in church recreational activities.

Publication Heads Attend Press Meets

Pat Gibson, Libby West, and Josa Carlton, editor-in-chief, managing editor, and business manager of The Rotunda, and May Wertz and Anne Ayres, editor and business manager of the Virginian left today, November 6 to represent the two S. T. C. publications at the Associated Collegiate Press Convention at Detroit, Michigan.

Headquarters for the convention will be the Book-Cadillac Hotel and editors and business managers of other college publications will be present.

Representing S. T. C. at the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association Convention at V. P. I. November 8 and 9 will be Allene Overbey, Yates Carr, Mary Jane Jolliffe, and Sara Cline from the Colonnade staff and Margaret Wright and Lillian German of The Rotunda staff.

Junior Production Committees Named

Allene Overby, general chairman of the junior class production has announced committees and committee chairmen working on the junior presentation.

Harriett Cantrell, Sara Cline, Margaret Rice and Frances Rosebro comprise the theme committee. Directing chairmen are Polly Keller, Caroline Eason, Betty Peerman and Shirley McCalley.

Lillian German and Lillian Wabab are co-chairmen of the staging committee. Heading the property and costume committees, respectively, are Mary Lilly Purdum and Gene Hardy Kilmon.

Lucy Turnbull was named business manager Chairman of the committees assisting Lucy are Anne Boswell, program chairman, Anne Turner, publicity chairmen; and Nelle White, ticket chairmen.

Dot Johnson is in charge of the lighting effects for the production, and Irma Graff will head the committee for the make-up of the cast. House chairmen are Martha Cottrell and Nancy Naff.

ROTUNDA NOTICE

The Rotunda staff will not meet at 9:30 tonight but assignments will be made in the publications office directly after supper. All staff members and tryouts must be present. Staff appointments will be made next week.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year.

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Mary K. Beck ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Anne Barnette, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Bridget Gentile, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Dorothy Sprinkle.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Typists

Frances Pritchett ..... Chief Typist
Doris Alvis, Thelma Courtney and Jean Warwick ..... Assistants

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1940

Teaching in a Democracy

Education has assumed an important role in the United States from the very beginning. Many theories of education have been advanced to show the importance of universal education in a democratic state. Many of us have come to assume that a system of universal education will automatically tend to preserve and strengthen a democratic form of government. Contrary to this assumption, some believe that the longer one stays in school the more apt he is to advocate communism or some form of state socialism as superior to democracy. The totalitarian governments of Europe are firm believers in universal education and use it to strengthen their position.

Should we then say that our government must do away with education, or should we say that education is still a vital and necessary feature of our system? The writer would take the second position. But we cannot assume that it will work automatically in favor of democracy.

There is a definite challenge today to educators to educate for democracy. This requires a program just as definite, dynamic and forceful as one advocated by any other form of government. Our students must have real democratic experience. They must learn to be democratic by actually involving responsibility, initiative, cooperation, respect for individuality and desirable changes in society. On the other hand it is not contrary to democratic principles for a democracy to protect itself against educational propaganda and methods which would destroy democracy.

Education is even more important to us than ever before but we must consciously direct it to provide democratic experiences in our schools and to unitalize the challenge of a democratic way of life.

—E. M. J.

Education Week

Throughout the entire country schools will observe National Education Week from November 10 through 16. Educators have realized the importance of bringing the home and the school together in an effort to create a closer harmony between the two. It is for this purpose that this week has been set aside.

The program, sponsored by the National Education Association, has as its aim the awakening of the general public to an increasing knowledge of the important part that the schools have in the formation of future citizens and their role in society. Today schools teach pupils respect and understanding for the principles of democracy and it is in this connection that the theme "Educator for the Common Defense" has been chosen this year.

"There is unusual need for the schools to play their part in providing for the common defense", says the President. "Our great public school systems in the States, including colleges, and universities, are rendering invaluable service in training men for work in defense activities. But it is more important now than ever before that our schools should give serious attention to the development of an appreciation of our traditional freedoms. What the schools do may prove in the long run to be more decisive than any other factor in preserving the form of government we cherish."

Presidential Election

After many a nerve racking hour and tense moment, the election is over. Perhaps the best man won; perhaps he didn't but regardless of this he is destined to lead our country for the next four years.

Mr. Roosevelt's brilliant triumph in the face of third term odds shows without a doubt that he is still trusted and still preferred by millions of American people.

In the present day crisis he has shown that at heart he has had the best interests of the people and of his country. He will undoubtedly go on keeping these interests for the next four years.

Mr. Willkie put up a brave and admirable opposition, of which he can well be proud, but it is not expected that in a time of crisis, the people of the United States could elect to office a man as inexperienced in international affairs and diplomatic relations as is Mr. Willkie.

Roosevelt has undoubtedly made his mistakes, but at least he has recognized and admitted these mistakes. And if the people had not been satisfied they would never have thrust upon him the honor of accepting a third term, an honor which no other man can boast of ever having received.

Mr. Roosevelt's ability to cope with national and international affairs is unparalled by any other man in this country. So far he has kept us out of the war in Europe, and he has stated time and time again that he will do everything in his power to keep us out in the future.

We the people do not want war any more than does our president, and if only for the next four years we can forget party and political differences and concentrate upon the building up of our national defense, we too will have done all in our power to keep us out of the war, and preserve our democracy.

J. R. C.

The Eastern Teachers College (Ill.) News advised that "our best answer to the pompous threat of the totalitarian powers is to ignore it. Continue to increase our aid to England and China, who seem to be keeping the dictators fairly busy at the present time, and make ourselves strong at home."

—A. C. P.

The Butler Collegian feels that "this democracy should continue economic aid to Great Britain, for only the maitenance of the British navy will enable the U. S. navy to remain in the Pacific ocean. The treaty threatens the United States only when this nation decides to do what Hitler and his colleagues wish us to do—be negative, cease to strengthen the British military machine, and let Japan go about her imperialistic way, uninterrupted."

—A. C. P.

Bouquets AND Brickbats

Confusion! Confusion! Wherefore art thou not! With the University of Virginia having it opening dances, Hampden-Sydney its Pan-Hellenic dances, the press conventions at Detroit and Blacksburg, and we chillens having Cotillion, there's no small wonder that everybody is a bit perplexed. From this chaotic state there arose the Confusion Club. (We hear you get twenty points for membership). For further information see Polly Keller. She was unanimously elected president.

Helen Lewis seemed to have taken a lot for granted this weekend concerning a certain caller from Roanoke—Maybe Jackie Callen could clarify the situation.

The Pi Kappa Alphas at Hampden-Sydney called upon S. T. C. to furnish entertainment at their picnic Monday evening at Longwood. How did you like it, girls? We hear that Nancy B. and Freshman Fox gave quite a show—and Pat, how did you and Tracy make out?—Dot Johnson had a Newbill for the occasion. Reports are that she will go to Pan-Hels with him Friday night and he'll be here for Cotillion Saturday night. Rather neat idea. We wish we could do it.

Not being personal, but please could anyone explain Parham's enthusiam Monday night. We couldn't help noticing it as we passed the Rotunda. Who was he, Parham?—and Grace H., why were you blushing so Sunday night in the Rec? Was it what you said to P. T.?

What say we name S. T. C. "True Lover's Inn" on week-ends? Do I hear a motion to that effect, Petticrew, Parham, Pearsall, and a few other of you Juliets? Sadie Hawkin's Day sure musta brung 'um in.

Now that Rat Week is over the Freshmen tell all and the sophomores hear all. Congratulations to Shirley Pierce. Nothing better than Rat Week to uncover a good sport.

Just why did Frances Trevillian refuse to come down to the Rotunda last Wednesday, but so graciously appeared on Sunday—mimus pigtails and curlers???

Ask Nell Hurt what significance the number 278 bears. You'll probably get a 'specially interesting answer Cotillion. . . . Armistice Day comes in very conveniently; also being a First Classman at V. M. I.— what say Anne Rogers?

With Essie, "Tee', Margie, Izzie, Pudge and the Lashley coming up next week-end promises to be a gala one.

From the demonstration in Rat Court, Ed must be a wonderful dancer, eh Mary Evelyn?. . . From the look of the crowd around Jane Ford in the Rotunda Sunday, Martinsville girls must have what it takes.

It seems that come twilight on each Sunday evening the lights in certain rooms on Third Floor Student simply refuse to get all "lit up". Ritzy Row never seems to have that trouble. Could it be that the "Third Floorers" are more industrious than that Ritzy Crew? Could be?

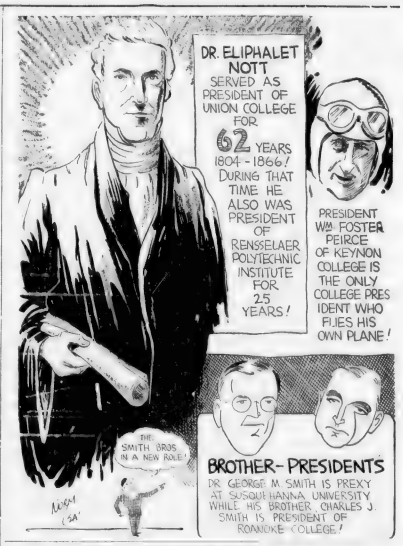
Brickbats and bouquets to all you girls. Hope it will be bouquets come Saturday night and pretty ones at that.

We found this among our notes and thought maybe you'd like a copy:

Coed's Dilemma

If she has too many dates, she's frivolous—if she has a steady, she has no stag line.

If she obeys all the rules, she's a drip—if she doesn't she gets caught.



If she doesn't study she gets kicked out—if she studies, she's a grind.

If she talks a lot, she's got a line—if she doesn't she's a social flop.

If she dresses up to go to classes, she's clothes conscious—if she dresses casually she's sloppy.

If she carries her own cigarettes, her friends bum them—if she doesn't she's a sponge.

Continued on Page 3

GLEANINGS

By JACK COCK

Four months ago the outlook for Great Britain in the European war was black indeed. It seemed highly improbable that unprepared Britain could withstand the furious onslaught of the Germans.

Today, however, the British viewpoint seems considerably brighter. If Herr Hitler expects to eat his Thanksgiving dinner in London as he boasted so confidently before his invasion of France, then he'd better step on it. For behind John Bull, supplying him with ships, aircraft and armament is the United States of America.

And judging from the past, before they will stand by and watch Britain fall to the Nazis, these same United States will step in with men as well as armaments, and test her own skill against this power-crazed fiend, who is attempting to bite off just a little more than he can swallow.

Most recent blow to the Axis powers was the refusal of Athens at the eleventh hour to allow the passage of Axis troops through Greece. Just what happened to cause Dictator Metaxas to take this stand is as yet (Sunday) unknown, but the general belief is that a Russian promise of support was influential.

Although Greece is a mere stepping stone to the Dardanelles, the real Axis desire, Metaxas' momentous decision will considerably retard the progress of German and Italian troops in their movement to effect a blockade between England and the Near East.

While from Britain came the report Saturday night, that Alexander, first lord of the Admiralty, declared,

"Britain will 'honor' her pledge of aid to the Italian-invaded Greeks . . . the navy is there, air support is being given, military objectives in Naples have been bombed, and Britain troops have been landed in Greek territory . . . What we can do we will do . . . The road to victory is beginning to define itself. Even if it proves a long road we can afford a long time and our enemies cannot."

Encouraging also is the British report, that in the actual fight between England and Germany, the invaders striking power is faltering, "that Nazi plane losses were running ahead of the British 3 to 1, and Nazi losses in airmen 14 to 1."

After nearly twelve weeks of a desperate battle for the mastery of British skies, the air ministry reports, that since August 8 the Germans have lost 2,433 bombers and fighters compared to England's loss of 891 planes. As to men they estimated a loss of 6,000 German aviators against approximately 353 pilots for Britain.

Whether or not these statements be truths or half truths, there is no getting around that Great Britain has put up a fight worthy of admiration and praise.

In defeated France, twelve once trusted, one time rulers or assistant rulers of the French, await trial on various charges for the downfall of France.

Curious, angry, bewildered, Frenchmen are looking forward to the trial, hoping to learn why, in the time of crisis, their government failed, their army failed, their world-famous Maginot Line of steel failed.

Held prisoners in the Chateau Chazenon, a feudal castle overlooking Riom are the twelve accused—Leon Blum, Edouard Daladier, and Paul Reynoud, all expremiers, who succeeded one another respectively, General Maurice Gustave Gamelin, Generalissimo in command of French and English troops, Georges Mandel, former minister of the interior Guy la Chambre, former air minister, Charles Pomaret, member of several pre-armistice cabinets, Max Dormay, Vincent Aurcial, and Jules Moch, all former cabinet ministers, M. Grumbach, a former deputy, and M. Montel, a friend and collaborator of former Premier Blum.

Because France fell someone must be blamed for the fall, and because someone must be blamed these men have been chosen. How ironic! How can these men be any more to blame than is the present government? Is it the French that are blaming them or the government behind the French, not a French government but a German government? Can this be the beginning of a hoax to rid France of dangerous men, dangerous not to France but dangerous to Germany?

Hither and Yon

Subtle Hint:

A certain professor at Ohio State walked into the classroom fifteen minutes late to find the class gone. The next day the students were reprimanded. The professor said his hat had been on the desk, and that had been a sign of his presence. Next day the professor again found an empty classroom. On each desk was a hat.

I've never been dated
I've never been kissed
They said if I waited
No man could resist
The lure of a pure young innocent miss.
The trouble is this,
I'm fifty.

More About Women In General

Mother uses cold cream,
Father uses lather.
My girl uses powder,
At least that's what I gather.

Sport Slants

By Faye Nimmo

Remember that four-legged creature with a girl sitting on top of it that led the circus parade? It was called a horse, and that is one animal that really affords a grand entertainment around here! When girls get up as early as 6:30 A. M. to ride, then there is a good reason for it. There is a wonderful opportunity here for everyone to learn to ride and if you already know how, then come on out and do so! There really are some beautiful horses here. Don't hesitate, because you feel you here to show you and the horeses aren't wild. Come on out; get astride a horse; then ride! It's grand!

Have you not tried golf yet? Let of the new girls here are progressing very fast. This comes from Patterson, and she knows. Say, we're getting plenty of nice new balls too! Come on out to Longwood and "play a little."

Along with golf fans, how about all of our Pocohontases coming out also? We have no new balls or counts to offer you, but after all, you don't need balls or counts for archery. All you need is the spirit and the aim. The arrows and bows are supplied for you. Your aim will be improved by practice, so now all you need is the spirit. Once you've been out and shot some, no one will have to ask you again—so try it once!

Well, it looks as if the freshman hockey squad and the Farmville high school are well matched. Another game has been played with the final score 0-0. However, the high school has a well-rated team.

Class hockey games have now begun! Well, anyway, one was supposed to have been played, even though it wasn't. In practices teams are now being selected by classes and not just at random. The juniors play the sophomores, then the freshmen and on down the line. The teams are really shaping up now as to their ability.

The water carnival is progressing rapidly and everyone is really looking forward to one of the best ever! To make this year bigger and better than ever, each one must do her part. Come on out all of you who swim and even if you can't, they need you anyway!

While we're on the subject of swimming how about some of you who never swim? Go down on Saturday night to the pool. The water is slightly warm. It feels simply grand! Ask anyone. There's a very friendly crowd, some swimming, some sitting, ah yes! some taking exercises. Come down and take your choice, swim, dive, sit, or just do your daily dozen. There is a most friendly atmosphere in this and all other sports!

For best sandwiches and drinks

Meet me at the . . .

COLLEGE SHOPPE

Phone 200

S. A. Legus, Tailor

Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.

Visit us for the

BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

Annual Color Rush Scheduled For Saturday, Nov. 16

Class Runners Are Chosen; Intramural Hockey Scheduled

Color rush, an annual event preceding intramural hockey games will be held Saturday afternoon, November 16, at 2:00 o'clock.

Runners elected from each class will carry their class colors on designated hails. Banners for the winning class will be hung from he buildings. The color rush gives 20 points toward the color cup.

Runners chosen for the junior class are Dot Johnson, Nancy Dunay, Micky Beck and Hester Chattin. Runners for the other classes will be chosen at a later date.

Intramural hockey games to be played after the color rush will be Freshmen vs. Sophomores and Juniors vs. Seniors. The freshmen-sophomore game will determine whether the freshmen will continue to wear their rat caps until Christmas. If the sophomores are victorious they will continue to wear them. The hockey games also count toward the color cup.

Preliminary interclass hockey games will be played the week of November 11 while finals are scheduled for Saturday, November 16.

Colonnade

Continued from Page 1

ment the question in the winter issue of the magazine.

Reviews of Virginia books feature "The Negro of Virginia" reviewed by Martha Whelchel and "Virginia , A Guide to The Old Dominion", reviewed by Mary Jane Jolliffe. Included in the current book reviews are "Haywire, An American Travel Diary" by Henry Bollitho, reviewed by Frances Keck, and "After Many a Summer Dies the Swan" by Aldous Huxley, reviewed by Harriet Cantrell.

Virginia Barksdale, a junior, made two contributions to this issue of the Colonnade. They are entitled "Joe" and "Memorial Day Reverie". "The Glove", a feature by Peggy Bellus, will also, be published in this issue.

"Look for the Skylark" is a new creation of verse and illustrations on the middle pages of the magazine. The verse is by Bess Windham and the illustrations are by Cottie Radspinner.

The November Colonnade cover is an unusual one. It bears a symbolical theme. The hands symbolize the years ahead and in the background is the highest ambition of everyone's college life. Within these covers you will find a superior selection of journalism by S. T. C. students.

The Colonnade staff urges those who have entered or are planning to enter the poetry contest to submit their entries early. All entries must be plainly marked "contest" and must be in by the first of December.

Attention Students!

Have you seen the latest in NAIL POLISH?

See PLEDGE NAIL POLISH in tubes. Demonstration at

NEWBERRY'S

5c—10c—25c

Store

WELCOME OLD GIRLS

Meet all your friends at

Shannon's

Hockey Schedule

Monday, November 11—Freshmen vs Juniors—4:00.

Tuesday, November 12—Sophomores vs Seniors—4:00.

Wednesday, November 13—Freshmen vs Seniors—4:00.

Thursday, November 14—Sophomores vs. Juniors—4:00.

Monday, November 18—Freshmen vs. Sophomores—3:30.

Juniors vs. Seniors

Platter Chatter

By JEANNE SEARS

It's Tommy Dorsey again this week, a Dorsey who has been piling up an unbroken string of smash hits since his "I'll Never Smile Again" bonanza. Now comes another double feature recording following suit, coupling the 20th Century-Fox film tune, "Two Dreams Met" with a dreamy "When You Awake" on the reverse. In medium tempo, "Two Dreams Met" spots Tommy's trombone with a clarinet and muted brass background, with Connie Haines' lyric voice handling the vocal. Frank Sinatra takes the honors on "When You Awake" with Mr. D's trombone up to its old tricks again. This is my nomination for the record of the week.

Back again on the Victor comes Larry Clinton's personal styling of "Dancing On A Dime" and "I Hear Music", both from Paramounts new film "Dancing On A Dime." The Clinton arrangement and drive really sell these tunes, aided and abetted on the first by Terry Allen's vocal and Peggy Mann skillfully handling the second. "I Hear Music" has a terrific brass jazz ending. It's good too. Let the girls returning from W. and L. tell you about these!

Glenn Miller's much talked about "A Handful Of Stars" has at last been recorded. Glenn plays it as a slow drag with Ray Eberle at the microphone and Tex Beneke getting quite confidential on his sweet tenor sax. The reverse is an old Victor Herbert melody with words penned by Stanley Adams, "Yesterthoughts," again sung by Ray Miller's full chorded arrangement is in medium tempo and very harmonious. You can always count on Mr. M. for smooth recordings and this is among 'em, but definitely.

One of the best novelties of the week is the new "When the Mush Begins to Rush Down Father's Vest." Shep Fields makes the most of it, describing pater's eating habits with a variety of words, dialects and noises. Hal Derwin carries the lead with the band carrying the chorus. He switches to the sublime for the companion piece, offering the well known "I Surrender, Dear" with Shep's own rippliying rhythm and doubt time tempo changes. This also, is done by Hall Derwin in the vocal. It's a grand recording spiced with nice variety.

Hope you like 'em all this week. the point is don't forget to hear 'em. They're strictly straight.

8 ENLARGEMENTS AND FILM DEVELOPED 8
25¢ COIN
116 SIZE OR SMALLER
SPECIALISTS IN 35MM.
ALL MINIATURE FILMS ARE VAPORATED AND FINE GRAIN DEVELOPED
36 EXPOSE ROLLS TO 3X4 $1.25 PER ROLL
18 " " " .65¢
ENCLOSE THIS AD WITH YOUR NEXT ORDER OF FILMS OR NEGATIVES AND WE WILL MAKE A PHOTOGRAPH OF YOUR CARD FROM YOUR FAVORITE NEGATIVE WITHOUT CHARGE.
ENLARGE PHOTO BOX 791 / STOM MASS. SPECIAL FREE

Patronize

Patterson Drug Co.

—AT—

Money Saving Prices

—FOR—

Drugs and Toiletries

Expert

Prescription Service

Clean Fountain

Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

STC Meets University In Debate Here

Farmville S. T. C. and University of Virginia clashed in Farmville's opening debate of the year Friday night, November 2, before an audience of approximately one hundred in the little auditorium here.

Marie Allen and Thelma Courtney, both seniors, upheld the affirmative side for Farmville on the question "Resolved That Roosevelt Should Be Reelected." Keister Greer and Albert Scafuro composed the negative team from the University.

The debate was non-decision as it was impossible to find an unprejudiced judge.

Education Week

Continued from Page 1

Jean Moyer, President of Y. W. C. A.

Tuesday, November 12, 11:00 a. m., College Auditorium—Patriotism of American Youth—Robert Schenkkan, President of the Minute Men of '40, University of Virginia.

Wednesday, November 13, 11:00 a. m., College Auditorium—Developing Human Resources in College—Ruth Lea Purdum, President of Senior Class.

Thursday, November 14, 11:00 a. m., College Auditorium—Safeguarding Individual Liberties in College—Dorothy Rollins, President of Kappa Delta Pi.

Friday, November 15, 11:00 a. m. College Auditorium—Building Economic Liberty in College—Coralie Nelson, President of Student Body. High School Auditorium—Enriching Spiritual Life in High School—Jean Moyer, President of Y. W. C. A.

Saturday, November 16, 11:00 a. m., College Auditorium—Facts and Figures on National Resources and Public Finance—Jack and Anne Cock.

Musical program under direction of Professor Strick.

Education Week Committee: Faye Brandon, Liggie Ellett, Margaretta Gerlaugh, Esther Partridge.

Then there's the little duckling who was terribly embarrassed because his first pants were down.

Hop Says:

Go to Cotillion pert and sweet
Have your dresses pressed and neat

DeLUXE CLEANERS

Do your Christmas Shopping early

CHRISTMAS CARDS

50 for $1.00 and up

Martin, the Jeweler

BUTCHER'S

The convenient store for faculty and student body.

Good things to eat and drink

Nylon Hose

1st quality

$1.15 pair

ROSE'S

5c—10c—25c Store

On the Corner

G R A Y ' S

DRUG STORE

PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

WILLIS, the Florist

Flowers for All Occasions

PHONES 181—273

Fall Cotillion Here Saturday

Cannon Orchestra To Furnish Music

Committees for the fall dance of the Cotillion Club to be held in the gym Saturday, November 9 from 8:30 to 12:00 o'clock have been announced by Boonie Stevenson, president.

On the floor committee are Margaret Wright, Ethel Carr, Rosa Courter, Evelyn Lupton, Nancy Bondurant, Jean Moyer, Mary Catherine Dodson, and Helen McIlwaine.

Faye Brandon, business manager, is head of the music committee and is assisted by Emily Hoskins, Jean Upshur and Harriett Cantrell.

Jimmy Cannon and his orchestra will play for the dance. The band, which has played for several dances here in the past two years, is from Danville.

Gamma Psi, honorary society in fine arts has charge of the decorations for the dance. The theme will be college in fall.

BRICKBATS and BOUQUETS

Continued from Page 2

If she comes on time to dances, she hasn't been around—if she comes late she misses a lot of fun.

If she yells a lot at football games, she makes a fool of herself

Frosh Commission Installed by Moyer

Installation of the new freshman commission took place during prayers, Wednesday, October 30.

Jean Moyer, president of the Y. W. C. A., read the oath of office to Ellen Ebel, freshman counsellor, who after taking oath read the purpose of the commission.

Lucy Turnbull, head counsellor of the old freshman commission, lighted the candle of Ellen Ebel. Sophomore commission members lighted the candles of the new members. The service closed with a prayer by Jean Moyer and the group singing "Follow the Gleam".

Election of the freshman commission officers, chairman, secretary, and treasurer will take place at the next meeting, Wednesday, November 13.

—If she doesn't, she lacks school spirit.

A & N STORE

Lady's Jodphurs, tan and brown $2.95

Jodphur Boots $3.75
Jodphur Shoes $2.75

Riding Breeches, tan and brown $2.95

Riding Boots $5.95

Sweat Shirts and Athletic Socks

WATCH FOR THE

BIG OPENING

Of our new Remodeled Store—You will love our new improvements

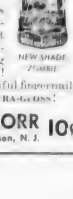
DAVIDSON'S, INC.

THE HOUSE OF QUALITY

HOW TO WIN BOY-FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE STAG-LINES

By Dalea Dorothy Clix

Dear Miss Clix: When Dad remarried, he married a fragile helpless little thing twenty years younger than himself. When I invite the young men I meet to my home, they fall for my step-mother like a ton of bricks—and then call on her instead of me. She has a stag-line a mile long—and they're all my discoveries! What should I do?



CONFUSED

Dear "Confused": I've seen a lot of saps, in my day, man and boy, but you are absolute tops in sappiness, if you go on being hornswoggled by that wily piece of baggage, Fragile? Helpless? Boloney! You're up against an artist at snagging men. (Did I hear someone murmur: "Ask Dad"?) So get busy on a ten-gallon charm routine at once! That means sophisticated hair-do's, a real job on the complexion, smart lipstick and makeup, yes, and it means beautifully lacquered fingernails! Then—start your blitzkrieg on your stolen stag-line!

AND NOW, DEAR, READ THE NEXT COLUMN CAREFULLY!

WHAT YOU CAN DO TO HAVE MORE BEAUTIFUL NAILS

Let the brilliant, gem-hard lustre of DURA-GLOSS give your fingernails that marvelous attraction and allure that men admire! DURA-GLOSS is the amazing new nail polish that's different! DURA-GLOSS flows on more smoothly, keeps its brilliant beauty of color longer, resists cracking and chipping better! Have the most beautiful fingernails in the world—buy DURA-GLOSS!

NEW SHADE 7COMBE

A NEW FORMULA BY LORR 10¢

Lorr Laboratories, Paterson, N. J.

New—And we mean it. The new light color pastel skirts $1.97
Riding Habits—Jodhpurs $1.97 up. Riding boots, sport jackets.

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Yourself and Others

Glamour, lamour — and off to the belles here, there, and anon for glorious week-ends elsewhere.

To football goes the first prize for popularity this week. The Capital City, scene of the Hampden-Sydney-University of Richmond game, drew the largest crowd. Familiar faces among the throngs were Betty Fahr, Polly Hughes, Josephine Canada, Barbara White, Margaret Thomas, Beth Johnson, Colleen Jackson, Mattie Jolly, and Ruth Loving.

The V. M. I. homecomings at Lexington, featuring the V. M. I.-William and Mary game attracted Nancy Wolfe, Nan Duer, Helen Lewis, Helen Gilham, Shirley Stanton, Virginia Hill and France Latane.

Norfolk was host to the V. P. I.-Virginia game and among it rooters were Pat Whitlock and Jeanne Sears.

We award the 1 prize for excitement to Carolyn Munck who flew to Scarborough N. J. for the Army-Notre Dame game.

Marie Kelly flaunted her colors for her choice at the Duke-Georgia Tech game in Durham, N. C.

To the State of the Tarheels went Pearl Thompson for the dances at Davidson.

Wearing the glad rags at the dance in Charlottesville were Nina Hall and Louise Parcell.

We have one more prize winner this week—this one for distance to Louisa Sanford who is attending her brother's wedding in Montgomery, Alabama.

Among the girls who attended the H. S.- Pika informal supper party at Longwood Cabin on Monday, November 4, were Jeanne Sears, Nancy Pierpont, Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, Helen McIlwaine, Pat Whitlock, Gay Ward Brown, Esther Atkinson, Nancy Bondurant, Agnes Patterson, Louise Painter, Mildred Eades, Betty Bridgeforth, Grace Hutcheson, Frances Mallory, Nan Duer, Helen Lewis, Dot Johnson, Jean Warwick, Sarah Massey Goode, Carrie Radspinner, May Wertz, and Hattie Cantrell.

Members of the Student Council passed an informal party in the council room Tuesday night, November 5, at 9:30. Games were played and refreshments served.

Miss Mary Barlow had all the varsity editorial majors to tea at her home on Friday, November 1 at five o'clock.

Alpha Sigma Sigma had a party in the chapter room in honor of their new pledges Thursday night, October 31, at nine-thirty.

Dorothy Johnson, Lillian Gerard and Harriette Walker entertained the members of the Mu Zeta at a buffet supper in the chapter room Sunday night, November 3.

May Wertz, Betty Youngberg, Martha Whelchel, and Anne Wilson were hostesses for a Gamma Tau Hallowe'en party Thursday night, October 31, at nine-thirty in the chapter room.

Seniors of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority entertained the members of the chapter at a Hallowe'en party Friday night at the cabin at Longwood.

Mu Omega entertained at a party in the chapter room in honor of their new pledge, Lilly Bec Gray, Monday night, November 4, at 10 o'clock.

Green-Upshur

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Upshur, Jr., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Caroline, to Herbert F. Green, of Amelia Court House. The wedding will be held in Cheriton, Virginia, home of the bride, on November 21.

Baxter-Andrews

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meade Andrews have announced that the marriage of their sister, Shirley Andrews to Bruce Baum Baxter, Jr., will be held November 20, in Norfolk.

Shirley is an alumna of S. T. C. and Mr. Baxter received his B. S. at Ohio State.

Patriotic Song Presented at State

"Faith In America", a patriotic song composed by Alfred H. Strick, professor of music at State Teachers College, Farmville, was sung at the State Theatre, Farmville, October 31. A group composed of the Senior A'Cappella and Senior Choir, directed by Mr. Strick, made the presentation.

Mr. Strick's composition was made especially for the Student Cooperative Association of Virginia, and will be featured at their meetings.

"Faith In America" will be broadcast for the first time over WJZ blue network of N. B. C. November 12, at 12:15 noon by Glen Darwin, vocalist.

Making love is like making pie, all you need is crust and a lot of apple sauce.

The Student's Choice
ECONOMY
FOOD STORE
for
FANCY FRUITS, COOKIES, AND "SNAX"
For All Times

Alpha Sigma Tau Holds District Meet

Alpha Sigma Tau held its second regional convention of the Fourth District at Farmville State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia on November 2 and 3rd. The District includes the Chi Chapter Shepherds College, Shepherdstown, West Virginia; the Omicron Chapter, Concord State Teachers Colelge, Athens, West Virginia; the Zeta Tau Chapter, Farmville State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia; the Bluefield, War Beckley, Norfolk-Portsmouth and the Richmond Alumnae Chapters.

Some eighty A. S. T.'s attended the convention which was presided over by Mrs. Bula McNeil of the Omicron Chapter.

Highlights of the convention Saturday included both a morning and afternoon business meeting; a luncheon at Brumfield's Tea Room; a sight seeing tour over both Farmville and Hampden-Sydney campuses; a banquet in the evening at Longwood followed by a party in the Student Lounge.

Dr. J. L. Jarman gave an address of welcome to the group at the morning business meeting. He also attended the evening banquet as did Miss Mary White Cox and Miss Carolyn Cogbill. Advisers and heads of all the sororities on campus were present at the party.

A breakfast was given in the chapter room on Sunday morning followed by a short business meeting after which the convention was adjourned.

Faye Brandon, of Suffolk, president of the Zeta Tau Chapter, was general program chairman for the convention. She was assisted by other officers and members of the Zeta Tau Chapter.

It's a wise child that goes out of the room to laugh when the old man mashes his thumb.

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

Phone
356 for service to the College
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

KLEANWELL
Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Richmond Alumnae Plan Luncheon

S. T. C. Alumnae Association of Richmond is having a luncheon at the Hotel Richmond, Richmond, Virginia, November 22, 1940.

Any visiting alumna who is planning to attend the State Education Conference as well as Richmond alumnae are invited to attend.

Those expecting to attend the luncheon from Farmville are Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Grace Moran, Mrs. M. B Coyner, Miss Grace Mix, and other members of the faculty.

Sororities Pledge Six Old Girls

Four of the seven sororities on campus issued bids to old girls last week after three days of fall rushing.

Girls accepting bids were Eleanor Scott, Sigma Sigma Sigma; Lilly Bec Gray, Mu Omega; Ada Claire Snyder, Alpha Sigma Tau; Mary Anna Motley, Katherine Jones and Mary Charlotte Jones, Theta Sigma Upsilon.

Highway Robbery Case:
To send my boy to college
I put a mortgage on the shack.
I've spent ten thousand dollars
And I got a quarterback.

Lovelace Electric
Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

Pictured above is Mr. Glenn Darwin, baritone, who will sing "Faith In America", a patriotic song written by Mr. Alfred H. Strick, head of Farmville S. T. C. music department. The program which is scheduled at 12:15 P. M. on Tuesday, November 12 will be broadcast from coast to coast over station WJZ.

Mrs. Feener Speaks On Purpose of F. T. A.

Mrs. Mildred Sandison Feener, guest of the Future Teachers of America spoke on the purpose of the F. T. A. in chapel Saturday, November 2.

Mrs. Feener is historian of F. T. A., make-up editor of N. E. A. Journal and is at the present time working on her doctor's dissertation at George Washington University. She discussed the development of F. T. A. and emphasized the later benefits derived from membership in F. T. A.

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

HOSIERY SALE—$1.00 Ringless chiffon hose 59c
Limit—2 pair to the customer.
DOROTHY MAY STORE
Charge it if you like

STATE
"Your Community Center"
Today-Tomorrow!
DOROTHY LAMOUR — ROBT. PRESTON
"Moon over Burma"
Friday-Saturday!
MELVYN DOUGLAS — MYRNA LOY
"THIRD FINGER LEFT HAND"
Mon.-Tues.-Wed.!
TYRONE POWER
'The Mark of Zorro'

LEE
"Your Family Theatre"
Today Only!
Two Features!
Kent Taylor — Linda Hayes
"I'm Still Alive"
No. 2
DON "RED" BARRY
"The Tulsa Kid"
Tomorrow-Friday!
BRIAN AHERNE — RITA HALWORTH
"The Lady in Question"
Saturday Only!
Two Features!
JANE WITHERS in
"The Girl From Ave. 'A'"
No. 2
JOHNNY MACK BROWN
"Law and Order"
Monday-Tuesday!
RAY MILLAND — PATRICIA MORRISSON
"UNTAMED"
IN TECHNICOLOR

25 CENTS IN COIN
ROLLS DEVELOPED
Any size Kodak film developed
8 never-fade Velox prints only 25¢
Low Prices On Candid Film
Handy Mailing Envelope Furnished
VALUABLE PREMIUMS GIVEN • MAIL YOUR FILMS TO
JACK RABBIT CO.
SPARTANBURG, S.C.

DO YOU SMOKE THE CIGARETTE THAT Satisfies
... IT'S THE SMOKER'S CIGARETTE

All-American Star SID LUCKMAN presents a helmet full of Chesterfields to the All-American College Girl MARY LOU BULLARD.

YOUR GOAL FOR MORE SMOKING PLEASURE IS Chesterfield's MILDER COOLER, BETTER TASTE

There are three touchdowns in every pack of Chesterfields for smokers like yourself. The first is a COOLER smoke . . . the second score for Chesterfield is BETTER TASTE . . . and the third and winning score for any smoker is Chesterfield's REAL MILDNESS.

The reason Chesterfields satisfy is in their right combination of the finest tobaccos grown . . . the perfect blend that you'll find in no other cigarette. They really Satisfy.

MAKE YOUR NEXT PACK CHESTERFIELD
You can't buy a Better Cigarette

Copyright 1940, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

God Bless America! and God Bless Europe, Too. They're In Worse Shape Than We Are—Clemson Tiger.

The Rotunda

Water Carnival—November 14
Fall Play—November 15
Second Lyceum—November 18
Education Week Nov. 10-16

VOLUME XX — FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 13, 1940 — NO. 8

H.-S. And S. T. C. Thespians Present Annual Fall Play

Edmunds Has Lead In J. M. Barrie's Drama of Scotland

"What Every Woman Knows" will be presented by the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs and the S. T. C. Dramatic Club as the annual fall play, Friday night November 15, in the S. T. C. auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Mary Hunter Edmunds who is playing the leading role is a new comer to the Dramatic Club of S. T. C. from Stratford College in Danville, Virginia. While in high school Mary Hunter attended the Virginia Literary and Athletic League meet in Charlottesville for two consecutive years in which she played in "Overtones" and "When the Whirlwind Blows." At Stratford she had prominent roles in "Stagedoor", "Spring Dance" and several one-act plays. In "What Every Woman Knows" she portrays Maggie Wylie, daughter of a Scotchman, 27 and "without chee-rum." Maggie has never been pursued by men and was an accepted "old maid."

MARY HUNTER EDMUNDS

John Pancake Is Male Lead

John Pancake, junior at Hampden-Sydney is a veteran member of the Jongleurs. His previous experience consists of his roles in "Tovarich", "Outward Bound", "Dear Brutus", and the lead in "The Circle".

Opposite Mary Hunter in "What Every Woman Knows" he plays the part of John Shand, a young scholar, poor financially, to excuse of humor but with a driving ambition to "become somebody" politically. John Shand needs money for his education and Maggie Wylie needs a husband; so, Maggie's father, Jack Wylie played by Alex Jones propounds a bargain between the two.

Completing the "eternal triangle" is the seducive Lady Sybil Tenterton played by Jane McGinnis who lives for John's attentions until he falls madly in love with her. Jane, a junior at S. T. C. is also a veteran player having had leading roles in "Dear Brutus" and "The Circle." She was also in "Tovarich".

In the supporting cast is Peggy Bellus as the Comtesse de Briere, a French lady of noble birth and culture but, practically speaking, a "meddlesome old woman." Keith Eubank plays Maggie's brother, David Wylie who is the business man and the backbone of the Wylie family. In the comedy role of James Wylie, the younger brother, is "Tedo" Savage.

Lex Alison, remembered for his portrayal of Lob in "Dear Brutus" is in the role of Charles Venables, a minister in John Shand's political party, and his good friend. Venables was once in love with the Comtesse. All members of the supporting cast have had previous experience in plays here.

Minor parts are played by Peggy Watkins, as committee woman and Thomas Hopkins, butler, and Kay Spencer, maid. T. C. Lemmore, Boyd Beal, Charles Llewellyn and Buster Etheridge assist in the mob scene.

Addison Campbell and Bill Tracy are electrician and stage manager respectively.

Get Your "Rotunda" Christmas Cards From Alumnae Association

Engraved Christmas cards with a picture of the State Teachers College Rotunda will be sold by the Alumni Association. Orders for these cards will be taken immediately after Thanksgiving. Anyone desiring any of the Christmas cards drop his order in Mr. M. B. Coyner's mail box.

Prices of the cards are: 4 cards for 25 cents, 8 cards for 50 cents, and 16 cards for $1.

JEROLD FREDERIC

Dr. F. B. Simkins To Attend Meets

Dr. Francis B. Simpkins of the History Department will go to Charleston, South Carolina, on February 8, where he will present the revisionist viewpoint of the reconstruction on periods of Southern history at the meeting of the Southern Historical Association.

From Charleston, Dr. Simkins will travel to Montgomery, Alabama, to participate in a round table of the American Society of Archivists. The discussion will center around the location and collection of research material for the reconstruction period.

At Christmas Dr. Simkins will go to New York City to take part in the joint meeting of the Southern Historical Association with American Historical Association. The topic for discussion will be the significance of demogogues in Southern life. Dr. Simkins will emphasize the role of Ben Tillman, the South Carolina leader, whose biography he is going to publish.

Jerold Frederic To Present Concert

Noted Pianist Is Second On Lyceum

Jerold Frederic, a noted young pianist, will present a special lyceum program Monday, November 18 in the college auditorium. Dr. J. L. Jarman was able to secure Mr. Frederick for an en route engagement.

Mr. Frederic's program will consist of Grandes Variations by Bach-Liszt, Waltz Opus 42, two nocturnes, Polonaise A Flat Opus 53 by Chopin, Preludes G Sharp Minor and E Flat Major by Rachmaninoff, Chant Polonaise, (Maiden's Wish) by Chopin-Liszt, Impromptu, A Flat by Schubert and Hungarian Rhapsody by Liszt.

This talented musician was born on a farm in Michigan where he began piano lessons early. Proceeds from local concerts arranged by friends and neighbors were used to further his musical education. At the age of twelve he played before 1500 people assembled in Anderson, Indiana and again the proceed were a contribution to his musical education. He pursued his musical career at Chicago. Critics have acclaimed him "The pho-

Continued on Page 4

Bowen Gives Talk At Joint Meeting Of Parent-Teachers

W. E. Bowen, director of audio-visual education of the State Department of Education, addressed a joint meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Farmville Elementary School and the Farmville High School Thursday night in the auditorium of the State Teachers College.

Mr. Bowen spoke on the need of audio-visual aids in education, stressing the opportunity for better education through this new method which brings the facination of the movies to the classroom and makes the subject a real living expence. Advantages of the methods are that through the eye and ear together the pupils learn more quickly and retain their knowledge longer, it provides background for those who lack it, and it makes abstract subjects concrete.

The audience was shown a film, "Bring the World to the Classroom" which touched on the many phases of education, nature study, science, geography, and physiology.

The State Board of Education has arranged with five colleges in the State to maintain a "film library" of carefully chosen educational films which may be loaned to schools providing their own projectors free of charge, except for transportation.

Student Standards Outlines Program

Browsing Room Open Sunday P. M.

Students Standards Committee, headed by Martha Whelchel, has announced its plans to put into effect during the 1940-41 session.

Through this committee the browsing room of the library will be open on Sunday afternoons from two o'clock until five o'clock. It has also been announced that a rough surface will be placed on the outside steps of Cunningham and Senior buildings during the Thanksgiving holidays to keep them from being slippery in rainy weather.

In addition to these innovations, the installation of a telephone booth between Annex and Student building has been announced.

A plan is being discussed for the elimination of congestion in the post office when text books are being sold. The suggestion that it might be better for the sale and delivery of books to be handled by the individual teachers is being considered.

Revision of our extra-curricular point system is also under discussion. One possibility for the betterment of our social program is that it be put on the basis of the number of hours spent participating in extra-curricular activities rather than the point system which is now used. The Committee is checking the extra-curricular cards filled out by the student body. These cards will be placed on file in the home office. Students who have errors in listing their club affiliations will be asked to correct them. Also, students are asked to note any new club memberships.

Continued on Page 4

Commercial Teachers Attend V. B. E. A. Meet in Richmond

Mr. Merle Landrum, Miss Ottie Craddock and Mrs. J. P. Wynne, of the college faculty and Mrs. M. M. Layne of Farmville Business School attended the annual meeting of the Virginia Business Education Association held at Hotel John Marshall in Richmond Saturday, November 9.

Papers presented by members of the Association were entitled "Let the Employer Be Pleased"; "The Contribution of Business Education to Economic Intelligence"; "Facts About Business Education in Virginia"; "Teacher Certification in Virginia" and "When Are We Educated?"

Of special interest and significance to those concerned with business education in the schools was the account by Mr. J. L. Blair Buck, Director Teacher Certification, State Department of Education, of "Teacher Certification in Virginia".

Overbey Elected To V.I.P.A. Presidency

ALLENE OVERBEY

ERNESTINE MEACHAM

Meacham Has Story Published

Ernestine Meacham, a senior from Richmond, has written a story that has been accepted for publication by the Spastic Review. The story "Entrance to Life" appeared in the winter issue of the Colonnade. S. T. C. magazine as first prize winner of the magazine short story contest. It will be reprinted in the January issue of the Spastic Review. The publishing of this story will enable her to be a contributor to the magazine.

Ernestine has written stories for the Colonnade every year she's been at college. "A Woodland Sketch" was published in the fall issue of the Farmville Quarterly Review. The following year the magazine was changed to the Colonnade. In the spring issue another story "For Love of the Master" was printed.

Ernestine is a member of Alpha Phi Sigma, Le Circle Francais, and Kappa Delta Pi, and has been a feature writer on The Rotunda staff for the past three years.

Patterson Named Temporary Secretary

Agnes Patterson, a sophomore from Winston-Salem, North Carolina, was elected as temporary secretary of the sophomore class to succeed Lillian Agnew, who has dropped out of school until the winter quarter. Agnes is chairman of the sophomore runners for the Color Rush on November 16.

Jeannie Sears and Peggy Lou Boyette were elected cheer leaders for the sophomore class.

Staff Meeting

It is important that all members of the Rotunda staff both business and editorial meet in Mr. Holton's classroom at 9:30 o'clock tonight. New staff appointments will be made and tryouts are urged to attend.

Farmville and H.-S. Are Joint Hosts For 1941 Convention

Allene Overbey, editor of the Colonnade, was named president of the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association at its annual meeting held at Blacksburg, November 8-10. Allene was elected to the executive committee last year at the annual meeting held at Washington, D. C.

Farmville State Teachers College and Hampden-Sydney College will be joint hosts for the association meeting next fall. Other officers elected were Robert Cotton, junior at the University of Richmond, first vice-president; Florence Welland, junior at Blackstone College, second vice-president; Marshall Doswell, junior at Hampden-Sydney, secretary-treasurer. Alexander Hudgins Blackstone publisher, was re-elected executive secretary. Members of the executive committee are Dune Foster, Mary Washington College; Robert Marshall, William and Mary; and Pierre Bontecue, Virginia Tech.

Honorable Mention for Magazine

The Colonnade was judged second in the magazine contest of the press association. The Old Maid, Randolph-Macon Women's College publication placed first. Of the handbooks entered Hampden-Sydney was rated first and the Virginia Tech Guidon second.

Of the newspapers, The Flat Hat published at William and Mary College, was the winner of the class A newspaper contest and Campus Comments, Mary Baldwin newspaper, placed second.

Among the class B newspapers published less frequently than weekly The Bullet, Mary Washington College, was first, and the B. C. Bee, Bridgewater College second. In class C newspapers, comprised of junior colleges and prep schools, The Traveller, Stratford College, placed first and The Onyx, Blackstone College second. Winners of the annuals were class A (more than 225 pages) The Bugle, Virginia Tech, first; class B (less than 225 pages) The Battlefield, Mary Washington College, first; The Bluestocking, Mary Baldwin College, and The Web, Universtiy of Richmond College tied for second; class C (junior colleges and prep schools) The Lytermont, Virginia Intermont, first; The Sampler, Sullins College, second.

Whiteleather Speaks

Experiences in covering Europe for the Associated Press were discussed by Melvin K. Whiteleather, former AP correspondent and now a member of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin staff. Some of the background of present conditions of Europe was explained by Mr. Whiteleather who returned to the country last spring after serving more than 12 years in Europe.

Doris Taylor Heads Frosh Commission

Doris Taylor, a freshman from Brunswick was elected chairman of the Freshman Commission, Wednesday, November 6, at the first meeting held in the Y. W. C. A. council room.

Other officers elected were Sara Jeffries, Goldsboro, N. C., secretary; Helen Gilliam, Petersburg, treasurer; Shirley Pierce, Roanoke, Rotunda representative; Dreama Waid, Fincastle, program chairman.

Ellen Ebel, counsellor of the Freshman Commission, read the constitution to the newly elected commission. Plans were made to carry out the duties of the commission.

Fetching the Kindling, Was Once Daily Chore---Now Obsolete at Modern S. T. C.

Tomorrow, and tomorrow, and tomorrow—no, let us look not to tomorrow, but to yesterday. Yes, back to yesterday when tomorrow was today. Our scene is laid in the year 1884 when State Teachers College of Farmville, Virginia began. A school, run by Miss Carter of Mecklinburg, had been on this site for two years when the state to it over. Dr. Wm. H. Ruffner was the first principle of this school of forty-five students.

As the years rolled by the few scattered buildings went through the process of addition and substractions. Dr. J. A. Cunningham, who succeeded Dr. Ruffner, had left wing (Richmond building) added to main building. He also created the Rotunda by having four rooms taken out of first floor Main. The auditorium or Assembly Hall as it was then called was located where the present Junior and Senior pariors are. The gym was situated where the biology department now is.

The infirmary consisted of only one room in Main building. The girls were nursed by two colored women and the girls paid them for the services rendered. Today we have a separate building for an infirmary with college doctor to "swing" us back to health when we are ailing.

Girls, we live like queens now! Just think, in those days boxes of kindling were kept in the hall and the girls made their own fires. They also filled their water pitchers from huge barrels kept in the hall.

The dining room at one time was in a wooden building apart from Main, but a new one was erected later with dormitories above it. The first kitchen which had a pantry above was also separated from Main. The food was let down from the pantry to the kitchen by a dumb waiter. After a few years the kitchen was moved to the cellar.

In those good old "horse and buggy days" the street and sidewalks were dirt but the walk leading to the school was made of brick. A wooden fence ran from "Library Hall" to "White House".

The tomorrow of yesterday brought Student building, Junior and Senior building, the new library, the home Ec. practice house and hosts of other changes, including the post office, to the campus of S. T. C. Maybe some day we'll have escalators!

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Mary K. Beck ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Anne Barnette, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Bridget Gentile, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Dorothy Sprinkle.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Typists

Frances Pritchett ..... Chief Typist
Doris Alvis, Theima Courtney and Jean Warwick ..... Assistants

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1940

The Case of 'God Bless America'

Everybody's asking what has become of "The Star Spangled Banner"? Have we abandoned it as our national anthem, and so forth? Colleges all over the country have taken up the case and we cite a characteristic protest from the Daily Reveille at Louisiana State University. "At a recent football game when the band played "God Bless America", thousands leaped to their feet. Males swept their hats from pates and slapped them over heart, and stood at attention while the tune swung on. We wish that such respect would be shown "The Star Spangled Banner."

The Reveille believes that if the fervid standees would stop for a moment to consider the silly tribute they are paying to the American god, Advertising, they might save their fervor for true patriotism. God didn't pick this geographical spot to endow all these lofty virtues. We should be proud that we were born here; we should also remember that its pretty much of a genetical accident that we are Americans. God doesn't 'bless' America; 'blessings' come where people are free to think and where those men act decently toward their fellows."

Cooperation

Thursday evening at 8 o'clock the annual water carnival will be presented under the auspices of the H20 Club. Members of this group have put in long hours of hard work on the program which promises something new and different in the aquatic field. Due to the inadequate spectator space there is bound to be some congestion and students are requested to cooperate and sit in the designated places.

The following evening our dramatic group in conjunction with the H.-S. thespians will present "What Every Woman Knows", and on Monday evening, a noted pianist will play at the second lyceum program of the year. We feel confident that all members of the student body attending these programs will conduct themselves in a ladylike manner such as will cast no reflections upon themselves or the school.

Bouquets AND Brickbats

Talk of the campus this week is indeed spacious. With us having a Coalition and imports flooding the home market; and with two press conventions booming in Black-burg and Detroit—We really had a rousing time. This week-end was indeed an eventful one for Farmville chillens.

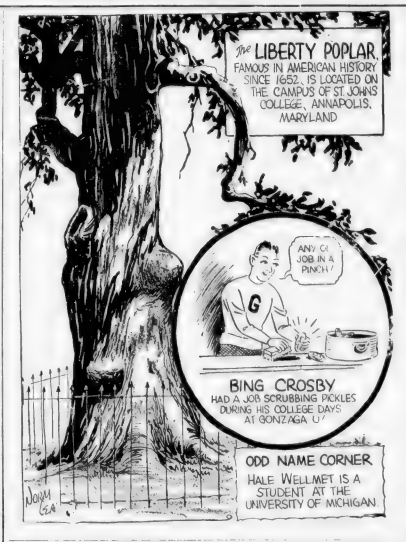
Robert Coalition it was just as grand as we expected. Tis so good to see everyone out of this world" (especially meeting Anne Rogers who had her License here) we were mighty glad to see V. M. I. so well represented. Incidentally, Sam Lobyns, of the Spirit fame really had the line forming on the right especially when Miss Her refused to be broken, en Ch no-break.

The dear Yankee child was a trifle confused at the prospect o. two dates for the dance—what's the matter Emily—can't you handle your affairs better than that? Ah, yes, we've seen snakes and more snakes, but never a whole committee of them—no one's date was safe once that crew lined up against him! Did you see Freshman Pollard? She was really worried about who had dated her childhood sweetheart, Bill Ottinger. What's the answer, Gloria?

Really hope you didn't miss dancing with Peggy Lou's Technician. He's just as cute as we'd heard he was and really got the rush we expected. Absence seems to make the heart grow fonder and from the way Amy Read was rushing to get that phone call Saturday night from her temporarily indisposed heart-throb the statement really holds true . . . Freshman Fitchette felt so lost without a date that she made up one. Really hope you danced with her charming "Bismarck". And now about the Fauntleroy child's blind date. He even confided his choice for ring dance date—Hope you are listening Harpoo and Davis! Seemed just like old times with the reunion of the class of '40.

Eleanor Scott wonders why she asked Bill Gibson to the dance? So do we! Red Red Robin was really out of this world with Bob back. It was good to see Jane Waller again and confidentially (had you heard?) her Julian has been drafted!

Jackie Parsons was really having a big time at Patterson's Friday.



Dot Childress is all a twitter about her trip this week! She's off to Connecticut Thursday to see the Spangler—ahh love!

The Pi Kas really went "to town"

Reports are indeed favorable as to the eligibility of Farmville lassies as dates—All delegates returned with those far-away looks and a never-ceasing conversation which was utterly lacking in coherence. We hear that Fritz told Pat she was a one-woman football team, being particularly strong on the line . . . and Dan asked May if he could call her by his last name. Anne Ayers returned with a Calendar of Correspondence—marked Eddie . . . By the way, Anne and May had dates arranged for all stops—notably in Cincinnati where Paul Shu greeted them . . . Josa found a "Bumpstead" in Detroit—Ask her about what significance "I'll Never Smile Again" holds . . . Libby West explains that her exhaustion is due to keeping all situations under control—we wonder about silence.

And then located southerly was Blacksburg—what a place for a convention—Activities were definitely many . . . Yates enjoyed the convention particularly—we liked Mercer, too, Yates . . . Alene had a grand week-end, too, with her O. A. O. . . . Jack arrived Saturday and was operated on for appendicitis on Tuesday. We call that work . . . And then there were Margaret, Lillian and Sadie who had a glorious time flitting about, but who rushed back for Cotillion and (?)

Just one week until Thanksgiving which ratchurally makes this topic the outstanding one on the campus. Everyone is busily engaged in working on date plans for the holidays . . . especially for that "Football Classic of the South"—the V. P. I.-V. M. I. game in Roanoke. "On to Roanoke" is the cry. Extra attraction are the two dances that night—Bobby Byrne playing at the Roanoke auditorium and Freddie Lee at Hotel Roanoke. Happy Thanksgiving girls . . .

Question of the Week

Question: What Do You Think of the Honor Code?

Betty Bridgeforth—The school is built around the Honor Code and without it the school could not be.

Charlotte Rose—I whole-heartedly approve of the Honor Code and all it stands for providing it is upheld by each student to the best of her ability.

Jeanne Sears—I think that the Honor Code should give a sense of security to each student but instead of doing this it makes some girls feel like it is an obligation. I believe that people should feel that it is not a duty to abide by rules but that it's what they feel inside themselves and want to do.

Alice Duncan—I think that the school should abide by the Honor Code and every student should take it upon herself to uphold it. I don't think all of the students take it as seriously as they should. The school has an Honor Code and although each girl should feel it her duty to abide by its rules, it should not be compulsory. So many girls sign it because it is compulsory and then forget it.

Ruth Handley—I think that the Honor Code is a grand thing and if all students would abide by it when they sign it the school would be a better place.

Ruth Lea Purdum—Our honor system tends to build a feeling of responsibility, and a high sense of character in every individual on our campus.

Boonie Stevenson—We are old enough to understand and abide by the Honor Code and it should work, and we should be proud of it.

Frances Rosebro—If in re-signing the Honor Code, we could realize its significance, it would cease to be just so many words and become a living thing for us.

Allene Overbey—I think considering the short time that the Honor Code has been in existence here at Farmville, it functions remarkably well. It has proven its worth so far, and I'm confident that it will only be a matter of time before it will function as an independent institution.

Irma Graff—In order to keep the meaning of the Honor Code clearly in the minds of the students, I think it should be signed each year. By doing so when school starts, it sets an example for the freshmen and new students.

"Mike" College Picks . . .

Thursday, November 14

8:00 p. m. Ask-It Basket—With Ed East as quizmaster—CBS

11:05 p. m. Ray Kinney—NBC Blue

Friday, November 15

7:30 p. m. Al Pearce and His Gang—With Arthur Q. Bryan, Hoff's orchestra, popular small station artists as guests—CBS

12:00 Mid Sammy Kaye—MBS

Saturday, November 16

1:30 p. m. Yale-Princeton Football Game—With Ted Husing—CBS

7:00 p. m.—People's Platform—With Lyman Bryson and guests—CBS

9:00 p. m.—Your Hit Parade—With Barry Wood, Mark Warnow's orchestra, Bea Wain, Hit Paraders Chorus, Marie Greene—CBS

12:30 a. m.—Artie Shaw—NBC Blue

Sunday, November 17

2:35 p. m. Maxine Sullivan and John Kirby in "Flow Gently Sweet Rhythm"—CBS

7:30 p. m. Screen Guild Theater—Roger Pryor and guest stars—CBS

Voice Of The Students

Dear Editor:

This is my third year at Farmville and it seems each year the same mistakes are made not only by freshmen who have not been orientated into the "why's and wherefore's" of the school, but also by some upperclassmen. One particular incident seems to appear most serious is the attitude towards our "Alma Mater".

At one time this year, a student of S. T. C. has been seen to sit down through the singing of the "Alma Mater". This in my opinion is unpardonable.

Also, on the first occasion that our seniors had the honor to march into chapel to the "Alma Mater",they were interrupted by certain students. It is the privilige of girls who have been here for three years to don their caps and gowns and walk to the school song it is their privilege alone and no one else's. We all have that honor if we stay here long enough, so why not let's wait our turn? If we can't get to chapel on time each Friday, we could wait a few minutes until all the seniors are in, and the singing of our "Alma Mater" finished.

A Junior

Gleanings

By MARIE ALLEN

Presidential Election

With the election of Franklin Delano Roosevelt to the presidency of the United States, the people have given their endorsement to the man with eight years of experience as chief executive of a huge nation. Carrying 55% of the popular vote and 38 states the President has broken all traditions in being elected president of the U. S. for the third term. True it is that there is no written law prohibiting the election for a third term, but the tradition had loomed large in the eyes of Americans. Particularly was the idea true in the present election when Americans were fearful of anything which seemed to tend toward dictatorship. However, to say that Roosevelt has any idea of dictatorial power is completely erroneous in the face of the fact that he is doing everything he can short of war to defeat the totalitarian nations endorsing dictators.

That they had to choose between two strong men, there can be no doubt. That many voters must have left the polls doubtful whether they had voted for the best man is easy to understand. Certainly Mr. Willkie made an admirable campaign and continues to command high respect from citizens of the United States. He entered the campaign in an energetic manner with few definite disagreements with the policies of the incumbent and fought a hard campaign to become president of the United States.

Mr. Roosevelt must now disregard politics and work for the continued good of his country and our country. The people must stand behind the man the majority wanted—not, however, in unity in accordance with every policy proposed, but in unity to give thought and consideration to measures before an opinion is stated. We want the people to favor a proposed principle not because their party leader initiated it, but because they think it is the best legislation to meet the particular need.

We must rally behind Mr. Roosevelt because he is our leader and we can rally better if he will not be a partisan but instead recognize such men as Wendell L. Willkie and entrust them with responsible positions in our government. The people have endorsed the policies of Mr. Roosevelt, the New Deal has received "the vote of confidence". Such legislation as social security, payments to farmers, Federal relief, regulation of big business and T. V. A. are gaining a permanent place in the American system. Of course, as new problems arise there will be modification, but the underlying idea of this legislation has and is becoming more and more an accepted part of American life.

European Conflict Still Rages

But while we are a united and peaceful nation, the war in the other hemisphere goes on. Each side had suffered some severe losses in the past week--England her loss of some 15 convoy ships off the coast of Newfoundland and the Axis powers their losses of Italian soldiers on their way to Greece. The English have bombed areas of Germany, reports indicating that the hall in which Hitler was to speak was struck.

How long this dreadful conflict can continue is doubtful. The longer it lasts the more possibility there is that we will be drawn in—a fact which should make us shudder after witnessing the horrors of modern warfare. We must be prepared to defend ourselves and our possessions, and in this point Mr. Roosevelt is striving to build up our defenses. We hope and we believe that the only way we will have war is by its being forced on us, and we do believe that if we do have war Mr. Roosevelt can best lead us through the conflict. So as Americans, may we for the next four years unite behind the man who has sucessfully been our leader for the past eight years.

Color Rush to be Held Saturday

Pictured above are members of the freshman (above) and and sophomore (below) hockey squads who will participate in the traditional "Rat Cap" game on Saturday afternoon.

Classes To Clash For Hockey Title

Announce Runners, Rules Published

Each fall the fastest runners from each class are selected to run in the Color Rush. This year four juniors, two seniors, four sophomores and two freshmen will do the honors on Saturday, November 16, at two o'clock.

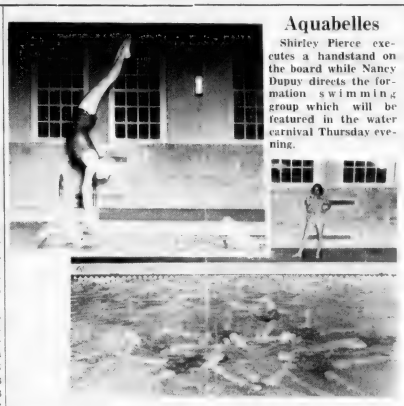
Mickey Beck, Nancy Dupuy, Hester Chattin and Dot Johnson will uphold the juniors. Freshman runners are Elizabeth Ann Barnes and June Smith. As yet sophomore and senior runners have not been selected but it is known that one of last year's contestants, Frances Parham, will not be in Farmville Saturday, therefore she will not represent the sophomore class.

Rules Outlined

1. All students must be out of all buildings at two o'clock, Saturday, November 15.

2. Any students found inside the buildings when the races are begun will disqualify her class runner

3. All halls must be cleared for the runners and judges. They are to be the only persons in the building after two o'clock and it is most important that this is clearly understood. A bell is to be rung at 2 o'clock, signalling for all halls to be cleared.



Halls Listed

The halls slated for use in the races are Junior and Senior buildings, second floor; Library, Main, Whitehouse and Student building, second floors. As each race is ended and the results declared by the judges, a large banner of either red and white, or green and white will immediately be unfurled from the front of the building. Colors capturing the most buildings will get points toward the color cup.

Cheer Leaders

Cheer leaders from each class will be on hand in front of the buildings, leading their respective groups in cheers and urging their runners on to victory.

Directly after the races the final hockey games—Seniors vs Juniors and Freshmen vs. Sophomores will be played. At night a square dance is to be held in the large gymnasium with only girls and faculty participating. Girls cannot have dates to the dance.

Aquabelles

Shirley Pierce executes a handstand on the board while Nancy Dupuy directs the formation swimming group which will be featured in the water carnival Thursday evening.

Swimmers Present Aquatic Pageant

Program to Feature Formations, Diving

Farmville's annual water carnival, sponsored by the H2O club, will be presented in the pool tomorrow night, November 14, at eight o'clock. Contrary to the usual rule, this year's presentation will offer no class competition, but instead will have a central theme calling for the utmost in teamwork and cooperation.

The script which was written by Margie Rice and Buff Gunter tells the tale of a south sea island. Committee heads refuse to give out further information, saying "come and see." Featured in the program is formation swimming by Dixie White, Ruth Dugger, Dorothy Gaul, Grace Ellerton, Mildred Droste, Frances Mallory, Rosa Courter, Shirley Turner, Nancy Dupuy, Peggy Hughes, Harriette Walker, Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, Shirley Pierce, Buff Gunter, Corilda Chaplin, and Helen McIlwaine. Various fancy dives will be excuted by Gloria Pollard, Shirley Pierce, Dorothy Gaul, Frances Mallory, Harriette Walker, Helen McIlwaine and Ruth Dugger.

Carrying out the Hawaiian theme, colorful costumes have been designed by Frances Parham and Frances Mallory, chairmen of the costume committee. Accompanying the swimming will be soft strains of tropical music under the direction of Mary Sue Edmunds and Helen McIlwaine.

Swimming Classes

A l swimming classes, both credit and non-credit, will meet at the usual hours on Friday and Saturday. Friday afternoon class will meet at 4 o'clock.

Natcherally, You're Going To Square Dance After the Game

Swing your partners: on you go: promenade to the left, promenade to the right. Yipee! The old turkey is just right—right in the straw. What are all these rumors we've been hearing about? Some say there's going to be dancing, others speak of the fun they are going to have. The music apparently is going to go round and round. Oh gee, here we are talking in circles. What we really should be talking about is a square dance. Yep! we mean a four cornered affair.

Harken all ye-S. T. C. students and S. T. C. faculty! It is with unusual pleasure that this event—a square dance for you is announced. It will be Saturday night, November 16 at eight o'clock in the gym. The theme song of the square dance is "The More We Get Together The Happier Are We". Only the "cute" girls without dates are to attend, the "uncute" girls with dates are to go elsewhere.

Oh, you say you can't square dance? How devastating! Neither can we, so just "come and hip it as you go" and we'll all learn together. Don't forget—Saturday night, November 16, at 8 o'clock.

Hockey Schedule

Thursday
4:00 ..... Sophs vs. Seniors
Friday
3:30 ..... Freshmen vs. Seniors
Sophs vs. Juniors
Saturday
3:30 ..... Freshmen vs. Sophs
Juniors vs. Seniors

Big games are still to be played Saturday unless weather prevents it. Come out and support your teams at each game. The days that double games will be played there will be an alternation of teams after each half.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

Attention Students!
Come to
NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store
For Your FREE
KNITTING INSTRUCTIONS
You may buy it as you need it!
We will lay away the balance

WELCOME OLD GIRLS
Meet all your friends at
Shannon's

WHEN BETTER SANDWICHES ARE MADE
COLLEGE SHOPPE
Phone 200
WILL MAKE THEM
COME IN AND BE CONVINCED

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

New—And we mean it. The new light color pastel skirts $1.97
Riding Habits—Jodphurs $1.97 up. Riding boots, sport jackets.
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

We are pleased to announce that our greatly enlarged and improved store with added facilities for the convenience of the public, will be formally open from 7:45 to 10:30 P. M. Friday, November 15, 1940.

We cordially invite the entire student body to be our guests on this occasion. We are confident that you will share with us our pride in our improved establishment. It is representative of the definite growth and development of our splendid community.

We trust to make this a happy occasion for all our friends and customers and it will be most encouraging to us to have you present.

MUSIC - FAVORS

Davidson's, Inc.

HARRY C. PADGETT, Mgr.

Yourself and Others

● Guess we just weren't cute this past week-end. Nobody (please don't get excited you "cuties"—in comparison, we mean) went anywhere. I mean out of town, of course. Well, why go out looking for fun and excitement when it's right on your doorstep? Hampden-Sydney Pan Hels and our own Fall Cotillion were we future teachers' big thrills this week-end.

● Among those who did sally forth were Yates Carr, Sara Cline, Mary Jane Jolliffe, Alice Overbey, Lillian German, and Margaret Wright who went V. I. P. A. conventioning at Blacksburg.

● Detroit, Michigan was the scene of another press convention and Pat Gibson, Ann Ayers, Josa Carlton, Libby West and May Wertz were right on the spot for it.

● Josephine Bishop, Hazel Callahan, Rebecca Jones, Jacqueline Parsons, Roberta Payne, Muriel Pippin, Annabelle Wescott, Felicity Apperley, and Reese Whitlow went shuffling off with Jan Savitt to openings at the University, oh happy thought!

● Nell Hall and Gay Ward Brown did us proud at the Phi Kappa Sigma Formals at the University of Richmond. So far as we know they were our sole representatives.

● Beth Johnson felt the urge for a bit of colonial atmosphere so she went dancing at William and Mary.

● There must have been more fans attending the U. of Richmond-N. C. game in Richmond, Saturday, but Martha Smith seems to be the only one signed up as such. How about it, Ruth Lea?

A different kind of party is being given for the senior class tonight from five to seven at Longwood. It's a barbecue supper and Mr. Charlie French is the host. Mr. French has been the classman for this class since they were freshmen.

Sorority Notes

Members of Theta Sigma Upsilon had an informal party last Tuesday night at ten in their chapter room. It was given in honor of the new pledges.

Gay laughter, fun and frolic prevailed in the chapter rooms during intermission of the Cotillion dance Saturday night when the girls and their dates went up for refreshments. Intermission parties were given by Alpha Sigma Alpha, Alpha Sigma Tau, Sigma Sigma Sigma, Gamma Theta, Mu Omega and Pi Kappa Sigma.

Cruising along on the U. S. S. Tea Room, Pi Kappa Sigma had its fall banquet Friday night at six o'clock. Little sailor boys were the place cards and the programs were found in the passports. Candles and flowers in blue and yellow gave a colorful setting for the delicious meal.

Guests for the occasion were Miss Olive Iler, adviser, Miss Rachel Royall, and Gwen Ackiss.

Sigma Sigma Sigma entertained Mrs. Lucille Morrison, Alumnae Representative on the National Council, at a tea in the Senior Building reception hall Thursday afternoon from four-thirty to five-thirty.

The guests included Dr. J. L. Jarman, members of the chapter, alumnae members, heads of other chapters and members of the faculty.

Those who served tea were Jane Engleby, Lucy Tucker, Anne Cocks, Emily Lankes, Eleanor Folk, Imogene Claytor, and Mary Elizabeth Petticrew.

Mrs. Morrison was guest of honor at an informal banquet given by the active members in the tea room last Tuesday night also.

Pome

A farmer once called his cow
Zephyr,
She seemed such an amiable
hephyr.
But when he drew near
She bit off his ear,
And now he is very much dephyr.

Noted Pianist

Continued from Page 1

nomenal pianist of the new generation". "His highly poetic style is characterized by a strange and variegated tonal palette unique in contemporary musical art."

Student Standards

Continued from Page 1

A committee for the care and repair of school equipment has been appointed and they are considering suggestions for the provisions of soap dishes in the showers, more pencil sharpeners in the halls, and more adequate arrangements for cleaning the gym after dances.

STATE
"Your Community Center"

Last Times Today!
TYRONE POWER in
'The Mark of Zorro'

Thurs.-Friday!
BRENDA JOYCE in
"Elsa Maxwell's Public Deb. No. 1"

Saturday Only
Arthur Lake - Penny Singleton
in
"Blondie Plays Cupid"

Monday-Tuesday!
Edward G. Robinson in
"A DISPATCH FROM REUTERS"

LEE
"Your Family Theatre"

Today Only!
Two Features!
JUDY CANOVA in "SCATTERBRAIN"
and
RICHARD ARLEN and ANDY DEVINE in
"The Devil's Pipeline"

Thur.-Fri.!
THE RITZ BROTHERS in "Argentine Nights"

Saturday Only!
Two Splendid Features!
GENE AUTRY in
"Ride Tenderfoot Ride"
and
WAYNE MORRIS in
"The Quarterback"

A & N STORE

Lady's Jodphurs, tan and brown $2.95

Jodphur Boots $3.75
Jodphur Shoes $2.75
Riding Breeches, tan and brown $2.95
Riding Boots $5.95
Sweat Shirts and Athletic Socks

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert
Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

H.-S. Attracts Girls For Pan-Hel Set

Lots of our girls went to Pan Hels at Hampden-Sydney last Friday and Saturday nights. They say the dances were record breaking as far as fun is concerned. Vance Keys and his orchestra were in tune and more than willing to do their share to furnish some real pep.

Among those who attended were Nancy Bondurant with Louis Martin; Betty Bridgeforth, Dick Bydnor; Gay Ward Brown, Tom T. Atkinson; Betsy Bullock, Braxton Ewany; A. Burgwyn Wright Goulding; Lena Butterworth, Billy Baxter; Elizabeth Callan, Bob Fleming; Virginia Campfield, Hunter Peak; Josephine Canada, John Sivell; Sarah Carter, Tayloe Bruce; Betty Clemmons, John Miller; Alice Marie Coberly, Frank Blanton.

Genevieve Cooke, Fred Edmunds; Ora Earnest, Doug Crummet; Virginia Ellett, Nat Rogers; Betty Fahr, Buck Thompson; Anne Garnett, Bob McIlwaine; Coralee Gilliam, Charlie Jenkins; Helen Gilliam, Billy Russell; Sarah Massie Goode, Allan Fox; Buff Hunter, Gordon Leach; Nina Lee Hall, John Gibson; Jac Hardy, Billy Baskerville; Inez Jones, Curtis Wagner; Colleen Jackson, Lawrence Meyns.

Dorothy Johnson, Henry Newbill; Dot Lawrence, Johnson McRae; Helen Lewis, Lewis Plunkett; Marjorie McAllister, Marian Topham; Nona McGuire, Jimmy Cain; Elizabeth McRae, Oscar McIntosh; Helen McIlwaine, J. B. Jackson; Frances Mallory, Francis Young; Dorothy Marrow, Linton Ward; Carolyn Minnick, Charlie Graham; Jane McGinnis, Lewis Richards; Louise Painter, Mutt Fstham; Louise Parcell, Ned Douglas.

Jac Parsons, Dick Clark; Agnes Pickral, J. D. Ridgeway; Frances Pritchett, Sam Lippincott; Cottie Radspinner, Jimmy Peden; Dot Robbins, Powell Tynes; Jane Scott, Bill Gladen; Jeanne Sears, Jack Ward; Martha Smith, Randolph Munt; Betty Gray Smithdeal, John Payne; Rosaura Sosa, Wiley Umstead; Margaret Thomas, Jimmie Harnsburger; Elizabeth Townsend, Craigh Burks; Dreama Waid, Ranny Davis; Elizabeth Warner, Randolph Madison.

Jeanne Warwick, John James; Mary Owens West, Rosser Flippant; Barbara White, Tommy Gwaltney; Patricia Whitlock, Billy Willis; Bess Windham, Randolph Trice; Marian Worsham, Jimmy Baldock; Betty Youngberg, George Carniers; Jennie Noell, Dan McIntosh; Elinor Johnson, Vance Currin; Mildred Cades, Billy Owen; Polly Hughes, Bill Chewning; Elizabeth Williams, Tom Miller; Lucy Call, Walter Buchanon; Sarah Carbonell, Robert Burlock; Grace Hutcheson, P. T. Atkinson; Inez Jones, Curtis Wagner; Katherine H. Price, Ric Cornwall; Evelyn Renfro, Bob Winslow; Mary Riggan, Henry Green.

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

Come in and see our new S. T. C. stationery
It's beautiful!
59c
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

KLEANWELL Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Pan-Hellenic Group To Give Tea Tuesday

The Pan Hellenic Association, composed of the eight sororities on campus, will entertain its members at a tea in Student Building Lounge on next Tuesday, November 19, from five to six o'clock.

In addition to the sorority members, pledges, patrons, Miss Mary White Cox and Dr. J. L. Jarman will be invited. About three hundred guests are expected to attend.

Miss Grace Mix, who was formerly the adviser for the association, will pour the tea and members from each sorority will serve refreshments.

Harriette Haskins is head of the committees, with Esther Atkinson head of the decoration committee, Helen Seward in charge of refreshments and Nannie Pierpont as head of the invitation committee.

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

French Circle Elects Garrett President

Elizabeth Garrett, a senior, has been elected president of the reorganized French Circle.

Other officers are Rachel Kibler, vice-president; Dorothy Bellus, secretary, and Mary Parrish Vecchio, treasurer. Miss Helen Draper sponsors the French Circle.

There are approximately thirty-five members on roll. Meetings are held every first and third Mondays of the month in the picture room of the library.

The Student's Choice
ECONOMY FOOD STORE
for
FANCY FRUITS, COOKIES, AND "SNAX"
For All Times

Do your Christmas Shopping early
CHRISTMAS CARDS
50 for $1.00 and up
Martin, the Jeweler

BUTCHER'S
The convenient store for faculty and student body.
Good things to eat and drink

RECORDS
Bluebird, Victor, Columbia
35c—50c
ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

HOSIERY SALE—$1.00 Ringless chiffon hose 59c
Limit—2 pair to the customer.
DOROTHY MAY STORE
Charge it if you like

Give 'em the SMOKER'S cigarette and watch 'em register
They Satisfy
COOLER, MILDER, BETTER-TASTING

With Chesterfields the smoking situation is always well in hand—because Chesterfields have what smokers want.
Chesterfield's right combination of American and Turkish tobaccos makes it the smoker's cigarette.
Do you smoke the cigarette that SATISFIES

Copyright 1940, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Cooperate:
Remember the Banana
Every Time It Leaves The Bunch It Gets Skinned

The Rotunda

Thanksgiving:
We Are Thankful
That This Issue
Ever Got To Press

VOLUME XX FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, TUESDAY, NOV. 19, 1940 NO. 9

S. T. C. Students Head Discussion Groups at U. Va.

Courtney and Allen Present Papers At Charlottesville Meet

Marie Allen, Thelma Courtney, Chubby Heard, Martha Whelchel, Frances Keck, Dorothy Rollins, and Anna Johnson represented Farmville at the annual state convention of the International Relations Club held at the University of Virginia, November 15 and 16. Marie Allen and Thelma Courtney presented papers and led a round table discussion on "The Good Neighbor Policy" at the meeting Saturday. Mary Washington, Emory and Henry and the Universty of Virginia were in charge of the other discussions.

Merrill Bankhead, president of the host chapter, presided at the regular business meeting. Richmond Division of William and Mary extended an invitation to the club for the meeting next year. The president will be selected from the host group. Other officers elected are vice-president, Harold Thornhill of Lynchburg; corresponding secretary, Eleanor Sieck of Hollins; and recording secretary, Carolyn Deathrage of Randolph-Macon Woman's College.

Resolutions were passed to the effect that a clearing-house for speakers would be established so that more clubs could obtain such speakers, and also that a Pan-American library be established at the University of Virginia for the use of all the state clubs.

Dr. A. Curtis Wilgus, professor of Latin-American history at George Washington University spoke at the banquet held at the University Commons on Saturday evening. His subject was "Democracy in Latin-America". The convention closed with a dance held in Madison Hall.

F. T. A. Will Meet Wednesday, Nov. 27

The F. T. A. will meet Wednesday night November 27 instead of the regular meeting time November 20.

Snapshots Contest Now In Full Swing

The Virginian Snapshot Contest is now in full swing, and anyone having snaps of campus scenes or personalities is asked to turn them in to Madge McFall before December 5.

The contestant submitting the greatest number of acceptable snapshots will receive a down payment on this year's annual amounting to $2.50. The second prize will be a down payment on an annual amounting to $1.50.

All snapshots will be returned at the end of the contest.

Seniors Sponsor Dance on Dec. 7

Serenaders Band To Play; Various Groups Appointed

Plans have been completed for the Senior Prom which will be held on Saturday, December 7 from 8:30 to 12 o'clock in the college gymnasium. Music will be rendered by the Southern Seranaders who played for Mardi Gras last February.

The Senior Prom is given each year in honor of the senior class. The affair is formal for both boys and girls. Seniors and their escorts will join in forming a "S" for the figure event.

Jane Powell, honorary member of the senior class and president of the class of '40, will return to lead the figure according to custom. She will be assisted by class officers.

The figure will be before intermission and will be followed by a senior no-break dance. All seniors expecting to walk in the figure must wear white. This year the seniors are planning some thing new in regard to the figure.

Tickets will go on sale after the Thanksgiving holidays. Each class is allotted a limited number of tickets so students planning to attend are advised to get their tickets early. All seniors will be able to secure date tickets.

Decorations will carry out the senior class colors, green and white as a color scheme. Refreshments will be served in the lounge during intermission.

Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Jane Powell, Mr. Char-

Continued on Page 4

Juniors To Present "Out of Nowhere" On December 10

Class Production Committees Named By Overbey

"Out Of Nowhere", a three-act play, will be presented by the junior class on December 10 at 8 o'clock. Allene Overby, who is general chairman of the class production states that the theme will be based on a Broadway production, but she will not as yet give any information as to its general nature.

Sara Cline, Harriett Cantrell, Margaret Rice, and Frances Rosebro are on the theme committee. Caroline Eason and Peggy Bellus will take the two leads of the play and Lucy Turnbull is business manager. Committee chairman assisting Lucy are Anne Turner, publicity; Anne Boswell, program; and Nell White, tickets.

Lillian German and Lillian Wahab are co-chairman of the staging committee, and heading the property and costume committee are Mary Purdum and Gene Hardy Kilmon. In charge of lighting for the program is Dot Johnson and Irma Graff is in charge of the makeup of the cast. House chairmen are Nancy Naff and Martha Cottrell.

The Rotunda Staff Adds 16 Members

Mr. H. Lancaster To Speak To Group

Faye Nimmo, Frances Thackston, Sara Trigg, Elizabeth Tennent, Lilly Bec Gray, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Shirley Pierce, and Jane Sanford, have been appointed reporters on the Rotunda staff Patricia Gibson, editor-in-chief, has announced.

Additions to the business staff include Mary Lilly Purdum, Helen De Long, Mary Keith Bingham, Hannah Lee Crawford and Mary Bugg. Elizabeth Wails has been added to the photographic staff and Nell Pritchett and Betsy Bullock will serve as staff typists.

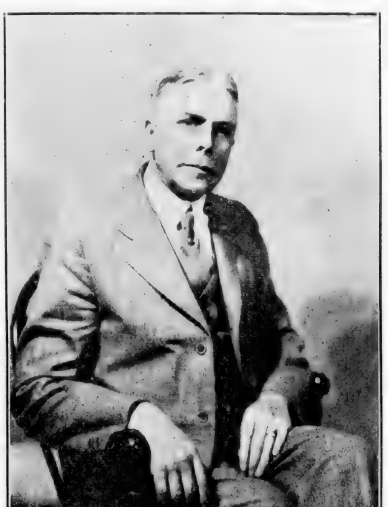
Try-outs for the staff were held during the past month.

Mr. Harry Lancaster, mechanical superintendent of The Farmville Herald, will talk to the staff Wednesday night, November 27, describing the procedure of putting out a weekly paper.

Mr. L. Tucker Speaker On Y. W. Program

Members of the World Fellowship committee of the Y. W. C. A will sponsor Mr. Luther Tucker, a resident of China for the past several years, in chapel November 30 as the opening for their drive—The World Student Service Fund.

Mr. Tucker was in the Orient as the World Student Christian Federation secretary. He is now a member of the National Student Y. W. C. A. staff.



The drive for student relief begins Monday, December 2. The Y. W. C. A. will hold an association meeting with a Chinese theme at the beginning of the drive.

Home Ec. Seniors Conduct Lunch Room

Miss Bessie Jeter, assistant head of home economics department is conducting a course in lunch room management for senior home ec majors.

On Wednesday, November 27, the group will journey to Richmond to observe lunch rooms in the city schools.

Happy Birthday, Dr. Jarman!

Happy Birthday, Dr. Jarman! As a most loyal and sincere friend of all our friends here at school, we, the student body, extend our heartiest congratulations and our deepest regard to you on this day. May we ever live up to the standards which you, as our leader, attain. Again we say "Happy Birthday to you, Dr. Jarman!"

New Dining Room Rules Approved

Due to dissatisfaction concerning conditions in the dining room durng meals a committee was appointed by Caralie Nelson, Student Council president, to investigate the situation and suggest improvements. These suggestions which have been approved by the student body and Miss Mary White Cox, head of the home, will go into effect Monday morning, November 25.

Doors to the dining room will be closed 10 minutes after the bell is rung and a bell will be sounded before and after announcements. No one may enter the dining room after the doors are closed or leave it until after the bell following the announcements is rung without a legitimate excuse. A bell will be rung before and after announcements are read to avoid the confusion of students leaving before the announcements are through. In order to facilitate the ringing of the bell, it will be moved to the front of the dining room if Mr. S. L. Graham, business manager of the college, agrees.

In the spring elections a senior will be elected to the minor office of Head Hostess. She will be responsible for the dining room conduct and will decide whether excuses to enter the dining room late or leave early are legitimate. Until spring term the dining room committee will carry out these duties. Table hostesses automatically become members of this committee.

Continued on Page 4

Debate Club Gains Five New Members

Myrtle Jenkins, Hazel Colgate, Frances Thackston, Jean Beard, and Dorothy Marrow met the requirements for the fall try-outs of the Debate Club and were formally initiated at the regular meeting Tuesday night, November 12, in the small auditorium.

One of these girls will be selected on team to accompany three of the varsity debaters on the initial trip of the year to the annual Dixie Forensic Tourney at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, South Carolina, December 5-7.

Ed. Week Features Musical Program

Mr. Wilson Angel, outstanding baritone singer from Richmond, formerly of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, sang in chapel Saturday morning, November 16, at 11 o'clock. Mr. Angel is noted in many sections of the country. He has appeared with symphony orchestras in New York, Virginia and North Carolina. He is now located with the Columbia Broadcasting Company in Richmond.

In observance of National Educational Week the college A' Cappella Choirs presented a musical program. Selections sung were "Quiet" by Sanderson, sung by the Senior A'Cappella choir, 'Tanguam Agnus' (As The Lamb)

Continued on Page 4

810 Leave School For Thanksgiving; Only 10 Remain

Games, Dances On Holiday Program; Faculty At VEA

Ten girls will remain at S. T. C. for the Thanksgiving holidays from approximately 820 dormitory students. Many will attend the Wm. and Mary vs. U. of Richmond game in Richmond and the annual V. P. I. vs. V. M. I. clash in Roanoke on Thanksgiving Day.

Thanksgiving holidays begin at 11 o'clock Wednesday, November 20, and last until the first class period Monday, November 25. Students are requested to return to school by 11 o'clock Sunday night or at least in time for Monday morning classes. No classes cut before or after the holiday without Dr. Jarman's permission will be excused.

Trains eastbound are leaving at 12:57 P. M. and 3:40 P. M. Westbound trains are scheduled to leave at 1:50 P. M. and 4:48 P. M.

Schedule for eastbound buses is set for 9:10 P. M., 11:05 A. M., 6:50 P. M. and 9:43 P. M. Those going west will leave at 6:50 A. M., 1:45 P. M., 5:15 P. M. and 8:15 P. M.

Faculty Members Attend V. E. A.

Misses M. B. Barlow, Bessie Jeter, Grace B. Moran, Mary C. Hiner, Minnie Rice, Mary Peck, Helen Draper, M. Coulling, V. Bedford, Mrs. E. Martin, Messrs. Grainger, Coyner and Dr. G. W. Jeffers of the college faculty are among those who will attend the V. E. A. convention in Richmond this week-end.

Continued on Page 3

Dr. J. E. Walmsley Conducts U. Va. Extension Course

Dr. James E. Walmsley, head of the history and social science department is, aside from his work at State Teachers college, conducting adult classes each Thursday at Danville, Virginia, under the auspices of the University of Virginia Extension courses, teaches a class in British history teaches a class in British History and Thursday nights he instructs in current history.

Dr. Walmsley states that the classes are large and that four high school principals and many prominent citizens of that section are enrolled.

"I Have No Favorite Master", Says Jerold Frederic, Pianist

By SARA CLINE

"I have no favorite master—I select my pieces according to the rhythms they embody," said Jerold Frederic when interviewed Monday night, November 18. Although he professes no favorites, Mr. Frederic admitted that he was given more acclaim for playing the compositions of Liszt.

Individuality in technique is recognized as the outstanding feature of Mr. Frederic's playing. When just twelve years of age, he gave a concert before an udience of 1500 people in Anderson, Indiana. So impressed were the sponsors that they gave the proceeds to the young musician in order that he might study music in Chicago, where it was found that the restrictions of academic work in music thwarted his emotional technique. "My teachers would not teach me because I could not interpret the classics as they did", said Mr. Frederic.

We were especially interested to know that the Steinway Company was so amazed at the youthful Frederic's individuality in interpretation that they presented him with a concert grand piano. "This was indeed a great honor for me, for I have not as yet made my debut in New York nor have I been to Europe," continued Mr. Frederic. He added that the Steinway Company had never before given a concert piano under these circumstances. Incidentally this piano is transported in a trailer which he himself designed.

At the present time Mr. Frederic has concluded a successful short concert tour of various colleges. His tentative plans include a tour to the west coast next spring, a summer engagement in South America, and his debut in Town Hall next winter.

We who were fortunate enough to hear Mr. Frederic were astonished and fascinated by his seemingly little effort in pouring out his interpretations of Bach, Liszt, Rachmaninoff, and Chopin. So enthusiastic was his audience that he received five encores which were indeed a privilege for us since the highest number he has ever played is six.

We feel that we were very fortunate to hear this talented young artist on the threshold of his brilliant career. Not only were we impressed by his interpretations but the gracious manner in which we were received backstage after his performance. "Thanks so much, Mr. Frederic".

"What Every Woman Knows" Is Enthusiastically Received

By MARGARET WRIGHT

A highly responsive audience acclaimed the performances of Peggy Bellus and "Tedo" Savage in James M. Barrie's play "What Every Woman Knows" presented by the Farmville State Teachers College Dramatic Club and Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs Friday night, November 15.

Stealing the honors, Peggy, as the Comtesse de la Briere, a charming though meddlesome widow, interpreted her best part yet. In the comedy role of James Wylie, "Tedo" hit the top for entertainment, as he played the part of the younger brother to whom the family paid little or no attention.

Mary Hunter Edmunds, a junior transfer from Stratford college, made her first appearance here in the lead role of Maggie Wylie, who was still unmarried at 26 (or 27) and not "tremendous run after", although as plain as a "brown hen" and lacking in charm. Mary Hunter presented the character who proved to be the pin that made John Shand's career.

Playing opposite Mary Hunter was veteran thespian, John Pancake, who handled the part of the ambitious John Shand with his usual polish. John lacked a sense of humour. It took Maggie to show him how to insert a joke into a Scotchman's head without an operation.

Perfecting a Scotch brogue, Keith Eubank rendered a creditable performance of David Wylie, Maggie's brother. David offered the financially embarrassed student, John Shand, 300 pounds to further his education and begin his brilliant career if at the end of five years he would marry Maggie, a promising old maid.

Alex Jones handled his first real part as the father, Aleck Wylie. Jane McGinnis gave another good performance as the third party to the eternal triangle in the part of seductive Lady Sybil Tenterton.

Lex Allison, a member of the supporting cast, once again exercised a spendid characterization in the diplomatic role of Venables, minister of John Shand's political party.

Assisting the cast were Thomas Hopkins, butler; Peggy Watkins, committee woman, and Kay Spencer, maid. In the mob scene were Boyd Beall, T. C. Larramore, Charles Llewellyn and Buster Etheridge.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year.

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Mary K. Beck ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Bridget Gentile, Lilly Bec Gray, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Faye Nimmo, Shirley Pierce, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Jane Sanford, Dorothy Sprinkle, Elizabeth Tennant, Frances Thackstone, Sara Trigg.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mary Keith Bingham, Mary Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Helen DeLong, Dearing Fauntleroy, Ellen Hudgins, Anne Moore, Mary Lilly Purdum.

Typists

Chief Typist ..... Frances Pritchett
Typists—Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Thelma Courtney, Nell Pritchett.

Photographers—Virginia Worley, Elizabeth Walls.

NOVEMBER 19, 1940

Our Thanksgiving Day

President Roosevelt, whether the Republicans admit it or not, has done two unprecedented things in America—gained a third term and messed up Thanksgiving. The former has been hashed and rehashed by others better qualified so we leave it without further discussion. The latter, however, is a sore spot to many a person especially out-of-state students who are confronted with two Thanksgiving Days but only one holiday and that not of their own choosing. In our own student body there may be found numerous victims of the Stratford coed plight:

Dear Mom 'n' Pop
I must confess
Your little Nell
Is in a mess.

It's all about
Thanksgiving Day
There's two of them
The deuce to pay!

Now Joey down
At N. C. U.
Has asked me for
A date or two

At Thanksgiving
And ours here
Are a week apart
It seems, this year!

So another gal
Will get my date,
While Pilgrim-like
I celebrate!

Surely if Mr. Roosevelt realized the lamentable results of his action he would take steps to bring the country together on the issue. But all we can say is Happy Thanksgiving.

Bouquets AND Brickbats

Excitement and more excitement as cries of "Come on Thanksgiving" fill the air with eager thoughts of football—dances turkey—ring figure—and what have we!!!!

How 'bout that Water Carnival—really the best yet—did you see the cute ones—Betty Fahr and Jean Up hur there? Even the small deluge didn't cramp their style!

The Keller child was really excited about the dances at N. C. Sate last week-end—bet she had a big time—and speaking of weekends we're glad to see Sarah Massie finally made up her mind about W. and L.—more power to these people who can keep them guessing. Really hope that Scottie and the George child will have a big time at V. M. I. . . . Freshman M. K. is real eager to see the "Football Classic of the South", but it's a pity she had to turn down Pittsburgh and Duke to go.

By the way—we're beginning to wonder if the Freshmen know what those Rat Caps are for!!!!

Orchids to the Dramatic Club and H. S. Jongleurs for a grand play—we really enjoyed it. . and how about downtown Friday night—a thing of real beauty—Polly and Dozzie seemed to enjoy themselves—also the Trigg sisters and the Tennent child with Jimmy Traylor in Shannon's!!!!! Wellafter that awful suspense Jeannie really was beaming with "Boo" Sunday afternoon. . . . .

Too bad about the Parker child—she's already gotten an I. C. C. from Tech for Senior Dance—better luck next time E. A.—Freshmen Ott and Colsvita were having a merry time in front of Southside Friday afternoon—my, my, how these Freshies get around!!!

We hear tell the best love scenes took place after the final curtain was pulled. Speaking of the play, Boo and Alex are cooler these days.

Ask Helen Mac and Nan about a certain feather fight on second floor Senior building, Friday night. It seemed to upset many folks.

We see Jackie Parson's doing a bit of snaking these days with a smug expression—what with Slug Saturday and Billy Grey Sunday. She seems to be taking after brother Billy—'nuff said.

We hear Mickey's love has gone off to war for a year. This means you won't be seeing him quite so often, will you?

Whatever happened to the W. and L. boys Pat was waiting for Saturday night. And in the meantime, where were Tracy and Willis?

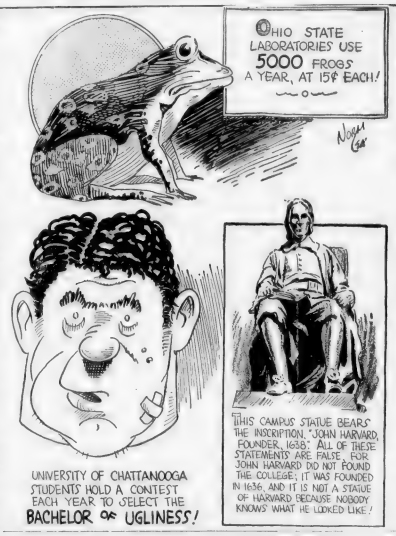
Although it's a little late for Cotillion rumors, we wonder why Martha Smith furnished her date with a full dress suit.

We would like to know what the Mayo has got, that stacks 'em up six deep on Sunday afternoon—, your guess is as good as ours!!

Martha D. is forming part of a triangle whether she thinks she's the O. A. O. or not.

We hope you didn't miss the square dance or seeing Trudy and Aseita promenading.

H. S. freshmen seem to be tops with S. T. C. seniors. Where is their dignity—although they are most attractive.



What is this "Nu" that "Only Forever" was played for at Cotillion. Could Issie Wentz clear up a few things for us?

Bouquets to the Wertz for making such a good impression with the J—Radspinner.

Happy birthday to Dr. Jarman! Although we were a little previous in our well wishing, it means the same and comes from the bottom of our hearts!

Did you hear about the wedding in the Parham family? Well, if you didn't you're the only one. By the way, Frances, what has happened to Horace? Has Jerry Derr put him out of the league?

Bouquets galore to Mr. Frederic. It really was superb. And pride yourselves sisters, he hardly ever gives more than six encores, and we had five.

Question of the Week

What Do You Think of the Draft?

Harriet Cantrell—Believing that a good offense is the best defense, I heartily approve of the Selective Service Act. We can certainly not depend on the altruism of other nations to keep us out of war. Therefore we must prepare for a crisis.

May Winn—I'm in favor of peace time conscription because the country is in a state of war.

Felicity Apperley—I think the draft is a good thing because it will take all the people off of the city streets and make them become more useful than they are.

Lucy Call—Not only is peace time conscription for the good of the country but it protects the individual in that it acquaints him with the tactics of warfare.

Inez Jones—I think that the draft is a good measure of protection for our country.

Tommy Barnes—I think that if the country is going into war it needs men, and the draft is a grand way of preparing them. It's too bad though that it has to take most of them away.

Josephine Sarling—I approve of the draft because I think it is a very fair way to select the men. I think that we should get the unemployed first.

Cottie Radspinner—I believe that this draft is surely rushing us into war.

Jane Jones—I believe that the draft is enlarging our self-defense and it is the only way of making our nation internationally secure.

Arlene Hunt—I think that the draft is a good thing because I think that we should be prepared even if we don't have to go to war.

Platter Chatter

By JEANNE SEARS

We're off! Only this week our prize is in a definitely different vein. What I mean is get Petticrew to show you how to La Congo and then dash down and get Xavier Cugat's new release of "Adios". It's simply wonderful. It's strictly Cuban and a pulsating tempo, too. Then "Green Eyes" on the reverse is done in the same manner with the entire orchestra singing this one. Listen for the double time set up toward the end of this one. It's catchy—and oh, so naughy sounding too.

Leave it up to my man Artie to turn out another hit. This time it's "A Handful of Stars" and Anita Boyer sings it just exactly right. Those violins make such a soft-smooth-sweet background. Then natchally! It's got a grand clarinet finale—Oh gosh it's good! Turn this one over and you'll find "Love Of My Life". Mr. Shaw's clarinet is at it again on this one. Would that you had a tall, dark, and handsome young man to dance to this one. Anita Boyer does it again. This is perhaps just a wee bit peppier than the former—a solid sender.

Now for a real surprise! It's Glenn Miller again this week but heaven, you'd never know it. "Old Black Joe" is the song and his arrangement is just so slow and

Quotable Quotes

A student at Eastern New Mexico college has applied to Mrs. J. Frank Potts, director of housing, for knowledge she might have about any widow with three or four children who might be susceptible to a proposition of marriage. Afraid he might be drafted, the student earnestly requested help in lining up enough "emergency family" to make him exempt.

Personal notice in the Daily Iowan, University of Iowa: "John—after this when you borrow my pants bring them back the next morning. I have 8 o'clock class." Furthermore, it's hard for the average college man to have any class at all these days, without trousers.

"Many statements have been made that the college freshman has a vocabulary of 100,000 words, but it is my opinion that the average college newcomer knows very little about the English language. Even if he has 100,000-word vocabulary I doubt very much whether he uses more than 1,000 in everyday life. Although they might know most of the words, they are not available when the student has a pen or pencil in hand."
—Isadore Colodny

Gleanings

By MARIE ALLEN

What must be our future policy in relation to Pan- Americanism? Must we weld this good neighbor policy into something permanent that will extend into the future or would it be better to build up a good will that will evaporate the moment a little pressure comes forward? Certainly the former is the feasible thing for us to do. We must move with the assumption that the ultimate self-interests of Latin America can be made to coincide with us—a congruency must be established particularly with Argentina, Chile, Bolivia, Paraguay, Uruguay and Peru whose ties with us are less binding. They must be persuaded to move with us in holding this hemisphere. We may never again have a better chance to put our L. A. relations on a better basis. The success will depend upon the willingness of the American people to submerge their sectional interest for the hemispheric good. The start has been made, will it continue?

However the U. S. decides to approach the problem it cannot hope to succeed unless a clear cut hemispheric economic policy is worked out. In the long run the surest defense of the hemisphere lies in expanding the inter and intra American trade, in speeding up the northern and southern circulation of goods. The N sisters take only around 1-6 of our total exports and supply us with only 1-5 of our imports. Yet with the present war in Europe their markets are greatly diminished. Meat exports from Argentina, Uruguay, and Brazil have been cut in half and Brazil faces the loss of 1-3 of her coffee market and 40 per cent of her cotton market. What a wonderful opportunity for the U. S. to step in—show her willingness to be a neighbor and place her order for some of their products: But what is the answer! The cattle raisers in Middle West do not want American market filled by Argentine products, we have reached the saturation point in coffee consumption and need I say more of Brazil's cotton surplus than the word "South". So we find ourselves hampered by not being able to buy the products that represent the greatest surpluses in Latin America. The Argentines say that if we bought from them only 2 per cent of our total meat consumption it would provide a market for 1-3 of their meat exports and go a long way toward easing their difficulties. And the cattle grown on the Patagonia don't have foot and mouth diseases. The first grade problem facing closer cooperation in Good Neighborliness is working for the hemisphere rather than for a section of this country. We must instill into the minds of the people that it is wiser to have a slightly greater quantity of a product on our market than to run the risk of having a market thrown completely in chaos. The American people must see the necessity of such a program and then work in that direction.

To the people south of us, trade is vital. They are largely producers of raw materials and the sale to a foreign power is their chief way of bringing wealth into their country. We have been providing a market for 1-3 of their exports and send them 34 per cent of the goods they import, but now with Europe in chaos it is necessary that we cooperate with them still further. Although Argentina is more remote in the idea of unity than any others, if we can instill into them the idea that we are willing to strive for the economic betterment of the entire hemisphere rather than some particular section then it is highly probable that all the cooperation desired will be attained. A first step might be efforts to raise the Latin American standard of living thereby increasing their consumption. Actually only around 7 per cent of their total trade is with another, but if the standard of living could be lifted then consumption would increase. Such a policy would

(Continued on page 4)

Red and White Takes Color Rush

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

Evens Hold Lead In Interclass Hockey Matches on Tuesday

Junior and Frosh Runners Take Three Buildings

Freshmen Exhibit Power, Teamwork

Red and White repeating its performance of last year took the Color Rush this afternoon by a one point lead—the score three and one-half to two and one-half.

Shortly after the bell sounded a Green and White banner was triumphantly unfurled over the Rotunda, amidst riotous cheering below.

From then on Red and White took the lead as banners came tumbling forth over White House, Library and Student Building.

At Junior Building the victory went again to Green and White, while over Senior Building both banners were hung, proclaiming a tie for the runners.

Winning runners of the traditional rush were Elizabeth Ann Barnes, freshman, Student Building; Mickey Beck, junior, White House; Frances Parham, sophomore, Main; Hester Chatten, junior, Library; Rose Courter, senior, Junior Building; and Marian Worsham, senior, tied Nancy Dupuy, junior, Senior Building.

Other participants in the rush for Red and White were June Smith, freshman, and Dot Johnson, junior; for Green and White were Pauline Clemans, sophomore; Betty Sexton, sophomore; and Aselta Altamore, senior.

Zeke Zippers Parade Preceding Games

It's Red and White! It's Red and White!—so played Zeke Zippers, Junior class band, as they paraded onto the athletic field this afternoon preceding the class hockey games.

Led by May Wertz, drum major, and Mary Katherine Zehmer and Irma Graff, cheerleaders, the band played several selections.

Members of the band are Sara Cline, Gerry Ackiss, Harriet Scott, Gene Hardy Kilmon, Mary Jane Ritchie, Lucy Turnbull, Polly Keller, Allene Overbey, Nancy Naff, Nell Hurt, Frances Rosebro Buff Gunter, Gay Ward Brown Marty Roberts, Beezie Townsend, Polly Hughes, Mary Katherine Dodson, May Winn, Augusta Parks, and Mary Lou Shannon.

COLLEGE SHOPPE
Phone 200
When you get hungry eat at the COLLEGE SHOPPE
Best food in town
Special Plates for S. T. C. Girls
20c—25c—30c—35c
Come in and ask about them

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

Seniors Down Sophs In Prelim

Junior and Frosh At Loggerheads

The Freshman and Junior teams met Monday afternoon, November 18, at 3:30 o'clock to open the class hockey games for thi season.

Johnson scored one point for the Juniors during the first half and Hardy tied the points by scoring for the Freshman team. In the second half Simmons for the Freshmen team and West for the Juniors scored in succession thus ending the game 2-2.

Pos. Freshmen	Juniors
R.W.—Joves	Purdum
R.I.—Trigg	Johnson-1
C.F.—Hardy-1	Chatten
L.I.—Foster	Chapman
L.W.—Simmons-1	Walker
R.H.—Smith	Beck
C.H.—Dugger	West-1
L.H.—Droste	Hutcheson
R.F.—Crawford	Barlow
L.F.—Gaul	Coleman
G.K.—Daracott	Sprinkle

Total— Freshmen-2; Juniors-2

Sophomores and Seniors met for their first interclass hockey game Monday afternoon November 18, on the athletic field.

In the first half Pilkerton and Walls each scored for the Sophomores and Edmonson for the Seniors.

During the second half the Seniors defeated the Sophomores when Petticrew scored two points and Edmonson one, thus making the final score 4-2.

Lineup:

Pos. Sophomores	Seniors
R.W.—Owen	Lee
R. I.—Parham	Edmonson-2
C.F.—Pilkerton-1	Borden
L.I.—Ebel
L.W.—Walls-1	Petticrew-2
R.H.—Ball	Gibson
C.H.—Hillsman	McIlwaine
L.H.—	Sydnor
R.F.—Rogers	Webster
L.F.—Parrish	Gouden
G.K.—Jennings	Courter

Total—Seniors 4; Sophomores 2

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store
When the cold wave hits you
Come to us for parka hoods
25c to 69c

Wishing you a Happy Thanksgiving
Shannon's

Sister Classes Tie

Pictured at the top is the Freshman hockey team which won the right to dispense with "Rat" caps by defeating the Sophomores in the traditional Frosh vs. Soph game.

Below is the Junior team which is tied with the Freshmen for the interclass hockey title.

National Hockey Tourney at W. & M.

United States Field Hockey Association is sponsoring a National tournament at the College of William and Mary on Thursday, November 21 through Saturday, November 23.

California is sending a team which will fly across the country to attend the meet. The teams will use the Williamsburg Lodge as their convention center. Players are anticipating a trip to the colonial capitol not only as an extremely important sports meet, but as an adventure and an experience for those people from far away states.

Holidays

Continued from Page 1

Miss Pauline Camper will visit at her home in Salem. Mr. S. M. Holton will journey to Durham, N. C. Miss M. Bouton will spend the holidays at Luray and Mr. R. French plans to hunt. Miss Kauzlarich, of the physical education department, will spend the holiday in New York City.

Gibson To Attend Swimming Forum

Patricia Gibson, swimming instructor at the college, will attend the annual Woman's Aquatic Forum at Fort Lauderdale, Florida, from December 24--31.

The program which has as its aim the improvement of swimming skills and teaching ability includes group and panel discussions on problems in swimming, demonstration lectures on stroke techniques and discussions on methods of teaching swimming. Leaders in the field of aquatics as well as many of the world's outstanding swimmers and divers are expected to attend.

Dressmaking, Tailoring, Alterations, fur coats a specialty
Mrs. G. M. Gilispie
Telephone No. 21
Formerly with Davidson's

The Student's Choice
ECONOMY FOOD STORE
for
FANCY FRUITS, COOKIES, AND "SNAX"
For All Times

A GIFT SUGGESTION
A nice 8 x 10 portrait of yourself for only $2.50 or 3 for $4.50.
—from—
DAVIDSON'S STUDIO

CHRISTMAS GIFTS!
We personally wrap and tie all gifts bought for Christmas
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

H2O Club Presents Hawaiian Pageant

Water Carnival In 2 Performances

For the first time in the college aquatic history the H2O Club found it necessary to give a repeat showing of the annual water carnival which was presented Thursday evening, November 14. Capacity crowds attended both performances.

The theme of the carnival which was directed by Elizabeth Gunter, concerned the triangular affair between Manu, played by Frances Parham; Kivi, played by Gloria Pollard; and the beautiful Lita, portrayed by Jerry Smith. The scene was laid on a tiny Hawaiian island. To please the rain god and get rid of his rival, Manu suggested that the best diver on the island be sacrificed. Lita offered her life to save Kivi which act pleases the god so much he sends the rain. The wedding ceremony was the final climax of the pageant.

Lillian Wahab took the part of Opi Nue, the chieftain; Mary Sue Edmonson and Leona Moomaw portrayed the two old men, and members of the swimming classes were the villagers.

Shirley Pierce, Dot Gaul, Helen McIlwaine, Frances Mallory, Gloria Pollard, and Harriette Walker performed the diving.

Initial Square Dance Draws Large Crowd

More than 200 students attended the Saturday night square dance, innovation of the Athletic Association, which was held in the College gymnasium at 8 o'clock on November 16.

Miss Emily Kauzlarich, physical education instructor, called the figures for the program which included such dances as the "Virginia Reel", "Pop Goes The Weasel" and "Cicilian Circle."

Rosa Courter, Athletic Association president, has promised more such dances together with better music if the interest continues. It is thought that students will probably be allowed to take dates to these dances.

Rats Score 3-1 Win Over Sophs; Seniors Downed

Colors Split Senior Building Race

With a whang bang final goal, preceded by a "Rush" it in, Freshmen", the Freshmen hockey team cinched the traditional "rat cap" game and doffed their caps for good—Freshmen 3, Sophomores 1.

The game which was played this afternoon, Tuesday, November 19, on the athletic field, opened the Color Rush events for the day. Sara Hardy, freshman, scored the first and only point for either team in an exciting first half.

The Sophomores rallied early in the second half when Sara Wade Owen tied the score with the initial point for her team.

Lulie Jones quickly followed suit for the Freshmen putting them ahead 2 to 1, a lead which they maintained throughout the rest of the game. Ruth Dugger followed through with still another point for the Freshmen score as "time out" was called—Freshmen 3, Sophomores 1.

The freshman spectators mistaking the "time out" signal for the end of the game, rushed madly down to congratulate their players and dragged them from the field. After much confusion the game was resumed and the final score Freshmen 3, Sophomores 1.

The Juniors met and conquered the Seniors in the interclass hockey game Tuesday afternoon. The final score was Juniors 3, Seniors 1.

During most of the game the ball was held at the Juniors' goal with Hester Chatten, high scorer for the Junior team, leading off with the first goal and quickly coming forth with another hard hit, putting the Juniors ahead at the half 2-1.

In the last part of the first half, Crews Borden, midst a rush of opposing factions, whacked the ball for the Seniors' only goal.

The final score, was made by "Mow" West.

HOW TO WIN BOY-FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE STAG-LINES

By Dalea Dorothy Clix

Dear Miss Clix: Oh, if human beings only had wings, instead of hands! This summer I met a young glider pilot. He took me soaring among the clouds for hours, day after day! How could I help falling desperately in love? But on terra firma my Bird-Man is as impersonal as a sea gull sitting on an ice-floe! Why won't he notice my beating heart? DESPERATE

Dear "Desperate": You say your Young Mr. Icarus is "impersonal." Well, what about yourself? When you're not swooping among the clouds, how do you look? Mannish clothes, nose shiny, hair dishevelled? Or, have you learned how to "go feminine" around teatime? Do you take real trouble with your hair? with your make-up and lips? with your hands, yes, and with that all-important matter, your fingernails? You'll get lots farther with expressive, alluring hands than you would with flapping wings, if it's a man's heart you're reaching for!

AND NOW, DEAR, READ THE NEXT COLUMN CAREFULLY!

WHAT YOU CAN DO TO HAVE MORE BEAUTIFUL NAILS

Let the brilliant, gem-hard lustre of DURA-GLOSS give your fingernails that marvelous attraction and allure that men admire! DURA-GLOSS is the amazing new nail polish that's different! DURA-GLOSS flows on more smoothly, keeps its brilliant beauty of color longer, resists cracking and chipping better! Have the most beautiful fingernails in the world—buy DURA-GLOSS!

NEW SHADE ZOMBIE

A NEW FORMULA BY LORR Lorr Laboratories, Paterson, N. J. 10¢

Yourself and Others

It seems as if nothing stops S. T. C. girls from going places; not even a Thanksgiving holiday ahead could stop them. Some of our girls really went places this past weekend. Now lets see just where our "gad-abouts" did go.

Gerry Ackiss and Jane Engleby traveled all the way up to Middletown, Connecticut to attend a house party at Wesleyan University. Elizabeth Callan visited in Norwalk, Connecticut, and Dorothy Chidress visited in Hartford Connecticut. Josephine Bishop attended a football game and dances in Norwalk, Connecticut.

N. C. State College in Raleigh seemed to be quite attractive to five of our girls. Frances Adams, Garnett Barrett, Nancy Goode Bland, Martha Messick, and Jean Weller attended the dances there.

Thelma Courtney, Dot Rollins, Frances Keck, Martha Whelchel, Marion Heard, and Marie Allen attended the state International Relations Club convention at the University of Virginia.

North Carolina certainly rates high with S. T. C. girls. Polly Keller and Katie Crider attended the Duke-Carolina game and dance at Chapel Hill, while Bess Windham enjoyed the game and dance at Davidson, N. C.

Frances Ellett took off on a journey northward to Princeton, New Jersey for a game and dance

Off to Lynchburg for the V. M. I.-Maryland game went Carolyn Minnick and Betty Reid.

Kitty Moncure went to Salem to attend Homecoming dances at Roanoke College.

Home Economics Club Initiates 27 Girls

Twenty-seven girls were initiated into the Home Economics club on Monday, November 11.

Upperclassmen taken in were Martha Grainger, Dorothy Marrow and Mildred Shelton. The new freshmen members include Beth Johnson, Nellie Moss Newsome, Lois Webster Aiphin, Mary Lee Pittard, Sue Harper, Theresa Fletcher, Inez Jones, Evelyn Chenault, Della Gregory, Gene Seymour, Katherine Vaughan, Sara Hardy, Dorothy Lee, Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, Mary Vendle Haug, Jean Beard, Constance Figg, Dorothy Massie, Frances Strohecker, Louise McCorkle, Kitty Moncure, Louise Boatwright and Lucille Cheatham.

A new ruling under the revised constitution of the club makes it possible to invite all home economics majors to join the club.

Education Week

Continued from Page 1

sung by the Madrigal Singers. This group of singers, composed of eight girls, is directed by Virginia Barksdale. Last Saturday's appearance was their first.

Four solos were sung; the first, "Tell Me Roses" sung by Mae De Saix, and "Yesterday" sung by Mr. Wilson Angel, are compositions by Mr. Alfred H. Strick, professor of music. Mr. Angel also sang "Du Bish Ruh" by Shubert and "The Lord's Prayer" by Mallotte.

The Junior and Senior A'Cappella Choirs sang "Allelujah" by Mozart. "Faith In America", Mr Strick's newest composition which was recently published was sung by Mr. Angel, accompanied by the two choirs. Forrestine Whitaker directed the A'Cappella Choirs.

Do your Christmas Shopping early

CHRISTMAS CARDS
50 for $1.00 and up
Martin, the Jeweler

BUTCHER'S
The convenient store for faculty and student body.
Good things to eat and drink

Sorority Notes

Gamma Theta entertained its members at an informal coke and nabs party Monday, November 18, at 10 o'clock in the chapter room.

Lillian Wahab, Gertrude Burwell, and Mary Martha Peery entertained Mu Omega at tea Sunday, November 17, in the chapter room. They had as their guests Miss Leola Wheeler, faculty adviser, Bob Dabney, Nell Hurt and Nine Rogers.

Alpha Sigma Taus were entertained informally last Thursday night by Nell Hall, Louise Hall, Martha de Crawley, Jean Moyer, Frances Pritchett, and Faye Brandon.

Buffet Supper

Dr. J. L. Jarman, Mr. and Mrs. J. Grainger, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Coyner, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McCorkle, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Wynne, Dr. and Mrs. G. Jeffers, Dr. F. B. Simkins, Miss M. B. Barlow, Miss M. W. Coulling, and Miss B. Jeter were entertained at a buffet supper by the home management girls on Saturday evening, November 16.

Hostesses for the occasion were Miss G. Coble, Bernice Callis, Mary Hille McCoy, Sadie Cobb, and Mary Copley.

Dr. Jarman Entertained

Dr. J. L. Jarman will be entertained tonight at 6 o'clock at Longwood with his annual birthday banquet which is sponsored by the Student Council. Other guests of honor include Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Winnie Hiner and Mrs. Mary Watkins, Bert McLaughlin and Miss Rachel Royall.

Martha Cottrell was in charge of entertainment, Frances Ellett, transportation and Rosa Courter and Gene Hardy Kilmon, decorations.

Miss Mary E. Nichols entertained the members of the Debate Club and Pi Kappa Delta at a tea at her home Monday afternoon.

Seniors Dance

Continued from Page 1

lle French, senior classman, and the class officers will be in the receiving line which will form in Student Building Lounge.

Senior Dance committees are Forrestine Whitaker, general chairman; Faye Brandon, Emily Hoskins, Louise Painter and Betty Fahr, music; Patsy Fletcher and Dotty Rollins, decorations.

Dining Room Rules

Continued from Page 1

Virginia Howell is chairman of the committee. Other members are Grey Walden, Harriett Cantrell, May Winn, Pat Gibson, Boonie Stevenson, and Lillian German.

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

A & N STORE

Lady's jodphurs, tan and brown $2.95
Jodphur Boots $3.75
Jodphur Shoes $2.75
Riding Breeches, tan and brown $2.95
Riding Boots $5.95
Sweat Shirts and Athletic Socks

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

Mrs. S. B. Waller To Preside At Alumnae Lunch In Richmond

Presiding at the Farmville State Teachers college alumnae luncheon to be held at Hotel Richmond, at 1 o'clock Friday, November 22, will be Mrs. S. Gardner Waller, of Richmond. During her student days at Farmville, Mrs. Waller was president of the student government association of the school. Besides alumnae and a number of the members of the college faculty, others present will include Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the college; Miss Grace Moran, Farmville, president of the Alumnae Association; Mrs. Thomas J. Starke, Richmond, vice-president of the association, and Mrs. M. B. Coyner, Farmville, executive secretary.

Things We Adore:

Cynthia James' white angora sweater with its long, long fur.

Sarah Massie Goode's white taffeta evening dress with its hoop and elbow length sleeves.

"Miggie" Mish's silver Indian bracelets which catch the eye and hold it.

"Gerry" Smith's beautiful eyes. Such long lashes!

Helen McIlwaine's good-looking white wool evening wrap.

Helen Lewis' sporty tan suit with its long jacket straight from the Men's Shop!

Nancy Wolfe's stunning black coat with its long panels of fur.

Jane Sanford's swishy plaid taffeta evening dress.

Louise Painter's "glamour".

May Winn's little blue moccasins.

Nancy Pierpont's enviable naturally curly hair.

Mary Lou Shannon's tweedy tweed suit.

Crews Borden's individual hairdo.

Things We Deplore:

Gloves and no hat.

Gabardine raincoats that look like they've been dragged through Georgia.

Disgustingly long fingernails and particularly with almost black fingernail polish.

Knee length socks with a skirt that covers the knees (looks like long underwear).

Straight hair!

Green, blue and purple nail polish—ooh!

Sweaters so long and so big they resemble gunny sacks.

Slap-dash make-up.

Those people who knit while walking—and even in class!

Saddle shoes that have no distinguishing line between saddle and rest of shoe. (In order words, dirty)

Exposed evening dresses.

Gym uniforms—ugh.

Pearls dangling way down there on sport costumes.

Those things called "exams!" 7:15 A. M. bell.

For Christmas
Buy our cigars by the box, and cigarettes by the carton, will be priced as low as anywhere in the state of Virginia.
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

KLEANWELL Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of "CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Junior and Senior A'Cappella Choirs to Sing at VEA meeting

Junior and Senior A'Cappella choirs of State Teachers College will sing before the State Teachers convention at the John Marshall High School in Richmond, Wednesday evening, November 20, at 8 o'clock.

Their programs includes "Allelujah" by Mozart and "Faith in America" by Mr. Alfred H. Strick, professor of music at State Teachers College. The group will lead the delgates to the convention in the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by Francis Scott Keys. Forrestine Whitaker will direct the choirs.

Gleanings

Continued from Page 2

require gigantic capital inflows and with so many of debts defaulted there is a stumbling block. If we advance money for specific projects for developing a more diversified agriculture thereby widening economic base for building new manufacturing industries, thereby reducing dependence upon imports and finally for building roads and airports and improving harbors and railroads, thereby increasing circulation of goods—if this could be done the purchasing power of Latin America would be lifted beyond its present level and it would tend to attain a stability of its own. The U. S. would have to participate by furnishing some of the capital technicians but it would be a coperative affair.

It seems to me that on this program largely depends the future of the good neighbor policy. As the present time in problems of defense we are cooperating marvelously but the long time result of the policy rests with the trading interest. Naturally to build up trade there must be cultural and educational understanding between the two peoples—here is the strongest nation and on the strongest nation rests the responsibility to take the lead. If maladjustments can be remedied then a great forward step in the path of durable peace in this hemisphere has been taken.

For over a decade we have seen the idea of the Good Neighbor policy develop—weathering indifferences, poor cooperation, dollar diplomacy and coming now to a period of great achievement or utter failure. We must be assured of a continuing on the part of the U. S. We must build up public opinion in the direction of hemisphere solidarity realizing that the future of each is inextricably bound up with the fusure of every other. We must be able to stand after war is over and strive to endure that economic chaos. So let us bend every effort to strengthen the fundamental principle of international conduct inspired by what the Americas have already accomplished.

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

500 SHEETS
Cleansing Tissue
15c
ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Buy your Christmas Gifts from us and have them wrapped and tide in beautiful Christmas decorations.
DOROTHY MAY STORE
Charge it if you like

DO YOU SMOKE THE CIGARETTE THAT Satisfies
...IT'S THE SMOKER'S CIGARETTE

Smokers like yourself find
CHESTERFIELDS
very refreshing with their
Milder
COOLER
BETTER TASTE

Every time you light up a Chesterfield you know why it is called the Smoker's Cigarette. It's because Chesterfield's right combination of the finest tobaccos grown gives you everything a smoker could ask for ...a cooler, better taste that is definitely milder. You can't buy a better cigarette.

ELLEN DREW
Paramount Star and 1940 Choice for Miss Veteran of Foreign Wars soon to appear in 'Texas Rangers Ride Again'

MAKE YOUR NEXT PACK
Chesterfield

Copyright 1940, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Support Chinese Drive
Turn Your Pennies
In To The Y. W. C. A.

The Rotunda

17 More Shopping Days
Until Christmas—Unless
Roosevelt Makes A Change

VOLUME XX | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDHESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1940 | NO. 10

Debaters Attend Dixie Tournament In South Carolina

Thackston, Jenkins, Parker and Cock Represent S. T. C.

Elizabeth Ann Parker, Jack Cock, Frances Thackston, and Myrtle Jenkins left today Wednesday, December 4, on the initial debate trip of the year to represent Farmville at the Dixie Forensic Tournament at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, South Carolina. Dr. James E. Walmsley will leave Thursday for Winthrop where he will act in the capacity of judge and will make the return trip with the debaters Saturday, December 7.

Elizabeth Ann and Jack will compose Farmville's affirmative team on the National Pi Kappa Delta Question: "Resolved: That the Nations of the Western Hemisphere Should Form a Permanent Union."

Elizabeth Ann, a junior from Portsmouth, is a veteran debater of three years having represented Farmville in numerous intercollegiate debates and at various conventions and tournaments. She is a member of the Virginia Alpha Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta and is vice-president of the Debate Club.

Jack is a senior from Hampton, and this is her third year of intercollegiate debating; also she is secretary of Pi Kappa Delta and a member of the Debate Club.

Frances and Myrtle who make up the negative team are beginning their first year of intercollegiate debating. Frances is a sophomore transfer from Madison College, Harrisonburg where she was a member of the forensic society. Myrtle is a freshman from Culpeper. She was active in debating while in high school.

Dr. Walmsley, who is head of the history department, is faculty adviser for Pi Kappa Delta.

The Dixie meet, an annual presentation of Winthrop College, is

Continued on Page 3

Drs. Wynne And Swertfeger Attend Philosophers Meeting

Dr. John P. Wynne and Dr. F. F. Swertfeger, both of the education department of State Teachers college attended a meeting of the Virginia philosophers held at William and Mary college in Williamsburg, Virginia, Saturday, November 30.

The chief feature of the meeting was a presentation of two papers, one by Professor Balz of the University of Virginia and the other by Dean Miller of William and Mary college. Both papers had to do with Des Cartes, and Cartesianism. After the discussion a reception was given at the home of Dean Miller.

This is the second of the informal gatherings of the philosophers being as yet unorganized. Last year the meeting was held at Charlottesville; next year it will be at Randolph-Macon Women's college in Lynchburg, Virginia.

Virginian Pictures

Individual Virginian pictures have arrived and students will be expected to get them before Christmas.

The pictures will be kept in the science building until called for. It will not be necessary to pay the full amount when the pictures are received.

Heads of organizations must have write-ups for the Virginian ready when they are called for as it is necessary that they be in before Christmas.

Madge McFall, photography editor has extended the snapshot contest deadline to December 15. Participants are urged to turn in snaps by that date.

Cotillion Club Issues Bids To 59

Frosh, New Girls Invited To Join

Fifty-nine new girls were issued bids to membership in Cotillion Club tonight, Wednesday, December 4.

New Cotillion members are Felicity Apperley, Lilwyn Bennett, Mary Keith Bingham, Mary Louise Boatwright, Eugenia Bradshaw, Betty Bridgeforth, Natalie Carroll, Mary Wilson Carper, Patsy Connelly, Hannah Lee Crawford, Bettie Davis, Frieda Dekker, Ruth Dugger, Mildred Eades, Julia Eason, Rozelle Eckford, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Janet English, Ann Fitchette, Anne Page Francis, Helen Gilliam, and Helen Hooks.

Lauriston Hardin, Sara Hardy, Broadnax Harrison, Sue Harper, Nancy Hodges, Nancy Hutter, Mary Katherine Ingham, Sarah Jeffries, Elinor Johnson, Mickie Lawrence, Louise McCorkle, Leona Moomaw, Faye Nimmo, Helen Ott, Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Gloria Pollard, Shirley Pierce, Jane Perry, Mary Lilly Purdum and Nelle Quinn.

Nancy Roane, Jeanne Rhodes, Charlotte Rose, Dorothy Sue Simmons, Betty Gray Smithdeal, Frances Strohecker, Elsie Smith, Shirley Sutton, Elizabeth Tennant, Betsy Trigg, Sara Trigg, Catherine Vaughan, Mary Parrish Vicellio, Dreama Wald, Jean Weller, Frances Wilson and Ruth Woody.

Miss P. Camper Attends NIC Meet

Miss Pauline Camper, a member of the department of education attended the dinner of the National Interfraternity Conference held at the Hotel Commodore in New York Friday night, November 29, as a representative of the Women's Professional Pan-Hellenic Association.

Wendell L. Willkie, principal speaker at the thirty-second annual dinner of the National Interfraternity Conference, urged everyone on all sides to forget personalities and unite in a "dispassionate" discussion of public affairs in order to preserve and strengthen democracy and the American way of life. The audience of 3,600 men and women, the

Continued on Page 4

Chinese Drive Is Sponsored By YW

Rev. P. L. Palmore Lectures in Chapel

Rev. P. Lee Palmore, a former missionary from Japan, spoke this morning, December 4, in chapel, urging cooperation with the World Student Service Fund Drive, which is being sponsored by the Public Affairs Committee of the Y. W. C. A. in conjunction with its annual world fellowship week.

This drive for the relief of Chinese and European students, began Monday and is being carried out this week through an extensive program. Each student will be given an opportunity to contribute to the work.

Miss Leola Wheeler, who spent a number of years in China, spoke in chapel Tuesday, December 3 on behalf of the movement.

Leading up to the drive, Mrs. Roy Pearson gave a talk on Chinese culture at a Chinese tea held by the Y. W. C. A. Friday afternoon November 29. Mrs. Pearson, daughter of Mrs. Hallie Laing, assistant in the home department has just returned from a five-year stay in China.

Mr. Luther Tucker, a resident of China for the past several years, addressed the student body in chapel Saturday morning, November 30. Also in connection with the drive, the theme of prayers for the past week has been World Christian Fellowship.

Charlotte Gresham, chairman of the committee on Public Affairs says, "The spirit behind this drive to send relief to the stricken students in Europe and in the Orient is one of trying to cement world fellowship by showing our interest and willingness to help in their distress."

Anna Johnson Elected Vice-President FTA

Anna Johnson, a member of the senior class was elected vice-president of the J. L. Jarman chapter of the Future Teachers of America, November 27.

Other officers chosen to fill vacancies of girls who did not return to school are Elva Kibler, treasurer; and Mary Hille McClay, librarian.

Plans for the installation of officers and initiation of new members were discussed. It was suggested that the organization meet only once a quarter with a special program for all members of the teaching profession.

Officers of the club are Margaretta Gerlaugh, president, and Esther Partridge, secretary.

Elizabeth Garrett Heads French Society

Beta Phi Theta, national honorary society in French has recently been reorganized at S. T. C. with Elizabeth Garrett as president. Four members were initiated Monday night December 2, at 8 o'clock in the honors room. Those initiated were Elizabeth Garrett, Texie Belle Felts, Virginia Sydnor and Hazeltine Wright.

The theme of Beta Phi Theta is the achievement in oral and written French. To be qualified for this society one must be a member of the junior or senior class, must make at least a "B" average on all other classes, and she must write a theme in French before she becomes a member.

Miss Helen Draper is sponsor of Beta Phi Theta.

Notice

Mardi Gras queen and court will be nominated on Thursday, December 5, at the table in the hall. Vote for the Venus of your choice basing your selection on beauty rather than popularity.

"Out of Nowhere" Promises To Be Lively Entertainment

Pictured above are juniors in charge of the class production. Left to right, first row: Betty Peerman, Shirley McCalley and Virginia Barksdale, directors; back row: Polly Keller, director; Allene Overbey, chairman; Caroline Eason, male lead and Peggy Bellus, heroine.

S. S. Smith Professes To Be Own Favorite Dramatic Critic

By SARA TRIGG

"I am tempted to say that my favorite dramatic critic is Mr. S. Stephenson Smith," professed Mr. Mr. S. S. Smith, author, educator, theatre critic, and lecturer, in an interview here last Friday night. Seriously though, the next on his list he stated as being Mr. Atkinson. Quite an authority on Shakespeare, Mr. Smith stated the he thought all Shakespearian actors were equally bad; if, however, he was to be pinned down, he would choose the renowned Orson Welles as tops.

To highly responsive audiences Friday, November 29, Mr. Smith gave a series of lectures. His schedule was extremely full, and he talked on a variety of subjects. At 9:10 and 11:00 A. M. he had discussions with English classes, at 3:30 he had a conference with the music group and at 4:30 with the dramatic group. Friday night he lectured on "Broadway and Hollywood in Wartime" giving lively accounts of topical musical comedies and revues—"Of Thee I Sing", "I'd Rather Be Right", "Pins and Needles" etc. Individual presentation and subtle wit were recognized to be the outstanding features of Mr. Smith's lectures.

While giving these lectures before club and college audiences he is at the same time doing research work on creative and interpretive art activities on the campus. At the present time he is on leave of absence from the University of Oregon where he is professor of English. He is well equipped to be a dramatic critic for he knows much about the theater from full experiences in staging original college musical comedies and Gilbert and Sullivan works. He is the author of several books—"The Craft and the Critic", "The Command of Words" and "The Style Rule".

Since Professor Smith is educational counselor for the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers, we were especially interested in the work of this organization. "We are endeavoring to work at a plan," Mr. Smith stated, "by which the really talented people in the artists world may receive a moderate and decent income on which to live. For example, at the present time some of our contemporary popular authors, whose fame will be short lived, are earning as much in a week as our really outstanding writers, whose works will last for generations, are earning in a year."

Mr. Smith's tentative plans include a continuation of his series of lectures on various campuses on the eastern coast. This week he will lecture at the University of Richmond and Hampden-Sydney. We feel we were very fortunate indeed to hear this very versatile and talented educator, and we are enthusiastically looking forward to his appearance this week at Farmville to confer with students interested in creative work on the American campus.

Campus League Head Resigns

May Bartlett and Agnes Patterson, both members of the sophomore class, are the nominees for Campus League Chairman, to be elected tonight, Wednesday, November 4 in Student Body meeting.

Agnes is secretary of the sophomore class and a member of Cotillion Club and the Dramatic Club. She serves as chairman of devotionals on the Sophomore Commission.

May holds the position of president of Alpha Phi Sigma and is treasurer of the Sophomore Commission. Her freshman year she was in charge of morning watch for the freshman commission. She is also a member of Cotillion Club.

The nominee elected will replace Lillian Agnew, former Campus League chairman, who has left school and will be married December 31.

Duties of the Campus League are to keep the campus clean and refrain from improper use of the campus. This week beginning Monday, December 2, this organization of Student Government is sponsoring a Campus League drive to better enforce their regulations.

Notice

Have you bought your Christmas cards? The Alumnae Association is selling engraved Christmas cards with a picture of State Teachers college Rotunda on it. Place your order in Mr. M. B. Coyner's mail box today. Prices of cards are 4 for 25 cents, 8 for 50 cents, and 16 for $1.00.

Overbey Names Junior Production Cast Members

Highlighted by a grandiose combination of music, romance, and gay costumes, an original comedy, "Out of Nowhere", will be presented by the junior class on Tuesday, December 10, at 8 o'clock in the large auditorium. Headed by Peggy Bellus and Caroline Eason, the cast will include approximately 50 members of the class.

The theme centers around a 1940 Broadway production in the Crystal Theatre. Caroline Eason, a very competent director and theatrical producer, discovers a new star—"Out of Nowhere"—in "Lil" Day, played by Peggy Bellus, two weeks before the opening night of his musical show. Interest centers around the phenomenal rise of Lillian from "Joe's Place" to the Crystal Theatre. The major supporting cast is headed by Jane McGinnis, leading lady of the Crystal Theatre and Elizbeth Gunter, co-star playing opposite "Lil". Nineteenth century waltzes and dancing will add much to the flavor of the play. In the last act the efforts of the entire cast come together in the gay panorama of color, music and dancing in a court scene of gay old Vienna.

Allene Overbey is the general chairman of "Out of Nowhere". The various committees include Lucy Turnbull, Anne Turner, Nell White, and Anne Boswell, business; Shirley McCalley, Virginia Barksdale, Betty Peerman, and Polly Keller, directors; Harriet Cantrell, Frances Rosebro, Sara Cline and Margaret Rice, theme committee; Lillian Wahab, and Lillian German, staging; Mary Lilly Purdum, properties; Gene Hardy Kilmon, costumes; Irma Graff, make-up; Dot Johnson, lighting; Nancy Naff, house committee chairman.

As freshmen the present juniors gave "A Magic Carpet", also a musical, and last year, they presented "A Petition to Time".

Christmas Decoration Subject of Bedford's Talk to Home Ec. Club

Miss Virginia Bedford, of the art department, will speak to the Home Economics Club Tuesday night, December 10, at 9 o'clock. This will be the first in a series of educational lectures to be given at club time.

Miss Bedford will speak on gift wrapping, table decorations, door and window designs, and tree trimming for Christmas. All student teachers and home economics majors are invited to attend.

A. C. E. Initiates Twenty-Six Girls

Twenty-six girls were initiated into the Association of Childhood Education Thursday night, November 28, in the Y. W. C. A. Lounge. Preceding initiation Faye Brandon and Dorothy Menefee presented reports of the national convention held in Milwaukee last spring.

The new members taken in at that time were La Reine Thornton, Lillian Wahab, Jennie Noell, Sara Rhea, Gene Hardy Kilmon, Emily Hoskins, Frances Ellett, Rachel De Berry, Gerry Ackiss, Sally Hutchinson, Nancy Naff, Jane Eneeby, Ruth Loving, Margaret Wright, Kay Phillips, Mary Charlotte Jones, Martha Frances Gobb, Norma Bowles, Louise Phillips, Elizabeth Barlow, Lucy Ellen Powell, Ruby Trice, Betsy Austin Ora Earnest, and Polly Keller.

Fate of Rat Week Will Be Decided Tonight at S. B. M.

Do you want to know what is to become of Rat Week? Will it be abolished? Will it continue? Is it to be, from now on, a week of fun, looked forward to by the entire student body, or a week of ignoble deeds dreaded by the freshmen, anticipated by the sophomores, and looked on with disgust by the juniors and seniors?

You can have a voice in just what to make of future Rat Weeks if you will avail yourself of the opportunity of attending the student body meeting tonight in the large auditorium.

The new dining room rules will also be discussed. Now is the time to find out how to conduct yourself as an S. T. C. student should at meal times. Come! See and take away with you ideas that will make our dining room an orderly place in which to eat, rather than a bedlam in which to schedule meetings.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1954

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Mary K. Beck ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Bridget Gentile, Lilly Bec Gray, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Faye Nimmo, Shirley Pierce, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Jane Sanford, Dorothy Sprinkle, Elizabeth Tennant, Frances Thackstone, Sara Trigg.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mary Keith Bingham, Mary St.Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford Helen DeLong, Dearing Fauntleroy, Ellen Hudgins, Anne Moore, Mary Lilly Purdum.

Typists

Chief Typist ..... Frances Pritchett
Typists—Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Thelma Courtney, Nell Pritchett.

Photographers—Virginia Worley, Elizabeth Walls

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1940

American Hypocrisy

Two-thirds of the world today is at war. One war, Hitler's, we hear a great deal about. On the other, the Sino-Japanese conflict, we hear but little. If, however, we should take the time to disentangle ourselves from the massacre in Europe long enough to make an intelligent study of the far eastern situation we would realize that we are far nearer to war with Japan than we are with the mad Austrian. Japan, should she succeed in conquering China, would have a noose around Uncle Sam's neck. A noose made with American profits.

We speak of ourselves as a peace loving nation yet we sell scrap iron with which to kill the Chinese to the Japanese. We finance the tragic conflict by buying 85 per cent of Japan's raw silk and most of her manufactured goods. And at the same time we are lending money to a destitute China. What hypocrisy! Let's put a complete embargo on scrap iron and boycott Japanese merchandise instead of grasping for war-profit.

Active or Passive

This is written to each one of you as members of the Student Body. Tonight we are having a meeting at which we will elect Campus League Chairman for the rest of the year. We hope that in nominating girls for the position you weighed the situation long and earnestly. We hope that you realize the responsibility you are placing upon some individual's shoulders. We caution you to think of the candidates' capabilities and of what she has to offer; that is the only way we can hope to maintain effective student government.

Too, Rat Week Revision Committee will present a report of its findings and offer suggestions as to the suitable solution of our hazing problem. No doubt some of you will oppose one or more of the measures as presented. Therefore, we say to you "Don't insist on an obnoxious "rat" program simply because you were subject to one when you were a freshman. Think instead, of the school as a whole; then we are bound to find a satisfactory solution.

Bouquets AND Brickbats

Well, everyone had a big time over the holidays it seems—and now we're all back ready to settle down to wait for Santa Claus and dear exams!

What is this we have been hearing about Louisa Sanford? She seems to be having a little trouble with Luke . . . Betty Fahr is getting tired of going to the movies by herself these days—we wonder if "Buck" can remedy this? . . . Who is Blanche Colavita having to Senior Dance? Couldn't be anybody she met at Cotillion—or could it? . . . Dot Johnson was mighty interested in what a certain H.-S. boy was doing Thursday afternoon while she was playing hockey—we wonder too . . . Sydney Bradshaw and Jerry Smith both headed for Richmond last Saturday—really hope this won't end in the infernal triangle, but we never know.

'Tis rumored that Lillian Agnew will be hearing wedding bells soon—nothing like it, chillens! Heck, we thought we had a scoop.

An Unfinished Story: Act I Scene I Pi Gamma Mus—Chubby H., Thelma C., and Martha W.—leave for Charlottesville Nov. 15 for a conference (?)—Act I Scene II Arrival in Charlottesville; introduction; attend meeting (maybe); trip to Afton; return to Charlottesville at (censored) o'clock. Act II. Scene I. Return to Farmville! idle chatter about Joe, Bob, Frank, Gene, Tom, Ned and oh! yes convention. Act II Scene II Exit some girls (plus student body for Thanksgiving) Act III Scene I Return of said girls to Farmville; Miss Wheichel is greeted with a box—no, not candy, but a box containing one dozen red roses from Charlottesville Act III Scene II (to be continued).

And speaking of convention souvenirs Pat just received a package from The Citadel.

Did you see Betsy Trigg downtown Thursday afternoon in a spring suit?—perhaps love keeps her warm . . . Helen Lewis looked mighty dreamy-eyed walking in the twilight Thursday afternoon—these H.-S. freshmen really get them.

Natalie Carroll was really broadcasting that congratulations were in order after her Thanksgiving week-end—oh well.

And—speaking of Senior Dance—we just can't wait to meet Frieda Dekker's brother from Tech—save us a dance please . . . Ask Coonie why "annabel" has her running in circles—she's recuperating in the infirmary.

The Weller child was really particular about her dates during Thanksgiving—come, come Jean—give us the lowdown.

How 'bout Dot Bozeman and that Tech junior on the late train last Sunday night—looks like history's repeating itself—wonder what Portsmouth would think? . . . and speaking of Portsmouth we were glad to see Farmville so well represented on the debutante list!

Prevues of Senior Dance: Rotunda's V. P. I. man will be here also from that noble institution will come Bill Etheridge to be the date of Peggy Lou Boyette. Incidentally, P. L. will lead the figure with this said young man at the Christmas V. P. I. dance! . . . Portsmouth . . . "My Bill" from University of North Carolina is expected to be the escort of Jean Weller. (By the way, Jean, what did you decide about the frat pin?) . . . and, meanwhile, Helen Lewis and Mary Jane are in a stew trying to find out who invited the Niver to the dance . . . Campy promises Hunter will be here—minus the newly acquired mustache . . . And the Hall twins do it again as far as consistency is concerned, for their dates hail from V. P. I. . . . for further detail be at Senior Dance.

Well come on Senior Dance and more confusion.

'Bye now . . .

Letters to Editor

Editor of The Rotunda:

Dear Editor:

It looks to me as though most of us at S. T. C. are either in the dark, or else we're pretty far behind the times! After hearing speakers such as the one who spoke in chapel Saturday morning (Mr. Luther Tucker) and reading the daily papers, we should be at least a little alarmed at the thought of the insane forces ruling the world today. We find a particularly crazy set-up in the Japanese-Chinese situation. I think most of us agree that the Sino-Japanese War is horrible, and especially with regard to Japan's responsibility in it. Most of us support "in spirit" the Chinese cause, and hope that by some miracle China will be able to hold out against the fast hardening Nippons. We support "in spirit" and then promptly drop the matter for someone else to worry about!

I wonder if we realize that 85 per cent of Japan's war materials come from the United States? That 90 per cent of Japan's chief industry—the silk industry finds its markets in the U. S.? That Japan pays for her war materials almost entirely through its sales of silk in this country?

What does all this make us? I'd hate to write it down. Personally, I feel like a first cousin to a worm with a little sulphuric acid thrown in! What can we do about it? We can easily say, "Well, what? After all we're only a drop in the bucket!" We might also apply this principle after we're 21 and say, "Why vote? After all what can one vote do?" Suppose everyone did that? And yet, insignificant creatures do vote, and the combined effort accomplishes things!

We can help in a very positive way—if we want to. Why can't we here at S. T. C. start by pledging ourselves to boycott the silk that is paying for the maintenance of suffering and brutality in China? It would mean some sacrifice to our vanity and some inconvenience. But is this too much to a cause of peace and justice?

Some kind-hearted souls say, "Why make the Japanese people suffer when it's the military dictators and their armies who are fighting?" The only reply is that we are now faced with the unpleasant task of choosing the lesser of two evils. The Japanese people may suffer—yes, from a collapse of their silk industry, but their suffering won't be nearly as bestial as the war they are inflicting on China.

In the light of these facts, why don't we pledge ourselves to a practical support we can give—that of boycotting silk hose? If all of Farmville State Teacher's college would do this, it wouldn't be just "a drop in the bucket" but a plop in the bucket whose splash might really cause some waves!

Martha Whelchel

Dear Editor,

Despite the editorials and explanations that have occurred in just about every newspaper, there is still confusion about the show of patriotism when a patriotic song is played. I think if one would think for a second, it would not be difficult to remember there is one national anthem. That is the only song for which the citizens of the United States stand when it is played.

In chapel, when the Farmville High school band played "America" more than half of the audience jumped up. That, probably, in itself was not so bad, but the boistrous laughter that continued throughout the piece is a fine example of rudeness, disrespect, and ignorance.

I'm pretty sure if we could put ourselves in the place of our visitors, such behavior would seldom occur, if ever.

A Senior

"Mike" College Picks . . .

Thursday, December 5

7:30 P. M.—Vox Pop—Parks and Wally attend the preview of the new Hal Roach picture, "Road Show." Kelly, guest—CBS

10:15 P. M.—Choose Up Sides—Sports quiz; Frankie Frisch, guest—CBS

12:30 A. M.—Henry Busse—CBS

Friday, December 6

9:30 P. M. Herbert Marshall and Grace George in "Kind Lady"—CBS

12:30 P. M. Sammy Kaye—CBS

Saturday, December 7

6:00 P. M. Report to the Nation—Summary of week's activities in Washington by Albert L. Warner and John C. Daly—CBS

9:00 P. M. Your Hit Parade—With Barry Wood, Bea Wain, Hit Paraders Chorus, Mark Warnow's orchestra—CBS

11:15 P. M. Everett Hoagland—CBS

Sunday, December 8

2:00 P. M. Ignace Jan Paderewski—Speaks on Alien Registration—CBS

3:00 P. M. New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra—John Barbirolli, conductor; Gitta Gradova, pianist—CBS

4:30 P. M. Andre Kostelanetz and Albert Spalding in "Music That Refreshes" with Lily Pons as guest soloist—CBS

8:00 P. M. Helen Hayes Theater—Starring Helen Hayes—CBS

12:30 A. M. Tony Pastor—NBC Blue

Gleanings

By JACK COCK

Last week the columnist of this paper discussed the possibility of an economic union of the nations of the western hemisphere. This week we are going to continue the discussion from a military standpoint.

According to magazine writer Alvin W. Hansen "We can conceive of the western hemisphere achieving solidarity by one of two methods (a) the operation of a ruthless imperialism which brings all the nations of the two continents under the military subjugation of the United States; and (b) voluntary collective action by the nations concerned."

Undoubtedly the first of these can be discarded for the simple reason that it is contrary to the spirit and psychology of the people of the United States.

The choice then would be a voluntary union of all the nations, a union which would benefit not only the United States but the rest of the hemisphere as well.

Across the ocean Fascism and Nazism have spread like a fire through rotted timber, and already sparks are alighting in the western hemisphere. Uruguay escaped a Nazi camp by a hair's breadth—European possessions in this hemisphere are in constant danger of being taken over by the Nazis—the Panama Canal is menaced. Canada is menaced, Brazil, New York—every individual section of this hemisphere is facing the menace of the totalitarian state.

We grant that Hitler cannot live for ever, but undoubtedly some of his doctrines will survive him, and we firmly believe that a union could be so sound and so strong that the western hemisphere need never fear invasion of its territory by outsiders.

Even a hasty glance at a map of the world will show you that through our natural boundaries we are already a union by nature—joined together by nature fortified by nature. Sooner or later we've got to realize, however, that with the rapid advancement of man's inventions, we cannot depend upon nature alone for our defense.

Up until a short while ago we, of this hemisphere with 3,000 miles between us and Europe, have felt comparatively safe from invasion.

However, upon close examination of the situation we find that Brazil is only 1,600 miles from a French African post or eight hours for a fast Nazi bombing plane—and striking closer home—New York is only 13 bomber hours from Europe.

Situated even more dangerously, and more susceptible to attack, is Canada. Following the successful occupation of Norway and Denmark by Germany the establishment of air power in Iceland would put Germany within striking distance of Quebec, Montreal, and Ottowa.

In Washington after a study of the possibility of an invasion of the United States from Iceland it was discovered that Iceland came within the 1,000 mile limit of the American shores.

The possession by Germany of the colonies of Denmark and Holland creates a threat to the western hemisphere that must be met. The Monroe Doctrine is not sufficient. How else can we meet it sufficiently other than by a policy of union?

The idea is not new. On the contrary it originated over a hundred years ago with Simon Boliver in 1825.

The progress made by various Pan American Conferences and meetings, the long strides taken during the last hundred years toward hemisphere solidarity, the demonstration of the British commonwealth of nations that autonomous nations can work together in a close partnership—the living example of our own forty-eight United States. The distance from Canada to Chile being no farther today with our

Continued on Page 4

Jane Powell, Ruth L. Purdum To Lead Senior Dance Figure

Buzz Smith's Band To Furnish Music; Committees Listed

Jane Powell, of Hampton, who was president of the class of '40, will lead the figure at the Senior Prom as honorary member of the senior class. The dance will be Saturday, December 7, from 8:30 to 12 o'clock in the gym.

Ruth Lea Purdum, president of the class, Esther Atkinson, vice-president, Boonie Stevenson, secretary and Betty Beal Fahr, treasurer, will assist in leading the figure which will begin at 9:30. During the figure, programs will be given to the seniors by the Little Sisters of the officers. This will be followed by intermission when refreshments will be served in Student Building Lounge.

Green and white, the class colors, will be used for decorations in the gym and in the lounge.

Committees for the dance are Forrestine Whitaker, general chairman; Faye Brandon, Emily Hoskins, Louise Painter and Betty Fahr, music; Patsy Fletcher and Dorothy Rollins, decorations; Patsy Smith, Frances Pritchett, Emily Hoskins, Anna George, Ruth Winstead, Virginia Richards, Helen Seward, Marjorie Holt, floor committee.

Due to a misunderstanding, a mistake was made in the announcement of the orchestra to play for the dance. The Virginia Cavaliers from Charlottesville will render music for the occasion. The band is composed of ten pieces and led by Buzz Smith. Lawrence Shoddy is featured as vocalist. This group of modern swingsters has played for numerous college dances throughout the state.

The receiving line in Student Lounge will include Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Jane Powell, Mr. Charlie French, senior classman, and officers of the class.

Jane Powell, honorary member of the senior class, and Ruth Lea Purdum, president of the class, who will lead the figure at the dance Saturday night.

Personals

Duke-Pitt game at Durham, Army-Navy game at Philadelphia, and Richmond were host to a number of S. T. C. girls last week-end.

Cheering at the big Duke-Pitt football game were Faye Brandon, M. K. Ingham, Constance Loftin, and Elsye Berry Yates.

In the other direction we find rooters at the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia. Among the spectators were Betty Henritze, Frances Hoback, and Mary Martha Peery.

Christmas not being far away, we find that many S. T. C. girls did their early shopping at Richmond. Those going to Richmond last week-end were Jane Ford, Grace Wallace, Betty Youngberg, Charlotte Rose, Anne Berry, Carroll Costello, Ethel Carr, Helen Dawson, Dot Darracott, Ellen Ebel, Jeanne Sears, Jerry Smith, Helen Lewis, Betty Boutchard, Dorothy Gaul, Jean Hatton, Patricia Jackson, Mickey Beck, Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, Helen Ott and Alice Seibert.

Dr. Simkin's Tea

On Saturday, November 23 from four to six o'clock Dr. F. B. Simkins entertained the administration and S. T. C. girls remaining at school during the Thanksgiving holiday with a tea at his home. Mrs. Edmund Hubard and Mrs. Jim Davidson poured Chinese tea. The guest list included Mrs. Hallie Laing, Mrs. Roy Pearson, Mrs. P. B. Turnbull, Ascita Altomore, Sarah Carbonell, Lolita Robert, Carmen Portela, Norah Beauchamp, Celia Sosa, Priscilla Barreto and Rosaura Sosa.

Carter-Bruce

Mr. and Mrs. John Gilbert Carter, of Blairs, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sarah Frances, to Taylor Mottley Bruce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Watts Bruce of Farmville. Sarah is a member of the present junior class.

Nottingham-Baldwin

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Henry Nottingham of Eastville announced the engagement of their daughter, Clara, to Thomas Kyle Baldwin of Farmville. The wedding will take place December 25. Clara was a member of the class of '38.

Kappa Delta Pi Banquet

Kappa Delta Pi, honorary society in education and scholarship entertained at a Christmas banquet in honor of their new members, Wednesday night, December 4, in the tea room. Among those who attended besides the student members, were Miss Pauline Camper, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Wynne, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Coyner, Miss Alice Carter, Miss Helen Draper, Miss Grace Coble, Miss Edna Bolick, Miss Mary Nichols, Miss Grace Moran, Miss Carrie B. Tallaferro, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Grainger, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin.

Debaters Attend

Continued from Page 1

a practice tourney for all forms of forensic activities and is attended by colleges and universities from all sections of the United States.

Fashion Notes

Here's an all-college miniature fashion show. It reveals the snazziest of campus styles—styles you'll be seeing the moment the snow starts flying. The four fetching maids you see here were photographed at the Ford Motor pavilion, where they appeared in daily revues during the New York World's Fair. The revues featured college-girl clothes.

In the upper left and lower right photos, Helen Thomas, Betty, and Peggy Montgomery wear red flannels in strictly-1941 modes. Helen tells her audiences that these gay togs will get any girl an "A" grade in appearance on every occasion from classes to outdoor capers. And lovely Helen ought to know. She's a Phi Beta Kappa from Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh.

Helen wears a red flannel pinafore, with sash tied demurely in back, and a softly feminine white silk blouse. Her companion, Peggy, displays a flannel fireman's shirt, a round wool skirt of big bold red and blue tartan, and a sheared lamb jacket. The coat is lined with red flannel, and it has flap pockets and brass buttons. Beautiful Peggy is a brains-girl—she studied business at Ohio Wesleyan University, and dramatic arts at the American Academy in New York.

Sally Powers, upper right, is a graduate of Colby Junior College in New London, N. H. She displays a tweed suit by Vera Maxwell, famed American designer. It's blue and brown. The diagonal-lined skirt is slenderizing. Sally's feathered cap is made of the same checked tweed.

The lower left photo shows Keith Keesee, of Miss Semple's School in New York, in an every-outdoor sport costume. It's composed of brown gabardine slacks and suede oxfords, brilliant red scarf, and white blanket wool jacket with raccoon-edged hood. Under the warm jacket Keith wears a brown sharkskin shirt.

There's fashion news in the cars these typical coeds displayed in the Ford style review. Peggy and Helen showed off a 1941 Mercury station wagon, just introduced in the line. This eight-passenger model with movable front and rear seats is sturdy enough for all-around hauling and smart enough for driving to a distant prom. It comes in eight fashionable colors. Keith and Sally chose the newest, handsomest version of a standing favorite—the super de luxe Ford station wagon. This sleek and sporty model also seats eight.

All of these coeds' clothes are by Lord and Taylor, smart Fifth Avenue store.

The Ford pavilion had 1,016 employees—the largest staff at the Fair. Forty-six colleges and universities were represented by students or graduates. Ford officials gave preference, in their hiring, to men and women who were working their way through school. Minimum salary was $30 for a forty-hour week, and when the Fair closed the Ford Motor Company found jobs for almost its entire pavilion personnel.

Latest College Styles

THESE college girls displayed latest styles of clothes and motor cars at the Ford Motor pavilion at the New York World's Fair.

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

Of course . . .
Shannon's
Best food in town
Best Fountain Drinks
Best place to meet friends
Phone 224

Dressmaking. Tailoring. Alterations, fur coats a specialty
Mrs. G. M. Gilispie
Telephone No. 21
Formerly with Davidson's

Candies . . .
Stationery . . .
Toilet Articles . . .
Notions
ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

Christmas Gifts
S. T. C. STATIONERY SPECIAL 59c
Beautiful Stationery with name—complete 69c
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

CHRISTMAS GIFTS—Boxed and Xmas wrapped gratis—The largest assortment ever carried—in Farmville from 10c to $5.
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

VISIT
DAVIDSON'S
FOR THE XMAS GIFT
THAT MEANS MORE

NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store
XMAS CARDS
For Mother, Dad, Sister, Brother and HIM

THE PERFECT CHRISTMAS GIFT!
A PORTRAIT OF YOU!
—By—
DAVIDSON'S STUDIO

Be Ready For
SENIOR DANCE
Look Your Best
Shop at
BALDWINS

Sport Slants

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

Come on, fellows, trot, walk canter . . . be pretty and for goodness sakes, don't forget I'm up here on ya. Pegasus Riding Club certainly did put on a nice horse show last Friday at Longwood! Congratulations to Patterson, Thorington, Carr, German, Cocks Waid, and Pearsall for those big blue ribbons they rode away with! That white horse Anne Cocks was on was enjoying extra sprits and dropped her from the saddle, but determined to "stick", she went back into the ring and took first honors in her class . . . That's the spirit, Anne . . . not only "don't change horses in midstream," but "don't lose a horse there either" . . . Miss Fox has several new horses at the stables and they're dandies. During these crisp fall days, riding is just the sport for outdoor exercise . . . whoa, fellow . . .

How about those hockey games last Thursday when the Seniors scored one against the Freshmen, and the Juniors scored one against the Sophomores. Look out Green and White, Red and White still leads and their colors are on the cup now! Push ahead and see what you can do about it . . . The honorary hockey squad has been chosen and we find it composed of the striking athletes: Hobson, D. Johnson, Walker, Hillsman, McIlwaine, Barlow, Gooden, Rogers, Jennings, Purdum, A. Johnson, and Foster . . . And so except for several minor games this week, the hockey season is ending, but we'll find it active again when the spring dawns anew . . . farewell clubs, bruises and hits, leg guards, and balls. We enjoyed hitting with you this season! . . .

These basketeers really have the energy plus during practices . . . in fact Miss Iler may have to start wearing a cage for protection . . . but soon they'll smooth down and make a team which really is a team! The basketball season is moving in and before long games will be scheduled. The freshmen organized as a team the other day against upper classmen and you just wait . . . ? Do you like basketball? If so come to practice and join the gang in a game; or your class in a team and your school in a victory. . . .

What do you do on Saturday nights? Of course if you're cute there may be a date, or perhaps go to the show-some??may study but the rest of you must be somewhere—so before that ole favorite Saturday night bath, drop by the shower room, get a swim suit, and paddle a while in the pool to the sweet tunes of the Hit Parade. The pool is open from 8-9:30 so some down and enjoy with us a good taste of recreational swimming. (A bit of "side" information to some of you: it lets off big hips and builds up little ones). Make ready for the holidays!

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop

"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

Planters Bank & Trust Company

Farmville, Virginia

Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

KLEANWELL Cleaners & Tailors

Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling

Main St. Opposite P. O.

Phone 98

Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Honor Hockey Squad Picked; Fourteen Players Are Named

No Games To Be Played This Year

Although no active hockey team will be selected this year, an honorary team has been picked. Due to the condition of our present field, no games could be scheduled with other schools. Because of this, an active varsity team was not chosen.

At present a new hockey field is in the making and scheduled to be finished soon. There will be games scheduled with other schools and a active hockey team representing Farmville will be selected next year.

The honorary team, selected just as the regular varsity, is composed of the following girls: R. W., Jane Hobson; R. I., Dot Johnson; C. F., Hester Chattin; L. I., Harriet Walker; L. W., Florence Lee; R. H., Hallie Hillsman; C. H., Helen McIlwaine; L. H., Elizabeth Barlow; R. F. Marjorie Gooden; L. F., Rosalie Rogers; G., Betsy Jennings. Substitutes: Spilly Purdum, Anna Johnson, Lee Foster.

Gleanings

Continued from Page 2

modern means of transportation and communication than it was from Maine to California in the days of our ancesters—the natural boundaries which make the nations of the western hemisphere a union in themselves—the rise of totalitarianism in the East—and the age-old slogan, united we stand; divided we fall, tend toward the desirability and the inevitability of a union of the Americas.

COLLEGE SHOPPE
Phone 200

A good place to meet,
But the best place to eat

The Student's Choice
ECONOMY FOOD STORE
for
FANCY FRUITS, COOKIES, AND "SNAX"
For All Times

A & N STORE

Lady's jodphurs, tan and brown $2.95

Jodphur Boots $3.75
Jodphur Shoes $2.75
Riding Breeches, tan and brown $2.95
Riding Boots $5.95
Sweat Shirts and Athletic Socks

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

BUTCHER'S

The convenient store for faculty and student body.

Good things to eat and drink

Girls Win Ribbons In Riding Show

Ten Classes Of Riders Participate

Pegasus Riding Club under the supervision of Miss Stella Fox, instructor, presented its annual horseshow last Friday, November 29 in the riding ring at Longwood.

The show consisted of ten classes and a special horsemanship class which was open to all who had not competed in one of the other classes. Blue, red, and yellow ribbons were presented in each class to first, second, and third places respectively, judging on horsemanship only. Class 1, Tate Patterson, first; Marian Weger, second. Class 2, Shirley Pierce, first; Harriette Walker, second; Elizabeth Ann Parker third. Class 3, Evelyn Thorington first; Irma Page, second; Betsy Owen, third. Class 4, Florence Carr, first; May Wertz, second, Rebecca Spicer, third. Class 5, Lillian German, first; Nelle White, second; Jane Scott, third. Class 6, Anne Cocks, first; Catherine Gosney, second; Kay Spencer, third. Class 7, Dreama Waid, first; Beezy Townsend, second; Anne Benton, third. Class 8 Mary Evelyn Pearsall, first; Dorothy Gaul, second; Nell Pritchett, third. Class 9, Julian Putney, first place. Class 10, Dixie Roundy, first place. For horsemanship class Mr. H. C. Baldwin, first; Mr. H. L. Newbill, second; Rosser Flippin and Mrs. S. W. Putney, third.

In the confirmation class, Dr. Finch on Charlie Boy won first on performance; Mr. H. C. Baldwin on Bill won for the best all around horse; and Mr. Padgett on Dorothy won for confirmation.

Prizes awarded to each place winner were donated by Kleanwell, Martin Jeweler's, Chappells, Gray's Drug Store, Patterson Drug Co., Davidson's, The Hub,

STATE
"Your Community Center"

Wednesday, Dec. 4
Last Day!
ALICE FAYE JOHN PAYNE
"TIN PAN ALLEY"

Thurs.—Fri.—Sat.
Dec. 5—6—7
KAY KYSER & ORCHESTRA
"YOU'LL FIND OUT"

Next Mon., Tue., Dec. 9-10
JEANETTE MacDONALD NELSON EDDY
"BITTER SWEET"

LEE
"Your Family Theatre"

Wednesday Only! Dec. 4
Double Feature!
BORIS KARLOFF
'BEFORE I HANG'
and
GEORGE O'BRIEN
"BULLET CODE"

Thurs.-Fri. Dec. 5-6
MARJORIE RAMBEAU ALLAN HALE
"Tugboat Annie Sails Again"

Saturday Only Dec. 7
2 Big Features!
HOPALONG CASSIDY
"THREE MEN FROM TEXAS"
Also TIM HOLT
"LADDIE"
(From the novel by Gene Stratton Porter)

Next Mon.-Tues., Dec. 9-10
'Hit Parade of 1941'

Seniors Trounce Sophs; Frosh Win In Hockey Finals

Seniors tied with Juniors and Frosh in the interclass hockey finals last Thursday afternoon November 28, by defeating the Frosh in their final hockey game. On Monday, December 2, the Juniors trounced the Sophs in the last game of the intramural tournament. As a result of these games the final score of the round robin contest stands: Seniors 4, Juniors 4, Sophs 0, Frosh 4. By totaling the greatest number of points Red and White repeated last year's performance and again won twenty points toward the Color Cup.

N. C. Alumnae Group To Be Organized

Mrs. M. B. Coyner, Miss Grace Mix and Dr. J. L. Jarman will go to Charlotte, North Carolina this week to organize an alumnae chapter there.

There are fifteen or more S. T. C. alumnae in and around Charlotte. Mrs. Redhead, the former Virginia Potts, Farmville graduate, will entertain Mrs. Coyner, Miss Mix and Dr. Jarman.

DeLuxe Cleaners, Shannon's, Southside Drug Co., Baldwins, and Lynns.

The judges included Miss Elizabeth Burger, Mr. Garland Moss, Mr. F. C. Elliott, and Mr. Crawford.

Miss Camper

Continued from Page 1

largest ever assembled for a public dinner in New York, included presidents, deans, professors, graduates and undergraduates of more than 100 leading colleges, participating in a two day session of the conference. Representatives of the Association of Educational Sororities and the Women's Professional Pan-Hellenic Association and the National Pan-Hellenic Congress were guests at the dinner Friday night.

Lowell Thomas, a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity, was toastmaster. L. G. Balfour, member of Sigma Chi and president of L. G. Balfour Co., fraternity jewelers, was re-elected chairman of the conference. One hundred and fifty men of the combined glee clubs of Dartmouth College and Cornell University, led the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Your Gift Headquarters
Martin, the Jeweler

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

CHRISTMAS GIFTS—Individually wrapped and packed free. Largest assortment ever, such as Costume Jewelry, Bunny Mittens, Hose, Underwear, etc. Do your shopping early at the
DOROTHY MAY STORE
Charge it if you like

Kauzlarich Plans Dance Program For December 12

Miss Emily Kauzlarich, dance instructor, has announced that the modern dance groups in the college will give a demonstration of their work in the gym at 7:30 o'clock on Thursday, December 12. The fundamentals, composition classes and Orchesis will take part.

The program, which is being offered so that students and faculty may have the opportunity to see the purpose and nature of dance, will show the progression from simple fundamental techniques to composition and improvisations. First year dance students will demonstrate movement techniques, fundamentals and the approach to composition through improvisation. Orchesis, honor dance group and the composition class will offer several compositions.

Right Dad...it's the ONE cigarette that really SATISFIES

...for cooler milder better taste,
Chesterfield is the smoker's cigarette

Hunt the world over and you can't find the equal of Chesterfield's right combination of Turkish and American tobaccos...the best tobaccos that grow in all of Tobaccoland.

Do you smoke the cigarette that SATISFIES

GRANTLAND RICE, dean of American sports writers, has a friendly visit with his charming daughter Florence—of the stage and movies.

FIRST STEP IN MAKING CHESTERFIELDS... the purchase by highest bid of mild ripe tobaccos. Chesterfield buyers attend every leading tobacco market in this country and in Turkey and Greece. (As seen in the new film "TOBACCOLAND, U.S.A.")

Chesterfield

Copyright 1940, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

EXAMS ARE UPON US

The Rotunda

BUT HAPPY HOLIDAYS ANYWAY

VOLUME XX | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1940 | NO. 11

Elsye Berrye Yates To Reign Over Mardi Gras

Thackston Winner In Speaking Contest

Frances Thackston, sophomore from Durham, North Carolina was acclaimed "Dixie Champion Impromptu Speaker" and Elizabeth Ann Parker, Portsmouth, won second place in problem solving at the annual Dixie Forensic Tournament held at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, South Carolina last week-end, December 6-8.

In debating, Farmville was represented on the affirmative side by Elizabeth Ann Parker and Jack Cock who won four debates and lost two. They won in clashes against Carson Newman, The Citadel, Emory and Henry, and Wingate; and lost to Lenoir Rhyne and Brevard.

The negative side of the question was debated by Frances Thackston and Myrtle Jenkins bates winning over Wake Forest, who won three out of seven de-Wingate, and Winthrop and losing to Lenoir Rhyne, Presbyterian College, University of Alabama, and Western Carolina.

The subject for debate was the national Pi Kappa Delta question: "Resolved that the Nations of the Western Hemisphere should form a permanent Union."

At the tourney were 198 official delegates representing 27 different colleges. Leading the list were Mars Hill, Junior College, with 16 contestants, and Clemson with 14 contestants.

Frances is a sophomore transfer from Madison College, Harrisonburg, Virginia. This is her first year of intercollegiate debating. At Madison Frances was a member of the forensic sosiety.

Elizabeth Ann, a junior, has debated for Farmville for three years in numerous intercollegiate debates. She is a member of Pi Kappa Delta and is vice-president of the Debate Club.

Jack is a senior and this is her third year of intercollegiate debating. Frances, a freshman, is beginning her first year as an intercollegiate debater.

Annual Christmas Dinner

History will repeat itself again, when on Friday, December 13, the traditional Christmas banquet will be given in S. T. C. dining hall at 6 o'clock.

During the dinner Christmas carols will be sung. This year six girls have been appointed to lead the students in singing the songs These girls are Virginia Barksdale, Jean Moyer, Virginia Richards, Forrestine Whitaker, Betsy Jennings, and Fiddle Haymes.

Modern Dance Groups Will Give Informal Demonstration

The fundamentals and composition classes with Orchesis, the dance club, will present a modern dance demonstration, Thursday, December 12 at 9 p m. This is to be a demonstration of dance in all its present teaching forms, not an exhibition.

Opening the program the fundamentals class will demonstrate the following:

(1) Tools of movement
(2) Improvisations on movement
(3) Studies, showing development of a technique as it will be used by the composition class and Orchesis in their compositions.

Composition Class:

(1) Three authentic pre-classic dance forms:
   a. Allemande—Motheson
   b. Caurante—Frescobaldi
   c. Sarabande—Vidal
(2) Abstracts of above:
   a. "Two again the World" (duet from Allemande) — Handel.
   b. "Gossip" (solo from Caurante)—Niemann.
   c. "Only Faith is Left" (group from Sarabande)—Satie

Orchesis:

(1) Theme and Variations—music by Mae Wertz
   a. 'Rise to Power"
   b. "Air Raid"
      (This is an unfinished group project which grew out of the social scene of today)
(2) "Squaring the Found" (Americana)—Guinon
(3) Three Christmas Carols:
   a. "Lullaby to a Lost Child" (an old French carol)
   b. "Here We Go A-Caroling" (an old Bohemian carol)
   c. "Ring Out the Old—Ring in the New" (an old German carol)

Everyone is invited. There is no admission.

College Observes Traditional Hanging of Greens Friday

Friday night after Miss Rice tells the story of "The Other Wise Man", the Freshman Commission will sponsor the "Hanging of the Greens" an old custom that has come down century by century to our generation and which has likewise woven itself into the Christmas tradition of our Alma Mater.

The rite of the "Hanging of the Greens" is eagerly awaited by everyone familiar with the occasion, for 'tis then we "deck the halls with boughs of holly." As we leave the auditorium we are given pieces of running cedar, and caroling our way around to the Rotunda, we decorate the posts, stairway, the railing around second and third floors, pictures, doorways, and mantle. Here again, everyone joins in singing Christmas carols. The spirit of freindship and of the Christmas season blend into an atmosphere of graciousness and beauty that many of us will never forget.

This custom of hanging greens first existed in the time of the Romans and was pagan in origin. The Roman gods were supposed to have descended to hang evergreens in the houses of those whom they favored with high esteem. The house of Peleus was thought to have been the first into which the gods entered and hung from the ceilings the greens.

But today we have borrowed this ancient custom and have given to it a new significance. When we hang the greens, we are binding our hearts into one—to Joan, to our Alma Mater, and to the spirit of Christmas.

Y. W. Sponsors Xmas Program This Week

Pageant, Concert And White Christmas Are Yuletide Highlights

In accordance with the Yuletide season, the Y. W. C. A. will present a Christmas pageant entitled "O Holy Night" in the auditorium during prayers tonight, December 11. This program initiates a series of events which have been planned for the celebration of the Christmas season.

Depicting the Christmas as found in the book of Luke, the pageant will be presented in tableau form. Caralie Nelson will read the scripture as the scenes are presented. In the first scene, the angel, Virginia Howell, will sing "While Shepherds Watch Their Flock by Night" accompanied by the Junior A'Capella Choir. Louisa Sanford, Miriam Hanvey, Florence Thierry, and Helen DeLong will enact the role of shepherds.

Scene II is the manger where Nancy Dupuy, Beth Johnson and Susie Pearl Crocker, the three wise men, will sing "We Three Kings of the Orient Are." Virginia Barksdale and Caroline Harvey play the parts of the Madonna and Joseph, respectively. The angles are Catherine May and Ellen Hudgins. With a chorus singing "Silent Night" the wise men bring forth gifts which are to be presented to the young Christ Child. A special selection, "Cantique de Noel," will be sung by Virginia Richards.

The program also will include group singing of "Away in a Manger," "O Come All Ye Faithful," and "Joy to the World."

Eleanor Folk, head of prayers committee, is chairman of the program; Dot Johnson is head of lighting committee; and the music is in charge of the A'Capella Choir.

Nelson Reads "Why Chimes Rang"

"Why the Chimes Rang," an old favorite among the Christmas stories, will be told during the service of prayers tomorrow night, December 12, by the president of the Student Body, Caralie Nelson. The telling of this story by the president of the Student Body is one of the Christmas customs at S. T. C.

Friday the 13th, always remembered because of its superstitions appeal, again marks a memorable occasion as that is the date of the annual Christmas dinner. This will be followed by the traditional "Hanging of the Greens" which is under the auspices of the Freshman Commission. Running cedar, evergreens and mistletoe will decorate the entire Rotunda after which carols will be led by Sarah Chambers, chairman of Y. W .C. A. music committee.

Later in the evening at Prayers Miss Minnie V. Rice will again

Continued on Page 6

Virginian Adds Staff Members

Shirley Pierce, Roanoke, and Elizabeth Tennent, Hopewell, both members of the freshman class, have recently been added to the annual staff announced May Wertz, editor.

Shirley, who will serve on the business staff, is an officer on the Freshman Commission, publicity chairman of the Riding Club, a member of the Dramatic and Cotillion Clubs, and a reporter on The Rotunda staff.

Elizabeth who works on the membership committee of the Y. W. C. A., is a member of the Cotillion Club and a reporter on The Rotunda staff. She will serve on the literary staff of the annual.

MARY ELIZABETH PETTICREW

Petticrew Elected May Day Chairman

Other Committee Heads Listed

Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, a senior from Roanoke, was elected at the regular student body meeting December 4 as General Chairman of May Day. Mary Elizabeth has been an active participant in May Day since her freshman year, and is head of Orchesis dance group this year.

Marjorie Gooden from Lynchburg will act in the capacity of Business Manager; Dell Warren, Midland, is in charge of staging; Anne Turner, Richmond, properties; May Wertz, Roanoke, music; Dot Lawrence, Salem, and Nan Duer, Toano, costumes; Pat Gibson, Astoria, N. Y., theme; Sara Hall, transportation; and Madge McFall, Danville, dance.

These girls will choose girls to work under them on their respective committees.

The names were turned in by the Physical Education faculty as suggested nominees and were voted upon by the student body at the meeting Wednesday night, December 4.

$600 Pledged For Student Fund

"Five hundred and twenty students of S. T. C. have pledged $600 to the World Student Service Fund", announced Charlotte Gresham, chairman of the public affairs committee of the Y. W. C. A.

These pledges represent the culmination of a drive, which the Public Affairs committee of the Y. W. C. A. sponsored last week, November 30 through Dec. 7, in conjunction with its annual world fellowship week.

Charlotte further added that $135 of the pledged money has already been received from the students, the highest pledge being $25, Miss Mary Nichols, professor of English and in charge of faculty contributions, has turned in $30.

Due to the pledge form of contributing the drive will be left officially open until April when all pledges must be paid in full. On February 1 and April 1 provisions will be made for receiving payments on the pledges; however, a payment may be made anytime during the year.

Gamma Psi Bids Six

Gamma Psi, honorary art sorority issued bids to Winifred Wright, Marjorie Rice, Imogene Claytor, Bess Windham, Florence Lee and Geraldine Beckner.

Four Seniors, Four Juniors Elected To Queen's Court; Rollins Is Chairman of Event

Elsye Berrye Yates, a senior from Suffolk, will reign as queen of Mardi Gras on Tuesday, February 25. The queen-elect has been president of the Choral Club for the past two years and is active in all phases of music. She is a member of Pi Kappa Sigma sorority and Cotillion Club.

Members of her court from the senior class will include Betty Fahr, Richmond; Louise Painter, Roanoke; Nancy Pierpont, Salem; and Nancy Wolfe, Lynchburg; Nancy Naff, Roanoke; Cottie Radspinner, Richmond; Mary Lou Shannon, Richmond; and May Wertz, Roanoke, will represent the junior class.

Dorothy Rollins is general chairman of the affair and Yates Carr will serve as business manager. Also on the committee are Libby West and Pat Gibson. Other committees are to be selected after Christmas as are the orchestra and judges. Members of Pi Gamma Mu will decorate, arrange for orchestra, decide on suitability of costumes and handle all business matters.

Fashioned After New Orleans

Mardi Gras, which is sponsored annually by Pi Gamma Mu, is patterned after the world famous New Orlean festival. Everyone attending the dance is required to be in costume. Prizes will be offered for the best costume (couple), the most original and prettiest. These awards will be on display in Martin's window after Christmas.

The crowning of the queen, feature of the evening, will be immediately followed by a special floor show, which will include songs, dances and other entertainment.

Cottie Radspinner, Mary Lou Shannon and Nancy Wolfe were members of last year's court which Essie Millner reigned over. All members of Mardi Gras court have been members of May Court.

Other nominees were Helen Ott, Anne Benton, Jeanne Sears, Pat Whitlock, Jane Lee Hutchison, Martha Smith, Helen Watts and Helen Wiley Hardy.

The committee which nominated for the election was composed of the classman and president of each of the classes, an adviser to Pi Gamma Mu and two members of the fraternity.

Dr. Walmsley Elected Head of Va. Council Of Social Studies

Dr. James Elliot Walmsley, head of the department of history, was recently elected to the presidency of the Virginia Council of Social Studies—a group to do research work in the educational practices of Virginia. Dr. R. E. Swindls of the University of Virginia faculty was chosen secretary.

Monday, December 2, Dr. Walmsley attended the meeting of the Educational Political Commission, national organization at Richmond, Va. He was one of a hundred Virginias selected to attend this meeting. The group convened to discuss "Democracy and Education". Dr. Walmsley was on the committee to define the aims of democracy.

Virginian Subscription

The staff of the Virginian is anxious to complete subscription sales during the month of January. Plan to get your money for the book during the holidays. Save your Christmas check for your yearbook.

The table in the hall will be open all day January 4 to take your subscription.

Price of the annual this year has been reduced from $5 to $4. February 1 is the deadline for subscriptions.

ELSYE BERRYE YATES

Patterson Heads Campus League

Agnes Patterson, a sophomore from Winston-Salem, N. C., was elected chairman of the Campus League in the regular Student Body meeting, December 4. Agnes replaces Lillian Agnew who withdrew from college.

With the two representatives on the league from each class, Agnes' duty will be to maintain the support and cooperation of the students in keeping the campus clean and in refraining from improper use of the campus and the buildings.

Agnes is temporary secretary of the sophomore class and secretary of the Granddaughters' Club. She is on the Sophomore Commission and is a member of the Dramatic Club.

Christmas Events

Dec. 11
6:30 Y. W. C. A. Cabinet Party
6:45 Christmas Pageant
9:30 Rotunda Party

Dec. 12
10:00 Student Council Party

Dec. 13
6:00 Christmas Dinner
Prayers—Story ("The Other Wise Man")
Hanging of Greens
8:00 A. C. E. Party

Dec. 14
Sorority Parties

Dec. 15
8:30 H. S. - S. T. C. Choirs Christmas Concert
10:00 Caroling

Dec. 16
6:45 White Christmas

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Mary K. Beck ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Bridget Gentile, Lilly Bee Gray, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Faye Nimmo, Shirley Pierce, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Jane Sanford, Dorothy Sprinkle, Elizabeth Tennant, Frances Thackston, Sara Trigg.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mary Keith Bingham, Mary St.Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Hele DeLong, Dearing Fauntleroy, Ellen Hudgins, Anne Moore, Mary Lilly Purdum.

Typists

Chief Typist ..... Frances Pritchett
Typists—Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Thelma Courtney, Nell Pritchett.

Photographers—Virginia Worley, Elizabeth Walls

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1940

The Idiosyncracies of Men

Editor's Note: The following is dedicated to W. & L. University and Hampden Sydney College in answer to editorials which have appeared in their papers recently.

Men, says Webster, are human beings. We wonder. Sometimes they do the queerest things. The star of self interest steers them. Oftentimes they speak with more claret than clarity, but always about themselves. The male of the speeches is deadlier than the female. The latter may have a small vocabulary but think of the turnover. Man uses six syllable words in dealing with the crudiments of the subject—he strains the rest through a cigar.

Men have an oversupply of vitamin I. We have evidence of this in the fact that no matter how "down-in-the-dumps" a man may be he can always imagine that some woman is in love with him.

Whatever their faults, we like men. But we hate their condescension and their susceptibility to flattery. Woman knows that a good line is the shortest distance between two dates. Many males have not the intelligence to figure out this geometrical problem. Those who do succeed in solving it, hate to admit that they've the right answer.

Males are easily recognized by their jutting chin, whiskers, shaving lotion—tobacco smell and tweedy tweeds. We love the hearty way they shake hands and greet each other. They are supposed to support the family but haven't been doing much along this line since Mr. Roosevelt came into power.

Some men go to college. Many pursue learning; an equal number learn pursuing. Recently, there has been some controversy as to their ability to engage in the latter at a minimum cost. Dutch-treat dates have been tried. Now coeds are found wanting—corsages. If collegians did not demand dates of low I. Q. standard to inflate their egos, they might clear up this situation. Dates with higher I. Q.'s might understand why a boy does not have enough money to send a corsage.

Are gyps off the old block piling up? Has chivalry become chiselery?

Bouquets AND Brickbats

Congratulation seniors. That was the most wonderful dance and have you ever seen such a crowd—really couldn't move an inch! How 'bout that figure? Really was good having Jane back, and Ruth Lea and Jack did a swell job!

Well—speaking of the dance—hope you met Mildred Carvin's Bobby (representing Wake Forest). Mary Harvie was mighty interested . . . Too bad Virginia Ellett's Mickey couldn't make it—we were real anxious to meet him . . . Betty Davis did a fine snaking job—whose date took her to dinner Sunday? Speaking of snakes Dreama Waid certainly got that U. of Va. man here in a hurry. Finally we've met Theresa's Jack and Grace's "Joe"—now we're happy! Did you see all those cute Tech boys? The Fauntleroy "moron" seemed to be successfully winning her way back to favor with dear "Keithie"—isn't he smooth girls?—She's in such a daze she answers "Hello" to the roll call instead of "present"—ah, love! "Flip" Boyette seemed to be getting his usual rush and incidentally was collecting "dirt" for his "Half-Steps" on the side—hope you were careful girls . . . Little "Harpoo" was mighty interested in Peggy Lou's Willard, he's not bad, is he Eugenia? Certainly was good to see Marie Eason back . . . Orchids to the new Cotillion members—we can't wait for Goat Week! After Bro's visit this week-end Jeanne says things are going "beautifully, just beautifully"—good for her! Looks like Sarah Goode might be truckin' up to Annapolis anytime now after her blind date at the dance! More power to her! Jerry Smith left George Sunday just in time to take advantage of Helen's absence from Randy—come now Snakes! And—speaking of snakes how 'bout Dot Childress—Bill is a long way off—and did you see Ann Fitchette? Also Pagie Francis?

Nan Duer was really rushing to meet her 3 o'clock date—only an hour late after "E's" departure—come Nan—can't you organize better than that?

A. Bradshaw's date "Aggie" was right sharp too.

It's mighty fine having Ruthie Dugger back—glad to see her speedy recovery!

The Jester child was occupied with Tech this week-end but Les did get to the dance—ask Dawn!

Can you imagine why Harriette Walker was so anxious to get a ride to Amherst last week-end—could she be planning to renew an old romance?

Sometimes we wonder:

Who Slug Bynum was looking for after the dance?

If the "Utt" got a late date Saturday night?

Why the "Madame" was playing ping pong at two?

How Sprye rated three escorts to the dance?

Who asked Dan to be in the figure?

Congrats to Frances Pritchett on her white orchid! Does he have a brother?

We were glad to see Spong back with his white gloves and horn rimmed glasses.

Well—cries of come on Christmas fill the air so we'll give a timely word to the North Pole: Dear Santa Claus,

Please send Ann Henry a scooter to keep track of her two dates at dances. Secretaries would be appreciated by Jerry Smith, to keep straight her affairs at Wm. and Mary and U. of Richmond, and by "Harpoo" and Peggy Lou to keep their "Tech" fan mail straight. Bring Anna George that "B" on teaching she wants and bring us all good grades on our exams, please, and anything else (??) nice you can arrange.

Well chillens—have the biggest time ever over the holiday and we'll see you next year—

'Bye now.

Question of the Week

What do you want for Christmas?

Mary Jane Jolliffe: Clothes, pen and pencil set, camera.

Dorothy Rollins: Camera, radio.

Marjorie Holt: Radio, blue evening gown.

Lucille Royster: Automobile, necklace.

Natalie Francis: Fur coat, bedroom slippers, pearls.

Betty Davis: Watch, light blue velveteen dress, evening dress, skirt and sweater.

Lorraine Hurst: Evening wrap, skirt and sweater.

Julia Eason: Clothes.

Kathryn Kennedy: Radio, evening clothes.

Kitty King: Teddy bear, evening clothes.

Dot Menefee: A tall, dark and handsome man.

Mary Evelyn Pearsall: Luggage.

Betty Reid: Animals.

Nancy Naff: Billy.

Betty Youngberg: Radio and wrist watch.

Polly Keller: "To straighten out all my confusion."

Shirley Pierce: "To see Santa Claus".

Frieda Dekker: "To go home".

Nelle Quinn: A radio and vic with records, Jimmy Dorsey and Larry Clinton preferably.

Louise Phillips: Horse pin, Tweed perfume, soft floppy doll.

Alice Marie Coberley: Dean's list.

Sally Hutchinson: Powder blue angora sweater.

Lucille Lewis: A "Winnie-the-Pooh" teddy bear.

Peggy Watkins: A K. A. fraternity pin.

Polly Hughes: A radio and vic with classical records.

THE NIGHT BEFORE EXAMS

With Apologies to Clement Moore

'Twas the night before exams and thru Ritzy Row
Not a creature was stirring, no laughter, no show!
The Busy Signs were hung on the doors with care
An unusual occasion, they'd never been there.
The Shirlo was nestled all snug in her bed
While dreams of psychology danced thru her head.
And Saidra in curlers and Ebo in plaits
Had just settled their brains!??! after a whole term's nap.
When out in the hall there arose such a clatter
They rushed to their door to see what was the matter
For to their delight they could faintly hear
The 10 o'clock bell toll sweetly and clear
More rapid than eagles, girls suddenly came
Leaving books and studies behind them again
"Come Hatten, come Philips," came a cry from all
"To the top of the steps and right down the hall!"
Passing the gang by a nose or three
Came Margo, came Mooch, May Winn and Hattie
And there in room 40 their eyes came to rest
On Parham and Sears in utter distress!?*!
A bull session was held for a moment or two
Then a knock on the door, under the bed they flew
As they drew up their heads and were turning around
Into the room Liggie came with a bound.
She was dressed in pajamas from head to foot,
They knew in a moment they hadn't mistook!
Her eyes, how they twinkled! Her dimples how merry!
Her cheeks so rosy, her nose not pug, very
She had a round face, and a gleam from one eye
They knew in a moment . . . and gave a long sigh—
With a twitch of her mouth and a shake of her head
She gave them to know they had nothing to dread!?
She spoke not a word, but went straight to work
Gave them all CALL-DOWNS, and turned with a jerk
Then mounting their slippers, the team gave a whistle
And dashed to their hall like the down of a thistle
Lights flickered awhile, then all noise did cease
On the hall again there was quiet and peace
Mush exclaimed as she turned out her lights
"Good Luck on Exams and to All a Good-Night"!

Gleanings

By MARIE ALLEN

With the Yuletide season closely approaching there seems little hope that there will be even a slackening of the war activity to celebrate the birth of Christ.

When Mr. Mussolini, after due conference with his devoted friend Mr. Hitler, issued his ultimatum to Greece he had little thought of the turn that events would take—at least little thought that the events would turn the way they have. No doubt, if Mr. Stalin were so disposed he could offer some sympathy, for it would be hard for him to forget the persistence and bravery of petite Finland.

Mr. Mussolini had planned to get some important strategic points in Greece and use these as a basis for gaining control of other Mediterranean sections, in cooperation, of course, with Mr. Hitler in their drive for the East.

That Mussolini has failed to gain control of Greece and has been forced to retreat into Albania reveals a weakness in the Italian arm. To save Mussolini's face several shifts in the officials have taken place, but the facts remain to the world that the very small country of Greece has been able to withstand this fascist drive.

It is just such feats as this that are the turning points of wars. To say with certainty that this will be turning point of the war would be a bold hypothesis, but the very fact that the morale of the allies will be strengthened and confidence revived can not be doubted. Too, it will increase the prestige of the allies among other powers. If the Greeks can continue to successfully repel the Italians it may mean the Balkans will sway more toward the side of the allies. Then, too, it might mean that the Germans would help their friends out in their hour of peril.

That the success of the Greeks is helping England is certainly evident. It is preventing any sucessful drive in the Near East, in the territory around the Suez and the Dardanelles. Meanwhile, in England, there is more time—more time to replenish their losses, more time to strengthen their defenses, and time for England is indeed vital.

Just why the Italians have failed in their plan is interesting. Of course, crossing the Pindus mountains from Albania into Greece is a difficult task, but there seems to have been a lack of well thought out and well planned cooperation among the land forces, air forces, and supply shipments. Just who is responsible for this weakness in planning is not known, but the Italians have failed to follow in the footsteps of their imperialistic country in past centuries. Of course the bad weather is an obstacle to be reckoned with, but the Italians have shown up poorly in meeting the situation they brought upon themselves. Probably they didn't dream of the little Greece refusing to comply with the demands of the ultimatum; certainly they didn't dream of such resistance.

With the accounts of such a mechanistic war daily brought to us, it is the hope of we Americans that our Christmas season and New Year may be spared such sufferings. We are sympathetic with the Allies and realize that Christmas for them will be nothing but continued suffering and a wish, a hope, and a prayer for peace.

We Stand Reproved (?)

The "Gleanings" column will do well to check on some of the reports coming out of Germany with reference to British losses at sea before publishing them. It has been confirmed now that most of the ships reported destroyed in a convoy last week-end have reached port safely as did the "Empress of Japan"—although the latter was not reported in your column it just shows us the Germans are the biggest liars in the world as well as the worst bunch of cut-throats that ever trod God's green earth.—Contributed.

Choral Groups Give Xmas Concert Sunday Evening

Evelyn Barnes And H.-S. Glee Club Will Appear

The annual Christmas concert will be presented in the college auditorium, Sunday evening, December 15 following the regular services in the different churches. The College Choir, Choral Club, Senior and Junior A'Capella and the under graduate A'Capella groups will appear together with the newly formed Madgrigal singers who will present their numbers in Elizabethean robes.

The Hampden-Sydney Glee Club, under the direction of Prof. Carl Broman, will appear on the program in a group of four numbers and will also sing with the Choir and Choral Club.

The soloists will be Miss Evelyn Barnes, a graduate of Farmville and sister of Prof. Foster Barnes, director of music at Duke University, and Edward Field, tenor soloist of the Hampden-Sydney Glee Club.

Much interest has been aroused in this Christmas concert and it promises to be one of unusual interest. The entire program will be under the direction of Mr. Strick, head of the music department, assisted by Prof. Broman, Forrestine Whitaker, Virginia Richards, Virginia Barksdale, and Irene Alderman.

The accompanists for the program will be Mr. Ned Crawley, Hampden-Sydney College; Miss Mary Marshall Prosise, S. T. C., and Mr. Strick.

A silver collection will be taken at the door to cover the expense involved. The doors will be open at 7:30 P. M. Friends of both institutions are cordially invited to attend.

Part I

Music When Soft Voices Die —Robertson

Dearest Lord Jesus ..... Bach
Irene Alderman, Director

Cantique de Noel ..... Adams
Edward Fields-Hampden-Sydney

While by My Sheep ..... Jungst

Lo, How a Rose ..... Praetarius

May Now Thy Spirit Schuelthy-Trehorne

Laudamus ..... Owne-Protherae
Hampden-Sydney Glee Club—Professor Carl Broman, Director

He Shall Feed His Flock (Messiah)—Handel

Virgin's Lullaby ..... Buck
Miss Evelyn Barnes

Part II

Awake, Thou Wintry Earth
Rejoice, Ye Christian Men, Rejoice

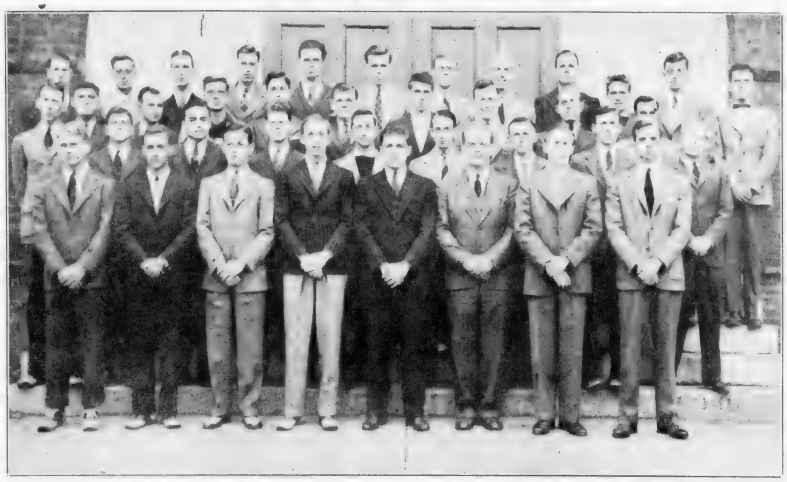
Silver Swan
Madrigal Singers — Virginia Barksdale, Director

"Joseph Came Seeking a Resting Place"
Junior A'Capella—Virginia Richards, Director

A Legend ..... Tschaikowsky
Come, Spirits, 'Tis His Day—Back
Senior A'Capella — Forrestine Whitaker, Director

Allelujah ..... Mozart
Junior and Senior A'Capella Choirs

Holy Child ..... Martin
College choir and choral club



Hallelujah Chorus ..... Handel
College Choir, Choral Club, Hampden-Sydney Glee Club

Exam Rules

Frances Ellett, president of the House Council, announced at student body meeting December 4, that the usual council rules for the exam period will go into effect Tuesday night, Dec. 17 and continue through December 20.

Study hour will be observed every night during the exam period from 7 to 10 o'clock, and radios must not be played during the study period or after 11 o'clock. Frances explained that all freshmen who wish late light permission may obtain such by asking the hall president. Anyone making noise in halls and rooms or violating house council rules during the designated study period will receive a call down. One call down received at this time means a week's campus beginning the week after Christmas holidays.

HAMPDEN-SYDNEY GOLLEGE GLEE CLUB

Miss L. Wheeler Chairmans State Project Committee

Costumes Ready For Use; Rules Are Announced

At a meeting of drama directors, school officials, and actors in elementary, high schools colleges, little theatres, and civic groups in Richmond Dec. 2, Miss Leola Wheeler was made chairman of the committee for drawing up regulations regarding the lending of the Federal Theatre Project costumes to dramatic groups.

The purpose of the meeting, which was called for by Robert Porterfield, dramatic art advisor for the State Board of Education, was to organize the Virginia Federation of Drama Directors and to adopt a program designed to retain profits from dramatic productions solely for the use of theatre groups.

There are now $1,500,000 worth of costumes available for use by theatre groups. A list of these costumes and their location are now available.

The regulations regarding the usage of these costumes are:

(1) The costumes were intended primarily for the use of the public schools of Virginia. Exception to this rule may be made in case of non-money making civic groups.

(2) Any group borrowing costumes must accept responsibility for damage and must sign in advance a statement to that effect.

(3) A handling and cleaning charge of fifty cents per costume must be paid in advance. This is a tentative estimate which may be reduced or increased in case of very simple or elaborate costumes.

(4) Transportation charges, both ways, must be paid by the borrowing group.

(5) The college cannot guarantee satisfaction.

"Keep America Out of War" Voice of American Students

By Student Opinion Survey

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 13—Unlike U. S. opinion, majority sentiment among college students today holds that it is more important for the United States to try to keep out of war than to help England even at the risk of becoming involved.

Simultaneously over the entire nation, Student Opinion Surveys of America has sent its interviewers to query all types of students on large and small campuses, presenting to them a problem vital to American youth—a question many times discussed in a thousand dormitory and boarding house bull sessions. With the cooperation of The Rotunda and scores of newspaper members, the Surveys have gathered and tabulated these opinions by means of scientific sampling methods. Here are the results:

Students were asked which of the following things they thought was more important for the U. S. to try to do. Their answers, in percentages, are given after each statement:

Keep the U. S. out of war—55 per cent.

Help England, even at the risk of getting into the war—45 per cent.

This is not what their elders think. A Gallup poll recently pointed out that the majority of Americans believe the British are holding our first line of defense and helping them is more important than merely trying to steer away from the conflict.

Students, however, have repeatedly shown their tendency toward isolationism and their strong desire to avoid another war. For two years the Surveys has been gauging collegian sentiment the nation over. It has found, for example, that majorities (in October 1939) would not volunteer should the U. S. send troops to help England and her allies, opposed (in October 1939) changing the neutrality law to allow any belligerent to buy American supplies, opposed (in February 1940) compulsory military training, and felt (in February 1940) our most important problem was to keep the country out of war.

These opinions have been tempered somewhat by the impact of recent events such as the fall of France, U. S. conscription, and the spread of the war. An indication of this cooling of opinion is the large groups (comprising 45 per cent of the students) who at this time approve helping England, even if we eventually have to fight.

Why does the majority of students believe that our efforts should emphasize our keeping out of war? A University of Rochester freshman gave this reason: "We have enough trouble here." A coed told the Tarkio (Missouri) college interviewer, "England brought this down upon herself by her conduct after the last war." A sophomore at the University of Maine spoke for the opposition when he said, "If England is conquered it is our turn to worry, and we won't have anyone to worry with us."

Students Accept New Rat Ruling

Suggestions of the committee on the revisions of Rat Week were presented to and accepted by the student body, Wednesday night, December 4, at the regular Student Body meeting.

Points presented to the Student Body which were accepted in their entirety are listed below.

(1) Washing windows, clothes, and woodwork should be abolished. The cleaning of rooms in moderation is permissable, also the making of beds.

(2) There should be three days of Rat Week under the conditions that Rats are dressed attractively (Indian Day, Rainy Day, Baby Day). If the Rats are to be dressed as freaks, there should be only two days. There is the feeling that the third day of Rat Week is not as stiff as the others, and grudges between the sophomores and freshmen are to be abolished on that day.

(3) Personal traits shall not be ridiculed.

(4) The rules of Rat Week are to be approved by Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, and Student Standards Committee.

The committee stated that revisions were only slight since the majority of students feel that Rat Week occupies a definite place on the campus. It maintained that Rat Week has a unifying effect which is greatly needed by the freshman class, but that it should be carried out in the spirit of fun. Because the sophomore class assumed the greater part of the responsibility of Rat Week, it was thought best to leave the major functions of Rat Week to that class.

The committee working on this was composed of one senior, two juniors three sophomores and four freshmen, the classes being represented according to their nearness to and interest in Rat Week.

Dr. F. B. Simkins To Attend History Meet In New York

Dr. Francis B. Simkins, professor of history, will speak about South Carolina's political Ben Tillman tournament at the panel discussion of the Southern Historical Association's joint meeting with the American Historical Association on December 30, 1940, at Hotel Pennsylvania New York City, New York.

This panel discussion will relate particularly to the southern demagogues, explained Dr. Simkins. He further added that in the near future he will publish a biography of Ben Tillman.

Teachers For Winter Term Are Appointed

Thirty-three girls will do their practice teaching in the elementary grades this coming winter quarter. Nine of these students will teach at John Randolph, while the others will teach at the Training School.

Teaching in the kindergarten under the supervision of Miss Mary Haynes and Mrs. Shad Watkins will be Carroll Costello, Mary Martha Peery, Ella Marsh Pilkinton, Margaret Watkins and Margaret Wright.

Those planning to teach the first grade are Harriette Ball and Sara Rucker.

Second grade teachers will be Jennie Noell, Jeanne Sears, and Helen Dawson.

Anne Brooks, Helen Keihn, Mary Alice Marshall, and Eva Rhodes are planning to teach the third grade under Miss Ida Penny's supervision.

Teachers for the fourth grade are Elsie Greenall, Ruth Handley, and Ora Mayo.

The specially connected third and fourth grade under Miss Alice Carter and Miss Dorothy McNamee's guidance will be taught by Myrtle Cook.

Fifth grade teachers will be under Miss Alice Carter and Miss

Continued on Page 6

Dixie Forensic Tourney Held at Winthrop

These girls and their coach represented Farmville in the Dixie Forensic Tournament at Winthrop College last week-end, Dec. 6-8. They are (left to right): Frances Thackston, Jack Cock, Myrtle Jenkins, Elizabeth Ann Parker, and Dr. J. E. Walmsley.

Rev. A. C. Tucker Resigns Post

Episcopal Minister Leaves February 1

Rev. A. Campbell Tucker has resigned his position as rector of John's Memorial Episcopal Church, Farmville, Virginia, effective February 1. Mr. Tucker has served John's Memorial for six and a half years.

Mr. Tucker will become the rector of Grace Church in Stanardsville; also he will be in charge of four Blue Ridge mountain missions, each of which has a church and a mission house.

J. A. Garland, registrar of John's Memorial Church, gave Mr. Tucker a letter expressing the regret of the entire church at his leaving and praising the work he and Mrs. Tucker have done in the parish.

Dr. Jarman Speaks To Richmond Alumnae

Hotel Richmond was the scene of the Farmville alumnae luncheon, November 22, which was held in connection with the annual convention of the Virginia Educational Association. Mrs. Louise Jones Waller presided at the meeting.

Dr. J. L. Jarman was the principal speaker. The work of the Alumnae Association was discussed and Mrs. M. B. Coyner, executive secretary, presented the various student publications of the association to the guests.

Twenty-Three Accept Kappa Delta Pi Bids

Twenty-three girls have accepted bids to Kappa Delta Pi, national scholastic honorary society in education.

New members include Rachel Abernathy, Marie Allen, Carmen Booth, Virginia Barksdale, Sarah Chambers, Anne Benton, Sara Cline, Emma Louise Crowgey, Rachel De Berry, Caroline Eason, Pat Gibson, Louise Hall, Jane Lee Hutcheson, Kathryn Jarratt, Elizabeth Jennings, Mary Jane Joliffe, Frances Keck, Rachel Kibler, Ernestine Meacham, Edith Nunnally, Allene Overbey, Mary Marshall Prosise and Sarah Sibold.

To be eligible for membership a student must be in the upper quartile of her class scholastically.

Short Visit to Art Workshop Lends Joyous Yuletide Spirit

By ELIZABETH RAPP

Too busy to think about Christmas? Too busy to realize it's so near? Well,you're an exception, 'cause along with practically everyone else, the art department has gone highly specialized as to "Ye Old Yuletide Season". Thursday, December 12, is the day they have chosen to let all S. T. C. see what can be done with a little work, time, and paint. Yes, none other than the annual Christmas exhibit of the department of fine and applied arts.

They are displaying the cutest hand-made toys, monstrosities to charm the heart of any youngster, novelty Christmas gifts, personalized gift wrapping paper, made to suit your heart's desire, and craft work, such as hand-designed salad and fruit bowls. That isn't all either! In case you're interested in having that best beau to dinner and want to have everything at its best, take notice of the table and mantle decorations. They are lovely with bells, candles, Santa Clauses, and Christmas trees in minature. These were planned by the students of the advanced crafts.

It's an opportunity, and who knows but what you can get a [illegible] suggestion that single seed of Christmas spirit from just such a thing.

Gibson, Holt Speak At PGM Open Forum

Pat Gibson and Marjorie Holt were the speakers at a panel discussion conducted by Pi Gamma Mu on Tuesday night, December 3, in the Student Building Lounge.

Pat Gibson presented the Republican views on the "Outcome of the Election" and Marjorie Holt the Democratic views. Members of the faculty, the club, and invited guests from the student body were present. An informal discussion followed the presentation of the papers after which refreshments were served. Marjorie Holt was in charge of social committee and Mary Jane Joliffe in charge of project committee.

Personals

Skipping off to see how much fun another school has at its dance, we found Mary Katherine Dodson, Ruth Dugger, and Emma Hutchinson at Randolph-Macon's Christmas Formal in Lynchburg on Saturday night.

Parties at W. and L. given by the PiKA's and the A. T. O.'s lured several of our fair damsels for Christmas frolics last week-end. Coltie Radspinner, May Wertz, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Helen Lewis and Barbara White are some who enjoyed the dances.

Evelyn Lupton and Dreama Wald were among those who marched under the arch of sabers formed by the Scabbard and Blade members at V. P. I.'s Military Ball Friday night.

Officers of the House Council and the Hall Presidents let themselves go Monday night at 10:00 and nobody could give them call downs. The occasion was a party with plenty of Christmas spirit.

The Rotunda staff will put away their pencils and papers and fling a Christmas party tonight at 9:30 in Student Lounge. Games and refreshments will be made attractive by Sara Cline, general chairman; Margaret Wright and Mary Katherine Dodson, in charge of entertainment; Dot Childress, Texie Belle Felts, Nancy Naff and Shirley McCalley, refreshments; and Dot Sprinkle, Elizabeth Rapp and Lillian German, the decorations.

Old members of the Commercial Club were hosts to the new members at a Christmas party, which was held in the Student Lounge, Tuesday night, December 10, 1940 at 9:30 o'clock.

Betsy Jennings, vice-president of the Commercial Club, gave a short talk to the members. "Did You Know?", a short skit, featured Marie Thompson and Anne Ware. Harriett Scott, Roberta Griggs, and Jean Shulkcum sang several songs.

The program committee was made up of Esther Pattridge, Harriett Scott, Jacqueline Hardy, Roberta Grigg, and Betty Harper.

Student Council Party

Student Council will have its annual Christmas party Thursday night at 9:30 o'clock in Caralie Nelson's room. As usual small gifts will be exchanged and refreshments served.

Agnew-Leath

Mrs. James Etewart Agnew, of Inverness, near Burkeville, announce the engagement of her daughter, Lillian Boswell, to Dr. MacLean Bacon Leath, Jr., of High Point, N. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. MacLean Bacon Leath, of Rockingham, N. C.

The wedding date is set for December 31.

Lillian was a member of the sophomore class.

Junior Class Party

On Tuesday night after the Production the junior class had a Christmas get together in the senior "rec". Cokes and nabs were served.

Sorority Notes

Members of the Alpha chapter of the Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority were entertained at a tea Sunday afternoon, December 1, at 5 o'clock by their adviser, Miss Grace Moran, at her home in Farmville. The Christmas theme was carried out in the decorations.

Alpha Sigma Tau's are hoping Santa will visit them at their party, Saturday night, December 14, in the chapter room

Mu Omegas are having a Christmas party Saturday night, December 14, in the chapter room at 10 o'clock. Active members will be present.

Alpha Sigma Alpha will make merry with their Christmas party in the chapter room Sunday, December 15, at 5 o'clock.

A "coke" and "nab" party will be given by the Gamma Theta's during exam week in the chapter room.

Pi Kappa's will entertain at a Christmas party in the chapter room Sunday, December 15, at 5 o'clock.

Besides actives and pledges Miss Olive Iler and Miss Rachel Royal will be present.

Things We Adore:

Bumpsie Minnick's boxing mittens
May Wertz's black hair
Tirgg sisters' good-looking suits.
Robin Hening's and B. Harrison's military overcoats
Elizabeth Williams' gorgeous white evening dress
"Ishcabibble's" dog—"Prince"
Ruth Lea's K. A. pin—it was Jack's grandfather's
Miniatures
First classmen from Annapolis Sing
Jane Scott's riding habit
Portable Radios
Fuzzy animals (Only Make-Believe)
Scrap-books
Ann Moore's Purple Sweater and Sox
Boxes from home and midnight feasts
Sleeping late over holidays
People who can't carry a tune.

Things We Deplore:

Fur coats with sox
Chenille beach-coats for class
Snakes (not reptiles)
Sloppy Fork Union youngsters
Waiting for Christmas holidays
Hawaiian War Chant
People who stare at embarrassing moments
People who wear dark glasses on rainy days (glamour?)
Angora gloves with uniforms
Standard English Tests
People who wear white dresses when it's not their Senior Dance
Straight bangs on top of head
Diets for people who don't need them
Quizes Monday after a dance week-end.

Miss Pauline Camper will entertain the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority at a tea Sunday, December 15, in the chapter room.

Seniors Eligible For Vogue Contest

How would you like to receive a telegram on the eve of graduation telling you that you had won a career on Vogue's 6th Prix de Paris? It can happen to you. It can happen to your room-mate. Any senior has a chance to win.

If you are interested in feature writing or fashion reporting—if you are willing to devote some of your spare time to answering Vogue's quizzes on fashion or Vanity Fair (non-fashion) subjects, here is a chance to step right from college next June into a ready-made job!

7 Major Prizes

Vogue's Sixth Prix de Paris offers seven major prizes and a number of honourable mention awards. First prize is a year's position on Vogue's fashion staff. Second prize is a special Vanity Fair writing award—six months as a feature writer on Vogue's staff. This prize will go to the entrant who submits the most outstanding papers on non-fashion subjects, such as theatre, art, literature, music. Winners who, during the award period, develop an adaptability to Vogue's editorial needs, will be given permanent positions on the staff. In addition to these, five cash prizes will be purchased for publication in Vogue.

Honourable Mentions

Besides the 7 major prizes, Honourable Mentions will be awarded to contestants whose papers show unusual merit. Honourable Mention winners will be interviewed for jobs by leading stores, advertising agencies and publishing houses. Of 60 winners in previous contests (including 51 honourable mention) 40 are today following careers in a variety of fields.

The Prix de Paris consists of four quizzes. If you pass these, you are then eligible to submit a thesis in competition for all prizes.

To Vogue, the Prix de Paris is a means of discovering new talent for the fashion and feature writing staffs. To you, it is a chance to launch yourself on a career immediately after college.

College Rules

1. Each entrant must be a member of the graduating class of 1941 in a United States college or university which grants a recognized A. B. or B. S. degree.

2. Each entrant must fill out an entrance blank. These blanks may be mailed immediately, or with the answers to the first quiz, not later than November 20th. It is not necessary to be a subscriber to Vogue to enter the contest.

3. The contest will consist of two parts—first, a series of 4 quizzes to be answered by entrants and second, a thesis which only those entrants who receive passing marks on the 4 quizzes are eligible to submit.

4. Each quiz will consist of 8 questions from which the entrant may select 4 to answer. Out of these 8 questions, 4 will be based on fashion features, and 4 on non-fashion features or Vanity Fair features—such as music, art, literature, theatre, etc.

5. The first quiz of the series based on October 1st and 15th issues, will be published in the November 1st issue of Vogue. The succeeding quizzes will appear in the issues of December1, January 1 and March 1. Save your copies of Vogue until the end of the contest; you may need them for reference.

6. Papers will be graded on these points:
(a) Clear and vivid writing.
(b) Originality of ideas.
(c) Fashion knowledge derived from a study of Vogue.
(d) General information.

7. Answers to each test must be mailed on or before the 20th of the month in which the test appears. Papers received with insufficient postage will not be accepted.

8 Entrants will be required to send answers to all 4 quizzes. Only those who receive passing marks in quizzes will be eligible to submit a thesis in competition for the 7 major prizes and the honourable mentions. Entrants will be notified on or before April 1st if they are eligible to submit a thesis.

9. Subjects for the thesis will be announced in the March 15 and April 11 issues. Thesis must not exceed 1500 words and must be mailed not later than April 20th.

10 All test papers and thesis must be typewritten in double space on one side of the page. The name and college of the contestant must appear on every page. Papers will not be returned at the end of the contest.

11. The judges of the contest will be the Editors of Vogue. Their decision will be final.

12. The winners of the Prix de Paris will be announced on or about June 1, 1941.

Annual Sponsors Dance January 18

Committees for the Annual dance which will take place on Saturday, January 18, have been announced by Anne Benton, general chairman.

Orchestra committee is composed of May Wertz and Anne Benton; decorations, Dot Rollins, Lillian German, and Anne Turner; tickets and advertising will be handled by Anne Ayers, Dot Johnson and Kitty Parrish, Jane McGinnis, Hattie Cantrell, and Beezie Townsend will have charge of arrangements for the floor show.

This is the second dance the Virginian has sponsored. The dance last year featured the Southern Serenaders dance band.

Grooming Notes

For those of you who are doubtful "what to wear when," the following are a series of questions and answers which might prove helpful.

Q- When going to a lyceum what is the correct type of evening dress to wear?

A- The correct dress to wear is definitely a dress with a jacket or one with sleeves. None of these glamorous affairs with just straps! Save those for the Men.

Q- What should you wear when you walk out to Longwood?

A- For a long walk or hike a sweater and skirt and low heeled shoes is the appropriate costume. Don't try to break your neck and your arches too in those high heeled pumps or sandals.

Q- What shade of finger-nail polish is best suited for daytime wear?

A- A light polish is best but if you must have red, don't use the darkest shade you can find. . . save that for evening. And here's a tip. . . . Be sure that your lipstick and nail polish blend or match. Don't use purple toned lipstick and orange red finger nail polish. They fairly scream when near each other.

Q- When going away for the week-end what should you wear traveling?

A- The most suitable thing to wear is a suit. Stick to sport clothes, a suit, felt sports hat, spectator sports pump and leave off the fancy black dress and black hat with a veil. . . those are for parties.

Q- Should you wear gloves without a hat?

A- You should not unless you wear woolen gloves or mittens or that type of glove out in cold weather. But never wear white or suede gloves with a dressy dress and leave off a hat. Either wear a hat and no gloves at all or a hat and gloves.

Q- What is the best thing to wear to the classroom?

A- The answer is simple enough. Sweater, skirt, tailored blouse and plain wool dress. Save your satin blouses, silk dresses and "glamor" for dates. And here we might add that the trend toward pastel, shirtwaist woolens for Saturday night dates is increasing.

By now you probably have the slightest smattering of an idea how the well-groomed college girl should look. She is simple in her tastes, conservative in her dress sticking to the classics, plain tailored woolen, sweaters and skirts, black dress and hat for dressy wear, low heeled shoes for walking and in classroom and a formal evening dress for dances only. She slips on a jacket for other affairs.

Her lipstick is put on carefully and not too, too red for daytime. Her nail polish matches lipstick

Continued on Page 6

Gym Is Scene of Senior Prom, Prior To Exams

Fashion Note of Week

MARY LOU SHANNON

Highlight of campus fashions this week is Mary Lou Shannon's herringbone tweed suit which has the popular three-quarter length coat.

Kneedles Knock As Kute Koeds Knit

Don't look now because I'm sure you've seen all this clothes' construction going on around here. "Cousin Tommy" describes those of us, engaged in so doing, as "little ants preparing for winter", while those of us, who haven't gotten the yearn yet, as "butterflies that get lost through the winter."

Indeed it looks as if mother, grandmother, boy friends, and dads will be well outfitted this winter with scarfs, sweaters, socks or whatever you may call it. This season, you know, calls for the gayest of dyes, and some of those combinations! Think back a few years and how we would have scorned red and yellow, or green and lavender together. Speaking of colors, I wonder how granddad will look in a bright yellow sweater and Dad in brilliant, red hosiery.

Remember at the first of school when we had to stand in line at the bookroom for hours at a time? That surely did prove to be a progressive knitting time. In fact, I almost saw a sock made right in front of my eyes. I believe, too, that some of us have a money making scheme "up our sleeve".

However, there aren't many of us who want to buy knit things. We, who don't know how to knit, are more than eager to learn. Then, too all that time waiting in the dining room gives us an excellent chance to make time—with the needles!

I've seen those who were nervous because their dates hadn't shown up or some similar ailment.

Continued on Page 6

Figure Led by Powell and Purdom; Seniors Get Favors

Jane Powell, of Hampton, who was president of the class of '40 and is an honorary member of this year's class, led the figure at the Senior Prom Saturday night, December 7, in the gymnasium.

Ruth Lea Purdum, president of the senior class, Esther Atkinson, vice-president, Boonie Stevenson, secretary, and Betty Beale Fahr, treasurer, assisted.

Jane and Ruth Lea carried arm bouquets of red roses and fern; and the three assisting officers carried nosegays of old-fashioned mixed flowers. During the figure programs were given to the seniors as favors by the little sisters of the officers.

A reception was held in the Student Building Lounge during intermission of the dance. Iced punch was poured by Mrs. Eva Warren and Mrs. P. B. Turnbull, members of the college home department. The Lounge was decorated with evergreens and white carnations.

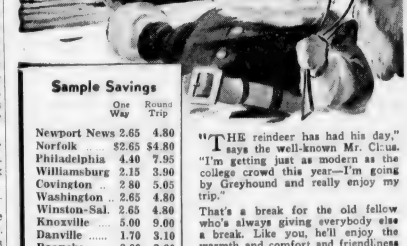
The gymnasium was colorfully decorated with green and white, the class colors, and the seniors in the figure wore white. Music was furnished by the Virginia Cavaliers from Charlottesville.

The receiving line which was formed in the Student Building Lounge included Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McCorkle, Miss Mary White Cox, Mr. Charlie French, Jane Powell, Ruth Lea Purdum, Esther Atkinson, Boonie Stevenson, and Betty Beale Fahr.

Bette Davis Follows Up "Heaven" With "The Letter"

From nineteenth century France and America, Bette Davis moves Eastward in space, to the present day and the Straits Settlement on the Malay Peninsula for her role in "The Letter," her newest starring picture which opens Monday at the State Theatre.

After a vacation following her performance in "All This and Heaven, Too," in which she appeared with Charles Boyer and Barbara O'Neil, Miss Davis returned to the studio to star in the film version of the Somerset Maugham play.



"The Letter" offers Miss Davis a return to the highly charged, dynamic characterization which first brought her fame. As the wife of a British rubber planter isolated in the small white colony in the Orient, Miss Davis is seen against a sultry background whose undercurrents of passion and cruelty provide tension and excitement for the strange drama.

Already recognized as one of Hollywood's most unusual productions, "The Letter" includes several startling innovations in the compact, smoldering script provided by Howard Koch. Art Director Karl Jules Weyl, who designed the sets for "All This and Heaven, Too" was again assigned to create the settings for Miss Davis' present picture. William Wyler, who directed Miss Davis in her Academy Award winning performance of "Jezebel" was united with the star for the first time since that picture.

Featured in the supporting cast are Herbert Marshall, Gale Sondergaard, James Stephenson, Bruce Lester, Frieda Inescort and many others.

A FAMOUS WORLD TRAVELER SAYS

"HOLIDAY TRIPS COST LESS by GREYHOUND"

Sample Savings

	One Way	Round Trip
Newport News	2.65	4.80
Norfolk	$2.65	$4.80
Philadelphia	4.40	7.95
Williamsburg	2.15	3.90
Covington	2.80	5.05
Washington	2.65	4.80
Winston-Sal.	2.65	4.80
Knoxville	5.00	9.00
Danville	1.70	3.10
Roanoke	2.00	3.60
Richmond	1.15	2.10
Lexington	1.90	3.45
Blacksburg	2.80	5.05
Charleston	5.00	9.00
New York	5.65	10.20
Petersburg	1.25	2.25
Raleigh	2.35	4.25
Staunton	2.50	4.50
Bluefield	3.75	6.75
Portsmouth	2.65	4.80

"THE reindeer has had his day," says the well-known Mr. Claus. "I'm getting just as modern as the college crowd this year—I'm going by Greyhound and really enjoy my trip."

That's a break for the old fellow who's always giving everybody else a break. Like you, he'll enjoy the warmth and comfort and friendliness of a Super-Coach trip.

Perhaps you'll meet him on your way home for the Holidays—anyway you'll think there's a Santa Claus around somewhere when you figure out how much you save going by Greyhound. Merry Christmas!

Continental Hotel Phone 78
GREYHOUND TERMINAL

• Sports Slants •

"Practice makes perfect!" This may be an old proverb but even the oldest of things suit our modern world and our positions within it. There is nothing like practice in basketball to "warm us up" and get us "ready to go". For you remember soon those exciting games will be scheduled and when the time comes for your team to play, are you going to be a part of the team work? Practices are held each Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday afternoons at 4 and 5 o'clock. And lately the gym has had that "good ole basketball spirit" and all the pep and work that goes to make up the right kind of atmosphere among the players. Soon from these ball players the class teams and varsity squad will be selected and leading the qualifications for this position one must obtain that "certain good quality" accurate aim, perfect pass work, swift action, and most important of all a real spirit of sportsmanship. Come on, players, take the ball down the court and score for your team for we're counting on you to lead us to victory. At a glance from the side line we see the accurate shots of Marty and the fast movements of Rosa. Just put two and two together and we may see Green and White not many laps to go!

And speaking of this class competition, the color cup is forever in the minds of us S. T. C. gals. Which shall it be at the end: Green and White or Red and White? You know that through these various sports around school, points are earned towards the cup, so if you can help your class in any way, do so now! An important event in the sports calendar this week was the victory of Red and White in the final tourney in archery. Nell Hurt placed a first with an excellent score, while a close second was run by Buff Gunter and Alice Britt—Buff leading by one point. This victory adds twenty points towards the cup.

"Down in the pool at S. T. C.
Swam three little merry-maids full of glee,
They splashed to the tune of the Hit Parade
And reduced their hips that eating made!"

What a time the swimmers are having these cold, brisk days when its either rainy or "no go down town" day. In fact, the water is real refreshing after a long day's work and toil in the classroom. You'd be surprised how trim, brim, slim or what is the word that expresses it?—anyway you won't be a "drip" when you can say "I passed the freshman swimming exam"—all Frosh have to take it, remember? Or "the last stretch was just as easy as the first"! On Saturday nights the H20 Club furnishes the latest tunes of the Hit Parade and, by the way, . . . maybe we'll be hearing something of a swimming team soon. There's lots of good material "floating" around the water so just let's wait and . . . hope . . .Come on down to the pool and do a lap or two!

These "horsewomen" really look the stuff these days all dolled up to ride, and from what bit I could squeeze from Miss Fox the winter horseshow is going to be "the" thing. There is scheduled formation riding, jumping, and the colorful effect of costumes . . . adding together to make a bigger and better show ever. There is plenty of time now to give "Lindy", "Don", and even "Charlie-boy" a good work-out. See ya at the races!

Training and practice has begun in the riding classes for the biggest, most elaborate riding ever held at Farmville. The next four months will be devoted to hard work and practice in horsemanship. This will lead up to the date of the show set for the first part of April.

Included in the show will be drills, stunt riding, colorful parading, and every phase of good horsemanship. Each girl represented will have assignments best fitted for her. Many out of town participants will take part in the exhibition, riding and showing horses.

Santa Claus comes but once a year and with him comes lovely gifts from Davidson's, that will bring joy to the hearts of everyone. No matter whether your gift is large or small, it will be worthwhile if it comes from us.

DAVIDSON'S INC.

New H2O President

Nancy Dupuy, a junior, from Greenboro, N. C., has been elected president of the H2O club. She succeeds Mary Elizabeth Petticrew who was forced to resign due to excessive extra-curricula points. Nancy is secretary of her class and active in all phases of athletics. Last February she won the 100 yd. breast stroke crown and is current holder of that title in the Southern Region of the United States.

Square Dance Saturday, Dec. 14

The Athletic Association will sponsor its second square dance this semester on Saturday, December 14 at 8 o'clock in the large gymnasium.

Miss Emily Kauzlarich of the physical education department will call the figures. Students are not allowed to have dates at the dance.

Basketball Gets Large Turnout

Approximately 100 girls have reported to pre-season basketball practices which began directly after the Thanksgiving holidays. Although many new faces are to be found among these ardent basketeers, last year varsity squad is well represented by Rosa Courter, Pat Gibson, Margy Gooden, Corilda Chaplin, Dot Johnson and Martha Roberts. Sophomores, Jean Carr, Anne Ellett, Hallie Hillsman, Frances Parham, Anne Price and Petie Barnette, members of last year's sub varsity, are right in there too. Listed below according to classes are the girls who have been out.

Freshmen—Frances Adams, Felicity Apperly, Elizabeth Ann Barnes, Jean Beard, Mary Keith Bingham, Rachel Bourne, Rachel Clarke, Patsy Connelly, Lucille Cox, Kathleen Crafton, H. Lee Crawford, Frieda Deckker, Mildred Droste, Louise Foster, Dorothy Gaul, Dot Gills, Kathleen Glenn, Vivian Gwaltney, Caroline Gurdle, Virginia Gill, Lorraine Hurst, Jane Hobson, Lulie Jones, Marie Lueckert, Kitty Moncure.

Emily Mahood, Faye Nimmo, Dorothy Massie, Tate Patterson, Miriam Reid, Hatcher Rodgers, Frances Rucker, Louise Ransone, June Smith, Jeanne Strick, Shirley Sutton, Dot Sue Simmons, Dorothy Taylor, Elsie Verelle, Virginia Seward, Marjorie Whitlow, Pauline Yancey, Ruth Warwick, Ruth Dickerson, Sallie Terry, Maxine Compton, Elizabeth Walker, and Mary Hazelgrove.

Sophomores— Elva Andrews, Harriett Ball, Jean Carr, Patty Clements, Ellen Ebel, Anne Ellett, Hallie Hillsman, Betsy Moone, Frances Parham, Kitty Parish, Anne Price, Betty Sexton, Elizabeth Walls, Ann B. Ware, Petie Barnette, S. Wade Owen, Helen Ashworth and Mary Frances Bowles.

Juniors — Elizabeth Barlow, Mickey Beck, Lilwyn Bennett, Mary Booker, Corilda Chaplin, Hester Chatten, Mildred Coleman, Nancy Dupuy, Dot Johnson, Spilly Purdum, Martha Roberts, Dot Sprinkle, Harriette Walker, Mary James Corson.

Seniors— Rosa Courter, Pat Gibson, Marjorie Gooden, Florence Lee, Margaret Webster.

Nell Hurt Wins Archery Tourney

Red & White Gains In Color Cup Race

Nell Hurt, manager of archery, won top honors in the archery tournament held Friday, December 6, with a score of 185 points. Next in the lead came Buff Gunter scoring 162 points, with Alice Britt, running very close behind with 161 points.

Each girl, having been allowed six arrows for practice shots, was given twelve arrows apiece for the contest.

Three lengths were used for the shooting: first at 70 feet, second at 60 feet, and third at 50 feet.

The winning team being Red and White, this tournament gave twenty points toward the color cup to Red and White.

Other participants in the tournament were Gay Ward Brown and Mary Katherine Zehmer.

Sophomore Namemare

We were Allen from Wadeing with Sarah around the Marsh. Our feet were killing us, but Pride kept us from asking where the Rhodes were and also our Carr. We would Sink practically up to our knees in mud, but as it was May we felt that everyone would remain Hale and Hardy especially Helen.

As long as we kept to the West we were sure Agnew where we were going. It seemed like a wild Hunt to me, but Loving the gang as well as I did we could practically Reid each others minds. We really wanted to find that rare Berry. The rate of Sale for it would definitely be a Goode one and Phillip(s) our bank account.

Through DeLong swamp we tramped not Mishing much. We were getting quite Huffy and indifferent toward Frances for suggesting this trip all around the swamp. The Price we would pay for a guide would probably be worth it. We even tired to Turner back, but she wouldn't hear to it.

Then, a Brown figure Rose up from the Campfield with a Hatton. His White Beard looked Gray in the dim light. I'm not kidding when I say we didn't want any Moore of it. The Farmer looked up over the barrel of his gun. It still didn't look any too Goode to me. In fact, the whole affair looked quite Massie.

Just as he was pulling the trigger—I awoke. Gosh, what a dream, and wasn't it Looney? ....

HOP SAYS:
Have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year
In crisp, Clean Clothes
Send them to—
DE LUXE CLEANERS

COLLEGE SHOPPE
Phone 200
A good place to meet,
But the best place to eat

NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c Store
Wish you
A MERRY XMAS
SENIORS
JUNIORS
SOPHOMORES
FRESHMEN

MISS STELLA FOX, riding instructor at S. T. C., is shown on Harry Padgett's mare "Dorothy", which won first prize for conformation at the horse show Friday. Staff Photo

NAMES PUT ON STATIONERY and CHRISTMAS CARDS
In any Color!
2 Hours Service
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

We Wish You a Merry Christmas
ROSE'S 5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

Buy Your Xmas Candies From—
Shannon's
Who Wish you a Merry XMAS

Dressmaking, Tailoring, Alterations, fur coats a specialty
Mrs. G. M. Gilispie
Telephone No. 21
Formerly with Davidson's

Oodles of Christmas gifts for the whole family—wool for sweaters—and all holiday clothes—shop at
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
We wrap gifts FREE!

A Big Gift for Little Money—
WHY NOT A PHOTO OF YOU?
—By—
DAVIDSON'S STUDIO
COME IN THIS WEEK!

FOR CHRISTMAS

A PERMANENT
What would be a better gift?
Save on these prices
REGULAR $5.00
Permanent $2.95
Individually styled to flatter you! A special Christmas offer!
REGULAR $6.50
Permanent $4.45
Machineless oil permanent. You'll look more attractive for Christmas.
4 EXPERT OPERATORS
BALDWIN'S BEAUTY SHOP
PHONE 159 FARMVILLE'S BEST

Faculty Leave Town For Holiday

It seems from all indications that Farmville is going to be a deserted village as far as S. T. C. is concerned come December 20, and the students aren't getting ahead of the faculty one mite. No siree! They're journeying to all corners of the U. S., the most popular spot being New York—but then could you blame them?

Miss Virginia Bedford is going to her home in Columbia, Missouri, where she will visit her parents, and Miss Marjorie Booton will grace Luray, Virginia. Miss Alice Carter will be found visiting up in Warrenton, while Miss Martha Coulling and Miss Grace Moran take in the capitol city, Washington, D. C. Miss Helen Draper has her bags packed for the "tar heel" state, North Carolina, and Mr. Charlie French is off on his usual "duck hunt" over on Northern Neck. He's also going to raid the bright lights of New York City for a few days.

The Misses Hiner and Miss Bessie Jeter are bound for the sunny south in Florida, while Miss Olive Iler will also be in New York. Miss Mary White Cox will visit her sisters at Manassas and Alexandria during the holidays.

Dr. and Mrs. George W. Jeffers are attending the American Association for Advancement of Science to be held in New York, December 27-31. Dr. Edith Stevens is also attending this convention after a visit to West Virginia.

Miss Lucille Jennings is going down Charlottesville way to the University of Virginia, and Miss Kauzlarich is journeying to Illinois. Miss Mary Peck is having Christmas dinner with her mother in Fincastle, Virginia and then going to New York.

Dr. Francis Simkins will attend the American Historical Association in New York in which he will present "Ben Tillman as an Illustration of a Southern Demogogue".

Miss Carrie Tallaferro will be in Orange, Virginia, and Miss Sarah Tucker is visiting her brother in St. Matthews, South Carolina. Smithfield, Virginia will have the pleasure of Mrs. Eva Warren's company, and New York scores another; Miss Leola Wheeler will be there.

A & N STORE

Lady's Jodphurs, tan and brown $2.95

Jodphur Boots $3.75
Jodphur Shoes $2.75

Riding Breeches, tan and brown $2.95

Riding Boots $5.95

Ladies' Dress Boots $4.95

Your Gift Headquarters
Martin, the Jeweler

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia

Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

KLEANWELL Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling

Main St. Opposite P. O.

Phone 98
Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

DR. H. H. CUMMING, JR.

Cumming Speaks On National Defense

"Two things, so far apparently incompatible, seem to be needed to conduct foreign relations with success—concentration or the ability to act rapidly in any emergency and popular control giving assurance that permanent obligations will accord with the interests of the nation," declared Dr. Henry Hartford Cumming, Jr. associate professor of political science at the University of Virginia, when he spoke here on Wednesday night, December 4.

Speaking on "National Defense and the Power of the President," Dr. Cumming emphasized the fact that the president of the United States has more power than any man in the country to shape our destiny and our problem today. "And it can't be different," he insisted, "for we must allow him every possible leeway compatible with common sense for the mass can't make crucial settlements in foreign affairs."

Dr. Cumming was secured as a speaker by the three Women's Clubs of Farmville.

Kneedles Knock

Continued from Page 4

That little push and pull motion seems to be an ideal nerve calmer when we get jittery. And, too, 'spose we aren't a C. G. (cute girl, to you) and expecting a man there's nothing more touching than a spinster, knitting contentedly. Well, I'll admit that doesn't sound very encouraging, but just try and see if those flashy things don't attract attention, and "You really made it yourself?"

Tokyo's 500 rice wholesalers lost their business when the government set up a rice monopoly.

Vanity Beauty Shop
Formerly Mack's
Long Natural Permanents
PHONE 360

The Student's Choice
ECONOMY FOOD STORE
for
FANCY FRUITS, COOKIES, AND "SNAX"
For All Times

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

BUTCHER'S
The convenient store for faculty and student body.
Good things to eat and drink

Y. W. Program

Continued from Page 1

tell the story, "The Other Wise Man." Miss Rice has taken an active part in the Christmas ceremony for more than 25 years.

The climax of the Christmas festivities will be the music program in the auditorium Sunday night, December 15, at which time a number of selected Yuletide songs will be sung. An artist recital on the program will be Miss Vivian Barnes, of Duke University, a former student of Farmville. Following the program, the Student Body will go caroling.

White Christmas, scheduled for Monday, December 16 will again linger in the minds of many students as a memory of the Christmas season. Presented in a special service, presents and gifts wrapped in white will be placed under the lighted tree in the Colonnade.

News and Views

CHINA: American extension of credits to China is applauded by the Eastern Illinois State Teachers College News, which says: "Despite the fact that our chances of getting our money back from destitute China are slim, the loan will further spur her dogged resistance to Japan, at least delaying, if not preventing, our entry into a Japanese war. Far more important than the loan, however, is the embargo on scrap iron. We furnish the market for about 75 per cent of Japan's raw silk and we still buy most of her manufactured wares. Our own industry would benefit greatly and Japan might be brought quickly to her knees if a boycott was placed on her merchandise."

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

STATE
"Our Community Center"

Wed.-Thurs.! Dec. 11-12
MIRIAM HOPKINS — ROBERT AINLEY
"THE LADY WITH RED HAIR"

Friday-Sat.! Dec. 13-14
CAROLE LOMBARD — CHARLES LAUGHTON
"They Knew What They Wanted"

Next Mon.-Tue! Dec. 16-17
BETTE DAVIS — HERBERT MARSHALL
"THE LETTER"

LEE
"Your Family Theatre"

Wednesday Only! Dec. 11
Double Feature!
BILL ELLIOTT
Beyond Sacramento
No. 2
"World in Flames"

Thurs.-Fri.! Dec. 12-13
VICTOR MacLAGLEN — ANNA NAGEL
"Diamond Frontier"

Saturday Only! Dec. 14
2 Big Features!
GENE AUTRY
"Melody Ranch"
and
BOBBY JORDAN
"Boys of the City"

Next Mon.-Tue! Dec. 16-17
Baby Sandy — Stuart Erwin — Una Merkel
"SANDY GETS HER MAN"

Bellus Stars In Junior Play "Out of Nowhere"

Last night in the large auditorium at 8 o'clock the public was privileged to see the success story of Lillian Day, small town girl who came to the big city and made good. The Junior Class upon orcd this production, "Out of Nowhere".

In Act 1 "Lil" (back in Farmville she was Peggy Bellus) was seen working in "Joe's Place", a joint patronized by the lower classes of the city. Fate brought Kenneth Myers, played by Caroline Eason, big time director of "Out of Nowhere" to Joe's Place for a night of relaxation. Here he "discovers" Lillian Day's voice.

Stella, leading lady of Myers' "Out of Nowhere" a lady of airs but no voice—quits her part in in a fit of temper when she found Lillian had not only taken over her part but her director's heart.

The last act climaxed the production with the Vienna court scene finale from the show "Out of Nowhere".

Grooming Notes

Continued from Page ?

and is also not too red in the daytime. But at night she really cuts loose and uses the reddest red in both cases.

She uses her perfume sparingly, saving that Mysterious one for the Man. If she does use any in the daytime it's just toilet water but very delicate, please!

And last but not least she takes excellent care of her clothes, brushing them and folding them up when not using them. . . . No messy clothes for her. She's out of high school and A Lady!

Winter Teachers

Continued from Page 3

Anne Armstrong. They are Mary Elizabeth Brinkley, Cynthia James, and Elizabeth Kidd.

Under Miss Alice Carter and Miss Lillian Beech, Betsy Moore and Katherine Phillips will do their teaching in the sixth grade. first, second and third grades; Miss Pauline Camper and Miss Annie Laurie Stone will have teaching under their supervision Marie Stowers, and Agnes Pierce, first, second and third grades; Frances Powell, second grade; Florence Pride, first and second; Lucy Sydnor, third; Alice Goode Colhoon, second and third; Charlotte Phillips, fourth and fifth grades; Edith Sibold, fourth; and Bridget Gentile, fifth grade.

The brain of an adult weighs approximately 3 pounds.

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management — Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

For fine Holiday Clothes and Christmas Gifts—Visit
DOROTHY MAY STORE
Charge it if you like
Only eight more school days to shop

Congratulations 1941 Varsity
—We're With You!

The Rotunda

Think Before You Nominate
For May Day

VOLUME XX FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 8, 1941 NO. 12

Nunnally Places First in Colonnade Poetry Contest

Powers, Rouse Take Secondary Honors

Edith Hatchett Nunnally, senior from Richmond, wrote the prize winning selection "From Arkansas Hats" for the poetry contest, sponsored by the Colonnade, which ran from November 1 to December 1.

Edith transferred as a junior last year from Arkansas State Teachers College, is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary society in scholraship, and has made previous contributions to the Colonnade.

Lula Powers' "His Presence", took second prize, and third place went to Carolyn Rouse for her poem "Winter." Lula is a senior from Charlottesville, and Carolyn is a sophomore from Newport News.

Honorable mention went to Anne C. Williams for "Creation", Alice Goode Calhoun for "October", and Jo Brumeld for "My Lovers."

Any phase of poetry was eligible for the contest and there were some 35 or 40 contributions. The first prize is $3.00, 2nd prize $2. and 3rd prize $1.

Frances Hudgins, one of the poetry editors of the Colonnade, was in charge of the contest. The judges were Frances, Bess Windham, Alice Goode Calhoun, Miss Lucille Jennings, and Miss Mary Clay Hiner.

The winning poems of this contest will appear in the January issue of the Colonnade. Lula and Carolyn, who were rated second and third, respectively, are new contributors. Of those receiving honorable mention Jo and Alice are newcomers to the magazine. Anne's poems "Driftwood" and "Victory" appeared in the last issue.

Soph Production Committees Named

Reopening of Club 43 will be staged January 28 when the Sophomore Class presents its annual class production. The program will continue along the same lines as the one last year, with singing, dancing, ballyhoo, and refreshments—all served a la' cabaret.

Jeanne Haymes and Frances Parham are co-directors of the production. Helen Lewis has charge of the theme. Other assistants will be Mary Harvie, publicity; Betty Youngberg and Anne Price, tickets and programs; Jean Weller, music; Sarah Currie, costumes; Hallie Hillsman, properties; Miggie Mish, lightning; Jerry Smith, dance chairman; and Margaret Bowling, make-up.

Decorations will be planned by Betty Sexton with Robin Henning collaborating on the Ball Room. Gray Walden will supervise the food and Kitty Price, the waitresses. Bridget Gentile will be miscellaneous chairman.

Greece Discussed by Whelchel, Fowlkes

Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor society, held a program meeting in the honor room Tuesday, January 7, at 7 o'clock Marion Heard, president, presided, while Thelma Courtney, vice-president, acted as program chairman.

Martha Welchel and Bliss Fowlkes talked on the part Greece is playing in the European war and its effect on the English moral.

Miss Mary Nichols and Mr Boyd Coyner, members of the faculty, were guests at the meeting. Mr. S. M. Holton, faculty adviser of Pi Gamma Mu, was also present.

Student Standards To File Cards

Extra-curricular cards will be filled out next week. They will be checked by Student Standards before they are handed to Student Standards permanently.

Save the calendar, "What's When" on page 4 of this issue, so the cards may be filled out correctly.

"Here We Are—Right Back Where We Started From"

"Well, hi! Did you have a pretty time Christmas?" On all sides from Student to Library, from Shannon's way over to Senior Building that's all we've heard for the past few days. Trains, busses, and cars all headed toward Farmville brought many nappy and some sad back from a glorious vacation.

Talk about train rides—whee! It was wonderful with so many V. P. I. young men running the train, and also Hampden-Sydney young men to cheer us up! But back to the old grind we came, laden with perfume, jewelry, radios, hankies, sweaters and heaven knows what—all gifts from doting parents, fond brothers, sisters, uncles, aunts, cousins, and The One!

Some of us had so many stuffed dogs, cats, and various other animals, bags, hat-boxes, suitcases and millions of other stuff that we could hardly squeeze off the train or out of cars. Some bright young things even filled laundry bags with surplus baggage and checked them! Bright idea!

Classes began and oh, how mixed up our schedules were. Some just gave up the ghost and slept through all of them. Too complicated, so they said. All said and done most of us are glad to be back. But you can bet we're looking forward mighty hopefully to the next vacation!

Anne Cock Is New Sports Editor

Anne Cock, senior from Hampton, Virginia, has been appointed sports editor of the Rotunda, replacing Mickey Beck, who did not return to school.

Anne has been a member of the Rotunda staff since her sophomore year when she was a feature writer. During her junior and senior years she has written news articles. Anne has also been a member of the debate club since her freshman year, and is this year's president of Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity.

Dr. Eddy Will Address Students

Y. W. Sponsors Excellent Speaker

Dr. Sherwood Eddy, noted lecturer and author of international economic, social and religious questions, will speak in chapel on Thursday, January 23 and also hold an afternoon forum in Student Building lounge. Dr. Eddy is sponsored by the Y. W. C. A.

On June 30, 1934, he saw Hitler and heard him make his address to the Reichstag after his "blood bath." He has come to know the leaders in many nations including Prime Ministers of England, Mahatma Ghandi and Generalissimo Chiang Kaishek.

A graduate of Yale University in 1891, Dr. Eddy has been speaking and lecturing constantly before many types of audiences in all sections of the country. He has spoken in several hundred colleges in all parts of the United States, Europe, Asia, and has addressed countless forums, clubs, conferences and conventions.

After graduating from Yale, Dr. Eddy worked among the students of India for fifteen years. He was then called to be Secretary of the Y. W. C. A. in Asia.

Each year before the war he visited the principal countries of Europe to study existing conditions, and during these visits he met many of the statesmen of Europe and government officials. While in Russia he made a fresh study of the outlook for war or peace in the leading countries of Europe, and was there at the outbreak of the war.

Some of the recent books by Dr. Eddy are "I Have Seen God Do It", "Revolutionizing Christianity", "Creative Pioneers", "Europe Today", "A Pilgrimage of Ideas", or "The Re-education of Sherwood Eddy", and "The Challenge of the East."

It is the custom of the Y. W. C. A. to bring one outstanding speaker to the campus every year. Last year Dr. T. Z. Koo, prominent Chinese educator was guest speaker.

Honor Fraternity Holds Book Exchange

Alpha Phi Sigma, National scholastic honorary fraternity, bought and sold second hand books Saturday, January 4, through Wednesday, January 8, in the Honors room.

They sold from 9:10 to 11 o'clock A. M. in the mornings and from 1:15 P. M. till 4 P. M. afternoons. Various members of Alpha Phi Sigma sold during these hours.

Teacher Meeting To Be January 14

Faculty and College Students Will Meet

The next conference of the faculty of the college and the student teachers will be held in the lounge of Student Building at 2:30 P. M., January 14. The topic to be discussed is "How Should the Teacher Use the Various Schemes of Educational Organization?" Mr. C. L. Ramsey, of the high school, will preside at the meeting.

The discussion leaders from the student teachers will be Nancy Goode Bland, Carolyn Harvey, and Martha Whelchel; those from the faculty will be Mr. Edgar M. Johnson and Mr. Floyd F. Swertfeger. This conference is an integral part of the new study program under way throughout the state.

These meetings at Farmville are held regularly at 2:30 P. M. the second Tuesday of each month and at 7:15 P. M. the fourth Monday. All meetings are held in the lounge of Student Building.

Granddaughters Club Bids Thirty-Two

Thirty-two freshmen and two upperclassmen were issued bids to the Granddaughters Club recently.

The new members include Betty Albright, Rachel Ammen, Katie Bess Bell, Betty Bridgeforth, Rachel Bourne, Mary St. Clair Bugg, Edna Campbell, Lucille Cheatham, Anne Davis, Julia Eason, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, Jane Hobson, Sara Hardy, Caroline Huddle, Sara Jeffries and Beth Johnson.

Eleanor Johnson, Elizabeth King, Nancy Langhorne, Dorothy Lee, Marjorie Lee, Dorothy Massie, Elizabeth Rainey, Betty Smithdeal, June Smith, Elizabeth Tennent, Betsy Trigg, Sarah Trigg, Katherine Vaughan, Elizabeth Walker and Ella Banks Weathers.

Florence Lee and Nancy Fulton, upper classmen, also received bids to membership.

Gamma Psi Initiates Five New Members

Gamma Psi, honorary art fraternity, initiated five new members last night. They are: Florence Lee, Winifred Wright, Emogen Claylor, Margie Rice, and Geraldine Beckner. Bess Windham, who was absent will be initiated later.

Sketches of South, Portrait Characters, Exhibited by Noted Virginian Artist

By DOTTY ROLLINS

During the coming week, as you enter the Browsing Room door you will automatically attend the art exhibit of the new year.

Gamma Psi presents the work of Miss Theresa Pollak, prominent Virginia artist.

As you look about, you meet several portrait characters. "Aunt Martha Tucker" is portrayed as a sable darkey who gives her casual glance to the world. Near the corner is "Little Miss Goldsby", whose delicate gray-blue fragility doesn't quite disguise her determination and strength. At the very left of the door is the "Hoyden," provocative in her gay colors and her rakish blue hat. Over the mantle are three more serious oil portraits.

Miss Pollack was born in Virginia and completed her early education there, graduating from Westhampton in 1921. Even though much of her advanced study was done elsewhere, she didn't forget her southland home when she began painting, but has striven to portray the best of the South, to give it a true place in art.

An intimate Richmond scene that catches and holds our attention, is the "Sixth Street Market," one of the large oil paintings hanging to the left of the fireplace. Richmonders know it at once, and to the rest of us it typifies market day in everyone's city—colorful, busy and gay. A smaller sketch of this scene is shown over the book cases by the door. It is done in the striking medium of water color and ink, and is called "Market Sketch." Both familiar scenes are typically southern, and close to us.

Among the other pictures shown is one large still life that bears the appealing title "Chrysnathemums for Tea". With its rich glowing color and lovely design, it is fitting that it should have earned the first award in painting at the Virginia Artist's Exhibition last year.

Miss Pollack has exhibited her work in many places, among which are the Whitney Museum, Corcoran Biennial in Washington, Boston Museum of Fine Arts, and in many private collections in New York and elsewhere. She has received many honors including the Tiffany Foundaiton Fellowship Award in 1932, the Carnegie Fellowship award in 1933, and several first and second prizes in paintings and portraiture.

Having completed a tour of our "gallery" we conclude that we like Miss Pollak's work. Primarily, her paintings are not too impressive to be lived with, or appreciated by us amateurs. Then too, her subjects are all close to us and through her treatment become friendly and familier. Finally, as we leave and see "Aunt Martha Tucker" looking after us, we conclude that we could like Miss Pollack for that portrait alone. We're proud to have been able to see the work of Virginia's foremost woman artist.

Growth of Country Theme for May Fete

MARY ELIZABETH PETTICREW

Petticrew Presents Plan Relating To World Situation

Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, chairman of the May Day committee, called a meeting of the student body on Friday, January 3, to present a brief perspective of the theme drawn up for May Day. This year the plan is to draw away from a "pretty May Day" in an effort to exhibit a pageant of our country, her growth, and culture, thus bringing out our differences from the dictatorships. Much emphasis is being placed upon the timeliness of the theme in this chaotic world with the life-and-death struggle now going on between democracy and totalitarianism.

The first phase will deal with ediological abstractions of our democracy; the second, with the peoples of America, primitives and immigrants. These phases will be shown through the medium of dance by the dance club and classes. The May Court will make up the Court of Nations, dressed accordingly, while the Queen will represent the Spirit of America.

In view of the theme the committee requested students not to chose the May Queen and Court without first giving some thought to carriage and dancing ability since it is essential that these girls have both. They need not be dance students, but it is necessary that they carry themselves well.

Nominations for the Queen and Court will be made next week and elections held soon afterwards. Meanwhile, every student is urged to be on the lookout for twenty-five girls suitable to make up the 1941 May Court.

Spanish Teachers Of Va. Meet Here

Latin America Will Be Theme

Virginia Branch of the Association of Teachers of Spanish will meet here Saturday, January 11. Latin America, of great interest to the Association, will be the general theme of the convention.

The main address will be delivered by a member of the University of Virginia faculty. By special request the Puerto Rican students on our campus will sing for the group and one will make a brief talk.

Luncheon will be served in the Tea Room to the group which will be composed of teachers of Spanish from various Virginia colleges. Anyone interested in Latin American relations is invited to attend the sessions.

Teachers For Winter Term Are Appointed

Assignments have been completed for the student teachers in the elementary grades for the winter quarter—1941.

Those teaching in the Trainine School of Farmville S. T. C. are Carroll Costello, Ella Marsh Pilkinton and Margaret Wright kindergarten; Harriet Ball, Margaret Watkins and Mary Martha Peery, first grade; Jennie Noel, Jeanne Sears, and Helen Dawson, second grade; Anne Brooks, Mary Alice Marshall and Eva Rhodes, third grade; Eviys Greenall, Ruth Handley, and Ora Mayo, fourth grade; Cynthia James and Elizabeth Kidd, fifth grade; Nellie Benton, Betsy Moore, and Katherine Phillips, sixth grade.

At John Randolph under the supervision of Miss Pauline Camper and Miss Annie Laura Stone the following girls are doing student teaching: Marie Stowers and Agnes Pierce, first, second, and third grades; Anne Rucker,

Continued on Page 4

Nine Students Enroll For Winter Quarter

Nine new students entered Farmville S. T. C. in the winter quarter which began January 2.

The new girls include Helen Bliss, Farmville, senior; Mary Ellen Cole, Virginia Beach; freshman; Nancy Hopkins, Rocky Mount, senior; Jean Copes Kelham, Melfa, freshman; Genevieve Rachel, Petersburg, senior; Frances Raiford, Ivor, junior; Jefferson Rowe, Rural Retreat, sophomore; Anne Fletcher Trotter, Clarksville, sophomore; and Mary Elizabeth White, Bedford, senior.

Virginian Dance Scheduled Jan. 18

Roanoke Collegians Selected to Play

Continuing the custom established last year, the 1941 Virginian staff will sponsor a dance in the S. T. C. gym, January 18, dancing from 9 till 12 o'clock. The Roanoke College Collegians from Salem, Virginia will furnish the music.

Tickets, which will be limited according to classes, will go on sale, Tuesday, January 14. Script will be 50 cents stag and $1 per couple.

The floor show will feature those organizations which will appear in the pages of the annual. The decorations will depict the activities involved in putting out the book.

In the receiving line will be Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the college; May Wertz, editor; Anne Ayres, business manager; Mr. T. A. McCorkle, faculty advisor, Miss T. A. McCorkle and Miss Virginia Bedford, art adviser.

Anne Benton is chairman of the floor committee. She will be assisted by Caroline Eason, Madie McFall, Mary Willson, Gay Ward Brown and Dot Rollins.

Notice

The Colonnade wishes to announce that it reserves the right to edit short and poem all material submitted, and that submitted material becomes the property of the magazine. Do your winter writing early—for the Colonnade.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Anne Cock ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Bridget Gentile, Lilly Bec Gray, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Faye Nimmo, Shirley Pierce, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Jane Sanford, Dorothy Sprinkle, Elizabeth Tennant, Sara Trigg.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mary Keith Bingham, Mary St.Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Hele DeLong, Dearing Fauntleroy, Ellen Hudgins, Anne Moore, Mary Lilly Purdum.

Typists

Chief Typist ..... Frances Pritchett
Typists—Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Thelma Courtney, Nell Pritchett.

Photographers—Virginia Worley, Elizabeth Walls

This issue in charge of Margaret Wright, associate editor.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 8, 1941

New Year Resolutions

Back to school—and with a new year ahead of us. As the hour glass of 1941 turns will we be nearer the realization of our goals, our ambitions, our resolutions? Can we accomplish these, and at the same time make school a better and a happier place to live?

If we put our hearts into our work and our play, and if we give all we have, we will have gotten a running start. However, it takes more than just that. There should be a spirit of cooperation, a feeling that we are all pulling together with one accord, if we are to work toward both personal goals and making S. T. C. a finer school. We can do both if we will.

Rebecca McCann's "Cheerful Cherub" says:

"Each year I swear I'll keep a diary
It's sad my resolutions never last—
To read them you might think
I'd only had
A bunch of Januaries in my past."

Let's not add to our "bunch of Januaries," but prove that we have the will power and strength to carry out our resolutions for 1941.

—M. W.

Let's Browse

"I've always wanted to stop and browse but I never have time" How often have we said that about the browsing room of the library? Why not give our minds a lift with a little intellectual recreation by taking advantage of our library browsing room o Sunday afternoons, and other times too.

Take time to skim through current magazines. Take time to read a book. The browsing room offers real opportunity for enjoyment. This week there is also an exhibit of the work of Theresa Pollak, an outstanding Virginia artist.

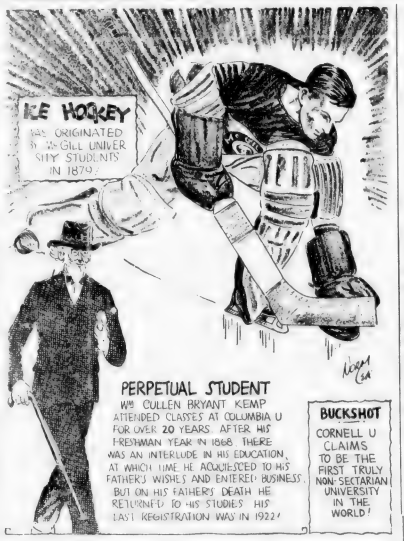
Let's make it a habit to visit the library frequently this quarter, and to take advantage of the opportunity offered us on Sunday afternoons from 2:30 to 5:00. Let's browse.

—M. W

Bouquets AND Brickbats

Well . . . everyone is back after a beautiful holiday and all agog with excitement . . . though a trifle sleepyfied (late hours?)!

And—speaking of late—(trains)—quite a few people had experiences (?) on their trips back to the noble institute . . . ask May Bartlett about her preference for U. of Va. . . . and—embarrassing moments—ask Gene Hardy Kilmon (?) . . . Anne Rogers comes beaming back with a V. M. I. (how did you guess?) miniature—but she also collected a V. P. I. souvenir on the trip back—come Anne, let's be consistent . . . P. L. Boyette really tried to snake "Howard" and we thought she had made up her mind . . . and speaking of snakes—Dot Childress really worked overtime—Les has already paid a visit and how about Larry? . . . Where was "Coonie" Boatwright when the lights stayed out sooo long! . . . We hear Anne Boswell's fair picture will soon gleam from the pages of "College Humor" . . . ah well—Eugenia Bradshaw, M. K. and the Davis child also seemed well (?) occupied . . . ah love . . . Dot Johnson entertained with her tales of absent heart-throbs (Scrub?) . . . Have you seen Robin Hennings' diamond? There are rumors that she will even be hearing wedding bells soon—and how about Bootsie Messick's frat pin—nothing like it . . . Also Shirley McCalley returned with a diamond—(Why College?)



Why did Nancy Naff faint in New York at 11:57 New Year's Eve? . . . what sifinificance does eggnog have to Brookie? . . . why do certain people think Barbara White will need a chaperone at V. M. I. Mid-Winters? Is Helen Lewis still partial to Cornell? We wonder why Emiy Lankes didn't come back—too bad . . . Like so many other people "Bert" Grigg extended her holiday three days, but she went to Charlottesville! Have you seen her S. P. E. pin? The other three Farmville lassies refused! . . . Isn't Faye's Tech miniature the loveliest ever? . . . Ask Harpoo obout the V. P. I. basketball team . . . Dot Gaul had a hard time deciding whether to remis back (mirage?) . . . we wonder why Theresa Fletcher stayed home so long? (Jack?) . . . After much debating the Parker child has almost decided to try Tech again for her Annual Dance date—good luck—Elizabeth Ann . . . The Roane child certainly rates with her boarders—how does she do it? . . . The Marshall girls' pictures didn't seem to have a good effect on V. M. I. cadets—wonder why? . . . Libby West enjoyed dancing with a drunk man one nite—or did she? . . . Patsy Fletcher was mighty thrilled about that B on teaching even though she hates it . . . Gerry Ackiss certainly was excited about that letter Sunday night—hope she will live through it . . . wonder how Ruthie Dugger rated a car for Christmas . . . Alice Seebert was mighty disappointed about not getting that present from Annapolis—too bad . . . Maggie Mish certainly arrives at places at strange hours!

Speaking of presents Miriam Jester certainly got her share—how does she do it? Good thing the holidays weren't longer with all these changes.

Bye now chillums . .

Incidentally while mentioning Christmas it might be well to mention the wonderful candy that M. K. Dodson received from an admirer—also the Barham child (great lover of classical music) is now the proud possessor of a whole set of Winnie the Pooh records—gift of Alex Jones—ask Pat Whitlock how she does it girls. . . after one date the young man showered her with no less than seventeen gifts. . . whew!!! Have you heard the news?. . . congrats to Izzie Williamson. . . another June bride-to-be!!! Traffic was considerably obstructed in the railroad station due to the enthusiasm of a certain H. S. Romeo on seeing the Robbins heart-breaker after the lengthy vacation. . .

Continued on Page 3

Question of the Week

What Do You Think of the Action Taken by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers?

Shirley Pierce—The talented popular artists are being discouraged; also, the individuality and originality of radio programs is fading away.

Helen Hanks—I think the idea behind it is very constructive; the money from the royalties supports a good cause.

Jeanne Sears—This action has made the really outstanding orchestras change their standard theme songs, so long associated with their bands; the college songs are also being barred. So many entertaining radio programs are rapidly losing their audiences.

Patricia Whitlock—I don't like the idea at all; no one wants to listen to the radio anymore because the programs have been changed so.

Frances Parham—This action that has been taken is all wrong. The whole radio network is disrupted for some money which is not being used fairly.

Harriet Cantrell—I don't approve of the idea at all. Radio is directly responsible for a part of the revenue of A. S. C. A. P. Without cooperation and assistance of radio, it is impossible for it to function.

Louise McCorkle—It's unfair to the public; some of the best music of the day won't be heard and there's nothing the average person can do about it. The radio is supposed to be a channel or outlet for talents of various artists; their accomplishments, however are being extinguished.

Anne Boswell—Frankly, I think it will be a distinct disadvantage for A. S. C. A. P., as the music of B. M. I. will flourish and will eventually become more popular.

Parade Of Opinion

By A. C. P.

From across the Atlantic for the second time within the past quarter century Britain proffers an empty pocketbook to support pleas for financial aid from gullible Uncle Sam. It seems that noblehearted England is always willing to adopt a cause and jump willingly into the fracas just as long as someone else can and will foot the bill.

The primary check to such loans is of course the Johnson Act, which prevents the extension of credit to any nation still financially indebted to the United States from the 11 billion dollar spending spree in 1917. Or do you remember our money and our men that made such a "safe democratic world? Naturally, the late Lothian's mission to Washington was to deal with the legal technicalities that must be overcome before our financial hands can again be clasped. All indications point to the Duke of Windsor's similar motive. Britain is in dire need of money; we can supply her with that which she needs. But is the investment one that will pay?

In the financial realm, on the secretary of treasury's report is a five and one-half billion dollar debit marked against Great Britain. Only a negligible amount has been repaid by England in the past twenty years. This pittance payment has been one made by victorious John Bull! Are we to toss cool cash after a bad debt only to have England should she win again, libel us as Uncle Shylock when we begin to request pay?

On the other hand, if we turn over Fort Knox to Great Britain only to see her go down in defeat, our cause and our cash as well would be lost. If England is sincere in her desire to make solvert her credit, let's make a trade. To clear Morgenthau's books let's cancel the five and one half billion debt for a hundred years lease on Canada and Bermuda. For further financial assitance let England turn over to us the Honduras and Guiana, the islands of Barbados, Gernada, Montserrat and Martinique, so vital to Caribbean defense, "for the duration" and until her obligations to us are cleared.

If we must lend money to Britain, let's make no bones about plucking from the English empire all of the crown jewels that can be of service to use in the Western Hemisphere. There could be no more appropriate or opportune time to do some of the renowned Yankee trading than in 1941.—Tennessee Collegian, Tennessee State College.

So We Heard

The player's chance of being dealt a straight flush in a poker game is only one in 64,974 times (if the deck ain't stacked).

And the chance of getting 13 spades in one hand in bridge is but one in 700 trillion times, however many that is.

Slot machines usually afford one chance in eight of winning on any given play, but because human beings like to gamble and ordinarily continue to play their winnings back, they apparently have only about one chance in 100 of coming out ahead.

Gleanings

JACK COCK

As the year nineteen hundred and forty slips into the past and becomes history, our thoughts for the New Year become a prayer, a prayer for peace, a prayer that during the next twelve months we will not be called upon to witness what we have been forced to watch through newspaper and radio during the past twelve months, as month by month beginning with MARCH—we saw finally the realization of Russia's conquest, as valiant Finland at last gave up the struggle against an overpowering foe.

APRIL—We saw Herr Hitler stage his now famous Blitzkrieg on the Scandinavian Peninsula and come up victorious with complete control over Norway and Denmark.

MAY—And two more nations fell to the Nazi mechanized unit. This time Belgium and the Netherlands. The powerful influence of Germany's fifth column began to show in France, and across the Atlantic in a safe and peaceful America, President Roosevelt initiated his gigantic program for national defense.

JUNE—Brought Fance's never to be forgotten "stab in the back" by the entrance of Italy into the war, the surrender of France to the ever-advancing German-Italian troops; and the astounding history making evacuation by Britain of the "doomed" troops at Dunkerque, showing once again the value and bravery of the British navy.

JULY—The envelopment of Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia by Communistic Russia.

AUGUST—And the long promised invasion of Britain by air began.

SEPTEMBER—Saw a cold fear clutch the hearts of Britain and the remaining Democracies as Germany, Italy, and Japan grasped their bloody hands together in a menacing military pact, establishing themselves as the Axis powers.

This same month the peaceful security of the United States received a jolt when Uncle Sam called to the colors all men between the ages of 21 and 35.

September also brought forth the Italian invasion of Egypt.

OCTOBER—And grim comedy entered the war when Italy attempted an invasion of Greece, but was routed by, and is still running from an astonishing Greek army.

NOVEMBER—Franklin Roosevelt broke the laws of tradition, and defeating the Republican nominee, Wendell Willkie, was reelected to serve a third term as President of the United States.

DECEMBER—And Christmas brought little cheer to this war torn Europe. And only darkness as to what the future holds. True there has been a slight, or one might even go so far as to say a definite turning point in favor of the Allies, but how long this favor will last we cannot say. Some feel that now is the time for the United States to step in with man power as well as mechanical power, but our prayer for a glad New Year is simply a prayer for peace—not only for America, but for Europe—a peace which will show, as the war clouds lift, a restoration of the Democracies and the overthrow of Imperialistic Domination.

* * * *

In conclusion we would like to say that we appreciate the well meant warning of one of our readers in regard to German propaganda. We realize the importance of checking reports from both Germany and England, and have tried to stick closely to facts in the past, but shall be even more careful in the future.

13 Comprise Varsity Squad; Sub-Varsity Claims 11

First Game To Be Played Here With East Radford

Thirteen girls, sophomores, juniors and seniors will comprise S. T. C.'s varsity squad for the coming basketball season. These players include Jean Carr, Anne Ellett, Hallie Hillsman, Frances Parham and Anne Price, sophomores; Corilda Chaplin, Hester Chattin, Dorothy Johnson and Martha Roberts, juniors; and Rosa Courter, Patricia Gibson, Marjorie Gooden and Florence Lee, seniors.

The "sub varsity", a new organization of last year, will be composed of Patsy Connelly, Lucille Cox, Mildred Droste, Dorothy Gaul, Vivian Gwaltney, Virginia Hill, Faye Nimmo, Dorothy Sue Simmons, June Smith, Elsie Verelle and Ruth Warwick. Because of the initiation of this plan of having a "sub varsity", freshmen were made ineligible for the varsity squad.

The captain of this year's squad will be elected next week. Six games, two of which will be played on the home court, are already scheduled. The first game of the season will be played with the East Radford team here on February 8. On February 13 our team wil play Notre Dame in Baltimore, Maryland and on February 14 the squad will be lined up against Maryland College for Women at Lutherville, Maryland. On February 22 and 23 games have been scheduled with Upsala, to be played here and William and Mary at Williamsburg, Va.

The season will close with its annual game with Madison College to be played at Harrisonburg, Virginia. Last year the this game was played here on Friday before Founders Day. This year no game has been scheduled for Founder's Day.

Lovelace Electric
Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

Make your New Years
resolution . . .
NEWBERRY'S
For 1941

Special . . .
Nylon Hose
98c a pair
ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

• Sports Slants •

By SHIRLY PIERCE

Here we are back again ready to start a new term and year with a clean slate. Seems like there were quite a number of gals ready to take a plunge into the swimming pool last Saturday night, and believe you me they were disappointed maidens when they heard the pool was empty! That's right, no water . . . for the pool was in the process of having a mid-term bath from side to side, but now it's clean and ready for the gang.

Beginners and the intermediate classes taken for credit are now underway. Non-credit classes are held on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 3:30 to 4:30 p. m. and Tuesday and Thursday from 4 to 5 p. m. If you have a desire to learn the "crawl", "dog-paddle" or what you call "swim" just join one of these scheduled classes and pretty soon you'll be ranked with the best . . . The pool is open for your benefit every afternoon, Monday through Friday until 5:30 p. m. and on Saturday nights from 8 to 9:30 p. m. This is a good time for all Frosh to practice a bit on their "paddling", for in a week or two the regular required swimming exam will be given all Freshmen. Dash by, grab your suit, and swim away with the rest of the mermaids.

Down in the gym for many days
With a basketball we learned its plays
And now we're on the varsity,
To play the game for S. T. C.

All those many afternoons of practice with the basketball were really worth the effort for from the many interested tryouts the varsity squad has been chosen. To qualify for this team one must not only be a "good player" but have the characteristics of a good sport. Accuracy, speed a level head, good aim, a sense of fairness, and good sportsmanship are the qualifications for an A-number one basketball player. Congratulations to all team members and runner-ups! Game schedules will be posted soon and we're raring to go with you. We're ready with the varsity yells and songs—"Come on team! 'Es fight!"

What's all this talk about another horseshow? Well, if you haven't heard we'll let you in on the set-up now . . . Miss Fox has just loads of plans made out for an elaborate affair to take place this quarter about the first of March. Riders will be in colorful costumes and a fancy parade will precede the show. There will be stunt riding, drills, formations, and every phase of good horsemanship. If there are girls who wish to ride this quarter, tickets may be bought from Miss Fox or from someone in the club room. Use your spare time in an outdoor exercise and make ready for the exhibition.

Time Rewrites Farmville's History; Notes 897 Increase

Browsing through an old catalogue one day, I happened to turn to the pages which list the faculty members. After each name, I noticed, in very small print, several lines telling where each one went to school. (Somehow I've often wondered where you could go to learn everything.) So I decided to do a little calculating. How many faculty members do we have? And how many departments are there? Wonder how many of our faculty graduated from Farmville? With such questions haunting my mind, I decided to visit Mrs. Mary Watkins and solve these "brain teasers"—Would ya like to know? Well, all right now? How many of you could guess that the total number of faculty members is 53? Me either! By the way, this includes eight of the critic teachers in the Training School who are considered part of our regular faculty.

S. T. C. claims as alumnae fourteen members of the present faculty. (Guess they sorta like the place.) Columbia University is the most popular university as far as graduate work concerns the faculty.

Having answered these questions, I discovered that my curiosity had not been quenched. For the solutions of these questions seemed only to advance others. What increase has there been in the faculty membership? Why was Farmville selected as an auspicious site for a state college? So with these cogitations whirling in my gray matter (?), I launched forth again to conduct my "answer me or not" campaign. With results, did you say? Ah! By all means—Here they are:

The school that is now known as Farmville State Teachers college was opened in October, 1884. The location was determined by the need of both Lynchburg and Norfolk for a close state college.

Also Farmville presented another qualification for its choice. There was already a school in operation on the site of the present college. Miss Carter of Mecklenburg County had been operating that school for two years. In 1884 the state acquired the school, and it was organized with forty-five pupils and three teachers in addition to Dr. Ruffner, principal and Miss Bush, vice principal.

Alas and alack! Who would have thought that Farmville, which now boasts an enrollment of nine hundred and forty-two commenced with only forty-five students. And that isn't the end, for every year Farmville's history is being rewritten on the pages of Time, showing each year an increase in size.

Vanity Beauty Shop
Formerly Mack's
Long Natural Permanents
PHONE 360

Pastel Skirts and Sweaters ..... $1.97—$2.97
New Spring Dresses in pastel shades ..... $5.97—$10.97
New Saddle Oxfords, Brown and White and Black and White
DOROTHY MAY STORE

For School Days—June Lane Dresses $2.00, proven $4.00 values
Scuffer Oxfords $2.95—$3.95—Bbrown and white and Black and white.
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

COLLEGE SHOPPE
Phone 200
A good place to meet,
But the best place to eat

Riding Club Will Sponsor Movie

Winter Exhibition Planned for March

"Maryland" starring John Payne, Brenda Joyce, and Hattie McDaniels, will be featured at the Lee Theatre on January 23 and 24 under the auspices of the S. T. C. Riding Club.

A special price of 25 cents has been secured and tickets may be purchased at Patterson's Drug store or in the Riding club room. There will be three continuous shows for both days.

Winter riding tickets of thirteen rides for $10.00 are now available to all who wish to ride this quarter.

Tickets may be bought from Miss Stella Fox or from the riding club room. Plans are now underway for the winter exhibition to be given some time in March. Practices of formations have already started.

Basketball Schedule

Feb. 8—East Radford ..... here
Feb. 13—Notre Dame ..... there
Baltimore, Maryland
Feb. 14—Maryland College for Women ..... there
Lutherville, Maryland
Feb. 22—Upsala ..... here
Feb. 23—William and Mary there
Williamsburg, Virginia
Mar. 7—Madison College there
Harrisonburg, Virginia

Winter Teachers

Continued from Page 1

first grade; Frances Powell, second grade; Florence Pride, first and second grades; Lucy Sydnor, third grade; Alice Goode Cahoun, Sally Hutchinson, and Helen Keehn, second and third grades; Edith Sibold, fourth grade; Charlotte Phillips, fourth and fifth grades; and Bridget Gentile, fifth grade.

BRICKBATS and BOUQUETS

Continued from Page 2

We wonder if the Sexton child will get that invite to Mid-Winters at Tech. . . . she's mighty eager. . . . Have you heard about the Hawaiian trend at Fancy Dress??? We can't wait to see Gerry Ackiss in a grass skirt!!! Romance while you study(?). . . Ruth Woody was the cute one in the library Tuesday nite. . . isn't he cute!!!

Well everyone seems to be settling down (?) again to hard work (?) but Annual Dance and confusion and more confusion will be with us soon and we'll see you next week.

Dressmaking, Tailoring, Alterations, fur coats a specialty
Mrs. G. M. Gilispie
Telephone No. 21
Formerly with Davidson's

HOP SAYS—
The annual dance has almost come
Clean your dresses for the prom Here
DeLuxe Cleaners

START 1941 RIGHT
BY SHOPPING AT
Martin, the Jeweler

MEET ME AT
Shannon's
SHANNON'S 224

My Night

By First Lady of Ritzy Row

My day begins at 7:30 A. M. when I arise unwillingly, dress and race to the dining room to find that all my energy is spent in vain, for alas, I'm locked out! From that moment until 6 P. M. I trudge from class to class but after 6 P. M. life blooms forth for down on Ritzy Row, and that's the best place to live these days; night life is the spice of life!

After a lengthy discussion concerning the excellent repast served us in the dining room, I decide to settle down to prepare myself for the tasks that lie before me on the morrow.

It's rather disheartening to me to arrive in the geography department and discover that the information I am seeking is in the library; so after arguing with myself for five minutes, I resolve to climb out of the window and proceed to the library, where I study and having chosen a table at which several friends are seated, crack a few jokes and let it go at that.

Ten-thirty and my worries begin. I walk from room to room asking continuously,

"Have you seen Frances? What is Parham doing down here? Sara Wade, why don't you stop laughing? Why do you offer me food, Miss Allen? You all don't want call downs, do you? Wonder if Liggie hears this terrible noise?"

Incidentally, it's coming from my own room, and I feel very honored to have such distinguished people visit me, but I finally have to shh 'um down a bit and receive several dirty looks in return for interrupting "The best bull session we've had this year." Then the real, and I mean real, authority arrives on the scene and says,

"Everyone take call downs but those who live in this room!"

The Library Clock peals forth 12 and Baby Ben ticks forth 12:30, then we realize it's about time for another authority to knock on the door and say,

"Don't you girls ever go to bed? You, know, I'm the only person in this school who can stay up until all hours of the night. "Good night!"

We hear footsteps, could that be Mrs. McCoy? Our friends seek refuge under beds and in closets while my roommate and I knit calmly on. . . but, it's not Mrs. McCoy. . . It's none other than Liggie Eliet, in person, smilingly saying,

"I'm sorry, but you all will have to take a call down!"

Oh well, we are all sorry it's happened, but it was worth it. Then to bed to get some of that precious sleep that is such a rarity around this place. To my utter dismay, I discover that I have forgotten to read my Education—what will Miss Camper do to me? But I'm too sleepy, but not too sleepy to be reminded that "It's a great life if you can take it!"

New Wardrobes Flaunted at S. T. C.

Sunset Shades, Fur Coats Highlights

New life for old wardrobes! Sounds like an advertisement doesn't it? Well, it is only what Christmas can do for S. T. C. The first day back and especially Sunday made "ye S. T. C. girls" look like walking models for Vogue or a left over from the Christmas Tree.

The newest thing, those lovely sunset shades, showed up so pretty in the light weight woolens. Santa Claus was extra generous to some when he handed out those luscious fur coats, too. Jerkins seem to still hold the lime light through for school days and classes.

That sight which pleased our tired eyes most was the conspicuous new, clean saddles. No run over heels, no broken shoe strings—just nice new ones to get old and soppy looking like all the rest.

All this will be old by Easter so one can get new clothes to be old again by June. Just one vicious circle, but ain't it fun?

RESOLVE
—to—
ECONOMIZE AT
The Economy
Food Store
FANCY FRUITS
PICKLES—COOKIES
Phone
356
For Quickest Service
To the College
SOUTHSIDE
DRUG STORE

A Real Reduction
ON ALL
SUITS
COATS
DRESSES
SHOES
BUY AND SAVE!
DAVIDSON'S

What's When

Monday

I
4:00 French Circle
5:00 B. S. U.
P. S. A.
Wesley Foundation
7:00 Virginian Staff
Choral Club
Madrigal Singers
8:00 College Choir
10:00 House Council
Campus League

II
4:00 Spanish Circle
5:00 Pan-Hellenic Council
7:00 Virginian Staff
Choral Club
Madrigal Singers
8:00 College Choir

III
3:00 Granddaughter's Club
Sigma Phi Rho
4:00 French Circle
7:00 Virginian staff
Choral Club
Madrigal Singers
8:00 College Choir
10:00 House Council
Campus League

IV
4:00 Spanish Circle
7:00 Virginian Staff
Choral Club
Madrigal Singers
8:00 College Choir
Open time—9:00-10:00

Tuesday

I
3:30 Orchesis
4:00 Alderman's A'Capella
5:00 Sororities
7:00 Class meetings
7:30 Pi Gamma Mu
Gamma Psi
Delta Omicron

II
3:30 Orchesis
4:00 Alderman's A'Capella
5:00 Sororities
7:00 Debate Club
8:00 Commercial Club
Home Economics Club

III
3:30 Orchesis
4:00 Alderman's A'Capella
5:00 Sororities
7:00 Class meetings
7:30 Pi Gamma Mu
Beta Pi Theta

IV
3:30 Orchesis
4:00 Alderman's A'Capella
500 Sororities
7:00 Cotillion Club
7:30 Kappa Delta Pi
Alpha Phi Sigma
Open time I—8:30-9:30
II—9:00-9:30
III—8:30-9:30
IV—8:30-9:30

Wednesday

I
3:30 Orchesis
4:30 Senior A'Capella
4:45 Y. W. C. A. Cabinet
Rotunda circulation
5:00 Junior A'Capella
7:00 Student Body meeting
9:00 Alpha Kappa Gamma

II
3:30 Orchesis
4:30 Senior A'Capella
4:45 Y. W .C. A. Cabinet
Rotunda circulation
5:00 Junior A'Capella
7:00 Dramatic Club
9:00 Sophomore Commissoin
Freshman Commission
Y. W. C. A. Committees
9:30 Rotunda staff

III
3:30 Orchesis
4:30 Senior A'Capella
4:45 Y. W. C. A. Cabinet
Rotunda Circulation
5:00 Junior A'Capella
7:00 A. C. E.
F. T. A.
9:00 Alpha Kappa Gamma

IV
3:30 Orchesis
4:30 Senior A'Capella
4:45 Y. W. C. A. Cabinet
Rotunda Circulation
5:00 Junior A'Capella
7:00 Dramatic Club
9:00 Y. W. C. A. Committees
Freshman Commission
Sophomore Commission
9:30 Rotunda staff
Open time I—8:00-9:00
II—8:00-9:00
III—8:00-9:00
IV—8:00-9:00

Thursday

I
5:00 Student Standards
7:00 Athletic Council
Choral Club
Beore Eh Thorn
Madrigal Singers
8:00 College Choir
H2O Club

II
4:00 Dramatic Club Apprentice
5:00 Colonnade
7:00 Athletic Council
Choral Club
8:00 College Choir
Monogram Club

III
5:00 Colonnade
7:00 Athletic Council
Choral Club
Madrigal Singers
8:00 College Choir

IV
4:00 Dramatic Club Apprentice
5:00 Colonnade
7:00 Madrigal Singers
Athletic Council
Choral Club
8:00 College Choir
Open time—9:00-10:00

Friday

I
4:30 A'Capella
7:00 Northern Neck Club

II
4:30 A'Capella

III
7:00 Riding Club
4:30 A'Capella

IV
4:30 A'Capella.
7:00 Pi Kappa Delta
Open time I—8:00-10:00
II—8:00-10:00
III—8:00-10:00
IV—8:00-10:00

A & N STORE

Lady's jodphurs, tan and brown $2.95
Jodphur Boots $3.75
Jodphur Shoes $2.75
Riding Breeches, tan and brown $2.95
Riding Boots $5.95
Ladies' Dress Boots $4.95

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

KLEANWELL Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of "CHARLIE" JOHNSON

The Student's Choice
ECONOMY FOOD STORE
for
FANCY FRUITS, COOKIES, AND "SNAX"
For All Times

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

BUTCHER'S
The convenient store for faculty and student body.
Good things to eat and drink

Yourself and Others

Most of our girls started the New Year by staying at school for the first week-end. Others just couldn't bear it even for two days, so they skipped off for some more fun.

Charlottesville was host to Kay Phillips, Rozelle Eckford, Crew Jerden and Martha Smith.

Hazeltine Wright attended an Officers' Meeting of the B. S. U. in Roanoke.

Off to Lexington went May Wertz and Mary Hunter Edmunds to spend a quiet week-end at Washington and Lee.

Sorority Notes

Charlotte Phillips, Stella Scott, and Anne Williams will entertain the members of the Gamma Theta sorority at a tea Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the chapter room. Miss Florence Stubbs and Dr. J. L. Jarman will be guests of honor.

Mu Omegas will be guests Saturday, at six o'clock when Mrs. Shad Watkins entertains at a supper party for the chapter.

Williamson-Hoyt

The engagement of Isabel Holmes Williamson, of Philadelphia, Pa., to Robert Stephens Hoyt, of Baltimore, Md., son of Dr. and Mrs. William D. Hoyt, of Lexington, Va., and Gloucester, Mass., was announced during Christmas by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee H. Williamson.

Isabel graduated from Farmville last year.

Carter-Bruce

The wedding of Sara Frances Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gilbert Carter, of Blairs, to Taylor Mottley Bruce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Watts Bruce, of Farmville, took place on December 26. They are now living in Farmville.

Nottingham-Baldwin

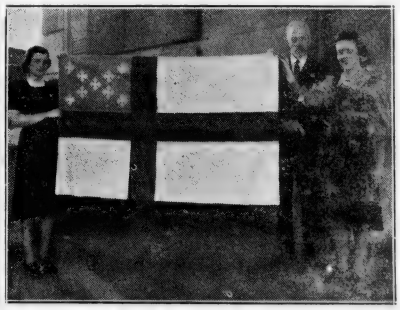
On December 25 Clara Nottingham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Henry Nottingham, of Eastville, was married to Thomas Kyle Baldwin, of Farmville. Clara is a member of the class of '38.

Agnew-Leath

The wedding of Lillian Boswell Agnew, daughter of Mrs. James Stewart Agnew, of Inverness, near Burkeville, to Dr. MacLean Bacon Leath, Jr., of High Point, N. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. MacLean Bacon Leath, of Rockingham, N. C., was held on December 31.

Lillian was a member of the sophomore class.

Harvey-McClung



The wedding of Mary Baldwin Harvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Harvey to James Tate McClung, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. McClung, of Bluefield, W. Va., was performed at the home of the bride in Curdsille on Friday, December 27.

A reception followed the ceremony after which Mr. and Mrs. McClung left for a Southern wedding trip. They will make their home in Bluefield, W. Va.

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

STATE
"Your Community Center"
Wednesday-Thursday, Jan. 8-9
Lew Ayres Laraine Day Robert Young
'Dr. Kildare's Crisis'
Friday-Saturday, Jan. 10-11
ROBERT TAYLOR RUTH HUSSEY
"Flight Command"
Next Monday-Tuesday-Wed. Jan. 13-14-15
Henry Fonda Dorothy Lamour Linda Darnell
"CHAD HANNA"

Episcopal Church Adopts Official Flag

Exhibited by Martha McClure and Elaine Summers, Kansas City, with William M. Baldwin who made the flag. It will be displayed in churches and in processions.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—After consideration at intervals for the past twenty years, the Episcopal Church has finally adopted an official Church flag, to be displayed in chancels or used in processionals. The flag adopted was designed by William M. Baldwin, of New York City, who explains that the 'central feature of the flag is a red cross on a white field, the cross extending to all four edges of the field. In the upper left corner is a blue field on which nine white Jerusalem crosses are arranged in the form of a St. Andrew's cross."

"The red cross has symbolized the Christian Church since the third century," said Mr. Baldwin, "and the blue field represents the traditional color of the Virgin Mary. The arrangement on the blue field refers to the early beginnings of the American Church when Samuel Seabury of Connecticut was consecrated the first bishop of the American Church by three bishops of the Church of Scotland. In honor of Scotland the small Jerusalem crosses are arranged in the form of a St. Andrew's cross. The Jerusalem crosses represent the nine original American dioceses."

Annual Subscription Increased by Drive

As a result of sales at the table in the hall Friday, the subscription to the Virginian was increased by 100, bringing the total subscription up to 400. The goal has been set at 600, this figure being 100 above the sales of last year.

February 15 will be the approximate dead line for subscriptions. The big drive for subscriptions will be held the first week in February.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

It happens everywhere—
Chesterfields
give smokers what they want

It's the cooler better-tasting... milder cigarette

MARY JANE YEO and JO ANN DEAN of New York's Skating Hit "It Happens on Ice" at the Rockefeller Center Theatre

It's called the SMOKER'S cigarette... Chesterfield... because it's the one cigarette that gives you a COMPLETELY SATISFYING smoke.

You try them and find them COOL and PLEASANT. You light one and find they really TASTE BETTER. You buy pack after pack and find they are MILDER.

Do you smoke the cigarette that Satisfies ...it's the smoker's cigarette

Copyright 1941, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

May Day Elections Thursday Night at 9 O'clock

The Rotunda

Annual Dance Postponed Because of Flu

VOLUME XX | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, JAN. 15, 1941 | NO. 13

"Club 43" Reopens Here January 28; Sophs Managers

Emphasis Still On Night Club; Commtitees Named

"Club 43", celebrating its first anniversary, will reopen January 28 at 8:15 o'clock with the management, or the sophomores, if you like, promising an even more stupendous show than that of last year. The Rec has been leased and the most modernistic decorations planned for the occasion.

Tap, ballet, modern, just any kind of dance you prefer, will be on the program, and songs—old new and, yes, the to-be-hit of the sea on, an original song by Bootsie Messick, entitled "This Is Love." A piano figures in a number of ways, and a chorus is present too, not to mention the fun galore from the comedians.

During intermission there will be dancing for the audience and after the performance.

Committees Named

Frances Parham and Jeanne Haymes are general chairmen for "Club 43". The theme committee headed by Helen Lewis is composed of Jane Sanford, Roberta Grigg, Lily Bec Gray, Carovln Minnick, Barbara White.

Margaret Mish, chairman of the lighting, will be assisted by Virginia Whorley, Sarah Currie, chairman, Mallory Davis, Kitty E. Price, Frances Powell, Virginia Campfield, Ann Barnett, Baylis Kuntz, Gertrude Burwell, Ada Clarke Nuchols, and Lenore Bishop will have charge of costumes.

Margaret Bowling, chairman of make-up group, has selected Shirley Turner, Jean Hatton, Eleanor Folk, Elsie Stossil, Joice Stakes, Helen Delong, Libby Bernard, Jeanne Hall, Dot Childress, Lily Bec Gray, and Mary Willson as assistants. The dance group is under the direction of Jerry Smith, Jeanne Sears and Hallie Hillsman.

Hallie Hillsman, head of properties, has announced that Elva Andrews, Susie Moore, Violet Woodall, Helen Engleman, Betty Laird, Virginia Firesheets, Winifred Wright, Lois Steidtmann will serve on her committee. Jean Weller and Mary Haymes have charge of music; waitresses will be Kitty Parrish, Jane Scott, Grace Wallace, Betty Harper, and Ann Henry.

Food, Grey Walden, Ada Clare Sydnor, Mildred Shelton, Martha Hammock, Estelle Smith, Stella Scott, Geneva Brogan, and Elizabeth Walls; decorations, Betty Sexton, Roberta Grigg, Ellen Ebel, Sara Wade Owen, Betsy Jennings, Anne Beal Scott, Dorothy Childress, Elizabeth Bernard and Jane Scott.

Tickets and programs are being handled by Ann Price and Betty Youngberg. Members of their committee are Helen Dawson, Baylis Kuntz, Betty Page Harper, Shirley Turner, Jean Warwick, Mallory Davis, Ella Marsh Pilkinton, Jean Hatton, Charlotte Phillips, Ann Rogers, Betty Boutchard, Jean Hall, Irma Page, Jane Sanford, and Eleanor Scott.

Ball-room dancing is being directed by Robin Hening assisted by Louise Parcell and Lucy Call. Publicity will be directed by Mary Harvie, chairman, assisted by Mary Frances Bowles, Imogen Claytor, Ann Page Francis, Winifred Wright, and Charlotte Greeley.

Dance Postponed

Annual dance, scheduled for Saturday, January 18, has been postponed indefinitely because of the prevalence of flu and colds. Students may either retain their tickets until the dance is given or have their money refunded.

Sophomore Committee Chairmen

Pictured above is the committee in charge of the Sophomore Class production, "Club 43", slated for January 28. These girls are Betty Youngberg, first row; Miggie Mish and Kitty Parrish, second row; Mary Harvie, Jean Weller, and Helen Lewis, third row; Anne Price, Margaret Bowling, Gray Walden, and Sarah Currie, fourth row. Hallie Hillsman, Jerry Smith, Betty Sexton, Robin Heaning, and Bridget Gentile were absent when the picture was made.

Lyceum Will Feature Spanish-American Pianist

Jesus Maria Sanroma, noted Spanish-American pianist, will entertain at the next Lyceum scheduled for January 22. Mr. Sanroma has grown from a student of a few years ago to a modern pianist whose performances can be equaled by very few and outrivaled by no one.

For many years he has been an outstanding figure among the musical world, his great ability being displayed before praising audiences. He was chosen by the Library of Congress for its 1937 Festival of Chamber Music; as a feature artist in the Harvard Tercentenary Chamber Music Concerts before audiences including some of the worlds most distinguished men of letters in cience; by Dr. Koussevitzhy for the performances of Mac Dowell's Second Piano Concerts with the Boston Symphony Orchestra; in Carnegie Hall, N. Y. by the Harvard Musical Association in which the program was solely by Mr. Sonroma; by the Columbia Broadcasting System; and by Mrs. Elizabeth Sprague Colliday to appear in the first Pan-American Chamber of Music Festival in collaboration with the Mexican government in which Mr. Santoma presented several noted American composers.

The program which Mr. Sanroma will entertain on January 22 will include Variations in F Minor, Hayen; Fernch Suite No. 5 B Minor, Bach, Al'emande, Courante Sarabande, Bourree, Gavottee, Loure, and Gigue.

Part II will be the Appassionata Sonata; Allegra Assai, Andante con moto, and Allegro ma non Troppe, Beethovan; and part III will include varied selections

Dr. Eddy To Speak In Chapel January 23

Dr. Sherwood Eddy, author, lecturer and world traveler, will speak in chapel Thursday, January 23 on the topic "Can We Build a New World?" In the afternoon at 3 o'clock he will make an address in the large auditorium entitled "Has Religion Failed?"

A graduate of Yale University, Dr. Eddy has been speaking and lecturing constantly before many types of audiences in all sections of the country. He has also visited hundreds of colleges in Europe and Asia.

Dr. Eddy will be brought to Farmville by the Y. W. C. A., and Miss Finch Is New Religious Ed. Teacher

Miss Mary Douglas Finch from Chase City is here to teach Religious Education this year.

Miss Finch is teaching a college class in religious education this quarter. All of this work will be directed by the Interdenominational Council of Religious Education with headquarters in Richmond. Program of this class will be flexible and based entirely upon the needs and interests of the group.

Miss Finch received her B.S. degree from Farmville S. T. C. in 1622. She then attended Scarritt College for Christian Workers in Nashville, Tennessee for two years, and there she obtained an M.A. degree in Religious Education. She later did graduate study at the Union Theological Seminary in New York and at the Presbyterian Training School in Richmond.

Continued on Page 4

Winter Issue of Colonnade Will Appear Next Week

Lulu Power Tells True Experience; Prof. Contributes

Several short stories and the prize-winning poems of the recent poetry contest will be featured in the winter edition of the Colonnade which will be out next week.

"All Things Come", written by a senior, Edith Nunnally, was the third prize-winner in the summer short story contest. This story and "Star Dust", written by Elizabeth Goodwin, a freshman, and given honorable mention in the same contest, will be among the short stories presented. Others include "Unmanifest Destiny" and "Dust Be My Destiny", the authors of these two psychological stories being respectively Harriet Cantrell, a junior, and Caroline Bargamin, a freshman.

As promised in the preceding publication of the Colonnade, Lula Powers' "Hoglah" will also appear in this issue. This story is a true experience of a Chinese gardener as told by Lulu, who was a resident of Korea for a number of years. May Wertz's "Cripby" and Marian Heard's "Little Duck Finds a Home" conclude the short story contributions.

The poetry in this issue includes Edith Nunnaly's "From Arkansas Flats", Lula Powers' "His Presence" and Carolyn Rouse's "Winter". Each of these selections was a prize winner in the recent poetry contest, Edith having received first prize; Lula, second; and Carolyn, third. Honorable mention in this contest was given to Josephine Brumfield for "My Lovers", Anne Williams for "Creation", and Alice Goode Cahoon, for "October". These poems will also appear in the January issue. Mary Lou Shannon is the other poetry contributor. The middle pages of the magazine will again reveal the combined talents of Bess Windham and Catherine Radspinner, who have been co-workers on a second creation of "Around the Campus".

"Why can't we keep the political Merry-go-round in the background when an international storm hovers overhead?" This was the question discussed by Harriet Cantrell in the fall issue in her editorial, "Future Citizen Questions." In this issue, Dr. James Elliot Walmsley, professor of history and social science, will

Continued on Page 4

Girls Learn How To Make Footwear From Ordinary Quilted Cotton

The theme of this article is "How Smart College Girls Fashion Footwear Out of Common Cotton". Don't laugh; it can be done and simply, too.

With the right treatment in nimble fingers, the common quilted padding can emerge in form or shape of attractive bedroom slippers. Materials needed are one-half yard of quilted cotton or silk, if you prefer, and a package of bias tape.

How to Do It

Cut the material the shape and size of your ordinary bedrooms with a top piece half an inch larger all around and long enough to cover the instep. Snip a slit one inch long in the center front. Bast the two pieces together and bind the edges with gaily colored bias tape. Incidentally be sure and make two! Match 'em to your favorite lounging pajamas or robe and be considered the best turned-out young lady on campus. Simple, yes? And attractive as well. Who can deny that any girl able to make her own shoes would be the ideal wife?

Pomander Ball

Speaking of wives, here's a hint on hope chests. With spicy perfumes as favorite, why not keep a spiced apple or Pomander Ball in your closet or chest? Here's how you do that. Wash a medium size apple thoroughly, dry with a lean cloth, then rub with a greased cloth. Fat without salt should used.

Next, choose a handful of whole cloves. Begin at the top of the apple, forcing a row of cloves around the stem, pushing them in up to their heads. Follow with row after row until the apple is thickly covered with the spice. Let the apple stand for two hours on paper until the juice that has been forced out has run off and the fruit is well dried. Tie a bow of ribbon to the stem and place in the closet or hope chest.

Our grandmothers made them to tuck between snowy sheets and silcoes, but it was the Egyptians who really discovered this secret. The cloves preserve the apple and after many years they still retain the delicious scent of cloves.

Pierpont, Painter, Yates, Wolfe Are May Queen Nominees

Going over plans in preparation for opening "Club 43" are Jeanne Haymes (left) and Frances Parham (right) co-directors of the sophomore production.

Thirty-Eight Win Chance to Compete For May Court

Elections Are Set For 9 O'clock Thursday Night

Nancy Pierpont, Salem; Elsye Berry Yates, Suffolk; Nancy Wolfe, Lynchburg; and Louise Painter, Roanoke, were nominated for queen of the May Day festival by the student body Monday, January 11. Election of the queen will be Thursday night at 9 o'clock in the auditorium.

Editorial Comment Page 2

These girls, seniors, were members of last year's May Court, and are also members of this year's Mardi Gras Court. Elsye Berry being the queen. The girl receiving the highest number of votes will be queen, the second highest maid-of-honor, and the other two will automatically be in the queen's court.

May Court Nominees

Thirty-eight girls also received nominations for May Court, including four freshmen, six sophomores, twelve juniors, and sixteen seniors. Nine of these girls were in the queen's court last year.

Senior court nominees are Anne Benton, Faye Brandon, Rosa Courter, Nan Duer, Mary Sue Edmondson, Liggie Ellett, Betty Fahr, Marjorie Holt, Helen McIlwaine, Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, Kay Phillips, Helen Seward, Martha Smith, Helene Stras, Pat Whitlock, and Elizabeth Williams. Others nominated are Peggy Bellus, Anne Boswell, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Polly Keller, Dorothy Lawrence, Nancy Naff, Allene Overbey, Cottie Radspinner, Dorothy Robbins, Mary Lou Shannon, Kay Spencer, and May Wertz.

Attendant nominees from the sophomore class are Helen Wiley Hardy, Frances Mallory, Nancy McClay Jane Saunders, Jeanne Sears, and Jerry Smith. Freshmen nominees are Betty Bridgeforth, Sara Hardy, Helen Ott, and Dreama Waid.

Nominees To Appear

Thursday night at 9 o'clock nominees for both queen and court will wear evening dresses and parade across the stage in the auditorium. This idea is being used in order to acquaint the students with the nominees. After the nominees have been viewed, voting will proceed. One vote may be cast for queen and twenty-two members of May Court.

A pageant exhibiting the growth of our country will be the theme for the 1941 May Day festival. The May Court will make up the Court of Nations, dressed accordingly, while the Queen will represent the Spirit of America.

Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, chairman of the May Day Committee, requests that the election of the queen and her court be based on carriage and dancing ability. However, this need not be members of the dance club or dance class.

Richard Chase To Present Program

Dance, Ballads and Sings Are Included

Richard Chase, Virginia representative of the country Dance Society, Inc. and Horton Barker blind ballad singer, will present a program in three parts sponsored by Beore Eh Thorn, Orchesis, and the Music organizations on Thursday, January 30.

Part one will be a program of country dances and games presented by Mr. Chase for all students interested. This branch of the presentation is sponsored by Orchesis, modern dance organization on the campus.

Part two, a program of traditional country songs and folk music presented by Mr. Chase and Mr. Barker, is sponsored by the Music organizations.

A lecture by Mr. Chase on ballads, tales, literature, dancing, and folk music, and featuring Mr. Barker, will be sponsored by Beore Eh Thorn, honorary English organization.

A Square Dance in the Gym led by Mr. Chase will close the series of programs.

Mr. Chase and Mr. Barker conduct the annual White Tops festival near Marion each summer.

The exact time of the three programs is still undecided but will be announced later by Mr. James M. Grainger, faculty head, who is in charge of the committee on arrangements.

Colonnade Announces Additions To Staff

Allene Overbey, editor of the Colonnade, has announced that Anne C. Williams, a junior from Chatham and Elizabeth Tremont a freshman from Hopewell, have recently been added to the Colonnade staff.

Anne, who will serve on the poetry staff, has been a regular contributor to the magazine each year since she has been at college. She won honorable mention in the recent poetry contest for her poem "Creation", and several of her poems will appear in the winter edition.

Elizabeth was a guest writer for the fall issue of the Colonnade and will serve on the art staff.

Virginian Winner

Dorothy Gaul, a freshman from Mt. Carmel, New York is winner of the photograph contest sponsored by the Virginian.

Dot will receive $2.50 for submitting the best print. From the 30 prints handed in 15 will be considered for the annual.

The contest was under the management of Madge M. E. photographic editor

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Anne Cock ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Bridget Gentile, Lilly Bee Gray, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Faye Nimmo, Shirley Pierce, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Jane Sanford, Dorothy Sprinkle, Elizabeth Tennant, Sara Trigg.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mary Keith Bingham, Mary St.Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Hele DeLong, Dearing Fauntleroy, Ellen Hudgins, Anne Moore, Mary Lilly Purdum.

Typists

Chief Typist ..... Frances Pritchett
Typists—Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Thelma Courtney, Nell Pritchett.

Photographers—Virginia Worley, Elizabeth Walls

This issue in charge of Sara Cline, associate editor.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 15, 1941

This year we have deviated from the conventional themes for the May Day fetes. We have selected as the keynote of the pageant the growth of our country in an effort to make manifest our heterogeneities in view of the dictatorships. Such an innovation is indeed of mental pabulum. By undertaking to show America steeped in its ideals, traditions, and beliefs, we are showing that we are not dormant in regard to our country's peril in this chaotic world, but are conscious that faith in America was never more important what with the foundations of our free institutions being attacked by foreign philosophies.

"As the Twig Is Bent"

"There is unusual need for the schools to play their part in providing for the common defense," says the President. "Our great public school systems in the States, including colleges and universities, are rendering invaluable service in training men for work in defense activities. But it is more important now than ever before that our schools should give serious attention to the development of an appreciation of our traditional freedoms. What the schools do may prove in the long run to be more decisive than any other factor in preserving the form of government we cherish."

Indeed, then, this idea which we have chosen is a challenge to us. It gives us an opportunity to think fearlessly and progressively about the role of democracy in a world being transformed by war. It enables us to show that we respect and understand the principles of democracy. Consequently let us feel that our selection for the May Day theme is one of which we can be proud—one whereby we may show that we are part of America and that as a part we are deeply concerned with the life and death struggle now going on between democracy and totalitarianism. S. F. C.

Gleanings

MARIE ALLEN

In Mr. Roosevelt's annual budget message sent to Congress, he characterized it as "a reflection of a world at war" and goes further to say that "it is safe only to prepare for total defense." And so he asks for eleven billion dollars to be spent on national preparation, a sum closely approximating our 1941 budget when we were 'saving the world for democracy." And today we are spending and struggling to save democracy for the world.

Closely following this budget comes the proposal to extend the power of the President so that he will have unlimited power in leasing to any of the nations opposing "aggressors" any war materials. The method of payment is to be worked out by the two nations with payments to start after the war is over. Then in addition there is the proposal that the limit of the national debt be unlimited. Certainly, if the two former policies are adopted as proposed by the President then the present limit to the debt will be an antiquated joke.

In the proposed budget we find that ordinary expenses of the government are reduced very little, a reduction which Mr. Byrd described as a transfer from peacetime expenditure over to the wartime list, making it seem that really the once emergency budget is being incorporated into the defense budget in order to hide the facts from the average citizen. It seems only logical that with an increase of several billion dollars for defense measures that appropriations for employment should be reduced much more than $400,000,000 that is recommended, and if it is really being transferred as a very able financier described then there certainly should be some reason why. Why are there unemployed needing relief when boom towns are arising in every section of the country, when construction work for national defense is being stepped up to capacity when there is training for war going on? Do all of these people really deserve relief, when they are too shiftless t[illegible] jobs that are bound to be existing? Or do they still think this is a depression?

However, the eleven billions asked for defence doesn't tell the whole story. For it the "blank check" is handed to Mr. Roosevelt as is up in Congress then it will mean that defense appropriations will be much greater and "the limit" will be greatly exceeded. It will mean that Mr. Roosevelt will have no check on his power to aid the aggressor nations (if they can come here and get the supplies). It will mean that those nations will promise to pay after the war is over when their ability to pay is at the lowest ebb.

The American citizen is in favor of building up our defenses, in making our nation strong militarily. He is equally in favor of helping the Allies even if it might not save democracy for the world. But there is the belief that the same could be accomplished for less money—there are some who believe in economy and certainly Mr. Byrd is one of those. Why pay the wages of skilled labor to unskilled labor, why encourage unemployment, and if it is done why try to hide it?

Some time someone will have to pay and although I prefer paying in money rather than lives, there seems to exist an extravagant waste, there seems to exist the idea that the government should pay exhorbitant wages which means that citizens of the future will be living under a burden of debt or in economic chaos. Why can't we accomplish the same thing for less money? Why doesn't our Congress work for economy at the same time it works for expansion? We can only hope that it will take steps in that direction.

Patti Broadhurst, Farmville Alumna, Publishes Book

(The following is a review of "Any Century" by Patti Broadhurst, a umna of Farmville S. T. C. Miss Broadhurst's works have been praised by Stephen Benet, Lizette Woodworth Reese, and by the critics of the New York Times "Book Review".—Editor's Note.)

In Patti Broadhurst's third volume of poetry, there is the same triumphant rise of the spirit over life's apparently "malignant madness" that was characteristic of her first books. Yet a deepening of thought is evident in "Any Century". The title poem is illustrative of the universality of the theme of the whole.

n any century these thing are true.
Though language cease and other sounds prolong
The song of love, God, pain and what-to-do.

The first group of poems has for its keynote the "agonized aspirations of mankind," as "all things move forward, fall back, die out, and are reborn in a system of unbroken design." The remaining four groups move forward through lyrics that show the author's awarness of "the blackness and rebellion" in the hearts of many in this terrifying world—lyrics that show at the same time her faith in the ultimates of love and beauty and God. Among many memorable lyrics is "The Search", the poignancy of which is answered in the healing "Merciful Darkness" There is the world-old sorrow in "Articulate Grief", with the surcease from pain offered in "The Great Comforter". The recurring note of pure exhaltation of spirit closes the volume:

Death shall not kill me though at last I sleep
Too soundly to recall the radiant day

Let no man think I lie for lack of will
Nor that supinely so my life is done.
For only in such quietness is wrought
The recompensing mysteries of thought

There are in these poems the same color and feeling, the same clarity of image that distinguished critics praised in "Worn Shoes" and "For Florida". Miss Broadhurst's previous volumes. The individual free verse forms of her arlier poems are here with added power to suggest motion and feeling and music. In these and in the conventional forms as well she shows mastery of rhythm and cadence. Her eight-line forms are arresting in the harmony of clear-cut thought and contact form; her sonnet structure is strict and sure. She has found her own style, no matter what form she uses.

Our Mail Bag

Dear Editor,

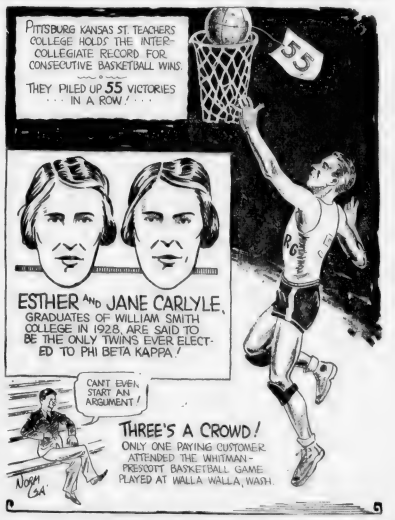
We fail so often in our student elections to see beyond the actual voting and who gets it. We vote for our best friend or for one of the campus big shots because we think that's the thing to do.

Before we vote for May Queen and Court let's stop to think. Remember that people from many places come to May Day and we want it to be the best possible. Let's vote for those girls who can help make it this.

The committee for May Day has asked that we think of two things in voting—carriage and dancing ability. The committee deems these essential and if we do not elect girls with these in mind we cannot expect the committee to give us its best work.

Yates Carr

Dear Editor,



About two months ago we were presented a plan in Student Body meeting. This plan as you know was to improve the "Rec" by contributions from organizations on the campus. We discussed it; the plan was passed; and within a short while the organizations contributed.

That was before Christmas and still as we descend the stairs and peer into darkness below—we see the same dreary "Rec". What has happened to the plan and where are the improvements?

Time has flown by and is still flying. Before we know it, June will be here and quite a few of us will have spent our last year at S. T. C.

All we are asking is that we have a chance to use the "improved Rec" before it's too late.

A Sophomore

Looking 'Em Over

Well—here we are again—maybe you didn't recognize us at first cause now we're "Lookin' Them Over". Incidentally, we saw Mildred Corbin having a big time in Junior Parlor Friday night—of all things! Nothing like economy—how 'bout Faye Nimmo's call to Tech—three for the price of one . . . and speaking of Tech—Nancye Allen is really interested—we've never seen such a heavy correspondence! Why do they call Mary Evelyn—"Woo Bucket"—we wonder!

Agnes Patterson is mighty excited about Tech Midwinters and have you heard—she is going with Stu Johnson . . . Nancy B. certainly is interested in the Freshman Boxing Team at V. P. I.—new heart throb? . . . The Gadabout—Scottie, and the Rosebro and George children spent a quiet Saturday—just a little motor trip to Lexington! Did they have fun! You know it.

Among the dreamy-eyed—Betty Youngberg is mighty partial to DeMolay these days . . . what in the world can be causing all the commotion in the infirmary these nights—visitors jumping out of windows? Could be, you know!

Has Helen Ott made up her mind about Tech and W. & L. lately?—we think the preference is definitely leaning toward Fancy Dress.

Contributions Club

"Dearest Margie",

"When the Moon Came Over the Mountain" "I Thought About You" so I decided to "Sit Right Down and Write You (myself) A Letter", "My Dear" if "Your Heart Belongs to Daddy" then "I'm Nobody's Baby" and that would be "Frenesi" (frenzy).

"If Practice Makes Perfect", then "I'll Never Smile Again" for I only "See You In My Dreams". "Could I" see you "About A Quarter to Nine" for a "Date With An Angel"? Then you can "Hold Me" and "Say, Si Si." We'll go "Riding Around in the Rain" and dance "At the Bailalaika" or listen to the "Ferry Boat Serenade" in the "Moonlight and Shadows".

"My Prayer" is that you haven't been "Cheating On Me". "Till We Meet Again" "Only Forever" Your "Dream Lover".

Let's go back to the Yuletide holidays and check up on some overlooked matter. Why didn't Marty want to go to that tea dance? . . . Gussie came back with plans for "bells and bouquets" a year from now—and many came back with those tuneful "radio vics"—have you seen Kathryn Kennedy's, Dot Lawrence's . . . Did you know May really thinks the love bug has bitten her? (we wouldn't tell you —but anything for news) . . . And have you heard about the Anti Worry Club founded without a charter from Student Standards?

We hear quite a few sneakerinners invaded the infirmary with a blitzkreig, but it seems that the dictator appeared! Have you been a sneaker-inner this week? The watchbird is watching you!

Last week-end; ah bliss!—the opportunity for all the girls that don't go to S. T. C. For H.-S. had all Uncle Sam's future defense of Virginia as overnight guests.

Things we saw: tickets being sold for the flu epidemic to be held in the new H.-S. gym—the charge of the light brigade to get permission to go . . . Jack Summers, ye ole bottle-pal, back to cheer for both Alma Maters . . . Jeanne hanging on to everything she had and everything everybody else had . . . Barbara W. doing all right by the men too . . . one little Virginia man weeping over the futility of it all in Shannon's . . . May's Dick looking around and the fun had in the "rec."

Who were the three attractive glamour girls that had men following them all over school—Susie Bellus, Jean Cox and Marty Robertson can tell you. (These lassies better known as Sadie, Anne, and Marty).

Brickbats to Ritzy Row for being so tactless to the freshman who wanted to take over one of their abodes—after all no one can break down that little wall around them.

Why didn't Caralie and Jean go down in the "rec" Saturday night? It couldn't be that they were afraid of the dark, could it? Or maybe the maid side-tracked them!

Bouquets to Helen Ott for having the perfect figure for W. & L. Fancy Dress.

Mary Lou, you should have been here this week-end; J. Dodson was terribly disappointed . . . We sometimes wonder how well "Buck" knows Lucy! . . . Rosebro also got a miniature for Christmas—from V. P. I. at that.

The Ayers latest pastime—giving directions to U. of Va. drunks: good deed for the day, Anne? . . . Have you noticed Mary Harvie's eagerness to go to Tech Midwinters? . . . Watch out P. L., Lily Bee is really a snake at heart! . . . Brickbats to people who go in the wrong post office door . . . Wonderful friendships begin during holidays; incidently it was Billy Hopkins who came to see Jeanne Sunday.

What's Going On Today In the World of Modern Women

79 Girls Listed On Dean's List

Increase of 34 Students Is Noted

Miss Virgilia Bugg, registrar, has announced that seventy-nine juniors and seniors are on the Dean's list for the fall quarter. Thirty-one of these were on the list last quarter.

To be on the Dean's List a student must make a grade of all A's and B's except on floor work in gym for the preceding term and must have an average of C for all college work.

Those making all A's and B's this quarter are- Rachel Abernathy, Dolphin; Marie Bird Allen, White Gate; Aseita Altomare, Blue Point, L. I.; Alice Leigh Barham, Portsmouth; Virginia Barksdale, Roanoke; Anne Benton, Locust Dale.

Nancy Goode Bland, Boydton; Carmen Booth, Danville; Ethel Carr, Richmond; Corilda Chaplin, Falling Springs; Sara Cline, Roanoke; Mary Ann Cobb, Wachapreague; Esther Coleman, Greenfield; Nahrea Coleman, Crewe.

Thelma Courtney, Winchester; Emma Louise Crowgey, Wytheville; Dorothy Crumley, Bristol; Rachael DeBerry, Blackstone; Sally Dunlap, Lexington; Caroline Eason, Richmond; Mary Hunter Edmunds, Danville; Frances Ellett, Roanoke; Jane Engleby, Roanoke; Betty Fahr, Richmond; Carolyn Frances Ford, Virgilina.

Bliss Fowlkes, Danville; Annie Elizabeth Garrett, London Bridge; Carrie Gibboney, Farmville; Patricia Gibson, Long Island City, N. Y.; Helen Gray, Chatham; Martha Louise Hall, Roanoke; Nell Sue Hall, Roanoke; Marjorie Holt, Matoaca; Virginia Howell, Church Road.

Jane Lee Hutcheson, Farmville; Anne Johnson, Covesville; Dorothy Johnson, Suffolk; Mary Jane Jolliffe, Stephenson; Frances Keck, Danville; Rachel Kibler, Alberta; Evelyn Krenning, Wytheville; Roberta Latture, Lexington.

Mrs. Margaret S. Lawrence, Richmond; Ruth Loving, Boykins; Dorothy Marrow, Clarksville; Ernestine Meacham, Richmond; Dorothy Lee Menefee, Roanoke; Georgia Watson, R. 3, Farmville; Sarah Elizabeth West, Portsmouth; Roberta Wheeler, R. 3, Lynchburg; Patricia Whitlock, Mount Airy, N. C.; Flora Winn, Wilson; and Margaret Wright, Richmond.

Mu Omega Entertained

Mu Omega sorority members were entertained at a turkey supper by Mrs. Shad Watkins at her home on Saturday night, January 11, at 6 o'clock. Those present besides the active members were Miss Leola Wheeler, advisor, and two members of the alumnae, Mrs. Kitty Hatch Whitfield and Mrs. W. J. Seeley.

Dressmaking, Tailoring, Alterations, fur coats a specialty

Mrs. G. M. Gilispie

Telephone No. 21
Formerly with Davidson's

HOP SAYS—
The annual dance has almost come
Clean your dresses for the prom Here

DeLuxe Cleaners

★ FASHION PREVIEW ★

The school teacher who would keep the attention of her classes and earn the devotion of her pupils must avoid the traditional drab garb of the old-time school-marm. Her clothes must have style, dash, and color like the three-piece wool and rayon suit shown above

Pulse of Fashion Runs Wild; Sense Not Cents Essential

This is the all-American fashion story, splashed with color and action. The pulse of fashion runs a riot! Forget your prejudices and steep your mind in it.

Fashion follows the fleet with patriotic insignias on compacts, emblazoned on belts, embroidered on gloves, pinned on hats. Fashion cuts the ice with white wool chinchilla shirlwind skirts and coats to match—you look slick as ice and keen as a blade.

Fashion calls to color all timid souls. Steep yourself with hues that are quick and high-keyed, intense and strange, or suddenly quiet. Fashion dictates a mustard yellow ribbed wool dress with leopard hat and muff; royal purple, like night lightening, for a jersey dress set off with your antique turquoise jewelry; oyster white wool suit accented with black velvet; soldier blue suit as a salute to the Navy.

Noted and approved are the white crepe evening dresses that have classic simplicity; blonde crooked streaks in the hair like errant shaft of sunlight; lacquer red dinner dress—looking to India—hips swathed in sash and the head in a turban; strapless balck velvet to a vivid blond; lights in the hair must be brighter than the color worn.

But take heed! You can have all this and still not be heavenly. Without immaculate grooming you've lost all style, all rhythm of fashion. Neatness is truly all important. And so as our fashion story closes, ladies, you see that to be a smooth subject it takes a lot of sense and a few cents!

34 Girls Begin Student Teaching

Thirty-four girls began their student teaching in the Farmville High School last week. These girls will teach throughout the winter quarter in the department's of English, history, mathematics French, Latin, biology, chemistry, and home economics.

Girls teaching are Ethel Beasley, Carmen Booth, Crews Borden, Iris Bryant, Mable Carlton, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Mary Sue Edmondson, Jamie Lee Elliotte, Margaretta Gerlaugh, Anna George, Katherine Hawthorne Marjorie Holt, Frances Hudgins, Emma Hutchinson, Jane Jones, Elva Kibler, Rachel Kibler, Margaret Lawrence, Helen McIlwaine, Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, Mary Marshall Prosise, Ruth Lea Purdum, Jean Moyer, Martha Smith, Marie Thompson, Elizabeth West, Sadie Cobb, and Dorothy Eades.

At John Randolph, Helen Dooley, Effie Grant, Alma Oakes and Reba Woodbridge will teach home economics. Nancy Pierpont and Marion Worsham are at Worsham High school this quarter.

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop

"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

MEET ME AT—
Shannon's
PHONE 224

The Latest in FUR EAR MUFFS For 29c

NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c Store

Pastel Solid or Plaid Skirts and Sweaters $1.97—$2.97. New Spring Coats. New Spring Hats. Elk Slip-on Moccasins $3.97

DOROTHY MAY STORE

For School Days— June Lane Dresses $2, proven $4 values Scuffer Oxfords $2.95—$3.95, brown and white and black and white.

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Extra Care Will Keep Velvets Glamourous

EVERY woman can keep the glamour in her velvet gowns and dresses by using a little extra care in their selection.

Rules for insurance against shabby appearance in madame's wardrobe of velvet evening gowns, daytime dresses, lounging pajamas and housecoats are given by Bernice S. Bronner in January's Good Housekeeping.

Care in selection is one of the most essential rules for keeping beauty in velvet garments, says Miss Bronner. She advises minute examination of the fabric to make sure that it has a close pile—that is, that there are plenty of upstanding little fibers. "If you can easily see the back of the fabric, through the pile the garment will soon look shabby", maintains Miss Bronner.

Miss Bronner's rules include how to avoid crushing; how to properly hang the garment; the removal of dust and lint and the proper method of pressing.

Should a Lady Cross Her Legs? Yes and No

SHOULD a lady cross her legs? Yes, and no, say those who know their feminine etiquette. It is permissible, but only if it is done gracefully.

If a woman is sitting in a sprawling position with her legs stretched in front of her so that the calves are flattened out of shape making them look very wide, the answer is no, writes Sally Berry in the January issue of Good Housekeeping. It is however, quite correct for a woman to lightly cross her ankles if she is sitting erect. This is restful; toes point gracefully, and her legs keep their slender lines. If a woman crosses her legs above the knee, and keeps them straight, not turned out as ugly angles, the answer is again yes.

For a correct sitting position, Miss Berry has some other rules. "Follow them," she advises, "and you'll be sitting pretty."

1. Choose a seat of the right height.
2. Sit on your sitting bones. Don't slump on the end of your spine.
3. See that your lower back touches the back of your chair.

Notice

The deadline for Virginian subscriptions is February 15. So far 410 people have subscribed; our goal is 600. Hurry and subscribe now!

When better—
Sandwiches
—Are Made
COLLEGE SHOPPE
Will Make Them

January Special
RYTEX STATIONERY
100 SHEETS
100 ENVELOPES $1
Martin, the Jeweler

DUKE UNIVERSITY
School of Nursing
DURHAM, N. C.

The Diploma of Graduate Nurse is awarded after three years. The entrance requirements are intelligence, character, and graduation from an accredited High School. Preference is given to those who have had college work.

The annual tuition of $100 covers the cost of maitenance, uniforms, books, etc.

Catalogues, appplication forms, and information about requirements may be obtained from the admission committee.

Boots! Boots! Boots!

With boots invading college campuses, Mary Katherine Zehmer, above, takes time out to model her white ones with bright plaid tops.

College Cuties Take To Boots As Ducks To Water

Boots, boots, boots! Red ones, white ones, brown ones and black ones, dainty ones, sporty ones, and just plain regular old boots. Have you ever seen so many? Comes a hard rain and everyone is well prepared if she has boots. If not, well, she's just out of luck.

The fad of rubber boots has taken S. T. C. by storm. Not only has S. T. C. become boot-conscious, but nearly every other campus in the country can boast of its boot fans. We all agree it's a wonderful custom. Aside from being good for your health during rainy days, girls look mighty attractive in boots, don't you think?

Vanity Beauty Shop
Formerly Mack's
Long Natural Permanents
PHONE 360

Nearby Cities Draw S.T.C. Girls

Inaugural Ball In Raleigh Attracts

Richmond, the great metropolis, calls S. T. C. girls to spend week-ends on business or for fun or both. Lots believe in the old slogan "Do your Spring shopping early"—and were found floundering around in the stores.

Among the visitors were Betsy Austin Elizabeth Ann Barnes, Mary Keith Bingham, Hester Chatin, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Ellen Maie Goode, Lynnette Honeycutt, Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, Mary Lou Shannon, Anne Turner, Grey Walden, Grace Wallace, Annie Leigh Coates, Nancy Guy and Marjorie McAllister.

Many girls journeyed in the opposite direction to Roanoke. Some of these were Libby Carter, Sarah Currie, Evelyn Reveley, Eleanor Steffey, Frances Steffey, and Marie Utt.

We know Louise Painter had a gay time being in Jean Scott's wedding in Roanoke. With orchids and much preparation for the ceremony, her week-end was full of excitement.

Pearl Thompson was the person to go the longest distance with High Point, N. C. as her destination. The reason for her trip was to attend the Inaugural Ball in Raleigh.

20% Reduction on all Helena Rubinstien Products
Week of March 1-8
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Special . . .
Nylon Hose
98c a pair
ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

Call Time Out
FOR BEAUTY

And enjoy the New Year A Hard Day at school will leave you feeling tired an dlooking disheveled. Guarantee a successful Schcol Term by making an appointment now, to take time out for Beauty, restore your confidence and your serenity.

DAVIDSON'S
PHONE 163

• Sports Slants •

By ANNE COCK

Snow! What a surprise on Saturday morning, and didn't it just set your blood tingling and your mind to racing toward some sort of activity—even if it just made you sprint to class. That's a beginning!

Drag off those red flannels, hop nimbly into some shorts (the togs of freedom), and make a blitzkrieg attack on the gym, greatest scene of activity since Caesar invaded Gaul. There the best days of the week, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday have been given over to - yep, you guessed it -Basketball!

What with the first varsity game of the season less than a month off there's no small wonder that extensive practices must be held. Our team will not be found napping when Radford invades our campus on February 8.

Class teams are in the making too, and when Varsity isn't teaming it up, other combinations are, in preparation for the next step in the Color Rush History of '40-'41. Somewhere on this page is the schedule of practices—cut it out, paste it on your mirror, and show up at the proper time to help your class.

Speaking of Basketball, did you see the games in the gym Friday night? Those high school students can really handle a ball. The members of the champion team of Henry County were guests of the A. A. overnight and defeated Farmville High by a close margin—12-10.

A double header featuring Worsham and Randolph Henry girls and boys afforded fans further excitement. Victors and defeated as well were entertained after the games at a tea in the Y. W. Younge by the A. A.

And here's a bit of news that fairly reeks with fun and more fun. Play nights are to begin again come Saturday night. We thought they were to start last week, but we know there'll be one for sure this week. So if your heart longs for a good old get together of a cold night wend your way toward Student Building Lounge Saturday night at 8:30 and plant yourself at the game of your choice in the warmth of that roaring fire.

Now, what I am about to say will probably send a chill down your spine but ought to put a challenge in your heart. Whether you have forgotten it or not I am reminding you that we have a swimming pool in our school and it stays open all winter, and in the winter it is heated—not too hot—just enough to take the chill off—and if you want a place to go that's really stimulating, that really gives you an appetite, that really gives you that "glad I'm alive feeling," then come on down for a dip—the water's fine! 'Tis rumored the meet will soon be underway.

On the contrary, if you feel the call of the pioneers in your bones, see Miss Fox about a ticket and a horse and go for a trot around the countryside. Farmville's as pretty in the winter as in the spring! if possible!

And say—you remember those square dances we had before Christmas? I thought you would. Well, if you enjoyed them as much as I did you'll be more than interested in the dance side of Mr. Chase's program. I understand that after his lecture Thursday night he's going to lead a rare old square dance down in the gym for any and everybody. See you there!

With all those possibilities literally staring one in the face, seems we all ought to be the picture of health these days.

Frosh Defeat Buckingham 24-10

Season's First Game Played There

By FAYE NIMMO

Farmville's freshman team played its first basketball game Tuesday afternoon, January 14, with Buckingham High school. Leading off in the first few minutes of play, the frosh held their own until the end with the final score, 24-10.

Although the Farmville girls won, the Buckingham team played a very spirited game.

Playing Difficult

Due to the waxed floor playing was somewhat difficult. For a while it looked as if the girls had wheels under them, and once they "see down they experienced difficulty in arising.

Virginia Hill, a tall, auburn-haired freshman from Windsor, led the scoring for the Farmvill girls. She played a fast, hard game with only the slick floor a barrier to her. June Smith played an excellent game as guard. Dorothy Taylor, a Farmville girl, made an excellent showing in her position as guard.

Game Shortened

The game was shortened to six minute quarters, two minutes between quarters and five minutes at the half in order to enable the Buckingham girls to catch their busses.

The entire team was in the game before the end. The girls who participated were Virginia Hill, Dottie Sue Simmons, Lucille Cox, Mildred Droste and Dorothy Taylor, forwards. Patsy Connolly, Freida Dekker, Vivian Gwaltney, Faye Nimmo and June Smith played guard.

The referee for the game was Marjorie Gooden.

Miss Finch

Continued from Page 1

Miss Finch spent eleven years in Japan teaching Bible and English in the Hiroshima Girl's School, a Methodist Mission School in Central Japan.

Since her return to the United States, Miss Finch has been doing social welfare work in Richmond and teaching religious education in the public schools of Suffolk.

Riding Club Movie Is January 23, 24

"Maryland", a story pictured in gala color with scenes of horses and a memorable, entertaining story will be the feature picture at the Lee Theatre on January 23 and 24. Starring in the movie are John Payne, Brenda Joyce, and Hattie McDaniels. Produced in technicolor this picture has been brought back by the S. T. C. Riding Club for your enjoyment.

A special price of 25 cents has been made possible by the management and tickets are now on sale in the Riding Club room and at Patterson's Drug store. A number of club members are selling tickets throughout the school and in town in order to have a full house both days. The money made by the movie will go towards enabling the club members to visit a horse show this spring. Mary Owens West, treasurer, is general chairman of the tickets.

Each Wednesday and Saturday night pies and popsicles are sold throughout the buildings. Aline Markland and Florence Carr are in charge of the sales.

The club is deciding on a special club pin for the members and several distinct types have been secured for approval. Also pennants of the club are on sale under the chairmanship of Katherine May and Nell Scott.

Ten Girls Enrolled In Red Cross Senior Life Saving Class

Ten girls have been enrolled in the American Red Cross Senior Life Saving class this quarter under the direction of Pat Gibson. This course includes 17 hours of water drilling and land work.

Members of the class are Dot Darrocott, Ruth Dugger, Genevieve Cooke, Dorothy Gaul, Hallie Hillsman, Margaret James, Frances Rosebro, Anne Sawyer, and Dreama Waid.

Each of these girls were required to pass a preliminary test in order to be liable for the Senior Life Saving course.

Varsity Basketball Schedule

Monday	5:00 p. m.
Tuesday	4:00 p. m.
Wednesday	4:00 p. m.
Friday	4:00 p. m.

General Basketball Practices Schedule

Tuesday	5:00 p. m
Wednesday	5:00 p. m.
Thursday	4:00 & 5:00 p. m.

Miss Mix Speaks At A. C. E. Meeting

Miss Grace Mix, former supervisor of the Kindergarten, will speak at the meeting of the American Child Education Association tonight at 7 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. lounge. Her topic will be "Refugee Children."

Miss Mix was affiliated with an organization for refugee children in New York last year.

Colonnade

Continued from Page 1

supplement the question in another editorial.

Reviews of Virginia books feature "Richmond Homes and Memories" reviewed by Margie Rice and Rebecca Yancey Williams' "Vanishing Virginian", reviewed by Margaret Mish. Included in the current book reviews are "How to Read a Book", reviewed by Mary Parrish Viccellio, and "My Heart Is in the Highlands", reviewed by Anna Johnson.

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

KLEANWELL Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Resolve to Economize at
The Economy Food Store
Fancy Fruits
Pickles—Cookies

Start the New Year right . . . with a Permanent
from BALDWIN'S

Special 25% OFF
All Permanent Waves
from $2.50 to $10.00
Shampoo and Finger Wave
REGULAR 75c OIL SHAMPOO AND FINGER-WAVE ALL THROUGH JANUARY ONLY 50c
USE YOUR CHARGE ACCOUNT PHONE 159
BALDWIN'S Beauty Salon
Farmville's Best Beauty Shop

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

BUTCHER'S
The convenient store for faculty and student body.
Good things to eat and drink

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

This book TOBACCOLAND • U • S • A • gives thousands of smokers like yourself the facts about tobacco and . . .

Chesterfield's
MILDER, BETTER TASTE

To the keen interest of the thousands of men and women who visit our Chesterfield factories, we owe the idea of publishing the book, "TOBACCOLAND, U. S. A." It is a comprehensive picture story about the growing, curing and processing of tobacco, telling you why Chesterfields are MILDER, COOLER-SMOKING and BETTER-TASTING.

We are proud of the hundreds of letters from smokers like yourself who have seen "TOBACCOLAND, U. S. A." Many have asked us to send copies to their friends. We would take pleasure in sending you a copy—just mail your request to Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., 630 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Capt. JOHN M. MILLER, America's No. 1 autogiro pilot and pioneer of the world's only wingless mail plane route between Camden, N. J. and the Philadelphia Post Office, is shown here enjoying Chesterfield's new interesting book "TOBACCOLAND U. S. A."

Do you smoke the cigarette that Satisfies . . . it's the smoker's cigarette

Copyright 1941, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Attend Lyceum Tonight at 8 O'clock

The Rotunda

Congratulations May Court

VOLUME XX FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, JAN. 22, 1941 NO. 14

Pierpont Will Reign As America; Wolfe To Be Spirit of Great Britain

Sanroma, Noted Artist, To Play Here Tonight

Is Recognized As Outstanding By Musical World

Jesus Maria Sanroma, noted Spanish-American artist, will be presented at the Lyceum tonight, January 23, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Sanroma is recognized as an outstanding figure among the musical world by praising audiences before whom he has displayed unequaled talent and performances.

Among some of his achievements are the recognition of his performances of MacDowell's Second Piano Concerts with the Boston Symphony Orchestra by Dr. Koussevitzhy and the privilege of appearing in the first Pan-American Chamber of Music Festival in collaboration with the Mexican government. He was chosen by the Library of Congress for its 1937 Festival of Chamber of Music, and as a feature artist in the Harvard Tercentenary Chamber Music Concerts.

Mr. Sanroma also gave a concert in Carnegie Hall, New York sponsored by the Harvard Musical Association. He has been engaged several times by the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Mr. Sanroma's program for tonight will include "Variations in F Minor, Hayden; "French Suite No. 5 B Minor, Bach, Allemande, Courante Sarabande, Bourree, Gavotee, Loure, and Gigue.

The Appassionate Sonata will comprise part II. Included will be Allegro, Assai, Andante con Moto, and Allegro ma non Lrappe, Beethoven.

Part III will be made up of various selections.

Debate Club Has Six Meets Slated

Marie Allen, counselor of the Debate Club, has announced a tentative schedule of debating for the month of February.

Representatives of Randolph-Macon Men's College will debate here Feb. 13. Farmville will uphold the negative and R.-M. the affirmative of the national Pi Kappa Delta question, Resolved, That the Nations of the Western Hemisphere should unite to form a permanent union. Farmville has debated Randolph-Macon for the past several years on the national question.

On February 14, Marie Allen, Anne Cock, Thelma Courtney and Frances Keck will go to Washington, D. C. to debate American University. They will also attend the annual Shippensburg College Debate Tournament at Shippensburg, Pennsylvania where they will compete with several of the northern schools in the Oregon style of debating.

This type of debating is distinguished by the ten minute period of cross questioning by each side followed by a brief summary of each case. It omits the rebuttal and only one constructual speech is given.

Thelma Courtney and Marie Allen will debate the University of Virginia February 21 at Charlottesville, upholding the negative side of the query. Representatives of the University of Virginia de-

Continued on Page 3

Nancy Wolfe, of Salem, who will be Maid of Honor

Nancy Pierpont, of Salem, who will be May Queen

Robert Porterfield Will Speak Tonight To Dramatic Club

Robert Porterfield, nationally known founder of the Abbington Virginia, Barter Theatre, and an alumnus of Hampden-Sydney College will speak tonight at 7:30 to the members of the S. T. C. Dramatic Club and the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs in the recreational hall at S. T. C.

Following his address there will be an informal reception and round table at which time members of the two thespian groups will have the opportunity of meeting him.

Porterfield, who took his first part as a freshman at Hampden-Sydney will be entertained at a dinner at Longwood. Guests include Dr. and Mrs. Herman Bell of Hampden-Sydney, Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Leola Wheeler, dramatic instructor; and Mary Lou Shannon, Lillian Wahab, Alice Leigh Barham, of the S. T. C. Dramatic Club executive board.

John Pancake and Lex Allison, members of Jongleurs, will also be present.

Mr. Porterfield will speak at Hampden-Sydney Thursday, January 23.

Miss Mary P. Jones Teacher Here, Dies

Miss Mary P. Jones, 84, for 25 years a teacher at Farmville State Teachers College, died on Thursday, January 16, at the home of her niece, Mrs. Harry Morton Trafford, in Coral Gables, Fla.

Miss Jones had been ill more than a year, suffering a stroke early in January of 1940 while visiting in Florida from her home in Florence, Alabama.

She was enrolled as a member of the faculty in 1911, and during the early part of her service was supervisor of the first grade in the training school. At this same

Continued on Page 3

1941 Marks Fifty Years of Teaching Here For Miss Rice

This year 1941 is symbolic to Miss Minnie V. Rice, for 50 years ago she became a member of the faculty here, when the college was then known as the "State Female Normal School"—

Aside from having taught in the college here for fifty years, Miss Rice also has the distinction of having been born, reared and educated in Farmville.

She was instructed in a private school by an aunt who had previously taught at Hollins. In 1880 Miss Rice graduated from Farmville and in 1882 she began her teaching at the Farmville High School where she remained for nine years. During the summer months she studied at Columbia, Chicago, and Harvard.

While teaching at the high school, Miss Rice was sought by many young men for instruction in Chemistry at Hampden-Sydney, each his freshman year under Miss Rice. She also rendered private instruction to many others who have gone out into the world to win a name for themselves and their professions. Among those are Dr. McNider Simpson, professor of mathematics at Randolph-Macon; Ashland; Dr. Edward Richardson, outstanding surgeon at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, and Dr. John Ware, professor of romance languages at the University of Georgia.

Not only has Miss Rice taught Latin, but also French, German, mathematics, science, history, and English.

Miss Rice is an essential part of our school, for besides having witnessed its progress from one small building to its present size she has imbued the school and those with whom she has come in contact with her high ideals.

Frosh Production Is February 11

Mary K. Bingham Selected Chairman

Mary Keith Bingham was elected chairman of the Freshman Production at the last class meeting, January 7. Mary Keith is a member of the Freshman Commission, Rotunda Staff, and Cotillion Club.

The production is scheduled to take place on February 11. The theme, however, has not yet been announced.

Committees for the production are music, Caroline Bargamin, chairman, Nellie Moss Newscome; costumes, Elizabeth Tennant, chairman, Sarah Trigg, Jo Starling; staging, Doris Taylor, chairman, Katherine Kennedy, Brodnax Harrison, Stella Edwards Mildred Droste; lighting, Jane Hobson, chairman, Dot Lockes, Lucille Cheatman, Rachel Bourne, Jane Smith; business, Dorothy Gaul, chairman, Sara Jefferies, Hannah Lee Crawford, Nell Fleu; publicity, Mary Evelyn Pearsall, chairman, Shirley Pierce, Nancy Williamson, Sara Hardy, Mary St. Clair Bugg; properties, Mickey Lawrence, chairman, Nell Quinn, Lucille Lewis, Becky Spicer, Louise McCorkle; dancing, Gloria Pollard, Lulie Jones; make-up, Lauriston Hardin, chairman, Ruth Woody, Mary Parrish Vicellie Martha Old; house manager, Doris Lowe, chairman, Frances Wilson, Dorothy Sue Simmons, Nancy Hutter, Dorothy Massie, Helen Gilliam, Sidney Bradshaw, and M. K. Ingham.

"Club 43" Will Make Second Appearance Here Tuesday Night

Soft lights, cozy tables, music, sweet and swing, and the Sophomore Production, Club '43, will be off to its second gala annual opening in the S. T. C. "rec" Tuesday night, January 28 at 8:15.

Can't you just see the "rec" as it was last year—all prettied up in blue and silver, tables, crowds, and that certain air? Well, it'll be even better this time. Since the class of '43 as Freshmen to the high and mighty Sophs, how could they help but put on one of the best shows ever?

Over and above the plans for such a swell floor show, there'll be the initiation of Bootsie Messick's new song, "This Is Love". If it's as good as Louisa Sanford's "Playing With Fire" introduced by the Juniors, we're gonna be awaitin'! The third feature will be the open floor fur-

Continued from Page 2

Courtney, Ayers Will Attend Convention

Thelma Courtney, senior, and Anne Ayers, junior, were appointed delegates to attend the annual Southeastern convnetion of International Relations Club at the meeting of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science fraternity, Tuesday night, January 21.

The convention will be from February 28 to March 1 at Tallahassee, Florida. Last year the national convention was held at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

DEADLINE FOR VIRGINIAN

At least one dollar must be paid on all annual subscriptions by February 14. This is the latest possible deadline.

Twenty - Four Girls Comprise Queen's Court

Court of Nations To Be Portrayed By Attendants

Nancy Pierpont, of Salem, and Nancy Wolfe, of Lynchburg, were selected by ballot of the student body Thursday night, January 16, to reign as queen and maid-of-honor, respectively, of the May Day festivities. Both of these girls, seniors, have been in May Court for the past two years, and are members of this year's Mardi Gras court.

The queen will reign as the spirit of America while the maid of honor will portray that of Great Britain. Members of the Court will represent different nationalities in the court of nations.

Twenty-four other girls, nine seniors, nine juniors, three sophomores, and three freshmen will comprise the queen's court. Senior court members are Martha Smith, Cape Charles; Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, Roanoke; Helene Stras, Tazewell; Anne Benton, Locust Dale; Betty Fahr, Richmond; Frances Ellett, Roanoke; Elsye Berry Yates, Suffolk; Louise Painter Roanoke; Faye Brandon, Suffolk, Elsye Berry and Louise were nominees for the queen. They are both in Mardi Gras court, Elsye Berry being the queen.

Juniors elected are Allene Overbey, Chatham; Mary Lou Shannon, Richmond; Cottie Rad-pinner, Richmond; Peggy Bellus, Farmville; Anne Boswell, Petersburg; Nancy Naff, Roanoke; May Wertz, Roanoke; Dorothy Lawrence, Salem; Dorothy Robbins Johnsontown.

Sophomore attendants include: Jeanne Sears, Norfolk; Helen Wiley Hardy, Farmville; and Jerry Smith, Newport News. Betty Bridgeforth, Kenbridge; Dreama Wald, Pincastle, and Sarah Hardy, Farmville, are the freshmen representatives to the May Court.

Education Forum To Discuss Aims

"What criteria should the teacher use in the selection of his specific aims?" will be the topic discussed at the fifth Educational Forum, Monday, January 27 at seven-thirty in the Student Building Lounge.

This subject will be developed with these three questions in mind (a) what implicatons appear with respect to the proper use of official and authoritative aims? (b) With respect to aims, what obligations on the part of the school administration are implied? (c) With respect to aims, what obligations on the part of the faculty of the teachers college are implied? Mr. Johnson, Miss Carter, Mr. Ramsey, Carmen Booth, Jean Moyer and Gertrude Hale will be the speakers. Dr. Wynne will preside.

These bi-weekly forums were started in the fall quarter and are attended by the college faculty, the critic teachers of the Training School, the Farmville High School, and those girls engaged in student training. Recently the State Department of Public Instruction requested that such programs be initiated throughout the state. They will continue to be held throughout the present school term with the three groups participating.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Anne Cock ..... Sports Editor
Geraldine Ackiss ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Bridget Gentile, Lilly Bec Gray, Miriam Jester, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Nancy Naff, Faye Nimmo, Shirley Pierce, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Jane Sanford, Dorothy Sprinkle, Elizabeth Tennant, Sara Trigg.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mary Keith Bingham, Mary St.Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Hele DeLong, Dearing Fauntleroy, Ellen Hudgins, Anne Moore, Mary Lilly Purdum.

Typists

Chief Typist ..... Frances Pritchett
Typists—Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Thelma Courtney, Nell Pritchett.

This issue in charge of the Associate Editors.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 22, 1941

Student Initiative

Last week our attention was called to the seemingly failure of the plan presented at student body meeting several weeks ago for the improvement of the "Rec". Upon investigation it was found that improvements will be made next month.

Further it must be said that Student Standards is not responsible for this movement. It began as an independent move by members of the student body. Student Standards merely sanctioned the action and agreed to cooperate with the committee in executing the plans for bettering dating conditions.

Such initiative for students to take is indeed commendable. All too frequently has it been the case that we have lamented our dating problems, but seldom has any constructive solution been suggested nor has any program been launched.

We, the students, are the main characters in this drama. We have ideas and solutions for the multiplicity of problems which naturally arise. Each of us should feel a responsibility that will take on the form of good traditions. This intiative for improvement should become an established and respected part of student activities.

S. F. C.

In Memoriam

It is probable that there is no student now in college who remembers Miss Mary P. Jones, a former member of our faculty, who died at the home of a niece in Florida on January 16. Miss Jones resigned from her position as a teacher in the education department of our college in 1936, completing twenty-five years of service in Farmville.

Miss Jones was a woman whose beauty of character impressed all who knew her. She saw the best in every one and was always kindly i nher judgments of others. She had a keen mind and was a student as well as a teacher. There are many girls who have gone out from Farmville to teach who will remember the help she gave them as a teacher and the friendliness and sweetness of her spirit.—G. E. M.

Gleanings

By JACK COCK

Highlight of the week's news on this side of the Atlantic was Inauguration Day, last Monday. An Inauguration Day which stood out from others in that for the first time in the history of the United States a President re-entered office for a third term.

Witnessed by thousands, the President took his oath of office from Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes of the Supreme Court, delivered his inaugural address which was short and which concerned the future of the Democracies, then began the slow drive along Pennsylvania Avenue to the White House.

Not only was there much entertaining on the part of Washington socialites, but the inauguration brought about a reunion of almost the entire Roosevelt family.

In Berlin, Monday night, Benito Mussolini and Adolph Hitler met to discuss military and diplmatic questions of the near future.

Present at the conference were German and Italian Foreign Ministers Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano, according to official statement from the DNB which also reported that an extensive conversation was carried on between the Fuehrer and Il Duce. Details of the conference, however, were kept silent.

Available for consultation on technical questions were Field Marshal, General Wilhelm Kietel, Chief of the Nazi High Command, and a high Italian officer.

Question of the week in regard to the European situation is the fate of Bulgaria, key to the Balkans. Will Hitler invade?

Nazi occupation of Bulgaria would place Germany within easy striking distance of three Balkan nations—Greece, Turkey, and Yugoslavia, all three of which have refused to cooperate to a certain extent with the Axis powers.

On January 8, the inhabitants of Bulgaria, frightened by steady German rumors, fully expected Nazi invasion of their country, but as the day wore on and the looked-for raiders failed to appear the people returned to their farms with sighs of relief.

The warning, however, was significant. Undoubtedly, Herr Hitler intends to march his troops through Bulgaria whether by peaceful negotiations or by blitzkreig invasion.

Premier Brogdan Philoff, at a recent conference in Germany, announced his intention to keep his country at peace, and unless the Premier changes his mind, Hitler is left but one alternative—an invasion that would be anything but peaceful!

Heavy fogs over the British Channnel, Monday, brought air fighting to an approximate standstill. Only one plane raids were made throughout the day, which the British said, caused only slight damage and no loss of life. The weather apparently hindered both sides as there was no report of counter action on the part of the R. A. F.

In Athens thousands of interested spectators watched the sky battle of Italian and R. A. F. planes, in which the R. A. F. succeeded in routing the enemy after shooting down one Italian bomber and damaging another. One British plane crashed while attempting to land. This was the first time since October of last year that Athens had been subjected to an attack by air.

Question of the Week

In the January 5 issue of Time magazine Winston Churchill, England's prime minister, was selected as man of the year. In view of this selection, the question of the week for our campus is "What do you think of the selection of Winston Churchill for the man of the year, 1940?

Caralie Nelson "He has greatly raised the morale of the English people, and for his action in this crisis surely deserves to be among the great men of 1940."

Mary Evelyn Pearsall "I believe that Roosevelt has caused more of a commotion in the political world than Churchill has."

Jane McGinnis "He was very courageous to take over when England was in a chaotic situation."

Jeanne Sears "Churchill in my stimation did what we Americans call 'Coming to the front in a crisis.' He was the inspiration and the underlying factor in creating the undying spirit of the British people. He is the man of the year."

Dorothy Childress "He seems to be a wise man, but President Roosevelt is my choice because he must be a wonderful man to be elected by such a wide vote for a third term."

Elizabeth Ann Parker "1940 really was a year in which many men were made and many broken. Different people, of course, have different definitions of greatness. I myself think that Churchill was a wise choice."

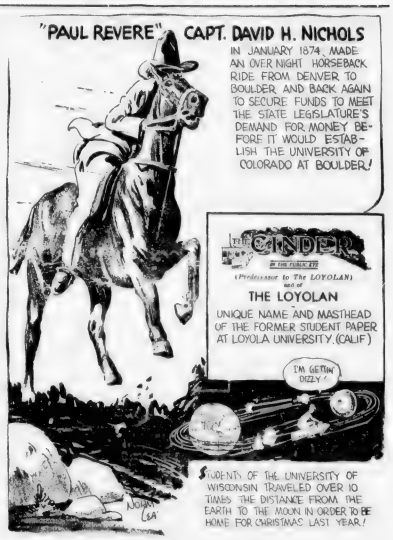
Elsie Smith "He certainly did show Chamberlain up."

Jean Weller "Willkie is my choice for man of the year."

Frances Rosebro "Churchill, by his determination and faith, has done much for England. Truly he deserves admiration and this recognition."

Anne Moore "Churchill deserves this title because of the courage and character he has shown since he has taken over the office of Prime Minister when England was in such a turmoil."

Parade of Opinion



By A. C. P.

Britain's recent thumbs-down on American proposals to feed Europe's hungry has checked, but not stilled, the red-hot argument raging here.

A representative statement of this is found in the editorial columns of the Harvard Crimson. The Crimson holds that outside relief is urgently necessary. "The most promising proposal made so far", continues the Crimson, "is that of Herbert Hoover. His idea is to let the occupied countries buy foodstuffs here with their liquid assets now in this country, and carry it home in their own ships. Aided to this would be the food contributed by numerous charities. If at any time it appeared that the food was going to Germany, the shipments could be halted immediately. Negotiations would have to be undertaken by the state department with British and German representatives. Upon the shoulders of the recalcitrant party would rest the responsibility for whatever calamities may eventuate from a foodless Europe."

A new and interesting slant is given by the Princetonian, which believes it would be to the advantage of this country to check the famine in Europe. The Princetonian reasons that "the revolution against Nazlism on the continent must be waged by a powerful underground democratic movement organized and equipped by Britain and provisioned by America. Once the people of Europe who still cherish the ideals of freedom feel that behind them stand not only the armed might of Britain but the moral and material support of the United States, the fierce indignation which they feel against their oppressors will be translated into positive action. They will refuse to be crushed to earth, and united will resume the fight against uniformed men."

It would appear from a survey of these and other editorial opinions that the preponderance of America's serious-minded collegians believe there is an obligation to provide food, if it can be established that such a show of mercy will not be turned to the military advantage of the Nazis.

Looking 'Em Over

Well . . . here we go again . . . in the midst of 'Ye Old Influenza Epidemic' and very unhappy about the whole thing . . . even that much looked-forward to Annual Dance was postponed (terrible fate) and the institute of our hearts—dear ole Va. Tech is under quarantine . . . quite a few young ladies will be simply lost for a while.

Speaking of Tech . . . have you heard about the Childress' child's invite to Mid-Winters? And the Holland child's, too! Isn't it truly exciting! Anne Rogers was mighty worried about that Blacksburg call Friday night . . . not another triangle (V. M. I.??) Was Alene Overbey embarrassed when the lights came on in the State Theatre Saturday night?? We wonder!!

Certainly was good to have Margie Nimmo and Mary Milbone back last week-end . . . What could be the great attraction at Lexington this week-end for Jeanne Sears and Helen Lewis . . . they certainly were eager!!! Have you heard about Shirley Turner and her bid to Tech Mid-Winters? . . . kinda turned the tables on Ella Marsh didn't it?? Glad to see Hatton back fully recovered from the mumps!!

The Parker child is mighty excited about her expected guest for this week-end . . .

Did you see "Boo" and her Ensign . . . really quite thrilling!! Among the disappointed, Ann Fitchette is mighty sorry that the dance was postponed . . . also ask her why she didn't take that Charlottesville call on Thursday night!?!

Wonder if Jane Sanford had a big time at Hampden-Sydney basketball game Friday night? Ask Pierpont about teaching basketball!! More fun . . . .

The George child was sorta dreamy-eyed about her special from Lexington Sunday . . . and the cute Theresa Fletcher with all her mail . . . nothing like it . . . How expressions can change! Shirley looking so glum Saturday night over Ralph's call and so happy Sunday over another visitor.

Too bad the Annual dance was postponed. Nell Pritchett certainly was disappointed over not seeing Calhoun or was it over not seeing Tech and "Love"?

"Bumpsie" seems to be doing all right these days. She has just collected a Beta pin and a V. M. I. class pin. Nice work kid!

Why was A. Ray Read so undecided about eating lunch down town Saturday? It couldn't have been that Meade was in the Rotunda, could it Amy?

Could it be, "an old flame never dies?" . . . The Fauntleroy child had a time Monday night . . . . Maybe her airplase ride was too much for her!! Wonder why Nancy Saunders hasn't returned to school—can she be thinking of wedding bells . . . .

Contributor's Club

Good evening ladies and gentlemen
This is station W-O-O coming to
You over our regular line—
If you wish to enter our contest
Write on your favorite twenty dollar
Bill in twenty-five different
Languages or less and inclose the head of your Nearest grocer.

For fifteen cents I'll send my photograph or for twenty-five cents I'll come and sit on your dresser myself.

Now I have a few questions to ask:

Did you know—
that a penny earned is a penny your dad has taught you that.
that a stitch in time lends enchantment to the eye.
that you buttered your bed now go lie in it.
that he who laughs last fails to get the point of the joke.
that a bird in hand is worth two in the balcony.
that there is many a slip in the lingerie department.
that a rolling stone gathers no moss (anybody can see that) that fools rush in where angels fear to tread (who wants to be an angel) that a peek in the hand is worth two finesses.
that it is a great world if you don't weaken (who wants to be a Sampson).

This is the end as you plainly see
But I'm not as crazy as I seem to be.

Good night,
Blitzkreig Bessie

Platter Chatter

There's the most unusual and spectacular release out now—wait'll you hear it—Artie Shaw's new release "Concerto for Clarinet". S'wonderful—drums, clarinet, n'everything. It won't go on sale for over a week but will cost seventy-five cents—Victor predicts it to become a hit tune 'fore long—incidentally it's another that was barred from the radio, but Shaw introduced it before '41.

"Ritsy Row" boasts a lovely radio-vic and it's in "Skunk's" room—m'favorite now is their recording of Dinah Shore's "How Come You Do Me Like You Do" and "Smoke Gets in Yours Eyes"—Careless manner and difference in arrangement has sent Dinah to queen of the soloist of late. Hear these and don't blame me for "Jeanie with the Light Brown Hair" becoming such a nuisance on the air. S'not my fault, promise.

Deems Taylor, one of America's leading music critics, has recommended Duke Ellington's "Country Gal" and "Jubilee Stomp". His comment "I disapprove heartily of this sort of music, and I'd hate to miss hearing Ellington playing it."

Hampden-Sydney College Is the Main Attraction For Last Week-End

Hampden-Sydney played host to many S. T. C. girls Saturday night. Those girls who helped cheer at the basketball game were: Betty Bridgeforth, Sara Cline, Nan Duer, Ora Earnest, Helen Gilliam, Sarah M. Goode, Lauri Hardin, Brodnax Harrison, Dorothy Johnson, Ruth Loving, Helen McIlwaine, Nancy Pierpont, Dorothy Robbins, Jean Shulkeum, Jean Steele, Elizabeth Townsend, Ruby Trice, Betsy Trigg, May Wertz, Barbara White, Pat Whitlock, Anne C. Williams, Elizabeth Williams and Marion Worsham.

In Washington we find Helen Hawkins attending the inaugural services. Mary Martha Peery is also in Washington, but she is attending a wedding.

Cities Attract

Richmond, Roanoke, Lynchburg, and Danville received quite a number of S. T. C. girls. Those going to Richmond were Blanche Colavita, Corilda Chaplin, Helen Ott, Ruth Lea Purdom, Grace Wallace, Lucy Davis, Nelle Scott, Gloria Pollard, Ellen Ebel, Ethel Carr and Betty Smithdeal.

Patricia Jackson Becky Lowry, Helen Lewis, Carolyn Mennick, Evelyn Renfro, Catherine Rucker, Arlene Wright, Emily Hoskins, Jeanne Sears, Katherine Price, Margaret Whitfield and Marie Utt were visiting in Roanoke and Lynchburg.

Going to Danville were Hester Chattin, Anne Covington, Mary Anne Dryden and Mary Garrett.

S. T. C. Is Parade Ground for Fashions

While wandering about the campus, going down town, going to church, attending classes you certainly do have a wonderful chance to observe who's wearing what "this season". Maybe the other night you noticed all the good-looking evening dresses that the May Day Court nominees wore. Talk about fashion parades! We saw one before our very eyes.

It would take too long to mention all of the dresses, but to pick out a few—did you notice how well "Liggie" looked in her white net dress? Dot Lawrence was swishing across the stage in her black taffeta dress with its fullness starting at the hipline. Wasn't May Wertz's dress becoming with its combination of red and black?

This winter has been a winter of tweed suits, jerkins and pinafores. Helen Lewis' kelly green jerkin and skirt made of corduroy and worn with a white silk shirt certainly does brighten up a dark day. Have you seen May Winn's Tyrolean jumper? She looks like she's ready to yodel any minute! Sara Massie Goode has a cheery, cherry suit that's quite sporty.

The rain the other day brought out slews of boots, rain coats and hats. Martha Smith was prepared for an avalanche of hail, rain, snow, and sleet in her colegiate white raincoat and boots, and her white rain hat fashioned after a fireman's hat—that's another idea we've stolen from the men.

Other items of dress we've borrowed are long tweed jackets, tailored plaid shirts, boxing glove mittens, brogues, plaid socks, short trench coats, rubber boots. Next we'll probably be wearing long pants! What a woman won't do next! This ends your Fashion views for the week. Watch for next week's issue.

Debate Club

Continued from Page 1

bated here this fall on the Third Term issue. At Charlottesville the Pi Kappa Delta question will be used.

Westhampton College will debate here the first week in February and a dual debate with Lynchburg College is scheduled for the latter part of the month.

A Glasgow, Scotland, boy who found $590 in a workman's lunch box was awarded $55 in court.

Resolve to Economize
at
The Economy
Food Store
Fancy Fruits
Pickles—Cookies

J. A. BURKHART
Blacksmithing—Machine Shop—Welding
General Repairing
218-222 North Street
FARMVILLE VA.

Registrar Lists 205 On Fall Honor Roll

Miss Virgilia I. Bugg, registrar, has announced that 205 girls currently enrolled at Farmville State Teachers College made the Honor Roll in the Fall quarter of the 1940-41 session.

To be placed on the Honor Roll a student must make a grade of A or B on at least three-fourths of her work for the quarter, must have no failure, no conditions, no unexcused absences from class or chapel and no report from the Government Association.

Those students who made the Honor Roll are:

Rachel Abernathy, Marie Bird Allen, Nancye Allen, Lois Alphin, Aselta Altomare, Moody Anderson, Helen Ashworth, Carol Lee Averitt, Anne Ayers, Dorothy Anne Bailey, Virginia Barksdale, Vera Baron, May Bartlett, Carolyn Beard, Louise Bell.

Anne Benton, Brooke Benton, Nancy Goode Bland, Catherine Blount, Catherine Bodine, Carmen Booth, Mildred Ann Bowen, Marie Brickert, Sybil Brisentine, Mrs. Thomas Brooks, Jo Brumfield, Mary St. Clair Bugg, Betsy Bullock, Lena Butterworth.

Margaret Caroline Caldwell, Margaret Campbell, Ethel Carr, Mary Jean Carr, R. Yates Carr, Sarah Chambers, Corilda Chaplin, Mary Lucile Cheatham, Imogene Claytor, Sara Cline, Martha Frances Cobb, Sadie Cobb, Anne Cocks, Esther Coleman, Nahrea Coleman.

Hazel May Colegate, Maxine Compton, Patsy H. Connelly, Mildred Corwin, Rosa Courter, Thelma Courtney, Susie Pearl Crocker, Emma Louise Crowgey, Dorothy Sue Crumley, Rachael DeBerry, Barbara Drery, Elizabeth Duncan, Sally Dunlap, Sue Dunlap, Catherine Dunton.

Caroline Eason, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Frances Ellett, Virginia Mae Ellett, Helen Ewell, Betty Beale Fahr, Texie Belle Felts, Virginia Firesheets, Eleanor Folk, Carolyn Ford, E. Louise Foster-Bliss, Fowlkes, Natalie Francis, Elizabeth Garrett, Mrs. Frances W. Gee.

Carrie Gibboney, Helen Gray, Mary Eliz. Grizzard, Luella Hall, M. Louise Hall, Nell Hall, Sarah Hall, Virginia Hall, Martha Hammock, Helen W. Hardy, Sara Hardy, Jeanne Haymes, Mary Haymes, Marion Heard, Virginia Hill.

Marjorie Holt, Emily Hoskins, Virginia Howell, Frances Hughes, Arlene Hunt, Lorraine Hurst, Jane Lee Hutcheson, Emma Hutchinson, Ella Hutchison, Myrtle F. Jenkins, Elizabeth Jennings, Anna Johnson, Dorothy Johnson, S. Elizabeth Johnson, Mary Jane Jolliffe.

Rebecca Jones, Evelyn Jones, Inez Jones, Frances Keck, Elva Kibler, Rachel Kibler, Evelyn Krenning, Betty Laird, Mildred Lawhorne, Margaret L. Lawrence, Mrs. Margaret S. Lawrence, Helen E. Lewis, Margaret Lovins, Doris Lowe, Ann Lyons.

Louise McCorkle, Mary Moore McCorkle, Mary Hille McCoy, Dorothy Marrow, Sue Marshall, Dorothy Menefee, Warwick Mitchell, Susie Moore, Mildred Morris, Virginia Morris, Jean Moyer, Carale Nelson, Nellie Newscome, Emma Noblin, Edith Nunnally.

Allene Overbey, Elizabeth Overcash, Anna Parker, Elizabeth Ann Parker, Augusta Parks, Catherine Parrish, Esther Partridge, Agnes Patterson, Frances Patterson, Martha Ann Pharis, Catherine Phillips, Louise Phillips, Agnes Pickral, Katherine Powell, Lucie Ellen Powell.

Lula Power, Anne Price, Mary Prosise, Mary Lilly Purdum, Delle Pursell, Evelyn Quillin, Nelle Quinn, Amy Read, Dorothy Reynolds, Louise Rice, Virginia Richards, Dorothy Rollins, Frances Rosebro, Lucile Royster, Alice Seebert.

Helen Seward, Mrs. Nellie Shelton, Sarah Sibold, Dorothy Simmons, Virginia Simmons, Juanita Smith, June Smith, Estelle Smith, Jane Smith, Jeraldine Smith, Mamie Snow, Dorothy Sprinkle, Boonie Stevenson, Elsie Stossel, Marie Stowers, Helene Stras, Jeanne Strick.

Frances Thackston, Florence Thierry, Marie Thompson, Jean Upshur, Edith Vassar, Elizabeth Vincent, Dreama Waid, Edith Walden, Ann Ware, Dell Warren, Georgia Watson, Betty Watts, Miriam Weger, May Wertz, Sarah Elizabeth West, Roberta Wheeler, Forrestine Whitaker, Betty Faith White, Mary B. Willson, Flora Winn, Edna Woodall, Violet Woodall, Hazeltine Wright and Winifred Wright.

20% Reduction on all Helena Rubinstien Products
Week of March 1-8
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

DR. SHERWOOD EDDY

Dr. Eddy To Speak In Chapel Tomorrow

Dr. Sherwood Eddy, author, lecturer and world traveler, will speak in chapel Thursday, January 23 on the topic "Can We Build A New World?" In the afternoon at 3 o'clock he will make an address in the large auditorium entitled "Has Religion Failed?"

A graduate of Yale University, Dr. Eddy has been speaking and lecturing constantly before many types of audiences in all sections of the country. He has also visited hundreds of colleges in Europe and Asia.

Dr. Eddy will be brought to Farmville by the Y. W. C. A. and Hampden-Sydney.

Southern Serenaders Signed for Mardi Gras

Yates Carr, business manager of Mardi Gras, S. T. C.'s costume ball to be held February 28, announced that the Southern Serenaders will play for the event. The Southern Serenaders are an eleven piece band from Petersburg.

Pat Gibson is in charge of publicity for the ball while the floor show is under the direction of Martha Whelchel. Libby West is also assisting.

Prizes will be given for the best costumes. Yates Carr also announced that this year's prizes will be exceptionally fine.

Tickets for Mardi Gras will go on sale Monday, February 3.

Personalized Jewelry
Complete with Your Name
10c
NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c Store

HOP SAYS—
Brighten up the Midwinter Season
With freshly cleaned and pressed
Sweaters 25c
Skirts 25c
DeLuxe Cleaners

Sooh Commission Will Feature W. & L. Students on Program

Ruth Palmer, sophomore, who is in charge of Religious Emphasis Week to be sponsored by the Sophomore Commission February 9-15, has announced plans for the program to be given that week.

On Sunday, February 9, the program will be initiated in the church services by the local pastors. Members of the Sophomore Commission will lead prayers during the week and have charge of Morning Watch. Included in the program will be three out of town speakers and several representatives from the Washington and Lee University student body to speak in chapel. An outstanding member of the S. T. C. student body will have charge of student day chapel.

A definite schedule will be printed at a later date.

Miss Jones Dies

Continued from Page 1

time she also conducted classes in methods of teaching. Later she was instructor for classes in primary education.

A native of Florence, Alabama, Miss Jones had spent most of her life there and at Farmville. Her grandfather, N. Boddie, settled on the Tennessee River near Florence in 1812 and the family residence has been in that area since. Miss Jones still owned part of the original tract of land which was purchased from the Indians.

Miss Jones left no survivors other than nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held in Florence Saturday with burial there.

Dance May Day

May Wertz, editor of the Virginian, has announced that the annual dance will be postponed until May Day, which is May 10. It will not be given in January because the Roanoke Collegians of Sa'em are under contract and thus unable to play here.

They will furnish the music as previously scheduled. In event of rain the dance will take place anyway.

When better—
Sandwiches
—Are Made
COLLEGE SHOPPE
Will Make Them

Meet Me At
Shannon's
For Better Foods and Drinks
Phone 224

Students Resign Activity Cards

Extra-curricular cards were resigned last week by the student body in an effort to correct the mistakes made in the original draft. These cards are under the supervision of the Student Standards Committee and will be used in checking up on the number of points a student may carry as well as the scholastic average of the student. They will be filed in the Home Office.

In connection with this, the new rule that was made in the fall to the effect that girls holding an office in any organization must have a C average will be put into action. This average is based upon the grades made in the Fall quarter.

This committee is planning a revision of the point system in order to provide more flexibility and adaptability to meet individual problems that arise. A survey is being conducted by Helen Lewis to find out from present officers of organizations how much time they are required to spend on their particular duties and how many points they think their office should rate on the point scale. This plan will not go into effect this term.

A request has also been made to the Committee that more of the buildings on the Campus be named and some renamed, the significance of the names now being used having become oblivious. It has been suggested that the names of two of the former presidents of the college, Dr. William H. Ruffner and Dr. Frazier and of Mrs. Jennie Masters Tabb, registrar of the college from 1904 to 1934 and composer of the Alma Mater, be used to designate the separate buildings.

"Club 43"

Continued from Page 1

nished for jivers.

Now who could possibly ask for more? Well, it'll be waiting for you Tuesday night, January 28, at 8:15 in the "Rec". Don't forget! See you there!

See our February Special in
RYTEX STATIONERY
Martin, the Jeweler

Special . . .
Nylon Hose
98c a pair
ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

SEE US FIRST
FOR COLLEGE CLOTHES
It Is A Pleasure To Shop On Our Lovely Second Floor
DAVIDSON'S
"The House of Quality"

THE SHOE HIT
ON ALL CAMPUSES
Soft, Flexible Loafer
Hand-Turned For More Comfort
"SADDLE LEATHER" OR TAN & WHITE
$3.75
BALDWIN'S

• Sports Slants •

By ANNE COCK

A Tragedy in One Act

Characters

The Gym
Student Building Lounge
Swimming Pool
Golf Course

Scene: Farmville State Teachers College

Time: Last Saturday night at the bewitching hour of twelve when inanimate objects come to life and act as do human beings.

The curtain opens on a bull session with the Gym, the Pool, the Lounge, and the Course, all participating.

The Gym (in a tone of vast emptyness) "I just can't understand it."

The Lounge (in a tone equally as empty) "Nor I."

Pool (its gentle voice rippling with rhythm) "'Tis high time we are getting to the depth of the situation."

Course (with a smooth, suave manner) "That it is. Shall I conduct the investigation?" (without waiting for assent he starts his questioning and directs his remarks first to the Gym.) "Think back, Gym, old man, and recall when this started; bring out every detail. Maybe even the most trivial things will prove important."

Gym (very thoughtful) Well,—it's been going on all week. Monday I noticed fewer than usual of the varsity team were down for practice. Tuesday at general practice there was even a greater drop off. But Wednesday was just out of the running. Only eight people came out to general practice. Thursday it was a little better because varsity and general were held together. But even then, they had only enough to play one hour instead of the usual two.

But there were no indications then as to the cause of the decrease. Here's something though that might help out. This afternoon a group of girls walked through me and they seemed to be playing a new game of some sort. They'd walk about eight steps when one would sneeze quite unexpectedly, another would shout "two and a half feet," and they would all scatter. Then they'd laugh and mumble something about "fruit juices" and walk on until another one sneezed and the process was repeated!

Course And you think this game has become so popular that the girls are no longer interested in basketball?

Gym Well—I hate to admit that anything so monotonous could displace my game but—yes—that's the only solution I see.

Course And I think it was the rain that kept them from playing my game last week, but since y'all insist that rain has never kept people from great games before I reckon I'll go on with the questions. Pool, can you throw any light on the matter?

Pool Not a spec—all I know is that I have for some reason lost my appeal—and just when I need it most.

Course How's that?

Pool Why, the Freshmen can't pass those exams until they learn to swim and they can't learn to swim on dry land. Something ought to be done!

Course Hmmm! Lounge, you seem to have something on your mind. Out with it.

Lounge What the Gym said has set me to thinking. You know, I was supposed to be host to the A. A.'s Play Night tonight. But something happened because no one showed up. I got tired of waiting after so long a time and dozed off. While I was asleep some one came through and left some phamplets on my table.

When I woke up a group of girls were standing around reading them. I couldn't catch everything they said, but they seemed to be mad at someone named "Enza". I didn't get the first name. When they got to about the third page of the leaflet some one said "two and a half feet" and everyone scattered as the Gym told you. Those leaflets must be the rules for the new game, but they didn't seem to be having as much fun as they do at Play Night.

Course 'Tis indeed this new game then that has caused such a lack of interest in sports this week. All we can do is wait and be ready to welcome the girls back when they are tired of it. In the meantime, let's go to sleep!

Curtain!
Epilogue:

I echo the words of the Golf Course "'Tis indeed this new game that caused such a lack of interest in sports last week. But every one seems to be better now. So come on, y'all—let's get back into the spirit of participation—Remember our song—"We've got the pep that gives us the rep that made us the best of all!"

KLEANWELL
Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

New pastel shades in Knitting Wools 20c and 25c hank . . .
Select Quaker Chiffon Hose 39c value, 2 pr. for 95c
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Carole King Spring Dresses $3.97 $6.50 $10.97 Spring Hats $1.00 $1.97 Costume Jewelry $1.00
DOROTHY MAY STORE

Pictured above are John Payne and Brenda Joyce who are appearing at the Lee Theatre Thursday and Friday, January 23-24 in the technicolor picture "Maryland", sponsored by Pegasus Riding Club.

"Maryland" To Open At the Lee Tomorrow

"Maryland", the show of the week, opens tomorrow at the Lee Theatre—a show in technicolor featuring handsome horses of Hollywood; a show with a stirring story of romance in the East and starring John Payne, Brenda Joyce, and Hattie McDaniels. The picture is brought back for your entertainment by the S. T. C. Riding Club.

Twenty-five cents has been arranged by the management for all those who secure their tickets before the show from a Riding Club member, from the Riding Club room, or from Patterson's Drug Store.

The club urges that if you plan to attend, get your ticket from the club and not at the gate as regular admission rates will be held at the gate.

General chairman of the ticket sale is Mary Owens West, treasurer of the club.

Patronize Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

Team Out of Bounds; First Up Then Down When Flu Gets Around

Flu! Flu! And away flew all our basketball players last week. Or was it the flu? Sunny Monday's healthy glowing mob would all be down by Thursday. T'aint natural, no sir! And besides—"The show must go on".

Set yourself up to a glass of fruit juice, start a water drinking campaign, get more than the usual forty winks, do anything, but for heavens sakes come out for basketball practices.

A basketball player sitting in her room might just as well be so much mold to her team—for the good she does them. It isn't everyone who is healthy enough, and frisky enough to enjoy a good afternoon in the Gym—what an opportunity. There's a certain feeling of satisfaction about dodging here and there away from your opponent and toward the ball.

There's a breathless thrill every time the ball drops through the net. Don't you miss it—you people who play? Don't you miss the association with the people you seldom see except in the gym?

And say—if you want your two bits in on whose to be captain of your team—then hasten down—cause they are to be chosen before the weeks out. Really and truly, not only do we hate to see you miss such an opportunity but we need you.

Where's that school spirit I've heard so much about?

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

BUTCHER'S
The convenient store for faculty and student body.
Good things to eat and drink

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

A. A. Will Sponsor Golf Contests; Free Instructions Given

Indoor golf contest, sponsored by the A. A., are to begin next week in the golf room in the gym announces Agnes Patterson, chairman of the contest.

Golf balls will be given away once a month as prizes for the highest scores in the following events: Putting, Driving, Short Shots and Target Shooting.

Each girl is requested to keep her own score and turn it in to the A. A.

Twice a week classes of free instruction will be given to girls interested in learning the arts of golf. Equipment will be kept at the indoor course throughout the period of contest which is being given to stimulate golf activities and which will begin as soon as the course is fixed up.

The Association of American Childhood Education has been given a book shelf in the Reserve Book room of the college library. Books and pamphlets on the subject of elementary education have been given by Misses Mix, Penny, and Hyames. A. C. E. has recently subscribed to the monthly Childhood Education Magazine.

Coralie Gilliam is chairman of the books for the association.

The congregation of John's Memorial church is giving a farewell reception to Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Tucker, who are leaving Farmville February 1, for work in the Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia. Invitations for the reception Wednesday, January 22, have included the Episcopal girls at S. T. C.

The Rotunda

Editorial Comment:
The American Dream

VOLUME XX — FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, JAN. 29, 1941 — NO. 15

Gleanings

By MARIE ALLEN

No President since Washington has made so many appointments to the Supreme Court as has Franklin Delano Roosevelt. With the resignation of Mr. James C. McReynolds the sixth Roosevelt appointee will judge the Roosevelt legislation. Mr. McReynolds had been on the bench since 1915, and so was one of the old order.

For the past few years Mr. McReynolds has been with the dissenters on the decisions that have come before that august body. So tiring of that part he has tendered his resignation to become effective February 1.

Mr. Roosevelt has decided who will take Mr. McReynold's place, but like the little boys, he's going to keep it a secret. Mr. Byrnes has been considered by some of the leaders as especially fitted for the office, having the support of Mr. Glass, from Virginia. Mr. Byrnes, a senator from South Carolina, is a Roosevelt man, but has differed with Roosevelt on several issues.

Since Mr. Roosevelt has already placed a majority of "his" men on the bench, it is not so imperative that a New Dealer be put on the bench. It might be well for Mr. Roosevelt to consider an outstanding Republican. This might bring more unity to the party now that a unified country is needed to back the defense program. Certainly, Mr. Roosevelt could not have any fear that his legislation would be declared unconstitutional.

No President has ever had any better control of the three departments. They were created with the express purpose of being a check on each other, but now that a majority on the bench are New Dealers, Congress is New Deal, and there is no need to say that the executive is New Deal, the power of checking each other has disappeared.

As far as the Supreme Court is concerned, the majority on it now may seem to be radical, but as time goes on the radicals will become the conservatives. We can only hope that the Supreme Court will become well enough balanced to be a check on too much power in the future.

It seems we don't get through with one election until another one comes up. This time it is the election of the governor, of course, in this one party state which will be decided in the primary. Four candidates are in the running. Mr. Darden, with Byrd support, Mr. Page, Mr. Cary and Mr. Dovell, former Speaker of the House. As yet Mr. Price has not designated which man he will back.

The platforms for the primary and election will probably show very little difference, but it would certainly be commendable for the candidates to look over the legislation put forth by Mr. Price that failed to go through and include that in their policies. They would all be wise to advocate and if elected, to enforce Mr. Byrd's idea of greater efficiency at the least cost. And they might go a little farther than Mr. Byrd and give a little more attention to education. May we all hope for a candidate who will advocate better government at cheapest cost, better education with an increased outlay on education and better roads, with emphasis in that order!

Farmville Professor To Teach at Harvard

Dr. J. P. Wynne, head of the education department, has been invited to teach in the coming session of Harvard University.

He will offer a course on the issues in elementary education, and a course in principles of teaching. Dr. W. H. Burton of Harvard uses Dr. Wynne's book "The Teacher and the Curriculum" in the courses he teaches in the winter session.

Dr. Swertfeger will conduct Dr. Wynne's classes during the first term of the summer session here at Farmville.

Y. W. C. A. Group Sponsors Religious Emphasis Week

Guest Speakers Will Climax Week Of Devotions

Sophomore Commission will bring two out of town speakers and several representatives from the Washington and Lee University student body to this campus for Religious Emphasis Week February 9-15.

Reverend Carlton H. Harrison pastor of St. Johns Church in Hampton, and Reverend E. D. Witherspoon, of the Blacksburg Presbyterian church, Blacksburg, will be the guest speakers for this program. A definite schedule will appear in next week's paper.

Liggie Ellett, president of the house council will talk in chapel Wednesday.

Recognition of this week was made here for the first time last year. Among the speakers then were Dr. Beverley M. Boyd, Rabbi Sidney, M. Lefkowitz, Father Edward L. Stephens and Dr. Richard S. Owens. Frances Alvis, former editor of the Rotunda, spoke in student day chapel.

The program will be initiated in the church services by the local pastors Sunday February 9. Members of the Sophomore Commission will lead prayers throughout the week and conduct Morning Watch.

Ruth Palmer is chairman of Religious Emphasis Week.

Pictured above is Rosa Courter, who will captain this year's varsity team. Story on page 3.

Allen, Courtney To Speak At Forum

United States and its relation to Latin America will be the subject under discussion at the quarterly open Pi Gamma Mu forum Tuesday evening, February 4 by Misses Marie Allen and Thelma Courtney. They will interpret the question from opposite viewpoints in short speeches and then lead the discussion of the entire group. The faculty is invited and each member of the organization has the privilege of bringing one guest.

Pi Gamma Mu sponsors an open meeting each quarter. Patricia Gibson and Marjorie Holt gave the pros and cons of the presidential election at the fall forum.

Joan of Arc Comments On Life Here as Patron Saint

Ever since this school decided to put me here as their Patron Saint, I have seen queer contrivances. They say that S. T. C girls are tied down, that they are too strict on them here, but really!

How devoutly thankful I am that my dear King Charles XII can't see me now. I shudder to think what would happen if he should see one of those most brazen Hampden-Sydney men propose to me! How often have I been humiliated and embarrassed when they use me as a hat-rack, when they put horrid paint on my finger nails, when they lean on me when they speak so familiarly to me: but most of all when they endanger my maidenly virtue by daring to make love to me! Ah, how I long to hide my face in shame!

Little do these boys and girls know how much I see from my point of vantage. But what, pray, are those unseemly, distorted creatures who invade our lovely school for about three days each year- With their peculiar attire, their trembling countenances, their frightened eyes, their pale faces and fearfully obedient behavior, they resemble martyrs going to death.

Alack! can our Farmville be guilty of such a crime? What could those poor creatures have done to enjoy their uneasiness immensely; they laugh, shriek in extremely unladylike voices, and demand such unheard of things from the poor unfortunates. Ah, misery! Perhaps they are victims of the same ones who mistreated my companions and me.

The clothes these girls do wear! My face would burn crimson should I ever be caught in such apparel! Short skirts, flaring immodestly, short socks, exposing even more of their limbs! jangley bracelets and floppish necklaces that would drive ordinary people crazy. How do men stand to hear those things clanking around? Is barbarism coming back, with its outlandish love for bright colors and gaudy dress? (But I must admit it is pretty, in a gay, dashing sort of way).

My neck and back are getting tired and cramped from sitting so long in the same position. My face is becoming stiff from holding this sweet, thoughtful intelligent expression so long—would that I could give a good hard laugh (I have good reason to when I see those coy girls with their painted faces, and the evasive, yet demanding, men!)

Modern manners are certainly barbaric—these rude, crude girls! How can they make such unkind statements about their supposed friends? Why are they so curt, so unfriendly, to less fortunate girls? Why do they run through the halls yelling at each other, knocking other students in ribs, drop

Continued on Page 4

Dr. McKinney Speaks On Race Relations

Dr. Richard R. McKinney of the Virginia Union University in Richmond was the guest of the Y. W. C. A. this afternoon at the monthly association meeting held in the small auditorium from 4 to 5 o'clock. He spoke in connection with the Racial Relations Week which is being observed this week Dr. McKinney is a noted Negro speaker throughout the state.

Also in observance of this subject and nightly prayers' services throughout the week. Miss Mary Finch, Religious Educational director of the college, will speak at prayers tonight. Students will conduct the remainder of the services.

Mr. McKinney was brought to our campus under the auspices of the World Fellowship Committee of the Y. W. C. A. of which Charlotte Gresham is chairman.

Sororities Pledge 77 This Quarter

Girls Were Sole Rushees Thursday

Winter rushing by the eight sororities on campus was climaxed when 77 girls signed bids Friday night, January 24. This year, contrary to precedent, girls became sole rushees on Thursday rather than on Friday.

Girls accepting bids from Pi Kappa Sigma were Dorothy Childress, Christiansburg; Jeanne C. Hall, Pulaski; Virginia Mae Ellett, Crewe; Theresa Fletcher, Richmond; Mildred Corvin, Wytheville; Kitty Parrish, Richmond; Louise Foster, Rocky Mount; Connie Knighton, Norfolk; and Frances Adams, Norfolk.

Those pledging Gamma Theta were Faye Nimmo, Suffolk; Mary Lilly Purdom, Danville; Lucille Lewis, Culpeper; Mary Parrish Vicellio, Chatham; Anna Parker, Onancock; Ruth Woody, S. C.; and Hannah Lee Crawford, Farmville.

Mu Omega pledged Jean Weller, Charleston, West Virginia; Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Roanoke; Lulie Jones, Richmond; Virginia Hill, Windsor; Nell Hurt, Roanoke, and Betty Clemmons, Florence.

Those accepting Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority were Sarah Hardy, Farmville; Louise McCorkle, Farmville; Elizabeth Tennent, Hopewell; Helen Gilliam, Petersburg; Sarah Trigg, Hopewell; Betsy Trigg, Hopewell; Lauriston Hardin, Raleigh, N. C.; Katherine King, Franklin; Louise Bell, Berryville; Katherine Vaughan, Petersburg; Patsy Connely, Lebanon; Frances Strohecker, Boydton; Brodnax Harrison, Lawrenceville; Betty Overcash, Hampden-Sydney; Mary Sue Edmundson, Baskersville; and Betty Bridgeferth, Kenbridge.

Girls pledging Alpha Sigma Alpha were Julia Eason, Richmond; Dorothy Darracott, Richmond; Nelle Quinn, Tye River; Mary St. Claire Bugg, Farmville; Margaret Webster, Amherst; Katheryn Kennedy, Richmond; Doris Taylor, Lawrenceville; Betsy Bullock, Suffolk; Gloria Pollard, Richmond; Dreama Waid, Fincastle; Dorothy Sue Simmons, Fincastle; Katherine Edwards, Farnham; Dorothy Bellus, Floral Park, N. Y., and Nancy Williamson, Roanoke.

Alpha Sigma Tau Sorority pledged Catherine Rucker, Lynchburg; M. K. Ingham, Newport News; Anne Henry, Emporia; Evelyn Cannon, Norfolk; Dorothy Flowers, Drewryville; Doris Lowe, Roanoke; Inez Jones, Staunton; Rachel Ammen, Roanoke; Nancy Langhorne, Evington; Christine Pittard, Clarksville; Jean Arington, Lynchburg, and Louise Andrews, Petersburg.

Those accepting Phi Zeta Sigma were Lucille Cheatham, Midlothian; Ruth Hillsman, Lynchburg; Lorraine Hurst, Mathews; Catherine May, Roanoke; Ann Pharis, Martinsville, and Lee Foster, Farmville.

Those pledging Theta Sigma Upsilon were La Reine Thornton, Atlantic; Beatrice Dunton, Cape Charles; Katherine Dunton, Cape Charles; Penultina Johns, Amelia; Rosemary Elam, Elam, and June Smith, Hampton.

Seniors To Contest First in Class Sings

Sing contests between classes will begin February 8. The seniors will present their sing first and then the following successive weeks the juniors, sophomores, and freshmen will present theirs.

This competition in sing between classes has been running for several years. Last year the contest was won by the sophomore class, the present junior class. The prize for the class attaining first place is two dollars and fifty cents. Honorable mention will also be made.

Richard Chase Will Give Folklore Series

Sophomore Class Reopens "Club 43"

Sale Is Master Of Ceremonies

Nancy Sale, in the role of Master of Ceremonies, welcomed the old and new faces at the reopening of Club 43, sponsored by the sophomore class, last night, January 28, at 8:15 p. m. in the recreation hall.

Betty Youngberg began the floor show with her witty monologue of a switchboard operator. First in the musical line was "Ladies of Note", a sweet sophisticated chorus who gave their own interpretation of Noel Coward's "I'll See You Again." Helen Wiley Hardy's rendition of Debussy's "Claire de Lune" added a more serious note.

Number four on the program was the smooth dance duet by that suave dance team, Jane Sanford and Sarah Massie Goode.

Highlight in comedy was the version of "When the Mush Begins to Rush Down Father's Vest" by the Rippling Rhythms composed of Jean Hatton, soloist; Ellen Ebel, Shirley Turner, Nancy Allen and Sarah Wade Owen.

Jeanne Sears, Helen Lewis, Ann Covington, Jerry Smith and Betty Sexton closed the first half of the program with their modern dance number "Patriotism."

Jean Weller, singing "Darkness", and accompanied by "Ladies of Note" introduced the last half of the show. Ann Ware, as Zazu Pitts, was the comedy hit of the evening.

"Deep Dreams," "Blue Heart" and "This Is Love", three original compositions were played by Eleanor Messick, the last being sung by Betsy Jennings and Jean Weller. Carroll Costello, idol of cafe society, sang "Moonlight and Tears."

Jerry Smith, Jeanne Sears, Hallie Hillsman and Ella Marsh Pilkinton, were shoe shine boys in a tap routine. The colegian in this number were Dot Childress, Kitty Welch, Jean Hall, and Kitty Price.

Members of the cast, and guests joined in the Conga line after the La Conga demonstration, final number on the program.

A. A. Sponsors Drive To Aid British Cause

In an effort to secure aid to help meet the immediate needs of Great Britain's soldiers, sailors and airmen, the Athletic Association is cooperating with the local Bundles for Britain organization in a drive to collect old, unwanted clothes to be sent to England. All students who wish to help this cause are urged to turn in their donations to Miss Tier's office between 6:45 and 7:45 on Friday evening, January 31. Sweaters, skirts, jackets, shoes and knittedwear are the type of garments most in demand. Members of the Athletic Council will canvass the halls for materials several evenings next week. The old Dramatic Club room will be used as a storeroom for donations.

Bundles for Britain is also asking all who would like to knit to volunteer their services. Wool, at cost price, and instructions for the making of sweaters, socks, Balaclava helmets, etc., will be supplied to anyone who wishes to help carry on this great work. Girls who wish to knit for English fighting forces are asked to see Miss Olive T. Tier for further details.

Ballad Singer Will Accompany

Program Consists Of Three Parts

Richard Chase, the Virginia representative of the Country Dance Inc., and Horton Barker, blind ballad singer, will present a series of entertainments on folklore and folk dance in three parts Thursday, aJnuary 30 at 3:20 o'clock in the gym, at 4:30 o'clock in the Student Lounge and again at 3 o'clock in the large auditorium.

Part one, sponsored by Orchesis, modern dance group, will include a program of country dances and games presented by Mr. Chase for all students interested.

Part two, a program of traditional country songs and folk music presented by Mr. Chase and Mr. Barker, is sponsored by the music organizations on the campus.

A lecture entertainment by Mr. Chase on folk literature, balads, and dancing, and featuring Mr. Barker will comprise the first of the third and last part of the program.

A Square Dance, led by Mr. Chase in the gym, will close this series.

Mr. Chase has been working in Virginia schools and colleges since 1936 and has been associated with the annual White Top Festival at Marion, Virginia since 1934. He has collected and edited many traditional balads, songs, and folk games and is the collector and editor of "The Jack Tales", English folk-tale traditions recently discovered in America.

Mr. Barker has been one of the outstanding participants in the White Top Festival, and he has appeared before many groups since he was first discovered there. In the winter of 1939, he broadcast over N. B. C. with Douglas Kennedy, Director of The English Folk Dance and Song Society. He has also appeared with John Powell, noted Virginia pianist.

The Country Dance Society which sponsors Messrs. Chase and Horton is a nation wide organization having centers in New York City, Kentucky, and other places. The scope of The Society includes the collecting, editing, and active teaching of all the musical traditions of English-speaking peoples, and it fosters the social enjoyment of all of these arts.

Thespians Select "First Lady" For Spring Production

Rehearsal will start this week for "First Lady" by Katherine Dayton and George S. Kauffman, which has been selected by the S. T. C Dramatic Club and the Hampden- Sydney Jongleurs as the spring production to be given March 14.

Because of the large cast, a number of try-outs were held. Hampden-Sydney had the largest representation in a number of years for try-outs and the girls at S. T. C. many of them freshmen, displayed an interest.

A tentative cast has been selected by Miss Leola Wheeler, director. The official cast will be announced at a later date.

This three-act comedy enjoyed a long run on Broadway, was on the road for a number of years, and has been made into a movie. It is especially popular with little theatres all over the country.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

1940 Member 1941
Associated Collegiate Press

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year.

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Anne Cock ..... Sports Editor
Nancy Naff ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Faye Nimmo, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Jane Sanford, Dorothy Sprinkle, Elizabeth Tennant, Sara Trigg, Ella Banks, Weathers, Marjorie Garrison.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mary Keith Bingham, Mary St.Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Helen DeLong, Anne Moore, Mary Lily Purdum.

Typists

Chief Typist ..... Frances Pritchett
Typists—Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Thelma Courtney.

This issue in charge of the Associate Editors.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 29, 1941

The American Dream

This week the Y. W. C. A. on our campus is sponsoring Race Relations Week with the hope that racial feelings may be lost in a growing experience of fellowship. The adoption of such a theme is not novel but its pertinence is recoginzed now that the question of the Negro in national defense has appeared.

James Truslow Adams in his book entitled The Epic of America speaks often of what he calls "the American Dream". He says of it: " . . . The dream of a land in which life should be better and richer and fuller for every man, with opportunity for each, according to his ability or achievement . . . It is not a dream of motor cars and high wages merely, but a dream of a social order, in which each man and each woman shall be able to attain to the fullest stature of which they are innately capable, and be recognized by others for what they are, regardless of the fortuitous circumstances of birth or position . . . . It has been a dream of being able to grow to fullest development as man and woman, unhampered by the barriers erected in older civilizations; unrepressed by social orders which had developed for the benefit of classes, rather than for the simple human being of any and every class. If we are to make the dream come true we must all work together, no longer to build bigger, but to build better."

Our country is composed of so many different nationalities and races; of so many different kinds of skills, and of so many different religious faiths, that we cannot really be a part of this American Dream without being related in sympathy and understanding to all its peoples. Ignorance and prejudice have been largely responsible for our attitude of discrimination. We owe to our own self-respect the obligation of a changed attitude toward race relations, and we as college students owe an obligation of unremitting effort to break down the prejudice and ignorance that form so big a barrier to that changed attitude.—S. F. C.

Unwarranted Discrimination

The Richmond Times-Dispatch has turned its editorial eye on a situation which deserves serious thought, the discrimination which it finds being exercised against skilled Negro workers in defense activities. Although the evidence is not entirely clear apparently this is the doing of contractors some of whom prefer to bring in skilled white workers from other States rather than use Negroes who are qualified and available, Virginia, of course, is the scene with which the Richmond newspaper is specially concerned, but similiar discrimination is reported in other States as well.

Such an attitude is subject to severe criticism on several counts. Under present circumstances, the most important is that defense activities may be seriously impeded by such a policy. Then, too, there is the question of simple fairness to Negro workers, who are thus prevented from exercising the skills which they have developed and upon which they depend to make themselves substantial people in their community. Some sociologists hold that the greatest tragedy of the Negro is that of undeveloped potentialities, and it is a tragedy which will continue if he is to be barred from useful occupations.

"It is idle to try to convince the average Virginian," writes the Lynchburg News, "of the virtue of social equality. He is dead set against it. But economic equality is another thing." As it implies, the point in question is not one of social equality at all. Since white and colored people manage to work together in many undertakings which might be cited, we suspect that those who are charged with adopting this policy are suffering from exaggerated fears.—Petersburg Progress Index.

What About Mexico?

In the United States, says the Manitou Messenger at St. Olaf college, an egg thrown at a presidential candidate rates the headlines in all newspapers. In Mexico the incident probably would have been dismissed immediately because of the thrower's inaccuracy.

Which is by way of introducing a collegiate discussion of the United States relations with the neighbor to the south. With few exceptions, the view of undergraduate editorialists is skeptical, resembling in tone the recent observation of the Daily Nebraskan: "Mexico, long suspected of being a hotbed of fascist sentiment and fifth column activity, evidences what seems to be a sincere desire to rid herself of anti-American elements. At least official Mexico announces such a policy. The Mexican declaration of fact and policy is heartening. A large country, and one so close to our own, Mexico would be a powder-horn of revolt against western world peace if its government became intimidated to fascist influence."

Another midwestern publication, the Daily Kansan, is similiarly far from convinced. "Mexican politics being what they are," observes the Kansan' "it is somewhat difficult to swallow the recent explanation by President Cardenas that refusal to grant concession to the Japanese was based on 'continental solidarity'."

"Many veteran observers," the Daily Iowan joins in, "recall with no pleasure a Mexican action which foreclosed on property held by American oil companies in Mexico." It would be well, for the furtherance of blood relations, says the Iowan, "to establish some kind of solidarity on this score, preferably a just one for the oil companies."

More willing to accept Mexico's declaration of good faith is the Indiana Daily Student, which feels that Mexico has "answered her critics in a way to stifle even the most bitter. Her action is a commendable example of attempts by South and Central American countries to mold the Western Hemisphere into a 'united front' against all interlopers."—A. C. P.

Girls Comment On Discrimination In National Defense

What do you think of the discrimination being made against the Negro in the national defense program?

This question has been selected as the one most pertinent to our campus in view of race relations week which is being sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. this week.—Editor's Note).

Anne Ayers: "Such discrimination is unfair. Since every trade is open to the Negro in the South why should he be denied the privilege of using his ability for his country?"

Sara Cline: "We have seldom discriminated in employing men as long as they could do the work—and now that defense is imperative, we should not allow ourselves to be blinded by prejudice."

Shirley McCalley: "I think that the Negro should be allowed the opportunity to serve his country. Denying the Negro a place in our defense program will certainly not aid harmony between the white and colored races.

Ruth Lee Purdum — They're making a great mistake; there is no reason why a skilled Negro shouldn't be able to work in national defense because he has to do the fighting, too.

Dot Rollins—Although I don't think just anybody should be taken, I don't think there should be discrimination made against skilled laborers.

Yates Carr—Government certainly will call on them if war comes. Why shouldn't they be allowed to take part in the defense program?

Helen Gilliam—I think it's all wrong; Negroes have just as much right to help our country in defense as white people do. If war comes, they'll have to fight right along with us.

Betsy Trigg—Negroes should be able to develop their potentialities; if they are skilled laborers there should be no discrimination made as to who should help on national defense.

Elizabeth Tennent—The Negroes have to work, take care of families, and make a living just as much as white people; it simply isn't fair to them to make unjust discriminations.

Natalie Francis: Negroes were granted equal rights by the Fourteenth Amendment and it seems that if they are to be protected then they should have a part in the defense program. If the Negro is not deprived of this privilege, he will feel more like a part of this great country.

Open Forum

January 10, 1941

Dear Editor,

It seems that the exchanges which The Rotunda receives each week from different schools would be of general interest to the students here. We would like to know of the activities of the other state schools, especially, and the schools with which we are familiar. Since The Rotunda does receive these newspapers weekly I can't see why they are not placed where a large majority of our students can read them. Perhaps a shelf in the Reference Room or the Browsing Room of the library could be set aside for these publications. I'm sure that you would find these papers worn thin each week from the use made of them. Won't you consider this, for we all are interested in the life on other campuses.

Anne Ayers

Dear Editor:

Several months ago in a Student Body meeting, it was voted and passed that a telephone be installed in the hallway between second floor Student and third floor Annex. What has happened to this plan? It would be such a convenience and an excellent way of avoiding some confusion in the Home Office. We are looking forward to the time in the near future when it will be installed. We are hoping that it has merely been overlooked and not forgotten.

An interested member of the Student Body

Lookin' 'Em Over

"Westward Ho!" seems to be the theme for the approaching weekend—with V. P. I. and W. & L. calling our fair ones—New ones are joining the call each day. . . add Gene Hardy Kilmon, Boo Barham, Freida Dekker, etc.—

But despite V. P. I. having Mid winters next weekend, a few eager ones just couldn't wait—or maybe 'twas the lifting of the quarantine that caused them to journey hither. Reference being made especially to Louise Hall and George Zirkle.

We heard that Miss Wheeler put her foot down to Martha Whelchel—the said young lady will not go to Lexington Thursday as planned—she's to be in the play—Ah! Career.

Sunday proved to be compensation (V. P. I.) to some when their Hampden-Sydney playmates left for the extended weekend. Now that they're exams are over, regular schedules can be resumed, yes Pritch?

Question of the week: Just what is Buck Thompson trying to prove at S. T. C.? . . . noticed Sunday night with Harriet Cantrell. Can someone be slipping?

The Jantzen seems to be following the old formula "when bigger and better snakes are made" . . . what say Lorraine? . . . Eugenia, Anne, and Connie were deeply occupied Saturday night with ole Virginia.

Virginia Campfield, so we heard, is giving lessons on "How to Win and Hold Men" . . . You seem well qualified, Campy?

By their words ye shall know 'em: "He's so pretty" . . . Marty; "This Is Love" . . . Mary Evelyn Pearsall; "My favorite size" . . . . Sadie; "fifteen minutes" . . . Mary Lou; "You're bad" . . . . Annie Laurie.

Who is the red-head that is snaking everyone? Ask Cottie. Ruth Woody.

Mary Harvie heard that Bud's command is real short so she wrote him that she may take down her hair and wear some makeup, but refused to give up her hog-calling every 5 a. m.

Flea came back from Richmond with the flu after a glorious weekend with Jack. Not so glorious in the infirmary, is it Flea? . . .

Nominations are now in order for someone to give Lex Allison a taste of his own Garnet.

We wonder why Ruth Dugger didn't show up at the University of Richmond dances before the last fifteen minutes of the dance. "Could be" she likes Ashland better? ?

Allene, when are you and Crews going to spend a Sunday in Farmville?

It is true that "out of town" talent proved attractive for "Randy" Cary.

A certain columnist at V. P. I. is getting mighty interested in Farmville 'gossip' here lately, and if he doesn't watch out we're gonna put him in his place and for good!!!

We wonder who is carrying on the correspondence with Stu Johnson? Agnes or Shirley?

We understand why "Harpoo" changed her date home. Also call "Petey" Powell continue to "stand-up" Harpden-Sydney for Duke? Not for long we predict . . . By the way, why did a certain Hampden-Sydney gentleman care to spank me? Evidently he doesn't believe in the old adage "spare the rod and spoil the child" what say, Bob? We dare this to be censored!!!

We hear our friend Boonie spent the weekend in the infirmary—and after she had a ride home with that handsome Tom—What a shame! It's nice to see all the turnout of the infirmary now. Remind us next year to "swim" clear of these epidemics.

We are all wondering now what significance that Pika hat has to Polly Hughes—Polly we always thought your heart belonged to the Kappa Sigs.

Whose face was red the other day when Bess Wyndham commented at great length on the shortness of the Sanford's skirt—Then turned to discover a H-S lad had overheard all—Better be more careful, Bess.

Things we wonder: What happened to German's Englishman—we almost had an international situation there!—Nelle White's sudden disinterest in Gene—Is it Jackie that makes Margaret so excited about midwinter at Tech?

Have you noticed how pleased Lillian T. always looks now—Oh! These gals in love!

We hear "Little Pritch" is quite sad over not typing for the Rotunda any more. She misses not reading our column in the raw!

I'm afraid we can't depend on Sadra and Gerry for predictions—Betty B., now that exams are over at H. S. you can really have a good time.

Maybe "Dum dum" isn't so dumb after all. We give her credit dating a Pika last night when she possesses a Chi Phi pin. How does she do it? ?

It's rumored that R. Hening has taken up a course in Matrimony instead of business as before mentioned. The lucky man is a H. S. graduate of '40. And speaking of matrimony—Elizabeth Barrett has returned - - - she's supposed to get a ring soon—maybe they have already rung.

Dell Warren's skate fin needed washing but no one thought that she would send it to the laundry.

I wonder what it is that causes Iris Bryant to wander around in her sleep late at night. Just what could it be? They say she even goes in and punches her suitemate.

After making a long-distance telephone call and sending two telegrams, the Nimmo child and Jack finally got to Suffolk

• Sports Slants •

By ANNE COCK

"Blow, blow, thou winter wind
Thou art not so unkind
As man's ingratitude."

The sting of winter may be in the air but 'tis only a signal to G-O! Go, for us. So come on you all. Don't be so ungrateful. We have a splendid gym, which wasn't meant to look at, a good manager, and an excellent coach, so go to the gym and practice for your team.

Congratulations to the varsity captain. The team is with you, I know, and we're certainly behind you.

But back to where we were—please, let me urge you—or mayhaps I should get behind you and push—anyway, "practice" is the word I want.

It takes exactly eight practices and a D average to be able to play on your class team—that's not asking much—and yet, to look in the gym one would think we had asked you to jump to the moon. What's the matter with everybody?

Could it be something else holds your interest! For after all we do have someting to offer other than basketball.

Golf

Take golf for instance—I know there's been snow on the ground and that everybody's trying not to catch the fl—all right, I won't say it. I'm tired of hearing it, too. But let me tell you about this winter golf business. Down there in that section of the locker room that they rigged all up for us last year. Well—things are happening. The place fairly reeks with activity because winter school has begun. Cast your eyes to the right and see your local paper for complete details.

Play Nights

I have save my face. It was predicted that play nights would begin and they have begun. And what a way to spend a Saturday evening—Bridge interspersed with gay chattering, popsicles, and cookies. And if you've a mind there's checkers, dominoes, rummy and so on. Where? Why Student Building Lounge, of course. Where have you been all this time?

Square Dance

It's Wednesday, I believe, which means that tomorrow must be Thursday and unless I miss my guess again, Mr. Chase will be here with all kinds of ideas for a good time.

Whether you sing, whether you dance, or whether you're just plain long literary minded, he's sure to suit you, 'cause his program consists of all three—singing, dancing, and telling stories about those songs and dances.

And to round off those events he's going to lead the grand finale himself, the Square Dance in the gym tomorrow night. What fun that ought to be!

The mermaids are at last to have their chance. An intercollegiate, aquatic event has been scheduled for the first time in the history of the school. Fairfax Hall and Farmville will meet in the near future to splash about a bit in Waynesboro.

The annual telegraphic meets are coming off soon, too—all kinds of events for all kinds of swimmers. Dog to free style for S. T. C. We were third last year for the paddle your way to the lime light, but stop off long enough third time in the Southern Regional meet. Let's be first for the first time and play consistently.

PASTEL SKIRTS—and SWEATERS—in plaid and solid colors $1.98—$2.98. New spring dresses, solid colors and prints $2.98—$7.85.
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

NEW SPRING STYLES ARRIVING DAILY, LOVELY NEW CREATIONS THAT WILL CERTAINLY BE A HIT WITH THE COLLEGE GIRLS.
DAVIDSON'S
THE COLLEGE GIRLS STORE

S. T. C. Varsity to Make New York Trip

Counter Captains Varsity; First Game February 8

Rosa Courter, senior of Amelia, Va., was selected by her squad members as captain of the 1941 varsity basketball team.

Rosa is a veteran of the court having played on varsity since her freshman year and on her class team all four years. She accompanied the team to New York last year.

She is president of the Athletic Association, member of Alpha Kappa Gamma, H20 Club, Monogram Club, Riding Club and ex-officio member of Students Standards and Government.

Rosa will captain her first game on February 8 when East Radford will meet the Farmville team here in the S. T. C. gym.

Thirteen girls comprise this year's varsity squad for the coming basketball season. These players include Jean Carr, Anne Ellett, Hallie Hillsman, Frances Parham, and Anne Price, sophomores; Corilda Chaplin, Hester Chattin, Dorothy Johnson, and Martha Roberts, juniors; and Rosa Courter, Patricia Gibson, Marjorie Gooden, and Florence Lee, seniors.

Winter Golf School Opens; Instructors Will Aid Beginners

Winter Golf School opened last night in the indoor golf room down in the gym. The purpose of the school is to keep the players up to par throughout the cold months.

Faculty and student body are invited down either to look on or to participate any night in the week. Equipment is at your disposal.

Two nights a week, instructors will be there to help beginners. Announcements will be made in the dining room giving the exact nights.

Score cards will be given to active participants, who are requested to fill them in properly each time they play. These will be collected weekly or monthly as the case may be and prizes will be awarded.

This school is being sponsored by the Athletic Association and is under the direction of Agnes Patterson and Frances Parham.

Campus Don'ts

1. Do not plan too far ahead for the big weekend 'cause it's sure to flop.
2. Do not, on returning, wait more than two days to plan another one.
3. Do not walk slowly arm in arm down the hall unless you want somebody to push you down and walk on over.
4. Do not bring old letters to the table to impress people. You fool no one, but yourself.
5. Do not wear red and orange together.
6. Do not advertize the fact that you just got a box from home unless you want the whole school present at the grand opening.
7. Do not wear purple lipstick unless you want to give that "casket appearance".
8. Do not rush to the dining room because the doors will be locked anyway.
9. Do not tell your friends all your troubles, 'cause then you'll have to listen to theirs.
10. Do not cook coffee unless you want to entertain in the dark.
11. Do not clean your saddles unless you want to be conspicuous.
12. In other words, don't!

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

Farmville Will Vie With Fairfax Hall In Swimming Meet

Fairfax Hall and Farmville will match strokes sometime next month in Waynesboro, Va. in the first intercollegiate swimming meet that the Farmville girls have ever participated in, other than the annual National intercollegiate Telegraphic meets. The exact date is as yet indefinite.

For the past three years Farmville has placed third in the Southern Region of the U. S. in the Telegraphic meet. Nancy Depuy, junior, holds the Southern Region Championship.

Among those answering the first call for swimming candidates were Nancy Dupuy, (breast, freestyle, crawl, and diving); Peggy Hughes (breast); Helen McIlwaine (back, freestyle, crawl); Frances Mallory (breast, diving); Shirley Turner (back and freestyle); Ellen Ebel (breast and freestyle), and Mildred Droste, Ruth Dugger, Dot Gaul, Dot Daracott, and Gloria Pollard.

There will be two telegraphic meets between now and February 22 including events in 100 yd. freestyle, 100 yd. back, 100 yd. breast, 40 yd. free, 40 yd. back, 40 yd. breast, and 75 yd. medley relay and 100 yd. relay.

Play Night Hailed Success; Bridge Is King

Well, well, despite the flu and the snow we finally had our long delayed initial Play Night of the year.

Student Building lounge was the scene of our fun and although "Bridge was undoubtedly the popular game this week, there were checkers, rummy, dominoes, and what have you for anyone interested.

And, say, we had refreshments, too. Jiminy, when it looked as if I might take the brobdingnagian popped popsicles and cookies, and up flew my score counting in my hand, nothing up my sleeve! Pshaw! Luck!

A. A. we salute you for a fine beginning and are looking forward to 8 o'clock next Saturday night —See you there!!

Meet Me At
Shannon's
For Better Foods and Drinks
Phone 224

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

KLEANWELL
Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

Nappers Note!

Class games are to begin March 17—55 days off, but in reality only 11 short practices away.

To play on a class team you must have at least 8 practices. To play well on a class team you must have more than just 3 practices.

COME OUT

You, you, and you are needed for your team for the color cup. Our theme song is "Practice Makes Perfect". Come to the gym and sing it to the tune of a ball whizzing through the air—plop in the basket.

For your convenience here follows that schedule for general practice:

Tuesday 5:00 P. M.
Wednesday 5:00 P. M.
Thursday 4:00 and 5:00 P. M.

Friday Night's, The Night

Ah, joy! Tonight is Friday night. But don't worry about that because last night was Thursday night and tomorrow night will be Saturday night. Well? Oh, well.

One thing certain, I can do as I want to and of course that does not include studying. I can really let down my hair. It doesn't have to look any too good because tomorrow is Saturday and with only one class I can sleep late. Also I am "to live alone and like it" this week-end. Then there's that book I've been dying to read. Never had time until tonight.

My roommate has gone for the week-end. Everybody seems to be planning to go somewhere, that is, if they are still here. A few minutes ago I went to the ironing room and girls were just lined up waiting for their turn. They're going to be pretty 'cause they hope to see their special one. Small wonder, Gulp!

The ones that are still here are having a time. More fun, more noise! One girl was carried down the hall—literally. She complained of being sleepy (on Friday night) so they put her to bed. Everyone else is wide awake and nappy. No one seems to mind that they must begin again next week. It's fun while it lasts.

There seems to be a prevue showing of dates tonight, too. Look over the Rotunda (but please don't hang over, 'tis a call down). The maid is kept busy by the door bell while, upstairs there are "Ladies-in-waiting".

In the Junior Building there's a group making fudge and I believe I smell hamburgers frying—the order girls are busy tapping doors. Everybody is active. Why? Why don't you know—Tonight is Friday.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

BUTCHER'S
The convenient store for faculty and student body.
Good things to eat and drink

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

Hofstra College Will Be Scene of Meet February 14

Varsity basketball team will go north on February 14, to meet Hofstra College at Hempstead, Long Island. Tentative plans for a game in Baltimore "on the way", are being laid for Thursday night, February 13.

Farmville and Hofstra met as rivals for the first time last year on the Calkins gymnasium floor in Hempstead, N. Y. Last year Hofstra College had the record of being "unbeaten." This time," states Rosa Courter, recently chosen captain, "We're going to win."

This is the third year the Farmville players have gone on a northern trip. Two years ago they played Panzer College of Physical Education in East Orange, N. J., and Notre Dame Women's College in Baltimore. Last year they defeated Panzer College there by a score of 34-12.

Miss O. T. Iler, coach, has not yet disclosed the names of the players to make the trip. She will accompany the team.

Smartness At a Savings
You can't look your best without the services of a real experienced operator. At Baldwin's you are assured the best in work and the best in operators at real bargain prices
Bargains
In Permanents
Save Now!
Any two (2) $3.50 permanents for ONLY $4.95
BRING SOMEONE WITH YOU
Look AN OIL SHAMPOO And FINGER WAVE FOR ONLY 50c
25% off
ON ALL WAVES
Priced from $10 to $15
Use your charge account in the beauty shop it is much more convenient
BALDWIN'S
QUALITY · PRICE · SERVICE · STORE
Phone 159 Farmville's Best

SPRING COATS—$10.94 up—Beige, Black, Navy and Pastels.
Pastel Sweaters $1.97—Pastel Skirts $1.97 & $2.97—at the
DOROTHY MAY STORE

Trips, Hikes, And Parties Were Weekend Attractions

As usual Richmond proved to be the most popular place for week-end visitors. Some S. T. C. girls who went down that way were Nell Quinn, Mary Keith Bingham, Ethyl Carr, Libby Carter, Blanche Calavita, Annie Lee Coates, Doris Lackes, Katherine Dunton, Ruth Dugger, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Caroline Eason, Theresa Fletcher, Sarah Massie Goode, Charlotte Greeley, Ellen Mare Goode, Frances Hobart, Lynette Honeycutt, Peggy Hughes, Mary Harvie, Kathryn Kennedy, Ruth Loving, Shirley McCalley, Virginia O'Farrell, Helen Ott, Mary Martha Perry, Gloria Pollard, Shirley Pierce, Christine Pittard, Margie Rice, Jean Steele, Mary Lou Shannon, Elaine Straus, Lucy Tucker, Katherine Vaughan, May Wertz, Ruth Woody, Elsye Berry Yates, Mary and Frances White, Mary Katherine Zehmer and Martha Cottrell were among the girls who went to the University of Richmond Mid-Winters.

Some girls went even farther than Richmond. Betsy Bullock, Faye Brandon, Miriam Jester, and Faye Nimmo went to Suffolk; Betty Boutchard, Newport News; Betty Page Harpey, Hampton; and Norma Lee West, Norfolk.

In the opposite direction towards Lynchburg way went Jean Arrington, Doris Alvis, Gay Ward Brown with her guest Jane Engleby, Elizabeth Brown, Mary Carson, Edna Campbell, Mary Anne Dryden, Helen Hawkins, Nancy Hutter, Carroll Pugh, Elva Stevens, Nancy Watts, and Helen Watts.

Roanoke was quite popular also. Elizabeth Barrett, Frances Ellett, Stella Harman, Dorothy Menefee, Eleanor Messick, Martha Messick, Louise Painter, Louise Parcell, Frances Roxebro, Elizabeth Rapp, Frances Steffey, Eleanor Steffey and May Winn chose this as their destination.

Girls who selected home as the best place to spent the week end were Mary Wilson Carper, Rocky Mount; Caralie Nelson, South Boston; Betty Bridgeforth, Kenbridge; and Mary Garrett, Danville.

S. T. C. Girls Will Migrate This Week-End

S. T. C. will be evacuated this week-end after a long winter nap that was aided by the now passing flu epidemic. Hold your hats, 'cause we're off!

Washington and Lee seems to be the main attraction for this week-end with its Fancy Dress Ball featuring Benny Goodman, king of swing. Saturday afternoon instead of the tea dance, he will give a concert on the "Growth of Swing" and trace it on down. Charlie Barnett will play Thursday night.

V. P. I. holding honors with W. and L. will jive with Bob Chester, German Club, and Al Donahue, Cotillion Club, at their mid-winters. Bob Chester will feature Betty Bardley.

Those not headed west to the above mentioned schools are taking off to Richmond to see "Philadelphia Story" with Kathrine Hepburn in person.

Attend Concert

Jean Moyer, Virginia Richards, and Irene Alderman went with Miss Lizabeth Prdom to attend the concert of the National Symphony Orchestra in Richmond on Monday night, January 20.

A. A. Hike

The members of the A. A. council hiked the long way to Longwood Saturday afternoon, January 25. They cooked hamburgers around the fire place in the cabin. After eating they sang songs and then walked back to school.

The rushees of the various sororities were entertained in their respective chapter rooms Friday night at 10:00 o'clock. Each chapter served refreshments after which everyone went out in the hall to exchange congratulations.

Farewell Reception

The women of the Episcopal Church entertained Mr. and Mrs. A. Campbell Tucker with a farewell reception January 22 at 8 o'clock in the Student Building Lounge. Miss Ottie Craddock presided at the punch bowl. Mr. and Mrs. Tucker left today for Green County where they will do mission work.

Campus Gadabout Scoops Feature On American Women

You may have heard a rumor drifting about lately to the effect that American women are a good looking lot. Outsiders are prone to say nice things about our long legs, the sassy way we wear clothes, the glossiness of our hair, and the clean, cared-for look of our skins. And why shouldn't they? We all have at our disposal the finest beauty preparations that can be made for the least money.

When American women spend (as they do) some 390 million dollars a year on cosmetics, it's because they're getting something for their money. That's an amazing amount, isn't it? Nevertheless it's a fact. After all, the making of beauty is the sixth largest industry in the United States, which indicates that there is more to it than a pretty jar or bottle finished off with a pink ribbon. Some of the background of cosmetics is certainly worth telling.

For instance, did you know that way back in the early days of Egypt there was actually a cosmetic industry, too? Beauty preparations, such as they were, were bought and sold in the market place. Maybe they weren't such good cosmetics because in those days there wasn't any Pure Foods and Drug Act. Occasionally in those days a lovely lady lost an eye from smearing upon her lashes some glamorous if strong concoction. But those Egyptian sirens were made for beauty and had to take their chances.

Now there can be no doubt as to the safeness of the cosmetics. Any item that is doubtful must pass stern tests before being offered to the public. Lipsticks, for example, must have their coloring certified by the laboratories which test them chemically and physically (on actual skins) before the tints are pronounced all right.

Soap must be pure as pure can be. It is blended for the requirements of different skins and different tastes. A soap that is based on coconut oil is the soap for women who love lather and lots of it. For those who want a mild, mild soap, olive oil soap is exceedingly bland. Some soaps contain cold cream or other softening ingredients. Then there's the matter of perfuming the soap. The ingredients in the soap and the ingredients in the perfume must be carefully checked so that they won't fight with each other.

While on the subject of cosmetics a word might be said on the age-old superstition that cream causes hair to grow on the face. The answer is no, definitely no, and it is backed up by three eminent doctors. External application does not cause hair to grow, so use cold cream by the quart without the fear of growing a beard!

Why do we buy cosmetics? Because we're eager for loveliness, some make us clean and we're almost always happy when we've a lot of pretty bottles, jars, etc. around us.

English Fraternity Bids Nine Girls

Nine girls were issued bids by Beroeh Thorn, honorary fraternity in English.

Anne Benton, Anne Marie Brickert, Mrs. Margaret S. Lawrence, Jane McGinnis, Helen Virginia Sydnor, Pearl Price Thompson, Lucy Tucker, Anne Carrol Williams and Martha Hazeltine Wright are the new members.

Qualifications for membership in Beroeh Thorn are a B average in six courses in English for an English major, and in 9 courses for an English minor, with a C average on all other subjects.

Joan of Arc

Continued from Page 1

ping books, stepping on toes, and being so disorderly? Dear, dear! Our elders used to look on us with sad eyes, and bewail the fact that we were going straight to the dogs; what would have happened had we been like this?

Such fussing and fuming as I do hear! It must be awful to have to spend a week end in school, from the way they talk. Evidently there is no fun here at all on Saturday nights and Sundays, for the girls certainly do air their woes if Miss Mary refuses their every wish! But the dance week end! That's a different story. I wonder if they have as lovely folk dances as young girls of our age had. Oh, I wish that I could go to one of their dances! But they never ask me; they just let me sit here all by myself, never mind-ed in anything.

What is coming on? Oh, it's ten o'clock, and all the boys must go. What a crowd of young people all of a sudden in here! I must hop. I'm struck speechless!

NEAR NEURALGIA

"I understand that you're an octogenarian and you denounced our government."

"That's right."

"Well, if you don't like it in this country, why don't you go back to Octogenaria?"

Johnson to Study In New York City

Mr. E. M. Johnson, of the education department is leaving Sunday, February 2, for New York City where he will study at Columbia University.

He will return to teach both terms in the summer session.

When better—
Sandwiches
—Are Made
COLLEGE SHOPPE
Will Make Them

Special . . .
Nylon Hose
98c a pair
ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

20% Reduction on all Helena Rubinstien Products
Week of March 1-8
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

See our February Special in
RYTEX STATIONERY
Martin, the Jeweler

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

VALENTINES
FOR MOTHER—DAD
SISTER—BROTHER and SWEETHEART
5c—10c
NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c Store

HOP SAYS—
Brighten up the Midwinter Season
With freshly cleaned and pressed
Sweaters 25c
Skirts 25c
DeLuxe Cleaners

Resolve to Economize
at
The Economy Food Store
Fancy Fruits
Pickles Cookies

J. A. BURKHART
Blacksmithing—Machine Shop—Welding
General Repairing
218-222 North Street
FARMVILLE VA.

STATE
"Your Community Center"
Thursday—Friday—Saturday
JAN. 30-31, FEB 1
ERROLL FLYNN OLIVIA de HAVILAND
"SANTA FE TRAIL"
NEXT MONDAY—TUESDAY
FEBRUARY 3—4
"GONE WITH THE WIND"
Nothing Cut but the Price!
3 SHOWS DAILY
12:15, 1:15 and 8:15
ADMISSIONS:
Matinees: Adults 40c (tax incl)
Evening All Seats 55c (tax incl)
NO RESERVED SEATS

LEE
"Your Family Theatre"
Thursday—Friday, Jan. 30—31
ANN Rutherford FRANK Morgan
'Keeping Company'
SATURDAY ONLY! FEB. 1
DOUBLE FEATURE
Johnny Mack Brown
"BOSS OF BULLION CITY"
And
TIM HOLT
"THE GREAT PLANE ROBBERY"
Next Monday—Tues., Feb. 3-4
KAY FRANCIS GEORGE BANCROFT
"LITTLE MEN"

Join the Army of smokers like yourself who enjoy
Chesterfield's
MILDER, BETTER TASTE

The next time you buy cigarettes ask for Chesterfield... and join the army of Satisfied smokers all over America who are getting Real Smoking Pleasure from Chesterfield's Milder, Cooler, Better Taste.

YOU CAN'T BUY A BETTER CIGARETTE

Do you smoke the cigarette that Satisfies ... it's the smoker's cigarette

Copyright 1941, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Attend Basketball Game Saturday Night

The Rotunda

Support Bundles for Britain Movement

VOLUME XX FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 5, 1941 NO. 16

Alpha Kappa Gamma Recognizes Leaders

Two Seniors, Five Juniors Tapped

Seven girls, two seniors and five juniors were given public recognition at a tapping service by Alpha Kappa Gamma, national organization for leadership among women before a majority of students and faculty members in chapel Thursday, January 30.

Eligibility for Alpha Kappa Gamma is based first upon the qualities of leadership, character and service to the school. A member must have an average scholastic rating, and must have proven her worth unselfishly to the college.

New members tapped are Thelma Courtney and Helen Seward, Seniors, and Sara Cline, Caroline Eason, Carolyn Harvey, Dorothy Johnson, and Lucy Turnbull, Juniors.

Thelma Courtney, of Winchester, was a member of Alpha Phi Sigma and the Dramatic Club. Thelma's outstanding work has been in the field of debate. She has been debating for three years and is now a varsity team member of the Debate Club and vice-president of Pi Kappa Delta. Her other activities include secretary of Kappa Delta Pi, vice-president of Pi Gamma Mu, typist for the Rotunda and a member of Beorc Eh Thorn and the world fellowship committee.

Helen Seward of Petersburg has been on the Athletic Association Council for four years; two years as assistant archery manager, one year as archery manager, and social chairman her senior year. Helen has been a member of the Home Economics Club for four years and has served as a class representative to Student Standards her freshman, junior and senior years. Helen is also Monogram Club president and a member of the Riding Club.

Sara Cline, of Roanoke, is feature editor of the Rotunda, book review editor of the Colonnade, and vice-president of the Pan-Hellenic Association. Sara, who has been active in Y. W. work, was on the Freshman and Sophomore Commissions and served as chairman of the membership committee for two years. She is a member of Sigma Pi Rho, Kappa Delta Pi, Alpha Phi Sigma and Cotillion Club.

Caroline Eason, from Richmond, now secretary of Student Government, has been a class representative for three years, serving as Campus League Chairman her sophomore year. For the past two years she has been assistant literary editor of the Virginian. Caroline is a member of the Granddaughter's Club, Kappa Delta Pi, Association of Childhood Education, and Alpha Phi Sigma.

Carolyn Harvey, of Curdsville, is president of the West Hanover Presbytery in the Synod of Virginia, and has been prominent in Y. W. work. She served on the Freshman and Sophomore Commissions, and as treasurer of the Y. W. C. A. She has been a member of Beorc Eh Thorn for two years, and belongs to Chapel Committee and Cotillion Club. Carolyn made varsity basketball squad her freshman and sophomore years. She is also vice-president of Granddaughter's club.

Dorothy Johnson, of Suffolk, has displayed an active interest in athletics. She has made varsity basketball squad and varsity hockey team for three successive years; is a member of the class volley ball team and treasurer of the Athletic Association. For two years Dot has been assistant business manager of the Virginian. In the Dramatic Club she is assistant head of the lighting group. She also belongs to Alpha Phi Sigma and Cotillion Club.

Continued on Page 4

Aid Britain

Tin is a product that passes daily through the hands of millions, with few realizing that this seemingly worthless article is the means of providing funds for the purchase of medical supplies and antitoxin for England. Already four portable blood transfusion sets have been purchased with proceeds from lead, tin and aluminum foil. Save each piece of uncolored foil that is found in every cigarette package, candy box, and many other kinds of boxes, and thereby help the stricken civilians and soldiers of England.

Editorial Comment Page 2

Farmville's Bundles for Britain project is the collection of old worn out clothes. Bring your contributons to Miss Iler's office in the gym.

Mardi Gras Dance Limited To 650

Prizes For Best Costumes Noted

Tickets for the annnual Mardi Gras Dance, which will take place February 25, went on sale Monday, February 3. They are being sold by members of Pi Gamma Mu, social science fraternity which sponsors this celebration. Girls are urged to buy their tickets immediately as the number is limited to 650.

As is the usual custom, one of the highlights of the evening's entertainment will be the awarding of prizes for the best costumes. For the prettiest costume worn by a girl the prize will be a radio; an Agfa camera will go to the person, either boy or girl, wearing the most original costume. The best-looking couple will receive a Schaffer Pen and Pencil set (boy) and a Setamas clock (girl). These prizes are on display in the window of Martin's Jewelry store. No one without costume will be admitted for dancing.

Folklore Program Well-Received By Student Groups

Mr. James M. Grainger, head of the English department has reported that the program of folklore and folk dancing presented here January 30 by Richard Chase, folklorist, and Mr. Morton Barker, ballad singer, was attended quite enthusiastically by the students.

After an introduction at 11 o'clock Thursday morning at chapel, Mr. Chase gave a dance demonstration that afternoon at 3:30 in the gym to an audience of approximately 400 students. Following that Mr. Chase lectured and taught a number of traditional songs among which was "Barbara Allen." Mr. Barker, at that time sang "The Unfaithful Wife" and "Shenandoah."

The evening program held in the large auditorium at 8 o'clock consisted of a lecture on folklore by Mr. Chase and one of his "Jack Tales." "Edward," "The Farmer's Curstwife," "Jolly Miller," "His Sons," and "Darby Ram" were some of Mr. Barker's selections.

From 9 to 10 o'clock a county dance party was held in the gym in which several hundred students participated.

This program was put on under the joint auspices of the departments of music, English and physical education.

Frosh To Present Musical Comedy On February 18

South America Is Theme; To Feature Puerto Rican Girls

As their first production, this year's freshmen will present an original musical comedy, on February 18 at 8 o'clock in the large auditorium.

Mary Keith Bingham, chairman of the production, has announced that the theme will center around the adventures of several chorus girls from the United States who are traveling in South America. Tangos, rhumbas, and other Spanish tempos will comprise a large portion of the dancing, while "Down Argentine Way" and "Frenesi" will be among the current popular songs presented.

Included in the large cast of over one hundred will be the seven students on the campus from Porto Rico. As a feature of the program, they will introduce several Spanish songs sung in their native style. Another highlight of the evening's entertainment will be Betty Gray Smithdeal, South American songstress, who recently shared successes on Broadway and in Hollywood.

The heads of the various committees working with Mary Keith Bingham, chairman, are music, Caroline Bargamin; costumes, Elizabeth Tennent; staging, Doris Taylor; lighting, Jane Hobson; business, Dorothy Gaul; publicity, Mary Evelyn Pearsall; properties, Mickey Lawrence; dancing, Gloria Pollard and Lulie Jones; makeup, Lauristan Hardin; and house, Doris Lowe.

Cast Chosen For Spring Production

"First Lady" by Katherine Dayton and George Kaufman, is the play cohsen by S. T. C. Dramatic Club and Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs to be staged as the spring production on March 14.

"First Lady" presents superlative high comedy. It is political satire, representing the personal intrigue behind a presidenial campaign, with emphasis on the women in the case. The plot resolves itself into the conflict between the charming young wife of the secretary of state, Lucy Wayne (Mary Hunter Edmunds) and a vampire, wife of a supreme court justice, Irene Hibbard (Peggy Bellus.)

Martha Wheichel, as Emmy Paige, and Peggy Watkins in the role of Belle Hardwick also have female leads in the play.

Other members of the cast include Virginia Elliton, as Sophy Prescott; Jean Hatton, Mrs. Ives; Virginia Howell, Anne Forrester; Sarah Currie, the Baroness; Lillian Wahab, Mrs. Creevy; Ella Banks Weathers, Mrs. Davenport; and Jean Strick, First Lady.

Lee Allison is playing the ninompoop supreme court justice, and John Pancake is taking the part of the secretary of state. Tedo Savage supplies the romantic lead as young Senator Keane; Keith Eubank is rather stupid newspaper publisher; and Alec Jones plays the part of a veteran senator, Tom Hardwick. Also included in the cast are Rae McNeil and Charles Llewellyn.

Rotunda Staff Adds Two New Members

Ella Banks Weathers, freshman from Lexington, and Marjorie Garrison, Fredericksburg transfer, were added to the editorial Staff of the Rotunda—Nancy Naff, a junior, will replace Gerry Ackiss as Social editor.

Elizabeth Ann Parker Wins Diamond Key For Forensic Work

Elizabeth Ann Parker of Portsmouth has fulfilled the requirements for a Special Distinction member of Pi Kappa Delta, and is intitled to the Diamond Key. The requirements for the Diamond Key are participation in thirty-five intercollegiate debates over a period of three years or participation in eighteen debates winning at least half of them.

Elizabeth Ann has attended the Grand Eastern Forensic Tournament at Winthrop, S. C., the Dixie Tournament at Winthrop, S. C. and tne South Atlantic Forensic Tournament held annually at a North Carolina college. At the Dixie Tournament she has twice placed in the ten best debaters and won second place in problem solving this fall at the Dixie tournament.

Elizabeth Ann is vice-president of the Debate Club and on the varsity debate team. Marie Allen is also a Special Distinction member of Pi Kappa Delta.

Pi Kappa Delta at their meeting on Jan. 31 bid Myrtle Jenkins, freshman. In order to become a member of Pi Kappa Delta, it is necessary to participate in five intercollegiate debates with recognized colleges. Myrtle was one of the debaters to attend the Dixie Forensic Tournament at Winthrop, S. C. last fall.

What Goes On There?

Reporter Scoops Laundry Bag

By ELIZABETH RAPP

Have you ever wondered what goes on in that building that is located behind gym? Why, that's the laundry, you'll say. But, do you know what happens from the time you leave your bag full to the bursting point with dirty clothes until the time you go and find them all in a neat clean stack?

Well, I was curious so I wandered over the little bridge and decided I would find out what makes the laundry tick. I went in and down the stairs and then approached Mrs. Nunn, the little white haired lady, that has charge of the S. T. C. laundry. All around me were the nice warm smells of steam and hot suds and clean clothes. Large rollers were shoving out white freshly ironed sheets, as two colored girls folded and laid them in a pile. A large negro man placed the dirty clothes into the net and removed them when they were done.

I walked up to Mrs. Nunn and told her I wanted to write something for the Rotunda on the laundry. Her eyes twinkled as she smiled and said, "Well, child, I can tell you its a five and a half day a week job with never a spare minute." She's been there since 1908, but she admitted, "I didn't make a successful job of it until they gave me full say so as to hiring, firing, and directing the work".

When I asked her how many helpers she had and how much work they did each week, she said they had eighteen or nineteen workers, paid by the piece or day, as compared to about forty-five or fifty when she came here. They don't keep records of the laundry that comes in and out, but they do all the dining room linen, sheets and pillow cases, maids' aprons and shirts, and all the infirmary work as well as our own! That's quite a heavy job, as you can well imagine.

The clothes are checked by the women on the first floor and then sent down stairs where they are put through such a complicated process of rinsing, sudsing, and

Continued on Page 4

Religious Emphasis Week Begins Sunday

Dorothy Eades To Attend Meet

Dorothy Eades, senior, will attend the annual Regional Leadership meeting of the Virginia Area of the Y. W. C. A. of Virginia Colleges which will be held in Richmond, February 22-23. Last year Dot was elected chairman of this area and will preside at this session.

Second Baptist Church will be the scene of the discussions to be held on Saturday. The program for Sunday will take place on the campus of the Virginia Union University. The opening discussion will be conducted by Alice Stevens of Bereau College who is the National Student Council chairman of the Y. W. C. A. A study of the work of the Association will follow in the various program.

The purposes of these meetings are (1) to learn better ways of carrying out the work of the Association on the campus, (2) to become better informed about the national and international Christian Movements to which we belong, (3) to discover new resources (books, speakers,, intercollegiate meetings, conferences, etc) which are available to local Y. W. C. A.'s or Christian Associations.

Regional Meeting of Local School System Held Here Yesterday

The regional meeting of the school system of the local region was held at Farmville State Teachers College Tuesday, February 4.

The purpose of this meeting was for study and discussion of Virginia's long term program of education for national security. Superintendent R. L. Lacy, of Halifax presided at this all-day meeting.

After Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of State Teachers College, Farmville, welcomed the group, Mr. George J. Oliver outlined a plan for discussions on the series of meetings that are to be held by similar groups. His plan consisted of the following points to be discussed:

1. Problems that apply to the state.

2. Problems that apply to the country as a whole in order that schools may further the defense program.

3. Problems of finding an educational program that will meet the needs of all people, old and young.

4. Problem of how to unify the resources of the state.

The meeting was continued in the form of discussion groups each working on different problems separately. At the end of several hours of discussion each group presented its conclusion at the general meeting held at 3 o'clock p. m. Plans for study in the local divisions and plans to resume these discussions at a similar meeting on March 25 were made.

The days' activities were ended at 4 o'clock with a meeting of the chairmen and secretaries of discussion groups to compile materials.

These meetings are held every two months in the nine regions of Virginia. The local region of which Farmville is the center includes 16 counties and three city schools. County superintendents, principals, supervisors, school board members, teachers and parents attend these meetings.

Dr. John P. Wynne, head of the Education department, Mr. James

Continued on Page 4

Program Includes Prominent Speakers

Three out of town speakers will be included on the Religious Emphasis Week program to be presented under the auspices of the Sophomore Commission the week of February 9-15.

Reverend Carlton H. Harrison, pastor of St. John's Church in Hampton, will be the guest speaker in chapel Tuesday, February 11. Liggie Ellett, president of the House Council will talk in student day chapel, Wednesday, February 12.

W. & L. Speakers

Representatives from Washington and Lee University, Christian Council will be in charge of the program Thursday, February 13.

The Sophomore Commission is sponsoring Mr. Paul E. Crandall, pastor of Second Baptist Church in Richmond, Friday, February 14. Dr. E. D. Witherspoon, rector, of Blacksburg, will conclude this series of speakers with his talk in chapel Saturday February 15.

Members Lead Prayers

Members of the Sophomore Commission will lead Prayers this week.

The program for Prayers will be Betsy Jennings, Monday night; May Bartlett, Tuesday; Amy Reid, Wednesday; Agnes Patterson, Thursday, and Miggie Mish, Friday.

Frances Rosebro, Sophomore Commission advisor, will initiate the entire week's schedule by leading Morning Watch, Sunday, February 9. The local pastors will conduct their services Sunday around the theme of Religious Emphasis Week—Ruth Palmer is Chairman of Religious Emphasis Week.

"Fear Causes Racial Prejudice," McKinney Tells Y. W. Group

"Fear is the cause of much racial prejudice", avered Dr. Richard R. McKinley, Negro lecturer, in his address at the Y. M. C. A. association meeting held in the Y. W. lounge January 29.

Fear of social equality to the point of intermarriage and fear of economic insecurity as the main roots of conflict between races were continued points brought out by Dr. McKinley. He further stated that Negros don't want this kind of equality but a social justice.

He continued by saying that we live in a so-called Christian society, believe in democracy and have faith in it; yet various inequalities exist.

He concluded with that what we need is a belief in a justice that will transcend all barriers and social prejudices between creeds and races.

Dr. McKinley is a student at Yale Theological Semenary, who is on a series of lectures in the south gathering material for his doctor's dissertation.

Seniors to Initiate Class Sings Saturday

Annual Sing Contests held between classes will begin this Saturday night, February 8, with the seniors presenting the first of the series. The skit, which is under the direction of Helen Seward, and Thelma Courtney, is entitled "Gee Whiz, Twice Widowed," a take-off on "Gone With The Wind."

The following week the juniors will present their sing, and then the sophomores and freshmen will follow in order. The prize for the class attaining first place is two dollars. Honorable mention will also be given.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

1940 Member 1941
Associated Collegiate Press

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Anne Cock ..... Sports Editor
Nancy Naff ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Faye Nimmo, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Jane Sanford, Dorothy Sprinkle, Elizabeth Tennant, Sara Trigg, Ella Banks, Weathers Marjorie Garrison.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mary Keith Bingham, Mary St.Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Helen DeLong, Anne Moore, Mary Lily Purdum.

Typists

Chief Typist ..... Frances Pritchett
Typists—Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Thelma Courtney.

This issue in charge of the Associate Editors.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1941

That Another May Live

In an effort to secure aid to meet the needs of Great Britain's soldiers, sailors, and airmen, the Athletic Association is cooperating with the humanitarian Bundles for Britain cause. Such a movement is not novel, for, todate, there are thirty-six colleges that have formed organized groups in order that they might aid the Britains from the blitzkreig strokes of Nazi hate.

Last week a prominent Senator visited a southern college and commended the work that college students are doing for Bundles for Britain, and in turn for the heroic English civilians and soldiers. In his message to the students he said, "This is a crisis in which everyone can do something. Each can serve according to his or her ability, and I know of no finer expression of our determination to aid the people of Britain than the Bundles for Britain movement, which is carried on exclusively by the civilian population. These bundles come from the heart of America—from a great democratic people to a great democratic people who are struggling for the common cause of independence, liberty, and freedom in the world."

Many ingenious ways are being devised to collect bundles and funds for the British cause. The Athletic Association is collecting old clothes and tonight the Sophomore Class will reopen "Club 43" in an attempt to further the fund for the British. In this crisis we owe it to ourselves to help forge a chain of friendship that will reach across the ocean. Remember that anything you may offer in a casual spirit at the moment will help save a life tomorrow. Let your motto be—"Give that Another May Live!"—S. F. C.

A letter has been received from the local organization of the Bundles for Britain movement expressing appreciation for the the quantity and quality of the clothes which the Athletic Association collected from members of the student body—Editor's Note.

Gleanings

JACK COCK

While the battle between Britain and Germany smoulders temporarily, Premier Benito Mussolini, hands tied behind his back, is forced to watch what will probably terminate in a complete rebellion of Ethiopian troops.

Haile Selassie, who fled his kingdom five years ago, when Italian troops conquered his native land, is the man responsible for these uprisings. Backed by Great Britain, and encouraged by Ras Kassa, present Ethiopian war minister, the banished emperor, is enthusiastically taking advantage of the chance to regain his throne. Should the returned emperor succeed in his undertaking, the blow to Premier Mussolini would be terrific and humiliating.

In favor of the Ethiopian troops, and their emperor are the blockaded Suez Canal and the British Mediterranean fleet, which make it impossible for the Italian forces to get, by way of water, either supplies or additional forces.

Meanwhile Italians in Africa are also threatened with the loss of all Libya to the British. Should the British succeed in crushing the Italians in North Africa, the victory for them would be an important one. It would place them in an excellent position to hold off German troops should they attempt an invasion of the region. The oil resources of the Near East, and failure to force her way to Britain, would be excuse enough for such a move on the part of Germany.

In East Africa also the British are reported to be moving forward on all fronts, their latest victory being the capture of Agordat, one of the outstanding railroad centers of Eritrea. The British victory, however, took repeated bombings on their part, and two days of intense fighting against stubborn Italian troops. The going from now on in the direction of the Red Sea is expected to be hampered by the rugged mountain country.

On this side of the Atlantic in our own United States, the House of Representatives for the past three days has been the scene of another history making debate. Not since the forming of our Constitution after the American Revolution, not since the nation was split over the issue of slavery before the outbreak of the War Between the States, not since before the World War, when the question of whether the United States should enter the war was discussed, and then immediately after the war when we considered entering the League of Nations, has our country been faced with so vital a question.

The issue which has arisen concerns the lend-lease bill which President Roosevelt has asked Congress to adopt. This bill if passed will give the President power, without consulting Congress, to lend aid to Great Britain, and any other nation which he feels it necessary to our defense to support. It will give him power to give aid in any quantity of supplies he sees fit, to make shipments out of the stocks held by the Army and Navy, he need not demand immediate payment in cash, it will open American ports to British ships needing refueling or repairing, and might even give the President power to turn over to Britain foreign ships confined in our ports until the termination of the war.

We agree that it is undoubtedly to the interest of the American people that we help in preventing British defeat, but HOW FAR should we go? Is the bill, as many people believe, a gigantic stepping stone toward our entrance into the war? Are we repealing the Declaration of Independence?

Looking 'Em Over

Talk about exciting week ends! Some people must have been in heaven or rather, should we say, V. P. I.?!! 'Tis a fact that S. T. C. was well represented at the dances . . . not to mention Hampden-Sydney's amazing turn-out. One young man from that small Christian college in the heart of Virginia (quote) even followed Drama Waid to the noble institution and ended up by chasing Nancy Naff down the street thinking that she was Peggy Bellus! Add interesting situations—Sadie Cline at V. P. I. with Buck—Bob went up for the week end and stayed with Buck's roommate.

Could it be that "Harpoo" enjoyed her week end at Tech so much that she's overcome with flu? Speaking of flu, a member of the faculty expressed his opinion that if the flu didn't get the girls at V. P. I. did! . . . We hear that A. P. went to Tech with her line and came back with a dust pan — my, my, A. P., isn't that the life for you?

Did you know, have you heard, that one-third of the Ritzy Row was slumming at Blacksburg? But it sho does agree with their health! Emogene was holding on to her date! Were you scared Emmie? Ask "Boo" which she liked better—Redwood Tavern or the dances?

Jeanne with the light brown hair Sears was having "double date" trouble in Richmond the other night. Did you talk yourself out of it Jeanne? . . . Fashion note—Be sure to look at Scottie's English broques—they're a thing of beauty and a joy forever.

Right here we'd like to dump a truck-load of orchids into the laps of the Sophomore class for that scrumptious production. It's having a repeat performance tonight we hear. Nice going!!

Let's go to West Point, eh Gerry?!! . . . Remember the old adage Wahab, keep your shirt on! . . . Mary Lou was in Charlottesville the past week end and "Zeke" was in Richmond and never the twain shall meet—she hopes—What we'd like explained is the reason it took so long for some certain young ladies, who spent the week end in Roanoke, to get back to school? Must have been a broken axle, eh, May Winn?

Maybe that Cottie likes to be alone. She chose South Boston instead of Fancy Dress—good going, Les! The Warwick came back from V. P. I. with one good ankle—Congrats! . . . Fay Nimmo celebrated her birthday by forgetting to come home Saturday night . . . Orchids to Dan McIntosh, incidentally, for not forgetting S. T. C. when he's away from home—the perfect gentleman, we say . . .

Martha Whelchel seemed to have a beautiful week end at W. & L. Fancy Dress despite the fact that a very dear friend of hers came all the way from New Hampshire just to see her—And she wasn't here! He turned around and went straight home — Was W. & L. worth it, Martha?

Speaking of W. & L., girls, take note! We have a Venus in our midst—Take a bow Miss Ott.

That wasn't Dot Johnson with "Scrub" Saturday night was it? It looked an awful lot like Jennie Noell to us! Thought Jennie was going to Tech with Dan.

Well, most of the Fancy dancers and the V. P. I. fans have settled down for a long winter's rest, but not for long. Doesn't H.-S. have something of interest to offer S. T. C. girls in the near future? Couldn't be Mid-Winters, could it? Ah, well, more confusion and fun.—See you next week.

Why it is that the Hatton and Barlett children have been counting the days until Virginia Mid-Winters? We wonder.

They tell me that Ann Fitchette had a terribly hard time deciding on her week end plans. Do you suppose they were successful?

FLORIDA SOUTHERN COLLEGE HAS THE ONLY IMPORTED HINDU TEMPLE IN AMERICA. THIS HAND-CARVED TEMPLE WEIGHS 10 TONS, WAS BROUGHT TO THE FLORIDA CAMPUS FROM BENARES, INDIA

EACH YEAR THE PRESIDENT OF NORTHWESTERN UNIV. LIGHTS A HUGH PURPLE CANDLE 4 FT. HIGH AT 8:01 P.M. ON A WEDNESDAY IN THE MIDDLE OF MAY. AT THE SAME MOMENT N.U. ALUMNI ALL OVER THE WORLD LIGHT CANDLES

Question of the Week

What Is Your Favorite Comic Strip and Why?

Betty Fahr—I'm partial to Li'l Abner because he's so good looking.

Ella Marsh Pilkinton—I like the "Little King" because it's all pictures and no reading. It's very easy to understand.

"Mickey" Lawrence—My favorite comic strip is "Superman". It's probably because he's so handsome.

Helen McIlwaine—I just love Crazy Cat. I like it cause it takes so long to figure out what the pictures mean and when I do I can enjoy them much longer!

Nancy Pierpont—I like Blondie because I think it is more like real life.

Chubby Heard—I like the Superman" because he appeals to my active imagination.

Lauri Hardin—I just love "Flash Gordon". I don't know why, but he just appeals to me.

Ann Williams—"Blondie". Because the whole family is so absolutely human.

Peggy Hughes—"Blondie". I like Baby Dumplin' because he reminds me of my little brothers—always sitting in the corner!

Lillian Wahab—"Popeye". There's nothing in it that could apply to life. He's so far removed from reality.

Pat Whilock—"Tarzan". 'Cause he's so big and strong!

Marty Roberts—"Boots and her Buddies". 'Cause they're "Confident" material. She's so active and attractive and always pursued by men.

Frances Keck—"Li'l Abner. 'Cause I love the way they talk and I'd like to be like Pansy and smoke a pipe."

Dot Rollins—"Blondie". Baby Dumplin' has the same philosophy of life I have, and he doesn't like mud packs.

Yates Carr—"Orphan Annie." Because I always know what's going to happen.

Platter Chatter

By JEANNE SEARS

In a special tribute to Hal Kemp, Victor has just made a memorial album of eight of Hal's best loved recordings. They are the neatest set you ever heard "Got A Date With An Angel", "Remember Me", Whispers in the Dark", "Lamplight" (with Skinny Eunis) "Speak Your Heart", "In Dutch With The Duchess", "In An 18th Century Drawing Room". How's that for a swell collection. Another thing too—these records will not be on sale unless you get the album. They are the last releases of Hal Kemp and his top orchestra. Ask any who heard Hal at the Cavalier Beach Club at Virginia Beach last summer and they will tell you about what a sweet group of musicians Hal boasted. Hats off to one of the best bands we had and we all grieve the death of its fine congenial leader.

Now to some of the data on recordings made during the year '40. First thing I might say, that Kay Kyser was selected as the most popular college band for the past session. Then T. Dorsey, Artie Shaw, Bunny Berigan, Ray McKinley, and Glenn Miller were all on the All American Swing Band. Gee—couldn't you hear a recording with that for your group of musicians. Fine thing, but I'm afraid we'll just read about it and that's all. Dinah Shore was given top honors for her vocals in the year '40. Incidentally have you heard her release "I do, Do You"—S' wonderful, simply superb! How she gets those high notes I'll never know.

Some new releases for this week are: Tommy Dorsey's sweet swing to "You Might Have Belonged To Another" featuring Frank Sinatra, Connie Haines, and the Pied Pipers and "Oh! Look at Me Now". Strickly straight-'specially the first. Then there's Leo Reisman's release of "Wishful Thinking" and "Hello Ma! I Done it Again" and Fats Waller with his own inimitable rhythm on "Come Down To Earth, My Angel" and "Liver Lip Jones". These are the best recordings of the past week and you jitterbugs will find 'em just right for mean swing.

I'm sure you all heard Jean Weller in "Club 43" singing "Darkness" and introducing Bootsie Messick's new piece. Bootsie has distinctly shown her agreeably colorful talent for song writing and highly entertaining tunes. Keep it up Bootise—we are all eager to hear some more.

To all those that took off for Blacksburg and Lexington-sure do hope you had a lovely time and aren't Al Donahue, Bob Chester and Benny Goodman all-right! I should say so, and they are all top ranking bands with plenty of novelties and variety.

S'long, and let me know of any like these and let me know of any more of our attractive songstresses or songwriters. ASCAP should give you a grand opportunity to see the real worth of your efforts. Here's to you and best of luck!

• Sports Slants •

By ANNE COCK

"Come on, Blue
Come on, White
Come on, Team
Fight, fight, fight!"

Sounds pretty good when a whole crowd chants that yell, and come Saturday night we'll have a chance to make the gym really ring. Let's make it the biggest and best opening game yet. 'Cause our old rival East Radford's going to be on hand to give keen competition, I'm sure.

Show our girls we're back of them every inch of the way—come out to see them win, as we know they will, judging from past records of previous encounters. We can't give you any idea as to who'll play for Farmville as yet, but play they will. As to who will yell for Farmville—well—all of us? You bet!

Class Games

Class games have been scheduled to begin the seventeenth of this month which doesn't give you laggers long to catch up on your practices. Support your colors by getting in enough practices now to play for your team then!

Swimming teams are also in the making right next door to the gym, so why not make a dash for the pool for a pick-up after a good hot game of ball. Just nothing like it; or maybe you've heard. Not only that; a meet with Fairfax Hall has been promised those making Varsity as well as the fun of competing in the annual Intercollegiate Telegraphic Meets. There's something quite different about "racing against time," as it were. And for those who make class teams there's also the spirit of competition—remember the intramural meets of the good ole days—counts on the color cup, too.

Golf School

They tell me the A. A. has really fixed up that indoor Golf School. All the most enthusiastic golfers could ask for, is at your disposal. Faculty and students alike are invited down to "swing it" in the game of your choice. If you can't play, don't let that stop you—truck on down anyway—tiz niver too late to learn.

Thursday night last it happened, but they're still talking about it—that Square Dance in the gym, I mean. What's Mr. Chase got that Clark Gable hasn't? Give up? Well, I'll tell you—a gala assortment of swingerettes that would make the laziest man alive shake a leg—Sorry if you missed him 'cause you really missed sumpin'!

Winter Riding Exhibition

The Indians did it "bare back"! The Colonial dames did it "side saddle". But these S. T. C. riders do it both ways for that Winter Riding Exhibition they're preparing for. Sounds interesting, doesn't it? Wonder if they'll pull any circus stunts, such as riding backwards or changing horses in the middle of the stream. Time will tell, time will tell.

And say! I almost forget the pep rally in the auditorium immediately after chapel, Friday morning. Expand your lungs, hang onto your best vocal chords, and raise the roof! It isn't every day one gets a chance to turn loose inside.

Varsity Plays First Game This Season Saturday

Will Vie With Radford Here At 8 O'clock

Radford State Teachers College, old rivals of the Farmville Blue and White Battle Aces, will arrive here Saturday, February 8, for Farmville's first varsity game of the season in the gym at 8 o'clock.

In the memory of the present student body, Farmville has been undefeated by Radford. Last year, Farmville won with a score of 26-16 and the previous year by a still wider margin; 28-6.

Radford players will spend Saturday night in the dormitories as guests of the school.

A Pep Rally will be held Friday morning right after chapel in the auditorium at which time the varsity squad will be presented to the student body.

Fourteen girls make up the squad of which Rosa Courter is Captain. They are Jean Carr, Anne Ellett, Hallie Hillsman, Frances Parham, Anne Price, Corilda Chapmn, Hester Chattin, Dorothy Johnson, Martha Roberts, Rosa Courter, Patricia Gibson, Marjorie Gooden, Florence Lee, and Juanita Smith.

Swimmers Note

Tryouts are being held for varsity and class swimming teams. All girls interested are urged to come to practices which are held every afternoon and Tuesday and Thursday nights at 10 o'clock.

Two intercollegiate telegraphic meets are being planned for the near future as well as a trip to Fairfax hall in Waynesboro for the varsity squad.

The annual intramural meet will also be held with the class teams participating.

Varsity and Sub Varsity Squad

These girls comprise this year's varsity and sub varsity basketball teams, from left to right they are Florence Lee, Hallie Hillsman, Dorothy Johnson, Rosa Courter, Hester Chatten, Corilda Chaplin, Marjory Gooden; first row, Anne Ellett, Frances Parham, Pat Gibson, Juanita Smith, Anne Price, Martha Roberts, Jean Carr; second row, Dorothy Gaul, Mildred Droste, Patsy Conolly, Faye Nimmo, Virginia Hill, June Smith, Dorothy Sue Simmons, and Vivian Gwaltney; third row.

Four Selected To Be Orchesis Alternates

Harriette Walker, Eleanor Messick, Mary Sue Edmunds and Betty Sexton will be alternates for Orchesis, modern dance group Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, head of Orchesis announced that these alternates would officially become members if they showed interest and ability. Those meeting requirements will be initiated in the spring.

Varsity Cheer Leaders Announced

Allene Overbey, Mary Katherine Dodson; juniors, and Betty Sexton, a sophomore, were selected varsity cheer leaders by the Athletic Association Monday night, February 3.

They will lead the cheering at all the home varsity game. The first varsity game will be with Radford, Saturday night, February 8. They will lead the pep rally in chapel Friday, February 7.

College Celebrates President's Birthday With Hill-Billy Dance

President Roosevelt's birthday was celebrated a day late on our campus when the Sophomore Commission sponsored an old-time get-together and dance in the "Rec" Friday night. "Zeke's Zippers" furnished music for dancing. Participants dressed "hill-billy" style. The admission fee of one dime per person was our part in the March of Dimes; $12.70 was collected in all.

"Zeke Zippers" were under the direction of Mary Lou Shannon. Members of the band were Gay Ward Brown, Jane Engleby, Irma Graff, Harriet Scott, Nell Hurt, Caroline Eason, Polly Keller, Mary Katherine Dodson, May Turner Winn, Frances Rosebro, Anne Ayers, Polly Hughes, and Mary Jane Ritchie. They were accompanied at the piano by Ada Clare Syndor. Peggy Bellus entertained the guests with several songs.

BUTCHER'S
The convenient store for faculty and student body.
Good things to eat and drink

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

Meet Me At
Shannon's
For Better Foods and Drinks
Phone 224

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

$1.98—$2.98. New spring dresses, solid colors and pink $2.98—PASTEL SKIRTS—And Sweaters in plaid and solid colors $7.85. Spring coats $9.95 up.
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

NEW SHIPMENT CAROLE KING DRESSES $6.50—$10.97
MOJUD NON RUN HOSIERY $1.00 Pair
DOROTHY MAY STORE

ROSE'S 69c HOSE CLUB
FOR
Members Only
One Pair Full Fashioned 69c Hose — FREE when 10 Pairs of 69c Hose are purchased from our store.
ALL 69c HOSE GUARANTEED
ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

A & N STORE
Ladies' Jodphurs, tan and brown $2.95
Jodphur Boots $3.95
Riding Breeches, tan and brown $2.95
Jodphur Boots $3.75
Ladies Dress Boots $4.95

KLEANWELL
Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

500 New Spring Skirts, Sweaters and Blouses. The Newest in Style and Colors.
•
Visit Our Lovely New Second Floor
•
ALSO, A BEAUTIFUL LINE OF
NEW SPRING OXFORDS
IN NEW STYLES

DAVIDSON'S, Inc.

Midwinter Dances Highlight Activities of Prom Trotters

V. P. I. Attracts 67; W. & L. Also Beckoned Girls

The call to Lexington and Blacksburg left a vacant campus indeed at S. T. C. this week end. What with the population more than halved away at gay doings, 'twas most lonesome.

The goers to V. P. I. Mid-Winters included the Misses Ann Leigh Barham, Nancy Naff, Imogene Claytor, Lilwyn Bennett, Nell and Louise Hall, Helen McGuire, Nancy Allen, Anne Benton, Nancy Bondurant, Ann Boswell, Evelyn Bourne, Peggy Lou Bouette, Sydney Bradshaw, Faye Brandon, Betty Bridgeforth, Virginia Campfield, Sara Cline, Rosa Courter, Emma Lou Crowgey and Sara Currie.

Misses Freeda Decker, Barbara Drewry, Beatrice Dunton, Catherine Dunton, Julia Eason, Virginia Ellett, Dorothy Flowers, Ann Page Frances, Sarah M. Goode, Charlotte Greeley, Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, Betty Page Harper, Mary Harvie, Anne Holland, Inez Jones, Gene Kilmon, Martha Messick, Mary Ann Mottley, Faye Nimmo, Agnes Patterson, Estelle Paulette, Ella Pilkinton, Frances Latane, Nell Richard., Jean Scott, and Anne Stewart.

Misses Virginia Sydnor, Ann Turner, Dreama Ann Waid, Mary Frances Walker, Barbara White, Marjorie Whitlow, Betty Youngberg, Crews Borden, Ann Bradshaw, Mallory Davis, Ruth Guinn, Vivian Gwaltney, Nancy Pierpont, Carolyn Rouse, Margaret Thomas and Margaret Wright.

To W. & L. treked the Misses May Wertz, Jeanne Warwick, Gerry Ackiss, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Roberta Latture, and Martha Whelchel.

The usually beseiged and beloved Richmond took a slight step into the background this time. Visitors to said Richmond included the Misses Marjorie McAllister, Nona McGuire, Nellie Newsome, Martha Cottrell, Betty Fahr, Lillian German, Kathryn Kennedy, Ruth Kersey, Ernestine Meacham, Mary Martha Peery and many others.

Many of the girls went to Roanoke and Lynchburg and Betty Lou Jackson, Pearl Thompson, and Martha Smith even went to North Carolina.

Girls who attended the dances at V. P. I. tripped the light fantastic to the music of either Al Donahue who played for the Cotillion Club or to that of Bob Chester who provided the rhythm for the German Club.

Those who danced German enjoyed the sweet voice of Betty Bradley and that of Bill Darnell, young male vocalist. The Student Activities Building where the German Club held its dance was decorated in red, white, and black color scheme. Miss Virginia Campfield, of Farmville S. T. C. with J. Q. Peeples Jr. assisted in leading the figure.

Cotillion dancers were enchanted with Dee Keating, Al Donahue's new vocalist who sings in the Mildred Bailey style, and Phil Brito. The Cotillion Club decorated the gym with nine miles of crepe paper, thus breaking all previous records.

S. T. C. Girls Attend Symphony, Richmond

Thirty one Farmville girls attended the Philadelphia Symphony in Richmond, Tuesday, February 4. They dined at the Jefferson Hotel.

Girls present at the concert, which was held at the Mosque Theatre at 8:30 P. M. were Caralie Nelson, Nell Prichard, Anne Cocks, Josephine Starling, Blanche Steele, Helen Gray Mac Indoe, Katherine Harman, Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Keith Smith, Gladys Wilson, Betty Faith White, Virginia Barksdale, Betty Clemmons, Marie Brickett, Dorothy Marrow and Winifred Wright.

Mary Lilly Purdom, Dorothy Bellus, Peggy Bellus, Virginia Richards, Forrestine Whitaker, Elsie Stossil, Nultie Johns, Jean Moyer, Nancy Williamson, Nancy Dupuy, Lorraine Jansen, Louise Parcell, Harriette Haskins, Margetta Gerlaugh, Emma Hutchison, Katherine Jarratt, and Mary Stuart Walmsley. Misses Mary Clay and Winnie Hiner also attended.

The symphony, under the direction of Eugene Ormandy, consisted of five numbers, and three encores. The program included "Concerts for Orchestra, in D. Major", by Handel; Jean Sibelius, Symphony No. 1 in E. Minor, Op. 39". "Tone Pama: 'Don Juan,' Op. 30" by Richard Strauss; "Waldweben" ("Forest Murmurs") from Act II of "Siegfried" by Wagner, and Georges Enesco's "Roumanian Rhapsody in A. Major, Op. 11 No. 1. MacDowell's arrangement of "Legend of the Arkansas Traveler", "Wine, Women and Song" by Johann Strauss and the last Hungarian Rhapsody No. 21 were the encores.

Regional Meeting

Continued from Page 1

M. Grainger, head of English department and Mr. Samuel Holton of the Education department attended as representatives of the college faculty and Frances Keck, Anna Johnson and Esther Partridge were student representatives.

NOTICE

Juanita Smith has been added to the Varsity basketball squad.

"Gone with the Wind" Ranked Collegians' Favorite 1940 Movie

"Gone With the Wind" was easily ranked the collegians' No. 1 motion picture shown in 1940, a poll conducted by Student Opinion Surveys of America reveals.

Based on a scientifically-representative cross section of the U. S. College enrollment, the survey showed "G. W. T. W." the choice of 27 per cent. Only one other picture was the preference of even half that many. "Rebecca" was selected by 14 per cent.

Both men and women were fairly well agreed upon the No. 1 rank for "Gone With the Wind", men giving the picture 28 per cent and women 26 per cent. "Rebecca", though second choice of both sexes, was preferred by only 11 per cent of the men as compared to 17 per cent of the women. Men selected "The Grapes of Wrath" and "Knute Rockne" third and fourth, while women picked "All this and Heaven Too" and "The Grapes of Wrath" for the same positions.

Men alone brought "Waterloo Bridge" into their top ten. Women gave a place among their first ten "Long Voyage Home" and "The Letter."

The Film Daily, which conducts a poll of outstanding national critics, placed "Rebecca" and "The Grapes of Wrath" as first and second, not including "Gone With the Wind" in the tabulations. Pictures named by the critics among the "best" but that failed to get a high place with students were "Ninotchka," "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," and "Our Town."

The top ten pictures of the year, according to collegiate opinion, were:

"Gone With the Wind"; "Rebecca"; "Grapes of Wrath"; "All this and Heaven Too"; "Foreign Correspondent"; "Knute Rockne, All-American"; "Northwest Passage"; "Northwest Mounted Police"; "The Mortan Storm", and "Boom Town."

Chapel Regulations Effective February 6

The Chapel Committee has announced two new regulations regarding chapel attendance and behavior which will go into effect Thursday, February 6.

(1) Students must be at chapel within five minutes after the ringing of the chapel bell. At that time all doors to the auditorium will be closed. Late-comers will be admitted provided they present excuses from professors to the monitors who will be stationed at the doors.

(2) An unexcused absence will be given those knitting or reading letters, newspapers, or assignments.

Sophs Celebrate

After the closing of the gala Club 43, January 28, the sophomore class had a party in the "rec". Their menu consisted of the same type of food served at Club 43 earlier in the evening. The class presented the managers, Frances Parham and Jeanne Haymes, with spoon pins monogramed with "Club 43", as a token of their appreciation for the work they had done. Also Mallory Davis received a big caramel cake as the prize for selling the most tickets.

Reporter Scoops

Continued from Page 1

rinsing and sudsing that my head was in a whirl. No wonder, I thought, the clothes have to stay there a week.

Mrs. Nunn explained sweetly, "If the clothes tear in the process, we can't do a thing, because we never see them from the time they go in until they come out."

They have a mangle that irons the towels, pajamas and slips, but the women iron some slips, dresses, and blouses by hand with flat irons heated by gas.

To dry the clothes they are put in a machine called the extractor that moves at such a velocity that it throws the water out through tiny holes as it turns.

After this process, the clothes are sent upstairs, checked and put on shelves for the girls.

When Mrs. Nunn reached this point, the machine began to stop, steam blew warningly from a nearby valve. I took my cue and left, because it was quitting time.

A. K. G. Taps

Continued from Page 1

Lucy Turnbull's efforts have been directed toward Y. W. work. She was affiliated with the Frosh and Sophomore Commissions. Her Sophomore year she was councellor to the Freshman Commission, and is now Y. W. secretary. She is a member of Beorc Eh Thorn, Cotillion Club and Alpha Phi Sigma.

Mrs. Adele Hutchinson Watkins, former member of Alpha Kappa Gamma, and Miss Minnie V. Rice, an honorary member were present at the tapping ceremony.

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

When better—
Sandwiches
—Are Made
COLLEGE SHOPPE
Will Make Them

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management — Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

20% Reduction on all Helena Rubinstien Products
Week of March 1-8
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

See our February Special in
RYTEX STATIONERY
Martin, the Jeweler

VALENTINES
FOR ALL
Sweethearts
FROM
Six to Sixty
AT
NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store

Resolve to Economize
at
The Economy
Food Store
Fancy Fruits
Pickles—Cookies

J. A. BURKHART
Blacksmithing—Machine Shop—Welding
General Repairing
218-222 North Street
FARMVILLE VA.

HOP SAYS—
Brighten up the Midwinter Season
With freshly cleaned and pressed
Sweaters 25c
Skirts 25c
DeLuxe Cleaners
Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert
Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

STATE
"Your Community Center"
Wednesday-Thurs Feb. 5-6
PAT O'BRIEN — CONSTANCE BENNETT
"ESCAPE TO GLORY"
Friday-Saturday Feb. 7-8
FRED ASTAIRE — PAULETTE GODDARD
SECOND CHORUS
Next Mon.-Tues. Feb. 10-11
LOUIS HAYWARD — JOAN BENNETT
"SON OF MONTE CHRISTO"

DO YOU SMOKE THE CIGARETTE THAT Satisfies
Broadway's Newest Star CAROL BRUCE or LOUISIANA PURCHASE

Satisfy means Chesterfield to smokers like you and me
it's the milder better-tasting cigarette ...the smoker's cigarette

Chesterfield has so many things a smoker likes so well that it's just naturally called the smoker's cigarette. You always enjoy Chesterfield's COOLER, BETTER TASTE ...and they're really MILDER—not strong or harsh. Get yourself a pack of Chesterfields.
You can't buy a Better Cigarette
Copyright 1941, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Beat Hofstra

The Rotunda

Join the Crusade For British Aid

VOLUME XX — FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY,, FEBRUARY 12, 1941 — NO. 17

Students Observe Second Religious Emphasis Week

W. & L. Group Will Conduct Open Panel Discussion Feb. 13

Dr. Carlton H. Harrison, pastor of St. John's Church in Hampton, who spoke in chapel Tuesday, February 11, opened the program of Religious Emphasis Week, which is being sponsored this week by the Sophomore Commission.

The program in Student Day Chapel consisted of a talk by Liggie Ellett, president of the House Council, on the subject, "Religion in our Everyday Life". Liggie stressed the need for more emphasis on religion in our daily campus activities.

Editorial Comment—page 2

Tomorrow morning in chapel six Washington and Lee students will speak on the topic "The Christian Student and the World". In the afternoon, these students will conduct a panel discussion on the "Necessity For Religious Faith". Washington and Lee boys who are expected to lead the afternoon forum are Jim Standfield, Denny Wilcher, Ken Clendaniel, Truman Donoho, Haven Markin, and Jack Hare.

Thursday's program will be accompanied by songs by a quartet of boys, also from Lexington. Members of the quartet are Jack McCormick, Alec Walker, Jack Hare, and Bill Noll.

Dr. Crandall Speaks

Dr. Paul E. Crandall, pastor of Second Baptist Church in Richmond, is scheduled to speak Friday morning, February 14, on "The Greatest Story Ever Told." Saturday's program will climax the chapel observance of the week with a talk by Dr. E. A. Witherspoon, of Blacksburg.

Prayers this week are being led by commission members.

Carrying out the theme, "The Christian Religion In My Life", Betsy Jennings spoke Monday night on "Service As a Phase of My Christianity", and on Tuesday night, May Bartlett used "Fellowship With God" as her theme. "Fellowship With Others" will the subject of Amy Reid tonight, while Agnes Patterson will lead prayers Thursday night, employing "Church Loyalty As a Phase of My Christianity" for her theme. Miggie Mish will climax a week of prayers by giving a summary of the weekly topics entitled "The Abundant Life".

Members of the Commission will conduct Morning Watch Sunday, February 16, thus bringing Religious Emphasis Week to it formal close.

Religious Emphasis Week received recognition on our camwhen guest speakers included pus for the first time last year, Rabbi Sidney M. Lefkowitz, Dr. Beverley M. Boyd, Dr. Richard S. Ownes, and Father Edward L. Stephens. This year, the week of devotions was initiated Sunday, February 9, through courtesy of the local pastors who stressed it in their morning services. Ruth Palmer is general chairman of the program.

English Honor Group Studies Story Types

To further the study of the types of stories found in various magazines, Beorc Eh Thorn, English honor fraternity, held its second discussion along this line at the regular meeting last Thursday night.

The magazines considered were Cosmopolitan, Red Book, and American. Elizabeth Ann Parker presided at the program, and Flora Winn, Mary Marshall Prosise, and Virginia Howell gave brief descriptions of the types of stories and features published in these monthlies.

Miss Coulling Has Taught Here For Fifty-Four Years

By DOTTY ROLLINS

Miss Coulling busily selected and rejected pictures to illustrate her coming lecture on painting, and presently began to speak of her experience as Art Instructor at Farmville.

"This is my first school, you know. . .", she smiled. "In fact, President John A. Cunningham and I came here at the same time—in 1887. Just before that time I had left my home in Richmond to take my first college training at Peabody College in Nashville, Tennessee."

"When I first came to Farmville the faculty was composed of only eleven members to teach approximately 175 students." And, added Miss Coulling, "There were only two buildings then—can you imagine that? We're fortunate to have so many fine buildings now. Then we only had the Main building and a little training school in the back yard!"

"We faculty members had a great deal of work to do then. No one had just one job. We taught many subjects. My allotment has included history, Latin, bookkeeping, and others. Of course I was interested in art—drawing as it was called then and soon applied for it. During the early years at our college, the President taught all the education courses. Among my duties since my arrival here, has been that of the position of librarian, but I was interested in art and continued study at Teachers College, Columbia University for two years, and later became a Chicago student of Miss Wilhelmina Seegmilled, a Canadian instructor. Since then I have taken summer courses at Chicago and at Boothbay Harbor."

Here Miss Coulling paused and held up a picture for criticism. She admired the color used and remarked, "There is so much lovely color in modern art. . . so well-blended." Another picture she rejected at a glance because of the offensive use of red. The latter is not among her favorite colors.

Continuing, Miss Coulling remarked that she had watched the college grow under the administration of three able presidents—President John A. Cunningham, Dr. Fraser, and now Dr. Jarman and has watched her own department grow from a "drawing" class to its present large and effective size.

As we thanked Miss Coulling for answering our questions so graciously, she reminded us not to forget to "run up to Richmond" to attend the exhibit of modern art being held at the Museum of Fine Arts there. Smiling her farewell, she assured us that we'd enjoy the "lovely color . . ."

Founder's Day Plans Announced

To Include Lyceum, Game, Luncheon

M. B. Coyner, chairman of the Founder's Day committee, has announced the tentative program for Founder's Day, which will be Saturday, March 8.

A basketball game between the Alumnae and Varsity team will initiate the program Friday night, March 7 at 8 o'clock. Saturday morning the annual presentation of gifts by the campus organizations will take place in chapel. At this time Alumnae chapters will extend greetings to the college. As part of the student program Orchesis, modern dance group, will present a series of dance numbers assisted by the dance composition class, and members of the gym class.

The Alumnae luncheon at Longwood is scheduled for 1 o'clock. The freshman gym classes will give demonstration of folk dances in the gym at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. A reception for the Alumnae will be given by the Granddaughters Club at 4 o'clock in Student Building Lounge.

Saturday night the entertainment will consist of a program by the Siberian Singers. They have appeared before at S. T. C. on Lyceum programs.

The Founder's Day committee is composed of Miss Grace Moran, president of the Alumnae Association; Mr. Charlie French, senior classman; Miss Rachel Royal, junior classman; Miss Olive Tiller, sophomore classman; and Miss Emily Kauzlarich, freshman classman; Caralie Nelson, president of student body.

PLEDGES DUE

The February pledges for the World Student Service Fund are due. Money may be given to one of the following girls: Yates Carr, 94 Senior Building; Mary Jane Jolliffe, 94 Sr.; Thelma Courtney, 91 Sr.; Franes Hudgins, 80 Sr.; Florence Thierry, 67 C. H.; Dorothy Sprinkle, 67 C. H.; Mildred Bowen, 25 C. H.; Polly Hughes, 39 C. H.; Texie Belle Felts, 58 C. H.; Jane Saunders, 87 Main; Marie Stowers, 78 Main; Charlotte Gresham, 10 Richardson.

British Aid Group Rally Here Tomorrow; Will Discuss Cause

In the interests of British aid a public rally will be held in the State Teachers College auditorium tonight, February 12, when many speakers will describe the cause of "Bundles for Britain".

Among the speakers will be F. W. Hubbard, president of the local Lions Club; State Senator Robert K. Brock of Farmville and Hampton-Sydney, Dr. G. W. Jeffers of the State Teachers College faculty, president of the local Rotary Club, and the three pastors of the Farmville churches, the Revs. H. Lee Scott, A. H. Hollingsworth and E. S. Sheppe. Maurice Large of the Episcopal Church, which is without a rector at this time, will represent that

Continued on Page 3

Junior Sing Slated For Saturday Night

The Junior class will present "Midnight At The Opera" or "They Should Have Saved Coupons" Saturday night, February 15 in the large auditorium as their entry in the Sing contest.

The cast will include Virginia Barksdale, Mary Katherine Dodson, Peggy Bellus, Nancy Dupuy, Mildred Morris, Frances Rosboro and May Winn. There will also be music by Zeke Zippers and operatic music by the cast.

Jane McGinnis and Virginia Barksdale are the directors.

Virginian Completes Sales February 14

The 1941 Virginian staff is completing its subscription drive, which has been going on since the opening of school. Subscriptions have mounted to 420, and it is expected that the number will be 600 before Saturday.

The table in the hall will be open on Thursday and Friday from 8 in the morning until 6 o'clock. One dollar is required as a first payment, the rest to be paid when the book is received. The members of the staff will also canvas each hall on Thursday night.

Friday, February 14, will be the deadline for all subscriptions. Posters have been placed on each hall as reminders to the students of the deadline date.

Farmville Girls Leave Friday For Debate Tourney

First Debate Here This Season Is Thursday Night

Marie Allen, Thelma Courtney, Frances Keck, and Elizabeth Ann Parker will leave Friday, February 14, to go to Washington, D. C. and Shippensburg, Pennsylvania to attend the Annual Shippensburg Debate Tournament. On the way up, Thelma and Marie will debate American University in Washington, D. C., on the National Pi Kappa Delta question, Farmville upholding the negative.

At Shippensburg

At Shippensburg, they will participate in three rounds of debate on Saturday in the Oregon style. Frances and Elizabeth Ann will debate on the affirmative; while Marie and Thelma debate the negative, all using the Pi Kappa Delta question.

This is the first time Farmville has sent representatives to this tournament. They will be accompanied by Miss Mary Nichols, who will serve as a judge at Shippensburg.

Debate Thursday Night

Randolph-Macon Men's College will debate here Thursday night, February 13, at 8:00 p. m. in the small auditorium. Farmville will uphold the negative and Randolph - Macon, the affirmative. Marie Allen and Thelma Courtney will debate for Farmville.

This is the first debate on the campus that we have had this year. The subject will be the National Pi Kappa Delta question, "Resolved that the Nations of the Western Hemisphere Should Form a Permanent Union (Both Economic and Militiary.)"

Spring Suit For "Rec"?

Will Don New Garb Founder's Day

Attention, everybody! Remember the committee that was appointed to give the "rec" a new spring suit? Well, it's really working hard, and Nancy Dupuy, the chairman, has some top-ranking ideas. The grand opening is to be Founder's Day, March 8, so be on hand then for a great time. Over fifty dollars has already been contributed by various school organizations and Dr. Jarman is, as usual, lending a big helping hand, and giving us some card tables!

But listen, you haven't forgotten about the booth that is going to have everything you want along the food line, have you? Well you don't have to wait 'til March 8 for that because that booth is going to be opened this coming weekend, February 15, with Sarah Seward, Sue Marshall, and Ella Banks Weathers in charge. Come on down there from now on, to get your nourishment—er—refreshments!

Lucy Turnbull, Imogene Claytor, and Kitty King are handling the advertisements; Betsy Moore, Theresa Fletcher, and Leona Moomaw are doing a good job on decorations; Jerry Ackiss, Betty Sexton, and Ruth Woody are arranging for some good game equipment, (so prepare for a good time); and Virginia Barksdale, Sarah Chambers, and Jean Weller are really scouting around to find the very best in Radiovic combinations, good song books for those grand ole sings, and just about everything needed in the musical way.

Now, as you see, nothing has been forgotten. The "rec" is going to be a new person after March 5.

Pictured above is Mary Keith Bingham, general chairman for "Chile Nights". Freshman production which will be presented Tuesday night, February 18.

Propose Revisions For Constitution

New Committees Are Included

Marie Allen, chairman of the committee for revision of the Student Government Constitution, presented the constitution as it now stands with new additions and revisions at student body meeting on Wednesday night, Feb. 5 in the large auditorium. Other members of this committee were Martha Cottrell, Gene Hardy Kilmon, and Caralie Nelson.

Changes were made in the various articles.

Article III—Section 2

Every student is expected to attend every meeting of the student body called by the president of the association.

A business meeting will be held once a month—the time and place to be decided upon by the chairman of the Calendar Committee.

Article V—Section 3

A list of suggested candidates for each office shall be compiled by a committee composed of the President of the Student Government, President of the Y. W. C. A., President of the House Council, President of the A. A. Editor-in-chief of the Rotunda, Editor-in-chief of the Colonnade, Editor-in-chief of the Virginian, and one senior member recommended by the Student Council and accepted by the Student Body.

When any one of the above offices are not held by a senior, they shall not be a member of the nominating committee.

Article V—Section 3

The Vice-president, Secretary, Treasurer, Campus League chairman, and chairman of the dining room shall be nominated immediately following the major elections. At the same time the three other major organizations shall hold their nomination. The election shall be as soon as possible after the nominations are made.

Article V—Section 3

The candidates for election shall be elected from the ten highest receiving the highest number of nominations for the office. These names shall be post-

Continued on Page 3

S. T. C. Quiz Team To Meet H.-S. Mar. 4

The S. T. C. quiz team will meet in contest with the Hampden-Sydney team, recently victorious over the University of Richmond, March 4, in the large auditorium at 8 o'clock.

This week the girls to represent S. T. C. will be picked. Anyone can compete by taking an oral exam and a written one.

The program will be given for the benefit of the Southside Hospital of Farmville. Admission will be 10c for S. T. C. students, 15c stag or 25c for date for Hampden-Sydney, and 25c for outsiders.

Alpha Kappa Gamma, honorary leadership fraternity, is sponsoring the team.

"Chile Nights," Frosh Production, Slated For Tues.

Show Will Begin At 8 O'clock; Tickets Now on Sale for 20c

"Chile Nights", a comedy in three acts, will be presented by the freshman class as their first production on February 18 at 8 o'clock in the large auditorium.

The plot, including over a hundred members of the freshman class, will revolve around the experiences and travels of several American chorus girls in South America. There will be song and dance; there will be romance.

Puerto Ricans to Sing

To initiate the tropical atmosphere, Nora Beauchamp, Priscilla Barretta, and Sara Carbonell, three freshmen from Porto Rica, will sing several selections in their native language.

Fifteen chorus girls will dance and sing various Spanish and South American tempos including tangos, rhumbas, and congos. In way of song, Betty Gray Smithdeal will portray Carmen Miranda, South American singer, in "Down Argentine Way" and other current popular songs. The highlight of the entire evening will be a surprise which is to be revealed at that time.

Tickets priced at twenty cents, went on sale Monday February 10 and are now available from freshmen and at the table in the hall.

Mary Keith Bingham is general chairman and student director of the production.

The heads of the various committees working with Mary Keith Bingham, chairman, are ,music Caroline Bargamin; costumes Elizabeth Tennent; staging, Doris Taylor; lighting, Jane Hobson; business, Dorothy Gaul; publicity, Mary Evelyn Pearsall; properties, Mickey Lawrence; dancing, Gloria Pollard and Lulie Jones; makeup, Lauristan Hardin; and house, Doris Lowe.

Girls Will Celebrate Mardi Gras Fete With Dance February 25

The annual Mardi Gras Dance will take place on Tuesday night, February 25, at 8:30 o'clock in the gym. Pi Gamma Mu, local organization on this campus of the national social science fraternity, will sponsor the celebration. Music will be furnished by the Southern Serenaders from Petersburg.

A feature of the evening's entertainment will be the awarding of prizes following the grand march before the judges' stand. The prizes to be given are now on display in Farmville in the window of Martin's Jewelery Store. These include an award for the prettiest girl's costume, one for the most original costume, either boy's or girl's, and prizes for the best-looking couple.

Students are urged to buy their tickets as quickly as possible from any member of Pi Gamma Mu, since the number is limited to 650. No one will be allowed to attend the dance who is not costumed.

Alumna Gives Books To A. K. G. Society

Alpha Kappa Gamma has received approximately one hundred books from an alumna and honorary member of the society, Mrs. Andrews of Richmond. After being stamped by the fraternity with a special seal telling from whom they have been received, the books will be placed in the library for general use.

Mrs. Andrews was forced to dispose of her books because her home is being torn down. They include both fiction and non-fiction best sellers.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

1940 Member 1941
Associated Collegiate Press

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Anne Cock ..... Sports Editor
Nancy Naff ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Anna Johnson,, Shirley McCalley, Faye Nimmo, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Jane Sanford, Dorothy Sprinkle, Elizabeth Tennant, Sara Trigg, Ella Banks, Weathers, Marjorie Garrison.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mary Keith Bingham, Mary St.Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Helen DeLong, Anne Moore, Mary Lily Purdum.

Typists

Chief Typist ..... Frances Pritchett
Typists—Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Thelma Courtney.

This issue in charge of Sara Cline, Associate Editor.

WEDNESDAY FEBRUARY 12, 1941

Religious . . .?

Today there are many cynics alive in the world who, impressed by the survival and power of war, scoff at religion and particularly at Christianity with its law of love and doctrine of spiritual fellowship. As individuals and groups which in some way are committed to the ideal of Christian fellowship, we are interested in showing that this reaction is shallow and irresponsible.

This week we are observing Religious Emphasis Week, its purpose being to stimulate our thoughts and energies as to the vital meaning of "living in the new world now." During the crowded days of our college lives, we are inclined to accept God in a passive form. We live our daily lives seldom questioning what guides us in the course of our lives nor do we identify ourselves with the tragedy of the world.

Have you a God? What part does he play in your life? What is the need of our time? What does religion do for people? What about religion and the world crisis?

Indubitably each of us has been confronted with these questions to which no satisfactory solutions have been offered. Present on our campus this week are many prominent speakers who are interpreting these questions. Take time to attend their lectures.—S. F. C.

"No wise person takes exception to a common-sense program of preparedness. The danger confronting us just now is that those who are whooping it up for war in the alleged defense of democracy will accomplish the destruction of democracy. The best defense of democracy is in the realm of the moral and spiritual nature. Educational institutions and churches are now faced with a terrific responsibility. We must now keep alive the ideals of democracy."—Pres. Daniel L. Marsh of Boston university sounds a warning against pseudo-patriotism.

Gleanings

MARIE ALLEN

The lease lend bill as pushed by President Roosevelt has been adopted by the House and will now be referred to the Senate.

The House passage with a majority of around a hundred has clearly shown its approval of the bill which has greatly increased the power of the President. Now the House has sanctioned the policy to lease or lend any defense article to any country whose defense will be our defense. Clearly and openly this is a policy to aid England —to do everything we can to down Germany in her efforts to spread totalitarianism and to crush what we call democracy but what the Germans call capitalism. We cannot deny that with the passage of this bill (which sems inevitable) the fact that we are partially engaged in war will become more apparent to the masses of the people.

This column believes the bill to be the answer to the need of the moment. To the American people the defeat of Great Britain would be almost beyond apprehension —somehow we've built up the idea that they just always win. To sit by when they are in need and then, too when our own safebeing is imperiled, we'd never do. It is only natural and only to be expected that we'd get in this war . . . not necessarily by sending men but by aiding "The Democracies."

It really, however, does seem unusual for Congress to vote away its power to check the powers of the President. This bill, if passed, in its present form will give to the President the power to "lend or lease" any defense article he thinks a friendly country will need. His action does not have to be approved by Congress; he has no check on his action in this manner, and yet Congress was willing to give away this much of its power as a check on executive action.

Of course, this will make the powers of the President greater than they have ever been before in the history of this country. However, although his powers may seem dictatorial in nature, they have been granted in a democratic manner and really, at the present time with a streamlined war in progress there seems no other way except for the representatives of the people to give the President the power to act as he thinks just and wise—in the hope that his action will prove just and wise.

There is the hope that the bill will be quickly passed by the Senate. Mr. Willkie, one-time candidate for President will report to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee from first hand information. We can expect his views on the need to be slightly biased . . . for this would be only natural after receiving such wonderful hospitality from the English. Naturally, his advice will carry a good deal of weight with the committees and with the country as a whole, for although Mr. Willkie has received some criticism for his line-up with Mr. Roosevelt, he is still greatly respected by his fellow countrymen.

If and when this bill becomes a part of our laws, the confidence of the English will be greatly increased—even though it will take time to put it into execution. Our position will be further clarified to Germany, but we hope that further action will not be needed for the Allies. We hope that this will mark the end of the path we have been following into this war.

Looking 'Em Over

Good evening Mr. and Mrs. North America and all S. T. C. . . . . Flash! Let's go to press. . . We hear that the Pika parties at Hampden-Sydney were quite a success. . . . .what with all the old boys back . . . By the way, could that have been what brought Les Dillard?. . . . .cause Cottie wasn't around. . . .what's this about the Bridgeforth late-dating a Hampden-Sydney boy at "Tech". . . . . then his date for the Pika parties stays with her —watch that line Betty. . . Also Bargamin seems to be doing all right—for just as soon as "Bussie" left, Dick came running back to her—nice work. . . . Why be so secretive Miss Morris—we would like to meet that Theta Chi base ball player, too . . . Has anyone found Sara Currie's' banana popsicle? . . .We hear that she was mighty eager to find one at Tech . . . It has been said that even the greatest of us fall sooner or later—don't we Lucie Elien? We hear that the Keller is planning a trip to Athens, Ohio around the first of March—tell us more Polly. . . . We are all looking forward to this Friday when our candy, flowers, and Valentines will come—we hope some people get all they are expecting.

Things We've Noticed:

Roanoke's versatile Tom Martin Shannoning with Libby C.

Nancy Hutter's eagerness to stay overnight when the choir tours down to Duke this spring.

Mary Lou's frequent noonday calls from Henry. Incidentally, M. L. is having quite a time making up her mind these days. That Virginia weekend did something to her.

Scottie's excited anticipation of February 22. We seem to recall that V. M. I. has a holiday that day.

How confused Jean Moyer gets when her shoes disappear.

How deliciously delectable are those midnight baked potatoes! !

But how disturbing to one's slumbers are those midnight ghost story sessions! Blame it on Kit. It was her idea.

We hear that Frances Mallory spends all her time these day watching "Sweet Meats" drill. After all, Frances, he is the only one in step, isn't he?

Jackie H., how was the double feature at the Horse opera Saturday night? We heard that the "Bucking Broncho" made it a triple feature for you.

We were glad to see Liggie's Joe down Saturday. That's really love in bloom. Sweet Briar girls just don't even count.

Ruth P. still has that far away look in her eyes when Florida is mentioned. Have you heard, about the penthouse 'n everything?

We were glad to see Mickey back this weekend. She's a hog about those Pika's, isn't she?

How was W. & L. this weekend, Ebo? You did get there, didn't you?

Orchids to the basketball team! You really showed us what you can do.

It doesn't look like the phone on Annex is quite as private as we we had once hoped for, so Frieda Dekker found it at a certain hour Saturday night.

Tech surely was in full bloom at S. T. C. this weekend. For further information ask Rosa Courter. By the way, how is Linn's knee, Rosa?

We're getting used to seeing Virginia Hill's Freddie here, but not in what he arrived this weekend. That convertible was a neat job—and so is Freddie—eh Virginia?

Betty Clemmon's John paid his quarterly visit to Farmville this weekend. . . . even decided to leave on the 3 a. m. bus rather than the 9 p. m. . . . . and he had to travel as far as Florence, S. C., too.

Bobby Fulton certainly made an abrupt departure from church Sunday night. . . . couldn't have been that Katie was back in town? . . . which calls to memory that many of "ye olde faithfuls" severed for the weekend Pika parties. Was that why you went home Beezie? . . . . Incidentally we didn't, however, notice Mr. Dabney twoing it.

Incidentally, have you noticed that your editor hasn't the same opinion of Hampden-Sydney's wit as Hampden-Sydney has.

Question of the Week

Do you approve of the lease-lend bill which will allow the United States to establish naval bases at strategic points in islands owned by Great Britain in exchange for money to be sent to England during the war?

Gene Hardy Kilmon—I think that we'll get in the war sooner or later, and this might be a way of helping England and ourselves, too.

Dot Lawrence—I think that this is a pretty good precautionary step towards peace.

Louise Painter—I believe that if this bill goes into effect in the right way, it will keep the United States out of war for a while longer.

Louisa Sanford—I think that this act will lead toward chaos. We are getting too involved already.

Nan Duer—I certainly do approve of this act because I'm in favor of even fighting if necessary.

Frances Rosebro—I approve of this plan because I think that Great Britain will fall if we do not send her aid.

Rosa Courter—I'm in favor of helping Britain in money and armament, but not in men.

Irma Graff—I think we should send all the aid we can except men because if Britain falls, the U. S. doesn't have a chance to fight Germany by herself.

Louise McCorkle— Since we have so much coast line to protect, I believe that this plan is a wise move as it will give us wider area of protection. I also think that we should give England what aid we can.

Caroline Eason — I personally feel that we ought to help England, but then I think we ought to keep hands off.

Mary Anderson—If England agrees to accept money and not men in this plan, I believe that it will do no harm to give her the desired aid. I think if England falls, the U. S. hasn't a chance to survive the terrific economic pressure which Germany will surely put on us.

Platter Chatter

Oh! He's gone and done it again? You guessed it—Artie and his Gramercy 5. This new one is "Dr. Livingston, I presume?". Wait'll you hear the drum breaks —class it as one of those mean swing recordings that are just priceless. On the reverse of this rather jungle sounding affair is "When the Quail Come Back to San Quentin"—the title certainly sounds like a takeoff on Capatrano's Swallows but the record is great. I'll still say Artie Shaw has got the band even though he has some 33 odd musicians.

Now a turn to something to write home about—'member my mentioning Metronome All-Star Band in ye ole column of last week consisting of Shaw, Goodman, Dorsey and the like. You guessed it; they got together and have released a recording of those "oldies" "Bugle Call Rag" and "One O'clock Jump". Need I say more except you can't imagine what it's like 'til you hear them. Every musician is a band leader and a sensation alone much less altogether. Well, it's wonderful and I recommend it to you any old time. S'pecially to the jive lovers and to those who like to dance with "Mooch."

Now to Glenn—certainly do hope you heard his program on Thursday night 'cause he did rightly by his new arrangement of 'Anvil Chorus"—And wouldn't you know that he's gone and turned "Volga Boatmen" into a splendid release. His individual styling hits tops on this one and you can't resist that low sorta moany introduction—gets ya'—but definitely.

What Others Say

Dear Editor,

Since the beginning of this quarter, I am sure that all of us have been impressed with the late attendance and disorderly conduct during the chapel service. Dr. Jarman himself has even commented upon the fact that we have not been able to begin the services until ten minutes after the ringing of the bell. It has not been rare to see indifferent latecomers streaming down all aisles, as well as knitting, reading of assignments, and newspapers, and letters and talking which go on incessantly even during the reading of the Scripture.

In view of the existing conditions the chapel committee has laid down and will enforce certain regulations to remedy the situation. The monitors stationed at the two sides and the back doors will accept excuses given only by professors who have held their classes late. Of course, in such cases it is practically unavoidable to be late, but many times we are simply slow in getting to the auditorium. Chapel lasts but a short period during the day—a period which should be at least partly devoted to a few minutes of quite meditation and reverence. Let's not bring such things as knitting and letters with us at this time.

Let us each cooperate with the chapel committee and its new regulations.

A member of the Chapel Committee

Farmville Basketball Varsity Team Defeats Radford 33 to 10

• Sports Slants •

By FAYE NIMMO

Yeah, team! After a game like than one Saturday night we are all saying yeah team. From the first minute to the final whistle the old Farmville team was right in there upholding and raising the honor of our S. T. C. With a team like ours no one will want to miss a single game this season! If you missed this game then be sure to come down and get in on the next one. Come down early, however, because everyone enjoys seeing our Farmville team play and the gymnasium is sure to be crowded.

Speaking of luck, Pat Gibson really had her share of it, only it was tough luck. The ball just played all around the goal for her, then when she put her glasses on—Crash! They're gone. We're glad it wasn't serious! Although she did get a cut on her eye, the eye ball wasn't scratched and we're all so relieved!

When Dodson, Sexton and Irma Graff get out on the gym floor in their blue and white you just have to yell and our whole student body really did! Our best to all three of you, cheer leaders, you really put the old spirit into the crowd and the team was spurred right onto a smashing victory. When Allene gets out of the infirmary, the gym will really echo!

How 'bout the old "Zeke Zippers" though? Could any game be complete without those snazzy band members; the figures they form, the music they play,, and the color they lend to the "half"? It really seems that every person did her share during our first game of the season.

After seeing a varsity game, after hearing the cheers, and after seeing Rosa Courter as captain, aren't all of you interested? Come on down and get your practice in for the class teams. You may not be good enough for varsity, but your class needs you!

Glancing at the moving spectators as they were ready to leave, we found Dr. Jarman with his usual happy smile, chuckling to himself. He seemed mighty happy and admitted that he didn't "know much about basketball, but they were a fine group of girls and a grand game." Of course Mr. French was there and he looked plenty happy, too—"It's just swell! The girls really have pep and what a team they're goingt o have this year!" Well, that does sound good to our ears, and we hope so too, Mr. French. Oh! The captain, Rosa Courter. My what a gleam in her eye . . . I'm just as proud of the team as I can be, and am looking forward to beating the N. Y. team next week." Off she then hurried to her fellow players. Miss Kauzlaurich said she "enjoyed the game as a whole and especially the fast and accurate playing of teh guards."

Again we all say: Congratulations to the team, Miss Iler, and to our cheer leaders.

Last, but not least, congratulations to the Radford team! They put up a good fight and put the cream on top by proving themselves to be such good sports. Yep, we're all looking forward to having this team back, and I don't mean because of the fried chicke. !

By the way, nine members of the varsity squad will leave in the morning for New York. Thursday night they play a game in Baltimore; and Friday night, while we here will be celebrating St. Valentine's Day, these "battle aces" will vie with Hofstra College at Hemstead, New York. Congratulations, girls, and the best of luck to you.

In the meantime, don't forget the swimming pool, golf and riding—all that go together to make the sports of S. T. C.

Nine Basketeers To Make N. Y. Trip

Nine member of the varsity basketball team will leave tomorrow morning for New York to play Hofstra College at Hempstead Long Island. Miss Iler and the team will remain in Baltimore, Maryland. Thursday night where a game is scheduled. The team will return to Farmville on Monday.

Farmville and Hofstra met for the first time last year on the Calkins gymnasium floor in Hempstead, N. Y.

Students who will make the trip to New York are Jean Carr, Rosa Courter, Anne Ellett, Pat Gibson, Marjorie Gooden, Virginia Hill, Dot Johnson, Frances Parham, and Martha Roberts. Rosa Courter Dot Johnson, and Martha Roberts made the northern trip last year.

Thank You!

Thank you Miss Conway:
for getting up when "grown-ups" come in the room.
for acknowledging introductions.
for speaking pleasantly to everyone.
for saying something nice about a person or nothing at all.
for sincerity.
for a wonderful posture—no collegiate slouches, please!
for a spontaneous sense of humor.
for impeccable grooming.
for a wholesome laugh and not a "horsey" one.
for studying.
Tut, Tut, Miss Conway:
for making yourself so conspicuous.
for being easily influenced by other people's opinions.
for "beating out" rhythm whenever you hear music.
for talking too much in bull sessions.
for chewing gum in public.
for wearing too collegiate clothes on city streets.
for not doing something about that lanky mane of hair.
for your affected ways in front of the boys.

BUTCHER'S
The convenient store for faculty and student body.
Good things to eat and drink

CLASS GAMES

Class games will be started this month. Come down every Thursday to the gym and get your practices in. Only eight games are needed to make you eligible to support your class team and help you win the old color cup.

Come down and get those practices in.

Holton To Speak

Mr. S. M. Holton, professor of lucation, will address members of the junior and senior classes at Mount Vernon High School, Alexandria, Virginia, February 18, on the subject of guidance.

Mr. Holton, who was invited to speak at Alexandria, will represent Farmville State Teachers College.

Constitution

Continued from Page 1

ed immediately upon the approval of the Head of the Home and the President of the College. Any girl nominated for one minor office may be eligible for nomination to another one of less importance in another organization. Any girl elected for a major office may not run for a minor office.

Article V—Section 9

The Editors-in-chief and the Business Manager of the Rotunda, the Virginian, and the Colonnade will be selected two weeks prior to major elections, by a committee composed of the retiring editors, the faculty advisor of each publication, and one senior appointed by the Student Council and approved by the Student Council and approved by the Student Body.

Additions to Article VII — Standing Committees: Section 3: Lost and Found Committee.

(a) The chairman of the Lost and Found Committee shall be appointed by the President of the Student Body with the approval of the Head of the Home.

(b) The Committee shall be appointed by the chairman with the approval of the President of the Student Body and the Head of the Home.

(c) Duties of the Lost and Found Committee:

1. Post typed list of lost and found articles on Student Government bulletin board.

2. Be in charge of lost and found articles.

Section 4—Dating Committee

(a) The chairman of the Dating Committee shall be appointed by the President of the Student Body with the help of the Head of the Home.

(b) The committee shall be composed of five from each class except Senior class appointed by the chairman with the approval of the President of the Student Body and the Head of the Home.

(c) Duties of the dating committee:

1—To care for equipment in the Rec.

2—To be in supervision of the entertainment in the Rec.

3—To see that dates leave on time.

Dining Room Committee

Section 1—The Dining Room Committee shall be composed of the chairman and the hostesses of each table. The hostesses shall Home from the junior class.

Section 2—The Dining Room Committee shall meet once a month the time and place to be decided by the Chairman of the Calendar Committee.

Section 3—The Head Hostess shall sit at or near the head table and shall be responsible for closing and opening the doors of the dining room and accepting or rejecting excuses for leaving.

Section 4—Duties of the Dining Room Committee:

1. To investigate and help solve all problems that have arisen or shall arise concerning the dining room.

2. To create a more pleasant and mannerly atmosphere in the dining room with the cooperation of all students.

Highest Monthly Golf Scorer to Win Prize

All you golf loving fans . . . yes, we do mean you! Now's your chance to learn the correct way to handle a golf club and really learn something about the game. The A. A. has furnished golf clubs and balls for your benefit, and they are at your disposal at any time you wish to use them. Just drop by the golf course located in the locker room and join in the activity.

The old saying "practice makes perfect" might come true and if it does, well, you'll be just two new golf balls to the good! Each month two balls will be given to the highest scorer of the period in putting and chipping.

Agnes Patterson, assistant manager, is arranging a special instruction class to be held one day a week, so arrange your outside schedule to schedule golf!

Game Was First Of Season; Band Played At Half

S. T. C.'s varsity basketball team was victorious in the first game of the season played against Radford with the score of 33-10. The game was battled in the gym last Saturday night, February 8.

Cheering between the halves was led by Irma Goaff, Mary Katherine Dodson, and Betty Sexton, varsity cheer leaders. Zeke Zippers, dressed in navy blue and white, marched into the gym playing "Onward Farmville," after which they formed the figure "F". The singing of the Alma Mater climaxed the occasion. "Cheer Farmville Girls" ended the musical numbers and cheers again sounded for the team, which was ready to resume action.

In the second half of the game in an effort to even up the score a one hand shot was made by a Radford forward. S. T. C. guards prevented the goal. Radford scored several long shots bringing their score up point by point, but as the final whistle sounded the game ended with a score of 33-10 in favor of Farmville.

Courter G	Ficen G
Parham G	Eakin G
Johnson G	Ridenour G
Ellett F	Firebaugh F
Roberts F	Ely F
Gibson F	Thompson F

Subsitutions: Farmville: Hill, Chattin, Smith, Simmons, and Carr.

Radford: Wingo and Philpott.

Refree: Mary Debney and Dot Snedegar

Scorekeeper: H. Hillsman, and card timer F. Lee.

British Aid

Continued from Page 1

church.

Mrs. Edwin P. Lancaster has headed a campaign in Farmville for several weeks to collect wearing apparel of every description to be sent to Britain. Civic and fraternal organizations have responded generously. Some of the cleaning and pressing establishments have given service free to clean garments, and the local laundry has washed clothing free when it was necessary.

S. T. C. under the auspices of the athletic association is cooperating with the British aid movement. Old clothes have already been received, and wool has been distributed among students, who will knit for the British soldiers.

Orchesis Announces Recital for March 8

Orchesis and the modern dancing classes are active in the composition and practice of dances for their annual recital, March 8.

This year the performance will be given as a program for Founder's Day. It will be presented in the gym on Saturday morning.

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

HOP SAYS—
Win one of the prizes at Mardi Gras
With a crisp, clean costume
DeLuxe Cleaners

KLEANWELL Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

New Pastel Sweaters and Skirts $1.98-$2.98. Just right for school. Oxfords and saddle shoes $3.45. Special prices on new spring hose ..... 59c—69c—$1.00 a pair
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Black and White—Brown and White Loafers $3.94
Batiste Blouses ..... $1.00 & $1.97
Pastel Skirts & Sweaters ..... $1.97 & $2.97
DOROTHY MAY STORE

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

Visit Our Store Daily
FOR THE NEWEST IN Spring Merchandise
The Collegiate Store
DAVIDSON'S, Inc.
THE HOUSE OF QUALITY

Yourself and Others

Well, well, looks like S. T. C. girls just will be gadabouts—just 'aint nothing like it. Hope you all had a good time.

Looks like Charlottesville was popular from all the visitors. Those girls migrating thither were Rozelle Eckford, Anne Pulley, Katherine Vaughan, Janet English, Jacqueline Parsons, Sally Phillips and Lula Power.

South Hill was not neglected this weekend. Indeed not for Estelle Paulette, Ann Henry, Mary Copley, Lenore Bishop, Julia Hutchinson, Lucie Ellen Powell and Marie Thompson were right there.

Nancy Bondurant, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Mary Garrett, Anne Covington, Jamie Lee Elliotte, Catherine Gosney, Grace Wallace and Marian Worsham tripped to Danville. Have fun?

Now all these girls know a good place when they see one. Lexington's just about the best on the map, eh girls? Ann Berry, Sally Dunlap, Sue Dunlap, Helen Engleman, Ellen Ebel, Mary Moore McCorkle, Margaret Mish, Jeanne Sears and Peggy Stevens all agree, anyhow.

Seems like Norfolk, Hampton and Newport News caught a few S. T. C. travelers also, at least it welcomed Armell Booth, Lilly Beck Gray, Betty Robertson, Nell Richards and Marie Stowers.

To Hampton went Kathryn Lancaster, Catherine Phillips, Amy Read and Barbara Timberlake.

Josa Carlton, Jane Engleby, Stella Harman, Nancy Naff, Jean Shulkcum and Elizabeth Summerfield felt the mountains calling and answered it by visiting Roanoke, the "Magic City."

Margaret Bowling, Kitty Reid, Inez Jones, Virginia Campfield and Frances Powell joined the migration to Staunton.

Louise Andrews, Jocelyn Bishop, Helen McIllwaine, Elizabeth Townsend, Bess Windham, Helen Gilliam, Virginia Richards and Virginia Rose visited Petersburg.

Richmond always is most popular with us gals. Guess we know a good thing when we see it. What say Margaret Wright, Ada Claire Nuckols, Lucy Turnbull, Josephine Ware, Connie Arwook, Dorothy Jean Bozeman, Carroll Costello, Ethel Carr, Ruth Dugger, Eleanor Folk, Nancy Guy, Elizabeth Glasgow, Ellen Goode, Lynette Honeycutt, Mary Harvie, Jean Hatton, Winnie Harrell, Peggy Hughes, Dot Lawrence, Margaret Laurence, Helen Lewis, Shirley McCalley, Marjorie McAllister, Opal Nelson, Helen Ott, Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, Ellen Royall, Catherine Radspinner, Dawn Shanklen, Mary Lou Shannon, Nancy Wolfe, Harriette Walker, Norma Lee West, and Ann C. Williams.

But that's not all. Indeed not, for Rebecca Spirer, Emily Hoskins, Lucy Call, Jean Arrington, Katherine H. Price, Tol Dew, Muriel Pipper, Eleanor Messick, Mary Elizabeth Brinkley, Gay Ward Brown, Elizabeth Brown, Katie Boss Bell, Katherine Crafton, Mary Carson, Parline Clements, Alice Francisco, Imogene Hutter, Miriam Jester, Marie Kelly, Ora Mayo, Kathryn Pugh, Arlene Wright and Helen Watts enjoyed the hills of Lynchburg.

Mu Omega Supper

Mary Jane Jolliffe, Yates Carr, and Bert McLaughlin entertained the member and pledges of Mu Omega at a buffet supper Monday night, February 9, in the chapter room. Red and white decorations were employed in honor of the approaching Valentine's Day.

Presbyterian Party

Affiliate members of the Presbyterian Church were entertained Friday night, February 7, at a party in the basement of the church. Games, directed by Polly Keller, were enjoyed. Cocoa, cookies, and candy highlighted the evening. Yates Carr was chairman of the party.

Methodists Entertained

Mary Katherine Dodson was in charge of a supper given by the Methodist young people Sunday, February 9, at the church at 6 o'clock.

After the meal, at which Betsy Bullock and Marie Brickert served, a discussion was led by Dr. Sheppe on the topic "What To Do on Sunday."

The discussion proved of such interest that it was agreed to continue it next Sunday.

A. K. G. Dinner

Miss Grace Moran entertained the old members of Alpha Kappa Gamma at a dinner party at her home Monday night, February 10.

A. S. T.'s Entertained

Alpha Sigma Tau's pledges were guests of honor at a banquet in the tea room Tuesday night, Feb. 11, at 6 o'clock. A color scheme of red and white in accordance with the Valentine day theme was used.

Toasts were given by Faye Brandon, Frances Pritchett, Katie Rucker, and Charlotte Greely. Anne Turner was general chairman for the banquet.

Home Ec Party

Celebrating the advent of St. Valentine's Day, members of the Home Economics Club enjoyed a party in the "Rec" Tuesday night, February 11. Mary Katherine Dodson conducted the games and Nancy Goode Bland supervised the refreshments.

The main attraction of the evening was the display of the Porto Rican's needlework.

Sing Goers Enjoy Third Performance Of "G. W. T. W."

"G. W. T. W.", written by "Dotty Rollins" Mitchell, played its third return engagement here Saturday night, when the senior class presented its annual sing, first entry in the sing contest. The only difference was that the letters didn't represent the same things. . . it became "Gee Whiz. . Twice Widowed!" to quote the heroine's owns words.

Briefly, the situation was something like this. Widowed Crimson Sahara (Louise Painter), whose dashed hubby was sawed off by a measly germ, finds herself in Aunt Pattycake's (Chubby Heard) home on Persimmon Tree Street in Atlanta, with cousin Malady Herringbone (Frances Pritchett) in a dreadful "condition".

However, "Prissy" Crider, "Rhatt" Gibson and Trudy "Doctor-in-the-house" Hale took care of that nobly, and soon Crimson was able to make a dramatic retreat to Tara, ancient homestead of the Saharas. Here she digs a meager sustenance from the soil, and finally after her Pa's (Liz Garrett) untimely death from too strenuous exercise, she is forced to set forth for Atlanta again. . on "a-man-with-money" hunt.

Courageously, she visits "Rhatt" Butler who is in jail for some trifle, but he is much more interested in Aunt Patty, who comes to rescue her darling niece and, of course after the arrival of "Belle-Helen-Gray-Watt", nobody stood a chance. Whew! Crimson manages to marry a lumber company and its manager, "Frank-Seward-Kennedy", but the Ku Klux got him in the neck and there was our heroine . . Twice Widowed!

From then on, the desperate Crimson tries to hook a husband—anybody's husband. . . particular-

Study Conference Reviews Proposition

A Study Conference was held in the Lounge of the Student Building yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Among the proposition considered were the following:

Our study program should be so conducted as to secure effective results in the activities of the college, the high school, and the elementary school: a student should make an average of "C" on all of her college work before she is assigned to teaching; there should be more than five minutes allotted for changing classes; the first two years of college should be confined to general education, and specialization postponed until the junior year; teachers in one course should not make such heavy requirements that the student does not have time to do her work in other courses.

'y, Malady's Ashey Willkie (Yates Carr). But she can't even do it with the umbrella handle furnished by helpful property man Anna Johnson. . When she declares her love for "Rhatt", her only answer is the discouraging "Frankly Madame, I don't give a Dear!"

Woe is the heroine. . . she and Aunt Patty and the faithful Prissy go back to Tara, and then one day the hero returns . . . with the eager query. "Is supper ready?" The chorus takes care of that for Crimson, with "Think about that tomorrow". . . and they live scrapply ever after.

Jean Moyer was the music director of the skit and Frances Keck was narrator.

Question of Economic Unity of Western Nations Discussed

Thelma Courtney and Marie Allen debated February 4 at the quarterly open Pi Gamma Mu forum. The question for debate was resolved: That the nations of the west should form a permanent economic union.

Thelma, who upheld the affirmative side, said that "We should have such a union because it is necessary for the establishment of economic and military unit of this hemisphere since it is already a geographic unit with common problems and interests to be protected."

Thelma contended that the tendency toward such a unity has been evident for many years and has grown stronger as the years passed by. "The idea began with Simon Polivah in 1826 and has been in the minds of many leaders from that day on. The inevitability of such a union may be illustrated by the increase in trade with Latin American nations, the creation of the Export-Import Bank to improve trading relations, the amount of Latin American music we hear on our radios and the fact that an integrated system of kilocycles is being planned for the radios of our entire hemisphere so that we may dial the other American radio stations on our radios.

"In union there is strength and we would have this entire hemisphere strong and powerful," Thelma concluded.

Marie Allen, debating the negative issue of the question, declared that "if we have a union it must be voluntarily formed and the other nations have shown no inclination to subordinate their present position".

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

When better—
Sandwiches
—Are Made
COLLEGE SHOPPE
Will Make Them

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

20% Reduction on all Helena Rubinstien Products
Week of March 1-8
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

See our February Special in
RYTEX STATIONERY
Martin, the Jeweler

Visit Rose's for Valentines
Candies
Favors
Parties
ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

HUNGRY—VISIT
Shannon's
THE FOOD'S THE BEST
Phone 224 Good Service

Let us show our special evening hair-do's—with crystals
VANITY BEAUTY SHOP
Across Street from
5 and 10 Stores
PHONE 360

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert
Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

VALENTINES
FOR ALL
Sweethearts
FROM
Six to Sixty
AT
NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store

Resolve to Economize
at
The Economy
Food Store
Fancy Fruits
Pickles—Cookies

J. A. BURKHART
Blacksmithing—Machine Shop—Welding
General Repairing
218-222 North Street
FARMVILLE VA.

STATE
"Your Community Center"
Wednesday-Thurs. Feb. 12-13
VIRGINIA BRUCE JOHN HOWARD
"THE INVISIBLE WOMAN"
Firday-Saturday. Feb. 14-15
SABU—JUNE DEPREZ
"THE THIEF OF BAGDAD"
(In Technicolor)
Next Mon.-Tues. Feb. 17-18
PAUL MUNI GENE TIERNEY
"HUDSON'S BAY"
Sabu June Deprez

Smokers know...
Chesterfields Satisfy
WITH THEIR MILDER, BETTER TASTE

Do you know why Chesterfield gives you more pleasure? Because it's the smoker's cigarette . . . it has everything a smoker wants . . . Real Mildness and a Cooler, Better Taste.

Chesterfields are better-tasting and mild . . . not flat . . . not strong, because of their right combination of the world's best cigarette tobaccos. You can't buy a better cigarette.

Valentine Greetings from ELLEN DREW, starring in the current Paramount hit "THE MAD DOCTOR"...and from CHESTERFIELD, the Milder, Cooler, Better-Tasting cigarette

Do you smoke the cigarette that Satisfies
...it's the smoker's cigarette

Copyright 1941, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Are You a Campus Clutterer?
Are You a Campus Cutter?

The Rotunda

Buy Your Tickets To Mardi Gras Now

VOLUME XX | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 19, 1941 | NO. 18

Harvard, Duke Featured Here In April Concert

Field, H.-S. Tenor, To Participate Also

Duke and Harvard Glee Clubs and the Harvard Symphony orchestra will be featured at the annual Spring Concert given by the S. T. C. choir and choral groups Friday night, April 4 at 8 o'clock. The Harvard Symphony Orchestra will give a concert from 11:00 to 12:00 the morning of the fourth in the auditorium besides taking part in the program that night.

Ed Field, tenor soloist of Hampden-Sydney, will also have a part on the program.

Soloists, besides Field, will be Wilson Angel, well-known baritone from Richmond, University of Virginia graduate, who is at present teaching voice in Richmond; Miss Evelyn Barnes, contralto, of Durham, N. C., sister of the director of the Duke Glee Club; and Miss Dorothy Baker, from New York City, who is a soloist at St. Bartholomew's church in New York.

The Harvard and Duke glee clubs and parts of the S. T. C. chorus will join in singing parts of Handel's "Messiah", and the Harvard group will also put on some special numbers. Parts from the Messiah which they will sing will include "All We Like Sheep", "Behold the Lamb of God", the "Hallelujah Chorus", and "Worthy is the Lamb".

Ed Field will sing "Thy Rebuke Hath Broken His Heart", "Behold and See if There be Any Sorrow" "He Was Cut Off Out of the Land of the Living", "But Thou Did's: Not Leave His Soul in Hell", "He That Dwelleth in Heaven", and "Thou Shalt Break Them."

Wilson Angel will sing the bass solos in the second and third parts of the "Messiah".

Continued on Page 4

"Chile Nights" Given By Frosh

Under the direction of Mary Keith Bingham the Freshman Class initiated their first production, "Chile Nights", Tuesday night, February 18, at 8 o'clock in the large auditorium.

The curtains opened with two chorus girls enroute to South America to try their luck. The beautiful chorienes were Beth Johnson, Dixie White, Neil Quinn, Elsie Smith, Grace Ellerton, Louise Boatwright, Lulie Jones, Gloria Pollard, Eleanor Johnson, and Dreama Waid. Also on board were Louise Rice the perpetual souvenier collector Margaret Thomas, Becky Savage, the unruly child, Betsy Bullock, an old maid school teacher, the honeymoon couple, Jean Strick and Rosemary Eliam, and two young men, Evelyn Renfro and Ruth Hillsman.

After disembarking, real Latin American atmosphere was afforded by a song and dance number from our Porto Rican friends

Continued on Page 4

A. C. E. To Sponsor Miss Mae Kelley

Miss Mae Kelley, supervisor of Charlotte County Elementary schools, will be featured on the program of the Association of Childhood Education, tonight, February 19, at 7 o'clock.

She will speak on the subject, "Living and Learning in a Rural School". Miss Kelley has done outstanding work in both Bedford and Charlotte counties.

The business part of the meeting will consist of discussing the means of supporting English refugee children.

All interested in elementary work are invited. Faye Brandon, president of A. C. E. will preside and introduce the speaker.

'Cousin Tommy' Ill

Mr. William M. Atkinson, better known as "Cousin Tommy", S. T. C.'s day watchman, became ill on duty Monday, February 17 and was taken home. It is not known when "Cousin Tommy" will return. "Cousin Tommy" came to work at S. T. C. in 1912 as night watchman. He served in this position for 25 years. In 1937, "Cousin Tommy" gave over his night watch to our present watchman. Mr. Reed and took over his present day work.

Four Y. W. Delegates To Attend Area Meet

Jean Moyer, Frances Rosebro, Eleanor Folk, and Charlotte Gresham, Y. W. C. A. council members, accompanied by Miss Mary Finch, faculty advisor will attend the Virginia Y. W. C. A. Area Leadership meeting in Richmond, Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 22 and 23.

The Saturday meeting will be held at the Second Baptist Church while the Sunday sessions will be on the Virginia Union University campus.

Last year the Area Leadership meeting was sponsored jointly by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. councils. This year, due to limited budget and staff time, the Y. M. C. A. is unable to sponsor the Virginia meeting. Therefore this meeting will be attended by the Y. W. C. A. only.

S. T. C. Debates Rated Second In Annual Meet

Marie Allen, Thelma Courtney, Frances Keck and Elizabeth Anne Parker tied for second place in the yearly Shippensburg Debate Tournament held at Shippensburg College, Pennsylvania on February 15. Elizabeth and Frances debated the affirmative of the national Pi Kappa Delta question winning all three debates. They defeated Bucknell University, Kultztown College and Pennsylvania State College. Marie and Thelma, debating the negative, defeated Riner College and were defeated by Bucknell and Shippensburg College.

Twenty schools participated in the tournament with Penn State rating first, being only defeated by Farmville. The Oregon style of debate was used.

Miss Mary Nickols also went to Penn. as a judge and Anne Cock as a substitute debater.

Marie and Elizabeth Anne are Diamond Key debaters. All of the debaters have participated in several tournaments in the South, but this is their first Northern tournament. On the way up, Marie and Thelma debated American University at Washington, D. C. in a non-decision debate. Farmville debated the negative of the national Pi Kappa Delta question.

Campaign Ends With 565 Subscriptions

The Virginian campaign for subscriptions ended Friday with a total of 565 subscriptions. This is an increase of about 75 over last year's sales.

Now the staff will begin to concentrate on completion of copy and pictures, which will go to J P. Bell, printers, March 20. It is expected that the annual will come out April 1.

Gay Ward Brown will replace Madge McFall as photographic editor. Madge served all fall and was forced to resign at the beginning of this quarter.

A. K. G. Sponsors Battle of Brains

S. T. C. Will Vie With H.-S. College

Fifteen girls competed in the oral exam given Monday night, February 17, in an effort to decide the five girls who will make up the S. T. C. quiz team which will compete with the Hampden-Sydney team on March 4 in the large auditorium.

The highest five were Mary Jane Jelliffe Patsy Smith Pat Gibson, Jean Moyer, and Polly Hughes. However, these names are still tentative and a final round to be held some time this week will determine the members of the quiz team.

This program, which is being sponsored to aid the Southside Hospital fund, is under the auspices of Alpha Kappa Gamma, honorary leadership fraternity. The last 30 minutes of the program will be broadcast over station WRNL, Richmond.

Eight seniors, six juniors, and one freshman took the oral test. They were Rachel Abernathy, Anne Ayers, Virginia Barksdale, Yates Carr, Polly Hughes, Mary Jane Joliffe, Frances Keck, Warwick Mitchell, Jean Moyer, Margie Rice, Patsy Smith, and Martha Whelchel. The questions were compiled by Miss Moran, Mr. Coyner, Mr. Holton, Mr. Strick, and Mr. Swertfeger. The Hampden-Sydney contestants are Lex Allison, Bill Baker, James Cousar, Bill Dyer, and Keith Eubank.

Caralie Nelson, chairman of the contest, says that the questions are most interesting, so the program will really be worth - while and entertaining. There will be music included in the program.

Prices will be 10c for S. T. C. girls, 15c stag or 25c with date for Hampden-Sydney, and 25c for outsiders.

Musical Melodrama Was Junior Sing

"A Nightmare at the Opera"—or They Should Have Saved Coupons" afforded music, laughter, and fun for the student body Saturday night when the Junior class presented their annual sing program. This was the second entry in the sing contest.

Black gloom hovered over the household for the house was "mortgaged". Poor Mother (Peggy Hughes) wearily scrubbed the floors and bemoaned the fate of the family along with the father (Virginia Barksdale). Demonthenes Alternon, the son in college (Mildred Morris), and the lovely maiden, Suzy (Buff Gunter).

Then entered the villian, Blackheart (M. K. Dodson) demanding the rent or the hand of the fair Suzy. But alas, Trublu Harold, (Nancy Dupuy) came to offer assistance before the fatal hour arrived.

The dark hour—again came the villian to get his dough when in came Trublu with the lucre and the cast swung out on "It's a Hap, Hap, Happy Day".

The cast sang the entire production with vim and vigor (if not melody) and Zeke Zippers led by Professor Stowkowski Keller played the "Soldiers Chorus" and "Toreodor", and had, of course, to add the swing touch.

The villian shrank off the stage amid boos, but had to reenter to acknowledge the applause and watch Suzy received the lovely red (paper) rose bouquet.

Alumnae Donates 84 Books To Library

The S. T. C. browsing room and library have received the gift of 84 books in best modern fiction from Miss Lula O. Andrews of Richmond.

Miss Andrews has made several valuable contributions to our college last year which include 80 volumes and previous to that

Continued on Page 4

Elsye Berry Yates, of Suffolk, who will be Mardi Gras Queen

Origin of New Orleans Fete Dates Back to Louis Philippe

By SARA TRIGG

Come February 25,, there will be revelries galore and events stupendous at Farmville! For that's the day of Mardi Gras when the ole school turns back to the days of Louis Philippe in all its splendor and to Paris with its gayety and to her daughter city, New Orleans. The sons of the fashionable set in Louisiana traversed to their mother country, France, for their education. They always brought back with them part of its heritage—the brilliance and jollity of "gay Paree" as exemplified by Mardi Gras with its colorful festivities is disputed in words of Byron:

"For some say 'ere shrove Tuesday comes about
The people take their fill of recreation.
With fiddling, reads, feasting, fun
And masking—'

The celebrations were gotten off to a flying start with a colorful parade of giant and grotesque figures and were concluded with a grand mask and fancy dress ball. Mardi Gras was elaborated on as time went on. The carnival began to have scenes on floats and tableaux presented by secret societies such as the "Mistick Krewe."

After a spetacular parade through all the main streets in New Orleans, the society set of Louisiana attended a ball where the queen was crowned by the masked prophets. Preceding the ball the Krewe, still attired in outlandish garb, presented supernatural tableaux to the elite of Louisiana. Some of the more brilliant and beautiful exhibitions have been The Aeneid, Spenser's Fairerie Queen, and The Arabian Nights.

And so, in remembrance of the glorious days of "gay Paree" and jolly New Orleans" we, too, here at Farmville celebrate before the Lenten season.

History Fraternity Initiates Eleven

Eighteen students have accepted bids to Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary fraternity in history.

They are Nahrea Coleman, Hester Chastin, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Katherine Jarratt, Elizabeth Ann Parker, Agnes Pickeral, Mary Lily Purddom, Dorothy Robbins, Lucy Turnbull, Patricia Whitlock, and Evelyn Quillen.

Home Economics Staff Attends Convention

Misses Edna Bolick Katherine Tupper, Bessie Jeter, and Madge Coble of the S. T. C. home economics staff attended a convention of home economics and nutrition specialists in Roanoke last week, held at Hotel Roanoke.

This meeting was called by the defense group as a result of the test for draftees, which showed a large percentage of malnutrition among American boys. The group concluded that the situation must be remedied in the homes of the children of the nation.

The theme of the meeting was "Ways and Means of Developing a State Program of Nutrition."

One interesting feature of the program was the findings of a survey made over 12 counties in Virginia showing that on an average school children have more than enough meat, fish, poultry, and eggs, but that only in seven counties were there any children getting adequate vegetables.

Among the interesting speakers were Mary DeGarmo, Dr. Bryan of the Columbia University, institutional director chosen by the Navy to supervise the planning of the Navy's meals.

V. M. I. Commanders To Play for Pan Hels

The Pan-Hellenic Association on this campus will give its annual dance on Saturday, March 1 in the gym at 8:30 o'clock. Music will be furnished by the V. M. I. Commanders and dancing will last until 12 o'clock.

Intermission will be at 10:30 o'clock. At this time the various sororities will entertain their guests in the sorority chapter rooms.

The chairman of the committee in charge of tickets is Boone Stevenson, while Harriet Haskins is chairman of music and Elizabeth Ann Parker has charge of the decorations. Dorothy Lawrence, assisted by the Pan-Hellenic alternates, will be chairman of the floor committee.

Tickets for alumnae can be gotten at the door the night of the dance.

Elsye Berry Yates To Be Crowned Mardi Gras Queen

Court To Be Styled Sixteenth Century

Come as a gypsy, come as a pirate, come as a Spanish senorita, but above all be sure to come! Amid the gayety and the festivities you will see Elsye Berrye Yates, crowned the Mardi Gras queen by Raymond Yates, her escort. The members of her court and escorts to be presented are Nancy Pierpont, Walter Sprye; Louise Painter, Billy Spong; Nancy Wolfe, Thomas Graham; Betty Fahr, Joe Geyer; Mary Lou Shannon, Henry Scholtz; Cottie Radspinner, Jim Peden; May Wertz, Billy Trinkle; and Nancy Naff, Billy Austin.

Sixteenth century court styles have been selected for the costumes. The court's costumes will be in pastel colors and the queen's will be in gold and white.

The grand march will start off the ceremony, with the crowning of the queen next. After she has been crowned there will be a floor show presented in her honor. Jean Weller will sing, accompanied by "Bootsie" Messick. Frances Rosebro and Polly Hughes have a surprise in the way of a skit. Members of the dance composition class will then present several humorous dances.

Reviving the day of Louis Philippe, Farmville will celebrate the Mardi Gras festival Tuesday night, February 25 in the gymnasium. Elsye Berrye Yates, senior from Suffolk, will reign as queen of the fete.

After the grand march, the judges will announce the winners for the costumes. For the prettiest costume, a radio will be awarded; the most original will receive an Agfa charge to camera; and for the most attractive couple a clock will be given to the girl and a pen and pencil set will be the prize for the boy.

Randolph Macon Wins Debate Here

Marie Allen and Thelma Courtney debated representatives of Randolph-Macon College here on Thursday, Feb. 13. Randolph-Macon was represented by Jerry Honas and William Pickard who debated the affirmative of the National Pi Kappa Delta question, and won the debate.

Randolph-Macon in arguing for the formation of an union of the nations of the Western Hemisphere brought out the need for the union on the basis of a governmental necessity which is motivated by the present war. They also emphasized the economic, military, social and political benefits.

Farmville refuted these arguments by saying that the present war should not be the underlying cause of a permanent union that we could not economically combine, and advocated the status quo as best to meet present day needs.

Dr. Sheppe, Dr. DeMuth and Dr. Allan were the judges of the debate.

Art Classes To See Chrysler Exhibit

Approximately 50 girls will attend the exhibit of the art colection of Mr. Walter P. Chrysler, Jr., on Saturday, February 22 in Richmond. This collection, one of the largest, and best known collections of expressionist art in the United States, is hanging in the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, and is the first showing of this collection in its entirely. The girls who are expecting to attend are members of the art appreciation classes.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

1940 Member 1941
Associated Collegiate Press

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Anne Cock ..... Sports Editor
Nancy Naff ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Faye Nimmo, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Jane Sanford, Dorothy Sprinkle, Elizabeth Tennant, Sara Trigg, Ella Banks, Weathers, Marjorie Garrison.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mary Keith Bingham, Mary St.Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Helen DeLong, Anne Moore, Mary Lily Purdum.

Typists

Chief Typist ..... Frances Pritchett
Typists—Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Thelma Courtney.

This issue in charge of Margaret Wright, associate editor.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1941

Are You a Campus Clutterer?

Boxwood bushes, and other shrubs, flowers and trees have been planted around our school buildings to add to their beauty. Candy wrappers, empty cigarette packages and empty coca-cola bottles are unnecessary to the attractiveness of either the walks or grounds of our buildings. Not only are bottles unattractive but dangerous. Do we like "trash-lined walks" and a "scattered-paper" campus, or do we really stop to think that we are cluttering our campus with trash when we unwrap a Clark bar and drop the paper wherever we happen to be, at the time? Take as much pride in the appearance of your school as you do in yourself—because college is a part of you—and reflects your personality while you are here.

—M. W.

Are You a Campus Cutter?

We, as students, lead an active, scheduled life. We have to be certain places at certain times and often have to race from one end of the campus to the other end in order to be on time for our next class. Cutting across campus may save us a minute and a half, but is it worth that minute and a half to kill the grass?

It is our responsibility quite as much as the campus committee and we should recognize it as such. In an effort to make our school a more enjoyable spot we could help keep the campus dressed by not tramping across the grass.

This has reference to the library in particular. New grass was planted there this winter and if we continue to trudge over the ground instead of going by way of the sidewalk the new little sprigs of grass will be smothered under our footstetps.

Students can get things accomplished if they make up their minds to it. Let's put our foot down, not on the grass, but on walking across it.

—M. W.

Gleanings

BUNDLES FOR BRITAIN, INC.

Last week a prominent Senator visited a Southern College and commendtd the students of that institution for the fine work they are going for Bundles for Britain, and in turn for the heroic English civilians and soldiers. In his message to the students he said, "This is a crisis in which everyone can do something. Each can serve according to his or her ability, and I know of no finer expression of our determination to aid the people of Britain than the Bundles for Britain movement, which is carried on exclusively by the civilian population. These bundles come from the hearts of America—from a great democratic people to a great democratic people who are struggling for the common cause of independence, liberty, and freedom in the world."

The Senator, in his talk, was not expresing these sentiments to the students of one college, but to students of the many other colleges in the United States who are doing such fine work for the Bundles for Britain movement. In this crisis our college students afre giving of themselves admirably and today it is my purpose to tell you something of the work being done in some of these institutions of higher learning.

To date, there are thirty-six colleges that have formed Bundles for Britain branches, and many other groups of students who do not have organized groups on their campuses are co-operating with local city branches. Some of the colleges in the past that have formed branches are Harvard University, the University of Connecticut, Radcliffe College, Alfred University, and Syracuse University. In the South, Sweet Briar College, University of Florida, and Peabody College are doing their part. In the West, the Universities of Arizona and Wyoming, as well as the Brigham Young University, are very active. To relate the novel ways in which students in some of these colleges are collecting "bundles" and funds for the British cause, attests to the ingenuity of young America. At the University of South Carolina, two sororities staged a touch-football game that attracted 1,-100 spectators. All the money collected at the gate was given to Bundles for Britain. It is interesting to note in passing that in order to draw masculine fans, the programs contained telephone numbers alongside the names of the players.

Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, has 290 co-ed members on its Bundles for Britain knitting committee, while in New York State 18 sororities at Syracuse University formed a central committee to knit yarn woolens for the Royal Air Force.

There are innumerable other activities going on in our colleges, activities devoted to the humanitarian Bundles for Britain cause, but time restricts their enumeration. It is encouraging to know, however, that the principles of solid democracy have taken firm root in our soil . . . and that the branches springing from this giant oak are now comforting a distressed portion of weaker democracies in our world. For . . . like unfortunate trees brought to ruin by lightning strokes . . . so are these European democracies of today being brought low by the blitzkreig strokes of Nazi hate. Follow the example so glowingly set by our boys and girls! Join hands with them in helping forge a chain of friendship that will reach across the ocean.

Call or write the local branch of Bundles for Britain now! For England's need is today . . . not tomorrow! Remember that anything you may offer in casual spirit at the moment will help save a life tomorrow! Let your motto be—give that another may live! Urge your friend and neighbor to be a Bundles for Britain member at once!

Girls Air Views On Bands and Leaders; Variety Is Noted

Who is your favorite orchestra leader, and why?

Sarah Wade Owen: Artie Shaw and new orchestra. It plays typical American music. I like that mixture of classical and swing—for instance, his "Concerto for Clarinet".

Ann Ware: Benny Goodman, because he was the Adam of swing. His new band is better than ever before.

Ella Marsh Pilkinton: Will Bradley: he plays slow music well. His Scrub Me Mamas and Beat Me Daddys are tops—not to mention McKinney at the drums.

Martha Whelchel: Boston Symphony—plays familiar classics—and I just like to listen to it.

Rachel Ammen: I like Glenn Miller because he has Ray Eluebig. Wohoo!

Sally K. Dunlap: I like Tommy Dorsey, especially his Tr-r-mbone.

Nancy Dupuy: Guy Lombardo—cause it's sweet and slow.

Nancy Williamson: Glenn Gray—because of his smooth style and mostly because of his smooth singer, Kenny Sargeant.

Patsy Fletcher: T. Dorsey, because he plays "Stardust" better than anyone else.

Jane McGinnis: Will Bradley: he has a wonderful piano, and his arrangements are good—I like his interpretations of swing, not too fast, but with a sweet rhythm.

Polly Hughes: New York Symphony!

Dodson: Zeke Zippers!

"Boots" Feagans: Glenn Miller, I like his technique.

Mary Lou Shannon: I'm partial to Jimmy Dorsey 'cause his name is Jimmy, I reckon.

Kitty Powell: Glenn Miller—he plays everything from real smooth to hot swing.

Virginia Barksdale: I don't have any because I don't like any of them.

Mary Jane Ritchie: Tommy Dorsey 'cause he stays on top. Others come and fade, but T. Dorsey is still up there in the first ranks.

Kit Zehmer: T. Dorsey definitely! I think Frank Senatra's voice and Tommy's trombone are hard to beat and the Pied Pipers are there fighting 'em.

Lulie Jones: I enjoy Glenn Miller's sweet, smooth, soft and purty rhythms.

Bumpsie Minnick: Kay Kyser is my choice. He has so much personality and his band members are so attractive. (Editor's note: She has met them all).

Platter Chatter

By JEANNE SEARS

Another week, another record review and another new band. This time Victor introduces Joe Reichman, "the Pagliacci of the piano", who bows in with a new ballad "I Could Write a Book", featuring the maestro's superdeluxe pianistics. Mr. Reichman's swank-hotel music is better known on the coast than it is in the East but he's handling that difficulty himself with smoth orchestrations, an outfit of excellent musicians and a double handful of piano talent. Vocalist Marion Shaw is certainly no drawback either.

Papa Ellington records son Mercer's first popular ballad, "The Girl in My Dreams Tries to Like You," and gives it a brilliant sendoff with Ellington chords, easy solo by Herb Jeffries and his inimitable styling.

Then to our fine, rare Charlie Barnet with a display of a couple of new ones, this time coupling "Good For Nothin' Joe" and "Charleston Alley". The first of these introduces his new singer Lena Horne, who carries the torch with the best of 'em.

Between "milk punch", frat houses, boxing matches, and parties, Virginia, better known as "dear ole U. Va.," came forward with none other than Will "Beat Me Daddy" Bradley. My 'twas simply colorful no end—specially his superb concert Saturday afternoon and that arrangement of "Strange Cargo". And too, Ray McKinley is simply priceless—ah, yes.

Looking 'Em Over

Although your common-taters were frowned upon most sternly last week for being so officious, we're back again—tho wearing downcast countenances (Ha! Th better to see the dirt, my chillens).

Your reporters first offer apologies to you for the failure to flash to you last week the hottest all time "love does not always conquer" story. But 'tis never to too late, we think so here goes. Pleading desperately for thirty-five minutes, Bill, of the University of Virginia, was rejected by Miss Coberley. No, siree! Beg he might, but A. M. just wouldn't be moved, but rather preferred to spend the weekend here than prancing at the Virginia.

It is reported from Blacksburg that one Farmville miss crashed the dance there last week—without a date. What happened to the wire, P. L.? And where was he?

We mustn't neglect to mention Betty H. and her persistent lover from Roanoke. . . . nor Hester Chattin and her shadow this weekend.

Congratulations to Mary Harvie! ! She received her first silver tonight (and from a young man in Blacksburg). In event any admirers are lurking around, the pattern is "Dixie"—featured exclusively by Southern Dairies.

Elsye "Ima Queen" Yates will weekend at Harvard - - - - Kay Spencer contemplating Easters at V. M. I. - - - as is Charlotte Phillips midwintering it there this weekend.

For the "Hero-of-the-week", we nominate the indispensable man about town "yehudi". He seems to take all the blame when something goes wrong, so why not give him the best of things for once.

'Tis rumored that Nimmo's valentine was the rarest received by any Techman . . . . We also hear that Luella Hall really appreciated the large valentine she was recipeint of! (Ed. note: 'Twas a giant affair).

Not that we're interested, but why didn't you go to the dances at State Sexton? We know you arrived in Raleigh? . . . And Evelyn Lupton you haven't accounted for your weekend?

Some young women apparently understand the text "Love one another", to mean "Love one and then another". What say Campy?

What we'd like to know is what the Portsmouth girls who collect fraternity pins and try to keep two boys in the same college do when both young men arrive the same night and demand whereabouts of the little pins. Could it be that Elizabeth Anne "I'll Snake You" Parker and "Mow" West might tell us?

One would think that the Carper child has three tables in the dining room. She eats the main course at one, then progresses to number two, and then minces at the third. My, My, maybe nobody loves her!

Elizabeth "I love him" McRay will sing a new tune now that Oscar has gone to serve his country... we'll miss "Sugar" Young too.

Some Freshmen aren't satisfied with snaking, one boy. What happened, Drema, couldn't you dance and watch the boys at the same time?

For what it may be worth: we read in an exchange that fortunate wooers owed their success to "woobarb" in their daily diet.

After flitting from flower to flower Buck has finally decided on Betty "I'm a Killer" Fahr"... . speaking of Kappa Sigs, have you noticed Mary Sue's' lovely pin. Incidentally, Mary Sue, why didn't you wear it for several days?

Bushels of orchids to our basketeers. They really showed us their ability. . . . sidelights of the trip also lighted more than ability. Nuff said.

Lib Warner's name just will creep into this column.... seems she's added another . . . . conquest reminds us of that huge rock Betty Ballard's sporting.

Things We Would Like To Know: What happened to Jeanne Sears at Virginia?. . . . Where Nancy B's "Spread" is these days?. . . if Virginia Barksdale is in love? . . . why Beezy can't make up her mind (or if she prefers the present situation)? . . . Why Dot Menefee is so indifferent to men?

"What a woman" Nelson confessed that the "Isle of Man" was definitely a good place to quiz Farmville girls as to its whereabouts. Incidentally, all girls competiting for "I'm a Smart Girl" title were eager to answer this 'un.

That Fraughnaugh Child really has ideas on marriage. She's hoping that she and Jimmy will make the solemn vows early in the summer.

Nineteen years mean something besides time, what say Norma Lee? For you who do not know, they are symbolic of roses to the said young miss.

Emily Owen isn't journeying home this week end for a visit. No siree! Strictly business, for the young man from Georgia will be present and she's hoping to "rekindle the olde "flame".

It was in the dark ages, say about 11:05 Monday night, and there stood Wahab, candle high above head with little Juniors standing round singing God Bless America. Such patriotism!

Dupy, the Belle of suite 39 C. H. is escorting none other than Tedo (Man I could knock you down) Savage to Mardi Gras. He's all a flutter and promises to appear in a white satin blouse. Line Forms on the left, girls.

This has nothing to do with S. T. C.—but we got specific information from an authoritative source that Hampden-Sydney's mad chinaman, Lex Allison, has an I. Q. of around 20 points lower than his girl Toni.

• Sports Slants •

By ANNE COCK

"Farmville we hail you
For you we sing."

And hats off to the team for the wonderful showing in New York. They went up there to win and win they did, not by a trifling few points but by a wide margin. Let's give a hand to Jean, Rosa, Anne, Pat, Marjorie, Virginia, Dot, Frances, and Marty—a winning combination.

Mixing business with pleasure, we find the 'Nawthun' trip quite successful from a standpoint of seeing the sights. Traveling by bus to Baltimore gave ample time for viewing the countryside—just as a beginning to better things. Supper in town, the game, a good night's rest, and on to New York, thence to Long Island, the second victory, and the return trip to New York, all served as forerunners of things to come.

The highlights of the "life in the big city" began with an invasion of the 5th Avenue shops. Snazzy! And imagine —a visit to the Music Hall at Radio City. To say nothing of listening in, in person, on the Pet Milk Hour, Song of My Life, and the Lucky Strike Hour. What could be more entertaining? Well, might be the movie "Virginia" at the Paramount. How's that for patriotism to the home state? Or could the words, "featuring Glenn Miller in person on the stage" have added an extra attraction to the set up. Possibly!

Sounds all right doesn't it. "Fascinating", I believe, was the word they had for everything, including Sunday morning services at the Little Church Around the Corner, and the ferry boat trip around Staten Island to see the Statue of Liberty. Climaxing this series of glorious events was the subway ride back to Long Island to a tea given in their honor by Pat Gibson's mother and sister. And all too soon they boarded the "sleeper" for home, tired but happy.

Things going on "right around home" seem rather mild in comparison, but somehow reality is more compelling than memories and the fact that class games begin tonight cannot be overlooked. The Freshmen will take on the Sophomores, renewing the immortal fight for the traditional color cup. We refuse to make any predictions, being impartial observers—so—may the best team win."

Thursday night the Juniors meet the Seniors, and as two year rivals the game ought to be an exciting one, if not a fast one. Now's your chance to see keen competition and clean fun, so why not make it a point to be there and support your color as well as your class. They're great fun, these games.

Ah ha! Me thinks there's a gleam in your eye and a cheer on your lips. For, yes sir-ree, that olde Ping Pong tournament is about to begin. Friday is the day to sign up for it and by the first of the week it should be in full swing. Dust off your rackets, and hunt up those balls, 'cause this tourney counts on the cup just as much as anything else. With all the tables available this year, we ought not to have any trouble getting in some good practices for a fast moving race.

Splash! splash, splash! Sounds of the swimming pool as preparations get underway for the meet with Fairfax Hall. A delightful diversion is it not, after struggling over chemistry equations or English themes? Do you swim? Then "crawl" on down and lend an arm or a leg to the swimming team for a few days.

Want to win a golf ball, you golf fans? The A. A.'s just giving them away to the best golfers. All you have to do is to keep track of your scores (and of course, see that they're good ones) and turn them in to the chairman of this event (Agnes Patterson). To the highest scorer in putting and to the highest scorer in chipping will go a ball apiece. Tiz an easy way to win.

Spring, like prosperity, is just around the corner, and we are all looking forward to the out of door sports, but never let it be said that folks around here hibernate during the winter. The athletes get their chance regardless of the weather.

S. T. C. Victorious Over Northern Teams

Pictured above are the members of the varsity and subvarsity basketball teams, who will clash with Upsula Saturday night. They are, from left to right, Florence Lee, Hallie Hillsman, Dorothy Johnson, Rosa Courter, Hester Chatten, Corilda Chaplin, Marjorie Gooden; first row, Anne Ellett, Frances Parham, Pat Gibson, Juanita Smith, Anne Price, Martha Roberts, Jean Carr; second row, Dorothy Gaul, Mildred Droste, Patsy Connelly, Faye Nimmo, Virginia Hill, June Smith, Dorothy Sue Simmons, and Vivian Gwaltney; third row.

Catonsville And Hofstra Defeated

Nine Girls Make Basketball Trip With Iler, Coach

Farmville S. T. C. cagers returned home triumphant Monday morning, February 17, victorious over teams from Baltimore, Maryland, and Long Island, New York.

The local sextet defeated the Catonsville alumnae 47-16 at Catonsville High School in Baltimore on Thursday night, February 13, and Hofstra College 38-11 in Hempstead, Long Island, Friday night, February 14.

Girls making the trip in addition to Miss Olive T. Iler, coach, were Jean Carr, Rosa Courter (Captain), Anne Elett, Pat Gibson, Marjorie Gooden, Virginia Hill, Dot Johnson, Frances Parham and Marty Roberts. The team has won three straight victories this season.

Saturday, February 22, Farmville will meet Upsala from East Orange, N. J. on the basketball court here. The following week they will play William and Mary College in Williamsburg. Friday, March 7, is the date for the Alumnae-Varsity game and March 14 Farmville will clash with Harrisonburg there.

The line-up of the Catonsville game was:

Pos.	Catonsville	Farmville
F	Pat Gibson	Florence Limpert
F	Marty Roberts	Nine Lee
F	Anne Ellett	Evelyn Anderson
G	Rosa Courter	Marion Line
G	Dot Johnson	D. Hughes
G	F. Parham	Muriel Maisel

Substitutes for Farmville were Virginia Hill and Jean Carr, forwards were Pat Gibson and Marjorie Gooden, guards.

In the Hofstra game Farmville starting line-up and substitutes were the same. H. Rosweiler, Eve Horn, and C. Chaefer played forwards, while R. Wulfing, J. Ferryman, and M. Petre, were guards. Hofstra was undefeated for the three years previous to this year.

Class Games Will Be This Week

The class basketball games began last night in the gym at 8 o'clock when the freshmen battled the sophomores.

These games are held annually and the winning teams will receive points toward the color cup. Teh junior and senior game has been slated tentatively for Thursday night, February 20. The two winning teams will be determined from these matches and will contend at a later date.

Members of the freshman squad are Dorothy Gaul, Mildred Droste, Patsy Conelly, Faye Nimmo, Virginia Hill, June Smith, Dorothy Sue Simmons, and Vivian Gwaltney.

Sophomore basketeers are Frances Parham, Jean Carr, Anne Elett, Anne Ware, Hallie Hillsman, Ellen Ebel, and Petey Barnett.

The junior team has not yet been chosen. Those who are contending for the team are Gerry Ackiss, Betsy Austin, Anne Bradshaw, Gay Ward Brown, Kitty Burge, Lilwyn Bennett, Hester Chattin, Esther Coleman, Emma Louise Crowgey, Nancy Dupuy, Jane Engleby, Irma Graff, Jean Hall, Polly Keller, Estelle Paulette, Lucy Ellen Powell, Katie Rucker, Dot Sprinkle, Lucy Turnbull, Lillian Turner, Harriette Walker, Mary Owens West, Martha Roberts, Corilda Chaplin, Dorothy Johnson, Mary Lilly Purdom, Carolyn Harvey, Elizabeth Barlow, and Elizabeth Gunter.

Pat Gibson, Florence Lee, Anne Cock, Marjorie Gooden, Juanita Smith, and Rosa Courter will be the seniors.

Dance Tryouts To Be Held In Gym Tonight

Try outs for dancing in May Day will be held tonight at 9 o'clock in the gym. 50 more people are needed to work with Orchesis, modern dance group, for the pageant.

To try out for this group it is not necessary to have taken Dance Fundamentals.

Ping Pong

Girls wishing to enter the Ping Pong tournament may sign up on the A. A. bulletin board, Friday, February 21.

The date of the tournament has not yet been set. Frances Parham, sophomore, is manager of ping pong. The tournament counts in points toward the color cup. In addition to the ping pong tables in the rec, two new tables have been placed in the rec in senior building.

Farmville To Compete With Fairfax Hall

Farmville's swimming team will compete with Fairfax Hall in a meet to be held here Friday afternoon, February 28 at 4:00 o'clock.

Peggy Hughes, manager of swimming urges the girls who wish to contest to get in their practices. The pool is open every afternoon and Tuesday and Thursday nights at 10 o'clock.

Two intercollegiate telegraphic meets are being planned for the near future. The annual intramuralmeet will also be held with the class teams participating.

Mr. French Confesses Why He is Called "Charlie Hop"

By Ella Banks Weathers

Everyone knows Mr. French, the cheerful chemistry prof who is always willing to do anything for us. But few of us, perhaps, know just why we address him as "Charlie Hop", for if you look in the Virginian you will find that he is listed there as Raymond Holliday French.

Consumed with curiosity, yet a little fearful at my own nerve, I decided to just up and ask Mr. French about his famous appellation, and this is what I found out.

During his Tech years, Mr. French majored in chemistry (of all things). Every summer the head of the department found jobs for his boys, and one summer the work that Mr. French obtained was in a dye plant, yellow dye being his speciality. It seems that the yellow dye had a most disconcerning way of getting all over Mr. French, giving his skin a most oriental look. One day "Charlie's" roommate, "a crazy guy" as Mr. French called him, was walking down the street when he saw, as he supposed, his friend, our teacher. Naturally he started talking to him as they walked together down the street. Imagine his surprise when "Mr. French" wouldn't talk—how unusual! The roommate was surprised, but he didn't let it worry him. After a few minutes of walking and refusing to talk, his companion turned into a shop. Wonder where the heck he thinks he's going? The roommate looked for this information at the window of the shop, only to see painted there in drab letters the simple inscription: "Charlie Hop." So his friend was a Chinese laundryman, not the Frenchman.

"Yes, sir", said our "Charlie Hop" "that thing spread like wildfire. Every where my roommate went, he told that story. At V. P. I., in Kingsport, where we were working—everywhere! And to this day everyone calls me "Charlie Hop". It sounds crazy, but It's the Gospel truth!"

"Nicknames are really interesting", I ventured.

"They are that", he laughed, "and I have another one. At my home, I am always known as "Peck", 'cause I was so mean! Whenever anything wrong happened on all Northern Neck, they would all say, 'that Peck boy did it!' I was the meanest kid!"

Thank you, "Charlie Hop" (Peck), for an interesting story told good naturedly.

JUST AS BAD

Barber: "What's the matter? Ain't the razor takin' holt?"

Victim: "Yeah, it's taking holt all right, but it ain't letting go again."

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.

Visit us for the

BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

BUTCHER'S

The convenient store for faculty and student body.

Good things to eat and drink

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

PURE DRUGS MEDICINES

Perfumes—Toilet Articles

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Quality—Price—Service

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop

"From old to new with any shoes"

Only First Class Material Used

All Work Guaranteed

KLEANWELL Cleaners & Tailors

Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling

Main St. Opposite P. O.

Phone 98

Under the management of

"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

New White Skirts and Sweater for Founedrs Day $1.98—$2.98 White Princess Slips, special at $1.00; and lovely batiste blouses at $1.00 and $1.98 at the

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Loafers, saddle tan, brown and white, black and white $3.98 up. Navy trimmed in white, pastel shades ..... $7.97 up

DOROTHY MAY STORE

Planters Bank & Trust Company

Farmville, Virginia

Member: Federal Reserve System

Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

WILLIS, the Florist

Flowers for All Occasions

PHONES 181—273

ATTEND THE

FASHION SHOW

"BIG AUDITORIUM"

FRIDAY NIGHT—FEB. 21ST

Sponsored by Farmville Merchants and P. T. A.

DAVIDSON'S

The House of Quality

Yourself and Others

To the week-end trotters last week-end wasn't a let-down compared with the one before, by any means. No siree! Richmond was right back up there in top ranks holding its own with the S. T. C. gadabouts.

Those off to Richmond were Eleanor Boothe, Elizabeth Anne Barnes, Sara Chambers, Martha Cottrell, Mary Ellen Dawson, Caroline Eason, Virginia O'Ferrel, Betty Fahr, Helen Gilliam, Carolyn Harvey, Louise Hall, Constance Loftin, Edith Nunnally, Helen Ott, Frances Owen, Mary Evelyn Pearsall Christine Pittard, Frances Pritchett, Ella Marsh Pilkinton, Margie Rice, Nancy Sale, Jeffe Rowe, Anne Stewart, Keith Smith, Margaret Thomas, Ruby Trice, Grey Walden, Jean Upshur and Ruth Winstead.

To Charlottesville and to the University of Virginia went May Bartlett, Harriet Cantrell, Yates Carr, Rozelle Eckford, Janet English, Roberta Grigg, Dorothy Hahn, Jean Hatton, Sally Hutchinson, Helen Lewis, Evelyn Lupton, Elizabeth McCoy, Nancy Pierpont, Boonie Stevenson, Jerry Smith, Marie Utt, May Wertz, Patricia Whitlock and Margaret Whitfield.

Lynchburg was no less popular with Edna Campbell, Mary Anne Dryden, Eleanor Feagans, Mae Hale, Louise Hendricks, Ruth Hillsman, Nancy Hutter, Emily Hoskins, Sara Jeffries, Beth Johnson, Ruth Kirkpatrick, Dot Lackes, Bert McLaughlin, Charlotte Phillips, Nancy Rucker, and Nancy Wolfe gracing that fair city.

Danville wasn't left out last week-end, either. Elizabeth Bowman, Ann Covington, Ruth Lea Purdum, Spilly Purdum and Madge McFall saw to that.

The debators going to Washington and Pennsylvania were Marie Allen, Anne Cocks, Thelma Courtney, Frances Keck, Elizabeth Ann Parker, and Dot Rollins. Corilda Chaplin also went to Washington.

The basketteers journeying to New York were Jean Carr, Rosa Courter, Anne Ellett, Pat Gibson, Marjorie Gooden, Virginia Hill, Dot Johnson, Frances Parham, Martha Roberts and Crews Borden. Congrats, girls!

Blacksburg was slightly less attractive this time but did enjoy the company of Nancy Goode Bland, Nancy Bondurant, Mary Copley, and Peggy Lou Boyette.

To Petersburg went Anne Boswell, Charlotte Andrews, Alice Marie Coberly, Helen McGuire, Virginia Rose and Shirley Turner. In other directions to Bluefield and the vicinity went Lucy Call, Charlotte Carell, Barbara Drewery, and Frances Hoback.

Roanoke ranked second only to Richmond in popularity and those off to Roanoke were Anne Ayers Felicity Apperly, Virginia Alexander, Sara Currie, Mallory Davis, Mildred Eades, Elizabeth Glasgow Nell Hurt, Doris Lowe, Mary Martha Perry, Louise Painter Frances Rosebro, Dot Sprinkle, Eleanor Steffey, Frances Steffey, Florence Thierry, Nancy Williamson and May Winn.

A. S. A. Entertained

Anne Ware and Anne Beale Scott entertained the members of Alpha Sigma Alpha at tea at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the chapter room.

Sigmas Enjoy Tea

Jane Lee Hutchinson, Elizabeth Townsend, and Jane Engleby were hostesses to Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority for tea on Sunday afternoon from 4 to 6 in the senior parlor. Miss Lila London presided at the tea table.

Miss Iler Honored

Miss Olive Iler was entertained in honor of her birthday on Wednesday night at 9:30 o'clock in the senior "Rec" by the Monogram Club and members of the Athletic Association Council.

Frosh Party

The members of the Freshman class were entertained by the Junior class at a Valentine party Friday night, February 14, in the "Rec".

The Junior class officers welcomed the guests at the stairs by pinning a heart on each freshman.

Lucy Ellen Powell, who was master of ceremonies introduced Peggy Bellus and Louisa Sanford who gave a vocal rendition of "Our Love Affair". Frances Rosebro and Polly Hughes as Olive and Popeye entertained with one of their skits.

The theme committee was composed of Dot Lawrence, Cottie Radspinner and Mary Hunter Edmunds.

The refreshments were supervised by Elizabeth Rapp, Elizabeth Summerfield, and Dot Sprinkle.

Aggie Mann, Jo Ware and Marjory Garrison were in charge of entertainment.

Alumnae Guests

While in Roanoke last week attending a convention of home economic and nutrition experts, Misses Bessie Jeter and Katherine Tupper entertained at a luncheon at Hotel Roanoke three S. T. C. alumnae of '20 and '21.

The girls in whose honor the luncheon was given were Sally Openchain, Thelma Yost, and Ruth Lavender. Sylvia Yost was also present. These girls graduated from S. T. C. the first year that Miss Tupper and Miss Jeter came to Farmville.

Baptist Party

The Valentine theme was carried out in decorations, games, and refreshments at the party which the Baptist Sunday school gave on Saturday night, February 15, at the local church. All Baptists from S. T. C. and Hampden-Sydney were invited, and the girls could bring their dates. Ellen Hudgins, the social chairman, with her committee, was responsible for the fun that everybody had.

Wynne, Swertfeger To Attend Convention

Drs. J. P. Wynne and F. F. Swertfeger of the Education Department will attend the American Association of school administrators in Atlantic City, New Jersey, February 22-27.

Dr. Wynne will remain for the duration of the convention while Dr. Swertfeger expects to return to Farmville after the first day.

A & N STORE

Ladies' Jodphurs, tan and brown	$2.95
Jodphur Boots	$3.95
Riding Breeches, tan and brown	$2.95
Jodphur Boots	$3.75
Ladies Dress Boots	$4.95

STATE
"Your Community Center"
Wednesday-Thursday-Friday
Feb. 19-20-21
Fred MacMurray Madeleine Carroll
"VIRGINIA"
(in Technicolor)
Saturday Only Feb. 22
W. C. FIELDS UNA MERKEL
"THE BANK DICK"
Next Monday-Tuesday-Wed.
February 24-25-26
Melvyn Douglas Rosalind Russell
"THIS THING CALLED LOVE"

Y. W. C. A. Sponsors Discussion Groups

As a follow-up of Religious Emphasis Week sponsored on this campus last week, prayers this week are concerned with the questions raised by students.

At 10 o'clock in the Y. W. lounge a discussion is being held each night in regard to the topics presented at prayers.

Tonight Charlotte Gresham will lead prayers on the topic—"How Shall We Find Him Through Prayer." Tomorrow night Miss Mary Finch will use as her topic "How Shall We Find Him Through Bible Study?"; and Friday night "Have You Begun to Live?" is the theme for Jean Moyer's talk.

Changes Are Noted In Constitution

Changes have been made in the constitution as regards the fire chief and her committee, the House Council and the Chapel Committee.

Section V—Fire Chief Committee

(a) The fire chief shall be appointed by the President of the Student Body with the help of the Head of the Home.

(b) The fire marshals shall be appointed in the fall by the Fire Chief with the approval of the Head of the Home.

(c) Duties:

1 To call the meetings and decide on time for fire drill.

2 To check up on each hall in case of fire drill or fire.

3 To explain to Student Body what to do in case of fire.

Article V—Section 5

The Executive Board of the Student Council shall consist of the President, the Vice-President the Secretary, the Treasurer of the Student Government Association, the President of the House Council, and the Chairman of the Campus League.

Article VI—Section 1

The House Council shall consist of a President, a Vice-president, Secretary, Treasurer, and Hall Presidents. The latter shall be appointed by the incoming President of the House Council, with the help of the President of the Student Body and the Head of the Home.

Article VI—Section 4

Duties of the House Council:

To attend the meeting of the House Council which shall be held twice a month, the time and place to be decided by the chairman of the calendar committees.

Article VIII—Section 1 (b)

(In relation to Chapel Committee)

The Committee shall be appointed by the chairman with the approval of the President of the Student Body and the Head of the Home.

ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner
69c Hose Club
FOR
Members Only
One Pair Full Fashioned
69c Hose
FREE when 10 pairs of 69c hose are purchased from our store.
All 69c hose guaranteed

HUNGRY—VISIT
Shannon's
THE FOOD'S THE BEST
Phone 224 Good Service

Let us show our special evening hair-do's—with crystals
VANITY BEAUTY SHOP
Across Stret from
5 and 10 Stores
PHONE 360

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert
Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet"
Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

April Concert

Continued from Page 1

The singing of the "Amen Chorus" by the combined glee clubs of Harvard, Duke, and S. T. C. will conclude the program.

Representatives from colleges all over the state will attend the concert, which is one of the biggest affairs of its kind in the South.

All the regular seats have been sold out, but plans are being made to build some extra seats at the rear of the auditorium to allow more people to be able to attend. Probably about 50 of these seats will be available to Hampden-Sydney students.

Library Books

Continued from Page 1

she made a contribution to Helen Wiley Jarman Library at Longwood. She founded the small but valuable Jeanne d'Arc library for the Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Miss Andrews was for fourteen years a member of the Farmville S. T. C. faculty. She is an honorary member of the college alumnae association and the Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Since leaving Farmville, Miss Andrews has continued her distinguished educational service to Virginia and the south. Among the positions she has subsequently held are head of the English department of George Peabody for Teachers, dean of women of Winthrop College and at present extension director of Richmond and Petersburg center of the University of Virginia Extension Division.

NOTICE

The alumnae luncheon to be held Founder's Day will be in the "Rec" rather than at Longwood as was announced in last week's paper. Also the Granddaughter's Club will give their tea that day at Longwood and not in the Student Building lounge.

20% Reduction on all Helena Rubinstien Products
Week of March 1-8
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

See our February Special in
RYTEX STATIONERY
Martin, the Jeweler

New Full Line Assortment of
GREETING CARDS
for all occasions at
NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store

Come to see us
FOR
A complete Line
OF
SANDWICH SPREADS, PKG. CHEES AND JAR CHEESE
The Economy Food Store

J. A. BURKHART
Blacksmithing—Machine Shop—Welding
General Repairing
218 222 North Street
FARMVILLE VA.

"Chile Nights"

Continued from Page 1

Sara Carbonell, Nora Beauchamp, and Priscilla Barreto. Several vendors, Ruth Dugger, Nancy Bruce, Helen Hanks, and Mirian Meggar, who sold their wares in Spanish, greeted the strangers Native womenwere portrayed by Molly Clark and Warwick Mitchell. Here Mr. Jones (Louise Rice) collected may oddities and did so throughout the show. Julie Eason, as a romantic young poet, was constantly pursued by Eleanor Johnson, while Connie Boatwright would not let Mr. Jones out of her sight.

Act II pictured the many cafes in which the girls made their tryouts, but always there were some better-liked acts. At Cafe El Noche, Betty Gray Smithfield did an appropriate rope-dance; at Cafe Nanava, Jackie Parson and Roselle Eckford presented an original tango and Faye Nimmo gave the Hill Billie influence of American talent; at Cafe Chile, the girls really got their chance in introducing a brand new hit, "Don't Ever Leave Me", written by Carolyn Bargamin and Mickey Lawrence. Mary Ellen Cole put it over with her deep, melodious voice, and the girls signed a six months contract.

However, after two weeks of South American life and custom, the home-sick chorus girls returned to the Great White Way with "U. S. is the place for me".

The supporting cast consisted of Vivian Gwaltney, Mildred Eades, Nancy Roane, Charlotte Rose, Patsy Connelly, Dorothy Flowers, Lucille Cox, Mary Frances Walker, Constance Figg, and Mary Elizabeth Grizzard.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

Best Food in Town
Quick Service
COLLEGE SHOPPE
We Deliver Call 200

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Swimming Meet Tomorrow Afternoon

The Rotunda

Quiz Contest Tuesday Night

VOLUME XX — FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1941 — NO. 19

S.T.C. Quiz Team To Vie With H.-S. Here On March 4

Part of Program To Be Broadcast On Station WRNL

"Beauty versus Brains" will be the slogan when S. T. C. meets Hampden-Sydney in the challenging quiz contest Tuesday, March 4 at 8:00 P. M. in the large auditorium. The question of who are the beauties and who the brains will be answered at the close of the program by representatives of the faculty of both colleges in the capacity of judges.

Pat Gibson, Polly Hughes, Jean Moyer, Margie Rice and Patsy Smith will vie with Lex Allison, Keith Eubank, Bill Baker, Bill Dyer and Jim Cousar III from Hampden-Sydney. Mr. G. Mallary Freeman of Richmond will toss the questions to the contestants. The tussle will be broadcast over station WRNL, Richmond, from 9 to 9:30 o'clock.

The Glee Club from the visiting school and a choral group of this college will intersperse the questions with several selections. The entire program is being staged for the benefit of Southside Community Hospital in Farmville. A limited number of tickets will be made available to the student body by members of Alpha Kappa Gamma. Tickets for S. T. C. girls are 10 cents each and date tickets are 25 cents per couple. Alpha Kappa Gamma, leadership fraternity, is sponsoring the quiz.

Questions are being compiled by representatives of the faculty of the two schools. Students who wish to submit questions are urged to do so and turn them in to Caralie Nelson.

Hampden-Sydney's quintet was victorious in a similar battle with representatives of the University of Richmond in Richmond a few weeks ago.

Pictured here are the S. T. C. girls and Hampden-Sydney boys who will "fight it out" in the forthcoming quiz contest. Above, left to right: Margie Rice, Jean Moyer, Pat Gibson, Patsy Smith and Polly Hughes. Below: seated, left to right, are Keith Eubank, James Cousar, and Bill Baker; standing, are Bill Dyer and Lex Allison.

Class Observes High School At Turbeville

The Core Curriculum class, which is being taught by Miss Pauline Camper, spent last Wednesday, February 19, at Turbeville High School for observation. Mr. Alfred Wingo accompanied the class.

The group observed the eighth grade during the morning session and attended the debate between third and fourth year students. Lunch was served the group in the school lunch room.

Girls making the trip were Alice Lee Barham, Marjorie Garrison, Jane Jones, Marguerette Gerlaugh, Anna Johnson, Martha Whelchel, Forrestine Whittaker and Helen Young. Mrs. Wingo also accompanied the class.

Chapel Committee Has New Members

Lois Harrison, Mary Evelyn Pearsall, and Elizabeth McCoy have been added to the chapel committee.

They will be monitors stationed at the doors of the auditorium to accept the excuses of late-comers to chapel, and to enforce the new regulation that no one may enter the auditorium after the chapel service has begun without presenting an excuse from the teacher of her last class saying that she was kept overtime.

Harriet Scott has also become a member of the Chapel Committee this quarter. "Scotty" is replacing Ellen Royall, who resigned because of a class during chapel.

Holton Attends Meet

S. M. Holton, Jr., will attend a Regional Conference on Tolerance through Education at Durham, North Carolina, Saturday

Eades Presides At Y. W. Meeting

Farmville Sends Four Delegates

Jean Moyer, Eleanor Folk, Charlotte Gresham, and Frances Roseboro represented S. T. C. at the annual Y. W. Virginia area convention, held at the First Baptist church, Richmond, February 22-23. Dorothy Eades, elected last year, acted as chairman of the meeting. Miss Mary Finch, instructor of religious education at this college went with the group as advisor.

The convention had as its purpose the training of both white and negro leadership for Y. W. work on college campuses and the exchange of ideas between schools.

Augusta Roberts, who was at Farmville last year, and Celestine Smith, Negro national Y. W. secretary, held discussion groups and gave help in program building. They spoke to the group of the national and world work of the Y. W.

Jean Moyer, president of the Y. W. on this campus, says that one of the most inspirational meetings was that held with the colored young people on the Virginia Union campus.

Catherine Kennedy of Randolph-Macon was elected chairman of the convention next year.

Help the Rec Committee To Get On Its Feet

Have you been patronizing the "Rec" committee when you feel the urge for food, drink, and smokes? They need your support. Each Saturday night they sell cokes, nabs, chewing gum, candy and cigarettes so that they may buy equipment for the "Rec" in order that you may entertain your dates. They want to get card tables and turn the stage into a small bridge club; get a radio and vic and give you a place to dance; and get a ping pong table for the more athletic minded.

So now is your chance to do your best so that they will be better able to help you. Eat until you're full, chew until your jaws ache, and smoke until you're dizzy. In other words show your school spirit.

Biology Professor Attends Meeting

Discuss Methods To Teach Science

Dr. George W. Jeffers, head of the biology department, returned to Farmville Monday, February 24, after a three day stay in Atlantic City attending the National Science Committee Convention.

Dr. Jeffers is a member of the Committee on Teacher Education of which S. R. Powers of Columbia University is chairman. This committee is particularly interested in the teacher training of science. Dr. Jeffers represents the National Association of Biology Teachers on the general committee.

The main purpose of this annual convention is the bringing together of science teachers from the entire United States to discuss the best methods of teaching science from the first grade through college.

A. C. E. Has Drive To Aid Britain

Ten dollars has been received by the Association Childhood Education in the form of donations from the Ways and Means committee. Miss Grace Mix, former supervisor of the Kindergarten, Miss Mary B. Haynes, faculty advisor for A. C. E., and Miss Ida Penny, supervisor of the third grade, in support of the drive for Bundles for Britian by A. C. E.

Members of A. C. E. are selling hamburgers in Senior Building Kitchen, in an effort to aid Britian. Sally Hutchinson, a junior, is chairman of the committee to raise the fund. Thirty dollars has been set as the goal.

French Circle Gives Program

"The Three Bears" was presented in French in chapel this morning by the French Circle. Miss Helen Draper directed it.

Goldilocks was portrayed by Jean Hatton. The part of Father, Mother, and Baby Bear were played by Frances Rosebro, Mary Parrish Viccellio, and Hazel Wright respectively. Members of the French Circle sang "Ma Normandie", "Aupres De Ma Blonde", "Le Marseilles", and "Frere Jacque"

Spring Play Proceeds To Go To British Fund

To aid the Bundles for Britian fund, "First Lady" by George Kaufman and Katherine Dayton, will be presented two nights, Friday and Saturday, March 14 and 15 by the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs and S. T. C. Dramatic Club.

Proceeds from all outside tickets sold, with the exception of Hampden-Sydney, will be contributed to the fund for British aid. Miss Leola Wheeler, director of the spring production, has requested that girls do not give their tickets to outsiders since every ticket given away will take that much from the fund to Britian.

AKG Sends Out Alumnae Magazine

Miss Mix's Article Furnishes Theme

Five thousand copies of the college Alumnae Magazine were mailed last Monday, February 24. This publication was issued by members of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national fraternity for leadership and the Alumnae Association officers. Miss Grace Moran, president; Misses Carrie B. Taliaferro and Mary Clay Hiner, custodians of the files and Mrs. M. B. Coyner, executive secretary.

The part our school is taking in the world crisis is the theme running through the magazine centered around Miss Grace E. Mix's article entitled "Our Challenge in the Present World Crisis." Miss Mix was former supervisor of the Training School kindergarten.

A picture of the library clock comprised the cover of the magazine. Articles also included were "Campus News," "Granddaughters Club," and "What Alumnae Have Done."

Inclosed with the magazine was the ballot for president, director, and the nominating committee of the Alumnae Association.

Rice and Jenkins Debate Tonight At Lynchburg College

Margie Rice and Myrtle Jenkins will debate Lynchburg College tonight at Lynchburg on the National Pi Kappa Delta question. They will uphold the negative side, and the debate will be decision.

Myrtle, a freshman, attended the Dixie tournament at Winthrop, S. C. last fall, and has recently received a bid to Pi Kappa Delta. This is Margie's first experience in intercollegiate debates.

Later on in the season, Lynchburg College will debate here on the same question with the sides reversed.

Spanish Gaiety and Revelry Climax Mardi Gras Festival

Mardi Gras with all its revelry and festivity was celebrated in true "Paree" brilliance and gaiety here last night in the gym.

Trudy Hale, in her "gay nineties" apparel took the Agfa Camera for wearing the most original costume. Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy (who were they?) were judged the most attractive couple, while Bess Windham slew the judges in her "Gone With the Wind" dress and received the radio for the prettiest costume.

Elyse Berrye Yates, after being crowned queen by her escort Raymond Yates, was entertained along with her court of Spanish beauties by Senorita Jean Weller singing "Temptation."

"Polly, of the Mystic Crew of Myrth" presented to her majesty "The Missing Key", and the 'Rhythemettes from the Delta" rendered a Dixie tap. The Mardi Gras singers, Louisa Sanford Peggy Bellus, Jean Moyer, and Mary Jane Ritchie sang "A Toast to the Queen" which was written especially for the occasion by "Bootsie Messick. Sara Cline was mistress of ceremonies.

The grand march, led by the pages—Jean and Fiddle Haymes, was a confusion of doctors, nurses, cheerleaders, football players, little girls and "Joe Colleges". However, some of the more striking ones were The Invisible Man,

Continued on Page 4

Founder's Day Program

Friday, March 7
8:00 P. M.—Basketball Game Auburn vs. Varsity
Saturday, March 8
10:30 A. M.—Birthday celebration (Auditorium)
1:30 P. M.—Luncheon Meeting in Recreational Hall
3:30 P. M.—Dance Demonstration (Gymnasium)
4:00-5:30 P. M.—Tea at Longwood. Hostess: Granddaughters Club
8:00 P. M.—Lyceum Program Siberian Singers

Debaters Contend With U. of Va.

Allen and Courtney Uphold Negative

In a debate broadcast over WCHV, Charlottesville, Va., Marie Allen and Thelma Courtney clashed with the University of Virginia team February 21, 1941.

Kelter Greer and William Lyons, debating for Virginia, upheld the affirmative side of the questions. Resolved, That the nations of the Western Hemisphere should form a permanent union; with Farmville debating negatively. The debate was non-decision.

Marie and Thelma opposed the formation of a union on the basis that there is no need for it and economic conditions presented hindrances to its formation. They supported the present system, as "a temporary plan to meet a temporary need". Virginia, arguing for a union, based their needs on the present conflict and their belief that a union was the natural climax to present cooperation. They advocated a union based somewhat on the present United States with a special board to handle surpluses.

Marie and Thelma have debated together for the past two years and are members of the varsity squad. They represented Farmville recently at the Shippensburg Debate Tournament, along with Frances Keck and Elizabeth Ann Parker.

Educational Forum Discusses Guidance

"Guidance" was the subject discussed at the Educational Forum, Monday night, February 24, at 7:15 P. M. in the Student Building Lounge. Mr. Alfred Wingo of the State Department of Education in this region, presided at the meeting.

Dr. Floyd F. Swertferger gave a general survey of guidance. Mr. Sam Holton outlined the present guidance set-up of the college which was initiated last September. Miss Mary E. Peck discussed this same program from the standpoint of the counselors of the new students.

Sororities To Give Pan Hel Dance Saturday Night

V.M.I. Commanders To Play; Festivities Scheduled in Gym

Sailing scenes in pastels with the Greek letters of the various sororities on buoys made of the chapter colors will be the theme of the decorations for the annual Pan-Hellenic dance to be held in the Gym from 8:30 o'clock until 12 o'clock Saturday, March 1. Also featured in the decorations will be multi-colored balloons and streamers which will hang from the ceiling.

Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Carolyn Cogbill, Pan-Hellenic advisor, Esther Atkinson, Pan-Hellenic president, and the faculty advisors of each sorority will compose the receiving line in the Student Building Lounge.

Intermission will be at 10:30 o'clock. At this time the sororities will entertain their guests in the chapter rooms.

The V. M. I. Commanders, who will furnish the music, will feature a requested no-break number for each soroity. "Night and Day" will be Alpha Sigma Alpha's specialty, while Mu Omega's request is "High on a Windy Hill." Pi Kappa Sigma's no-break number is "Stardust," Phi Zeta Sigma's is "Does Your Heart Beat for Me", while Theta Sigma Upsilon's is requesting "It All Comes Back to Me Now"; and Sigma Sigma Sigma, "I Hear A Rhapsody." Alpha Sigma Tau's and Gamma Theta's no-break numbers will be announced at the dance.

Elizabeth Ann Parker, chairman of decorations, has as committee workers with her Harriet Walker, Winifred Wright, Patsy Flethcer, Mildred Morris, and Stella Scott. The new pledges from each chapter will decorate the gym.

Alternates from each sorority to be the Pan-Hel council make up the floor committee. They are Nancy Naff, Boonie Stevenson, Mary Jane Ritchie, Mary Harvie, Martha Frances Cobb, Lucy Ellen Powell, Ann Price, and Elizabeth Ann Parker. Dorothy Lawrence is the head of this committee.

Boonie Stevenson is chairman of tickets. The chapter alternates will assist Boonie in distributing the tickets. Besides the members of the eight sororities on campus, 150 additional bids have been issued.

"Chunky Cherries" Given For Sing By Sophomores

The Sophomores presented "Chunky Cherries' Radio Program" on Saturday night as their entrant in the sing contest. Regretting that George Washington could not be present, Shirley Turner (the announcer) presented Eleanor (Jean Hatton) representing "The People." The reaction of the audience was directed by Frances Parham with good cooperation from the audience. Fiddle Haymes sang St. Louis Blues, impersonating Helen Morgan. A representative from Kay Kyser's orchestra rode a tricycle across the stage trying to get a contract from old S. T. C. Parham representing a great artist didn't exactly broadcast—she presented her masterpiece, "Tit-tat-toe." The program was climaxed by the daily drill of the Home Boys commanded by Ann Ware—who found army life all too fatiguing.

This is the third class presentation in the sing contest. The Seniors presented "G. W. T. W. (Gee Whiz, Twice Widowed)" and the Juniors presented a "Nightmare at the Opera—or They Should Have Saved Coupons." The Freshmen will present the final program Saturday night.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Anne Cock ..... Sports Editor
Nancy Naff ..... Social Fditor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Anna Johnson,, Shirley McCalley, Faye Nimmo, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Jane Sanford, Dorothy Sprinkle, Elizabeth Tennant, Sara Trigg, Ella Banks, Weathers, Marjorie Garrison.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mary Keith Bingham, Mary St.Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Helen DeLong, Anne Moore, Mary Lily Purdum.

Typists

Chief Typist ..... Frances Pritchett
Typists—Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Thelma Courtney.

This issue in charge of Mary Lilly Purdum.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1941

On the Right Road

Are we noticing anything about our basketball team other than the final score after each game? Do we only see things as we want to, and maybe give credit where credit is not due? We, as students at Farmville, should be proud of the excellent teamwork exhibited by our basketball squad.

This vital thing called teamwork cannot be acquired by merely wanting it. It takes practice, not just when it suits everyone, but when many have to make real sacrifices. Each girl has a clearly defined piece of work to do, but all subordinate personal prominence to the efficiency and success of the whole.

It is not how may games we win, but the way the game is played that counts in the final checkup. Teamwork in our college is making us great now, and is teaching us how to acquire teamwork in the university of life! —M. L. P.

A Two-Fold Purpose

If we have been doubting the intelligence of the modern girl, we should attend some of the quiz programs that are sweeping the country. Our quiz team is probably the latest one created.

Some girls still have more in them than just the ability to look pretty. The preparation for the main contest here next week has certainly stimulated the girls. They have a greater interest in current affairs, literature, art, and science.

Not only are the quizzers themselves finding it helpful, but the majority of the girls on our campus are becoming question conscious. Whether we see it at once or not, a contest of this kind has a psychological effect on all people. A friendly rivalry is created—so necessary to make us strive to do our best.

By participating in this contest, our college is showing the community that we are proud to be a part of it. We are helping a worthy cause.

Anything worth doing at all is worth doing well. Let us support our quiz team to the nth degree. —M. L. P.

Will We Cooperate?

Are we too young to be put on our honor to do something worthwhile?

The spring play, "First Lady" will be given two nights March 14 and 15. For us as students it will be a lyceum and we may get our tickets as we have always done. However, all the money taken in from outsiders will be turned over to the Bundles for Britain fund.

There have been girls who have given their lyceum tickets to outsiders. Perhaps this was done thoughtlessly on their part—let's hope so anyway. If we give our tickets to local people we deliberately will be taking money that would otherwise go to Great Britain.

In inviting outsiders the Dramatic Club is being fair to us by giving the play two nights so that our own students can be accommodated satisfactorily in the auditorium. Shall we not be fair to the Dramat c Club, to ourselves, and to those suffering in Great Britain? M. L. P.

Women! Why Are They? Answer Is Here

Biologically speaking, both man and woman belong to the same phyllum, class, and order. Here however the likeness ceases, and in all other respects they are as far apart as the north and south poles. Of course they are not always so far apart but we won't go into that.

Since it is the purpose of this article to discuss the feminine gender it would be well to begin with some sort of definition of the fairer sex. Unfortunately most lexicons are extremely vague on the subject, one of them defining women with the single word, "Wow"! Another was somewhat more verbose stating that woman is a very awesome creature (note: This is not intended as a reference to that famous actor, Awesome Welles) "But,"—it continued, "Women make better wives than anybody," and there we have something. What are the qualities that make a woman a good wife, or to put it another way, what are the qualities a man seeks in choosing a wife? Beauty? Perhaps. Beauty is a great advantage, for outward appearance must necessarily create the first impression. This does not mean the beauty that comes out of a jar.

Shakespeare has said, "Nature gave you one face and you make for yourself another." This statement is true as far as it goes but it doesn't go far enough; the remodeling process doesn't stop with the face, but also includes the hands, and now its even reached the pedal extremities. It must be admitted that the organs of locomotion could stand a bit of beautification, but it can only be remarked that painting the toenails red is not unanimously considered an improvement.

Although beauty is a great aid, the girl lacking it need not be dismayed, for she can be helped by one of the modern fashions, namely junk jewelry. Let her wear a mass of it and she will immediately become the focal point of any gathering, for it is possible to look at one of those charm bracelets for hours and never see the same thing twice.

Thus far we have dealt only with externals. Let us then for a brief moment glance within; let us seek that vague substance called personality. Let us, as the old saying goes, skin the cat, shall we?

Here we find that the two most annoying qualities are women's intuition, and her belief in the superior undertandings of the opposite sex.

Intuition is that strange gift of prophesy that woman has, through the centuries, persuaded herself she possessed; though it would be extremely difficult to recall an instance where it has proved its merit. Her belief in her superior understandings of men is equally as annoying, for she can be fooled so easily. If she believes she possesses this gift, she would be wise and keep silent on the subject. It would be wise to take some of this advice to heart since the boy still proposes three years out of four. —The High Hat.

Looking 'Em Over

With the advance of Pan Hellenic dance here and Hampden-Sydney's midwinters, we find ourselves already off to a gala weekend. But for additional news see next weeks column (and we do hope we'll have all for you).

It seems that there's an epidemic of "farewels" to our summer romances, but don't let it worry you. Remember that "in the spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts that a girl has had all year" or "if spring comes can summer be far ahead." Comprenez-vous?

It looks as though Ann Roberts has definitely picked up Flip's Uncle Ned (Meatball). By the way have you heard Flip's poetry? They say she has a poem dedicated to many of our local Romeos and Juliets.

Now that Anne Bradshaw has made up with Al, we guess that Aggie will take a back seat, what say Anne? . . . and what about Hatton? 'Tis said that the forementioned young lady is not so happy over her rift with the young man from University of Richmond. Reason: He's to lead the figure at the dance and his date. . . well?

Helen Lewis went to Baltimore this past week-end to visit Robin Henning. She went up with Wally Engle, but nevertheless did not fail to send Randy Cary a postcard. . . "While the cat's away the mice will play" meaning that Bert Craig took over Randy for the week-end.

For those of you who have not heard, Jo Canada finally accepted Billy Baskerville's Pi Kappa Alpha pin. Why was it you waited so long, Jo?

Noted Friday night: Grace Hutchinson at the game with Bill Lyle, opposite them sat P. T. Atkinson staring, staring, staring. Draw your own conclusions. . . Also noted was Ranny at church Sunday night "alone". Could it have been 'cause Freida was in the infirmary?

We wonder why Mary Keith decided that "there's no place like home". . . Could be Kerby? . . . how did it happen that Hoskins' date at Tech confused her with Rosa?

Consolation and sweetpeas to the girls who expected V. M. I. dates last Saturday. . . and while noting V. M. I. we add that the Charlotte Phillips was the recipient of two corsages at the dances last week-end. Orchids and gardenias. By the way, he's the one she met while visiting Miss Pilkinton. Word to the wise: visit roommate with friend.

Things and people we would like to see together more often:

Eleanor Johnson and Mickey James; Jane Ford and Bob Irby; Lucy Call and her line; Sarah Hardy and Buddy Murdock; Smoothie Smith and her music; Bye and Laurie jitterbugging.

Flash! ! ! more fame for Farmville. Agnes Patterson will lead the German Club figure at V. P. I. Easters. Yea, with "Stu". Congrats, A. P.

Jean Upshur and Tommy Graham "of Annapolis" have enjoyed steady company for the past week. P. S. He left last night to do his duty for his country. . . Also seen was Betty Fahr with Tommy's roommate.

Came 8 o'clock Sunday night and Miss Barham was still waiting patiently(?) for Alex "much in Demand" Jones. Then came the call from Roanoke saying he couldn't get back. She'll two it with him at Midwinters.

The Dodsons will invade Farmville next week-end. Jimmy will be here with Mary Lou and William will also be on hand as well as Wilson Wahab. And, Mary Lou, what about that picture you sent Jimmy for Valentines Day? Did he receive it or haven't you heard?

"What To Do When Two Dates Arrive" . . . book wanted by Anne Fitchett immediately. Will pay full value.

People have been wondering which Chi "Bales" White will choose—the Sigma Chi or the Chi Phi?

Jean Upshur seems to be acquiring possessions of a certain ex-Navy man.

Mary W. Carper were you really clowning Saturday nite, or was it only your usual way Sat. night garb?

For further dirt, see your flower pot!

GLEANINGS

By JACK COCK

Senator Robert Reynolds, of North Carolina, opposing his colleague Senator Bailey, also of North Carolina, and surprising the Senate as a whole, announced his intentions Friday to vote against the Lend-Lease Bill for giving aid to Britian, on the grounds that it was a Bill "for the preservation of the British empire, without any consideration for the preservation of the United States."

Agreeing with Senator Nye in his fight against the bill, the Senator from North Carolina further stated that he considered the bill as a step closer into a war which is not ours, and to quote Mr Reynolds—"So, after the passage of this bill the time arrives to take the last and final step — I mean a declaration of war by this body—I want to serve notice now that I shall never cast my vote to send American Manhood across any ocean to fight in any way for the preservation of any foreign nation."

The arguments set forth by Senator Reynolds, Senator Nye, and their colleagues opposing the bill are undoubtedly sound. Why vote to preserve the British Empire at the cost of losing our own peace and security? Why give "dictatorial powers" to our president to aid a nation fighting against the "Dictatorial Powers?"

In Europe last week the situation if possible became more tense than before with the German occupation of Bulgaria.

Although no regular Nazi troop movement into this country has begun (Sunday) it was reported that Nazi general staff officers in civilian clothes had begun to establish themselves in Sofia's leading hotel.

The move on the part of Germany marked also the breaking up of the ice barrier along the lower part of the Danube River.

Due to the ice and lack of bridges across the Danube river, Hitler has been forced to bide his time in regard to Bulgaria, but now he has only to lay pontoon bridges in order to transport his troops and supplies.

The British have beaten the Italian troops in Africa. In the event that the British through Greece should secure a foothold in Southern Europe, Germany would find herself fighting on two fronts for the first time since the outbreak of the war, something which Hitler heretofore, has done everything in his power to avoid.

Will Hitler be able to successfully offer resistence on two fronts or will he find it necessary to temporarily call off his proposed invasion of the British Isles and concentrate his entire forces in Bulgaria?

CALENDAR

Thursday, February 27
4:00 P. M.—Swimming Meet Fairfax Hall (here)
Friday, February 28
4:30 P. M.—Basketball Game William and Mary (there)
Saturday, March 1
8:30 P. M.—Pan Hel Dance
Tuesday, March 4
8:00 P. M.—Quiz Contest Large Auditorium

Letters To Editor

Dear Editor:

Last Saturday night a week, our varsity team played its first game of the season. Naturally being the first game, we expected to see the gymnasium crowded.

But alas and alack! The spectators were pitifully few—and a great number of these were outsiders. Now there may be sufficient reasons why the entire student body fails to attend, but why shouldn't the gym be abounding in students.

We have a good team, we play hard games, and there's always plenty of excitement. For so long now we've heard, the complaint "What's to do on Saturday night?" It seems that now that we have the games, this question shouldn't be raised.

Besides the enjoyment we can receive, we owe it to our team, who has already made such a fine showing, to support the games—both varsity and class games.

(Signed) Two Basketball Enthusiasts.

Dear Editor:

I am taking this opportunity to thank the Student Body and the Junior Class for the gifts of fruit and flowers which they so thoughtfully sent me during my recent sickness.

These presents were both useful and ornamental, and it did my heart good to know that the students were thinking of me.

Cordially,
W. M. Atkinson
(Cousin Tommy)

Dear Editor,

I read with enthusiasm your comment on cutting campus, and heartily agree that such is detrimental to our campus and should be discontinued.

But, at the same time, am wondering if perhaps we could not right this situation at the Library by being able to use the side door for entrance at night. This would certainly alleviate the matter of cutting the Library campus and would also aid students, particularly at Junior and Senior buildings.

Sincerely,
An interested member of the Student Body.

• Sports Slants •

By ANNE COCK

"Your pep! your pep!
You've got it now keep it
Doggone you don't lose it!"

And boy—they didn't lose it! What a game, what a score, what a team. Speaking of course of when varsity met Upsula Saturday night and defeated them good and proper. 'Twas really worth the trouble I had getting in—what with forgetting my ticket and all. And say did you notice that neat system of passing. You could always tell when our girls had the ball, 'cause it didn't stay still a minute.

Upsula put up a good fight though, even if it was a losing one. They were good sports and clean players.

Friday Varsity journeys to the quaint little town of Williamsburg for a game with that old rival—William and Mary. All indications point to another victory for the home team—here's hoping!

Zeke Zippers have some tricky little things up their sleeves, haven't they? Just nothing like a little bit of local color between halves. And how about a long "rah" and two short "rahs" for the cheer leaders. "One-two, one-two!"

Spectators say that, for excitement, you can't beat that Junior-Senior game. It was close, hard fought, and finally captured by the Red and White. But Green and White triumphed the previous evening when the Sophs brought down the Freshmen 20 to 12! That ties up the race so the Sophs and Juniors will fight it out for top honors tonight at 7 in the gym—and may the best team win!

The close of the intramural basketball games traditionally opens practice season for volleyball—a much less strenuous game but one equally as much fun. When the nets are up, come on down. This game is a color cup competitor also, and your support will be needed.

Tomorrow, the mermaids will have their day when Fairfax Hall invades the local pool for the initial swimming meet of the year. The team has been selected and is in good shape; the captain has been chosen. We congratulate you all and will support every splash that you make. All kinds of dashes have been scheduled. They are to begin at 4 o'clock and, fans, there is no cover charge.

The chart is up. Is your name on it? If not, don't waste a minute, 'cause there's something new in the air this year for ping pong! The idea is to match Green and White against Red and White as nearly as possible throughout the contest. This certainly ought to make the competition keener. So on your toes, if ye be a paddle-pusher, and line up for the tournament coming soon.

"Tempus sho do fugit". Next week's activities will be played to the tune of those invigorating March winds. P-E-P Pep! You've got it now, keep it! Doggone you don't lose it!

Sophs And Juniors Win First Round

Color Cup Points Determined Soon

Sophomores and Juniors defeated the Freshmen and Seniors respectively Wednesday and Thursday nights February 19 and 20 in the first intramural basketball games of the season. The Sophs scored 20 points to the Freshmen's 12. The Juniors topped the Seniors 8 to 7.

Green and White and Red and White will vie for color cup points when the Sophomores and Juniors play off the tie tonight in the gym at 7 o'clock.

Line-ups for the two games are listed below:

Pos.—Seniors	Juniors
F.—Gibson	Chatten
F.—Cock	Sprinkle
F.—Lee (C)	Purdum
G.—Gooden	Johnson (C)
G.—Courter	Coleman
G.—Smith	Chaplin
Pos.—Sophomores	Freshmen
F.—Ellett	Taylor
F.—Carr	Simmons
F.—Barnette	Hill (C)
G.—Parham (C)	Nimmo
G.—Price	Connelly
G.—Hillsman	Smith

Substitutes — Frosh: Droste, Gaul, Cox, forward; Gwaltney, guard.

Colors To Be Matched In Tournament

Sign up for Ping Pong now on the A. A. bullitin board. The tournament an annual affair in the dead of winter, will be played off in the near future.

Frances Parham, who is in charge of the tournament is working on a plan whereby Green and White will be matched against Red and White as nearly as possible.

Young Mosquito: "Soft pickings these days, aren't they?"

Old Mosquito: "Yes, and to think, when I was your age I could bite girls only on the face and hands."

Walker Heads Swimming Team

Varsity to Vie With Fairfax Hall

Harriet Walker, junior, has been elected captain of the varsity swimming team which will vie with Fairfax Hall in Farmville's initial meet tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. There will be no admission.

Since her freshman year Harriet has been active in swimming and was on the varsity team last year. She is a member of the H2O Club and the Monogram Club. For the Water Carnival she was chairman of the property committee. This past fall she was manager of hockey and member of the varsity hockey team.

Other members of the varsity squad are Nancy Dupuy, junior; Frances Parham, sophomore; and Gloria Pollard, Dorothy Gaul, Ruth Dugger and Dot Daracott, freshmen. Nancy, who was a member of the varsity team last year, holds the Southern Region Championship of the United States for the 100 yard breast stroke.

Events for the meet tomorrow afternoon and Farmville entries are listed below:

diving—Gaul, Pollard.

40 yard free-style — Pollard, Dugger, Gaul, Parham, Walker.

40 yard breast—Daracott, Dupuy.

40 yard back—Gaul, Walker.

75 yard medley relay—Gaul, Dupuy, Dugger.

100 yard free-style—Dupuy, Pollard, Dugger, Daracott.

Notice

Riding Club pins have come. Members may get them from Lucy Call in the Riding Club room after any meal except breakfast. The design of the pin is a shield as background with a horse's head and the initials R. C. The price ranges from $1.25 to $7.00 depending on the composition.

Basketball Captain

Rosa Courter, able captain of S. T. C.'s undefeated varsity basketball team.

Freshman Starts With Misfortune

Ready for the hard-luck story? It's about Lylene Garner, freshman at Eastern New Mexico college, Portales.

On the first day of school this year she fell upstairs at Women's hall and suffered minor bruises. Then she developed a recalcitrant appendix and had to have an operation. Shortly afterward, in what she calls a blue trance, she sat down on a hot radiator, arising therefrom with alacrity and some pain.

Next she was accidentally hit by a playful girl-friend and sported a black eye. Now Lylene has a broken nose, acquired when she walked into a door that should have been open and wasn't.

Small wonder that Lylene is a bit cynical these days.

But New Mexico, one of our favorite states, has other troubles these days, too. From the Mustang of New Mexico State Teachers college, Silver city, comes this plaintive report:

Flagpoles are very short-lived on the campus of New Mexico State. The average age is about 12 years. Two were dethroned by playful bolts of lightening, a third by an equally playful March wind. The present pole will "come of age" two years hence, and students are beginning to wonder if the wind can again beat the lightening to the draw.

We trust that in their spare moments all flagpole fanciers will give their best attention to this newest problem of education.

S.T.C. Basketeers Take Upsula 44-11

Team Plays Friday In Williamsburg

Farmville's Varsity captured its fourth straight win by defeating Upsula 44-11 Saturday night February 22 in the gym.

At no time in the game did Farmville lose ground and the score steadily mounted in her favor.

The starting line up was:

Farmville	Upsula
Forwards
Gibson	Lindstrom
Roberts	Downes
Ellett	Bodine
Guards
Johnson	Kupferes
Courter	Olson
Parham	Leach

Substitutes

Farmville—Juanita Smith, Marjorie Gooden, Ann Price, June Smith, Hallie Hillsman, Patsy Connolley, Corilda Chapman, Jean Carr, Dottie Sue Simmons.

Upsula—Artsen and Kupferes.

Officials for the game were: Miss Dabney and Miss Bondurant.

The next game for the local sextet will be with William and Mary College at Williamsburg on Friday, February 28.

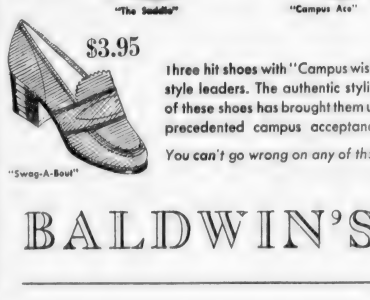
Charm Bracelets and Sport Pins
Martin, the Jeweler

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

BUTCHER'S
The convenient store for faculty and student body.
Good things to eat and drink

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service



Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

Buy your new spring jackets $3.95 & $4.95 and Coats $7.95 up, in navy blue and plaids. New hats in felts and straws. Both sport and dressy styles. $1.00 to $1.98.
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

WHITE SKIRTS ..... $1.97—$2.97
WHITE SWEATERS $1.97
Spring Evening Dresses in Pastel Shades ..... $11.97—$14.97
DOROTHY MAY STORE

SPECIAL LUNCH
EVERY SATURDAY
ANY 10c SANDWICH
ANY 10c DRINK
LARGE PIE A LA MODE
ALL FOR 25c
SOUTHSIDE DRUG CO.

Three hit shoes with "Campus wise" style leaders. The authentic styling of these shoes has brought them unprecedented campus acceptance.
You can't go wrong on any of them
BALDWIN'S

See Our Beautiful New Stock
of
EVENING DRESSES
for Pan-Hels And Mid-Winters
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Yourself and Others

Needless to say Richmond was the most popular place this week-end. Those girls who went there were Anna George, Lillian Turner, Frances Adams, Jo Ware, Elizabeth Warner, Jeanne Warwick, Esther Atkinson, Sarah Massie, Goode, Ellen Maie Goode, Winnie Harrell, Nell Hall, Theresa Fletcher, Julia Hutchinson, Harriet Ball, Marjorie McAllister, Allene Overbey, Frances Pritchett, Catherine Parrish, Ann Turner, Christine Pittard, Mary Lee Pittard, Sue Harper, Shirley McCalley, Elizabeth Rapp and Elizabeth Scott.

Many girls attended the Walter P. Chrysler Art Exhibit which was held in Richmond. Those who saw the exhibit were Marie Allen, Louise Applewhite, Ann Ayres, Louise Boatwright, Carmen Booth, Eleanor Boothe, Lucille Cheatam, Sara Cline, Ruby Conner, Katie Crider, Marjorie Felts, Lee Foster, Natalie Francis, Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, Mary Haug, Jane Hobson, Frances Keck, Margaret Lawrence, Dorothy Marrow, Shirley McCalley, Nellie M. Newsome, Edith Nunnally, Elizabeth Ann Parker, Christine Pittard, Mary Lee Pittard, Lula Power, Marjorie Rice, Martha Roberts, Dorothy Rollins, Elizabeth Scott, Mildred Shelton, Mary Smith, Frances Strohecker, Elizabeth Vincent, Dell Warren, Mary E. White, Sue Harper, Betsy Trigg and Sarah Trigg.

Mid-winters at V. M. I. made quite a few girls head for Lexington, Virginia. Those who tripped the light fantastic were Anne Pulley, Jocelyn Gillum, Ann Page Francis, Miriam Jester, Carolyn Minnick, Charlotte Phillips, Shirley Button, Jeanne Sears, Virginia Barksdale, and Mary Lou Shannon.

The Black and White Ball in Roanoke attracted many of the girls. Those who attended were Miggie Mish, Dot Lawrence, May Wertz, Kitty Price, Virginia Campfield, Libby Carter, Frances Powell, and Margaret Bowling.

Quite a few girls traveled north of the Mason-Dixon line. Ruth Winstead attended dances at Harvard while Elsie Berry Yates went to New York City. Helen Lewis and Betty Youngberg spent their wek-end in Baltimore. The dances at Annapolis were attended by Peggy Lou Boyette and Lilly Bee Gray. Evelyn Thorington went to N. Y.

Mu Omega Tea

Elizabeth Anne Parker, Patsy Fletcher, and Elizabeth West entertained the Mu Omega members and pledges at a tea Sunday evening, February 23, at 5 o'clock in the Chapter room. Miss Leola Wheeler, adviser, was present.

A. S. T. Party

Carol Costello, Charlotte Greely, Lillian Turner, Katherine Burge, Mildred Morris, Irene Alderman, Nancy Saunders, and Rabbitt Cooney were joint hostesses at an informal party last Thursday night for Alpha Sigma Tau.

G. T. Pledge Banquet

The active members of Gamma Theta honored their pledges at a banquet at Longwood last Saturday night. Miss Florence Stubbs, faculty adviser, and the following alumnae were present: Mrs. Boyd Coyner, Mrs. Kyle Baldwin, Misses Harriette Vaden, Frances Dudley, Norma Wood, and Helen Williamson.

Entertains Advisor

Jo Ware, Anne Boswell, and Ellen Royall entertained on February 12 in honor of Miss Olive Iler's birthday in the Pi Kappa Sigma chapter room.

Gives Pledge Banquet

Members of Mu Omega will entertain tonight at a banquet to be held in the Longwood Tea Room at 6 o'clock. A color scheme of blue, green, and gold will be used. Fortunes will be the theme for the banquet.

Toasts will be given by Kay Spencer, Lulie Jones, Libby West, Betty Reid, Marty Roberts, and Patsy Fletcher. Sara Cline will be toastmistress. Harriet Walker is in charge of arrangements.

A. P. S. Meets

At the regular Alpha Phi Sigma meeting last Monday night plans were discussed concerning the person to receive the A. P. S. scholarship award this year.

Honor Anniversary

In honor of Phi Zeta Sigma's third anniversary yesterday, Sue and Ann Marshall gave a tea in their chapter room. Dr. Jarman, Mrs. Jeffers, Miss Cogbill, Miss Tupper, Miss Lila London and Miss Willie London were present.

Mrs. Asa D. Watkins, of Hampden-Sydney reviewed two books, "The Old Deal and the New", and "The Power of Non-Violence", at a luncheon given Saturday, February 22 by the A. A. U. W. in the College Tea Room.

Thirty-two members and guests were present. Miss Mary E. Peck was in charge of arrangements.

Dr. Jarman Attends Alumnae Luncheon

Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the college, was present at a luncheon Friday, February 21, in Baltimore given by the alumnae chapter of Baltimore. Friday afternoon he left for New York City, where he attended an alumnae luncheon Saturday. Dr. Jarman spent the remainder of the week-end with his son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. W. Dabney Jarman in Washington.

Library Offers Adventure To Those Seeking Adventure

The library—that huge new building just across the street from old library hall—is not at all the dull and uninteresting place it may seem to those who still judge it by its exterior. Perhaps the following conversation heard one night about ten o'clock will prove my statement.

"Oh hello Ann. Ho hum. I've just come from the library, and we did have the most delightful time. What? Yes of course you have fun in the library. Ha, I should say-y so! You know, tonight we were studying like fifty, when all of a sudden who should walk in but a H.-S. student. Well, from then on little work was done. May B. started giggling, as only she can, and that started us all. Jean H. was sitting across the hall writing a paper on Byron for Miss Nichols, but she had to kiss Don Juan good-bye for even he could not compete with a H. S. strutter. The M. Wright couldn't stand the pressure, so she started a little note around the room, when all of a sudden someone cried, "Great Caesar's Ghost, what is that Ayers gal doing?" Oh, she was just posing in imitation of the picture on the cover of Margaret Armstrong's Trelawny. There for a minute I was afraid she considered herself a Shakespearan actor—maybe she's been watching the practice of First Lady. Oh, and then came Sadie, arguing again, this time with Martha Whelchel, of all people.

"Gosh, it's quiet in here". D. D. came out with a loud whisper, "if only I had a radio and a few fire-crackers, I'd be happy for months in this place."

"No wonder I didn't study, for in came "Olive Oyle" Rosebro. "If only "Popeye" Hughes doesn't come in," volunteered the ever helpful Libby, "we'll be safe, maybe."

But no—Rosey was soon up to her old tricks grinning around at everybody, looking sillier by the minute. Now, I ask you—! Caralie over in the corner frowned several times, but finally gave it up a bad job, and was off on a crazy spree too. Teasing poor little "Teddy" again, I'll be bound. "Ha, you should have seen "Little One" Bennett over there playing train. She would push her chair back, then slide it forward, making little "choo-choo" sounds as she played. Some children—!

"Well, I saw there was no future in there with all that fun and fuss, so I strolled leisurely down three flights to first floor stacks. It's usually quiet and peaceful down there—but not tonight, cause Dottie Sue Simmons had found an old Virginian with several younger pictures of the faculty, so of course, we all gathered around to exclaim over the beauty of the girls—not to mention the handsome young profs!

"B. Reid didn't have anything to do, so she turned on the water—both faucets at once, and you should have heard the water groan and gurdle! Well, Peggy Watkins nearly jumped out of her chair.

"Ann Boswell was sitting in there at the desk when we came out. She was looking longingly at the cover on display of "For Whom the Bells Toll", wishing that the ten o'clock bell would soon toll so she could stop and go home.

"As she left the building, I heard Brookie say, "I've been in here since 7:30, and I haven't gotten a thing done. I can't understand it."

"And when we were out side, Dot Johnson forgot she could talk out loud—she had finally gotten up to a soft whisper by the time she left us.

"Ho, hum. Never a dull moment. But I certainly could use one to be filled with a little studying."

Mardi Gras

Continued from Page 1

the Arabian, a Swiss Alps couple, The Mad Russian, a onfederate Soldier, and a long-legged boy scout. The Bundles for Britian was a clever one too.

Then there was a certain one (Randy Cary) who had his big checkered flannel night gown censored and ended up by coming as an Engishman. P. S. Yes, he was wearing a raincoat. (What no umbrella!)

The low down rhythms of the Southern Serenaders proved most popular for the dancers. In fact, the music was so hot that several dancers set aside their shoes and tripped it "native style."

Knitting Again Cops Spotlight As Girls Aid British Soldiers

It's a knitting world again! It's the dormitories delight, it's delicious diversion, it's scheduled to keep you in stitches! Neither snow nor rain, nor rice, nor Germans can daunt these scarfs, helmets, and sweaters being knitted by S. T. C. girls. I'm sure you've seen the droves of girls streaming down the hall to classes with balls of yarn trailing behind them; I'm positive you've heard the password—knit a row, purl a row; I know that you've observed a sudden enthusiasm popping up everywhere. Well, it's all due to the work being done by the girls for the Bundles for Britian Society under the leadership of Mrs. Lancaster. Fundamentally, it's very simple. You're given the wool and the directions, and you're on your own from there on.

This New Year dawns on a world embattled and bleeding; a grave situation isn't helped by glum faces or defeatism. What is our place in such a world? We would get fun and satisfaction by contributing to the work of Bundles for Britian.

Hop Says . . .

We will clean your EVENING DRESSES to look like new at Reasonable Prices
Call . . .

DeLuxe Cleaners

PHONE 77

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

Planters Bank & Trust Company

Farmville, Virginia

Member: Federal Reserve System

Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

Styled Permanents at Vanity Beauty Shop
Phone 360

Visit the . . .
A & N
FOR ALL
Athletic Equipment
Come in and see our
Tennis Equipment
And other sport wear

STATE
"Your Community Center"

Thursday-Friday-Saturday
February 27-28-March 1
Katharine Hepburn James Stewart Cary Grant

"THE PHILADELPHIA STORY"

Next Monday-Tues. Mar. 3-4
CAROLE LOMBARD ROBERT MONTGOMERY

"MR. AND MRS. SMITH"

ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

69c Hose Club
FOR
Members Only
One Pair Full Fashioned
69c Hose
FREE when 10 pairs of 69c hose are purchased from our store. All 69c hose guaranteed

HUNGRY—VISIT
Shannon's
THE FOOD'S THE BEST
Phone 224 Good Service

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert
Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
338 MAIN STREET

20% Reduction on all Helena Rubinstien Products
Week of March 1-8
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Come to see us
FOR
A complete Line
OF
SANDWICH SPREADS, PKG. CHEES AND JAR CHEESE
The Economy Food Store

J. A. BURKHART
Blacksmithing—Machine Shop—Welding
General Repairing
218 222 North Street
FARMVILLE VA.

ANKLETS
For Spring
All colors, all sizes
15c and 20c
NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

Best Food in Town
Quick Service
COLLEGE SHOPPE
We Deliver Call 200

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

KLEANWELL
Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Copyright 1941, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Congratulations To Our Quiz Team

The Rotunda

Alumnae Are Always Welcome!

VOLUME XX — FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY MARCH 6, 1941 — NO. 20

Dr. Alice Salomon To Speak Friday About the Nazis

Received Degree Dr. of Philosophy, From U. of Berlin

"Some Personal Experiences among the Nazis" will be the topic of an address to be delivered at eleven o'clock Friday morning, March 7, in the auditorium of State Teachers College by Dr. Alice Salomon. As a humanitarian, sociologist, and writer, Dr. Salomon has become known as "the Jane Addams of Germany", devoting thirty years of her life in bettering the lives of men and women.

Dr. Salomon was born in Berlin in 1872, becoming a pioneer German social worker in the years of that country's greatest industrial and political development. She was responsible for the organization of the German School for Social Work in 1899 and served as its Director, influencing foreign as well as German students.

The University of Berlin awarded her the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in 1902 thereby becoming the first to overcome the prejudice that denied women the opportunity for higher education that dominated Germany for so many years. Her doctoral thesis entitled "The Causes of Unequal Pay for Equal Work of Men and Women" indicates the trend of her thinking at that time.

She was one of the organizers of the German National Council of Women and since 1908 has served as an officer of the International Council of Women. At

Continued on Page 4

Orchesis To Present Program Directed By Miss Kauzlarich

Orchesis, modern dance group, will present a dance program in collaboration with the dance composition and fundamentals classes in the gym Saturday morning, March 8. The presentation is under the direction of Miss Emily Kauzlarich of the physical education department.

"Greeting" by members of Orchesis with music by Kosa will open the program. "Up and Down," "Through the Town," and "All Around" are three children's pieces to be given by the 243 fundamentals class. "Processional" entitles the Sarabande by Vidal to be presented by the 243 fundamentals class.

"Today: A Theme and Variations" highlights the Orchesis numbers. Nancy Pierpont, a senior, composed the original theme which reflects social scenes taken from the man on the streets. Respective parts to this number are "Theme", "Rise of Power", "Destruction," (air raid); "Devastation," (hunger); and "Chaos" Variations of the theme are contributions from other Orchesis members and the music to the composition was composed by May Wertz, a junior.

Numbers by the dance composition class include "Primitive Canticles" with two parts, "Initiation", an Earth Primitive (slavic) and "Celebration," an Air Primitive (depicting Aztec Indians). "Cerebral Fantasy," a mental picture illustrated by circle Choreography, "Archaic Figures," portraying Truscan and Cretan figures familiar on bar reliefs and museum vases, and "Martyr," a medieval composition.

"Round" will be presented by 242 fundamentals class and "Spiritual" by 243 fundamentals class. "American Provincials" includes " Prairie Song," Orchesis; "Way Out in Idyho," 243 fundamentals class, and "Mountain Song," Orchesis.

Concluding with a lighter vein Orchesis interprets "Street Cries" with "Broom Man" and "Watermelons."

DR. ALICE SALOMON

S.T.C. Victorious in Quiz Contest

Mallory Freeman Conducts Program

Before a large, enthusiastic audience, S. T. C's Five Smart Girls, Pat Gibson, Patsy Smith, Jean Moyer, Polly Hughes, and Margie Rice, defeated the five challenging representatives from Hampden-Sydney College, Bill Baker, Lex Allison, Bill Dyer, Jim Cousar, and Keith Eubank, in the quiz contest staged last night, March 4, in the large auditorium for the benefit of the Southside Community Hospital in Farmville.

S. T. C.'s mental marvals proved themselves superior in mental equipment to the alleged "busters" of brains from near-by Death Valley by 25 points, the final score being Hampden-Sydney, 253 and S. T. C., 278. Mr. G. Mallory Freeman, of Richmond acted as master of ceremonies and tossed the interesting questions on general information to the contestants.

Before the contest began, the combined junior and senior A Capella choirs of this college presented the song "Faith In America", composed by Dr. Alfred E. Strick, professor of music at S. T. C. During the intermission the glee club of the visiting college presented "John Peel" and "Poor Ole Lazrus"; as encores they sang "Old Mother Hubbard" and "Animals Are Comin' ". Other musical interludes included solos by Peggy Bellus of S. T. C. and Ed Fields of Hampden-Sydney.

From 9 to 9:30 o'clock the tussle was broadcast over station W

Continued on Page 3

Siberian Singers To Appear Here Sat. As Lyceum

Group Will Present Varied Program; Vasilieff Directing

The Siberian Singers, under the direction of Nicholas Vasilieff, will be presented again as a Lyceum program, Saturday, March 9, in the S. T. C. auditorium. This group has appeared at Farmville for the past several years.

These Russian singers are nationally known, having appeared on radio programs and having made numerous recordings for Victor. They have been heard in Metropolitan centers and at schools and colleges throughout the country.

There are ten of these men, native Russians, who homeless today, bring to America the songs and melodies of the Russia of their youth.

The program is as follows:

1. Cherubim Hymn, D. Bortniansky; First Psalm, A. Archangelsky; Alleluia, Old Chant of Kiev Monastery; Behold, Bless Ye the Lord, Ippolitoff-Ivanoff.

2. Strolling Home, Folk Song; Burlaki, Folk Song; Barynia, Folk Song; Beneath the Snow my Russia Lies, Folk Song; Cadets Song, Traditional; Laughing Polka, Folk Song.

3. Song of the Russian Pilgrims, A. Seroff; What Do I Care?, Gypsy Song; The Old Refrain, Gypsy Song; Kalinka, Gypsy Song; Prelude in C Sharp Minor, Rachmaninoff.

S. T. C.'s Delegates Go To Tallahassee

Ann Ayers and Thelma Courtney returned to Farmville Sunday, March 2, after attending the Eighteenth Annual Southeastern Conference of International Relationship Clubs at Florida State College for Women, Tallahassee, Florida. They represented S. T. C.'s chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science fraternity. The convention was held on February 28 and March 1.

Ann and Thelma attended two round table discussions. They were "The European Theatre of War" and "Our Neighbors to the South." Both of these discussions were lead by Florida State College for Women students.

Next year the conference will be held at Georgia Tech University.

Scenes Behind the Scenes Provide Amusing Sidelights

What goes on here in this play? You who know Miss Wheeler's plays only as a thrilling finished product miss a lot of humor and—what have us?—romance, that goes on behind the scenes.

In order to arrive at that splendid finished product, Miss Wheeler makes good use of her vocal cords, what say Wahobble? But it wasn't the Wahabs fault, for as she was going out on the stage, what should get in her way but a nail? and what should said nail do but tear a mean hole in the rear of Wahab's skirt? Of course, those in the audience, including Miss Wheeler had no way of knowing just what the confusion and embarrassment among the actors and actresses performing on the stage; how could they know just why Wahab refused to turn her back to the audience? Since Miss Wheeler thought it was a recurrence of that old mistaken idea that the audience must be spared the knowledge that the actors have backs, naturally she sought to rid Wahab of that thought.

Mr. Moto is, of course, in his element. He turns twinkling eyes on all the performers, especially "Lillian", and provides a glad release from the stage strain. His hands resemble those of a Frenchman as he goes through his lines on the stage.

Tedo Savage, the ever sweet and charming boy, gave them all quite a scare last week when the report got out that he had measles. Imagine the surprise and disappointed stares that greeted him when he arrived on the scene, minus little red spots. "Well, I did think I had 'em", he grinned sheepishly.

Who said romance. Ah, no Alex you're mistaken—it's just a guilty conscience you're wearing, me lad. But isn't it funny how Alex always forgets his lines that come just after an especially tender scene between Hunter and Johnny? Alex and Keith both spend most of their time begging Miss Wheeler to let them do the romantic hero "just once."

Ah, Tedo again. Has anyone noticed the strange coincidence that "Emmy" Whelchel and Tedo are seldom apart for long? Of course, we realize that it is just necessary to the play—nothing

Continued on Page 4

Fifty-Seventh Founders Day Will Be Celebrated

Pictured above are Miss Grace Moran, president of the Alumnae Association, and M. B. Coyner, chairman of the Founder's Day committee.

Aged Customs and Traditions Give Colorful Background

Founders Day — what? A gay celebration when all the "Old Grads" return home for a week end of fun and renewed schoolgirl days. When? Why, the Saturday nearest March 7, of course, this year March 8. Where? At our own beloved S. T. C., Farmville, Virginia.

For about twenty years, some type of Founders Day program has been put on each year. In it's earlier days, the program consisted primarily of an address by some well-known speaker such as Dean Robert H. Tucker of Washington and Lee University, Miss Carrie Sutherlin, president of Arlington Hall Junior College or Dr. William T. Sawyer, president of the Medical College of Virginia. Then later, Founders Day was established more along the lines of entertainment, and several customs were begun that are still retained today. For instance, each year, there is an alumnae luncheon, usually held at Longwood, but this year to take place in the "Rec". On Friday night, there is usually a basketball game, often with our foremost rival, Madison College. This year, the varsity will take on the alumnae, so the game will probably be even more exciting than ever—(if possible).

The classes and various organizations on the campus used to present some kind of humorous skit each year, but now the entire student body gets together to put on a program. In previous years, swimming meets, dances, plays, and various other forms of enter-

Continued on Page 4

American U. To Vie With STC Team

Keck and Parker To Uphold Affirmative

The debaters from American University in Washington, D. C., will travel here tomorrow to meet Farmville in a return debate tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the small auditorium.

The question for debate will be the National Pi Kappa Delta question—Resolved that the nations of the Western Hemisphere should form a permanent union.

Frances Keck and Elizabeth Ann Parker will uphold the affirmative side, and American University the negative side.

The debate will be a decision one.

Seniors Win First In Sing Contest; Frosh Place Second

"Gee Whiz, Twice Widowed", a take-off on "Gone With The Wind" presented by the Senior Class, captured first honor in the annual Sing contest. The Freshman class received honorable mention for "Prince Wiffle-piffle Rides Again".

The Senior skit was written by Dotty Rollins and directed by Thelma Courtney and Helen Seward, while Warick Mitchell produced the Freshman entry.

The adventure of Princess Triptoes (Mildred Eades) among the forest of pussy-willow, weeping willow, dogwood and crab-apple trees, spring flowers and "tumbling brook" Pierce, was enlivened with the appearance of the hero Prince Whiffle-piffle (Liz Tenant) riding her handsome steed. Said Prince's conquest of the fair maiden was soon over but for the intervention of the three old menchiefs "Mud-in-the-Eye", Mildred Droste, "Hole-in-the-blanket", Anne Fitchette, and "Chief-Like-Them-Little", Anne Steward.

Their ultimatum was death. Hence the flames began to lap and all was over.

Jenkins and Rice Win Debate Against Lynchburg College

Myrtle Jenkins and Margie Rice defeated Lynchburg College in a debate last Wednesday night at Lynchburg.

The question for debate was the National Pi Kappa Delta question—Resolved that the nations of the Western Hemisphere should form a permanent union?

Myrtle and Margie upheld the negative side of the question showing the disadvantages and impossibilities of such a union.

Myrtle, a freshman, is a member of the debate club and was recently extended a bid to Pi Kappa Delta. She attended the Dixie Forensic tournament at Winthrop last fall. This is Margie's first year of intercollegiate debating.

'Moran, Coyner Arrange Events

Alumnae Will Play Varsity B. B. Team

The fifty-seventh anniversary of the founding of the State Teachers College at Farmville will be observed here Saturday, March 8.

Mr. M. B. Coyner, chairman of the Founders Day committee, states that no accurate estimate has been made on the number of alumnae expected to return; however, letters are being received every day from those who are planning to come.

The program, consisting of the scheduled meetings and entertainment, has been compiled by the Founders Day committee and has been listed by Mr. Coyner.

The Alumnae team and Varsity team will meet in a basketball game on Friday night at 8 o'clock in the gym. This is the first Varsity - Alumnae game to be scheduled and only those alumnae who have been active in sports activities since leaving school have been asked to participate.

The regular exercises will get underway Saturday morning, March 8, at 10:30 o'clock in the large auditorium. Various organizations on the campus will present their gifts to Dr. J. L. Jarman, who will accept them as a part of the Founders Day fund. Then Miss Grace Moran, president of the Alumnae Association will welcome all the alumnae, especially the three members of the class celebrating their fiftieth anniversary, and the large number who graduated twenty-five years ago. Special attention will be given the birthday classes, those classes that finished in 1901, 1911, 1921, and 1931. A chapter roll call will then be had by Miss Moran. Each chapter will present its gift to the Alumnae Association.

Following this meeting, Orchesis, modern dance group, in collaboration with the composition and fundamentals classes, will present a dance program in the gym which will be directed by Miss Emily Kauzlarich of the physical education department.

The Alumnae Luncheon and business meeting will be held in the recreation hall at 1 o'clock. At 3 o'clock the freshman gym classes will give a folk dance demonstration in the gym.

The Granddaughters club will entertain at a reception to be given at Longwood at 4 o'clock in honor of the alumnae. At 8 o'clock in the auditorium further entertainment will be given by the Siberian Singers who have been engaged to appear here at that time.

Assisting Mr. Coyner on the arrangements are Miss Moran, the four classmen: Mr. Raymond H. French, senior; Miss Rachel Royal, junior; Miss Olive T. Iler, sophomore; and Miss Emily Kauzlarich, freshman; Caralie Nelson, president of the student body, and three members of the student body, Elizabeth Ann Parker, Rachel DeBerry, and Anne Boswell.

IMPORTANT MEETING

At the Student Body meeting tonight at 7 o'clock a person will be elected to represent the Student body on the nominating committee for the major officers of next year and for the publication heads.

A final voting on the constitution will be taken tonight also.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Anne Cock ..... Sports Editor
Nancy Naff ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Anna Johnson,, Shirley McCalley, Faye Nimmo, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Jane Sanford, Dorothy Sprinkle, Elizabeth Tennant, Sara Trigg, Ella Banks, Weathers, Marjorie Garrison.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mary Keith Bingham, Mary St.Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Helen DeLong, Anne Moore, Mary Lily Purdum.

Typists

Chief Typist ..... Frances Pritchett
Typists—Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Thelma Courtney.

This issue in charge of Mary Lilly Purdum.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 5, 1941

Why Stop Now?

Alumnae chapters throughout the state, the faculty and administration of our college, the student body through various organizations on the campus, local civic clubs, and individuals have an opportunity on Founders Day to give gifts to our school.

Contributions in previous years have given us our Student Building. The entire debt of this building was paid on Founders Day in 1939. Because this debt has been paid, there is no reason for us to stop giving presents now. On the contrary, we should welcome the chance to present gifts to our college for various improvements on the campus.

Do not forget that great things usually have their start as little things.

—M. L. P.

It's Our Day, Too!

Why do so many students on this campus consider Founders Day a holiday? It is because we have no classes on that day!

Whether we realize it or not, the alumnae who will be here Saturday are our guests. It is up to each student to make them feel genuinely at home. When people visit in our homes, the way that we treat them will be the way that they will remember us. So the alumnae will judge our college by the way we act when they are here.

All students, especially the members of the two graduating classes who will be alumnae next year, should attend the business meeting Saturday afternoon. Only in active participation can we get an idea of what's going on.

Let's cooperate in the things that can help us and in the things that we can help. Founders Day is for us as well as for the alumnae!

—M. L. P.

Prelude From Junior Build'g

Big dance night at Farmville State
Is really something to relate.
When eight gongs ring from library way,
Preparations begin and to heck with play.

Water starts running, but from Second floor up
Even Ponce de Leon couldn't fill his cup.
So a saucy voice yells from Third floor down:
"Hay, go easy down there! Do you want to drown?"
The quip, 'Every man for himself', still goes,
Some gal took the hoop from under my nose.

A telegram comes from Ann from Bill:
"Darn—I knew he wouldn't come
He never will!"
Doesn't anyone posses a red velvet coat
Or a rhinestone necklace to encircle milady's throat?
Pat's flowers are red and the glamor gown pink—
"Golly, men have brains but never seem to think"

And so it goes on for minutes and hours
Until, alas, they descend from Junior towers:
Each tiny curled lash is a work of art
Done wth the motive just to break his heart.
Happy and gay and 'til twelve they'll dance,
Snaking and breaking and finding romance.

By Martha Cottrell

So They Say

Who borrows, never lends?
Your roommate.
Who brings about her low-brow friends?
Your roommate.
Who hogs your only study lamp?
Who borrows your last postage stamp?
Who wears your best shirt out to camp
Your roommate.
But, who's a constant pal to you?
Who understands the things you do?
Who knows and loves you through and through?
Your Mother!

—Sullins Reflector

Platter Chatter

By JEANNE SEARS

'Twas said that Artie Shaw had the idea that jazz music could purr as well as blast, be subtle as well as obvious, and he has proved his statement. You'll go overboard for a particular new release of his, namely—"Dancing in the Dark". Such a recording could only have been made with his large orchestra—the strings, sonority of the brass, and above all, Artie's master musicianship. We always expect good recordings from this band but this is masterful. The reverse is Artie's Gramery Five coupling chamber music and jazz is "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes."

Now to Glenn and his dance version of "You Stepped Out of a Dream", then he steps up the tempo a bit for "Ring, Telephone, Ring." The effortless singing of the Modernaires and Ray Eberle mark the first while Ray takes over alone for the second. Note the way eight brass build a chord in single note punching fashion in "You Stepped."

Here's a little disc gossip. Larry Clinton's new theme "Isn't It Time to Love", a original composition has been waxed for Bluebird. The draft has stolen Bill Slunie from Alvino Rey's brass section. Tex Stafford, girl member of T. Dorsey's Pied Pipers, debutes as a soloist on Dorsey's new "For You". Solid sender, too! Dorothy Claire that replaced Marion Hutton with Miller, has released, "There'll Be Some Changes Made".

L. Clinton, W. King, and V. Monroe, are supplementing their maestri ability by taking aviation. Then, too, did you hear Shaw on the "Spam" program Monday night at 10:30? Keep your radio on 'till 11 and hear him — but don't tell Liggie I told you to—

Looking 'Em Over

It's not often that Farmville has two sets of dances in one week end—maybe that accounts for all this "Common Gossip" that we've picked up!

One thing worries us in particular—that is, why did Esther Atkinson need two crutches Saturday morning after manipulating very well at H. S. Friday nite with just one cane—who or what gave her the physical strength? . . . Sarah Hardy was seen with Buddy Murdock—current campus sweet throb.

S. T. C.'s Pan Hels . . . . . we were glad to see such perennials as P.V. and her Garland, Jack with Thea, Nancy Nall and Billy; and Bobby and Bess, who was without her usual red roses. We didn't know that the girls in the H. M. House ever had time for anything else, but we actually saw some of them at the dances this week end.

Lena Butterworth was probably the happiest person in school Saturday. She finally got that cute little Johnson boy from the University down. But it was a shame that he couldn't stay longer. Professors will give exams on Monday!

We've always been laboring under the delusion that the floor was for dancing, not a place to rest! Boo, couldn't you and Alec make it upstairs or even to the side of the floor or would you rather be stepped on?

And incidentally, Harpoo, you can send Doggett the "Rotunda" this week—He knows what you were doing last week end. . . . . .

Can we always trust our friends? We think Kit should keep an open eye on Gussie. Lucy is a smoothie, you know.

We're looking forward to seeing all the old girls back this week end, but we aren't overlooking those who were here last week end—Among them was Johnny Lybrook who had an upperhand with that wonderful dancer—Norton (even if he was minus one collar button!

Is it true that "Charlie Hop" has bought the town out of Sloan's liniment and rubbing alcohol? Couldn't be in preparation for the S. T. C.—Alumnae basketball game Friday, could it? Good luck, girls!

S. T. C. welcomed with open arms all of those Tech men who came down for the dances. 'Tis reported that they started out with all good intentions of going to H. S. but ended up here—Among them were Stu Johnson and Lee Tait who were stealing Spryes limelight. Uniforms are wonderful things.

There are some major issues that really should be settled soon—If anyone knows the answers, we'd like to have your help—1. Why did Anne Cocks and Jim wait until intermission to come to Pan Hels? Was she afraid to let anyone else dance with him? 2. How did Betty Ballard Jones manage to leave her date at 10:05 and arrive at the dance in evening clothes at 10:10—What was the hurry? 3. Why do we always have epidemics on dance week ends. First it was flu, and now it is measles.

We know of at least one case where "absence makes the heart grow fonder"—Graham wired Jane Engleby that after four years he still loved her. Such endurance!

The proverbial "little bird" informed your "ravin" reporter that there was some high-powered making in a high powered convertable Friday night, or do you remember J. S.?

Ruth Woody is givin Mr. Roosevelt some very strong competition with her little fire side chat—one of the band boys, wasn't he, Ruth? Keep your fingers crossed, maybe he'll write.

Seems barely possible that Mr. Lester D. couldn't take it this week end—cause he came, he saw, he scampered. . . .

Mary Harvie, the Mac we've heard about is really a honey—bet Pelham would just love him. .

Some people catch cold, others catch the dickens, and still others catch the measles—too bad Pat—he really should have had it when he was a child.

Congrats to the Seniors and Freshmen for doing so beautifully in the sing contest.

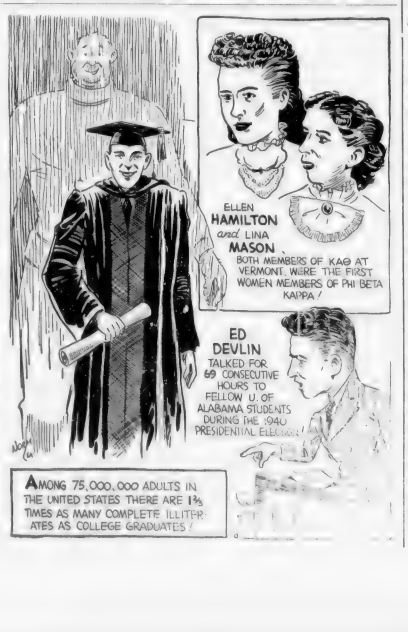
Too bad that there can't be more lads available like Jean Hatton's Pan Hel date. He was really a bonshell, Hatton!

Anne Ellett's date for cotillion sounds interesting—can't wait!

We hear that Hunter Peake is afraid that Virginia Campfield will get the measles—Wonder why?

How does Martha Smith keep two Hampden-Sydney men going at the same time? More power to you, Martha!

We're wondering how the Blair Goode, Tracy, Worsham, triangle will come out—Just who is leading in that affair?



Has Ann Ware decided that there are other fish in the sea or is she still carrying the torch for Buster?

A bouquet of roses to J. B. Jackson for his poised attitude in the dining hall Sunday night.

The quiz contest proved enlightening. . . especially about certain people. Evidently Beezie "the sweet young thing" hasn't been fully instructed in the arts of love. . . not even after being pursued by two well-rounded Hampden-Sydney gentlemen.

Rumors have reached our ears that Thelma Courtney did right well for herself at the Pi Gamma Mu convention in Florida. Incidentally, Miss Ayres we haven't heard full particulars of your trip. Was it as successful as Detroit?

And Anne Boswell what were you doing chasing an orchid up the street about 2:00 a. m. last Saturday morning.

Gleanings

By MARIE ALLEN

We have been asked by our President, our Governor, and our local influential citizens to cooperate in "the defense program"—to do everything in our power to help this gigantic program go forward and to impede as little as possible anything aiding this program. All groups are cooperating with the exception of one group, that of labor, which this present administration has done more for than any other group. We continue to have strikes—completely stopping production of articles needed for defense. Only last week in plants producing defense material and employing nearly 100,000 persons, there were either strikes or threatened walkouts.

But when we think of forcing these people to continue working we are reminded that this is Mr. Hitler's technique and so of course we must shy away from that. And then we remember that these strikes are brought on by controlled unions that tell the workers when to strike, oftentimes when they'd much rather be working. We become so confused we really wonder if our old idea of democracy with its liberty and freedom really does or really can exist in this war torn world. We would be depriving people of their liberty if we told them they must work and as things stand it really isn't true freedom of individuals ing to prepare ourselves for defense — in a certain plant.

The very knowledge that such a state of affairs exists—strikes when we are rushing to prepare ourselves for defense — should arm us with some ideas as to the best possible solutions to such a problem. The knowledge that the totalitarian states started defense long before we did, that at the present they are ahead of us, should be enough to influence every loyal American to want to do all they can for their country. Yet such does not seem to be the case. Some groups are so selfish that even though there is a boom from the war, they want more and are willing to impede a program that is aimed primarily at saving for them the ideals of their country.

Those laborers are more than glad to say that they do not want war. They want to see the Allies successful, they want to see Hitler beaten (probably this more than anything else). Oh yes, they are intent enough in their hope for a German defeat, are intent enough in their belief that if Germany wins we will be next, but to stave off that possible attack, to increase the possibility of that possible defeat, they would strike in defense industries. These are the leaders in the unions that I am talking about—those few people that influence and bring on strikes, those few people that direct union policy.

The policy advocated by Mr. Knudsen, that is, that 60 per cent of the workers must vote to strike with a 30 day period for work on adjustment of differences before the strike can take place, seems to offer a solution to the problem, if it is adopted and enforced. Yet the very thought that such regulation is needed is disheartening. It seems unbelievable that people would refuse to advance a policy that is designed primarily for their benefit—such a policy that these people really want and advocate in its broadest implications!

Sports Slants

By ANNE COCK

The March wind doth blow
And we shall have snow
And what will poor Robin do then?
He'll sit in a barn
To keep himself warm
And tuck his head under his wing.

But no matter what, don't y'all be like the Robin! The wind has really been blowing these first few days of March but at least, it has blown in some right interesting things.

Take that swimming meet for example. Have you ever heard of so many new records set and old ones broken? Seems we ought to have more such meets. You know the old saying 'Tiz sweet to meet,' etc. Seriously though, Southern Region Record for 75 yard medley relay is not to be sneezed at, nor are four first places. And what an exciting last minute as the final outcome of the closing event. "Congratulations" to the varsity swimmers and a "come back again some time" to Fairfax Hall. We enjoyed it.

Last week's basketball game was called off—there was snow down Peninsula way—not that the team can't play in the snow, but it does make traveling difficult. It is hoped the weather will stay pretty long enough to have the postponed event this week.

Whether the weather permits or no, however, there is one game that will come off this week—the Alumnae are to meet the Varsity Saturday night in the gym in the game of games for the season—Alumnae vs. Varsity. It's the big Founders Day event and ought to be one in a million. Unlike a Faculty-Student game, these two teams should afford exciting competition rather than amusement. The members of the alumnae team are Varsity Grads (not ancient history) and memories will recall the days of Jenny Carroll, Ellen Gilliam, Kathleen Ranson, Virginia Whitehead Smith, Dot Snedegar, Martha Gunter, Betty Butterworth, and Agnes Bondurant. See you there!

Just scads of people have signed for the Ping Pong Tournament, but there really should be more of you who play. Or have you forgotten that the paper to sign is on the A. A. bulletin board and just waits your Jorn Henry? Remember, if you play you're giving Red and White or Green and White that much better chance to win because players from the two colors are going to be paired for the contest. Take a pencil the next time you go to the P. O.

The School of Golf is on the go. Instructions are being given at night in the indoor golf set up, and all reports show those girl fans are having a wonderful time. Because most of them are beginners they have decided to hold off the awarding of the balls until the players get the swing of the thing. If you want to learn to play or keep in practice until spring, there's your chance. Clubs and balls are there all the time.

Indian Summer—makes you wish you could get in a good game of baseball or tennis, doesn't it? Something to look forward to come spring. But closer here than those two games is volley ball. Those who have the inside dope claim practices will begin as soon as exams are over. Well—not that I'm in any hurry to welcome exams, but it does sound like worth waiting for.

Pictured above is S. T. C.'s varsity swimming team and its instructor. Reading left to right, they are: Dorothy Gaul, Dorothy Daracott, Harriett Walker (captain), Gloria Pollard, Ruth Dugger, Nancy Dupuy, Shirley Pierce and Patricia Gibson (instructor).

Farmville Wins Swimming Meet

Fairfax Hall Loses By Score 28 to 27

Four first places gave Farmville winning points over Fairfax Hall in the swimming meet held at the pool Thursday afternoon, February 27.

Harriet Walker, captain, and Nancy Dupuy, Frances Parham, Gloria Pollard, Dorothy Gaul, Ruth Dugger, and Dot Daracott, who compose Farmville's varsity team, netted 28 points to Fairfax Hall's 27.

Dupuy set a new pool and school record when she swam to first place in the 40 yard breast stroke. Time (0:32).

Southern Region record, and the pool and school records for the 75 yards medley relay were broken by Gaul, Dupuy and Dugger (0:53)

Pollard, Dupuy, Dugger and Parham ran up a new pool and school time for the 100 yard relay; (1:01.9) This is one second behind the Southern Region record.

(0:26) is the pool record for the 40 yard crawl which was equaled by Dugger and defeated by Leonard of Fairfax Hall (:23.8)

Gaul, Dupuy and Dugger swam out ahead in the final event—the 75 yard medley relay—to give Farmville the two point lead over Fairfax Hall.

A summary of the meet follows:

40 yard free-style won by Leonard, Fairfax Hall; Dugger, Farmville, second; May, Fairfax Hall, third; (time—0:23.8)

40 yard breast stroke won by Dupuy, Farmville; Roundtree, Fairfax Hall, second; McKenney, Fairfax Hall, third (time—0:32.2)

40 yard back stroke won by Gaul, Farmville; Dessey, Fairfax Hall, second; Walker, Farmville, third; (time 0:33.8)

100 yard relay won by Farmville (Pollard, Dupuy, Dugger, Parham) (time 1:01.9)

Diving won by Leonard, Fairfax Hall; Radcliffe, Fairfax Hall, second; Pollard, Farmville, third.

75 yard medley relay won by Farmville (Gaul, Dupuy, Dugger) (time 0:53)

Riding Club To Give Exhibition

The Riding club will sponsor a riding exhibition tentatively scheduled for April 5, at Longwood.

Members of the club will be dressed in costumes to demonstrate every type of riding, including the western style, bareback style, Indian style, English-show style, hunting seat, and polo riding.

Plans are being made for a mock wedding on horseback, a western skit, a small exhibit in jumping, and different formations.

Practice For Ping Pong in Both Recs

Ping Pong will get underway in a few days. Sign up on the A. A. bulletin board before it's too late.

Tables for practies may be found in the "Rec" in the main building and in the Senior Rec. The plan this year is to match Green and White players against Red and White players to make the competition keener.

To date the following girls have signed to play: Shirley Pierce, Esther Coleman, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Louise Phillips, Elizabeth Barlow, Anna Parker, Louise Rice, Helen McIlwaine, Nell Hurt, Jane Scott, Nancy Dupuy, Spilly Purdum, Florence Lee, and Winifred Wright.

Alumnae To Play Varsity B. B. Team

The Battle of Brains last night! The Battle of Brawn Friday night! And what a game that ought to be. With all those stars of days gone by back to meet Farmville's Varsity basketball team in the game of the year—the event that is to climax Founders Day—the Alumnae-Varsity Basketball game, Friday night at eight in the gym.

Could be we're to see such players as Sure Shot Carroll (Jenny) in action again, while wary Virginia Whitehead Smith guards with a gleam in her eye.

Battling Betty Butterworth (one of the twins) will be here to sling the ball for the Alumnae, along with dashing Dot Snedegar and smashing Agnes Bondurant!

Completing this pick 'em up, knock 'em down combination we find Kathleen Ranson and Ellen Cilliam returning to roll up the score, together with last but not least that marvel—Martha Gunther!

Such is to be the line up against our brave, brawny, beautiful team—can we win?

Somewhere has been reported—"A winning combination, that varsity squad". Time and time alone will tell.

Quiz Contest

Continued from Page 1

RNL in Richmond. During this half hour, the Hampden-Sydney team piled up 115 points while the S. T. C. representatives scored only 108 points.

The judges for the contest were Professors Thompson and Holton of Hampden-Sydney and S. T. C., respectively.

DUKE UNIVERSITY
School of Nursing
DURHAM, N. C.

The Diploma of Graduate Nurse is awarded after three years. The entrance requirements are intelligence, character, and graduation from an accredited High School. Preference is given to those who have had college work.

The annual tuition of $100 covers the cost of maitenance, uniforms, books, etc.

Catalogues, appplication forms, and information about requirements may be obtained from the admission committee.

When better sandwiches are made COLLEGE SHOPPE will make them

We Deliver Call 200

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

Charm Bracelets and Sport Pins
Martin, the Jeweler

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

BUTCHER'S
The convenient store for faculty and student body.
Good things to eat and drink

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

FOR FOUNDER'S DAY—White sweaters, white skirts $1.98 and $2.95. Loafer oxfords $2.45 to $3.95.
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Charge it if you like

THEY'RE HERE—Loafer and Bootee Oxfords—Two tones & solid colors ..... $2.95 to $3.95
DOROTHY MAY STORE
The College Headquarters

Hop Says . . .
Make a Good Impression Founders Day
With "White" white
CALL 77
DeLuxe Cleaners
PHONE 77

Long sleeve gabardine blouses in new Spring Colors
$1.00
NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c Store

Try Our Saturday Special
• ANY 10c DRINK PLUS
• ANY 10c SANDWICH PLUS
PIE A LA MODE
All for 25c
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

WHITE SKIRTS
SWEATERS & BLOUSES
FOR FOUNDERS DAY
Second Floor $1.98-$2.98
DAVIDSON'S
Farmville's Best Store

Yourself and Others

Lynchburg has really had its day of reckoning with Richmond, what with making top honors this week end as the S. T. C. attractor.

The Misses who enjoyed the week-end in said Lynchburg included: Nancy Wolfe, Roberta Wheeler, Elizabeth Bernard, Anne Boswell, Anne Bradshaw, Edna Campbell, Harriet Cantrell, Florence Carr, Mary Carson, Mary Ann Dryden, Eleanor Folk, Sarah M. Goode, Catherine Gosney, Jean Hatton, Polly Hughes, Nancy Hutter, Mariam Jester, Dot Lawrence, Madge McFall, Louise Painter, Nancy Pierpont, Carrell Pugh, Ruth Lea Purdum, Margie Rice, Geraldine Smith, Jeanne Warwick, May Winn, Mary K. Zehmer, Myrtle Jenkins, Betsy Moore, Arlene Wright, Frances Elliott, Elizabeth Brown and Martha Crawley.

To Richmond went the Misses Connie Arwood, Felicity Apperly, Marjorie McAllister, Gerry Ackiss, Sydney Bradshaw, Ann Burgwyn, Helen Dawson, Ruth Dugger, Mary Sue Edmonson, Theresa Fletcher, Ann Fitchette, Marjory Garrison, Winnie Harrell, Virginia Hill, Constance Loftin, Nona McGuire, Nancy Maclay, Dot Massie, Nancy Naff, Opal Nelson, Jeannie Noell, Jane Lee Sink, Keith Smith, Anabell Wescott, Elizabeth and Ann Williams, Marian Worsham.

Lots 'n lots of S. T. C. girls went to Roanoke, and lots more went to Portsmouth, Norfolk, and Suffolk. But the biggest and longest trips were journeyed by the Misses Ann Ayers and Thelma Courtney to Talahassee, Florida, not to overlook the New York visitors, Misses Josephine Newman, and Evelyn Thorington. Miss Martha Smith and Miss Nan Duer came in third for distance by going to Raleigh, North Carolina.

Spring Cotillion Set For April 9

Boonie Stevenson, president of the Cotillion club has announced that the date set for Spring Cotillion is April 19.

A tea dance will be given from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon and the dance will be at 8:30 o'clock. Faye Brandon, head of the music committee, is in charge of engaging the orchestra. Assisting her are Harriet Cantrell, Emily Hoskins, and Virginia Howell.

Dr. Salomon to Speak

Continued from Page 1

the end of the first World War she was presented with the Red Cross Medal for her leadership in the work of the Women's Voluntary Corps. The Silver Medal for Special Service to the state, bestowed only by the unanimous vote of the Prussian Cabinet, was awarded to her in 1932 on her 60th birthday.

Simultaneously, her health service work was recognized by the University of Berlin, which conferred upon her the honorary degree of Doctor of Medicine. However, five years later, in 1937 her life of service to her native country was interrupted by an order of expulsion from the Nazi secret police.

Planters Bank & Trust Company

Farmville, Virginia

Member: Federal Reserve System

Federal Deposit Ins. Corp

Visit the . . .

A & N

FOR ALL

Athletic Equipment

Come in and see our

Tennis Equipment

And other sport wear

G. T. Party

The Gamma Theta pledges entertained the old girls at a party Friday night, February 28, at 9:30 in the chapter room.

Give Interesting Parties

All the sororities were hostesses to active members and their dates, and pledges at intermission parties Saturday night, March 1, at 10:30 in their respective chapter rooms.

T. S. U. Given Tea

Miss Helen Draper entertained the members and pledges of Theta Sigma Upsilon with a tea at her home on Saturday afternoon, March 7, at 4:30.

Guests included Miss Carolyn Cogbill, Pan Hellenic advisor, Miss Mary Haynes, a patron, and Miss Mary Walker Mitchell, an alumna.

Founders Day

Continued from Page 1

tainment have amused our guests. Every year the freshman class does folk dances in the afternoon, this custom will be continued this year as each freshman does her bit for the freshmen of yesteryear.

On Saturday morning, everyone gathers in the large auditorium when various alumnae chapters present greetings and gifts, and some kind of gift-giving student program is presented. Up until the time Student Building was paid for in 1939, these gifts went towards the payment on it. Now, however, Student Building is all ours, so the fund goes to pay for those things that will add beauty or interest to our college, but are not provided for in any other appropriation. For instance, one year the fund provided for a lovely antique table for Longwood.

In 1934, the "Big Year," the fiftieth anniversary was celebrated. Dr. George W. Jeffers, Professor of Biology, was chairman and he really "did himself—and the college—proud". That was the biggest year of all, but the "girls" still continue to come back each year, for Founders Day is their day.

So come next Friday, when you see on our campus some familiar ladies who know their way about, just settle down and do your best to make this week-end as much fun for them as their week-ends spent here in previous years were.

Scenes Behind Scenes

Continued from Page 1

personal.

Poor Gene Hardy Kilmon is having a hard time. She has sent to several places for striped pants for the boys, and purple dresses large and "Dowy" enough for the patriotic women who prove that it must be an "awful healthy occupation", in the work of the naive Emmy.

Well, to be real original, the play must go on—and does!! But those behind the scenes episodes provide fun and release to keep away the least shadow of monotony as the faithful cast gathers day after day to work hard that the final play might measure up to the high standard of Miss Wheeler's previous productions.

STATE

"Your Community Center"

Wednesday-Thursday Mar. 5-6

JOEL McCREA LARAINE DAY

"Foreign Correspondent"

Friday-Saturday March 7-8

HUMPHREY BOGART IDA LUPINO

"HIGH SIERRA"

Next Mon.-Tues. March 9-10

FREDERIC MARCH MARGARET SULLAVAN

"SO ENDS OUR NIGHT"

Dr. Wynne Appoints Student Teachers For Spring Quarter

Student teachers for the elementary grades at the Training School and at John Randolph have been appointed for the Spring quarter by Dr. J. P. Wynne, head of the Education Department.

The following girls are teaching at the Training School under their respective supervisors: the Kindergarten and first grade supervised by Miss Mary B. Haynes and Mrs. Marshall Watkins are being taught by Louise Hendrick, Thelma Hunt, and Mary Riggan. Letha Baines and Virginia Davis are teaching in the second grade, under Miss Sybil Henry's supervision. Miss Ida W. Penny of the third grade has Mary Anne Dryden, Katheryn Weaver, Lois Harrison and Helen Keehn. Working under Miss Georgia Norris in the fifth grade are Julia Beard, Ann Burgwyn, and Evelyn Pulley.

Miss Alice E. Carter, Miss Watkins, Miss Beach, and Miss Bradshaw, supervisors in the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades, have charge of these girls: fifth grade, Cynthia James and Virginia Watts; fourth and fifth grades, Lucille Tweedy and Margaret Foster; sixth grade, Mary Elizabeth Brinkley and Harriett Haskins.

Those girls teaching at John Randolph are: first grade Eleanor Scott; second grade, Mae Hale, third grade, Grey Walden; fourth grade, Dorothy Allen; and fifth grade, Frances Hughes. Miss Pauline Camper and Miss Annie Laurie Stone will supervise these teachers.

English Society To Sponsor Sandburg

Beore Eh Thorn, honor society in English, has announced that it will sponsor Carl Sandburg on March 25 in the large auditorium at 8 o'clock. The date is tentative, however.

The program will include a reading of some of his poems and a lecture.

Speaks in Chapel

Rev. Cary Welsiger, pastor of the Olivet Presbyterian Church near Charlottesville, spoke in chapel yesterday morning.

For several years Rev. Welsiger has worked with the Leper Colony in India.

S. A. Legus, Tailor

Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing

We call for and deliver

All Work Guaranteed

Phone 203

ROSE'S

5c—10c—25c Store

On the Corner

69c Hose Club

FOR

Members Only

One Pair Full Fashioned

69c Hose

FREE when 10 pairs of 69c hose are purchased from our store. All 69c hose guaranteed

HUNGRY—VISIT

Shannon's

THE FOOD'S THE BEST

Phone 224 Good Service

Patronize

Patterson Drug Co.

—AT—

Money Saving Prices

—FOR—

Drugs and Toiletries

Expert

Prescription Service

Clean Fountain

Featuring

Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream

238 MAIN STREET

Hampden-Sydney Mid-winter Dance Attracts Farmville Girls

Hampden-Sydney Mid-winters proved a popular pastmes for S. T. C. girls last Friday and Saturday nights. Those girls attending and their dates were: Boo Barham, Alex Jones; Alice Belote, John Hill Shaw; Josephine Bishop, Billy Grey; Anne Boswell, Buck Crockett; Betty Bridgeforth, Dick Snydor; Lucy Call, Walter Buchanan; Virginia Campfield, Pedo Savage; Jo Canada, Billy Baskerville; Martha Crawley, Jack Moulton; Dorothy Sue Crumley, Frank Sullivan; Nan Duer, Buck Buchanan; Catherine Dunton, Billy Lyle; Ora Earnest, Henry Sheppard.

Mary Sue Edmonson, George Topping; Mary Hunter Edmunds, Henry Wiseman; Betty Fahr, Buck Thompson; Jane Ford, Bob Irby; Helen Gilliam, Watt Shield; Sarah Massie Goode, Kossen Gregory; Jeanne Hall, Bill Hopkins; Emily Hoskins, Wright Gouldin; Cynthia James, Marion Topham; Lorraine Jansen, Quellin Keath; Dorothy Johnson, Henry Newbill, Beth Johnson, William Flanagan; Inez Jones, Lee Oliver.

Nancy Langhorne, Jimmy Robertson; Helen Lewis, Randolph Cary; Ruth Loving, Sydney Weed; Jane McGinnis, Tom Ford; Helen McIlwaine, J. B. Jackson, Aline Markland, Jimmy Cain; Carolyn Minnick, Charlie Graham; Jennie Noell, Booty Shelton; Irma Page, E. W. McCormick; Louise Parcell, Ned Douglas; Jack Parsons, A. Bynum; Agnes Patterson, Henry Wiseman; Estelle Paulette, Dick Hutchinson, Agnes Pickral, J. D. Ridgeway; Nancy Pierpont Walter Spyre; Frances Powell, Hunter Leach.

Frances Pritchett, Sam Lippincott; Nelle Quinn, Bill Buchanon; Cottie Radspinner, Jim Peden; Nell Richard, John McNeil; Mary Riggan, Henry Green; Dot Robbins, Powell Tynes; Ann Roberts, Ned Crawford; Jeanne Sears, Henry Scholz; Helen Seward, Emmett Hoy; Mary Lou Shannon, Bill Gibson; Gerry Smith, Cecil Carpenter; Martha Smith, Billy Russell; Betty Smithdeal, Ed Vaden; Elizabeth Townsend, Craigh Burks; Ruby Trice, Zander Williams; Dreama Wald, Ned Crawley; Josephine Ware, William Garrett.

Elizabeth Warner, Lewis Timberlake; Jeanne Warwick, John Pancake; May Wertz, Henry Roediger; Barbara White, Bob Richman; Pat Whitlock, Billy Willis; Elizabeth Williams, Tom Miller; Marion Wordham, Bill Tracy; Elsye Berrye Yates, Sam Smith; Sara Cline, Bob Dabney; Genevieve Cooke, Fred Edmunds; Roberta Grigg, Bill Gibson; Aline Markland, Jimmy Cain; Dorothy Marrow, Linton Ward; Marie Utt, Charles King; Jean Weller, Clemmer Peck; Margaret Whitfield, Joe Makken; Mary Keith Bingham, Billy Bingham; Lena Hubbard, Mutt Eastham.

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

KLEANWELL

Cleaners & Tailors

Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling

Main St. Opposite P. O.

Phone 98

Under the management of

"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Come to see us

FOR

A complete Line

OF

SANDWICH SPREADS, PKG. CHEES AND JAR CHEESE

The Economy Food Store

J. A. BURKHART

Blacksmithing—Machine Shop—Welding

General Repairing

218 223 North Street

FARMVILLE VA.

Four Are Present At N. E. A. Meeting In Atlantic City

Attending the meeting of the National Education Association in Atlantic City, February 20-26, were Dr. John P. Wynne, Mr. T. A. McCorkle, Mr. Alfred Wingo, and Dr. George W. Jeffers.

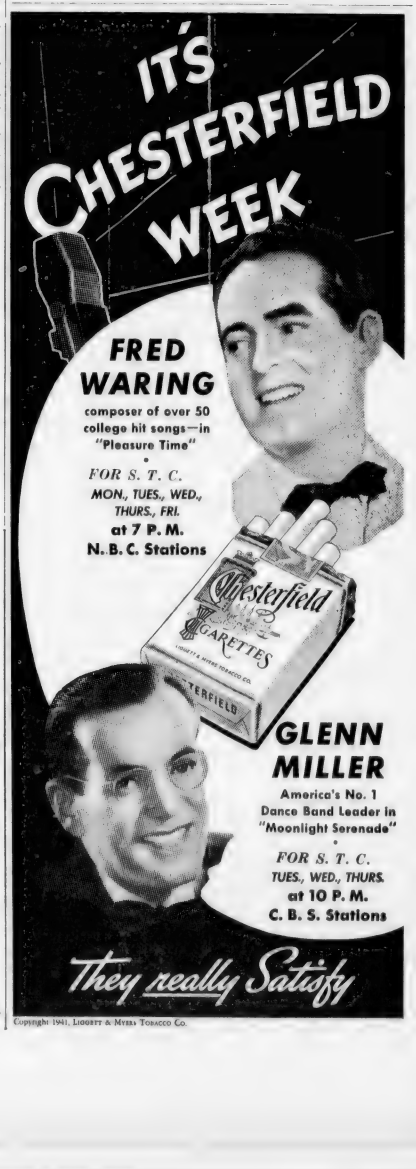
Eight Sororities Entertained At Pan-Hel Dance

The Pan-Hellenic Association entertained the eight sororities and about 200 guests Saturday night, March 1, at 8:30 P. M. with their annual gala dance. The gym, usually so bare and athletic looking, bloomed forth in all its gaiety with pale blue, green, aqua, and lavender decorations. Festive streamers hung from the ceiling coming together in the center amid the vari-colored balloons.

"V. M. I. Commanders" furnished the music, and played the no-break numbers for the sororities in their best fashion. Rhythm reigned supreme.

Intermission was at 10:30 at which time the various sororities entertained their guests in the sorority chapter rooms.

The key-note of the discussions was: "how we can best prepare ourselves for national defense". Other subjects emphasized were "how to improve our democracy", and "the continuation of education through life".



These meetings are held twice annually. The summer session will be held in Boston.

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Careful Management Courteous Service

Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Beware!
Save Your May Day Practice Schedule

The Rotunda

Congratulations to New Publication Heads

VOLUME XX — FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 12, 1941 — NO. 21

S. T. C.-H.-S. C. Stage "First Lady" March 14 And 15

Students' Lyceum; Proceeds Will Aid Bundles for Britain

Twenty-three students from S. T. C. and Hampden-Sydney will face the footlights Friday and Saturday, March 14 and 15 for the two performances of "First Lady". This is the annual spring play presented by the two colleges and directed by Miss Leola Wheeler.

For S. T. C. students, the play is one of the regular lyceum numbers on the annual school program. They may attend either night. Bundles for Britain will receive funds from all outside tickets excepting those of Hampden-Sydney students.

"First Lady", written by George Kaufman and Katherine Dayton, uses one of the largest casts ever presented on our stage by the Dramatic Club. The scene is laid in the diplomatic circles of Washington, D. C. Mary Hunter Edmunds as Lucy Chase Wayne will take the female lead. Opposite her, as Stephen Wayne, Secretary of State, is Johnny Pancake. Lex Allison will portray Supreme Court Justice Carter Hibbard. Peggy Bellus is Irene Hibbard. Other state officials are Tedo Savage and Alex Jones as Senators Keene and Hardwick, respectively. Belle Hardwick is played by Peggy Watkins. The role of Emmy Paige is played by Martha Whelchel while Lillian Wahab is Mrs. Lou Ella M. Creevy. Jason Flemming, diplomat, will be portrayed by John McNeil and Elsworth T. Ganning, newspaper scion by Keith, Eubank. Sara Currie as the Duchess will represent the royal family. Other girls in the cast are Virginia Howell, Anne; Virginia Mae Ellett, Sophie Prescott; Ella Banks Weathers, Mrs. Davenport; Jean Hatton, Mrs. Ives; Jean Strick and Loiuse Boatwright as two ladies; and Elizabeth Ann Parker, the maid.

From Hampden-Sydney comes "Mr. Moto" to portray Judge Mason, Randy Cary, Frenchman; Charles Llewellyn, the General; and Tommy Hopkins, Charles, the butler.

Two different sets are being prepared by Mr. Hurt and the staging group. Act I is laid in the living room of the home of the Secretary of State. Scene 1 of Act II takes place in the library of the home of the Supreme Court Justice, Carter Hibbard. The living room set will be used for the remainder of the play. One of the specialitiets of the sets is the French door erected by Mr. Hurt.

Carl Sandburg, Noted Author, To Lecture March 25

Beorc Eh Thorn Will Sell Tickets Here Next Week

"An Evening with Carl Sandburg" will be the theme of the program sponsored by Beorc Eh Thorn, honor society in English on Friday, March 25 in the large auditorium at 8 o'clock at which time the well known poet and author will be presented.

Mr. Sandburg is widely known as a poet of the middle West and is generally thought of as a poet's interpreter of the new order. He was born in 1878 in Galesburg, Illinois, the son of a Swedish immigrant. Drifting about the middle West and working as a scene-shifter, he found inspiration for his poetry in the noise and smoke of factories and city slums.

After serving as a soldier in the Spanish - American War, he wrote some poetry, but it was not until 1914 that he came into notice as a poet. Some of Sandburg's better known works are "Chicago Poems", "Cornhuskers", "Smoke and Steel", "Slabs of Sunburnt West," and "Good Morning, America." From these his poetry has become characterized by ruggedness and independence of conventional form. His prose works include the biographical "Abraham Lincoln: The Prairie Years" and "Abraham Lincoln Grows Up."

Mr. Sandburg's program will include a lecture and reading of his poetry.

Tickets for the program will go on sale next week and can be bought from any member of Beorc Eh Thorn. They will be reserved by Patterson Drug Company, March 22 and 23.

Core Curriculum Discussed at Meeting

Mrs. Mildred Davis presided at the Study Conference held Tuesday, March 11, 1941 in the Student Building Lounge. The topic discussed included the things the college might do to prepare us for better teaching in the core-curriculum in the high school, in the elementary school, better student teachers for the high school and for public schools. The different phases of the topic were discussed by Jack Cock, Dorothy Reynolds, Jeanne Sears, Mr. Payne and Mr. Alfred Wingo.

This is the regular series of programs which discusses problems affecting the elementary school, high school, and college.

"There'll Be Some Changes Made" S. T. C. Doodlers Say

"There'll Be Some Changes Made" might well be adopted as the transition song for S. T. C.'s "doodlers" of today and students of tomorrow, for time's fast-a-flying and exams are oncoming with the wings of haste. There comes a time in every young girl's life when her thoughts must necessarily turn exam-ward. Our only regret is that time's such a fugitive.

Compared to the gay, fruitful (beg pardon) parties of this week will be the next week's "after-light", "bath-tub" cramming in preparation for the honorable seventeenth. Incidentally the fact that the good Saint Patrick and S. T. C. celebrate an important event on the same day is sheer coincidence! (Hint: Nice excuse material here for you of the Irish).

The disposition of movies, "bull sessions", bridge, and "Bill-down-for-the-week-end" will be replaced by western civilization's most charming images, sessions with Virgil and Shelly, memory tests' and lessons forever. Today we dine and dance; tomorrow, we dine but little (exceptions of course) and subject our master minds to rigid, examining tests, for it is with a feeling of interrogation and fear that our thoughts turn reluctantly exam-ward.

Each day there is an obvious increase in the percentage of presents' in the classroom, as well as in the student pioneers who wearily trudge through the portals of the Rotunda to the hitherto supposedly inaccessible ones of that outstanding storehouse of learning, better known as the Library. It could be spring in the air, but the general trend of thought leans toward the approach of "testing time". This, too, might explain the temporary exclusion of night life, cracker-and-jam parties, enthusiasm over boxes from family, concoctions for trips homeward, and a prevalent hap-

Continued on Page 4

Cline, Overbey, Ayers, Named Editors; Five Juniors Gain Associate Positions

Pictured above are the newly appointed publication heads and their assistants. Above are Sara Cline, editor-in-chief of The Rotunda; Allene Overbey, editor-in-chief of Colonnade; and Anne Ayers, editor-in-chief of The Virginian. Below are Mary Lilly Purdum, managing editor of The Rotunda; Texie Belle Felts, business manager of The Rotunda; May Winn, business manager of the Colonnade; May Wertz, managing editor of The Virginian; and Gay Ward Brown, who will act as business manager for The Virginian.

Brown, Winn, Felts, Wertz and Purdum Are Assistants

Sara Cline, Allene Overbey and Anne Ayers have been appointed by the board of publications as editors-in chief of The Rotunda, Colonnade and Virginian respectively. Mary Lilly Purdum will serve as managing editor of the newspaper and May Wertz in the same capacity on the annual staff. Business mangers of the publications include Texie Belle Felts, The Rotunda; May Winn, Colonnade; and Gay Ward Brown, Virginian.

Sara Cline, present feature editor of The Rotunda, has been a member of the staff for two years and served in the capacity of associate editor this year. She succeeds Pat Gibson as editor-in-chief. Mary Lilly Purdum, a junior transfer from Stratford College in Danville, served as business manager of the college annual and circulation manager of the college newspaper, Stratford Traveller, last year. She has worked on both the business and editorial staff of The Rotunda this year. Texie Belle Felts, now circulation manager of the paper, has been on the business staff for two years.

Allene Overbey's reappointment of the Colonnade is based upon her fine work of the past year. She has been closely associated with literary work since entering Farmville and is president-elect of the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association which will meet on this campus next fall. May Winn is at present a member of the business staff of the magazine.

Anne Ayers, who succeeds May Wertz as editor-in-chief of the annual, served as business manager in the 1940-41 session. Under the new plan of organization adopted by the Virginian, May Wertz will serve as managing editor and Gay Ward Brown, present photographic editor, as business manager. All of these girls have been connected with the annual since their freshman year.

The board of publication which made these appointments is made up of the editors and one faculty advisor of each publication and one member appointed from the student body at large. The president of the student body makes this appointment.

The new editors will select their respective staffs in the near future.

Spring Colonnade To Appear Mar. 27

Dedicate Magazine To Miss M. V. Rice

Allene Overbey editor of the Colonnade, has announced that the Spring issue of the magazine will be distributed, March 27th. This issue is dedicated to Miss Minnie V. Rice's fiftieth anniversary of teaching at S. T. C.

Miss Minnie V. Rice has been a member of the faculty here for fifty years. She became a teacher here when State Teachers College was State Female Normal School. Miss Rice was graduated from Farmville in 1880, and then taught at the Farmville High School for nine years.

Both Miss Lila London and Caralie Nelson have written tributes to Miss Rice in this issue, in her article entitled "Teacher and Friend", Caralie tells of the many class-room and school pictures by which Miss Rice will always be remembered.

Emma Hutchinson, a senior has written an article about the life on Tangier Island.

"The Robins Call", a double page of poems and illustrations by Bess Windham and Cottie Radspinner respectively will be a feature of the Colonnade.

Elizabeth Tennent's story "These Three" and Ernestine Meacham's "Impressions in General", written in the Gertrude Stein manner will also be featured.

Poems in this issue will be by Jane McGinnis, and Frances Hudgins, staff members, and Anne Williams.

Sigma Pi Rho Initiates Arlene Hunt

Arlene Hunt, a junior, was initiated into Sigma Pi Rho, honorary Latin fraternity Monday, February 28.

Arlene is a Latin major, English is her first minor, and history her second.

March 13 Set As World Day of Prayer S. T. C. To Participate

S. T. C., affiliated with schools and churches all over the world, will observe a World Day of Prayer, Thursday, March 13, from 2:00-5:30 o'clock in the small auditorium.

Dr. Sheppe, to introduce the meeting, will speak Wednesday night at prayers on "What a World of Prayer Can Mean". An appropriate service has been planned for Thursday night to conclude the service.

The prayers committee, consisting of the freshman and upper class group, will send letters to each room to explain and better acquaint the students with this drive.

All members of the student body are urged and invited to come and pray especially for a more perfect spirit of Christian love and service on our campus and throughout the world, for a feeling of necessity for a personal Christ, and for the strengthening and enriching of Christian churches throughout the world.

House Council Announce Rules For Exam Week

Liggie Ellett, president of the House Council has announced that the usual rules for exams are to be in effect from Sunday night, March 16 through Thursday, March 20.

Study hour will be observed every night during the exam period from 7 to 10 o'clock. Radios must not be played during study hour or after 11 o'clock. Any freshman who wants late light permission may get it by asking her hall president. Anyone making noise in the hall or rooms or violating any of the regular House Council rules during this time will get a call down. One call down received during exams means a week's campus at the beginning of the spring quarter.

Leadership Groups Organize Program

AKG and ODK Plan Improvements

Plans to be discussed at the joint banquet of the O. D. K., Hampden-Sydney, and A. K. G., S. T. C. circles have been formulated by a committee composed of representatives from each. March 26 has been set as the date.

Suggestions have been drawn up by the committee for the purpose of raising sufficient funds with which each organization may work toward specific objectives on their respective campuses. The first project to be considered is that the circle sponsor a movie in the spring the proceeds of which will be divided on a basis arranged by the committee. Also to be discussed is the plan of the two circles to sponsor afternoon tea dances for the students of both campuses.

Specific objectives to be discussed are that a student loan fund of not less than $25 be established either locally on each campus or as a floating fund to be in the hands of each circle every two years, and the establishment in one of the local high schools of an annual award to be merited by an outstanding record for scholarship and prospective leadership.

A committee composed of representatives from both circles has undertaken as it's purpose the creation of an organization of a go-between nature through which the two campuses may be consulted in matters relating to both, and whereby both may cooperate on such matters as calendar conflicts, visiting speakers, and such problems of like nature as might arise.

Allene Overbey heads the A. K. G. committee and Craighill Burks is chairman of the O. D. K. representatives.

Organizations Give $883 To School Fund

One thousand three hundred ninety three dollars and ninety-five cents was received by Dr. J. L. Jarman, President of the College, in the auditorium Founder's Day, March 8.

Eight hundred eighty-three dollars and ninety-five cents was given by classes and organizations on campus for the Founders Day fund. Donations to loan funds totaled five hundred ten dollars. Formerly the Founder's Day Fund was used to aid in the payment of Student Building. This was repleted in 1939. The fund was used last year for additions and improvements around the school. Portraits for the library, cleaning the statue of Joan of Arc repairing steps are some of the things for which the fund has been used.

1941 Virginian Goes to Press Soon

March 23 is the date set for the S. T. C. 1941 Annual to go to press. The theme will be informal, similar to the last year's issue.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Anne Cock ..... Sports Editor
Nancy Naff ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Anna Johnson., Shirley McCalley, Faye Nimmo, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Jane Sanford, Dorothy Sprinkle, Elizabeth Tennant, Sara Trigg, Ella Banks, Weathers, Marjorie Garrison.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mary Keith Bingham, Mary St.Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Helen DeLong, Anne Moore, Mary Lily Purdum.

Typists

Chief Typist ..... Frances Pritchett
Typists—Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Thelma Courtney, Dorothy Gaul.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 12, 1941

Opportunity Knocks

Farmville again is privileged to welcome to its campus a well - known poet—Carl Sandburg. Sponsored by Beorc Eh Thorn, Mr. Sandburg will lecture and read his poems here Tuesday night, March 25.

Mr. Sandburg has been penned "the voice of industrial America", for through him the great mid-West, the vast region of steel mills and slaughter-houses, the smoke-belching chimneys, the quarries and great boulders of iron-ribbed rock spoke. And he is well equipped to be the laureate of industrial America, having been employed as a porter in a barber shop, scene-shifter in a theater, harvest hand, dish-washer in a hotel, and truck-handler in a brickyard.

A staunch believer in a broad democracy—a democracy of material and spirit, Mr. Sandburg is recognized as a great understander of "the people's" wisdom and skepticism, their power and their patience.

Indeed, we are fortunate to have the opportunity to see and to hear Mr. Sandburg. Perhaps we may only partially realize this treat, but we should welcome the chance, not only because as future teachers we should broaden our experience, but also because of the enjoyment he will bring.

—S. C.

For Them, For Us

This week-end the Dramatic Club will present "The First Lady" as a lyceum for S. T. C. students. Contrary to custom, the play will enjoy a two-nights run in order that proceeds from outside tickets may go to aid the Bundles for Britain Fund.

The Dramatic Club plays are always of interest—especially the spring play for we enjoy the privilege of seeing it as a lyceum number. The cast has been active for several months that they may give us an entertaining program. Although exams are at hand; we should not neglect this event, but rather should encourage outsiders to attend it with us since this is an exception in that there will be available seats for guests.

Gleanings

By JACK COCK

With the Army and Navy program for defense now well under way, the government turned this week to another line of defense—the production line, thereby beginning the greatest drive for workers the United States has witnessed since the World War.

And as the long ranks of the unemployed begin to dwindle, due to the drive, the nation will temporarily be solving the "youth problem" which grew out of the depression and which for the past few years has hung like a cloud over the nation.

This call for defense workers which has been sounded, and which begins Saturday, March 15, is under the supervision of the Social Security Board and is calling for all persons capable of doing work to register at the local employment office their names, their abilities, and their existence.

The call is directed (a) "to every unemployed person capable of holding a job", and (b) "to every employed person with the experience and skill in defense occupation, provided he is not now engaged in defense work."

This immediate need which has arisen is not due merely to the expansion of national defense, but has been made even greater because of the vast number of men who have had to leave their jobs for military training.

Although most of the jobs which have been opened through the defense program seem to apply to men, there is also an increasing demand for women workers in such fields as typing, stenography, and particularly in nursing.

For the first time since it can remember Youth is watching jobs look for workers rather than workers look for jobs. Now much more fortunate is the high school or college graduate of today than was the high school or college graduate of ten years previous.

* * *

Meanwhile the Senate Saturday night finally passed the lease-lend bill by a 60 to 31 vote, following three weeks of intense debating.

The opposition, still maintaining that the bill was the step instrumental toward taking us into war, broke down Friday night and Saturday's session turned once more to routine work.

* * *

From Europe comes the report that for the past few months Germany has been destroying British shipping at an alarming rate and many people believe that the battle of the Atlantic is just beginning.

When the war broke out the way for German subs out of the North Sea into the main shipping lanes was long and dangerous, but today Germany is able to use for bases the entire western coast of Europe from Norway down to France. The question is will Britain be able to meet this growing menace, and if so how?

Hitler has hinted that German shipyards are turning out submarines at the rate of eight or ten each day and although the report may be a false one the British are preparing to face the worst.

In order to meet this menace there are some who have suggested that "the United States build as many ships as possible for Britain to help her tide over this difficult period," while others believe "that it is more important to help Britain fight submarines than to provide brand new ships for German submarines to sink!

Senior Personality

ALICE LEIGH BARHAM

"She's here, she's there, she's everywhere." Indeed that's Boo, for wherever there's activity you're certain to find this swift-moving lass—whether it be sessioning with Miss Wheeler, attending play practice disposing of government activities, or simply joining in the fun.

As president of the Dramatic Club and vice-president of the Student Government Association, Boo has proved her efficiency and capability as a leader. Her facility in organizing and in directing exemplify why she has had time for both work and play.

An intelligent one she is too. At present Boo is contemplating teaching Chemistry after graduation. However, her heart seems to be "at sea."

If there is any particular or tangible characteristic that is typical of this petite miss, it is her genuine merriment, for Boo is well - known for her ability to laugh—regardless of occasion. Characteristic of Boo is "Winnie The Pooh." For quotable quotes from A. A. Milne, she's an expert.

Add up attractive, efficient, friendly, lively, good sense, and charm, and you have Boo Barham.

Question of the Week

Which is your favorite men's college and why?

Nancy Hopkins: I like W. and L. because I like their philosophy of life and they know how to have a good time.

Helen Gilliam: I like V. M. I. because it has dignity and atmosphere and background, and a girl is always guaranteed a good time if she goes there.

Ann Berry: I like W. and L. because the campus is so beautiful and because the boys—well(?)

Nell Quinn: I like U. of Va. because the boys are so congenial with each other, and because they always try to be friendly and make you feel at home.

Dot Dararcott: I like the University of North Carolina because the boys are sophisticated and know how to really carry on a conversation.

Doris Taylor: I like Duke because the boys are so pretty and are such good dancers.

Jane Ford: I like V. P. I. because the boys are so well behaved and conscientious.

Louise Hall—V. P. I., because my love's there!

Helen McGuire—V. P. I., because they have such good looking uniforms and such wonderful dancers.

Shirley McCalley — V. P. I., 'cause Ralph graduated from there.

Mary Jane Ritchie—U. of Va.—that's what I want heaven to be like.

Charlotte Andrews—V. M. I., 'cause they beat V. P. I. in football.

Ellen Royall—U. of Va., but I can't say why.

Dot Robbins—V. M. I. I like their uniforms and their dances.

Gay Ward Brown—V. M. I.—there is something so fine about it.

Mary Lou Shannon— H.-S., 'cause its so convenient.

Betty Fahr—H.-S.' cause it's so near S. T. C. What could we do without it?

Libby Carter—W. and L.—because of Fancy Dress.

Looking 'Em Over

With exams looming iminously a week hence, we're still having such a pretty time! How 'bout that Sara Wade and Parham? What was all the noise Friday night about midnight on 2nd floor Student due to?

Also we're eager to know who sent that telegram telling you to come home last week end, Inez Jones, Joe or Bruce?

We wonder how Sara Currie gets away with trying to have two dates in one night, or does she?

Alice Marie really has W. Va. interested from the looks of things in the Junior parlor Saturday night.

Junie Chitwood, how do you do it? May Winn is even under your spell, to say nothing of all the others?

We hear Carol Costello has been broke since Saturday night. Just to hear his sweet voice she spent her last cent calling V. M. I. My! My!

Shirley Turner had quite a week-end, especially riding horses in her Sunday attire.

Harpoo—what hapened to the one and only in Newport News this week-end? Hope that message you sent him has some effect.

Wally Engle's station wagon just didn't stay on the road Sunday. Couldn't be who was sitting beside him?

Why does Ann Bradshaw's Al write to her roommate? That's what Ann wants to know.

Pat W. and Billy seem to be hitting it off pretty well these days. Patsy S., do you let your hair down often?

Was the book more interesting or did Betty Beal just claim a date after church Sunday night, Jean?

Too bad Martha, that Billy got the measles—that would have been a most interesting "threesome."

Snow keeps some people away but Bobbie and Jerry got out of Richmond. That gleam in Petticrew's eye gets brighter all the time. Well, June is just around the corner.

Harriet J. Scott, Box 1, Orange, Virginia, is patronizing Patterson's more these days—Flip is O. K. by us, Scottie.

Mary Sue's latest attraction seems to be "Richmond" these days.

Congratulations to Caralie for the election of permanent secretary of the class of '41!

What's the score? It looks like two down. How 'bout it Helen Lewis and Spry?

Boo and Elizabath Ann tripped off to Randolph-Macon. . . How did you make out girls?

Petunia Wallace is all a flutter 'bout Wm. and Mary Midwinters.

A new "twosome" seen "Reccing" Sunday night was Charlotte Greely and the dashing Gordon Leach—And we hear the "brand new vic" was enjoyed by all—well just about all—

And have you seen Chubby do the "La Conga"—she can really sling a wicked foot.

Disc Doings

JEANNE SEARS

Here goes for a trip on the "Victor Bluebird Bandwagon"—Dinah Share had her first Hollywood recording session the other day—will probably mean we will see her in a "short" before long. Bea Wain will disc "My Sister and I" a refugee song based on the best selling novel of the same name. Tony Pastor has renewed his Victor contract for another year which will probably lead to some more recordings like "Let's Do It" —On the heels of his sensational "Dancing in the Dark" and "Pyramid" discs, keep an ear peeled for Artie's new waxing of "I Cover the Waterfront". Latest nostalgic tune anent the old Europe is "Somewhere in England", penned and recorded by Lanny Ross.

Maybe you'd be interested in the story of Joe Reichman's life — just a short sketch that proves most unusual. A few years ago he was given six months to live. With such a dour future he gave up his attorney-at-law and resolved to have fun during those numbered months. With his unusual technique at the piano he coupled it with a few friendly musicians and organized a band. Now his band has followed up its inauspicious debut at "The New Yorker" with engagements at Hotel Pennsylvania, Waldorf Astoria and William Penn in Pittsburgh. While playing at the Essex House a couple of months ago, he came to the attention of R. C. A. officials who have booked him for a long term contract on such releases as "I Could Write a Book", "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows" and "Keep Your Eye on Your Heart." Joe unleaches $150,000 worth of digits everytime he runs his hands over the keys—that is the insurance carried on just his hands.

Now isn't "The Pagliacci of the Piano" a likely title for such a life?

Glenn Miller has given a new dance tune to our collection. Fine one, too—namely "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Harlem" and "A Stone's Throw from Heaven" done by Ray Eberlet—he first is a catchy recurring tune and the second a sweet smooth one.—

About that new "rec"—the vic-radio is a sensation and the recordings are grand. Johnny Long's "Shanty in Old Shanty Town" was priceless at the spending last Saturday night—then they're got—"You Might Have Belonged to Another" T. Dorsey; "Body and Soul", J. Dorsey; "Frensi"; A. Shaw and numerous others—sides bridge, shuffle board, ping pong and checkers—Hat's off to the Rec Committee for such splendid results and I heard it said the "Rec" was no longer a den of iniquity! Until next week—I'll try to brighten up exams with some new platter releases!

Yourself and Others

Came Founder's Day, with all of Saturday free, and off hopped many and a carload, bus-load, and train-load of S. T. C. girls Funny (peculiar, not ha-ha) how prevalent were the upper classmen, and how scarce the freshmen in this week's exodus. As usual, Richmond's finger beckoned most engagingly but Ashland had quite a winning come-hither look in her (his!) eye, too.

To Richmond went Ethel Carr (a-ha! a wedding!), Martha Cottrel, Anne Cocks, Betty Beale Fahr, Jean Hall, Mary Harvie, Betty Hermitze, Kathryn Hawthorne, Ann Henry, Margaret James, Mickey Lawrence, Aline Marshland, Allene Overbey, Rosalie Rogers, Jane Saunders (to prepare for some one's wedding bells!), Louise Sanford, Ellen Scott, Harriet Scott, Mary Lou Shannon, Boonie Stevenson, Grace Wallace, Josephine Ware, Annabel Wescott, Emily Wescott, and Mary Katherine Zehmer.

Among those who tripped the light fantastic at Ashland's Randolph-Macon were "Boo" Barham, Stella Scott, Doris Taylor, and Mary Owens West. Was it fun, girls? Helen Lewis, Shirley Turner, and Betty Youngloerg also visited the fair city of Ashland.

Never-to-be-left-behind Roanoke came in second in wooing the largest number of girls this week. Among those present were Harriet Cantrell, Dorothy Eades, Frances Hoback, Jane McGinnis, Josephine Newman, Louise Painter, Betty Peerman, Mary Martha Perry, Elizabeth Summerfield, Marie Utt, Nancy Williamson, and May Winn, who was another wedding-watcher. Get any ideas, May?

From first to fourth—slipping, Lynchburg! This week your only loyal children were Mary Conson, Marjorie Gooden, Ella Marsh Pilkinton, Charlotte Philips, and Peggy Stevens.

Rocky Mount, Virginia, must have had some great attraction, too, for Natalie Carroll, Louise Foster, Marjorie Whitlow, and Reese Whitlow, at least. How 'bout these freshmen?

Crewe took some freshmen, too; Mildred Corvin, Virginia Ellet, and Eleanor Johnson, to be exact. Agnes Pierce also went Crewe-ward.

Cynthia James, Jane Jones, Emma Hutchinson, Virginia Rose Graves, "Beezie" Townsend, and Margaret Whitfield proved Petersburg's popularity, while Staunton called Inez Jones and Eloise Lupton, Sweet Briar College looked sweet to Margaret Wright, Salem won Dot Lawrence, Winston-Salem drew Agnes Patterson and Betsy Owens, Lawrenceville attracted Frances Mallory, and Appomattox looked mighty apt to Shirley McCalley.

'Twas a gay week-end, both at school and away, so when exams seem too cruel, just think back on past joys! Reflected tranquility, as dear Wordsworth would agree.

Sunday School Party

The Baptist, Methodist and Episcopal Sunday School girls were hostesses to the Presbyterian Sunday School girls, Friday night at 9:30 in the Student Building Lounge. For the past few Sundays these four Sunday Schools had been competing in an attendance contest, which the Presbyterians were successful in winning.

An informal program took place after which refreshments were served.

Alumnae Luncheon

The Founder's Day luncheon took place in the "rec" Saturday at 1 o'clock. Alumnae members of the faculty, the basketball team and the A. A. council were present. Miss Grace Moran, president of the Alumnae Assocation presided. Two alumnae from the class of 1891 were presented with gifts. A tribute was paid to Miss Minnie Rice by Miss Carrie B. Taliaferra for her fifty years service to the college. Dr. J. L. Jarman talked to the Alumnae. After his talk the business part of the meeting took place.

Miss Mary Is Guest At Birthday Banquet

The Student Council and Y. W. C. A. cabinet are entertaining Miss Mary White Cox in honor of her birthday tonight, March 12, at Longwood at the usual banquet that this group has for her each year.

Miss Mary's favorite foods will be served and Chubby Heard and Ella Marsh Pilkinton are in charge of the entertainment. The other girls serving on committees for arrangements are deprations, Jean Haymes and Mary Evelyn Pearsall; gifts, Carolyn Harvey and Nancy Naff; menu, Rosa Courter and Sarah Chambers; and transportation, Rachel Kibler and Gene Hardy Kilmon.

New Alumnae Head—

MISS MARY E. PECK

Granddaughters' Club Entertains Alumnae

The Granddaughters Club was hostess at a tea Founders Day from 4:00-5:00 P. M., for the alumnae who were here. Because of the weather it was given in the Student Building Lounge rather than at Longwood as was previously planed. The Lounge was decorated with a variety of flowers and the only light was that from the candles and the fire in the fire place.

The receiving line was composed of Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary Clay Hiner, Mrs. Elizabeth H. Martin, Nancy Fulton, Carolyn Harvey, Polly Keller and Eleanor Folk.

Miss Mary White Cox poured the tea. She was assisted by Miss Rachael Royall and Mrs. Moseby Phlegar. The silver service which was given the school last year was used.

Members of the Granddaughter's Club served.

Sorority Notes

Alpha Sigma Alpha's pledges entertained the old members at a party in the chapter room Thursday, March 6, at 9 o'clock. The pledges presented the chapter with a punch bowl at this time.

Alpha Sigma Alpha entertained her pledges at a banquet at Longwood, Tuesday, March 11, at 6 o'clock. Toasts were given to Miss Moran, faculty advisor, the pledges, and guests present.

Miss Mabel Lee Walton, national president of Sigma Sigma Sigma was guest of honor at their pledge banquet in the tea room Tuesday, March 4. Miss Walton, earlier in the day, visited John Randolph Library which is a national social service project of the sorority.

Rosa Courter, Forrestine Whitaker, Mary Anna Mottley, and Mildred Bowen entertained Theta Sigma Upsilon at a buffet supper in the chapter room, Sunday, March 9, at 6 o'clock. Besides the members and their dates, Miss Bolick, faculty advisor, and Miss Draper were present.

Farmville Debates American University

Frances Keck and Elizabeth Ann Parker debated representatives of American University, March 6, 1941 in the small auditorium in a non decision debate on the question, Resolved, that the nations of the Western Hemisphere should form a permanent union, both economic and military.

American University was represented by Nancy Warner and Caroline Sultzer who argued the negative of the query: Frances and Elizabeth Ann upholding the affirmative side of the question. Farmville debated American University in Washington on their way to the Shippensburg tournament, with the sides reversed.

Rabbi Speaks

Rabbi Albert Lewis of Charlottesville spoke in Chapel, Thursday, March 6th, on "The Contributions of Judism to Civilization". Rabbi Lewis was introduced by Dr. J. L. Jarman. He was brought here under the auspices of the Jewish Chautauqua organization.

Miss M. E. Peck Heads Alumnae

Miss Mary E. Peck, associate professor of history and social science was elected president of the Alumnae Association at a meeting on Founder's Day, March 8.

Miss Peck obtained her diploma and B. S. degree from State Teachers College, her M. S. from the University of Virginia, and is a graduate student of Duke University, Columbia University, and the University of Chicago. She has also spent a summer traveling in Europe.

Miss Peck holds offices in Farmville Woman's Club and the A. A. U. W., and is a member of A. A. U. P. and Kappa Delta Pi. She is the author of "The Teaching of History", and of magazine articles in the field of history.

Miss Peck will succeed Miss Grace Moran, geography instructor, who has served for two years.

Mrs. Grace Virginia Woodhouse Rawls will serve as director. Mrs. Rawls received her B. S. degree at Farmville S. T. C. While a student here, Mrs. Rawls was president of the Junior Class, president of the student council, member of Kappa Delta Pi, Alpha Kappa Gamma, Pi Gamma Mu, Alpha Phi Sigma, Dramatic Club, Ruffner Literary Society, and Sodalitas Latina. At present Mrs. Rawls is a case worker for the Social Service Bureau in Portsmouth, Virginia.

Miss Alice Carter and Miss Helen Draper, members of Farmville S. T. C. faculty, and Miss Martha McCorkle, graduate of the class of 1940 made up the nominating committee.

Quarterly Averages For Sororities Listed

Phi Zeta Sigma led the eight sororities on campus during the fall quarter with a scholastic average of 1.98.

Mu Omega, the holder of the Pan Hellenic scholarship plaque for last year, was second with an average of 1.81.

Alpha Sigma Alpha followed with 1.75, Sigma Sigma Sigma with 1.64, Theta Sigma Upsilon with 1.63, Alpha Sigma Tau with 1.60, Gamma Theta with 1.59, and Pi Kappa Sigma with 1.42.

When better sandwiches are made
COLLEGE SHOPPE
will make them
We Deliver Call 200

Seniors Name Nelson Permanent Secretary

Caralie Nelson was chosen permanent Alumnae Secretary of the class of 1941 at the class meeting, Wednesday night, March 5. She attended the Alumnae Luncheon held in the Recreation Hall on Founders Day.

The duties of the office are to keep in touch with the members of the class, to inform the alumnae association of their addresses and accomplishments, and to notify the members of the class of reunions.

NOTICE

A. C. E. will have its regular meeting Thursday night, March 13 in Student Building lounge instead of next week because of exams.

Hop Says . . .
GET YOUR SPRING CLOTHES CLEANED TO LOOK LIKE NEW AT THE
DeLuxe Cleaners
PHONE 77

NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store
FAVORITE
TISSUES
19c
500 to the box

DUKE UNIVERSITY
School of Nursing
DURHAM, N. C.
The Diploma of Graduate Nurse is awarded after three years. The entrance requirements are intelligence, character, and graduation from an accredited High School. Preference is given to those who have had college work.
The annual tuition of $100 covers the cost of maitenance, uniforms, books, etc.
Catalogues, appplication forms, and information about requirements may be obtained from the admission committee.

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—373

Charm Bracelets and Sport Pins
Martin, the Jeweler

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

BUTCHER'S
The convenient store for faculty and student body.
Good things to eat and drink

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

Just received large shipment SPRING KNITTING WOOLS—All new pastel shades.
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Use our Layaway Plan

NEW CAROL KING DRESSES—Smart, crisp .... $3.97 to $9.97
Charge it if you like
DOROTHY MAY STORE
The College Headquarters

Try Our
Saturday Special
• ANY 10c DRINK PLUS
• ANY 10c SANDWICH PLUS PIE A LA MODE
All for 25c
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

"Davidson's For Me!"
"Yes Me Too"
"They have the Loveliest Spring Merchandise"
DAVIDSON'S
Farmville's Best Store

Sports Slants

By ANNE COCK

Strawberry Shortcake
Huckleberry Pie
V-I-C-T-O-R-Y!

Just another one for the varsity as they piled up 25 points against the Alumnae Friday night in the gym. The old grads trailed behind until the last finish ng with a hard-fought-for 10 points. Not bad though, considering the grads had never combined talents in previous games or practices.

Two undefeated teams of the season will clash this Friday night when the varsity from our old Alma Mater meets its greatest rival of the court—Madison College of Harrisonburg. This year our girls will journey there for the battle, last year's game having been played on this campus. For the past two years Harrisonburg has overcome Farmville by a small margin. This year our team is in tip-top shape and—varsity—we'll be back here rooting for you and wishing the distance between us and our rivals was not so great. Bring home the laurels!

When term papers, notebooks and exams are laid upon the shelf, the much-talked-of volleyball round robin, ping pong tournament, golf contests, and siding exhibition will step out of the future possibilities and become pressing actualities. And with the twenty-first of March comes the advent of Spring, and with the advent of Spring comes spring fever. The call of the out-of-doors cannot be shunned. Too long we have made the best of indoor sports alone. At last we are to get out into the air. Hours of fun on the tennis courts, days of practice at the links, baseball on the new athletic field, archery for the skilled shooters and sunshine for the sun bathers. The school will glow with health.

But, hey, you seniors and sophomores, that ping pong tournament isn't going to be very exciting if you don't hurry and sign up. If you're teaching and think you haven't the time thing a—gain—'cause it's not beginning until next quarter and "T. G. it's Friday" will no longer be your watch word. So if you've overlooked signing up, hasten to the A. A. bulletin board and scribble away. Remember, Green and White as well as Red and White ought to fight for a good showing.

Now's your chance, to get in good form for the beaches this summer. The pool is open every afternoon and Saturday night and a good brisk swim is just what the doctor ordered for a trim figure and a healthy appetite. Won't be long either before the class meets and the intercollegiate telegraphic meets begin and there's just nothing like being right in practice and all, ready for them. Color cup competition in the making.

It's 10-1 that the Spring Riding Exhibition is going to be a credit to the riding club. Such intense activity merits reward and needless to say we are looking forward to the side-saddlers, bareback riders and what have you, to be featured in the event.

All in all it looks as if the winter quarter is but a key to open the vast supply of sport to be featured come Spring. Hurry forth balmy breezes!

May Day Practice Schedule

MARCH

24—Monday	3:30-4:30—English	Rec
	3:30- 5:00—River	Gym
	9:00-10:00—Prairie	Gym
	9:00-10:00—German	Rec
25—Tuesday	3:30: 4:30—Forests	Gym
	3:30- 4:30—Irish	Rec
	8:30- 9:30—Indian	Gym
	8:30- 9:30—Russian	Rec
26—Wednesday	3:30- 4:30—Mountain	Gym
	3:30- 4:30—Swedish	Rec
	8:00- 9:00—Negro	Gym
	8:00- 9:00—French	Rec
	9:00-10:00—Court	Gym
27—Thursday	3:30- 4:30—Mexican	Little Gym
	3:30- 4:30—Dutch	Rec
	9:00-10:00—Oppressed	Gym
	9:00-10:00—Danish	Rec

KLEANWELL
Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Visit the . . .
A & N
FOR ALL
Athletic Equipment
Come in and see our
Tennis Equipment
And other sport wear

Come to see us
FOR
A complete Line
OF
SANDWICH SPREADS,
PKG. CHEES AND JAR CHEESE
The Economy
Food Store
HUNGRY—VISIT
Shannon's
THE FOOD'S THE BEST
Phone 224 Good Service

ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner
69c Hose Club
FOR
Members Only
One Pair Full Fashioned
69c Hose
FREE when 10 pairs of 69c hose are purchased from our store. All 69c hose guaranteed

Cagers Journey To Harrisonburg

Undefeated Teams Will Play Friday

Harrisonburg will be the place where S. T. C.'s varsity basketball players will have their final combat of the year when Farmville meets Madi on. Friday night March 14.

Last year this game was played at Farmville before the greatest crowd ever amassed in the college gym. Madison College defeated S. T. C. by a score of 18-13 last year and 22-19 in 1938. Both teams are undefeated this year.

The game with William and Mary has been canceled.

"Five Smart Boys" Defeated—

Confronted by Quiz-Master Mallory Freeman and WRNL's two microphones, Keith Eubank, one of Hamuden Sydney's "Five Smart Boys," seemed puzzled at last Tuesday night's benefit quiz contest. Also pictured above are the members of the S. T. C. Brain Team, the other four H.-S. C. contestants, and Judges Hoiton and Thompson.

Snow Handicaps Alumnae Basketeers; Three Return

"Time and tide wait for no man"—nor does Founder's Day, regardless of what ye ole weather man may attribute to the good day. And so it happened that as the clock struck eight, there was a mere vestige of an alumnae team—three to be specific.

What's to do? Was the inevitable question. The game had been announced; indeed the spectators were already seated. What's that? Did somebody say "Let's give a locamotive"? Consternation reigned in Miss Iler's office, for the sounds were those of the cheer leaders. In a few seconds the game was to begin, and yet there were only three alumnae.

The game must go on. Quick, somebody do something. But the clock didn't seem to be concerned for on it ticked. Seconds passed—precious seconds. Then in came Edna Bolick, former varsity player and at present teaching here. As she hurriedly donned the gym suit, a helpful soul went in search of shoes.

And now they were four. Jenny Carroll and Virginia Whitehead Smith, co-captains of the 1939 varsity team were eager to play, as was Agnes Bondurant, present basketball coach at Farmville High School.

More seconds. The spectators were looking at their watches; they were ready for the game. Suddenly Kitty Bully was spotted among those eager ones in the gallery. But not for long was she a spectator. Indeed not, for down she came and was quickly fitted up for activity.

Alas! That can't be Dot Snedegar from Roanoke—But 'twas. O Happy Day! The team was six. "Well, what are we waiting for", they sounded. Oh! Yes—a game must be captained. So Dot and Jenny were named and onto the court they walked.

Whew! It was a hard fight, Coach, but they made it. The game was "on the ball" or maybe the players were on the ball. Anyhoo, the audience viewed that ball and literally sounded the yells as they rooted for both teams.

The whistle sounded. The game was over; the varsity had triumphed 25-10. And then came the congratulation. It was a good game even if it did snow.

Varsity players were Rosa Courter, Frances Parham, Dot Johnson, Marty Roberts, Anne Ellett, Hester Chattin, Pat Gibson, Florence Lee, Jean Carr, Virginia Hill, Anne Price, Hallie Hillsman, Corilda Chaplin, and Marjorie Gooden.

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert
Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet"
Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

There'll Be Changes

Continued from Page 1

piness over things in general.

The past weeks have been filled with preparations for Founder's Day and what with a delightful unrestrained Saturday to look forward to, there has been but little time for much fear or concern to accumulate. Rather the dread has presented itself tout a' coup and threatened by its importance and greatness, each of us definitely resolves to buckle down and show the stuff we're made of. Of course, when it's all over, we're awfully glad we took the "royal road" and found out what the score really was. After all we conclude, it's the little things (such as exams) that count anyhow.

What Kind of A Roommate Are You?

What kind of a roommate are you? Have you ever stopped to think that maybe your roommate would like to kick you out of the room because of something you've done or said? You know, roommates aren't like shoes. Sometimes shoes don't fit and you can toss them aside, but you can't toss a roommate aside like that just because of a little misunderstanding. Here are a few questions that might help a bit to see if you fit and if you don't—well don't say you haven't been warned if you find sand in your cold-cream or ice in your bed!

To begin with, when you undress for bed, do you (a) hang up your clothes? (b) toss them on the nearest chair? (c) sleep in them? When you carry on a conversation before breakfast, is it usually (a) pleasant? (b) grouchy? (c) somnilioquous (or in other words are you still asleep?) Do you—off the record—think your roommate is (a) more attractive than you? (b) less attractive than you? (c) ugly as sin? When you get in a heated argument do you (a) almost always keep your temper? (b) often lose your temper? (c) usually start pulling hair? Are you 99 44-100 per cent free from at least three of these maladies: (a) spitefulness, (b) snobbishness, (c) tactlessness, (c) boastfulness? In the matter of that Great Collegiate Custom—borrowing—do you? (a) borrow only in an emergency? (b) prefer not to borrow or lend? (c) depend almost completely on the wardrobe of your roommate? The night before you're to take an important make-up exam, your roommate invite half dozen girls in for cookies and catting. Would you (a) depart gracefully for the library? (b) join the party? (c) commit mayhem?

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

IT'S CHESTERFIELD WEEK
FRED WARING
composer of over 50 college hit songs—in "Pleasure Time"
FOR S. T. C.
MON., TUES., WED., THURS., FRI.
at 7 P. M.
N. B. C. Stations
GLENN MILLER
America's No. 1 Dance Band Leader in "Moonlight Serenade"
FOR S. T. C.
TUES., WED., THURS.
at 10 P. M.
C. B. S. Stations
They really Satisfy
Copyright 1941, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Support Spring Music Festival

The Rotunda

Congratulations To New Major Officers

VOLUME XX — FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 26, 1941 — NO. 22

Naff, Rosebro, Engleby and Johnson Are Heads

* * * * * * * * * * * *

Harvard and Duke Glee Clubs to Sing Here on April 4

Major Officers—

NANCY NAFF

FRANCES ROSEBRO

JANE ENGLEBY

DOROTHY JOHNSON

1941-'42 Major Officers Are Elected; Minors for Thursday

Nancy Naff from Roanoke was elected president of the Student Government Association in the major elections held Tuesday, March 25. Nancy will succeed Caralie Nelson. Frances Rosebro from Roanoke was chosen by the student body to succeed Jean Moyer as president of the Y. W. C. A. Jane Engleby from Roanoke was elected president of the House Council and will succeed Frances Ellett. Dorothy Johnson from Suffolk was elected president of the Athletic Association to succeed Rosa Courter.

Nancy has been on the Student Council since her freshman year and this year served as treasurer. She was on the membership committee of the Y. W. C. A. her first two years, has been a member of the Rotunda staff and is a member of Cotillion Club. She has been in May Court since her freshman year.

Frances was treasurer of the Freshman Commission, chairman of the Sophomore Commission, and Sophomore Councilor this year. She is the junior representative on Student Standards and chairman of the Point System. Her sophomore year she was parliamentarian of the Dramatic Club and a member of the class volley ball team. She is a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma and Cotillion Club.

Jane was Hall President her sophomore year and secretary of the House Council this year. She served as secretary of the Freshman and Sophomore Commissions. Since her freshman year she has been treasurer of her class. She played on the class hockey team her freshman and junior year and is a member of Alpha Phi Sigma, Dramatic Club, and Cotillion Club.

Continued on Page 5

Cline Announces Tentative Staff

Sara Cline, the incoming editor-in-chief of The Rotunda for the term 1941-'42, has announced the tentative editorial and business staffs for the coming year. These staffs will take over their duties with the next issue.

The new Rotunda staff heads and assistants are Editor-in-Chief, Sara Cline; Managing Editor, Mary Lilly Purdum; News Editor, Ella Banks Weathers; Feature Editor, Mary Parrish Viccellio; Sports Editor, Anne Cock; Social Editor, Jane Sanford. The reporters on this staff include Shirley McCalley, Elizabeth Rapp, Elizabeth Tennent, Margaret Wright, Sarah Trigg, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Charlotte Phillips, Dot Sprinkle, Faye Nimmo, Anna Johnson and Jack Cock.

The Business staff includes the following: Business Manager, Texie Bel'e Felts; Circulation Manager, Elva Andrews; Advertising Managers, Helen De Long and Mary Keith Bingham. The assistants on the business staff are Hannah Lee Crawford, Mary St. Clair Bugg, Anne Moore, Dorothy Childress.

Thelma Courtney, Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, and Dorothy Gaul make up the typist staff.

Mr. S. M. Holton, Jr., is faculty advisor for The Rotunda.

Exams Over

By ALL

"Tired of just getting by—
Always that to make me cry;
But I've found out
I shouldn't pout,
For college is hard
In anyone's yard;
And if I flunk,
Well—I still ain't punk."

Cheerful thought, anyhow, whether it be true or not. Days of worry, days of work, are over, exams are a thing of the past for a few more months, and once again movies, Shannons, and bull sessions are on. By this time everyone has worried so much that failure has begun to be accepted: other people "flunk", why should I worry so? After all, just because I make an F doesn't mean I'm dumb—I just don't study—(Oh, yeah?). I'm in college now, not back in high school where the course is easier, and an A may be wrangled by a smile and flattering remark. Of course, it is pretty hard to just barely get by—gets on the nerves. But what of it? Exams are over, the grades will soon go out——what's done is done. Whee! I won't have to study for two more months. Guess I'll go see if Sally wants to see "Blondie."

And so, with that "what the heck" attitude time rolls sweet'y on—until another session of examinations make us fuss and fume, blow about the teachers, and live in a miserable state for two more weeks.

But 'tis good to relax, to sit around (when?) and procrastinate without fearing lest the term paper be late, or the parallel report be only half finished, or the material for exams be not nearly covered. Of course, the first few days were pretty hectic, what with frequent trips to see Miss Bugg, having classes changed or dissolved, and being constantly in hot water over something.

But spring is here, tra la, so why study, why work, why do anything 'cept play and walk and enjoy life? Why indeed?

Dr. J. P. Wynne Lists Student Teachers For Spring Quarter

Students who will do their practice teaching at the Farmville High school in the spring quarter have been announced by Dr. J. P. Wynne, head of the Education department.

Those teaching English are Iris Bryant, Katie Crider, Carolyn Ford, Margaretta Gerlaugh, Carolyn Harvey, Agnes Pickral, Lucy Tucker and Martha Whelchel.

Katie Crider, Margaretta Gerlaugh, Carolyn Harvey, Agnes Pickral, Martha Saunders, Lucy Tucker, Martha Whelchel and Patricia Whitlock will teach history.

The mathematics teachers are Alice Leigh Barham, Ruth Bryant, Dorothy Robbins, and Virginia Simmons.

Science will be taught by Alice Leigh Barham, Marjorie Gooden and Dell Warren. Latin teachers are Carolyn Ford and Martha Saunders. Margie Rice will teach French.

In the seventh grade these girls are teaching the various subjects: Ruth Bryant, Patsy Fletcher, Dorothy Robbins, Virginia Sydnor and Ruth Winstead.

Directors—

G. Wallace Woodworth, director Harvard University Glee Club.

J. Foster Barnes, director of the Men's Glee Club of Duke University.

Farmville To Be Host At Forensic Tourney This Week End

Wofford College, Spartansburg, South Carolina, and Shippensburg State Teachers College, Shippensburg, Pennsylvania, will journey here this week end to debate Farmville on the National Pi Kappa Delta question: Resolved: That the nations of the Western Hemisphere should form a permanent union.

Wofford College is bringing three teams, one negative and two affirmative. These debates will be held in the small auditorium, the Honors room and the Y. W. Lounge on Friday night March 29.

Marie Allen, Thelma Courtney, Margie Rice and Myrtle Jenkins will compose the two Farmville negative teams and Anne and Jack Cock the Farmville affirmative.

The debate with Shippensburg will be held Saturday morning March 29 with the Shippensburg negative vs Farmville affirmative.

The four debates will be decision debates.

Pay Now!

Why not have your Virginian paid for in full so that you can enjoy it the very first day. If you have your money now see members of the annual staff when they canvass tonight and tomorrow night.

Spring Music Festival Will Feature Handel's 'Messiah'

April 4, will be a musical "red letter" day for S. T. C., for it is on that day that the annual Spring Festival of Music will bring together the Harvard University Glee Club and Orchestra, Duke University Men's Glee Club and Women's Glee Club, who will join forces with our Choral Club, College Choir, A'Capella Choirs and Madrigal Singers in what is conceded to be the most ambitious undertaking the Music Department has ever attempted. This musical program is creating interest throughout the State, and Farmville will be host to many friends who are expected to come from all parts of Virginia, North Carolina and even some from South Carolina.

Soloists for the occasion will be Miss Dorothy Baker, soprano soloist of St. Bartholomew's Church, New York City, Miss Evelyn Barnes, contralto, of Duke University, Edward G. Field, tenor of Hampden-Sydney College and Wilson Angel, baritone of Richmond, whose appearance at S. T. C. has always been one of the musical high lights.

The program will feature the immortal "Messiah", in which the combined groups will present the Easter portion of this oratorio, Parts II and III. The first part of the program will consist of selections by individual groups together with solos by Miss Baker and Mr. Angel. Miss Baker is one of the leading oratorio singers in America and has appeared with leading oratorio societies throughout the country.

An interesting feature of the first part of the program will be the appearance of Miss Baker with the S. T. C. Choir. She will sing the obligato solo in "Jubilate, Amen" and the "Artisan". Miss Virginia Richards will sing the incidental solo in "Alleluia" by Mozart.

"This great undertaking", said Mr. Strick, "has been made possible by the splendid co-operation of our groups. Many hours of labor have gone into this Spring Festival and the girls have responded magnificiently. I believe this program, bringing to Farmville two of the greatest College Glee Clubs in America, will be an inspiration to our students and lend prestige and dignity to the institution".

11:00 A. M.—Concert by the Harvard University Orchestra.

2:00 P. M.—Dress Rehearsal in the College Auditorium.

4:00 to 6:00 P. M.—Tea and Reception for visiting clubs.

8:00 P. M.—Festival of Music in the College Auditorium.

10:00 P. M.—Dance in the Gymnasium.

Sandburg Says

By MARGARET WRIGHT

"How did I happen to write 'Fog'?" Carl Sandburg, distinguished poet, singer, author, collector of folklore, guitar strummer and thorough American was amused when so questioned in the course of an interview last night at the reception following the lecture. "If you ask me that I'm quitting," he said, and autographed another book.

"The question following that," he continued, clearly displaying the monotony of being asked the same thing so often in his mocking tone of voice, "is do you believe in inspiration for writing poetry or do you have to work? Why you can't help writing it anymore than you can help getting the measles."

As he opened "Root abaga Stories" and signed his name he said that there were some mighty trifling paragraphs there. He went on to explain that these stories have been translated in French. Closing the book and handing it back to the student he added that they didn't have the French for the Village of Liver and Onions so they had to rename the village.

"This ain't going so hard," he exclaimed as he met the next person in line. "I've never seen a handsomer audience." The poet laughed. "Sounds like I'm running for an election or something."

His reply when probed about his interests was that he thought he had made that obvious in his lecture. Besides people and his guitar he is president of the American Paw-paw Association and has the growth of 28 Paw-paw trees. He plans to cross them with bananas and pineapples. This was said in all seriousness. Another interest disclosed by Mr. Sandburg was his pride in raising highest milk producing goats, Nubian does. The poet added that at his home he had the largest collection of stories of people arriving at the gates of heaven of any one in the world.

"One reason I did the "Song bag", the poet spoke to the student who landed him his "The American Songbag", "was 'cause nobody did it for me when I was a boy." When asked what will happen to the literature in Europe after the war, Mr. Sandburg replied, "That's a hypothetical question."

He added that that was good for an interview because those who know the word will understand, and those who do not will think it is funny."

Mr. Sandburg permitted the interview on the condition that it be limited to two questions, but he forgot himself. He admitted that he had been a newspaper man himself.

About the punch he said, "It's thirst-quenching punch. Sounds like I'm practicing an election

Continued on Page 6

Rice Takes First Place In History "Quiz Contest"

Louise Rice, freshman, was awarded the prize for answering the most questions in the History Quiz conducted by Miss Mary E. Peck's five history classes in their review of the medieval period of history. The quiz was held Thursday afternoon, March 13.

The questions covered the course in an informal manner similar to the "Battle of Brains". Each person in the history classes had submitted five questions and a committee had been chosen from each class to select the best questions. One person from each committee asked questions to the groups. Other members of the committee served as an expert board to answer questions or verify answers.

Frances Parham was master of ceremonies.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription $1.50 per year

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

STAFF

Patricia Gibson ..... Editor-in-Chief
Elizabeth West ..... Managing Editor
Josa Carlton ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Margaret Wright ..... News Editor
Sara Cline ..... Feature Editor
Anne Cock ..... Sports Editor
Nancy Naff ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Marie Allen, Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Anna Johnson,, Shirley McCalley, Faye Nimmo, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Rollins, Jane Sanford, Dorothy Sprinkle, Elizabeth Tennant, Sara Trigg, Ella Banks, Weathers, Marjorie Garrison.

Assistant Business Managers

Texie Belle Felts ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Katherine Dodson ..... Advertising
Lillian German ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Elva Andrews, Mary Keith Bingham, Mary St.Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Helen DeLong, Anne Moore, Mary Lily Purdum.

Typists

Chief Typist ..... Frances Pritchett
Typists—Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Thelma Courtney, Dorothy Gaul.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 26, 1941

Music Festival

The music festival to be presented here on April 4 will bring to a fitting climax the year's work of the campus choral organizations. Each spring this group endeavors to present an outstanding musical program, assisted by visiting artists and glee clubs. This year's presentation promises to be more elaborate and enjoyable than ever before.

Easter selections from Handel's great oratorio, "The Messiah", will compose the latter portion of the program. This undertaking in itself is worthy of our wholehearted support. We appreciate the reputation our music department has painstakingly built up through the years. Let's show it by filling the auditorium to its capacity on April 4.

Music lovers from near and far are plannng to attend. Soloists from New York York and Duke have been asked to participate.

This is our big opportunity to back a group of our own students in building up the reputation of our Alma Mater in the field of music. Don't let's fail them!

And So—Farewell!

Carl Sandburg would have us believe that people are always arriving, but, as outgoing heads of "The Rotunda", we are conscious only of departing. Departing—in the hope that we have helped you to keep up with things here on campus and aware of things on other campi. Departing, too, with fond memories of the nerve-racking, hair-tearing hours characteristic of all newspaper work. They will always remain among our unforgetabiha.

And to the new staff we send the hope that their "seat on the edge of suspense" will prove as enjoyable as ours.

To the New Major Officers

Congratulations! And may you take strength in the wise words of Emerson. "A man is a little thing whilst he works for and by himself, but when he gives voice to the rules of love and justice, is godlike, his word is current in all countries; and all men though his enemies, are made his friends and obey it as their own."

Gleanings

By MARIE ALLEN

"Do not weep
War is kind."

We have heard little of unoccupied France in the past few months except of the shake-ups in the Nazi dominated government and the fact that she is starving. War took her men, her independence and now it is taking her women and children—the generation of tomorrow. No more blame for this starvation should be put on England than on Germany. Germany, occupying the northern part of the former independent France has control of the best area of France adapted to the production of food supplies, and England in her blockade is preventing shipment from other countries.

We are reminded of the age-old problem, balancing production with consumption. In this nation we have surplus supplies of food porducts but cannot afford to sell to France for fear that Germany will get them. England canont afford to relinquish her blockade for in that case it would mean supplies would get into Germany. The blockade is England's age old weapon. It won the last war and starved a half million women and children after the war was over. Germany needs all of the suppplies she can get for her own territory—so as a result France is left out in the cold—her people starving, children crying for food to mothers that are themselves starving.

What are we to do? What is the world to do? This is only one of the horrors produced by the mechanized thing called war. And yet day by day we are drawing ourselves more and more into the conflict. We do not want war—the wounds of the last war are too fresh. We are still paying interest on the cost of that war, we are still suffering from a depression brought on by that war and worse—far worse than either of these mercenary items—we are still nursing hates engendered by that war.

We must not think of peace terms, we can only push forward to win. Unfortunately, this is the philosopher behind our action. We have gone far enough, we are giving our supplies and our labors but we are not willing to send our men to foreign battlefields. The young men of the country are not anxious to fight. Oh, yes, you see propoganda in the newspapers and on the screens of this celebrity and that celebrity —movie stars and president's sons going to war—but try talking to the young men. Do they want to leave their college education, their jobs, and their friends to "go across" with no assurance of life, health or jobs in the future? No—They do not want to leave. They are willing to protect their own country, they are willing to go to training camps for this purpose, though most of them are wary of just what this step might mean. But to ask them to protect another country is a slight stretch of most people's patriotism and usually a result of some ill-founded hate.

Let us not be propagandized into going in that thing called war. Let us remain active non-belligerents, for the most effective destruction of a dictator is the the resistance of the conquered people. The Hitler regime will crumble—but not by war. As long as war continues the people will back their leader, they will reinforce the man that's saving their country. But when peace comes, when Hitler has no issues to dramatize before the people, then they'll begin falling off. Why further the control of this regime that presumably the democratic world hates by becoming involved in the most destructive of all forces—war?

Senior Personality

ROSA COURTER
Outgoing A. A. President

Sparkling brown eyes, a contagious laugh, efficiency, capability, and good sportsmanship—they all add up to Rosa.

She's lightning on the basketball court—now here, now there but just where she ought to be when she's needed. As captain of the 1941 varsity basketball squad and president of the Athletic Association Rosa's shown herself a capable and efficient leader.

Will we ever forget her laugh echoing down the hall—a sure sign of mischief, one of her practical jokes—or a call from Lindley. She's always in the middle of any fun afoot and often at the source of it, too.

Neatness is one characteristic that pops into mind at the very mention of Rosa's name.

Some little girls are going to love their home ec class next year—unless Rosa decides in favor of home of a her own.

Topping efficiency, good looks, personality, and athletic prowess with an ability to cook is almost too much to ask but that's Rosa Courter.

Question of the Week

What is your favorite magazine and why?

Yates Carr: I like Good Housekeeping because it has everything in it. I think the poetry page is most interesting.

Miggie Mish: I like the American because of the "interesting people" section.

Shirley Pierce: I like Life because it has so much variety in it.

Josa Carlton: I like Colliers because of the cartoons, especially the little man with the eyes.

Margie Rice: I like Good Housekeeping because the quality of the stories is much better than that of the average magazine.

Anne Leatherbury: I like Life because it has the latest news from all over the world.

Polly Keller: I like the Famous Funnies because it is such good concentration material.

Martha Whelchel: I like Atlantic Monthly because I like the ideas expressed in it.

Mary Keith Bingham: I like the Ladies Home Journal because of the pictures of clothes that I can not have.

Boonie Stevenson: I like the Readers Digest because the articles are short and condensed. It is such a complete magazine.

Chubby Heard: I like Mademoiselle because it is such a practical guide for people our age. The fashions in it are not too extreme.

Bill Stone: I like Mademoiselle because of the fashions and beauty hints. It has such wonderful suggestions for accessories.

Marty Roberts: I like Current History and Forum because they are so full of information.

Helen McIlwaine: I like the American because I like good short stories.

Ethel Carr: I like Mademoiselle because I enjoy looking at pictures of clothes that I can not have.

Carolyn Harvey: I like the American because it has such good feature material in it.

Betsy Austin: I like Esquire because all I have to do is read the underlines and then look at the pictures.

Looking 'Em Over

"Should they whisper false of you
Never trouble to deny:
Should the words they say be true
Weep and storm and swear they lie."

true love— spring has nothing to do with it, so they say, but nevertheless Worsham is flashing the dashing Bill Tracy's pin to say nothing of planning to spend many happy hours visiting the same gentleman come Easter and recess. One of our lassies has recently come into a V. P. I. German Club pin. That ain't all, but it's enough.

enigma—this past week end Libby Carter had a date with Tom Martin. He got the measles Sunday. She got 'em Monday. Now what do you supposed happened?

food for thought—some people think it's an honor to have their names appear in this column. More often nice people are seen and not read about.

together again maybe— Painter and the old high school romance with Bobby banished from the scene for the time being. And ditto to Seward who fanned the still-burning spark of a five-year-ago romance while visiting at the University of Maryland last week end.

we like—the lines:

roses be's red
violet's be's blue
when it rains I think of you drip ! ! ! !

tidbits—Libby West insists that she didn't keep her pupil in after school so that he would walk home with her—we'll just mark it up to spring. The season must also take the blame for Beezie's and Chick's swimming party. Bu-r-r-. And such dirty water, too.

Peggy Lou Boyette is said to have :ung the wrong bell in psychology class. But that can't be blomed on the weather no matter how flexible the imagination.

harlem doings—once there was a little girl who went home for the week end. That was o. k., but she had to go visiting. And she got lost in Harlem—all by herself. And it wasn't exactly nice—being lost. But a policeman came along at the opportune moment and showed her the way to go home. We thought Peggy Bellus knew New York better than that.

scene—some supposedly mature seniors acting like adolescents in the "Rec." And some less intelligent underclassmen aping the same with little in their minds except space. And it doesn't take a Sherlock Holmes to solve the mystery of the Riding Club room.

evesdripping—Dabney and Sadie on the outs? Jerry Smith must like Danville scenery—perhaps Sprye's countenance added to the attractiveness of the place. Rumor hath it that May Wertz is going to find her affairs as involved as spaghetti if she insists upon keeping Princeton, W. & L. and Virginia dangling on the same line. Give some men enough rope and they'll hang themselves—others in the same situation will skip. Chuck Whitehouse has taken to writing poetry to Margy Rice. That's what a quiz contest will do News item: Polly Hughes with Lex Allison cerebral congregation. The Flippen must find life strenuous these days what with hanging onto Cunningham wall and the Orange telephone line.

dramatic echoes—was there a motive to Moto's madness? Ask the elusive Miss Haskins. Martha Whelchel belies her fluttery Emmy by pulling the best grade on the philosophy exam—to say nothing of having a Phi Beta Kappa friend in Lexington. Mutual contingency or widening sociality?

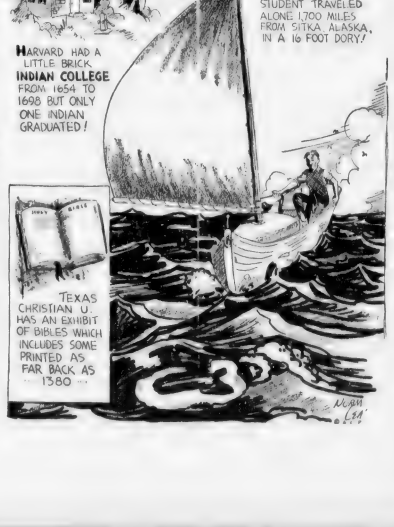
what's the use department—all the boys are being drafted, Ruth Lea's Jack is the latest among those to become one of Uncle Sam's soldiers. But better an American private than one of Hitler's public. It's all right to kick about this thing—anything as one as we don't start goosestepping.

quizzical quibbles— is Hoskins' reticence in Captain Jim indicative of a "ball and chain" merger? Likewise, is there any connection between Betty Beale Fahr's recent marriage course and and her current conversation?

about men—"man is the only animal who can be skinned more than once." "the trouble with many a fat man is that his daily doesn't." "some men grow under responsibility, others only swell." "the trouble with a man who knows nothing is that he is the last to find it out."

and lastly—you can't believe all you hear, but you can repeat it.

Collegiate World



Palpitating paragraphs from The Tower at Catholic university:

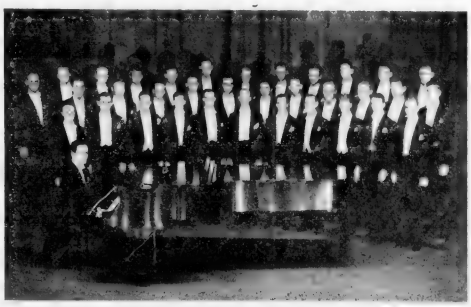
Things became so slack at the postoffice that all the regulars and superintendents were laid off and they even considered laying off the football players.

M. P. H. used to mean miles per hour before Ann Sheridan.

Recently met a co-ed who wore shell rimmed glasses because she needed them.

F. D. R. doesn't know enough to come in out of the reign.

Principals in the Coming S. T. C. Spring Festival of Music



Pictured left is the Harvard University Orchestra.

On the right is the Duke University Glee Club.

Below is the Harvard University Glee Club.

These groups will participate in the music festival to be held here on Friday, April 4.

Music Festival Program Listed

Four Soloists To Be Featured

Annual spring Festival of Music presenting Duke University Women's Glee Club, Harvard University Glee Club, Duke University Men's Glee Club, and State Teachers College Choir and Choral Club with the Harvard University Orchestra (Pierian Sodalita 1808), Malcolm H. Holmes—conductor will be presented here at S. T. C. April 4, at 8 o'clock.

Soloists will be Dorothy Baker, soprano, Evelyn Barnes contralto; Edward G. Field, tenor; Wilson Angel, baritone.

The program will include:

Part I: Lungi dal Caro Bene, Secchi; Mohacs Field, Korbay; Wilson Angel.

The Sandman, Brahms; A Song In The Night, Loughborough; Let All My Life Be Music, Spross; The Women's Glee Club of Duke University, Mrs. J. Foster Barnes, Director.

Opening scene from Othello, Verdi; Othello—H. M. Rainie) Choeur De Soldats from La Reine Indigo (Paris version) Johann Strauss; English Folksong: The Turtle Dove, arr. by Vaughan Williams; Chorus from "Patience": When I Go Out Doors, Sullivan; (Harvard University Glee Club)

Musetta's Waltz Song (La Boheme) Puccini; Norwegian Echo Song, Thrane; A Heart That's Free, Robyn; (Dorothy Baker)

Madrigal Group, Selected; Juliate, Amen, Bruch; Alleluia, Mozart; (Junior and Senior A'capella Choirs) The Artisan, Ware; (S. T. C. College Choir)

Alleluia, Amen (From an old Russian Church Mode) Gaines; The Comrades' Song of Hope, Adam; O Ev'ry Time I Feel De Spirit (Traditional negro spiritual); The Bugle Blows (We're On Parade) Klemm; (The Men's Glee Club of Duke University, J. Foster Barnes, Director)

Accompanists: Miss Bessie Cox, and Golson Hawkins.

Selections from the "Messiah" Part II and III, by Handel.

Chorus, Behold the Lamb of God.

Air (Alto), He was despised.

Chorus, All we like sheep have gone astray.

Recit. (Tenor), He was cut off out of the land of the living.

Air (Tenor), But Thou didst not leave His soul in hell.

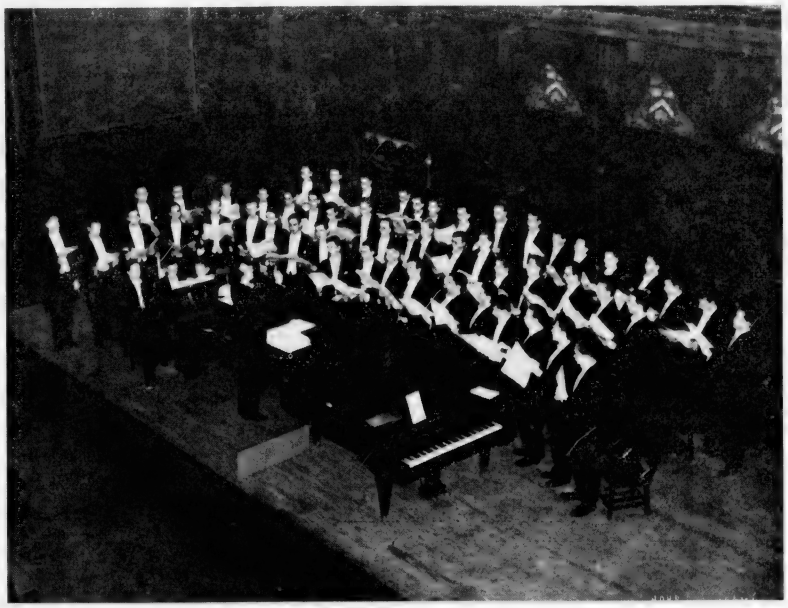
Air (Soprano), How beautiful are the feet of them.

Chorus, Their sound is gone out into all lands.

Air (Bass), Why do the nations so furiously rage.

Recit. (Tenor), He that dwelleth in heaven.

Air (Tenor), Thou shalt break them.



Chorus, Hallelujah!

Air (Soprano), I know that my Redeemer liveth.

Chorus, Worthy is the Lamb.

Rotunda Tryouts

All people interested in trying out for the Rotunda staff are urged to meet in Mr. S. M. Holton's classroom at 8:30 tonight. Assignments will be made at that time.

Student Expresses Music Department's Value at Farmville

By RUTH LEA PURDUM

"Music is preoccupied in the pursuit of beauty."

The quotation may be used to describe the essence of value that our music department is constantly contributing to our college. This powerful feeling of a love, respect and admiration for music on its higher level is gradually finding its place in the daily routine of each student who is a member of our big family.

From our State Teachers College, Duke and Harvard concert, as well as our previous concerts, the music department is giving the state, town and school an opportunity to hear and feel 'real' music.

Having no connection with any of our many musical groups in the college, I took my opportunity in finding a greater appreciation for music from the classes offered in the study of symphony and opera. From the hours spent listening quietly to the great records, I found I had missed a needed part of college life that would lead me further in the pursuit of beauty.

In these days of chaos, when nations are fighting without a goal of peace and fellowship for mankind, we know that there still remains one language common to all men regardless of race or creed—the musical language. The musical language stirs the emotions of every individual or group; the musical language brings a feeling of oneness to all who take part in its mighty theme.

So it is with our music department in relation to outsiders. We offer them the opportunity to to live the musical greatness as an individual as well as a group—to find a deep subjective appreciation that is radiated by our girls and their musical associates from other colleges and universities.

Above is Wilson Angel, baritone, from Richmond, Virginia. Mr. Angel who will be a featured soloist on the program, has appeared at S. T. C. on many occasions.

Nelson Comments On Advantages Of Music Program

By CARALIE NELSON

North and South will meet on this campus April 4 when the Music department presents its annual Spring Concert.

From the North will come the Men's Glee Club of Harvard University; from the South, the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs of Duke University together with the Choral groups of Farmville State Teachers College. The concert will bring together this section of the country on a common basis, for music is the language and bond of all peoples. Never before has such a gigantic undertaking been sponsored by a local musical group.

The men and women from three schools will unite their talents to interpret the very best music the lovely and powerful "Messiah". The concert will be the means for sharing talents and abilities in the creation of a message in song.

There will be an opportunity to know people better from other colleges and from other states.

Visitors from all parts of this state and representatives from other colleges will attend the concert. Their presence will not only lend importance to the occasion, but will also offer encouragement to young musicians.

Talented singers, guest performers, a well-trained orchestra—these will present broadening and enriching experiences for the girls fo this college who will go forth next year and the next to help pupils to know and appreciate the beautiful in life.

Choral Groups To Sing At Duke

Harvard To Take Part In Tryout

On Thursday, April 3, 85 students representing the Choral Club and College Choir and A'Capella choirs, will leave aFrmville at 9:30 A. M. for Duke University to participate in the spring program given each year by the Duke University Glee Club. Appearing on the program will be the Harvard University Glee Club, the Duke Chapel Choir and S. T. C. groups.

Elaborate preparations are being made by Duke for the visiting singers, which includes a Tea Dance and other social functions.

The program will be given in the Duke Chapel under the directions of J. Foster Barnes.

Harvard Orchestra Will Play in Chapel

Harvard University Orchestra, Pierian Sodality of 1808 with Malcolm H. Holmes, conductor, will present a concert in the auditorium Friday, April 4 at 11 o'clock

The program will be:

Overture to "Le Magnifique", Gretry.

Chaconne, Buxtehude-Holmes.

Symphony No. 1, ("Drum Roll") in E Flat, Haydn: Adagio; Allegro con spirito. Andante, Menuetto, Allegro con spirito.

Variations on "Mary had a Little Lamb" Ballantine.

Theme: Shubert; Demi-Moment Musical: Tschaikovsky: Valse Funebre: MacDowell: At a Lamb: Wagner: Sacrificial Scene and Festmahl from Act X "Lammfell".

Concerto Grosso for Piano and Strings Bloch. Prelude Fugue (Piano: Allen W. Greene '42).

Spanish Dance from "La Vida Breve" DePalle.

'I.-S. Glee Club Joins Mary Baldwin College In Group Concert

Music has forged to the front on other campi as well as S. T. C. and we have evidence of this in the recent joint concert of "The Messiah" presented in Staunton by the Glee Clubs of Hampden-Sydney and Mary Baldwin Colleges.

The concert was given at the Trinity Episcopal Church. Ed Field was one of the soloists, and the other three leads were taken by residents of Staunton. Mr. Broman, Hampden-Sydney glee club director, played the organ while directing the seventeen choristers from Hampden-Sydney who traveled by car to Staunton to give the concert were: Jack Armes, Bill Armes, Kossen Gregory, Charles Crank, Ed Field, Addison Campbell, Charles Scott, George Holden, George Topping, Buck Crockett, Ralph Ritchie, Kenneth Sheck, Jerry Simmons, Elias Etheridge, Paul Coblentz, Horace Peast and Ned Crawley.

• Sports Slants •

By ANNE COCK

Spring has came
Winter has went
Which ain't not
No accident

Now was it an accident when the varsity team beat our old rivals Madison College Friday night the 14th. To hear them talk it must have been a really exciting game. That gives the varsity an undefeated record for the year with victories over Radford, Catonsville, Hofstra, Upsala, Alumnae and Madison. A long "ray" and two short "rahs" to the retiring squad.

The mermaids, better known as the varsity swimming team, stroked up the seconds as they raced against time in the International Telegraphic Swimming meet Thursday in the pool. Spectators cheered as old records were broken and new ones made. They gave nary a thought to having to spectate in their bare feet. 'Twas just a part of the fun!

With events of the old quarter over, the new quarter and spring here at last, it is with a clear conscience and light shoulders that we look to the future.

While the ground thaws out and the atmosphere heats up a bit we'll continue with our indoor activities. The list on the Ping Pong Tournament sheet grows longer and the tourney is scheduled to begin this week. Any old time you can hear those balls banging back and forth in the rec. Try it, some of you, if you've never indulged. It just takes a little practice. The paddles are on hand, you furnish a ball (and yourself, of course) and the game is on.

Volleyball ought to get underway before long. "When the new quarter started" they said. Now there's a game of skill that is really fun. It may not look like much, just watching, but you've got to be on your toes to sock the ball back over the net. There'll be the usual class games, the best two out of three, and the finals playing winner against winner.

The weather is just right to ride horse-back they tell me. If you have a hankering to be on a horse but are financially embarrassed, the A. A.'s planning an aid project that will give the girls who want to ride and can't afford to do it. Sounds all right—what? The spring exhibition is coming right along too. That ought to be a humdinger with costumes, prizes and everything!

Methinks there are more tennis courts in the making Looks that way. Could be a false alarm of course, but we'll hope not, and the time for tennis is not far distant. And there's always a tournament connected with that—about the last tournament of the season.

The weather's in good form for some out door golf too. Those links at Longwood are not only pretty but serviceable as well. Swing it girls!

May Day Practice Schedule

MARCH
31—Mdonay	3:30-4:30—English	Rec
	3:30- 5:00—River	Gym
	9:00-10:00—Prairie	Gym
	9:00-10:00—German	Rec
APRIL
1—Tuesday	3:30-4:30—Forests	Gym
	3:30- 4:30—Irish	Rec
	8:30- 9:30—Indian	Gym
	8:30- 9:30—Russian	Rec
2—Wednesday	3:30- 4:30—Mountain	Gym
	3:30- 4:30—Swedish	Rec
	8:00- 9:00—Negro	Gym
	8:00- 9:00—French	Rec
	9:00-10:00—Court	Gym
3—Thursday	3:30- 4:30—Mexican	Little Gym
	3:30- 4:30—Dutch	Rec
	9:00-10:00—Oppressed	Gym
	9:00-10:00—Danish	Rec

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

BUTCHER'S
The convenient store for faculty and student body.
Good things to eat and drink

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

LOAFERS OXFORDS—Brown and white, black and white, All white and beige. Sizes 3 to 9 with widths from AAA to C
$2.45—$2.95—$3.45
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

COATS AND SUITS—Pastels, plaids, navy and black $10.85 up.
HATS—Straws and felts $1.45, $1.97, $2.97
DOROTHY MAY STORE
The College Headquarters

Swim Team Is 3rd In Southern Region

Pictured above are: Gaul, Darracott, Walker (Capt.), Pollard, Dugger, Dupuy, and Pierce, swimmers who represented S. T. C. in the recent National Intercollegiate swimming meet. Lee, Goodwin, Courter and Gibson are the only seniors on the squad.

Above is the varsity basketball squad, undefeated on the hardwood this year. Seated in the first row from left to right are: Florence Lee, Hallie Hillsman Dot Johnson, Rosa Courter (Capt.), Hester Chattin, Corilda Chaplin and Marjorie Gooden.
Second row: Anne Ellett, Frances Parham, Pat Gibson, Juanita Smith, Anne Price, Martha Roberts and Jean Carr. Third row: Dot Gaul, Mildred Droste, Patsy Connelly, Faye Nimmo, Virginia Hill, June Smith, Dorothy Sue Simmons and Vivian Gwathmey. Miss Olive T. Iler, coach, not pictured.

Florida State And Wm and Mary Take Top Swim Honors

Medley Team Gets Regional Record In Telegraphic Meet

S. T. C.'s swimming team placed third in the Southern Region for the third consecutive year when its members gave a record breaking performance in the National Intercollegiate Telegraphic Meet. A telegram from Florida State College for Women, regional sponsor, brought word of "third place in the region and second in the minors". Complete results have not come through as yet, but it is known that Florida State and William and Mary placed first and second, respectively.

Five school, four pool, and one regional record were smashed by the varsity team during the telegraphic meets.

Winners of each event and the times turned in are listed below.

Summary:

40 yard Crawl—Parham, Time: 0:24.1 (school record)

40 yard Breast—Dupuy, Time 0:33.

40 yard Back—Gaul., Time: 0:31.1 (school and pool record).

100 yard Breast—Dupuy, Time: 1:42.

100 yard Crawl—Dugger, Time: 1:20 (school and pool record)

75 yard Medley relay—Gaul, Dupuy, Dugger: Time: 0:51 (school, pool, and regional record)

100 yard Free-style relay—Pollard, Dupuy, Parham, Dugger; Time: 0:58 (school and pool record)

Riding for All

If finances do not permit you to take horse back riding during the spring quarter, please make inquiry at once about the help being given by the Athletic Association. The Riding Club officers will give you the desired information any day after lunch in the Riding Club room. If interested, please apply sometime this week.

COLLEGE SHOPPE
TRY OUR SPECIAL
Prepared Lunches
FOR S. T. C. GIRLS
20c—25c—30c
Come in and ask about them
WE DELIVER CALL 200

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

ENGLISH GADROON
GORHAM STERLING
ONE SIX-PIECE PLACE-SETTING EACH MONTH COSTS ONLY . . . $17.17
Martin, the Jeweler

Try Our Saturday Special
• ANY 10c DRINK PLUS
• ANY 10c SANDWICH, PLUS PIE A LA MODE
All for 25c
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Ping Pong Tourney Gets Underway

Matches Must Be Played This Week

The ping pong tournament is to be run off this week and next, beginning tomorrow. The girls competing have been paired off. Games must be played within two days after the chart is posted on the A. A. bulletin board. Scores and the date of the game should be recorded immediately after the game. Winners will then play winners until the finals are reached.

Balls and paddles may be gotten from Frances Parham's room but must be returned as soon as the games are finished. Girls not competing in the contest are asked to relinquish tables to the competitors should they be playing at the time of a scheduled tournament. This will help the tournament to be run off more quickly.

Girls who will compete are Shirley Pierce, Esther Coleman, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Louise Phillips, Elizabeth Barlow, Anna Parker, Louise Rice, Helen McIlwaine, Nell Hurt, Jane Scott, Nancy Dupuy, Spilly Purdum, Florence Lee, Winifred Wright, Ruth Dugger, Grace Ellerton, Helen Seward, Helen Gilliam, Hester Chattin, Dot Darracott, Elva Andrews, Frances Parham, Cottie Radspinner, and Anne Williams.

All men are not fools. Some are bachelors.

Varsity Record

Farmville 33	Radford	10
Farmville 47	Catonsville	16
Farmville 38	Hofstra	11
Farmville 44	Upsala	11
Farmville 25	Alumnae	10
Farmville 32	Madison	19

May Day Dancers

Solo—Ann Bradshaw.

Forests — 3:30—4:30, gym, March 25, April 1, 8, 15, 22; Bondurant, Nancy; Davis Mallory; Ebel, Ellen; Hardy, Helen; Martin, Jean; Pratt, Jane; Seibert, Alice; Wamsley, Mary; Williams. Ann; McCorkle, Louise; Strick, Jean; Campbell, Margaret; Grigg, Roberta; Wood, Edith; Jerry Smith; Allen, Peggy.

Rivers—3:30—5:00, gym, March 24, 31, April 9, 21; Barlow, Elizabeth; Burge, Katherine; Chattin, Hester; Chattin, Mildred; Conson, Mary J.; Gibson, Pat; Heard, Marion; McCalley, Shirley; Minnick, Carolyn; Phillips, Louise; Steidtmann, Lois; Watts, Helen; Altomare, Aseita; Belote, Alice; Bennett, Lilwyn; Garnett, Ann; Edmonson, Mary S.; Bradshaw, Ann.

Prairie — 9:00—10:00, gym, March 24, 31, April 7, 21; Hillsman, Hallie; Courter, Rose; Hutchinson, Sally; Fauntleroy, Dearing; Pilkington, Ella M.; Halesson, Jane; Childress, Dorothy; Fletcher, Patsy; Petticrew, Mary E.; Sears, Jeanne; McFall, Madge; Hutchinson, Jane Lee; Edmunds, Mary H.; Sanford, Louisa.

Mountains — 3:30—4:30, gym, March 26, April 2, 9, 16, 23; Dekker, Freida; Daracott, Dorothy; Droste, Mildred; Dugger, Ruth; Ellerton, Grace; Gaul, Dorothy; Jones, Lulie; Pierce; Shirley; Pollard, Gloria; Rogers, Hatcher; Lawrence, Mickey; Ammen, Rachel; Hardy, Sarah; Long, Gwen; Steel, Blanche; Wright, Arlene.

Oppressed — 9:00—10:00, gym, March 27, April 3, 17, 24; Krenning, Evelyn; Lewis, Helen; Goodwin, Elizabeth; Boatwright, Mary L.; Vaughan, Sadie; Gooden, Marjorie; Kennedy, Kathryn; Wilson, Frances; Hatten, Jean; Burwell, Gertrude; Francis, Ann;

Continued on Page 3

Course In Life Saving Offered

Peggy Hughes Will Direct Swim Group

All students interested in taking the American Red Cross senior life saving course during the spring term are urged to report at the pool on Monday, March 31, at 3:30 P. M.

A junior life saving certificate is not required for those wishing to enroll. Students must, however, be at least 17 years of age and have enough swimming ability to pass the preliminary test.

Serving as instructor for the course will be Peggy Hughes, manager of swimming. She will be assisted by members of the H20 Club who have the official American Red Cross instructor's rating.

The class will meet every Monday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:00 P. M.

Yourself & Others

With exams over; it seems a nomadic urge swept S. T. C. to take away over half its population for the week-end.

To the ever popular Richmond went Catherine Acree, Frances Alexander, Felicity Apperly, Betty Boutchard, Blanche Colavita, Carroll Costello, Dot Darracott, Caroline Eason, Mary Sue Edmonson, Grace Ellerton, Jane Engleby, Betty Fahr, Theresa Fletcher, Anna George, Mary Harvie, Jean Hatton, Emma Hutchinson, Jane Jones, Lulie Jones, Kathryn Kennedy, Margaret Lawrence, Constance Lofton, Evelyn Lupton, Clara McConnell, Jane McGinnis, Charlotte Morris and Josephine Newman.

Jennie Noell, Helen Ott, Mary M. Peery, Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, Ella Marsh Pilkinton, Evelyn Renfro, Margie Rice, Nell Richards, Mary Jane Ritchie, Andy Sawyer, Jane Lee Sink, Elsie Smith, Boonie Stevenson, Anne Stewart, Margaret Thomas, Marie Thompson, Shirley Turner, Miriam Weger, Norma Lee West, Mary Frances White, Mary Kathryn Zehmer, Mary Keith Bingham, Margaret Finney, Lynette Honeycutt, Ella Hutchinson and Patricia Jackson.

Marie Luekert, Ada Nuchols, Dorothy Payne, Jane Peery, Gloria Pollard, Rebecca Savage, Evelyn Thorington, Lucy Turnbull, Harriett Walker, Ruth Woody, Margaret Wright, Frances Cobb, Mary Charlotte Jones, and Anne Turner.

Those who trecked to Lynchburg included Doris Alvis, Catherine Blunt, Edna Campbell, Lucy Davis, Virginia Dowley, Coralee Gilliam, Dellia Gregory, Imogen Hutter, Baylis Kunz, Jean Martin, Carolyn Minnick, Cottie Radspinner, Catherine Rucker, Betty Sexton, Dawn Shanklin, Geraldine Smith, Elizabeth Brown, Gay Ward Brown, Eleanor Pedigans, Nancy Hutter, Carroll Pugh, and Nancy Wolfe.

There were literally hundreds who went to Roanoke and Petersburg, Suffolk, and Norfolk, but very few out of state this time. Most of S. T. C. has decided to have fun and vacations in Virginia. Lots of new outfits returned this time, as did some new loves and fraternity pins—Spring has come to Farmville, but to stay! ! !

Sandburg Reception

Beorc Eh Thorn entertained with a reception in the Student Building Lounge for Carl Sandburg immediately following his lecture of March 25. Members of the organization, students from Hampden-Sydney, the S. T. C. faculty and students who bought copies of Sandburg's books were invited to attend. Some of those people who bought books had them autographed at the reception.

Edith Nunnally was general chairman of the reception and Elva Kibler had charge of decorations.

The Rotunda Staff will hold its annual banquet on Thursday March 27, at 6 o'clock in the tea room. Others attending besides the staff will be Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wall, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Holton, and the heads of the other campus publications.

Sorority Notes

Gamma Theta Chapter held its Founders Day banquet in the tea room on Monday, March 24, at 6 o'clock. Miss Florence Stubbs, faculty advisor, was the only guest.

Athletic Association Council held its annual banquet Tuesday night, March 25, at 6 o'clock in the tea room. Those present in addition to the council were Miss Olive Iler, Miss Mary Barlow, Miss Mary White Cox, Dr. J. L. Jarman, Mr. Raymond French, the varsity basketball and hockey squads, and the varsity cheerleaders.

Members of Alpha Kappa Gamma of State Teachers College and Omicron Delta Kappa of Hampden-Sydney College will hold a joint banquet at Longwood Wednesday night, March 26, at 6 o'clock. Faculty representatives from each chapter will also be present. Joint plans for the coming year will be discussed at this time.

ENOCH LIGHT

Enoch Light To Play For Cotillion

Band Leader Has Toured Europe

Enoch Light, who comes with his orchestra to S. T. C. on April 19 for Spring Cotillion, is one of the few America popular bandleaders who is just as well known and popular in Europe.

In 1927, 1928, and 1929, Enoch Light and his Orchestra were the top jazz band in Europe. They played the Baumont Palace in Paris for 36 weeks and were featured repeatedly in three big Berlin theatres. They played a command performance for the King and Queen of Spain, and for the President of France.

Light went to Austria for the Annual Mozart Music Festival at Salzburg in 1929 and had the distinction of serving as conductor of Austria's symphony orchestra. He returned to New York in 1929 just in time to see all his savings swept away in the market crash. Because of his long absence in Europe he found himself almost unknown here.

The owner of the Greenwich Village Nut Club and the Village Barn in New York, engaged him to alternate between his two restaurants. Engagements at the Rooney Plaza in Miami Beach and at the Shelburne in Atlantic City followed, then Hotel McAlpin in New York and a solid run of two straight years at the Hotel Taft, climaxed by an engagement at the New York Paramount Theatre.

Light has broadcast regularly over both NBC networks, over CBC and WOR Mutual.

Major Officers

Continued from Page 1

Dorothy is treasurer of the Athletic Association. She has been on varsity basketball and varsity hockey since her freshman year. She has played on her class hockey team all three years served as captain her first two years, and has been on her class volley ball team. Her first two years she was on the membership committee of the Y. W. C. A. and for the past two years she has been assistant business manager of the Virginian. She is a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma, Cotillion Club, Alpha Phi Sigma and Dramatic Club, being the assistant head of the lighting group.

Minor officers of the four major oganizations were nominated today and will be voted upon tomorrow. Installation of all officers will not take place until class representatives to government, members of the Athletic Association Council, and members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet are elected.

DUKE UNIVERSITY School of Nursing

DURHAM, N. C.

The Diploma of Graduate Nurse is awarded after three years. The entrance requirements are intelligence, character, and graduation from an accredited High School. Preference is given to those who have had college work.

The annual tuition of $100 covers the cost of maitenance, uniforms, books, etc.

Catalogues, apppication forms, and information about requirements may be obtained from the admission committee.

"First Lady" Well-Received

Play Is Take Off On Washington Society

In a critical discussion of First Lady in 1936, a noted reviewer concentrated his interpretation of this contemporary play, by Katherine Dayton and George Kauffman, into political comedy about petticoat politics in Washington which has a pleasant sparkling veracity on the surface and delivers its laughs with machine-gun precision. This, though somewhat boiled down, is the theme of the recent satirical comedy given by the S. T. C. Dramatic Club and Hampden-Sydney Jougleurs.

With every asset as to cast, the play was a source of much enjoyment and laughter. Mary Hunter Edmunds managed to make the heroine very amusing, while "Lex Allison as "Carter Hibbard" and Peggy Bellus as his somewhat disgruntled wife were equally as clever with their parts. Virginia Mae Ellett as the efficiently wise, secretarial "Sophy Prescott" very unostensibly carried off a fine role, and Martha Whelchel was downright "cute" in her innocent portrayal of "Emmy". From the maid on up to the First Lady, the whole cast proved its histrionic ability by creating living, real characters; necessary to the success of any play.

Some one has said that wit demands three qualities: compression, unexpectedness, and a core of sound comment. "First Lady" had all three in its wit which was well spaced yet frequent enough. Its greatest appeal lay in the fact that its clever repartee was colloquial and not literary. Certainly none of it was farfetched or needing an explanation.

Kauffman and Dayton have shown a definite knowledge of Washington's willful, wily ways. Its petty quibbles over seating arrangement, its gross insincerity, its search for position and respect, its social aspirations and its less important senator-wive debates serve as interestingly humorous material for one of the most highly entertaining plays we've seen in a long time. Our orchids to Miss Wheeler for splendid directorship and to the whole cast for a highly entertaining evening.

NOTICE

The student body extends sympathy to Miss Grace Moran in her recent bereavement.

Jongleur-S. T. C. Play—

Shown above is a shot from Act III of "First Lady," presented by the Jongleurs and S. T. C.'s Dramatic Club last Friday and Saturday nights. Left to right are Alex Jones, Peggy Bellus, Lex Allison, John Pancake, Keith Eubank and Mary Hunter Edmunds.

"Unto Every Generation"

War, war, war! But meanwhile, school here at S. T. C. went on, wrapped up in khaki-colored yarn and knit into large sweaters and long socks. For the S. T. C. girls were excited, and were willing to give up even their candy in order to save money to buy bonds. Save your money, save your money! Give to your boys at war! Support them with your contributions. Save your country by saving your pennies! Thus ran the cry, as speech after speech was made here in our auditorium, some by war leaders, some very "wonderful talks in chapel to the girls" by Dr. Jarman. Many meetings were held to pep up the girls so that they would pledge generously; as though they needed "pepping up" when their brothers, cousins, friends, sweethearts were in uniform, in training, across the sea, at the battle front, on Flanders Field.

On one occasion, a French soldier and a wounded young Scotch soldier visited our campus, and told stories of the Germans, of the war, of their part in it. Pictures were taken of the wounded young soldiers, supported by Dr. Jarman, and surrounded by a group of girls, hanging on his every word. Any news of the war, any word from the boys, brought a bevy of girls, eager to hear, yet fearing.

Mrs. Jarman, head of the Red Cross work here in Farmville, Miss Mary, in charge of sewing, and Miss Winnie Hiner used to sit up until 2 o'clock every night sewing, and inspecting other's rewing. All was in their competent hands. Miss Mary says that her doctor told her that the soldiers were shell shocked, but that she was "outing shocked" from the outing garments she had been making. "I guess all that outing ended up in the sea."

All the girls made little treasure boxes to send to the boys at Christmas. Mr. Brock was in charge of making them, and cheery gifts they were, filled with candy, combs, brushes, mirrors, and other useful homey articles.

Miss Wheeler—our Miss Wheeler—even went over to France to do her part. She had the vital work of keeping the boys in good spirits of entertaining them and tryng courageously to keep them cheerful and normally strong, even the face of death and disaster. And the girls who stayed here wrote gay letters and sent candy and other articles that might bring gladness to the boys until peace would bring a real smile once more.

Bundles for Britian! Speeches, classes even, to the tune of flying knitting nedles! Anything, everything for the British, that our boys mght be spared.

1917—S. T. C. girls knitting and wrapping war gifts. 1941—S. T. C. girls knitting and praying for peace in all the world.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

ΦΦA

ΦOR ΦINGERNAIL APPEAL

Beautify your fingernails with new, longer-lasting

DURA-GLOSS Nail Polish 10¢

Everywhere

SALE OF "LOAFERS"

We are very fortunate indeed to offer such an outstanding value in these fine campus shoes. In Colors of Natural, Brown, Tan, White and Brown & White.

Reg. $3.50 Values

Special

$2.95

DAVIDSON'S

College Papers View Labor

Little Hope Seen For Union of CIO AFL At Present

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

America's college newspapers saw little hope late last spring for union of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organization. But swift-moving events have changed the view. The concensus of undergraduate writers now is not only that prospects are good for ending factionalism, but that a truce in the near future is imperative.

Commenting on the resignation of CIO president John L. Lewis, the Cornell Daily Sun says that "the next move necessary to the unreserved cooperation of the nation in the preparedness program is the unqualified unification of the forces of labor. With the workers of the nation split into two camps, it is impossible that the program can go forward with the best operation."

In the opinion of the Michigan Daily, President Roosevelt's victory and John L. Lewis's defeat gave rise to one of the brightest hopes for labor unity in the last years. The mass of both organizations have common interests and are desirous of uniting them In many cities there are joint labor councils, joint journals and joint strikes when necessary. Consciously and unconsciously the workers in both organizations have been united in political action. That the CIO and AFL are not joined in an effective union today is an indictment of the democratic processes within the organizations that allow the leaders to block the will of the members."

General benefits to come from labor's turning its back on the "reds" are envisioned by the Daily Kansan. "President Roosevelt," says the Kansan, "would like a united, well controlled, anti-Communist labor front to work with him in courting business. Sidney Hillman (labor co-ordinator of the rearmament program) would like to free labor from the restraint of the Sherman anti-trust law. If he could unite the CIO and AFL in an alliance acceptable to the president, he might get what he wants and probably would co-operate with the administration. If Hillman can get the co-operation he wishes, Roosevelt may get the 'red' purge he wishes within labor ranks. If the 'reds are purged, business may work with the administration with greater harmony. This is Roosevelt's answer to Mr. Willkie's 'loyal opposition;' either way, business can't lose.

S. A. Legus, Tailor

Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing

We call for and deliver

All Work Guaranteed

Phone 203

STATE

"Your Community Center"

Monday-Tues. March 31-Ap. At Last It's on the Screen!

"TOBACCO ROAD"

Wed.-Thurs. April 2-3
ERROLL BRENDA
Flynn Marshall

"FOOTSTEPS IN THE DARK"

Friday-Saturday April 4-5
OLIVIA de HAVILAND JAMES CAGNEY

"STRAWBERRY BLONDE"

Outgoing 'Rotunda" Heads—

LIBBY WEST
Managing Editor

PAT GIBSON
Editor-in-Chief

JOSA CARLTON
Business Manager

May Day Dancers

Continued from page 6

Carr, Ethel; Walker, Harriet; Covington, Ann; Sexton, Betty.

English — 3:30 — 4:30, Rec. March 24, 31, April 7, 21; Hardin, Lauriston; Vaughan, Catherine; Boatright, Louise; Quinn, Nelle; Henritze, Betty; Trigg, Sarah; Tennent, Elizabeth; Foster, Louise; Trevilian, Mary Frances; Starling, Josephine; Lupton, Elouse; Chevly, Marie; Hale, Sarah; Trigg, Betsy; Vaughan, Sadie; Hillsman, Hallie.

Irish—3:30—4:30, Rec. March 25, April 1, 8, 15, 22; Scott, Elizabeth; Owen, Frances; Compton, Maxine; Roane, Nancy; Walker, Mary F.; Smith, Jane; Smith, Elsie; Pearsall, Mary E.; Crafton, Katherine; Jester, Miriam; Read, Amy; Parker, Elizabeth Ann; Graff, Irma; Gray, Lilly Bec; Turner, Louise; Murfee, Ann.

Dutch—3:30—4:30, Rec. March 27, April 3, 17, 24; Holosen, Jane; Bruce, Nancy; Pittard, Christine; Johnson, Beth; Smith, Jane; Ammen, Rachel; Gregory, Delia; Seymore, Jene; Grizzard, Mary E.; Jones; Lulie; Ranson, Louise; Kennedy, Kathryn; Wilson, Gladys; Anderson, Meady; Gills, Estelle; Jones, Rebecca.

Danish — 9:00 — 10:00. Rec. March 27, April 3, 17, 24; Ellett, Virginia; McCorkle, Louise; Watts, Helen; Bondurant, Nancy McCoy, Elizabeth; Smith, Juanita; Reid, Eva; Bingham, Mary K.; Apperly, Felicity; Altomare, Aseita; Looney, Eveline; Brumfield, Jo; Kunz, Baylis, Alvis, Doris.

German — 9:00 — 10:00, Rec. March 24, 31, April 7, 21; Gaul, Dorothy; Cole, Mary Ellen; Eades, Mildred; Bergamin, Caroline; Preece, Anna; Lilen, Connie; Steele, Blanche; Hawkins, Irene; Gillum, Jocelyn; Ott, Helen; Arrington, Jean; Margon, Ernestine; Davis, Mallary; Johnson, Eleanor; Barlow, Elizabeth; Phillips, Louise.

Russian — 8:30 — 9:30, Rec. March 25, April 1 at 8:30—9:30, April 8 at 9:00—9:30, April 15, 22 at 8:30—9:30; Pierce, Shirley; Dugger, Ruth; Strick, Jeanne; Harrison, Brodnax; Gilliam, Helen; Adams, Frances; Lawrence, Mickey; Bugg, Mary St. Clair; Dekker, Freida; Bozemon, Dorothy Jean; Lueckert, Marie; Rucker, Mary; MacIndae, Helen; Clardy, Jenny.

Swedish — 3:30 — 4:30, Rec. March 26, April 2, 9, 16, 23; Bradshaw, Sydney; Fitchette, Anne; Caldwell, Caroline; Carr, Florence; Ford, Jane; Call, Lucy; Droste, Mildred; Ewell, Helen; Wells, Alice; Weger, Mimi; McGuire, Nena; Smithdeal, Betty.

French — 8:00 — 9:00, Rec. March 26, April 2, 9, 16, 23; Sears, Jeanne; Richard, Nelle; Rainey, Frances; Wright, Arlene; Turner, Louise; Kellam, Jean; Gresham, Charlotte; Wood, Edith; Campbell, Margaret; Snow, Mamie; Gough, Pauline; Rhodes, Eva; Walls, Elizabeth; Culley, Margie Lee

Indian — 8:30 — 9:30, gym. March 25, April 1, 8, 15, 22; Bradshaw, Ann; Allen, Peggy; Gooden, Margie; Conson, Mary J.; Smith, Jerry; MacIlwaine, Helen; Carr, Ethel; Petticrew, Mary Elizabeth; McFall, Madge; Sears, Jeanne; Fletcher, Patsy.

Negro—8:00—9:00, gym, March 26, April 2, 9, 16, 23; Bozeman, Dorothy; Arrington, Jeanne; Murfee, Ann; Goode, Ellen; Gills, Estelle; Gilliam, Helen; Pearsall, Mary E.; Brown, Elizabeth; Alvis, Doris; Wynne, Mary F.; Covington, Ann; Hutcheson, Jane Lee

Mexican — 3:30 — 4:30, little gym, March 27, April 3, 17, 24; Call, Mary Ellne; Bruce, Nancye; Seibert, Alice; Walker, Harriet; Sanford, Louise; Edmonson, Mary S.; Messick, Eleanor; Sexton, Betty; Edmunds, Mary H.

Court — 9:00 — 10:00, gym, March 26, April 2, 9, 16, 23.

S. T. C Menagerie Revealed As Having "Life of It's Own"

S. T. C. has a veritable zoo, what with all its bears, dogs, its horses, zebras, and cats. "No kitten", as they say in the animal kingdom, "there's really a conglomeration here".

Some of the animals have happened here as gifts, some as prizes, and others, by their appeal, have been successful in getting themselves bought from the Southside Animal Farm, Rose's Roost or Newberry's Home for the Underprivileged. (Dogs are their speciality).

I had never realized the extent of the animal kingdom here until out of sheer curiousity (of course I didn't like ice cream—not much!) I accepted an invitation to a party on Third Floor Student by Koolov—a Penguin.

Love-it, an adorable pink-riboned lamb was head of the welcoming committee, and Stinky Pinky, an elephant, and Eyrore a giraffe were head waiters because of their enormously efficient reach. Spare ribs with his wife and son, Porkie and Hamlet, came in late grunting their apologies. Koolov had heard of 'slooppier' things so he forgave them.

The topic for gossip was the run away marriage of Neigh and Polka Horse. Snuff and Pooh, aristocrats of the Dog family, refrained from harsh words, but they thought the state of the morals of the Horse family was in the 'wow' of condition. Semicolon, an adorable brown bear would no more have time to say "pooh" about the matter when Parenthesis, a white fuzzy dog, would out with some irrelevant wise-crack muttered so low in his whiskers that Semicolon was the only hearee. Oswald twitched his nose as if to gain attention and said something apropos but other people like to talk, too, so he kept on eating his carrot which was more satisfying, anyway, Formula X was going to say something but when it came his turn, all his thought has absolutely deserted him. Willie the cat thought he smelled something and upon investigation found it was ten-thirty and H. P.'s (Hall President's) footsteps directing their way to our room with animal quiteness. D. D. (he's a deer) pleaded our case very efficiently and in the usual 'Hurry and put your lights out and get to bed" we all hurried to our respective rooms. Stinky Pink muttering in his trunk so as to be quite inaudible; the state of things around here is rotten! Why you'd think a person wasn't a fellow at all—but a baby. As I hurries off forgetting in the haste to say my thanks, a great tear came in his eyes that clearly showed his earnest desire to be back in his own kingdom under animal rule

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

Patronize

Patterson Drug Co.

—AT—

Money Saving Prices

—FOR—

Drugs and Toiletries

Expert Prescription Service

Clean Fountain

Featuring

Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream

238 MAIN STREET

Vanity Beauty Shoppe

Farmville, Virginia

Phone 360

Latest N. Y. Styles

Come to see us

FOR

A complete Line

OF

SANDWICH SPREADS, PKG. CHEES AND JAR CHEESE

The Economy Food Store

Shirts and Blouses In New Spring Shades at

NEWBERRY'S

5c—10c—25c Store

KLEANWELL

Cleaners & Tailors

Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling

Main St. Opposite P. O.

Phone 98

Under the management of

"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Planters Bank & Trust Company

Farmville, Virginia

Member: Federal Reserve System

Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Careful Management Courteous Service

Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Carl Sandburg

Continued from Page 1

exercise." With his sense of humor sparkling, he turned to a student standing by. "Say it," he commanded. There was a general chorus of "Thirst-quenching punch, thirst-pending qunch and thirst-quunching pench."

About England Carl Sandburg said, "I pray England will come out on top." In answer to his opinion on American participation he replied, "Oh, don't care if they throw the fleet in. As for men, there are plenty of wildcats and I speak as a volunteer."

To an informal group he read several selections before driving to Lynchburg. Among those read was "Shenandoah". Upon request to read "Fog" he replied, "Haven't read "Fog" for 15 years and I ain't gonna. From reprints, royalties, and other forms of publications it has earned over 100 dollars a line. It's one of those things the people have picked up. It doesn't belong to me anymore."

He thumbed the pages looking for "an ungrammatical piece," and read for this selection "Cahoots". In preface to reading "Buffalo Dusk' the man with the mid-western accent explained that five different persons had made musical settings to this poem.

Mr. Sandburg brought the reception to a close by saying in his informal manner "We better start for Lynchburg."

Reveler (displaying hatful of money)—"Look what people kept giving me as I came home."

Wife—"What on earth were you doing?"

Reveler—"Shinging."

RIGHT AT HOME

A woman entered a butcher's shop with her little daughter. Some tripe was displayed on the counter, and the little girl asked what it was.

"Tripe," replied the mother.

"That's funny," said the child, "daddy says that's what we get over the radio."

HUNGRY—VISIT

Shannon's

THE FOOD'S THE BEST

Phone 224 Good Service

Visit the . . .

A & N

FOR ALL

Athletic Equipment

Come in and see our

Tennis Equipment

And other sport wear

ROSE'S

5c—10c—25c Store

On the Corner

69c Hose Club

FOR

Members Only

One Pair Full Fashioned 69c Hose

FREE when 10 pairs of 69c hose are purchased from our store. All 69c hose guaranteed

Plan To Hear Mrs. Eubank Each Day

The Rotunda

Attend Spring Music Festival

VOLUME XX — FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 2, 1941 — NO. 23

Spring Music Festival Will Be On Friday Night

Dodson and Gaul Will Head Senior and Sophomore Classes

Seniors Elect Cottrell, Kilmon To Government

Soph Mediators Will Be Crawford And Bridgeforth

Mary Katherine Dodson, of Norfolk, and Dorothy Gaul, of Carmel, New York, were elected presidents of the incoming senior and sophomore classes respectively at the class meetings held last night.

This is Mary Katherine's third year as president of her class. She is a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma, and a former member of the business staff of the Rotunda. Dorothy, who succeeds Betty Bridgeforth, is active in sports, being a member of the varsity swimming team, sub-varsity basketball team, and H2O club. She is also on the Rotunda staff.

Government Representatives

Martha Cottrell, of Richmond, and Gene Hardy Kilmon, of Onancock, were both reelected government representatives for the senior class next year. Hannah Lee Crawford, of Farmville, and Betty Bridgeforth, of Kenbridge, will represent the sophomore class on student government. This will be Hannah Lee's second year as government representative, while Betty succeeds Mary Evelyn Pearsall who was elected Chairman of Campus League.

Senior Class Officers

Martha Roberts, of Norton, vice-president; Nancy Dupuy, of Greensboro, North Caroline, secretary; and Jane Engleby, of Roanoke, treasurer, were all reelected to their respective positions.

Ellen Royall, of Tazewell, May Wertz, of Roanoke, and Lucy Turnbull, of Richmond, will represent their class on Student Standards next year. This year represents Ellen's fourth year on Student Standards. May served this past year since she was editor of the Virginian; however Lucy will initiate her service this year. Miss Rachel Royall was reelected classman. This will be Miss Royall's second year.

Sophomore Class Officers

Faye Nimmo, of Suffolk, was reelected vice-president of the class of 1944. Mary Keith Bingham, of Richmond, will succeed Broadnax Harrison as secretary, and Mary Parrish Viccellio, of Chatham, was reelected treasurer for next year. Julia Eason and Nell Quinn were reelected to Student Standards while Miss Emily Kauzlarich will continue as classman.

The present sophomore class will hold its election in the near future.

Dramatic Club Will Sponsor Tournament Here April 24-26

The sixth annual meeting of the Southside Virginia Dramatic Tournament that is to be held April 24-26 has been announced by Miss Leola Wheeler, professor of reading and dramatics.

This tournament was the first held here in 1935 and has continued each year. Its main purpose is to create a greater interest among the high school students in dramatic work and to encourage the schools to put on better types of plays.

Each night four or five plays will be given. A cup will be awarded to the best play, with honor-

Continued on Page 4

Above is Mary Katherine Dodson, of Norfolk, who was elected president of the incoming senior class last night.

Overbey Appoints Colonnade Staff

Allene Overbey, editor-in-chief of the Colonnade, has appointed the tentative editorial and business staff for the year 1941-42.

The literary editors are Virginia Barksdale, Jeanne Haymes, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Mary Parrish Viccellio, and Harriet Cantrell. Anne C. Williams, and Carolyn Rouse are the new poetry editors while Eleanor Folk is the new book review editor. The art staff consists of Elizabeth Tennant, Elizabeth Ann Parker, Peggy Hughes, and Cottie Radspinner. Lillian Wahab will be in charge of "Prattles" and Margaret Wright will head the board of contributors. Frances Hoback and Vera Baron are the new typists. May Winn, business manager, has appointed Ann Ellett, Ann Ware, Charlotte Phillips, and Nell Quinn as her assistants.

The outgoing staff had as its last issue the one which appeared in March while the senior issue.

Continued on Page 4

Dr. J. W. Morgan Addresses F. T. A.

Dr. Jay Elmer Morgan, editor of the National Education Association Journal, met the Future Teachers of America Friday night, March 28.

Dr. Morgan, who is chairman of the board of the Future Teachers of America, addressed several education classes Saturday, March 29.

Debaters Prove Victors In Six Successive Meets

Parker and Keck Down Westminister Delegates Here

Farmville debaters participated in seven intercollegiate debates last week, both on and off the campus and claim six wins, one no decision, and no defeats.

Tuesday night, April 1, teams from Westminister College at New Wilmington, Pennsylvania, met representatives from here. Elizabeth Ann Parker and Frances Keck debating for Farmville on the affirmative defeated John Galbreath and Merritt Reynolds in an Oregon style debate in the Y. W. lounge.

In this particular style, each team presents a fifteen minute case as seen by their side, affirmative speaker beginning. Following the two constructive speeches, the other negative speaker interrogates the first affirmative speaker for ten minutes. The second affrmative then cross examines the first negative speaker. The second speakers are each allowed in conclusion a ten minute summary, the negative speaker talking first. Dr. Sheppe acted as judge for this debate and the decision went to Farmville.

Westminister's negative team and Farmville's affirmative met

Continued on Page 3

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet Is Announced

Frances Rosebro, newly elected Y. W. C. A. president, has announced her cabinet for the year 1941-42.

Polly Keller will chairman the Church Cooperative Committee, Town Girls Committee, Hannah Lee Crawford; Music Committee, Sarah Chambers; Library Committee, Juanita Leftwich; Public Affairs Committee, Amy Reid; Social Committee, Nancye Allen; Membership Committee, Dorothy Childress; Prayers Committee, Frances Lee Hawthorne; Service Committee, Nell Richard; Sing Committee, Polly Hughes; and Publicity Committee, Harriet Walker.

These girls will take office in the near future.

Mrs. Jessie Eubank, Noted Educator, Is Here This Week

Lectures, Forums, Private Meetings, Included In Set-up

Mrs. Jessie Burrall Eubank, well known author, lecturer and educator, is here on our campus this week as the personality speaker of the year. "Techniques of Living" is the theme around which Mrs. Eubank is centering her lectures and discussion groups.

Tonight Mrs. Eubank will conduct a special program at prayers. Thursday night a seminar on "Love, Courtship and Marriage" will be held in the Y. W. Lounge from 8:30 to 10:00. Each afternoon this week from 3 to 5 o'clock Mrs. Eubank will meet in private conferences those girls who wish to talk over problems with her.

Mrs. Eubank served on the editorial staff of the National Geographic for several years. While holding this position, she organized and taught the largest women's Sunday School Class in world, its membership being 1800. She later headed the department of Religious Education at Stephens College, Columbia, Missouri. During her period of teaching there, she organized and taught a class of 1400.

At present Mrs. Eubank is the Baptist representative to the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America and a member of the executive committee of that organization. She is also a member of the Baptist World Council on Marriage and the Home.

Mrs. Eubank has already appeared in chapel here and spoken at special forums. She will be on our campus the remainder of this week for lectures, forums and personal conferences to discuss personality problems and life adjustment.

This afternoon at 4 o'clock Mrs. Eubank met the old and new Y. W. C. A. cabinets in the Y. W. lounge in an effort to guide the group in formulating their places for the coming year.

Her forum last night was so popular that several girls have requested its continuation tonight. The fact that Mrs. Eubank has teen-age daughters in her own family enables her to better understand the young person's intellect and emotions.

Harvard, Duke, STC Music Groups Sing

Friday, April 4, will be a great day of music in Farmville, when the choral groups of S. T. C., the Harvard University Glee Club, and the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs of Duke University will present the annual Spring Festival of Music. This program with its distinguished guest performers and outstanding musical selections offers our music department an unequaled opportunity to prove its merit.

Miss Dorothy Baker, soprano soloist of St. Bartholomew's Church, New York City, who will appear as guest soloist at the Spring Music Festival Friday night.

At eleven o'clock during the Chapel period a concert will be given by the Harvard University Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Malcolm H. Holmes.

All of the groups will assemble in the college auditorium for dress rehearsal from two to four o'clock. After the rehearsal, a tea and reception will be given in the Student Lounge from four to six o'clock, honoring the visiting groups. Miss Mary White Cox, head of the home, and Miss Virgilia Bugg, sponsor of choir, will preside over the tea table.

Concert At 8 O'clock

In the evening at eight o'clock the assembly will present the formal concert. In the first part of the program each club will participate separately, singing a variety of selections. Mr. Wilson Angel, of Richmond, Miss Dorothy Baker, soprano soloist of St. Bartholomew's Church, New York City, Miss Evelyn Barnes, contralto of Duke Universtiy, and Edward G. Fields, tenor of Hampden-Sydney College, will be featured as soloists. The second part will include selections from Parts II and III of Handel's "Messiah".

Dance Ends Event

The closing event of the day will be a dance to be held in the gymnasium at 10 o'clock. Those in the receiving line will be: Dr. J. L. Jarman, Mr. Wallace Woodsworth, director of Harvard Glee Club, Mr. Malcolm Holmes, Mr. J. Foster Barnes, director of Duke University Glee Club, Mr. William Gay, manager of Harvard Orchestra, Mr. Robinson Murray, Jr., manager of Harvard Glee Club, Miss Virgilia Bugg, sponsor of State Teachers College Choir, Mr. Alfred H. Strick, Misses Virginia Richards, Forrestine Whitaker, Ruth Winstead, Mary Marshall Prosise, Amy Reid, Irene Alderman, and Virginia Barksdale.

Jimmy Hamner's orchestra, from Richmond, is to play for the dance.

Tickets for the concert have been on sale this past week and may still be purchased from members of the Choral groups. For S. T. C. and Hampden-Sydney students the price is fifty cents for both concert and dance. Outsiders will be charged seventy-five cents.

S. T. C. Debaters Leave For Alabama

Marie Allen, Thelma Courtney, and Anne and Jack Cock left yesterday for Montavello, Alabama, to represent Farmville at the Provincial Pi Kappa Delta convention to be held April 3, 4, and 5.

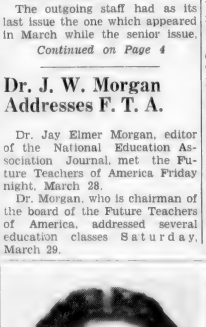
Alabama State College for Women is acting as hostess to the group, composed of the Pi Kappa Delta Chapters of the South Eastern Province.

Registration began today and the first round of debating will get under way early Thursday morning. Contests will be offered in oratory, impromtu, and extemporaneous speaking.

Pi Kappa Delta is a national honorary forensic society recognizing students and instructors who are outstanding in forensic activities, and is the largest organization of its kind in the country. The Virginia Alpha Chapter at Farmville is the only Virginia chapter.

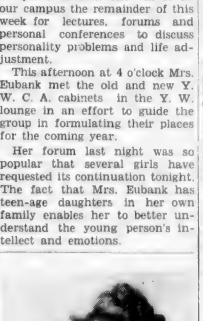
Marie, a senior from Whitegate, is president of the local chapter Composition for the Debate Club, and has participated in intercollegiate debating for the past four years. She holds the Diamond key, Pi Kappa Delta proficiency award, which is the highest honor the society offers. Marie debates with Thelma on the Negative side of the National question, "Resolved: That the Nations of the Western Hemisphere Should Form A Permanent Union."

Thelma is a senior from Winchester and is vice president of the local Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta. She has done intercollegiate debating for two years and has represented Farmville at Debate Tourneys on various occasions.



Anne and Jack, also seniors, are twins from Hampton and debate

Continued on Page 4



Naff and Nelson To Attend Convention

Nancy Naff, newly elected president of Student Government, and Carolie Nelson, out-going president, will leave next Tuesday, April 8 for New Orleans, Louisiana, to attend the annual meeting of the Southern Intercollegiate Association of Student Government.

This conference, which will be held from April 10-12, is an annual convention for southern schools. It is customary for the old and new presidents to go as delegates to this meeting in order to find new ideas to carry out the Student Government program for the coming year. The convention will be held at Newcomb College, New Orleans.

These students will participate in the annual Spring Music Festival to be held in the College auditorium Friday night, April 4. Virginia Richards, left, will sing the incidental solo in "Alleluia" by Mozart. Edward G. Field, tenor, of Hampden-Sydney, will be a featured soloist on the program. Forrestine Whitaker, right, will direct the S. T. C. choral groups.

Editorial Potpourri

Mrs. Eubank

Bringing with her ten years of personal experience with college students, Mrs. Jessie Burrall Eubank, well-known author and educator, is lecturing and advising on our campus this week on the "Techniques of Life Adjustment".

Mrs. Eubank, who is being sponsored by the Y. W. C. A., has been visiting campus groups for the past ten years and is especially known for her ability to energize and guide students to the more abundant way of life. Before engaging as a campus-to-campus lecturer, Mrs. Eubank taught at State Teachers College, Saint Cloud, Minnesota, was head of the religious education department at Stephens College, Missouri, and at present is a member of the Baptist World Committee on Marriage and the Home.

We welcome Mrs. Eubank to our campus and feel that we are indeed privileged to have her with us. Don't neglect arranging a conference with Mrs. Eubank!

Orchids to . . .

It is customary for a newspaper to bestow accolades where they are deserved, as well as criticism where it is needed. So we take this opportunity to appraise the splendid work of the choral organizations this year. The spring music festival to be presented Friday night is an occasion which we welcome for besides providing an opportunity for us to hear a fine musical, it will enable us to share friendships and experiences of the campi of the North and South.

To Mr. Strick, Choral Club, College Choir, A'Capella Choirs, Madrigal Singers, and all other assistants, go our most sincere thanks.

About The Tennis Courts

Last week The Rotunda heard several students comment on the tennis court situation. They were of the opinion that the statement made in the earlier issue of this paper to the effect that new courts would be constructed was erroneous.

We admit that tennis season is here and as yet the new courts have not been made ready. However, the administration has promised the courts although construction will probably be too late for their utilization this spring.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 2, 1941

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

STAFF

Sara Cline — Editor-in-Chief
Mary Lilly Purdum — Managing Editor
Texie Belle Felts — Business Manager

Associate Editors

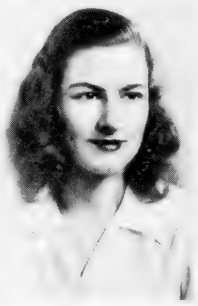
Ella Banks Weathers ..... News Editor
Mary Parrish Viccellio ..... Feature Editor
Anne Cock — Sports Editor
Jane Sanford — Social Editor

Reporters

Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Faye Nimmo Charlotte Phillips, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Sprinkle, Elizabeth Tennent, Sara Trigg, Margaret Wright.

Assistant Business Managers

Elva Andrews — Circulation Manager
Mary Keith Bingham ..... Advertising
Helen DeLong ..... Advertising



Business Assistants

Mary St. Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Anne Moore.

Typists

Chief Typist — Thelma Courtney
Typists—Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Dorothy Gaul

Senior Personality

FRANCES ELLETT

Out Going House Council Pres.

Formally, she is Frances Leigh Ellett from Roanoke; to all of us who have come to love the endearing qualities so much a part of her, she is, briefly and affectionately, "Liggie".

"Liggie" well typifies her personality—a friendliness about her which everyone with whom she has contact notices, and a charming mien which makes her company delightful.

Her room this year has been the most popular we've known about—the place for chatting when we are in the mood, counsel when it was needed—(even sleep when we wanted it.) We came to feel at home with Joe on the table and on the wall, and liked to see her face when we asked about him.

She was the midnight visitor on the halls nightly, attending to matters of noise and lights, but her visits were more welcomed than feared. We never failed to notice her sympathic interest in the happenings, good or bad, which befell us. Her graciousness, her enthusiasm, the evenness of her disposition—all of these things have made us love her.

Question of the Week

What is Your Favorite Recreation and Why?

Lauri Hardin—"Football because I like to see mean old men get beat up."

Jean Weller—"Singing, because I'm interested in it and get a lot of enjoyment from it."

Leona Moomaw—"Dancing, because it gives me that uplifted feeling."

Gene Hardy Kilmon—"I like to go to the movies because it rests me."

Dorothy Massey—"I like horseback riding because I like the great out of doors."

Sue Harper—"Bowling, because I get exercise and pleasure from it."

Betty Reid—"Swimming, because it's so cooling and invigorating."

Jean Rhodes—"Reading, because it's something I can do at spare moments."

Connie Knighton— "Dancing, because it's so lively, and I get so much enjoyment from it."

Ann Price—"Basketball, because it is such a clean game and because I've always been interested in sports."

Catherine Gosney—"Horseback riding, because I like horses and I like outdoor sports."

Carolyn Minnick — "Reading, because it's restful."

Elizabeth Gates—"Reading, because I'm just a bookworm at heart."

Louise McCorkle—"Bowling, because it's good exercise and it's lots of fun."

Elizabeth Tennent—"Ice skating, because it's so terribly, terribly exciting."

Betty Ballard Jones—"Dancing, because it makes me happy."

Nell Quinn—"Dancing, because it's diversion that so many people enjoy."

Dot Darracott—"Swimming, because it refreshes and makes you feel so good."

Gleanings

By MARY HUNTER EDMUNDS

(Guest Columnist)

The pessimism and gloom that has enveloped the world since the collapse of the French nation, the growing fear, the utter futility of resistance as Hitler with his exact planning and highly efficient mechanized army has been able to engulf practically all of the continent of Europe, lifted somewhat last week as the little nation of Yugoslavia put its seventeen year-old king Peter at the helm and rallied about the throne in a decided protest against the Nazi regime.

That such a stand should be taken by an almost defenseless people came as a great and happy surprise to the world because the government under the pro-Nazi regent, Prince Paul, had just signed a pact of cooperation with the Axis powers. It looked as if Yugoslavia would go the way of Hungary and the other central European states, but in a bloodless coup the popular General Simovitch was able to oust the Axis pact-signers and install a pro-English government in about sixty minutes.

London viewed the new development as the first major political defeat on the Continent for the Germans. Winston Churchill said that the Yugoslav nation had "found its soul". Certainly this move may alter the entire course of the European war. Consider the strategic position of Yugoslavia. It means that the Germans are facing foes to the west—Yugoslavia, to the south—Greece, to the east—Turkey. No wonder the New York Times says Germany is bewildered and outraged.

Hitler, who has so easily taken over one country after another because in the immediate prospect life seemed more important than freedom to the peoples, may have to fight for the Yugoslavs. And it will probably be a stiff fight. Although if he turned his whole war machine upon this nation, they would hardly have a prayer, Hitler would know that he had a fight, for the Serbs are reputed as determined and valiant fighters, and the wild, mountainous condition of the country to the south would not make it easy to conquer. The Yugoslav army numbers only a little more than a million men, but it is one of the strongest in the Balkans. Besides they would be fighting for their very existence.

We in America, even in our seriousness can take a malicious pleasure at the slap in Hitler's face when he was so sure, so very sure, he had scored another easy victory in Yugoslavia. We can be happy that the English may have some let-up if Hitler has to fight on two fronts. But imagine the joy, the moral encouragement that has come to the Greeks and the Turks in their struggle against such odds! Nothing could have renewed their courage to stand against the Germans more than that they should be joined by another simple, ordinary folk willing to stand up to the enemy's fire. For certainly the Yugoslavs know what such a move must mean. They know better than we what opposition to Germany will ultimately call for. And they know from too close observation the horror and cruelty of war. But in face of all this knowledge, they have with courage and devotion, taken a stand that may mean death—but with honor.

I say hurrah for the Yugoslavs! They will not be forgotten when the historian takes up his pen.

Of Democracy and Arms

"Many of us are convinced that democracy cannot be saved by arms alone. Even if we are not drawn into the war, even though England may avoid defeat, the causes that destroyed the democracies of Europe will still be at work. Totalitarianism, as it exists today, is the outcome of the prolonged unemployment, the economic hopelessness, the perverted training, and the sense of insecurity of the great masses of adult youth."—Donald DuShane, president of the National Education Association, looks behind the threat to democracy.

Looking 'Em Over

Spring and love filling the air; Fun, parties, dances everywhere;
And for us left here, tain't fair.

Capitol parties The K. A. parties at the U. of Richmond must have been fun. Ask Lucille Lewis for further information. She really looks happy when you mention Tom ! !

Harriet Walker riding around in a cream - convertible all weekend—the Phi Delta Theta parties with an S. P. E., too ! !

Long distance, please Bumpsie always gets excited when she gets a call from Judge—all the way from Florida too ! ! Most interesting! Incidentally, those Oranges were very good.

Out of this world These weekend trips sound right to us. Just ask Hatton and Jerry Smith—if you can get them down to earth. Ah, Spring! Ah, Love! Fitchette, why didn't Alfred at Uni-V. make the tennis team? Could it be your influence? Love again!

Cornell flutters and flops Imagine having dates from Cornell, last week end. Nancy and Shirley were very happy about the whole thing. Helen Lewis is having a hard time keeping track of her Cornell flame, now that he is home for Spring vacation. Not slipping are you, Helen?

....Miles long ! ! Peggy Lou's big brother certainly did embarrass her last week-end by using the same old Boyette line so many times. How many times? !

Third finger, left hand Wonder why Spilly was called home so suddenly? ? We really wondered, too!

Undecided We wish Eleanor F. would make up her mind. Is it Mac, or is it Fred? Time will tell.

Fox passes (faux pas) Ask A. P. about the increase in population of Winston-Salem! Why did Dot call May "Lee" one night last week? ? ! !

Betty Boutchard, do you think you're running a free taxi—picking up attractive (?) males in the big city? Painter seemed to have a little trouble in front of school the other night! ! We mean trouble!

Figure Leaders Farmville was well represented with the leaders of the German Club figure: A. P., Dot, and Marge Nimmo. A. P. even practiced in fine style with her "Ritzy Row Rooters."

Eagerly awaiting Jean Weller can not wait to hear what Bill from N. C. State wants to talk about. (Neither can we!) We don't wonder that Elizabeth Ann is excited about her bid to Annapolis. Smooth sailing!

H. S. moves west (to Blacksburg) How about Babdab's turning up at Tech Easters? ! What say Sadie. It must be love. Twice, too! ! Tommy "Look-um-me" Combellic followed Bob's example and went to the V. P. I. dances, also; and there was Betty with Bud! !

What's the Score Dugger, are you in love with love or with tennis? We can't guess.

Hysterical moments Did you hear about Farham and the mouse? ! Are doorknobs comfortable, Frances! Imagine a mouse in Skunk's room!

Hokie, hokie, hi In spite of her Techman's date for Easters Dearing Fauntleroy doesn't seem very worried.

Western Union Ask M. K. about that substitution telegram she received Saturday morning. Speaking of blushes ..... Va. Alexander eagerly accepted a telegram Tuesday from Blacksburg. Friday it was a slightly different story. Doesn't Pop approve Virginia? Incidentally, three dates and all for dances..... record breaking! !

Reptile, genus snake Caroline Harvey did you have fun at Tech? Wonder what M. K. things about this subject.....not snaking was it? ? ? Anne Rogers isn't giving you any competition, is she F. Adams? Especially when her true love is at V. M. I. We wouldn't worry—not much, that is.

The Watchbird Watching You Some people insist on going in the wrong post office door. Can't something be done? And others still smoke in the halls! By the way, is your girl scout troop organized yet, Smoothie Smith? ?

Attractive Louise Hall's Techman come to S. T. C. last weekend. Jo Bishop, with the U. of Va. man following her around. Boo Barham going to the Ballet Russe with Alex! (Why does Boo want to learn "East of the Sun—".

What happened to her? And we can't figure out why Boswell was home so long. Was it just a delayed visit?

Interesting Item (vash!) It seems that Campy has a new H. S. flame. Incidentally, Jo Canada is having a little confusion.

Ah bliss! We're glad to see that Helen and Sonny have their differences patched up. For awhile, we hope! It was good to see Crew's pretty brother back at S. T. C., but we could get more interesting details from the Mallory child. Oh yes!

Advance information We certainly are glad that Ruth Palmer decided to ask Chaley to Spring Cotillion. Wonder who other dates will be? It won't be long now! Happy days! !

A song and a dance Music hath its charms. So don't any of you S. T. C. children dare miss the concert and dance Friday night when the South meets the North. Oh joy! Nancy Naff especially—a date with a Harvard man! ! But be careful, infants; watch your breaks.

Hearts A-flutter: Just who was the most excited last night when the "long heard of" Ben Read appeared it's most difficult to say. But "D. D." illustrated an enthusiasm we're never before witnessed. An appropriate visit after your election, Yes Dodson?

And so to press !

Easter Dances Beckon

In Spring a Young Girl Turns to Thoughts of - - - -

Blacksburg proved to be the garden spot of the universe for S. T. C. girls last week, and the majority of said week-enders chose V. P. I. as their destination. Seen at the Easter Dances there were Agnes Patterson, Jeanne Sears, Nancy Bondurant, Nan Duer, Dot Childress, Dawn Shanklin, Martha Lee Messick, Nancy Saunders, Frieda Dekker, Mildred Eades, Virginia Campfield, Caroline Cardwell, Charlotte Corell, Helen Ott, Nancy Langhorne, Elinor Johnson, Carolyn Harvey, Nell Hall, Vivian Gwaltney, Ann Page Francis, Virginia Ellett, Sarah Sibold, Mary Harvie, Betty Youngberg, Emma Louise Crowgey, Gertrude Wright, Frances Wilson, Virginia Alexander, Peggy Lou Boyette, Marie Thompson, Elizabeth Bernard, Elizabeth Warner, Sara Cline and Jean Upshur.

Regardless of dances and such, Richmond was also a popular retreat. Shopping or visiting there were E'la Marsh Pilkinton, Harriet Walker, Agnes Pickeral, Katie Crider, Marjorie Garrison, Ruth Winstead, Anne Ellett, Ruth Palmer, Winnie Harrell, Gussie mer, Winnie Harrell, Ethel Carr, Katherine Hawthorne, Helene Stras, Luella Hall, Martha Crawley, Edith Nunnally, Charlotte Rose, Mary K. Bingham, Ruby Trice, Dot Lawrence, Elsie Stossell, and Connie Knighton. Ellen Scott, Gussie Parks and Lucille Lewis attended dances at the University of Richmond.

Charlotte Gresham, Betty Watts, Elizabeth Ann Parker, Sara Seward, Nellie Newcome, and Florence Thiery attended the Methodist Church Conference in Charlottesville Saturday. Others who were in Charlottesville for the week end were Lena Butterworth, Jane McGinnis, Betty Peerman, Mary Owens West, and Yates Carr.

Marian Heard, Marion Worsham, Martha Smith, Nancy Pierpont, Ruth Lea Purdum, Carmen Booth, and Mary Garrett spent the week end in Danville, while to Lynchburg went Emily Hoskins, Liggie Ellett, Julia Beard, Nancy Dupuy, Bess Windham, Ann Roberts, Catherine Rucker, and Mary Rucker.

To Roanoke treked May Winn, Nancy Wolfe, Helen Lewis, Sara Cline, Louise Painter and Louise Parcell, and to Mary Washington in Fredericksburg went Sarah Wade Owen, Rosa Courter, Martha Roberts, and Dot Johnson for the State A. A. Meet. Saturday saw Newport News the destination for week-enders Gerry Smith, Betty Boutchard, Ann Fitchette, and Jean Shulkcum. Betty Ballard Jones, Sara Hardy were dancers at the Annapolis Hops, and Betty Sexton, Ann Turner, and Lucie Ellen Powell represented S. T. C. at the dances at N. C. State in Raleigh.

"Home" was also a favorite choice among S. T. C. travellers over the week end, and Helen Dawson, Ann Boswell, Alice M. Coberly, Grace Ellerton, Frances Adams, Peggy Stevens, Elizabeth Tennant, Myrtle Jenkins, Rebecca Spicer, Ellen Whitehead, Mallory Davis, Broadnax Harrison, Mary Wilson Carper, Carol Averitt, Margaret Clack, Hazel Colgate, Mary O. Carson, Ann Davis, Caralie Nelson, Betty Henritze, Grace Hutcheson, Anne Ellett, Harriet Haskins, Jac Hardy, Martha Hammock, Anna Johnson, Kathleen Jones, Anne Kelley, Marie Kelley, Estelle Paulette, Betty Bridgeforth, Virginia Graves Rose, Ruth Wiley, Sarah Chambers, Corilda Chapiln, Evelyn Chernault, Ann Bradshaw, Jane Ford, and Louise Applewhite saw to it that their "home fires were kept burning".

Mu Omegas Play

Tonight at 9 o'clock in the Mu Omega chapter room the pledges will give the active members a costumed "ship wreck" party. Mary Evelyn Pearsall is in charge of this entertainment.

Colonnade Banquets

The Colonnade staff is holding its annual banquet tonight in the tea room. In addition to the staff, heads of all campus publications will be present.

A. S. A.'s Entertained

Carolyn Harvey and Polly Keller entertained the members of Alpha Sigma Alpha at a tea in the chapter room of the sorority Sunday afternoon, March 30, from 5 to 6 o'clock. The guests included the active members and pledges of the sorority.

T. S. U.'s Celebrate

Active members and pledges of Theta Sigma Upsilon celebrated the sorority's founding at a supper party Tuesday, March 25, at 6 o'clock. The party was given at the Longwood Cabin, and arrangements were made by Mrs. Hurt.

Easter Sunrise Service At Longwood Sunday

Eleanor Folk, sophomore councilor, announced that the Freshman Commission will sponsor an Easter sunrise service at Longwood next Sunday morning, April 6.

Cocoa will be served in the Rec at 6:30 o'clock before going out to Longwood. There will be cars for those wishing to ride. The theme of the service will be the traditional Easter one—Christ Is Risen.

Debaters Victors

Continued from Page 1

at the same time in an orthodox debate in the Honors room. Myrtle Jenkins and Marie Rice debated for Farmville and Eleanor Clarke and Jane McKee for Westminister. No decision was rendered.

Myrtle and Margie defeated Westhampton of Richmond Monday evening. Bernice Stevenson and Ethne Flanagan debated for Westhampton and Dr. Herman Bell gave the decision.

Anne and Jack Cock defeated a negative team composed of Steve Guresh and Dick Hurley of Shippensburg State Teachers College, Pennsylvania, Saturday morning, March 29. Dr. Valentine, coach, and two other debaters accompanied the Shippensburg team. Mrs. Armstrong Smith acted as critical judge.

Friday night March 28, Anne and Jack Cock, Marie Allen, and Thelma Courtney defeated Wofford College, South Caroline, in a dual debate held in the Honors Room and the Y. W. lounge. Roy Richardson and Aubrey Olgesbey, and George Beach, Wofford Affirmative participated. Mr. Taylor Thompson judged the Farmville negative-Wofford affirmative debate and Dr. Maurice Allen gave a critical decision in the Farmville negative-Wofford affirmative tive combat.

Randolph-Macon of Ashland was host to the Farmville team Monday, March 24, at which time George Rawlings, Jr. and A. Thomas speaking for the negative lost the verbal discussion to Anne and Jack Cock. Miss Hughes, Ashland reporter for the Richmond News Leader, rendered the decision.

The national Pi Kappa Delta question, "Resolved: That the Nations of the Western Hemisphere Should Form a Permanent Union" was the topic for the entire series.

CAROLINE EASON

LUCY TURNBULL

MARTHA ROBERTS

Eason, Turnbull, Parker, Roberts Elected Organization Officers

Caroline Eason, Richmond, was elected vice president of the Student Government Association in the minor elections held Thursday, March 27. Martha Roberts, Norton, is the vice president of the Athletic Association; for vice president of the House Council, Elizabeth Ann Parker, Portsmouth was chosen. Lucy Turnbull, Richmond, will be vice president of the Y. W. C. A.

The other newly elected officers of the Student Government Association are: Agnes Patterson, secretary; Fiddle Haynes, treasurer; and Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Campus League Chairman. Nancy Dupuy will fill the new office of Dining Room Hostess.

Peggy Hughes will be secretary of the Athletic Association and Sara Wade Owen treasurer.

Other officers of the Y. W. C. A. will be Charlotte Gresham, secretary; Anne Ellett, treasurer; Eleanor Folk, Sophomore Counselor; and Louise McCorkle, Freshman Counselor.

Miggie Mish was voted secretary of the House Council and Ann Ware, treasurer.

ELIZABETH ANN PARKER

Mu Omega Tea

Patsy Fletcher, Dorothy Menefee, Anna George and Betty Clemmons gave a tea in the Mu Omega chapter room at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, March 30. All the active members and Miss Leola Wheeler were present.

Hop Says . . .

HAVE YOUR EVENING CLOTHES CLEANED FOR THE SPRING CONCERT AND DANCE

DeLuxe Cleaners

PHONE 77

SPRING IS HERE
Pastel Anklets
Sweaters
Blouses
Skirts
ALL AT OUR LOW PRICES

NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store

Costume Jewelry & Compacts $1.00. Loafers (beige, black and white, brown and white) $2.95. Shirts with adjustable French cuffs $1.97—$2.97.

DOROTHY MAY STORE
The College Headquarters

NYLON HOSE
98c and $1.19
ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNDATION SERVICE

GRAY'S
DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

SPECIAL
Oxford and Loafer
SALE
$3.95 Jolene Values—White, Brown and White, Beige, Black and White. Moccasins and saddle styles.
AAA TO C WIDTH
$2.95
The Hub Dept. Store
Charge It if you like

SPECIAL
Thursday—Friday and Saturday
APRIL 3, 4, AND 5TH
1- 8x10 Photo
WITH PROOFS
VALUE $3.00
Special $1.50
Davidson's Studio

You can't fool a little feathered friend about spring migrations! The smart bird knows that Greyhound is the easiest way to flit home to the family nest and back to college again when vacation time's over. The saving is plenty big—in both time and money — and the trip's more fun in a Super-Coach full of friends. There's an extra saving, as usual, on round-trip tickets. So be kind to your pocketbook—and to yourself—go Greyhound.

GREYHOUND BUS STATION
Phone 78 Continental Hotel

Sample Round-Trip Fares

Richmond	$2.10
Charleston, WV.	9.00
Blacksburg	5.05
Baltimore	6.15
Norfolk	4.80
Williamsburg	3.90
Saunton	4.50
Washington	4.80
Knoxville, Tenn	9.00
Harrisonburg	5.25
Fredericksburg	4.35
Roanoke	3.60
Clifton Forge	4.50

GREYHOUND LINES

• Sports Slants •

By ANNE COCK

Ping—Pong
Ping—Pong
Ping—Pong

The monotonous rhythm of that delightful pastime beats on as in the ree reputations are being made and lost with the passing of time. For the tournament is all under way by now and the deciding match is scheduled to be played off Friday. Games become more tense and excitement runs higher as the weaker players are eliminated and the more experienced ones fight it out to neck 'n neck finishes. Ten points to the winning colors so hustle down y' all and make it a photo finish—just for excitement.

Well, well, here's a bit of news, out of season but welcome by many I'm sure. The Sophs defeated the Juniors by a wide margin in the deciding class basketball game last Thursday afternoon. The score—38-14. This gives the basketball points to Green and White and I dare say makes Red and White look to the future for a chance at a come back.

And that chance is here in the form of Volley ball which had an initial practice Monday afternoon at 4:30. There will be no regular practices, just when and for how long the gym is available, but fore going announcements will be made to that effect in plenty of time to be there. This is the last indoor competition for the year and is well worth your time, takes very little energy, is lots of fund, so come on down and lend an arm or leg to your team. Guaranteed to put it to use!

Spring golf at Longwood is expected to start next week, pending the arrival of the balls, those all important little factors in the man's game most recent to be invaded by the fairer sex. There is no Pro this year but the A. A. is giving lessons free of charge to those who care to play. Equipment is available at Longwood and the only restrictions attached are "Handle with care" and "Return when through."

Walk while the weather permits if you've a mind to that phase of activity. It gets mighty hot here in Farmville later on (Ask some one who was here last summer.) But there are few places prettier than High street in the spring. More and more pedestrians find their way up to the hospital after supper to see the sun set and from all reports the violet patches back of the water works have been discovered and will be watched fervently until they bloom.

May Day Practice Schedule

APRIL 7-12

Monday—7	3:30-4:30—English	Rec
	3:30-4:30—River	Gym
	9:00-10:00—Prairie	Gym
	9:00-10:00—German	Rec
Tuesday—8	3:30-4:30—Forests	Gym
1—Tuesday	3:30-4:30—Forests	Gym
	3:30- 4:30—Irish	Rec
	8:30- 9:30—Indian	Gym
	8:30- 9:30—Russian	Rec
Wednesday—9	3:30-4:30—Mountain	Gym
2—Wednesday	3:30- 4:30—Mountain	Gym
	3:30- 4:30—Swedish	Rec
	8:00- 9:00—Negro	Gym
	8:00- 9:00—French	Rec
	9:00-10:00—Court	Gym
Thursday—10	EASTER HOLIDAYS

Visit the . . .
A & N
FOR ALL
Athletic Equipment
Come in and see our
Tennis Equipment
And other sport wear

BUTCHER'S
The convenient store for faculty and student body.
Good things to eat and drink

STATE
"Your Community Center"
Last Day Today! April 3
ERROL FLYNN — BRENDA MARSHALL
"FOOTSTEPS IN THE DARK"
Friday-Sat. April 4-5
JAMES CAGNEY — OLIVIA de HAVILAND
"STRAWBERRY BLONDE"
Next Mon.-Tues. April 7-8
LAWRENCE OLIVER — JOAN FONTAINE
"REBECCA"

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

COLLEGE SHOPPE
TRY OUR SPECIAL
Prepared Lunches
FOR S. T. C. GIRLS
20c— 25c— 30c
Come in and ask about them
WE DELIVER CALL 200

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

Green and White Wins Basketball

Sophs Tie With Juniors For Cup

The Sophomores defeated the Juniors 38-14 in the final basketball game of the season Thursday afternoon, March 27 in the gym. This gives the points for basketball to Green and White, thus tying Red and White and Green and White for the Color Cup.

The line-up follows:

Sophomores	Juniors
Forwards
Ann Ellett	Marty Roberts
Jean Carr	Hester Chatten
Pauline Clemments	Dot Sprinkle
Guards
Frances Parham	Dot Johnson
Hallie Hillsman	Nancy Dupuy
Ann Price	Esther Coleman

Substitutes—Soph. Pete Barnett, forward. Juniors, Spilly Purdum, forward.

Halls Will Contest In Volleyball Clash

Volleyball practice started Monday, March 31. Further practices will be announced in the dining hall.

A new team arrangement is being tried this year. Each hall will make up a team and compete against the other halls. A captain will be chosen for each team by those in charge. Everyone is urged to come to the practices.

Hampton Quartet Here On State Tour

Hampton quartet from Hampton Institute sang negro spirituals in chapel Wednesday, March 26.

The quartet is making a good will tour in an effort to create a better feeling toward social discriminations and at the same time preserve the folk music of the negro. They have presented programs at Farmville four times previously.

ENGLISH GADROON
GORHAM STERLING
ONE SIX-PIECE PLACE-SETTING EACH MONTH COSTS ONLY . . . $17.17
Martin, the Jeweler

Try Our
Saturday Special
• ANY 10c DRINK PLUS
• ANY 10c SANDWICH, PLUS PIE A LA MODE
All for 25c
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

Ping Pong Tourney To Conclude March 28

The Ping Pong Tournament sponsored by the Athletic Association is well underway. The first sets scheduled to be played off by Friday, March 28, have been completed.

The results are as follows: Anna Parker and Grace Ellerton forfeited to Parker, Ruth Dugger and Helen Gilliam to Dugger; Shirley Pierce and Louise Rice to Pierce; Jeanne Sears and Jane Scott to Sears; Frances Parham and Elizabeth Coleman to Parham; Nell Hurt and Spilly Purdum to Hurt; Louise Phillips and Elizabeth Barlow to Barlow; Nancy Dupuy and Hester Chatten to Dupuy; Florence Lee and Jack Cock to Lee; Helen McIlwaine and Helen Seward to McIlwaine.

Points toward the Color Cup will be given to the winning team.

Alabama Trip

Continued from Page 1

as a team on the Affirmative side of the question. Both have done intercollegiate debating for three years and are members of Pi Kappa Delta. Jack is secretary of the local chapter and Anne is president of the Debate Club.

The Provincial Conference is a biennial affair and met here at Farmville in the spring of 1939.

Dramatic Club

Continued from Page 1

able mention going to the second best.

Plays will be judged according to the interpretation of the central theme and mood, literary value, character portrayal, costuming, and make-up.

Lillian Wahab is chairman of the play contest. Farmville, Vinton and Appomattox high schools won the cups last year.

The schools that will compete this year will be announced later.

Colonnade

Continued from Page 1

to appear in May, will be the work of the newly appointed staff.

Vanity Beauty Shoppe
Farmville, Virginia
Phone 360
Latest N. Y. Styles

Come to see us
FOR
A complete Line
OF
SANDWICH SPREADS, PKG. CHEES AND JAR CHEESE
The Economy Food Store

KLEANWELL
Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management — Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Origin Discussed

Color Cup Suffers Decline

Reporter Hears Sad Story

Occupying a somewhat noteworthy position on the Rotunda mantle is the yearly sought after 'color cup'. It had its origin in enthusiastic, hopeful founders who started this annual tradition when school spirit was abundant and enthusiasm unlimited.

'Color rush' is only complimentary to the other requirements for obtaining the Color Cup. Pingpong, basketball, hockey, tennis and swimming are also other determining factors which decide the cup's fate. The color rush, though, is one of the year's outstanding happenings. The winning of that dare give one team great hopes.

Rosa Courter was telling me about color rush in its earlier days when there were fewer runners and more time devoted to it. After putting the appointed runners to bed on one hall, the rest of the school compensated by really making a night of it. Then early the next morning someone would awaken the runners and at six-thirty the race was really on. Just as now, the hockey games come later. Rosa rather regretfully told me of the effervescing school spirit she knew to exist then and of its gradual annual decline. Even during her four years here, she said, the continual drop in interest has been obvious. Long ago a whole day could afford to be assigned for the games, she added, since means of transportation weren't nearly so efficient as now nor the numbers going home for the week-end so abundant.

Now our color rush begins at two in the afternoon; at that time all the halls are cleared of its occupants and runners are stationed at appointed posts. The rest of us composes that melee of singing voices and excited laughter in front of the Rotunda—each tensely waiting and hoping. The shouts of praise and the outbursts of joy are no meager inaudible ones as the runners complete their task and the student body rushes from one front building to another!

Last year the color cup wore red and white. The two preceeding years saw it bedecked in green. Its fate, you see, lies largely in your fate. So would you have it wear red or green this year?

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

HUNGRY—VISIT
Shannon's
THE FOOD'S THE BEST
Phone 224 Good Service

Easter Holidays Begin Thursday

The Rotunda

Congratulations To Our Debate Team

VOLUME XX — FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY APRIL 9, 1941 — NO. 24

Nelson and Moyer Win Coveted Titles Of 1941 Graduates

Salutatorian Taken From Degree Class Is New Innovation

Caralie Nelson of South Boston, outgoing president of the Student Council, will be the first honor graduate of the class of 1941, and as such, will deliver the valedictory address at the commencement exercises on June 3. The salutatorian will be Jean Moyer of Portsmouth, outgoing president of the Y. W. C. A. The announcement was made in chapel, Tuesday, April 8, by Dr. Jarman.

These honors, based upon scholasticism, character, achievements, and general contributions to the school, are decided upon by Dr. J. L. Jarman and the faculty. This is the first year that the second honor student of the degree class has delivered the salutatory address. Previously, the first honor graduate of the diploma class held this distinction; but due to the small size of the diploma class, no two-year honor graduates were selected.

Caralie served on Student Government as class representative for two years before being elected secretary and finally president. She has also been a member of the Virginian and Rotunda staffs and was Freshman Counselor on the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet. During her first two years, she was active in debating.

Jean served as a member of the Y. W. Cabinet before she be-

Continued on Page 3

Ruby Connor Will Head Baptist Group

The Baptist Student Union, planning bigger and better things for the year, met Wednesday, March 26th and elected its new officers. Ruby Connor was elected president to succeed Frances Hudgins.

Ruby's cabinet will be composed of Texie BeBile Felts as first vice-president; second vice-president, Frances Lee Hawthorne; third vice-president, Ellen Hudgins; secretary, Eleanor Boothe; treasurer, Marie Davis; Sunday School president, Maxine Comptor; B. Y. P. U. president, Carolyn Rouse; music chairman, Mary Nancy Marsh; publicity manager, Mildred Shelton; reporter, Warwick Mitchell; and Advisor, Mr. Scott.

An Usher Breaks Silence

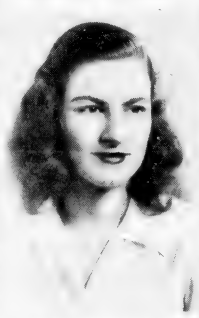
By CARALIE NELSON

"Right aisle, sir. The usher there will show you to your seat. Center aisle, other door, please."

The ushers were directing the crowds streaming into the auditorium to hear the annual Spring Concert. One of the largest crowds in the history of the school was present. Not only was the auditorium filled, but people were standing in the aisles and sitting in the windows. Because so many people could not find standing room inside the auditorium, the doors were opened and chairs were placed in the vestibule.

Seen by the ushers were many interesting people—the boy who gave up his seat because he didn't mind standing; the man who regretted to leave before the concert was over because he had to drive so far; the little kindergarten girl who wanted to stay until the end even if it was past her bedtime; the boy who agreeably walked all around the auditorium to his seat after he had sat in the wrong one.

Seated on a table in the vestibule, in a window, or standing, the ushers listened to the concert. The program was varied so that each person heard some piece that appealed to him. The soloists contributed a great deal to the program. Mr. Wilson Angel, a favorite for a long time at S. T. C., was enjoyed as usual as was Miss Evelyn Barnes.



Miss Dorothy Baker who was unable to come to S. T. C. because of sickness was missed, but Miss Helen McCartney very ably substituted for her. Of course, Mr. Ed Field of Hampden-Sydney was especially enjoyed.

Regardless of aching feet, choking collars, and the heat, the choral groups from Harvard, Duke, and S. T. C. brought a real message in song.

One of the big moments of the concert took place as Forrestine Whitaker directed the entire group in the powerful Hallelujah Chorus.

The final amen and then the ushers dashed to get the chairs out of the vestibule in order for the crowd to leave. Standing there as the people filed out they heard them say, "It was wonderful. We enjoyed it. We've never heard anything like it before on this campus."

Blossom Princess

Frances Ellett who will represent S. T. C. at the Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester, May 1 and 2.

Library Receives Two Gift Volumes

Books Honor Farmville Alumna

Two volumes of the United Daughters of the Confederacy Memorial Edition of the "Rise and Fall of the Confederate Government" by Jefferson Davis have been specially prepared for S.T.C., and have recently been presented by the Stonewall Jackson chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy in honor of Mrs. Maria Bristow Starke.

Mrs. Starke, of Richmond, was very active in practically every phase of college work while she was a student here at S.T.C. Her father, Mr. R. C. Bristow, was business manager of the school before Mr. S. L. Graham. Mrs. Starke, as a student here, was president of her class for three years; she was active in the Y. W. C. A.; president of the dramatic club; active in the Athenian Literary Society; a member of the Focus staff; active in the French club, the Ballad Club, Debating Society, "Scribblers", and a member of the Camp Fire Girls. She also took second honor in her class of 1914. At the twenty-fifth anniversary of the class of 1914 on Founder's Day in 1939, she presented a silver punch bowl to the school. This bowl is now used at Longwood.

Mrs. Starke's work did not cease when she finished school. Al-

Continued from Page 3

Ellett Will Be Princess At Apple Blossom Festival

Event Scheduled For May 1 and 2 At Winchester

Frances Ellett of Roanoke will represent S. T. C. at the eighteenth annual Apple Blossom Festival to be held in Winchester May 1 and 2.

The princesses are representatives from many colleges of various sections of United States and from various horticultural societies. Last year Lulu Windham represented Farmville at the festival.

The crowning of the queen, a pageant, and the Queen's Ball mark the main events of the first day. The celebration will continue on Friday with a parade in which the queen and her princesses will appear on floats. That night the court will be entertained at the Princesses' Ball. J. W. Smith from Princeton will escort Frances to the Queen's Ball on Thursday night and the Princesses' Ball on Friday night.

Benny Goodman's orchestra will play on Thursday night for the Queen's Ball, and Tommy Tucker's orchestra will play on Friday night for the Princesses' Ball.

Frances, as President of the House Council, Editor of the Handbook, a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma and of the May Court, is an active student on the campus.

Shirley McCalley Is Scholarship Winner

Shirley McCalley, of Richmond, has been awarded by unanimous vote, the King's Daughters' scholarship to Chautauqua in New York for the six-weeks' summer course. The Chautauqua scholarship is given annually by the Virginia branch of the King's Daughters and Sons and is contributed to by nearly every circle of the King's Daughters and Sons in the State. Most any subject can be studied at Chautauqua.

Shirley, a junior, is a member of the staff of the Rotunda. She was a camper at Camp Eley, the King's Daughters' junior camp, the first year the camp was opened and served as a counselor in 1938 and 1939.

May Wertz Elected Beore Eh Thorn Head

May Wertz, Roanoke, was elected president of Beorc Eh Thorn, honorary English fraternity, at the regular meeting of the society on April 3.

May Wertz succeeds Mary Jane Jolliffe. Jo Brumfield was chosen to succeed Evelyn Quillin as vice-president; Martha Ann Cobb will take over Roberta Laiture's position as corresponding secretary; Rachel Abernathy, as recording secretary, will suceed Louise Hall; Flora Winn was chosen treasurer to succeed Virginia Howell; and Eleanor Folk will take over Dorothy Rollin's duties as historian.

Seniors Name Seward New Vice-President

Helen Seward of Petersburg was elected vice-president of the Senior class for the remainder of this term at a meeting of the senior class held Tuesday night, April 1.

Helen will fill the vacancy left upon the resignation of Esther Atkinson. Helen is a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma, president of the Monogram Club, social chairman of the Athletic Council, and a member of Student Standards, Riding Club, Home Economics club and Cotillion Club.

S. T. C. Debaters Win Third Place At Tournament

Also Capture Places In Extemporaneous —Impromptu Meets

Marie Allen, Thelma Courtney, and Anne and Jack Cock tied for third place in women's debate at the Biennial Provincial Tournament of Pi Kappa Delta held at Alabama College, Montevallo, Alabama, April 2, 3, 4, and 5. Marie placed third in the extemporaneous speaking contest, and Thelma placed fourth in the impromptu contest.

The group defeated teams from Lenoir Rhyne, Winthrop, Transylvania, (on each side of the query), and Georgia State College. They ceded debates to Tennessee Tech, Alabama, and Maryville.

Eighteen Colleges Meet

Lenoir Rhyne and Wake Forest placed first in women's and men's debate respectively. Seventy-eight representatives from eighteen colleges in the province took active part in the four contests—debate, extempore speaking impromptu speaking and oratory. There were eight rounds of debate and four rounds each of the other contests.

Cox Elected

At the business meeting Dr. Warren Cox of Johnson City, Tennessee was elected president of the province to succeed Dr. Warren G. Keith of Winthrop College, S. C., Mr. Henning of Alabama was elected secretary.

Informal dances each night and table tennis and bowling throughout the day kept alive the social side of the tourney. The winners banquet followed by a formal dance Friday night brought to a close the entire activities.

Farmville Will Elect "Miss Liberty" Candidate Tonight

Nominations were held this morning to select a candidate for a "Miss Liberty" sponsored by the junior class at V. P. I. Election of a representative from Farmville will be held at dinner tonight.

The 1941 V. P. I. Ring Dances on May 9 and 10 will be dedicated to Liberty in accordance with the prevalent defense spirit. "Miss Liberty", who is to be chosen from a Virginian or District of Columbia girl's college, will be queen of the occasion.

Farmville, as well as twenty-five Colleges in Virginia and the District of Columbia, were asked to choose a representative from its student body on the basis of the true American spirit, integrity, leadership, personality, and beauty. The final selection will be made by the junior class of Tech.

A full length snapshot and a photograph suitable for publication in the V. P. I. paper must be submitted along with the name of the representative elected, by April 11, 1941. The girl selected will be notified April 15.

Traveling and living expenses for the week-end and an escort for the dances will be provided for "Miss Liberty".

Pi Gamma Mu Elects Purdum President

Officers for the year 1941-'42 of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science fraternity have been elected. Mary Lilly Purdum of Danville, will serve as president, succeeding Marian Heard.

Mary Hunter Edmunds was elected vice - president, taking Thelma Courtney's place. Bliss Fowlkes succeeds Louise Hall as recording secretary, and Hester Chattin was elected treasurer, replacing Ethel Carr.

Spring Cotillion Club Dance Is April 19

Cotillion President

Boonie Stevenson, president of the Cotillion Club announces Saturday, April 19, as the date for Spring Cotillion.

Virginian Staff Is Reorganized

Ayers Announces New Members

Anne Ayers, editor-in-chief of The Virginian for the term 1941-'42 has announced the new editorial and business staffs for the coming year.

The set-up of the staff has been changed in order to make possible a progressive scheme whereby a person can work up gradually to a higher position. The position of Managing Editor has been added in view of this fact.

May Wertz, past editor of The Virginian, will be Managing Editor; and Gay Ward Brown, Business Manager. Gay Ward served last year as photographic editor.

Under May Wertz will be the photographic editor, which place Martha Roberts will fill and the literary editor, who will be Elizabeth Tennent. Members of the Literary staff are Dot Sprinkle, Jane McGinnis, Caroline Eason, and Ella Banks Weathers.

Anne Turner is the newly appointed art editor. Her assistants will be Harriet Walker Winifred Wright, and Sara Trigg.

Members of the photographic staff include Harriet Cantrell, Elizabeth Townsend, Sue Moore, and Louise McCorkle.

Sue Dunlap has been selected as assistant business manager. Working with Sue are Shirley Pierce, Augusta Parks, and Kitty Parrish. Typists are Mary Moore McCorkle and Anne Warr.

Mr. T. M. McCorkle is faculty advisor for The Virginian.

Colonnade Staff Adds Contributor's Board

A Board of Contributors has been added to the Colonnade staff this quarter for the purpose of building up sources for materials, for creating an interest in all types of magazine writing, and for introducing new ideas by making a survey of the other college magazines.

Margie Rice, Jane McGinnis, Aggie Mann, juniors; Betty Faith White, sophomore; and Mrs. Margaret Lawrence, senior, comprise the charter members of the board. They were selected by the Colonnade staff and faculty advisors for the interest they have shown in writing.

Qualifications for the Contributors Board list that material shall be handed in once every three weeks, and at least one piece of material out of every three

Continued on Page 3

Enoch Light Will Play: Mexico Is Decoration Theme

Pierpont Will Lead Figure; Goat Week Slated for April 21

The Cotillion Club has announced Saturday, April 19, as the date of its spring festivities at S. T. C. Spring Cotillion is the highlight of the organization's activities, and this one promises to equal or even to surpass all others, what with its unique decorations, figure, and music.

In the afternoon, from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock, a Tea Dance will be enjoyed in the gymnasium. At the same place, from 8:30 to 12 o'clock that night, the formal dance will be held. Enoch Light and his orchestra will play for both affairs.

Band Is Well-Known

Enoch Light is one of the few American popular bandleaders who is just as well known and popular in Europe. Direct from the Hotel Taft in the heart of Manhattan, where this internationally famous violinist and conductor was featured four times weekly for twenty months on the CBS and Mutual networks, "Putting on airs—for you", Enoch Light brings his sensational dance band, with thirteen versatile artists.

In addition, there is a trio of groups within the band, each individual in style—the "Light Brigade", top ranking swing sextet; the "Dream Weavers", melodious quintet; and the "Ocarino Trio," novelty instrumentalists. Appearing with the band are George Hines, guitarist and romantic singer, and Smith Howard, drummer, singer, and comedian.

Mexican Theme

A Mexican theme has been chosen for the decorations which will be carried out by Gamma Psi, local sorority in fine arts. This society has been in charge of the Cotillion decorations before, and has proven its ability and originality.

Nancy Pierpont, with Walter Sprye of Hampden-Sydney College as her escort, will lead the figure in which all Cotillion Club members, except those taken in immediately before Christmas, will participate.

Committee Members

Those active on committees are Emily Hoskins, Harriet Cantrell, and Virginia Howell, Music Committee; floor committee consists of Lallwen Bennett, Jean Upshur,

Continued on Page 4

Allen, Parker, Keck, And Courtney To Vie In Debate Tourney

Marie Allen, Thelma Courtney, Elizabeth Ann Parker, and Frances Keck left today, April 9, for the Annual Grand Eastern Forensic Tournament at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C. They were accompanied by Dr. James Elliot Walmsley, debate coach.

Marie and Thelma as Farmville's negative debate team and Elizabeth Ann and Frances as an affirmative team will clash with teams from as far west as Oregon, as far north as Maine and as far south as Florida.

The tourney is one of the largest of its kind held each year and is well known throughout the country.

Contests in oratory, extempore, impromptu, after dinner, radio announcing, and various other types of speaking will be offered to interested competitors.

Editorial Comment

Intellectual Malnutrition—?

All over the land professors, parents, friends, and leaders—be they religious, political, social, or economic—are branding the college student as a sufferer of intellectual malnutrition. We, on our campus, are not escaping this stigma.

It is true that all generations of the young have in their times been described as degenerate by their elders. In the history of the world there has not been a generation which would admit that the young were as concerned with the world as they had been when they were young.

But this is not the point of contention. We must not be satisfied to reply that the present American college student possesses both the vitality and usefulness as the one of a previous generation. World situations demand that to maintain and to extend that usefulness to the world of today and tomorrow, we must think harder and think straighter than we have done up to the present.

It is a recognized fact that intellectual malnutrition breeds dictators; and that wherever a dictator has arisen, there education has suffered. As members of the educational system and as future teachers, we must remove this insignia by giving more attention to the problems which we face and by thoughtfully trying to solve them.

"Let Joy Be Unconfined"

A glance at the calendar of events in the college catalogue informs us that on Thursday, April 10, at eleven o'clock, Easter holidays will begin. On that day there will be a general exodus of S. T. C. girls to many parts of Virginia and the surrounding states.

We in America should be happy that we can enjoy in peace and friendliness this beautiful season. Even though the world is in a state of chaotic destruction, we are reminded especially during this season that there is a way of life and peace.

Opportunity Knocks

On page one there is a story about the Contributor's Board which the Colonnade has organized in the interest of creating a desire to write and to have that which you write published. We feel that such an innovation is indeed a genuine opportunity for all. Come on! Start writing!

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 9, 1941

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

STAFF

Sara Cline ..... Editor-in-Chief
Mary Lilly Purdum ..... Managing Editor
Texie Belle Felts ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Ella Banks Weathers ..... News Editor
Mary Parrish Viccellio ..... Feature Editor
Anne Cock ..... Sports Editor
Jane Sanford ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Faye Nimmo Charlotte Phillips, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Sprinkle, Elizabeth Tennent, Sara Trigg, Margaret Wright.

Assistant Business Managers

Elva Andrews ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Keith Bingham ..... Advertising
Helen DeLong ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Mary St. Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Anne Moore.

Typists

Chief Typist ..... Thelma Courtney
Typists—Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Dorothy Gaul

Gleanings

By MARY HUNTER EDMUNDS

(Guest Columnist)

Labor

What shall be our attitude toward the bill introduced into the House last week by Representative Leland M. Ford of California? This bill would class strikes against the United States and its defense program as treason, punishable by twenty-five years imprisonment, or death if fatalities are caused. Such a bill is war hysteria and should be considered as such.

There have been seventy-three strikes on the defense program since September, 1939, involving 146,291 workers. Strikes in the Bethlehem Steel plant, International Harvester's McCormick plant, Ford plant, soft-coal industry, are only the more spectacular recent ones. Now public patience, strained by the disputes that are impeding the defense effort, is about ready to crack. The Gallup Poll indicates that over 72 per cent of the public is sure that strikes in defense industries should be forbidden.

Representative Hatton Sumners suggests that "enemies of this nation, in the factory or elsewhere," be sent to the electric chair. Secretary of War, Henry Stimson, wants to suppress any labor disorders by organizing home guards. Air Corp's Major General George Brett announced that Army planes would swoop in mass formation over struck plants to show strikers' "what they are working for." Much of this is war exaggeration.

Whenever industry skyrockets, labor troubles follow inevitably. When profits are being reaped, labor wants its share. So labor has struck and in most cases has secured its demands in part at least. The Roosevelt administration has pampered labor. Legislation has been repeatedly passed for its benefit. Its pleas have fallen upon most receptive ears. And the workers have responded by biting the proverbial hand that is feeding her.

Certainly such an attitude taken by labor is interfering wtih the government in its efforts to meet the present emergency, and a curb should be imposed to keep the program running quickly and smoothly. But certainly no such hysterical appro as Mr. Ford and others advocate is warranted.

We made grave mistakes in the last war. History records that we cling to the ideals of democracy just so long as things are going right, but the minute we become scared, we clamp such restrictions on human liberty as to lose all semblance to democracy. For the sake of our democracy let us be calm in the present emergency. Let us not be swept away by our passions and emotions. Let us not be too vindicative in our legislation.

Censorship

What about the O'Leary bill of censorship that has already passed the House? The advocates say that national security demands it. But censorship works two ways. "It is as much censorship to pass colored government information through an official bottle-neck as it is to sift outside information through the same channel."

Surely our present situation does not demand such a far-reaching measure as this. Keeping the public accurately informed can do no harm, and we should adhere to this principle to a degree as liberal as national security permits.

Again I say, let us not rush too fast into restrictions that are contrary to all our democratic concepts. If we must legislate, for goodness sake let's be moderate!

"The periods when the world has moved towards peace have been those when hope was reinforced by faith. Today even hope is dimmed and faith is all but absent. That is why the totalitarian's faith in conquest is for the moment triumphant. That is why they can define their 'new order' while we flounder without a program. It is our absence of faith in any contrary process which gives them the victory. —President Henry Merritt Wriston of Brown University.

Senior Personality

PAT GIBSON

Past Editor of The Rotunda

A Yankee who has acquired a liking for our Southern way of living, but who will never lose her forceful, energetic Northern personality—that is our beloved Pat Gibson.

To know her is to love her, to share a friendship with her is a precious jewel anyone would envy, to talk with her adds up to sound, frank, sincere advice if you need it, or gaiety if you wish to relax.

We wonder how she manages so efficiently her many duties such as the past editor of the Rotunda, swimming instructor for the college, a member of varsity sports, editor of our Alumnae Magazine, and taking active part in her chosen honor societies. Is it the influence of the Northern thriftiness she has brought down South, or is it her versatile make-up with which she has been so abundantly blessed and used to the greatest advantage while building her college career?

Strong character, a genuine interest in her fellow student, and dependability sketches the real Pat, yet we will always remember her unruly golden curls, small blue eyes, and devilish smile.

Looking 'Em Over

'The fashion show is soon to come,
And if you gals aren't too, too dumb,
When tra-la spring comes rolling around
With stylish duds you will be found."

CAMPUS SCENE—From all appearances of these new spring suits being sported about the campus, it looks as if Easter has come and went.'

TRAVELER'S AID DEPT— Marion Worsham will journey to N. Y. to pass the Easter vacation with Tracy—likewise Mary Anne Mottley to N. J. with Bouton not to mention Flea with her Jack in Culpeper and Katherine Dunton with Bill Lyle. And do be careful, Katherine, because it's not very safe to wear a Chi Phi pin and a V. P. I. miniature at the same time.

ADD SURPRISE OF THE WEEK—Nan Duer with Bill McKenna again! Seems like it would be fun to have your "past" turn up again after all these years.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK—Why does a certain red-headed freshman try to attract attention to herself and just love to be mentioned in our column? She was really outdoing herself at the concert, striving for the attention of those college gentlemen around her who would really have preferred to have heard the music.

CURIOSITY — Mrs. Eubank's conference with engaged girls did not turn out as planned. Were C. Crafton A. C. Sydnor, and those freshmen who attended just curious or were they really engaged? Mrs. Eubank didn't know—neither did anybody else!

WHY—were the letters "Duke" twice the size of those in "Harvard" on the sign in front of White House last Friday? Our attention was drawn to it by one of the Harvard men.

WE DISLIKE—the attitude of some Harvard men at the dance; people who cut classes to sun bathe; girls who bang out of windows to gape at a bus full of boys—you'd think we'd never seen a man before the draft.

HAPPY EASTER—to everyone, and if you don't get those orchids blame it on the draft. After all he can't afford sweet peas, much less orchids on $21 a month!

Memories Crowd in Retrospect As Senior Reviews Life Here

By JEAN MOYER

"Whosoever shall lose his life shall save it." She who loses her life in unselfish service to the college shall gain a life abundant in all of the things a college can give.

The significance of this verse of scripture from Luke as applied to my college life came to me at Senior Installation as I awaited my turn to be capped and so "officially" become a Senior. How true it is that the more we give of ourselves to college life, the more we take away as part of our own lives. Yet our Alma Mater has been generous to each of us whether our contributions have been great or small.

At times I realize, as we all do, that I haven't made my four years at Farmville as abundant as they might have been; and wish for the proverbial second chance. Perhaps that is one of the things that makes graduation seem rather like the unwelcome guest. Then again I think of all that Farmville has given me, and I await graduation—eager to do for others through teaching something of what my alma mater has done for me.

Memories push and crowd through my mind. I see myself in retrospect as a freshman—that time of orientation, adjustment, and initation. I tried to join every available organization on campus and wondered why Miss Bugg called me to her office for doing student teaching in the Training School during my first quarter. I soon learned that your contribution to the school is much greater if you do a few things well rather than if you dabble in many things and do little with any of them.

The realization that what others thought and said meant just as much and usually more than my thoughts and actions was longer in coming, but it came as it must if one is to live constructively and not destructively with others. Contrary to my expectations, there was not a sharp line of demarcation between my sophomore, junior, and senior years. In the interests, attitudes, and abilities of my freshman year, I continued to develop. I thrilled at the sense of unity which came from making a contribution toward the advancement of the society of which one is a part. Friends, tradition, customs, and all the little things that go to make college life have grown increasingly dear.

Parting will be such "sweet sorrow". Yet I'll never part with a single day of my four years at Farmville. As graduation looms just over the horizon, what my four years at Farmville have meant to me becomes what my four years at Farmville will mean to me in future years.

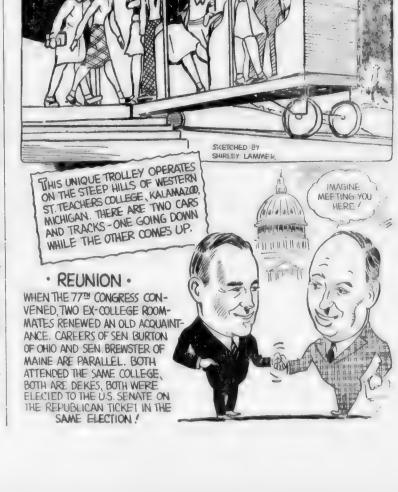
On Second Thought

"There was the Fascist general, instructed by the Duce to produce a victory, 'who pencilled the memo on his black cuff'." Don't be misled now, the general was probably an optimist in the habit of chalking 'em up right off hand!

London and America are in search of a "Pied Piper", especially London who has perceived an increase in the number of rodents since the war.

London authorities are engaged in a campaign against rats, fearful lest disease be spread by them under the abnormal conditions of the city.

Several American cities have already launched campaigns against an enemy, the rat usually with W. P. A. help. ('W. P. A.—We 'Preciate Ate).



Might General Electric's luminous question of the week "Are you a bulb-snatcher?" account for the shortage of corsages by some American girls we know?

Every Virginian should feel a certain pride in Ellen Glasgow, for this year the editors of the Saturday Review conferred upon her their special reward for "Distinguished Service to American Literature." A capital writer from our Capitol—all of which Glasgows to prove that we are unknowingly planted in a bed of genii.

Our prize social write-up is the one of a rival bridge party. It was fairly form-fitting until the refreshments had to be dished up in words. It read something like this "Ice cream and cake were served in lieu of refreshments." (The frankness demands respect anyhow.)

"It is thought that the earliest known record of animal life on earth may be the fossil imprint of a stranded jelly-fish on a slab of fine-grained red sandstone—which is now in Washington." In reckoning why the fish was desserted, we were wondering if the fossil imprint figured in the case at all. We bet the poor little fish probably didn't even know about his latest cells!

In an article entitled "Awful to think of a ball game, The Indians' love of 'goober' hulls and all is shown!" It said, "They not only love peanuts, they don't even bother to remove the shells." What's goober enough for them ought to be goober enough for us—but we're a different people! (Anyhow, we bet Emily wouldn't like it.)

Look Where You're Going! It's a Sign Spring's Here

With all the excitement caused by Hardyard and Duke's descending upon our campus and the prospects of a long awaited Easter holiday now close at hand, many S.T.C. girls decided to make the most of a week-end here and bask in Farmville's sunshine (and rain). There were some, though, who couldn't resist the temptation to keep up their good record for traveling, and so they spent the week-end elsewhere. Most all of these week-enders went to the usual places—Richmond, Roanoke, Danville, Lynchburg, Charlottesville, and ..... aw! you know the rest. ...

Headed South: That hard-working debate team, Thelma Courtney, Anne and Jack Cock, and Marie Allen journeyed to Montevallo in Alabama for a forensic tournament, while Jackie Parsons and Frances Powell visited in Davidson, North Carolina, and Carolyn Minnick traveled to Greenboro.

Northern cavorting: Dot Gaul, Pat Gibson, and Jane Lee Sink believe their Easter holidays should come off in a BIG way, and so they left for New York last week end to remain 'til next week.

Top hat week-end: Nellie White in the races at Curles Neck, while Marjorie Whillen and Katherine Price went to Washington. Marjorie to see the Cherry Blossom Festival.

Good times afoot: S. T. C. was represented at the dances at Annapolis by Elizabeth Ann Parker, and Marie Utt and Margaret Whitfield went to the dances at Georgetown University in Washington.

The sun travels West and so do we: Rozelle Eckford, Crews Borden, Allene Overbey, Katherine Vaughan, Catherine Phillips, Ora Mayo, Martha Smith, Ruth Wiley, Josephine Bishop, and Nina Lee Hall visited in Charlottesville, and the road to Staunton saw Margaret Bowling, Dearing Flauntleroy, Irey Jones, Betty Reid, and Christine Pittard.

East-bound: To Newport News went Josephine Canada, Ruth Dugger, Eloise Galloday, Lorraine Hurst, and M. K. Ingham.

Added attractions: The usual caravan to Richmond last week consisted of Jeanne Warwick, Nancy Wolfe, Kitty Price, Mary Katherine Zehmer, Margaret Lawrence, Miriam Jester, Betty Smithdeal, Helen McGuire, Virginia Campfield, Hester Chattin, Mildred Morriss, Lucy Turnbull, Luella Hall, La Reine Thornton, Frances Hoback, Martha Cottrel, Jane McGinnis, Shirley McCalley, Genevieve Cook, Margaret Thomas, Dorothy Hadn, Virginia Hill, Barbara Drewry, Winnie Harrell, Nora McGuire, Nancy Dupuy, Polly Hughes, Mary Martha Peery, Marjorie Garrison, Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, Buff Gunter, Kitty Parrish, Anne Williams, Elizabeth Townsend, Marian Worsham, Nancy Pierpont, Margie Rice, Mary Lou Shannon, Carroll Costello, Mary Keith Bingham, and Sydney Bradshaw.

Danville claimed Anne Covington, Catherine Gosney, Virginia Howell, Mary Wilson, and Carmen Boothe, while Frances Ellett, Ora Earnest, Jane Engleby and Nancy Naff went to Roanoke. To ever-popular Lynchburg went Bobbie Taylor, Jean Martin, Nancy and Imogen Hutter, Agnes Pierce, Marie Lueckert, Mary and Catherine Rucker, and Evelyn Reveley.

Nieties of life: The more fortunate "town girls" attending the Kappa Sigma Dances at Hampden-Sydney were Louise McCorkle, Helen Hardy, Winifred Wright, Sara Hardy, and Jane Lee Hutcheson.

Still many others journeyed home for the week-end, or visited friends or room-mates.

It gave us a good feeling to see so many girls staying here to keep things from becoming dead, and we certainly hate seeing the approach of next week-end when not girl one will be left here!

Colonnade Staff

Continued from Page 1

shall be accepted for publication. The editor of the Colonnade shall judge whether the material handed in is acceptable for publication. Members of the board shall meet to discuss different types of writing used in other magazines.

Margaret Wright, junior, will head the Board of Contributors.

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop

"From old to new with any shoes"

Only First Class Material Used All Work Guaranteed

NYLON HOSE

98c and $1.19

ROSE'S

5c—10c—25c Store

On the Corner

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.

Visit us for the

BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

GRAY'S DRUG STORE

PURE DRUGS MEDICINES

Perfumes—Toilet Articles

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Quality—Price—Service

AMERICA'S FAVORITE

SHIP 'N' SHORE Sanforized Shrunk

BROADCLOTH SHIRT

$1.19

As advertised in LIFE and MADEMOISELLE

Here is the kind of smartness in which Americans specialize . . . crisp, clean-cut, beautifully tailored. This shirt has long sleeves so you will feel well dressed when you take off your jacket. It's your perfect choice for skirts, suits, slacks, shorts and jumpers. (Fabric shrinkage not more than 1%.)

· Ocean pearl buttons · Hi-low collar · Vat dyed ivory washable colors . . . white, ivory, blue, dusty pink, beige, maize, aqua. Sizes 32 to 40

BALDWIN'S

QUALITY · PRICE · SERVICE STORE

Nancy Pierpont, who will lead the Cotillion Club figure at the formal spring dance Saturday night, April 19.

TO AMUSE OURSELVES

Delicious, Suh!

The members of Gamma Theta sorority were entertained at a spaghetti supper at Longwood on Thursday, April 3. Miggie Mish and Mary Katherine Dodson were the chief chefs.

Pretty Special

The Pi Kappa Sigmas gave their annual spring banquet at Longwod Saturday night, April 5 at 6 o'clock. The guests included the active and pledge members and Miss Olive T. Iler, sorority adviser.

These Envied Graduates

Seen in Sunday's Richmond Times-Dispatch:

Jeffries-Miles

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Jeffries of Culpeper announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Helen, to Hugh Smith Miles, Jr., of Blacksburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Miles of Suffolk.

Miss Jeffries is a graduate of Farmville State Teachers College and is a member of Gamma Theta sorority. Mr. Miles is a graduate of V. P. I., where he is a member of the German Club.

The wedding will take place in the early summer.

Weddings and Engagements

Tillar-Pope

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Person Pope of Drewryville announce the engagement of their daughter, Frances Bland, to Dr. Vernon Tillar of Emporia. The wedding will take place in April.

Frances was graduated from S. T. C. last year. She is a member of Alpha Sigma Tau.

Smith-McDowell

Miss Perrye Eoline Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Smith of Goldsboro, N. C., was married to Edward McDowell of New Orleans, La., at the home of her parents on Saturday morning, March 29. Mr. and Mrs. McDowell will make their home in New Orleans.

Perrye was graduated from Farmville S. T. C. last year. She is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority on this campus.

Education Group Has Regional Meet Here

Second in the series of Education Meetings of this region was held here March 26 when representatives from sixteen counties and three cities convened. Delegates included teachers, principals, superintendents, supervisors, and lay people. Superintendent R. L. Lacy, Fairfax, is Regional Chairman of the group.

Dr. George S. Oliver, Director of Instruction in the State Department of Education, gave a brief report of the work done since the last meeting. The group then divided for continued discussion on the problems begun in February.

Dean Davis of Lynchburg College gave the final talk of the convention. The final meeting of this region will be held May 16.

Hop Says—

Look nice for EASTER!

Have your Spring Clothes cleaned for Easter and your Evening Dresses and Wraps cleaned for Spring Cotillion.

Deluxe Cleaners

PHONE 77

Original Membership 42

Cotillion Clubbers Say "On With The Dance"

Organized In 1909

In "The Virginian" for 1909, listed among the Glee Club, German and French Clubs, Night Hawks, "The Daisies" whose motto is "Daisies won't tell", and the Tom O'Shanter, is the Cotillion Club. In that year when, in the record of a lost Senior test, "why did you come to the Normal?" was answered by "I came to train my appetite to eat anything from raw beef to red pepper and to be able to thrive on a diet of straw and nails", and "what benefit have you derived from your stay here?" found a response in "I have gained seven pounds each year of my stay".

Even in that year, the social life here at the Normal hit a new high, for in 1909 the Cotillion Club saw its birth. P. S. (Impossible!)

Although the number of members starting from the original forty-two has been somewhat altered, its purpose has ever remained the same. Now there are about two hundred and fifty clubbers who consider social enjoyment a vital part of their school life, for the club sponsors two delightful dances every year which are otherwise known as Spring and Fall Cotillion.

At first the purpose of the club was taken too seriously, and from rumors here and there we were led to believe reports wholly unworthy of S. T. C., soon corrected, though, by the President of the college appointing Mr. Mac to remedy the existing state affairs. The club has experienced a steadfast rise in popularity and a wholesome growth in its fun; and so it was a well-controlled, wisely-managed group that Mr. Mac, because of his many duties, after many years of sponsorship, entrusted to Mr. Coyner, the present advisor.

From small numbers to larger number with a prevading increase in the quality of standards and amusement—the Cotillion Club! On With the Dance!

Library

Continued from Page 1

though she is now married and has two sons, she is one of the most outstanding women in Virginia. For two years she was president of the Richmond Chapter of the Farmville Alumnae. As a member of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, she has been the state historian of the Virginia Division for three years, president of the Stonewall Jackson Chapter for five years, and has served for four years as state chairman of the U. D. C.'s, working to advance the name of Sidney Lanier for the Hall of Fame.

Mrs. Starke says that most of all she rates her honorary membership in Alpha Kappa Gamma, national leadership fraternity here at S. T. C. This membership was bestowed on her in March 1939.

1941 Graduates

Continued from Page 1

came its president this year. She was president of Alpha Phi Sigma her junior year. As a member of the college choir, she has been outstanding in the musical groups. She also represented her class on the Student Council.

They hold membership in Alpha Phi Sigma, Kappa Delta Pi, and Alpha Kappa Gamma. Also Caralie and Jean are represented in "Who's Who Among College Students in America".

COLLEGE SHOPPE

Delicious Hamburger Special 25c

Consisting of Hamburger, Fruit Salad, French Fried Potatoes Coffee tea or milk

WILLIS, the Florist

Flowers for All Occasions

PHONES 181—273

Evening Dresses—Mousseline de Soie—net—organza. Evening sandals in gold and silver. Carole King, Jr., Dresses in solids and prints—$3.97 to $10.97.

DOROTHY MAY STORE

The College Headquarters

SPECIAL

Oxford and Loafer

SALE

$3.95 Jolene Values—White, Brown and White, Beige, Black and White. Moccasins and saddle styles.

AAA TO C WIDTH

$2.95

The Hub Dept. Store

Charge it if you like

• Sports Slants •

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

Have you seen the bulletin board lately? Well, the next time you pass just pause and locate the "class volley ball schedule." Each hall in school has a representative captain chosen, and games are to be played off between now and April 23. This is a dandy way to get each and everyone in real "trim" for the volley ball class games, so don't say you haven't had a chance to play, for all will have the opportuntiy of putting in exercise as well as fun. The class teams will be made up of girls who have ability and at least eight practices to their credit—so start now and play your best!

As warmer days come, one's thought turns to . . . well, outside sports, of course! Just think how nice it is to relax and be carefree in the outside air. We find tennis a very popular sport in a few weeks as the old courts will be fixed and waiting for activity. And too, there are special lessons in golf being given to all who desire to learn and build up their game. The place to play is Longwood—the time to play is any afternoon. New balls have been ordered and all equipment is available at Longwood.

As a Duck Takes To Water So—

"Learn to swim!" The girls have really made this their motto according to the number who have signed up on the class rolls; in fact so many have signed for the beginners' classes on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday afternoons that a new arrangement has been worked out. Each class lasts one-half hour, and four classes are held from 3:30 to 5:30. Since every freshman is required to pass a beginners' test, it is expected that the classes will continue to be large. A beginners' skill sheet is placed on the bulletin board along with a pool schedule to show what has to be passed in the class. Are you a swimmer? Every college student should know how to swim; and if you can manage fairly well in the water, you should accept the opportunity of working for the Senior Life Saving certificate. Every Monday afternoon from 3:30 to 5 a class is scheduled in Life Saving. Peggy Hughes is acting instructor for the course for which about twelve girls have already signed. The only requirement needed to enter the class is to be able to pass a preliminary test and be at least seventeen years old. A course of this type will come in handy to any girl interested in camping experience this summer; in fact the majority of counselors in the majority of camps are required to be well equipped with water safety knowledge —the the chance while it's here!

Horses! Horses!

The spring riding schedule has been made out; and the weather this quarter will be "fair and good", we hope. Let's see no "spring fever" with any of the riders, for there is hardly any sport which can surpass a good horseback ride! Miss Fox is very pleased with the advancement of riders since the fall quarter; and so if a continued effort is made—well, we'll have some real riders at the end of the term.

Plans are being made for a spring horse show which will display every point of horsemanship which can possibly be put in. Work outs in the ring have begun in order to have every person as well as horses in "shape". How 'bout a nice long ride for just pure enjoyment! Come on out to the stables, mount a horse, and hit the trail! And if you have just decided to ride . . . make all arrangements in the riding club room near the "Rec". The A. A. has planned a project which will help girls with some of the finances . . . so don't delay in starting at the beginning of the quarter. "The early bird catches the worm". "The early rider gets a fresh horse!"

Peggy Hughes Is New H20 Club President

Peggy Hughes was elected president and Nancy Dupuy was chosen secretary-treasurer for the year 1941-42 at the meeting of the H2O Club, Thursday night, April 4.

At this same meeting six new girls were initiated into the club. Ruth Dugger, Mildred Droste, Dorothy Darracott, Grace Ellerton, Dorothy Gaul, and Shirley Pierce played tag, blind-folded, did queer dives, and other water tricks as the first part of their initiation. The second qualification for their induction into membership was to prove their true ability by swimming and diving in good form.

Halls Organize Teams And Elect Officers

Much enthusiasm has been shown this year concerning volley ball. Even though points toward the Color Cup will be given the winning colors, the various halls have organized teams as well as the classes.

The Hall Captains are Crews Borden, third floor Senior Building; Marjorie Gooden, second and first floors Senior Building; Peggy Hughes, third floor Junior Building; Mary K. Dodson, second floor Junior Building; Betsy Austin, first floor Junior Building; Anne Moore, Student; Ellen Ebel, third and second floor Annex; Anne Ellett, third and first floor Annex; Jean Carr, second floor White House; Mildred Droste, third floor White House; Betty Sexton, second floor Main; Anne Price, third floor Main; Mary F. Bowles, Gym Hall; and Sarah Carbonell, Library.

Spring Cotillion

Continued from Page 1

Boo Barham, Ruth Lea Purdum, Marion Worsham, Virginia Howell, Ruth Winstead, and Jean Moyer.

In the receiving line will be Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Coyner, and the officers of the organization.

Each old girl may invite one girl from outside of school and a date.

Refreshments will be served in the Student Lounge at Intermission. The various sororities will entertain in their respective chapter rooms.

The tortures of Goat Week will begin on Monday, April 21, and will continue through Wednesday, April 23.

CAMPUS CUTS

BY PIERCE

ALL EXCITED? You know that we are 'cause a'l busses, trains, or wagons leaving Farmville going North, South, East, or West tomorrow 'bout eleven will be filled with S. T. C. campus kids.

ANNEX "glamour girls" defeated Student "gangbusters" in one of the first of the series of volley ball games to be played among the various halls. Such team play and cooperation!

WE WONDER whether some mamas and papas will claim their red-faced 'brown as they call themselves' root bathers when they arrive at their respective domiciles?? Oh, how that first coat does hurt—it's more than skin deep!!

A LIFE SAVER? Well, why not be?? just join the group in the pool on Monday afternoons and let P. Hughes show you how. Maybe a summer camp will be needing you this summer. Who knows?

PING PONG tournaments have terminated after some fine playing in the final matches. Don't delay in dropping by the "rec" at your convenience and batting a few balls. Incidentally, if you need some lessons, notify McIlwaine or Dugger. They really know how to do it.

OUT 'TIL 7:30 on a nice walk. Yes, the days are so purty, and that evening sun stays up in the sky until late now. You can exercise and enjoy a bit of fresh air after dinner each evening if you care to walk.

TENNIS LESSONS will be under the instruction of Helen McIlwaine on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4 o'clock at the tennis courts. You know the weather will be perfect for tennis games after the Easter holidays, so if you are interested in learning how "to hit the ball". . .

Juniors and Seniors Clash In Volleyball

Monday night, April 7, second floor Junior Building defeated third floor Senior Building, 19-12 and 24-14, in the first volleyball games of the season. The line-up included thirteen juniors and twelve seniors.

The juniors who played were Mary Katherine Dodson, captain, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Harriet Scott, Gene Hardy Kilmon, Nell Hurt, Elizabeth Gunter, Lucy Turnbull, Catherine Radspinner, Frances Rosebro, Nancy Dupuy, Anne Ayers, Martha Roberts, and Jean Hall.

Third floor Senior Building members included Crews Borden, captain, Josa Carlton, Virginia Richards, Margaretta Gerlauch, Carol Averitt, Anna Johnson, Emily Haskins, Florence Lee, Elva Kibler, Jennie Noel, Mary Sue Edmondson, and Evelyn Krenning.

Attention Golfers!

Agnes Patterson, golf manager, announced this week that golf lessons will begin Wednesday, April 9, at Longwood.

Orchesis Bids Six And Apprentices Six

Orchesis, the modern dance society, has issued invitations to twelve girls on the campus. The new members are Sara Currie, Helen Wiley Hardy, Ellen Ebel, Alice Seebert, Hallie Hillsman and Sally Hutcheson.

The apprentices are Ruth Dugger, Grace Ellerton, Lulie Jones, Shirley Pierce, Gloria Pollard, and Louise McCorkle.

In order to become a member of Orchesis, one must have made achievements in the modern dance class and must prove her interest for the art of dance.

Shannon's

WISHES YOU A

VERY HAPPY EASTER

Easter Greetings to all S. T. C. Students NEWBERRY'S 5c—10c—25c Store

S. A. Legus, Tailor

Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing

We call for and deliver

All Work Guaranteed

Phone 203

Visit the . . . A & N FOR ALL Athletic Equipment Come in and see our Tennis Equipment And other sport wear

April Special—Rytex-Cross Patch Printed Stationery

200 single sheets, 100 envelopes or 100 double sheets, 100 envelopes, including printing on sheets and envelopes—$1

MARTIN THE JEWELER

BUTCHER'S

The convenient store for faculty and student body.

Good things to eat and drink

Try Our Saturday Special

- ANY 10c DRINK PLUS
- ANY 10c SANDWICH, PLUS PIE A LA MODE

All for 25c

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Vanity Beauty Shoppe

Phone 360

Soft Natural Permanents

Expert Hair Shaping

APRIL SPECIAL

Permanent Waves

$5.00 for $3.50

$3.50 for $2.50

WEYANOKE BEAUTY SALON

Phone 331

Come to see us FOR A complete Line OF SANDWICH SPREADS, PKG. CHEES AND JAR CHEESE

The Economy Food Store

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

KLEANWELL Cleaners & Tailors

Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling

Main St. Opposite P. O.

Phone 98

Under the management of

"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Patronize Patterson Drug Co.

—AT—

Money Saving Prices

—FOR—

Drugs and Toiletries

Expert Prescription Service

Clean Fountain

Featuring Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream

238 MAIN STREET

Planters Bank & Trust Company

Farmville, Virginia

Member: Federal Reserve System

Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

HAPPY EASTER TO ALL

DAVIDSON'S

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Careful Management Courteous Service

Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Editorial Comment
"Every Little Helps"

The Rotunda

Schedule the Dramatic Club Plays This Week-End

VOLUME XX | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY APRIL 23, 1941 | NO. 25

Farmville Debaters Capture Grand Eastern Forensic Titles

Shown above are the Farmville debaters who captured titles in the Grand Eastern Tournament held at Winthrop College Rock-hill, S. C. Left to right, Thelma Courtney, Marie Allen, Frances Keck, and Elizabeth Ann Parker. These girls won first place in after dinner speaking, in the response to the occasion contest, and in extemporaneous speaking.

Grand Eastern titles were captured by Elizabeth Ann Parker, Frances Keck, and Thelma Courtney, who with Marie Allen represented Farmville at the Grand Eastern Forensic Tournament at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, South Carolina, April 10, 11, and 12. The group was accompanied by Dr. James Elliot Walmsley, faculty advisor of Pi Kappa Delta.

In the tourney were contestants from fifty-seven colleges and universities from all over the country, brought together by the spirit of competition in such contests as debating (orthodox and direct clash), radio announcing, oratory, after dinner speaking extemporaneous speaking, impromptu skeaing, and other forensic activities.

Parker Wins

Elizabeth Ann, Portsmouth, an old hand in the arts of public speaking having represented Farmville on numerous occasion, talked her way to first place in the women's division of extemporaneous speaking and with her colleague, Frances Keck, placed in the upper half of Women's debating, orthodox style. The final results of the debating contests have not been compiled to date.

Elizabeth Ann has seen active duty in debating for three years, is vice president of the debate club and a member of Pi Kappa Delta, to which she was bid as a freshman. She attended the Dixie Tourney at Winthrop in the fall and with her colleague, Frances, was undefeated at the tourney held at Shippensburg, Pennsylvannia in February, where the Oregon style of debating was offered.

Keck Triumphs

Frances, trying her abilities for the first time in a "Response to the occasion" contest went straight through the finals to the title of Grand Eastern Champion of Women's division. Representing Farmville in the "Best Debater's Contest" she placed second only to Northwestern.

Frances, too, has been on numerous debate conventions, formerly as a representative for conventions, at one time a representative for Averett Junior College from which she transferred last year, and since as a representative of Farmville. She is treasurer of the Debate Club and of Pi Kappa Delta.

Courtney Vies

Thelma, a senior from Winchester, artfully applied her wit and successfully outwitted other contestants for the title of Grand Eastern After Dinner Speaker, Women's division. She and her colleague Marie, too, placed in the upper half of the debating group. The two were undefeated as a team in Alabama at the Pi Kappa Delta Provincil tournament earlier in April.

Thelma has been a member of the Debate Club for two years and is vice president of Pi Kappa Delta. Marie, also a senior, from Whitegate, is president of Pi Kappa Delta and counselor for the Debate Club. Her record as a debater dates back to her freshman year at which time she was recognized by Pi Kappa Delta, and her outstanding record this year as a team with Thelma is mentioned above.

Debate Season Ends

The Grand Eastern Tournament is an annual event at Winthrop, well renowned, and looked forward to by many each year as the climaxing event of the Forensic season.

"Who's Who" Slated To Appear 2nd. Week In May

Promises to Contain Information Not Available Otherwise

The seventh edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES will be released the second week in May. Heretofore, the book has been released from the press during the month of April. This year the publishers have been making up separate sections of the book for various companies and it will be delayed a few days.

The following are experts from a letter which The Rotunda received from H. Pettus Randall, editor of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges".

The motivating idea behind the project is to establish a reference volume of authoritative information on the great body of American College Students. Extra-curricular activities are equally important as an index to a student's ability and we have put much emphasis of selection on that phase of college life and not on scholarship alone.

"Annually we publish a compilation of biographies of outstanding students in America. Only juniors and seniors and students who are taking advanced

Continued on Page 3

Boutchard Named Junior Class Head

Read, Ware Claim Government Jobs

Betty Boutchard, of Newport News, was unanimously elected president of the junior class of next year at the meeting of the sophomore class Tuesday night, April 15. She will succeed Betsy Jennings. Betty has served on the student government for the past two years.

Betty Youngberg, of Richmond will succeed Fiddle Haymes as vice-president; Agnes Patterson, of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, and Charlotte Phillips, of Melfa, were elected secretary and treasurer respectively.

Amy Read, of Newport News, and Anne Ware, of Beckley, West Virginia, were elected to represent the Junior class on the student government. Frances Parham, of Petersburg was elected to serve with Rosalie Rogers on the Student Standards committee. Each of these girls has been active on the campus during her two years at S. T. C.

Wright Triumphs In Dramatic Club Election For Head

Minor Officers Also Selected; Fifty-five Given Membership

Margaret Wright, of Richmond, was elected president of the Dramatic Club for the coming year at their meeting Thursday, April 17.

Margaret has been an active member of the Dramatic Club for three years, having been secretary her sophomore year. She is also a member of the Rotunda staff, chairman of the Colonnade Board of Contributors, member of A. C. E., and is newly elected secretary of Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Elsie Stossil was elected vice-president, Betty Youngberg, secretary, and Lillian German, was reelected treasurer. Mary Harvie was chosen assistant Business Manager; Ella Banks Weathers, chairman of the play contest; Mary Lou Shannon, chairman of the make-up group; Gene Hardy Kilmon, costumes; Margaret Mish, lighting; Lucy Davis, staging; Louise Phillips, properties; Jane McGinnis, acting. Catherine Bodine will be music chairman. Miriam Hanvey, scrap book chairman, Mary Parrish Vicellio, chairman of publicity, Lillian Wahab, social chairman. Elizabeth Ann Parker, parlimentarian, and Winifred Wright, head of the poster committee.

Alice Leigh Barham, outgoing president, made an introductory talk giving the purpose of the Dramatic Club.

After the election of officers, fifty-five apprentices were initiated into the Dramatic Club at an impresive candlelight service. Miss Wheeler concluded the program with a presentation of the plans for the play contest.

Eight Sororities Pledge 30 Girls

Thirty girls were pledged to the eight sororities on the campus last week. Rushing began on Wednesday, April 16th, and continued through Friday, April 18th.

The girls accepting bids were Joselyn Gilliam and Baylis Koontz, Alpha Sigma Alpha; Beth Johnson, Frances Powell, Katherine E. Price, Mary Lee Pittard, and Rebecca Spicer, Alpha Sigma Tau; Sarah Jeffries, Margie Rice, Jane Scott, and Ella Banks Weathers, Gamma Theta; Ann Fitchette, Mu Omega; Lenore Bishop, Geneva Brogan, Phyliss Morring, and Ada C. Nuchols, Phi Zeta Sigma; Margaret Bowling, Frieda Dekker, Dorothy Gaul, Ann Pulley, and Elsie Smith, Pi Kappa Sigma; Mary Hunter Edmunds, Ellen Ebel, Martha Smith, and Shirley Turner, Sigma Sigma Sigma; and Constance Arwood, Alice Belote, Mary Owen Carson, Blanche Waller, and Norma Lee West, Theta Sigma Upsilon.

This past rush season climaxes sorority rushing for this year. Each year three rush seasons are held, one during each quarter.

Alpha Kappa Gamma Elects Eason Head

Caroline Eason, of Richmond, newly elected vice-president of the student body, was elected president of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national leadership fraternity, Wednesday night, April 16.

Mary K. Dodson, of Norfolk, senior class president, was elected vice-president, Margaret Wright, from Richmond was chosen secretary, and Lucy Turnbull, also from Richmond, treasurer. Other A. K. G. officers elected were Sara Cline, editor of the Alumnae Magazine, and Dorothy Johnson, chairman of the annual circus.

Dramatic Club Head

MARGARET WRIGHT

1941-'42 Student Council Installed

Naff Appoints Minor Bodies

New members of the Student Council were installed Thursday night, April 17, in the large auditorium. Caralie Nelson, outgoing president gave a farewell address and turned over her office to the new president, Nancy Naff, who with a brief introductory statement, installed the members of the Student Council and the appointed minor officers.

Newly installed council members are Caroline Eason, vice-president of the Student Council, Agnes Patterson, secretary; Fiddle Haymes, treasurer; Jane Engleby, president of the House Council; Mary Evelyn Pearsall, chairman of Campus League; class representatives, Gene Hardy Kimon and Martha Cottrell, seniors; Amy Read and Ann Ware, juniors; Betty Bridgeforth and Hannah Lee Crawford, sophomores; Frances Rosebro, Y. W. C. A. president; and Dorothy Johnson, A. A. president.

Ella Marsh Pilkinton, editor of Handbook; Sue Dunlap, chairman of Student Day chapel; Nancy Dupuy, dining room hostess, Leona Moomaw, recreational hostess; Emma Louise Crowgey, chapel chairman; Aggie Mann, lost and found chairman; Ellen Royall, chairman of Student Standards, and Nell Hurt, fire chief were installed as affiliated bodies. These girls were appointed by Nancy; and, contrary to custom, were installed along with Student Council.

Dr. Jarman concluded the services with a brief talk and the new officers marched out to the strains of "Onward Farmville."

Student Government Conference Scheduled For Lynchburg in '42

The twenty-sixth Annual Conference of the Southern Intercollegiate Association of Student Governments met in New Orleans on April 10, 11, and 12 at Sophie Newcomb College. The purpose of this association is to give instruction concerning the wise operation and application of government by students. "Youth—American Style" was the theme of the conference.

S. T. C. was represented by Caralie Nelson and Nancy Naff, respective outgoing and incoming presidents of the Student Government on this campus.

The newly elected officers of the association are Eugenia Burnett, president; Jean Terrine, vice-president; Harriet Marshburn, secretary; Joan Walker treasurer; Cornelia Watson, graduate advisor.

The limelight will be focused upon Virginia next year, when the convention will be held at Lynchburg.

Dramatic Club Sponsors Contests April 24, 25, 26

High Schools Will Compete for Cups; Tickets Now on Sale

The Southside Virginia Dramatic Tournament will be held April 24, 25, 26, in the large auditorium. The purpose of the annual play contest is to create greater interest among high school boys and girls in dramatic work and to encourage schools to put on better types of plays.

Editorial Comment—page 2

Each year a cup is given every night for the best play. The schools winning the cups three times in succession are allowed to keep the cup. The cups last year were won by Vinton High School, Appomattox High School, and Farmville High School.

Schools Participating

Schools participating in the Thursday night contest are La Cross, Clarksville, Alberta, and Amherst. La Cross under the direction of Mrs. Alfred Butts, Jr. will present "High Heart." Miss Janeth Smith will direct the Clarksville play, "His First Love". "The Dummy" will be given by Amherst and will be directed by Miss Estelle Simpson. Alberta will present "Where The Cross is Made".

Friday's Contestants

Dillwyn, Charlotte Court House, Madison Heights, and Appomattox High Schools will be before the lights Friday night. They will present "Will-o-the-Wisp", "My Lady's Love", "His First Girl", and "The Sister's Tragedy" respectively. Directors for these plays are Miss Grace M. Rainey, Dillwyn; Miss Frances E. Jolle, Charlotte Court House; Miss Martha Davis, Madison Heights; and Miss Elaine McDermon, Appomattox.

Saturday's Footlighters

On Saturday night, "Riders to the Sea", "No, Not the Russians", "Escape by Moonlight" and "The Finger of God" will be given by Vinton, Amelia, Suffolk, and Farmville High schools, respectively. Miss Annie B. Stiff will direct "Riders To the Sea"; Miss Margaret Daughtry, "Escape By Moonlight"; and Mrs. Charles H. Davis, Jr., "The Finger of God"; and Miss Margaret Farrar, "No, Not the Russians".

Serving on the reception committee are Ella Banks Weathers, chairman, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Eleanor Folk, Elsie Stossel, Margaret Wright, Virginia Mae Ellet, Lilly Bee Gray and Mary Parrish Vicellio.

Dell Warren is in charge of staging; Mary Lou Shannon, make-up; Anna George, lighting; Harriet Haskins, properties and Lillian Wahab is chairman of the entire program.

Admission to the plays is thirty cents for the three nights or fifteen cents each night. Tickets may be bought at the table in the hall.

Crowgey Is Elected To Head A. C. E.

Emma Louise Crowgey, of Wytheville, was elected president of the Association of Childhood Education to succeed Faye Brandon on Monday night, April 7.

Sally Hutchinson will succeed Elizabeth Glascow as vice-president; Lillian Wahab will replace Frances Pritchett as secretary; Gene Hardy Kilmon will replace Dorothy Menefee as treasurer; and Luice Ellen Powell will succeed Peggy Stevens as chairman of the ways and means committee.

The new members of the organization were initiated at this meeting.

"Buck Privates" Foresee Philanderings As Oncoming Goat Week Gains Momentum

Just as sure as rat week, comes the capricious, awe-inspiring goat week when even the most sceptical of us becomes assured that we're all just animals at heart. This illustrious three days is rather the crisis in any goat's life, for then she has a chance to find the stuff she's made of and show it to her two hundred mistresses. Besides a pleasant acceptance of entreaties (that's putting it mild), fate and luck play a great part in any goat's life.

The most any good goat can do is to make herself as scarce as possible and—agreeably. The whole idea, though, is fun and should be thoroughly enjoyed by everybody.

For every day of goat week all Cotillion goats are required to do the following:

1. Wear around the head a yellow ribbon with Goat printed on it in green ink.
2. One green and one yellow cotton stocking.
3. Meet on the front campus at 12:30 each day.
4. Attend all meals in the dining room.
5. Address all old members as "Miss"——— with dignity.

Monday: Welcome Sweet Springtime.

1. Wear short, frilly dresses, typical of Spring, highheel evening sandals, hats with floral or vegetable ornaments, lots of makeup, carry a basket with which to gather wild flowers, and decorate the tables in the dining room.
2. Have an original, four-line, romantic poem to recite when requested.

Tuesday: Gay-Ninety Day

1. Dress typical of the gay nineties period, heavily powdered face, beauty spot, and model hats out of newspapers and straight pins—hats not to be worn in class or chapel.
2. Be able to sing a song popular at that time.
3. Be dainty, demure, and go into a swoon whenever embarrased.

Wednesday: World Politics Day

1. Dress to represent your impression of a notable character in world politics today.
2. Have a forceful speech to interpret the character.
3. Use typical make-up.

So whether you're Ida, sweet as apple cider, welcoming in springtime, or Lillian Russel's twin sister doing a swing version of "After the Ball Is Over" or even an antagonist of Hitler suggesting "This is absolutely my last territorial demand." Be the dictator's epitaph, "You all have a fair chance of being a good goat. Let goat week just goat to show them".

Seventh Dramatic Tournament

This week-end we welcome to our campus representatives from various high schools in Virginia. These come to us as contestants in the annual play tournament sponsored by the Dramatic Club.

This year marks the seventh year that the Farmville Dramatic Club has made possible such contests. Designed to foster dramatics in the high schools and to train students in the fundamentals of the play and its workings, the Dramatic Club Tournament will be of interest not only to competing high schools, but also to the members of the student body and outsiders.

Possibly the group has failed in arousing the interest of the entire student body by staging a few poor productions. But it does not claim to be perfect; however, it does claim that all the plays are interesting and that everyone of them is well worth the price of admission.

"Every Little Helps"

Every year about this time our thoughts and fancies turn to reflections about the grass. The advent of spring means a greater exodus for us into the wide, open spaces, and coupled with this is, naturally, the grass question.

Spring is crucial, in that if we want grass to adorn our campus the rest of the year, we must begin now to attain that desire. We can have grass planted, but to what advantage if the tramp, tramp, tramp of marching feet continues.

Once there was a man named Little, who had a large family. A neighbor inquired how he managed to provide for such. He replied, "Every Little helps." So it is with our action toward the grass. We can curb this habit of cutting corners from walk to walk by sacrificing a few steps. Remember—"Every little helps."

Observation

Last fall we signed pledges to the World Student Service Fund aggregating $616.60. To date $366.36 has been collected, leaving $250.24 to be paid.

Possibly these pledges have been neglected, but the fact remains that they have not been paid. The Y. W. C. A. notified the national chairman of the World Student Service Fund our intention of providing a fund for the needy students all over the world. We cannot fail now.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 23, 1941

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934.

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

STAFF

Sara Cline — Editor-in-Chief
Mary Lilly Purdum — Managing Editor
Texie Belle Felts — Business Manager

Associate Editors

Ella Banks Weathers — News Editor
Mary Parrish Viccellio — Feature Editor
Anne Cock — Sports Editor
Jane Sanford — Social Editor

Reporters

Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Faye Nimmo, Charlotte Phillips, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Sprinkle, Sara Tring, Margaret Wright, Lilly Beck Gray, Miriam Jester, Bridget Gentile

Assistant Business Managers

Elva Andrews — Circulation Manager
Mary Keith Bingham — Advertising
Helen DeLong — Advertising

Business Assistants

Mary St. Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Ellen Hudgins.

Typists

Chief Typist ..... Thelma Courtney
Typists—Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Dorothy Gaul

Gleanings

By MARTHA WHELCHEL

(Guest Columnist)

The extreme group movements in the United States today, such as the America First Committee and the Fight for Freedom Committee, represent all too clearly the uncertainty and flux of the American mind. Most pupils are clear only on a few points.

(1) they do not believe the dictators' methods or ends are right

(2) they do not want to go to war

Passed these fundamental points, they are content to adopt the drifting attitude, or rather, "let the government decide."

However, even the brainiest American thinkers are widely diversed in their leadership. For instance, our own Senator Glass is sponsoring a "beat-hitler-or-die" movement. While the honorable Senators Wheeler and LaFollette are saying "let's keep out of other people's quarrels, and spend more time strengthening our own defenses." George Washington gave us that advice about 150 years ago. President Roosevelt seems to lean towards the Glass view although he (the President) leaves as much as possible unsaid. He knows the American people do not want war.

We say we stand for peace—but yet, we find that in doing so we play straight into the hands of subversive foreign agents who try to talk us into being pacifists. They call it building American Cowards. Recognition of such schemes infuriates us and before we know it, we are militaristically headed for the other extreme. Newspapers, radios, magazines and politicians egg us on to "right those maniacs."

"We Are Only Human"

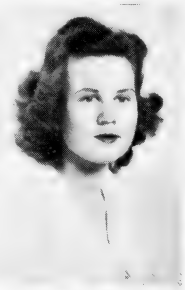
No wonder we are confused. After all, "we are only human." That last familiar phrase, I believe, strikes at the heart of the matter. With all our modern science, fathomless knowledge, and material wealth, something has gone "haywire." We lack a certain something essential to balance these new found powers.

Germany has found her answer in Discipline of the State. The individual, being too human, needs to be told what to do and how to do it. The State tells him now. The State becomes the glorified Santa Claus. Military victories feed the illusion. The illusion blanks truth and takes the place of the essential and real spirit.

Russia has created a synthetic equilibrium, too. Blaming the bad milk on the cream, she has skimmed the milk. What is left her boss keeps constantly stirred with a silver knife. The people, so busy with the churning, have no time to worry about the unbalanced scales of Truth and Righteousness.

Breezes For the Brow!

In our own country the rich man is the dream-god. We hustle our life away trying to make more money, or trying to be a success. Waxing poetical at times, we talk about making the world safe for democracy or freedom. In reality these are only consoling breezes to fan our fevered brow.



And so it seems true with nearly every country of the world today. Each one has created its own cheap substitute. Because we avoid truth and because we lack self-discipline, we are "easy money" for any sort of fix-it-all.

But what happens when people grow tired of being given the "churning" and "cheer the boys on" hypodermics? I am afraid we will be in for a terrific relapse.

Until the people of this planet can bring their spiritual reserve up to the capacity of their august mental and material power, they will never find peace. Either that must happen or the mental and moral power will retrogress (as it is doing now) until it reaches a near-level with our present-day spiritual development.

Even if we do not live by truth, Truth will live over and pass us. Until we are willing to face this fact, we will be hopelessly floundering around like the proverbial "bull in the china shop."

Senior Personality

JEAN MOYER

Out Going President of Y. W. C. A.

A slight wrinkle of the fore head, a characteristic gesture of the hands, an intent expression on her face, an earnest voice—these remind us of Jean speaking in Prayers or presiding as president of the Young Women's Christian Association.

As to harmony in the College Choir, gay tunes in Sing, classical melodies at Dramatic Club plays, violin notes in the College Orchestra, hymns in Chapel—these remind us of Jean as a talented musician.

A's in a record book, dean's lists, "excellent" written on test papers—these remind us of Jean, our salutatorian.

A giggle, a crazy mood, a big noise in Six Annex—these tell us of Jean "just being silly" as she would say.

Jean Moyer, of Portsmouth, because of an amazing capacity for work, leadership, and great versatility has made a contribution to S. T. C. that will be remembered long after June 3. In spite of looking about twelve years of age, Jean has won honor for the school as well as for herself.

Jean says what she thinks, in a way that every one admires even if they can't agree with her. One of the few times Jean worries is when she feels she has hurt someone else, which of course she really hasn't; for Jean's lovable nature makes friends for keeps.

Jean's faith in God by which she lives each day, and honest, straight forward Christian character have made us all finer for having known her. Considerate, genuinely sincere, and loyal with a lovable sense of humor, she is and will be our friend.

Platter Chatter

By JEANNE SEARS

The voice of Frank Sinatra has become one of the prime assets on the credit side of the T. Dorsey ledger. It even boasts a fan club all its own. Mr. D. has been using this asset more and more of late and now releases a tune "Everything Happens to Me" which will probably become the fan club's theme. It's delovely and so is the reverse with a quick change of mood by the Pied Piper on "Watcha Know, Joe?"

Now back to Dinah Shore who has definitely done herself justice on two new different and sensational discs. Namely we have "My Man" and "Somebody Loves Me" then "Number Ten Lullaby Lane" and "For All Times". The songs—not so new, except the last one from the Princeton Triangle Club Show—but Dinah! Her arrangements are priceless and it gives her a real opportunity to display her virtuosity.

Then Joe Reichman sagely couples on up a coming new "pop" tune, "The Wise Old Owl", with a much requested piano novelty, "Toy Piano Minuet" for an effective rhythmic contrast. The tunes are taken at breakneck pace skipping lightly from solo piano to ensemble of brass and clarinets for a performance of intricate notation.

Wayne King offers a pair of new foxtrots, "We Could Make Such Beautiful Music" and "These Things You Left Me" with the colorful orchestrations and suave stylings that identify his music.

On Second Thought

On Wings of Victory

The time for farmers and golfers to start their spring plowing has once more come 'round and both are fanning as if it were summer we just welcomed rather than spring. Anyhow ,it does us good to feel that our labors are bringing forth honest sweat and we haven't endured a winter for—no good Spring!

Effects of Easter

Roses are red
Violets are blue
And other flowers
Are other colors

On Borrowed Books

We hope you're not one of the ten best borrowers of books! It's funny how like magnets they seem when once they find their way to your room. Our suggested bookplate is: "they borrow books; they will not buy; they have no ethics nor religion. I wish some kind Burbankian guy would cross my books with homing pigeons."

Ceiling Zero

In scanning the roofs, we're amazed at the number of feet and accented syllables we find. An afternoon spent in the sun is a tan gained! Could this account for the frequent underwater—below "c" level grades we've been getting? Ask the man who owns one.

Daffy Differences

The difference between the optimist and the pessimist: The optimist says his glass is half full; the pessimist says his is half empty. (A lover of beverage anyway you put it.)

Distinguishing Differences

From a reliable source I have it that B. Reid is not color blind. She can tell white from white. Ask Gloria Pollard if her writing class met last Saturday morning—she was 'write' sure it was to meet and that accounts for her staying up so late to get 'Locker' done.

Home Runs

Natalie Carroll and D. S. Simmons had no sooner gotten back to school after Easters when they were raided by the Germans—and both went home to have 'em out. There is a certain consolation in disease after all—even though it be measley.

Safety In Numbers

Spring does such funny things to people! Forgetful of the fact that glass windows do not a blackout make the too interesting Romeos and Juliets heed not those onlookers who have not such interesting things to do as to do when in public. Speaking of weaknesses or potentialities as the case may be we're reminded of these lines by Kipling: "And a woman is always a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke."

Watch Your Breaks!

Quite conveniently, Ebo waited till after the dance Saturday to catch the measles which eventually gets us all, it seems. Allene is one of the latest victims. Down with the Germans!

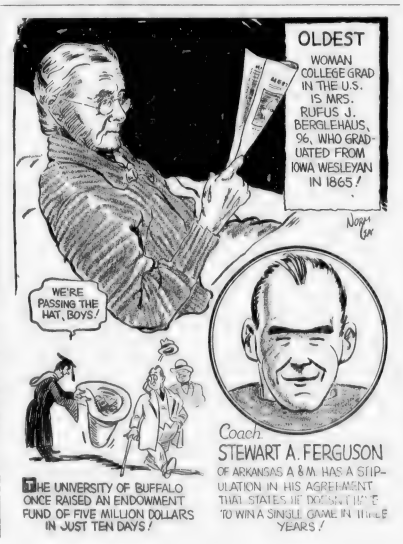
For Whom Their Hearts Beat

Not bad! Not bad at all! Of course we're referring to Nancy Pierpont and Agnes Patterson's latest additions of meaningful jewelry. Pierpont is sporting Walter Spirye's frat pin while A. P. chalked up a miniature from Stuart Johnson.

And So Went the Bride

More excitement when Ora Mayo told of her marriage to Jack Summers three years a law student at Virginia! A Buick convertible makes the story "automotive" interesting we're thinking.

Here Today; Gone Tomorrow (?)



Kitty Price gave Bumpsie's Judge quite a take-off at the dance Saturday. Once her seductive powers proved effective. Bumpsie sensed an uneasiness. Again Kitty turned her charm on, but aha! caught at her own trick! Curses!—and for the rest of the evening at any rate Kitty was apparently harmless. Ella Marsh was feeling rather possessive Saturday, too, we hear. Requests for additional material concerning this subject should be addressed to Margaret Bowling. Lee Tait was another of the victims who survived.

Cinderella Sat One Out

Oh yes! She went to Richmond. Saturday night she wasn't home because there was a dance, and Sunday afternoon there was a young gentleman from Pennsylvania and that's all we're able to find out. Her name? Lulie Jones.

Fer Shame! Fer Shame!

In good old Prince Edward slang, we weren't real partial to the young Hampden-Sydney men who crashed the dances carrying containers with oysters (???) or to those people who played far into the night Friday. A fair warning to the goats that ditched Cotillion!

• Sports Slants •

By LILLY BEC GRAY

"Let no one say
And to your shame
That all was beauty here
Until you came."

Well—well—the time is here again, and Spring (tra la la) clothes all in a wondrous beauty. And a most important feature of our truly lovely campus is our wondrous green grass. However, it cannot maintain its loveliness for long, if you go swishing across the lawn, disregarding the small, important herbs.

A subject of never-failing interest to college girls is reducing!

Now—here is a real new success formula—walk around the grass instead of across, as this will be a greater distance—and just watch those troublesome, extra pounds walk right off, too!

A much-used sign is simply the urgent request—"PLEASE."

We do not think it will be necessary to put the sign on this campus, but remember, each blade of grass is shouting "PLEASE", as you lurk nearby.

Keep in mind: A straight line may be the shortest distance between two points, but grass is more valuable to the looks of our campus than getting to places on time. Anyway, if you start early enough you will get there on time, without grassy detours.

Lead On, Mooch

"On to the tennis court," is the popular cry, now that the old courts are ready for play, and the 'swanky' new ones are well under construction. Have you seen that tennis class work-out? Plenty of future champions in there we're sure. See Mooch if you want to learn how to swing out.

Speaking of champions—Congratulations to Mooch, the Ping Pong winner!—nice going green and white!

Strikers Invade Campus

"Strike two, ball two!"—you're right—baseball season is going strong, from the training school kids right on up to our own gym classes—just watch those girls—they really pitch a wicked ball!!

Go out and support your hall! These are the days when all volleyball players are really going to town—wonder which hall will win? We know it will be close with all those wonderful players.

Everyone is busy now working for May Day, which really promises to be the best ever—any day the old truck will start from the back porch, and barefoot maidens will gaily prance o'er Longwood's fair soil. Really work girls, and let's just make this the most beautiful May Day we've ever seen.

Spring Horse Show

The time is approaching, slowly but surely, for that great spring event the Horse Show—we cannot wait. With all those beautiful horses, and all those wonderful riders, who've already started practicing, this affair should really be worthwhile. There is nothing quite so refreshing as the air early on spring mornings. A green, woody bridle path, still wet with cool dew, and you on your horse—what could be more picturesque or enjoyable—so sign up now before that early morning riding schedule is full.

Swing High! Swing Low!

Where is that carload of happy, noisy, people headed?—oh—we see golf clubs—of course— the golf fiends and also beginners are at it again, and what beautiful weather! No wonder they look so happy!

Well, there is no excuse for getting spring fever these days—you just get right up and get busy at your favorite sport—

McIlwaine Wins Ping Pong Title

Green and White Cops 10 Cup Points

Helen McIlwaine defeated Ruth Dugger 21-19, 21-17 in the final set of the Ping Pong Tournament on Wednesday, April 9. This gives 10 points toward the Color Cup to green and white.

The following are the results of the matches played previously to the final set:

Third Set

Ruth Dugger and Anna Parker—Dugger winner; Shirley Pierce and Frances Parham—Pierce winner; Nell Hurt and Nancy Dupuy—Hurt winner; Helen McIlwaine and Anne Cock—McIlwaine winner.

Third Set

Ruth Dugger and Shirley Pierce—Dugger winner; Helen McIlwaine and Nell Hurt—McIlwaine winner.

Sophomore Halls Vie In Volleyball Games

Members of the second floor Annex team defeated Student Building's team in the first volleyball games of the season Monday night, April 7. The scores were 16-12 and 26-9.

The line-up for second floor Annex was Ellen Ebel, captain, Jane Scott, Imogene Claytor, Sarah Wade Owen, Jean Hatton, Nancye Allen, and Frances Parham.

Student Building had Anne Moore, captain, Lois Harrison, Kathryn Vaughan, Shirley Pierce, Lulie Jones, Jerry Smith, Joyce Stokes, Edna Brown, Miriam Jester, Nell Pritchett, Mary Parrish Viccellio, and Betty Reid as its players.

A. C. E. Sponsors Musical Program

Primary and elementary grades of the training school presented a musical program in the college auditorium Wednesday night, April 16, at 8 o'clock. The program was sponsored by American Childhood Education Association for the benefit of the British Relief program.

The program consisted of a group of selections by the children of the first through the fifth grades. The selections presented were band music by the first grade, directed by Irene Alderman; rhythms by the kindergarten; a group of favorite songs by the second grade; spring songs sung by the second and third grades; folk songs by the fourth and fifth grades, directed by Peggy Bellus; selected songs by the fourth grade, directed by Irene Alderman; and a short spring play entitled, "The Selfish Giant", by the third grade.

A silver offering was taken at the door.

Pictured above is Helen McIlwaine, winner of the ping pong tournament.

Dr. Walmsley Attends Va. Social Science Meeting in Richmond

Dr. James E. Walmsley, professor of history and social science, attended the annual meeting of the Virginia Social Science Association Friday and Saturday, April 18 and 19, in Richmond.

Social scientists from Virginia colleges and universities, from private institutions in the state, and from the state and federal governments, are included in the membership of the association. The president is Dr. George T. Starnes of the University of Virginia.

The theme for the meeting was "Impacts of the National Defense Program on Virginia." The program on Friday consisted of a panel discussion in the morning on "Financial Aspects of the National Defense Program", and one in the afternoon on "The Effects of the National Defense Program on Production and Consumption." Friday night at the subscription dinner, Dr. Starnes delivered his presidential address on "Meeting the Challenge of Industrialization in Virginia."

On Saturday, a department meeting in the early morning was followed by a business meeting at 9 o'clock. At the closing session "The Effects of the National Defense Program on Social Sciences in Virginia" was discussed.

Johnson Appoints 12 Members To Athletic Association Cabinet

Dorothy Johnson, newly elected president of the Athletic Association has announced the A. A. Council for the new year.

Hallie Hillsman will be manager of varsity hockey and Hester Chattin will have charge of general hockey. Frances Parham will be manager of varsity basketball. Nell Hurt will be general manager and Jean Carr freshman manager of basketball. Mary Katherine Zehmer will have charge of archery.

Ellen Ebel will be manager of volleyball. Ruth Dugger will have charge of varsity swimming and Dorothy Daracott will be general manager.

Shirley Turner will take over the recreational sports. Corida Chaplin will be manager of golf. Tennis, ping pong, and badminton managers will be appointed next fall.

Frosh Hall Suffers Defeat To Juniors

Second floor Junior Building was the winner over second floor Main in the best 2 out of 3 volley ball games on Friday night, April 18, in the gym. The scores were 27-10—second floor Main winner, 12-11 and 16-8—second floor Junior Building winner.

Those playing for second floor Junior Building were Mary Katherine Dodson, captain, Spilly Purdum, Nell Hurt, Sara Cline, Gene Hardy Kilmon, Jean Hall, Anne Ayers, Elizabeth Gunter, Martha Roberts, and Hester Chattin.

Those playing for second floor Main were Mildred Corvin, captain, Vivian Gwantley, Faye Nimmo, Tate Patterson, Frances Steffey, Virginia Hill, Dorothy Taylor, Mickey Lawrence, and Ruth Hillsman.

Riding Club Elects Spencer President

Kay Spencer, a junior from Gordonsville, was elected president of the riding club at a meeting of the club last week. The other officers elected were Lucy Call, vice-president; Alene Markland, secretary; and Buff Gunter, treasurer.

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

Upperclassmen's Test

Under the sponsorship of the American Council on Education, two of the long tests prepared by the Cooperative Testing Service will be given to all sophomores, juniors, and seniors from 7 until 9 o'clock Tuesday, April 29, in the large auditorium.

One test will be given to the sophomores and seniors. The juniors will participate in another.

"Who's Who"

Continued from Page 1

work are selected. Every phase of college activity in the college world is included in one section of the book. A poll of over fifty questions is included. There is information included which is not available in any other book printed. This is a book which is of value to the college library, to the business and social world, and to the students.

"For the last several years the complete volume has been sent to nearly 500 personnel managers of large companies to be used in recruiting students; however, this year, the students' biographies have been divided into the various departmental sections; for instance, a folder has been made up of Mechanical Engineers, another pamphlet of Aeronautical Engineers, one of Chemical Engineers and these folders are being sent to those companies who are interested in employing these types of students. If the results justify it, next year there will be a complete section of every student, classified under "Teachers", "Salesman," etc.

Students selected from this college for the forth-coming edition are Alice Leigh Barham, Faye Brandon, Yates Carr, Rosa Courter, Mary Katherine Dodson, Frances Ellett, Pat Gibson, Marion Heard, Jean Moyer, Dorothy Rollins, Boonie Stevenson, May Wertz, Elizabeth West, and Martha Whelchel.

Students selected last year who are still in school and whose biographies will be listed in a special section of the book are Caralie Nelson and Ruth Lea Purdum.

Have New Summer Dresses Made And Your Old Ones Altered!
Reasonable Prices
MRS G. N. GILLISPIE
Across from Davidson's

TRY OUR NEW DRINK
"Juicy Orange"
Shannon's
PHONE 224

NYLON HOSE
98c and $1.19
ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

A PERMANENT
—ON—
BALDWIN'S
New Wave
Machine
Lasts Twice as Long
Only $2.50
Call 159
FOR AN APPOINTMENT
BALDWIN'S
QUALITY PRICE SERVICE STORE
BEAUTY SHOP

Lovelace Electric
Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

GRAY'S
DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?
MΦI
MAD ΦOR IT
what you'll be when you have beautified your fingernails with
DURA-GLOSS Nail Polish
10¢ Everywhere
Send for complete booklet on nails: What to do about splitting nails; How to give yourself a Professional Manicure. Ask for—"Your Fingernails and their Care." Write—Manicure Dept., Lorr Laboratories, Paterson, New Jersey.

Evening Dresses—Evening Sandals in gold and silver—Play shoes in white and colors. New Carol King and Kay Dunhill dresses—$2.99—$6.50—$7.97.
DOROTHY MAY STORE
The College Headquarters

GRADUATION NEEDS!
Lovely Evening Dresses
$5.95 to $9.95
Whites and pastel colors
Evening Sandals
$1.95 to $2.95
The Hub Dept. Store
Charge accounts solicited

Catchy Congas and Faster Tempos Highlight Cotillion

Amid many frills and furbelows, the annual spring dance of the Cotillion Club was given an appropriate opening of spring social activities on this campus Saturday, April 19 in the gym. A tea dance was held in the afternoon from 3:30 o'clock until 5:30 o'clock, while the formal dance began at 8:30 o'clock that night and lasted until 12 o'clock.

The music, furnished by Enoch Light and his smooth playing orchestra, was surprisingly popular. His arrangements of "Amapolo" and "Intermezza" were especially favored and incorrigible rumba addicts and jitterbugs enjoyed his catchy congas and faster tempos.

A figure led by Nancy Pierpont and Walter Clement Sprye, of Hampden-Sydney College, and the other officers of the club and their escorts was the highlight of the evening. Those taking part in it were given attractive favors; and following the figure there was a no-break dance for the members and their dates.

In the receiving line were Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary W. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Coyner, and the officers of the club, Boonie Stevenson, Louise Painter, and Nancy Pierpont.

The decorations centered around a Mexican theme, and the walls of the gym were turned into typical Mexican scenes with Mexican figures. A miniature Mexican hut in the far left of the gym highlighted the decorations.

Dance Register

Among those girls bringing dates were Nancy Pierpont, Walter Sprye; Boonie Stevenson, Ernest Woodman; Louise Painter, Fred Stultz; Sara Cline, Bob Dabney; Chubby Heard, Conway Reas; Helen McIlwaine, J. B. Jackson; Roberta Grigg, Bill Gibson; Sarah Goode, Kossen Gregory; Betty Harper, John Doggett; Jerry Smith, Neal Shawn; Jeanne Warwick, Johnny Pancake; Peggy Bellus, Ned Crawley.

Genevieve Cooke, John Selden; Lillian German, Russell Paulette; "Boots" Baldwin, Miles Sharpley; Pat Whitlock, Billy Willis; Nan Duer, Bill Hay; Mary E. Pettierew, Jerry Dederick; Marian Worsham, Bill Tracy; Betty Boutchard, Wally Engle; Betty Youngberg, Tom Combellick; Margaret Bowling, Jerry Chaney; Dot Johnson, Henry Newbill.

Jane Scott, Bill Gladden; Jane Sanford, Allan Fox; Helen Hardy, Henry Winston; Imogen Clayton, Charles Garnette; Jo Brumfield, Dick Garnett; Nancy Bordurant, Lewis Johnston; Lib Williams, Tom Miller.

Ann Williams, Jimmy Traylor; Miggie Mish, Rouzee Givens; Helene Stras, Eddie Sears; Jeanne Sears, Bro Waters; Elizabeth A. Parker, James McCormick; Jeanne Hall, George Dewey; "Jack" Adams, Tom Massie.

Ellen Ebel, Bob Kilpatrick; Ann Burgwyn, William Garrett; Jean Upshur, Bob Eason; "Bumpsie" Mimmick, Judge La Roque; Rosa Courter, Lindley Smith; Emma Louise Crowgey, Charles Snyder.

Hattie Cantrell, Jack Ward; Cottie Radspinner, Jim Peden; Mary L. Shannon, Henry Scholtz; Eleanor Folk, Mac Brown; Nancy Dupuy, Hunter Peake; Patsy Smith, Randy Cary.

Carolyn Harvey, Rosser West; Jane Lee Hutcheson, Blanton Hanbury; Nancy Wolfe, Lile Graham; Dot Lawrence, Jack Dingman; Carroll Costello, Hank Greeley; Dot Bailey, O. P. Higgins; Annabel Westcott, Edward Finney.

Helen Seward, Emmett Hoy; Lena Butterworth, Bill Baxter; Frances Mallory, "Sugar" Young; Frances Parham, Pat Booth; Mattie Jolly, Nat Rogers.

Anne Covington, Jimmy Worsham; Helen Grey, Jules Lund; Crews Borden, Reggie James; Nancy Sale, Julian Evans; Martha Smith, Alfred Hughes; Esther Atkinson, Carlyle Bean; "Bill" Stone, Charles Patterson; Emily Hoskins, Wright Gouldin; Kitty Price, "Junie" Chitwood.

Dot Robbins, Powell Tynes; Mary Jane Ritchie, P. T. Atkinson; Rachel DeBerry, Jack Gordon; "Mo" West, Emory Smith; Elizabeth West, Thaddens Murry; Harriet Haskins, Keith Eubank; Dot Childress, Lee Cole; Agnes Patterson, Stuart Johnson; Jean Hatton, Wayne Mears.

Jennie Noell, Frank Blanton; Mary Sue Edmondson, George Topping; Anne Cocke, Jim Crute; Jean Moyer, Sonny Moore; Boo Barham, Alex Jones; Margaret James, Bill Hannah; Bess Windham, Bobby Trice; A. M. Cobe'y, Bill Dane; Martha Peery, Maynard Johnson.

Anne Boswell, Buck Crockett; May Bartlett, Johnny Bernard; May Winn, Walton Johnson; Betty Reid, Ace Livick; "Jac" Hardy, "Buck" Lee; Jo Ware, C. H. Gresham; Kay Spencer, Lundy Powell; Betty Hardy, Dick Reed; LeNoir Hubbard, T. C. Coleman.

Sarah Bruce, Taylor Bruce; Shirley Turner, John Jolly; Margaret Wright, Carl Messerschmidt; Louisa Sanford, M. K. Dennis; Beezie Townsend, Craigh Burks; Peggy Lou Boyette, David Spence; Charlotte Phillips, Francis Arthur; Sudie Dunton, Chess Wise; Anne Ellett, Mickey James; and Madge Horne, Robert Taylor.

ENGAGEMENT

Dressler-Beale

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Malvern Beale of Smithfield, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Evelyn Christine Beale, to Lee Hill Dressler, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hill Dressler of Covington.

Miss Beale is a graduate of Farmville State Teachers College and Mr. Dressler is a graduate of Virginia Military Institute.

COME IN AND SEE—

Helena Rubinstein's

New Shade of Lipstick (Apple Red)

We Also Have Apple Red Nail Polish (Price—60c ea.

SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Special for S. T. C. Girls

Cold Plate Lunches

25c—30c—35c

Try One!

CALL 200 WE DELIVER

COLLEGE SHOPPE

Spring Is Here! Have your clothes cleaned regularly at

DeLUXE CLEANERS

Phone 77

STATE

"Your Community Center"

Thursday—Last day! April 24

GINGER JAMES

Rogers Stewart

"VIVACIOUS LADY"

Friday-Saturday April 25-26

BETTE DAVIS GEORGE BRENT

"THE GREAT LIE"

Next Mon.-Tues., April 28-29

MARTHA SCOTT WILLIAM GARGAN

"CHEERS FOR MISS BISHOP"

Look Where You're Going

With the call of dances in the air, the past week-end was an exciting, eventful one for S. T. C. girls. Many stayed here for the dances, but many others traveled hither and yon to trip the light fantastic at various well-known schools.

ORCHID DEPT. Gerry Ackiss travelled far north to Middletown, Connecticut, for the dances at Wesleyan University, and Lauriston Hardin went in the other direction to the dances at Sewanee in Tennessee.

SAILOR, BEWARE! Polly Keller was the fortunate young damsel to attend the dances at Annapolis.

MANLY FARE To Clemson, S. C. Nell Fieu went for the same purpose of dancing and at N. C. State in Raliigh Lucie Ellen Powell and Lillian Turner also kept time with music.

LOYAL VIRGINIANS Those going to the University of Virginia for the Easter Dances were Jo Bishop, Sydney Bradshaw, Barbara Drewery, Ann Roberts, Bobbie Taylor, Betty Fahr, Catherine Phillips, Lula Power, and Nell Quinn.

MORE DANCE STUFF Off to Lexington and W. and L. went Roberta Latture, Jane McGinnis, Elizabeth McRae, Frances Tice, May Wertz, Caroline Eason, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Helen Lewis, and Julia Eason.

RECIPE FOR CONTENTMENT Among those making week-end trips home or to visit friends were Bianche Colavita, Martha Crawley, "Toi" Dew, Carol Averitt, M. K. Bingham, Linore Bishop, Arnell's Booth, Mary Katherine Zehner, Ellen Goode, Irma Graff, Nancy Naff, Allene Overbey, Lulle Jones, Rosalie Rogers, Julia Beard, and Katherine Kennedy, all of whom went to Richmond; in Washington, D. C. were seen Clara Louise McConnell and Katherine Price; in Lynchburg were Jean Schulkum, Ora Earnest, Helen Watts, and Polly Hughes, and to Charlottesville for a visit went Yates Carr, Ruth Wiley, Ora Mayo, and Nina Lee Hall.

April Special—Rytex-Cross Patch Printed Stationery

200 single sheets, 100 envelopes or 100 double sheets, 100 envelopes, including printing on sheets and envelopes—$1

MARTIN THE JEWELER

"MAY DAY" Coming!

You will need sun Glasses—10c at

NEWBERRY'S 5c—10c—25c Store

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

Patronize

Patterson Drug Co.

—AT—

Money Saving Prices

—FOR—

Drugs and Toiletries

Expert Prescription Service

Clean Fountain

Featuring Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream

238 MAIN STREET

TO AMUSE OURSELVES

Special Occasion

The Tri-Sigmas celebrated the forty-third anniversary of the founding of their sorority at a banquet at Longwood, Friday, April 18, at 7 o'clock. The guests included members, rushees, and Mrs. Isabelle Merrick Earle, a founder, Miss Pauline V. Camper, Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Martha Coulling, Miss Mary White Cox, Mrs. Hallie Laing, Mrs. Martha Laing Person, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Mary Rives Lancaster, and Mrs. Heard. Jane Engleby was in charge of arrangements for the banquet. Toasts were given by Allene Overby, Frances Rosebro, Chubby Heard, Eleanor Folk, Anne Cocks, Rachel DeBerry, Helen Seward, Cottie Radspinner, and Mary Katherine Zehmer.

Soup's On!

Each sorority entertained the new pledges in their respective chapter rooms Friday night, April 18, at 10 o'clock.

Extry! Extry!

Many new recipes were tried in the sorority rooms during intermission at the Cotillion Club dance Saturday night, April 19, at 10:30 o'clock by the club members and their dates. For the moment, frosted coffee, punches, and sandwiches reigned supreme!

Coming Attraction

The members of Gamma Theta sorority will celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of the sorority at a banquet Saturday night, April 26, at 6 o'clock at Longwood. The guests will include Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Florence Stubbs, Miss Grace E. Mix, Miss Carolyn Cogbill and alumnae who are expected from Richmond, Lexington, Norfolk, and the Eastern Shore. Margaret Mish is in charge of the arrangements.

Vanity Beauty Shoppe

Phone 360

Soft Natural Permanents

Expert Hair Shaping

APRIL SPECIAL

Permanent Waves

$5.00 for $3.50

$3.50 for $2.50

WEYANOKE BEAUTY SALON

Phone 331

Come to see us

FOR

A complete Line

OF

SANDWICH SPREADS, PKG. CHEES AND JAR CHEESE

The Economy Food Store

KLEANWELL

Cleaners & Tailors

Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling

Main St. Opposite P. O.

Phone 98

Under the management of

"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Planters Bank & Trust Company

Farmville, Virginia

Member: Federal Reserve System

Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

MAY DAY SCHEDULE

April 28—Monday—
- 3:30 in gym—Prelude
  - Solo—Forests, Rivers, Plains, Mountains, Oppressed
- 7:30 gym—Folk (all eight groups)
  - Primitive (Mexican—Indian—Negro)

April 29—Tuesday
- 3:30 gym—Court
- 7:30 gym—
  - Prelude (Solo, Forests, Rivers, Mountains, Plains, Oppressed)
  - Talk (English, Irish, Dutch, Danish, German, Russian, Swedish, French)
  - Primitive (Mexican, Indian, Negro)

April 30—Wednesday
- 7:00 gym—Mass Rehearsal
  - Prelude (Solo, Forests Rivers, Mountains, Plains, Oppressed)
- 8:00—Folk (all eight groups)
  - Primitives (Mexican, Indian, Negro)
  - Court (Queen, Maid of Honor, City of Nations)

May 1—Thursday 7:30 gym—Dress Rehearsal

Note—If Wednesday practices don't go well, practice will be continued at the same hour on Friday and Saturday.

May 5—Monday—Longwood—3 o'clock—Mass rehearsal
May 6—Tuesday—Longwood—3 o'clock—Dress rehearsal
May 7—Wednesday—Longwood—3 o'clock—Mass rehearsal
May 8—Thursday—Longwood—2 o'clock—Dress rehearsal
May 9—Friday—Longwood—2 o'clock—Mass rehearsal
(Everyone in dances will be excused from classe for rehearsal)
May 10—Saturday—Performance—Longwood—5 o'clock P. M.
(Everyone in performance must be there at 4)

Visit the . . .

A & N

FOR ALL

Athletic Equipment

Come in and see our

Tennis Equipment

And other sport wear

BUTCHER'S

The convenient store for faculty and student body.

Good things to eat and drink

S. A. Legus, Tailor

Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing

We call for and deliver

All Work Guaranteed

Phone 203

Copyright 1941, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Careful Management Courteous Service

Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Make Your Suggestions for Improvements Known by Putting Them in Question Box

The Rotunda

Attention Organizations: Schedule Your Picnic Now!

VOLUME XX | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 30, 1941 | NO. 26

Haymes Elected Head of College Choir For 1941-'42

Choral Groups Give Concerts in Norfolk And Portsmouth

Mary "Fiddle" Haymes, of Langley Field, has been elected president of the College Choir for the coming year. She will replace Virginia Richards of Petersburg.

Fiddle, a sophomore, has been a member of the choir for two years and was in the Senior A Capella group this year. She was recently elected treasurer of the Student Council.

Others elected to offices in the organization are Virginia Barksdale, vice-president; Texie Belle Felts, secretary; and Amy Read, treasurer. Catherine Bodine and Mary Jane Ritchie will serve as librarians.

Virginia was the director of the Madrigal Singers this year and will continue in this capacity next year. She has been a member of the choir three years.

Texie Belle, who is Business Manager of the Rotunda for the coming year, was Publicity Chairman for the recent Spring Concert. Amy served this past year as secretary-treasurer for the choral club.

On May 11 the College Choir and the affiliated groups will sing at the evening service at the Methodist Church. A silver offering will be taken and will go to the local chapter of Bundles for Britian.

Senior, Junior and Intermediate A'Capellas, the Madrigal Singers and part of the choir group will go to Portsmouth May 17-18. The groups are scheduled to sing Sunday morning at the Monumental Methodist Church in that city. They will sing again at the evening service of the Epworth Methodist Church in Norfolk. Miss Virginia Bugg, sponsor of the choir, will chaperone the group.

FIDDLE HAYMES
College Choir President

Y. W. Names Eight As Representatives

Conferences at Blue Ridge, Talladega

Talladega College and Blue Ridge, North Carolina, are the locations at which Southern Student Christian Conferences will be held June 4-11 and June 7-16 respectively. The Y. W. C. A. on this campus is anticipating an outstanding opportunity for fellowship with students of many colleges, and announced that eight cabinet members will attend these conferences.

Those representing S. T. C. at Talladega, Alabama, will be Lucy Turnbull, vice-president of the Y. W. C. A. and Nell Richard, chairman of the service committee.

To Blue Ridge will go Frances Rorebro, president of the Y. W. C. A., Amy Read, chairman of public affairs committee, Nancye Allen, chairman of the social committee, Polly Keller, chairman of church cooperative committee, Dorothy Childress, chairman of membership committee, Frances Lee Hawthorne, chairman of prayers committee and perhaps a faculty advisor.

The sponsors for these conferences are the Southern Field Council, Student Division, Y. W. C. A. and the Southern Division, National Student Council, Y. W. C. A., who have selected "Christian Discipleship in a World of Confusion" as the theme around which the week's activities will center.

These conferences are planned for students and faculty members of Christian associations in the white and Negro colleges in the Southern Region.

Sigma Pi Rho Names Hutcheson President

At the regular meeting of Sigma Pi Rho, honorary Latin fraternity, on Monday, April 21, Jane Lee Hutcheson was elected president for the coming year. Jane Lee succeeds Emma Hutchinson as president.

Miss Minnie V. Rice was chosen vice-president and as Secretary-Treasurer, Arlene Hunt was selected. These officers will be installed at a later date.

Gullible Goats Groan Grimly Over Trials and Tribulations

Gayly clad in the hat as it is known today, bedecked in ribbons of yellow with green lettering, uncomfortably shod in high, unsightly evening slippers, and stockinged in yellow and green Bel-Sharmeers were the goats who represented Spring with the frills of their dresses and their gay flower (in some cases flour) baskets. Ann Ware's "Is I yours or is I ain't" quite established a new record in poetry as far as the English department is concerned.

The gay-nineties were well portrayed with paper bustles or dressed draped in the back and pinned to give the desired effect. Hats were fashioned of newspapers with matching feathers and bows. Rochie Eckford, Ann Ware, Nancy Sale, and B. Reid were especially fetching as young swooning misses.

Meek B. Reid running down the hall yelling "I am a wild woman", Frieda Dekker gathering wild flowers to present Miss Mary Ann Ware expounding on "Love" as Zazu Pitts might have done it, Fitchette, Boatwright and Bradshaw serenading the fish pond, Buff fit to kill in a lampshade for a hat and stockings whose dye took a liking to her, Shirley Pierce doing things up to snuff with her outstanding hats and Rockie parading at twelve-thirty for goat count. Mary Wilson doing an inimitable Spring dance with all her heart and soul, Nancy Sale doing her inflicted portrayal, goats still writing letters for Parker and Minnich—these are indellible memories of goat week.

The hurry and hustle (pardon) of all the goats to concoct a suitable garb is quite interesting. Amazing, too, the things that are made use of in this all important process. (Hint to Crafts class) Everyone has had fun, though, and more topping the list are the goats. Though some of the Latin and French we learn here will fade with time, the memory of Goat Week will linger.

Commercial Club Dance Is Slated For Sat. Night

South'n Serenaders To Play; Tickets Are Priced Fifty Cents

Ethel Beasley, president of the Commercial Club, has announced that the Commercial Club dance will be on May 3, beginning at 8 o'clock in the College gymnasium.

Music will be furnished by the Southern Serenaders from Petersburg, under the direction of Cary Zehmer. This band played for Mardi Gras and is well known throughout Southside Virginia. Evelyn Thorington, general chairman, stated that a few date tickets are still available from members of the club.

Anne Turner, chairman of the decorations committee, has announced plans to carry out a color scheme of navy and gold, the colors of the club.

Dr. Jarman, honorary member, Ethel Beasley, retiring president, Marie Thompson, incoming president, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Wynne, Miss Ottie Craddock, and Mr. M. L. Landrum will be in the receiving line.

The Commercial Club was first organized in 1939 with Edna Harris as its president. Ethel Beasley, of Petersburg, was president during the past year, and Marie Thompson has recently been elected to succeed her.

La Cross, Suffolk Charlotte Court House Are Contest Victors

La Crosse, Charlotte Court House, and Suffolk High Schools, respectively, were declared winners of the cups in the annual Southside Virginia Dramatic Tournament which was held on April 24, 25, and 26 in the large auditorium.

La Crosse, under the direction of Mrs. Alfred Butts, Jr., won with its presentation of "High Heart", by Adelaide C. Rowell. "My Lady's Lace", by Edward Knoblock, was enacted by students of Charlotte Court House, directed by Miss Frances Jollie. Suffolk High School won the cup Saturday night with its interpretation of "Escape by Moonlight", by Kenneth Crotty, under the direction of Miss Margaret Daughtry.

On Thursday night the other participants were Alberta High School, which presented "Where the Cross is Made", by Eugene O'Neil; Clarksville High School, which presented "The Sisters' Tragedy", by Richard Hughes, and Amherst High School, "The Dummy", by Arthur L. Kaser. The other participants on Saturday night were Farmville High School, which enacted "Finger of God", by Purcival Wilde; Amelia High School, "No! Not the Russians!", by Osmond Molarsky; and William Byrd High School, Vinton, "Riders to the Sea", by John M. Synge.

The school that wins a cup three years in succession is permited to keep it. None of the schools which received cups this year were winners last year.

Royall Named Head Of Student Standards

Ellen Royall, of Tazewell, was elected chairman of the Student Standards Committee at the meeting for the coming year on Thursday, April 17. She will replace Martha Wheichel, of Hampton. Ellen served as secretary during the previous year.

Lucy Turnbull will be chairman of the Year's Calendar; Rosalie Rogers will be secretary; May Wertz, chairman of the point system; and Nancy Dupuy, Dining Room Chairman.

S. T. C. Students, Faculty To Attend Science Meeting

Plans for Formation Of Junior Science Society To Be Heard

Dr. George W. Jeffers, Mr. T. M. McCorkle, Miss Katherine Burger, Nell Hurt, and Crews Borden will represent Farmville State Teachers College at the nineteenth annual meeting of the Virginia Academy of Science in Richmond, May 1, 2, and 3.

The convention will be divided into various sections of the sciences. Papers will be presented to those interested in astronomy, mathematics, physics, biology, botany, chemistry, zoology, forestry, engineering, education and the medical sciences.

A highlight of Friday's session will be the presentation by the General Electric Company of the House of Magic which was given last summer at the New York World's Fair. This will be shown in the auditorium of the Hotel John Marshall at 8:30 p. m.

Botanical forays will be held Saturday and Sunday afternoon, May 3 and 4. The bogs near Petersburg will be visited. Also planned is a one-day trip to the Dismal Swamp, entering it from the Suffolk side.

Any members of the student body interested in scientific subjects are invited to attend the meeting. Plans for the formation of a junior society are practically complete and will be discussed at this time.

Also to be taken up at the meeting is the election of new officers for the coming year. Dr. Jeffers, biology professor at S. T. C., has been president for the past year.

Elect Edmunds Head Of Kappa Delta Pi

Mary Hunter Edmunds, of Danville, was elected president of Kappa Delta Pi, honorary scholarship fraternity, for the year 1941-42. She will succeed Dorothy Rollins.

Elizabeth Anne Parker of Portsmouth, will succeed Jean Moyer as vice-president; Sarah Chambers of Clifton Forge, and Lillian German of Richmond were elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

New members of Kappa Delta Pi are Mary Hunter Edmunds, Corlida Chaplin, Texie Belle Felts, Lillian German, Peggy Hughes, Dorothy Johnson, Elizabeth Ann Parker, Martha Roberts, Florence Thierry, Edith Vassar, and Frances Noblin, juniors, and Elva Kible and Virginia Howell, seniors.

Liggie Ellett Has Full Schedule As S.T.C. Apple Blossom Princess

"Liggie" Ellett left today for Winchester, Virginia, where she will represent S. T. C. as a princess in the Court of Queen Shenandoah XVIII at the Apple Blossom Festival to be held Thursday and Friday, May 1 and 2.

A full schedule has been arranged for the princesses, who represent many colleges throughout the country and various horticultural societies.

Tomorrow morning at nine o'clock the princesses will assemble in their costumes for pictures to be taken. Liggie's dress is white net with blue lace insets around the skirt and a short bolero jacket. She will wear a large picture hat and carry an arm bouquet of flowers.

The Coronation itself will be held in the afternoon, followed by a pageant, presented by the students of Handley High School, and a tea dance at the golf club.

The evening's entertainment will include a reception and the Blossom Ball at the Winchester Armory.

Friday will be another busy program, beginning with a formal luncheon for the Queen and her Court at the residence of Mrs. H. K. Russell. The grand feature parade, in which the princesses will participate on floats, will be held in the afternoon, followed by a tea dance, reception, and final ball, the Queen's Ball, that night.

The orchestras of Benny Goodman and Tommy Tucker will furnish the music for the entertainments. Escorting the princesses will be the boys from the V. P. I. Glee Club.

The princesses, while in Winchester, will stay at the Southern Inn, 25 West Piccadilly street, which will be known as The Princesses' Headquarters.

Bohannon, Marion Will Address Grads

One Hundred and Eighty Expected To Receive Diplomas On June 3

At the fifty-seventh commencement exercises of Farmville State Teachers College, Hon. J. Gordon Bohannon, of Petersburg, will deliver the graduating address on Tuesday, June 3. Mr. Bohannon is a former member of the State Board of Education.

The baccalaureate sermon Sunday evening, June 1, will be delivered by the Rev. John H. Marion, Jr., pastor of Grace Covenant Presbyterian Church, Richmond.

Approximately one-hundred and eighty students of the class of 1941 will receive diplomas. One hundred and forty of those receiving diplomas will receive the bachelor of arts degrees. In the two year class, forty will receive diplomas.

Prom Is May 31

The general program for commencement includes the Junior-Senior prom Saturday evening, May 31 in the gymnasium of the College. Those who will be privileged to attend include the juniors and seniors and their dates in addition to the little sisters of the seniors.

Senior Class Day

Senior class day exercises will begin Monday, June 2, at 10 o'clock in the college auditorium. The program for this includes a welcome by Ruth Lea Purdum, president of the senior class; class history, Anna Johnson; class song, Betty Beale Fahr; presentation of gifts by Marion Heard and Betty Beale Fahr; induction of senior class into the Association of Alumnae membership by Miss Mary Peck, president of Alumnae Association; and the farewell song, Bess Windham and Madge McFall. Following this exercise, the traditional Daisy Chain will be formed.

At 8:30 p. m. Monday night, June 2, there will be a reception in Student Building lounge for the graduating class, their parents and friends, and the seniors' little sisters. At 10:30 p.m. of the same night, the Lantern Parade will begin.

Activities of the class of 1941 will climax Tuesday morning, June 3, at 10:30 a. m. when the fifty-seventh commencement exercises begin.

Point System Is Revised for 1941-'42

Changes Made Refer To Grades

Because of complications that arose in the extra-curricular point system, Student Standards Committee has revised the present program. These were presented at the Student Body meeting last Wednesday by May Wertz, a member of the committee.

Changes made are (1) a girl making a C-minus average on her class work must drop half her work for the quarter following. A full schedule may be resumed at the end of the quarter if an average of "C" is attained. (2) If a Student holds an office in a major organization and fails to make an average of "C" she will be given the privilege of retaining her position for the following quarter. If at the end of that quarter she does not have an average of "C", she shall be asked to resign. (3) There will be only one calendar for scheduling programs and speakers. This will be placed in the hall near the Business Office. Lucy Turnbull, senior class representative on the committee, was made chairman of the calendar.

Freshmen Elect 18 To Soph Commission

The freshman class elected seventeen girls from the class to serve on the Sophomore Commission for next year. They are Mary Keith Bingham, Betty Bridgeforth, Patsy Connelly, Judy Eason, Dorothy Gaul, Helen Gilliam, Virginia Hill, Lulie Jones, Sara Jefferies, Kitty King, Louise McCorkle, Shirley Pierce, Dotty Sue Simmons, Doris Taylor, Mary Parrish Viccellio, Dreama Waid, and Nancy Lee Williamson.

Betty Bridgeforth, Dreama Waid, Helen Gilliam, Shirley Pierce, Mary Keith Bingham, Doris Taylor and Sara Jefferies served on the Freshman Commission this year. Louise McCorkle, is an ex-officio member for next year.

Gresham To Head Wesley Foundation

Charlotte Gresham has been elected president of the Wesley Foundation, the Methodist student association.

William Flannagan, of Hampden-Sydney, was elected vice-president; Betty Waits was chosen recording secretary; Mildred Bowen was reelected corresponding secretary; and Emma Noblin was elected treasurer.

The chairman of the committees are Florence Thierry, worship; church attendance, Sue Marshall; recreation and social, Nellie Moss Newsome and Betsy Bullock; publicity, Emily Malmod and Elizabeth Ann Parker. Mary Katherine Dalton, Arlene Overbey, and Sallie Bland Anderson as ex-officio members.

Y. W. C. A. Set-Up Conference Is May 15

On Thursday, May 15, at Longwood, the Y. W. C. A. will hold its annual set-up Conference. This conference is a joint meeting of the retiring and in-coming Y. W. C. A. cabinets. Each committee will present its report, suggesting plans for the coming year. These tentative arrangements will be the basis for next year's activities.

Editorial Comment

To Do or Not To Do

Various utopias have been offered as solutions in alleviating the congestion at the post office. Placards have been posted in an effort to remind us that we should use the farther door as an entrance and the one across from Miss Wheeler's classroom as an exit. But this failed because we refused to regard the signs.

Recently girls have attempted to mitigate this problem by standing in the hall and calling our attention per vocem to our carelessness in using the wrong entrance. Still we have not heeded their admonitions. Too often we have been discourteous.

Stillingfleet once said that "we are not only to look at the bare action but at the reason of it." This is essentially meaningful to us. We are prone to argue that there is slight difference in which entrance we use. Yet, it will be noticed that the practice of employing a particular entrance and exit lessens congestion and quickens progress through the post office.

To date the problem is the same. We cannot hope for complete success unless all of us bend our every effort toward achieving this result. Bishop Mant reminds us that "that which is good to be done cannot be done too soon; and if it is neglected to be done early it will frequently happen that it will not be done at all." Resolve now to aid this project!

A Gentle Reminder—

Chapel hour should be a period during which we, the students of S. T. C., can forget about the people sitting around us, our lesson for the next period, and the numerous things we have to do in the course of the day. This period should be a moment for silence and thought. After all, this is the only time during the day that we are gathered together for worship and reverence. Chapel should be a moment taken away from the daily routine of classes and extra-curricular activities for worship.

What is chapel to you? Is chapel a time in which you can knit an extra row on your sweater? Or is it the time to tell our neighbor an item of interest?

Often, after a minister has been presented to the students in chapel, applause bursts forth. We trust this is due to lack of attention rather than ill breeding. If the members of the student body would just watch Dr. Jarman, and clap when he does, we would not go wrong. Small breaches of etiquette give "outsiders" a bad impression of our school. We must constantly guard against such. Remember that chapel is our moment for and with God!

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 30, 1941

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Sara Cline ..... Editor-in-Chief
Mary Lilly Purdum ..... Managing Editor
Texie Belle Felts ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Ella Banks Weathers ..... News Editor
Mary Parrish Vicchello ..... Feature Editor
Anne Cock ..... Sports Editor
Jane Sanford ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Faye Nimmo Charlotte Phillips, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Spunkle, Sara Trigg, Margaret Wright, Lilly Beck Gray, Miriam Jester, Bridget Gentile

Assistant Business Managers

Elva Andrews ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Keith Bingham ..... Advertising
Helen DeLong ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

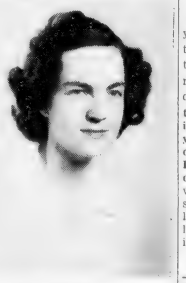
Mary St. Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Ellen Hudgins.

Gleanings

By FRANCES KECK
(Guest Columnist)

Power of the Press—

We believe in freedom of the press—and we usualy believe what we read in the papers. Like the well-beloved Will Rogers the average American can only say, "all I know is what I read in the papers". Few people analyze, read good magazine literature, or recent books. As a professor recently said, we can't read magazine articles—they are too stale. We can't read yesterday's paper, but turn to today's for the latest screaming headline.



Witnessing the progress of the present war through the eyes of the press we see the great power of printer's ink. A year ago, even six months ago, various polls showed that the majority of the American people were against entering the war. We started out a foreign policy based on cash-and-carry, which the press publicized. Gradually editorials and features began a campaign for a lease-lend bill. Now convoys occupy our attention and it seems probable that they will be granted to England. A far cry indeed from the cash-and carry plan! Even a declaration of war would not jar us, so gradually have we grown accustomed to the idea. Students in history courses of the post-war generation learned the real causes, the real issues, the real effects of the last war and assumed a tolerant, knowing attitude toward making the same mistakes, being led on by slogans students have been drafted, and we have propaganda. Yet, many of these same have fallen onto the slowly turning snowball that gathers momentum every day.

Of course, it is the privilege and duty of the press to inform our citizens of world events, world dangers, world crises. But no more do we see both sides—or at least not in the main articles. A war fever is rising slowly, marked by the usual systems. Soon will come the crisis and even the most optimistic, pacifistic American hardly need consult the chart.

In the midst of clamors for convoys, extending the defense of the Western Hemisphere out to the 1000 mile limit, and ideas for conscription of women, the current bee in Eleanor's bonnet—we might pause and listen to military experts and observe the course of the war. While we urged the Greeks on to resistance, promising aid, military observers and those in minority well know the peril of sending aid, aid that would surely come too late. We could not even, with our present type of military equipment, pack the Greek guns, cannon etc., because of different types. Similiarly, America has urged on the smaller Balkans to resist and these sturdy people believed aid would come! While the press blares forth our pledges of "all-out" aid, we feel adequately protected ourselves and feel that we have only to conduct a poll. If the majority believes the U. S. should enter the war we just enter and—win. Simple, isn't it?

Instead of resting on patriotic headlines and smug pointing with pride to our supreme efforts in the last war, it seems some one might sound the clarion call or sound a warning to cocksure Americans. In the first place, we aren't ready to fight. In the second place, Germany now controls Europe and is well on her way to controling the Mediterranean, the Suez Canal, the Dardanelles, etc. In the third place, regardless of our preference for democratic processes, we lack unity, confidence, organization. The "blitz" does not wait for those who "muddle through", a policy we have borrowed from our Anglo-Saxon cousins. It is time for the press to blaze forth in an organizing campaign, if we are to back up our rash promises and assurances.

Senior Personality

CARALIE NELSON

Out Going President of Student Body

In Caralie Nelson, we find blended the finest of all any of us are or ever hope to be.

As president of the student body she has been an inspiration and challenge to each of us as she has devoted her entire self to her office, with the thought of best serving others always foremost. Possessing remarkable inner strength and fortitude, she is unafraid to stand up for what she believes in her heart to be right. Yet, if it so happens, Caralie is the first to acknowledge that your way of doing a thing is better than hers.

It is almost impossible to think of Caralie as an individual personality so far-reaching has been her influence among her fellow students. Her high ideals and standards have become a part of the lives of many who have found the courage to face and solve their problems while talking with her.

Having more to do than two average people, we wonder how she finds time for all her extra-curricular activities, bull sessions, to say nothing of that nightly ordeal, or what have you—study. If you want to be the first honor graduate, we don't advise you to try it. However, Caralie's valedictorian of her class.

She's happiest when there's ice cream for desert. With her keen sense of humor, she's more fun than a three-ring circus when she's on a "tare".

In reading John Gerson's tribute to Joan of Arc, which is inscribed on the base of her statue in the Colonnade, we can truly say in our hearts that such a one has been found among us.

Looking 'Em Over

Spring is here
It comes once a year
Bringing to us good cheer
Especially during Goat Week.

Enough said on that subject, no doubt—congratulations for being such good sports!!

Hi! Ho! Silver! (or what have we) ker plunk, ker plunk, ker plunketty plunk—no, it's not Buffalo Bill riding again but only Buck Sadie Cline and Buck Betty Reid disturbing the peace on High Street Sunday afternoon riding in the famous Reid Austin—now don't deny it—we saw you when you done it! Extra—ask Sadie to tell you that wonderful tale about the dance figure, etc.—

"Harpoo" is mighty busy these days writing so many letters to that nice boy at Tech—what could have brought it on? We wonder?

Boo, you've really got Alec trained haven't you?—scenery moving, KA pin contributing and everything!

Have you seen these peculiar apparitions wondering around for the last few days? Guess what? they're goats, and boy are they going to take a beating tonight? well—maybe!

Surprised faces greeted the return of the Sydney Bradshaw and Coonie Boatwright! After all those distress messages we hardly expected them back so soon!

That's all for now folks, but we'll be seeing you—'bye now. P. S. 'Tis said that Caralie was the victim of that proverbial snaking Sunday night—the snake! A coca-cola! Fate we calls it!

Hampden-Sydney Students Queried As To Ideal Girl

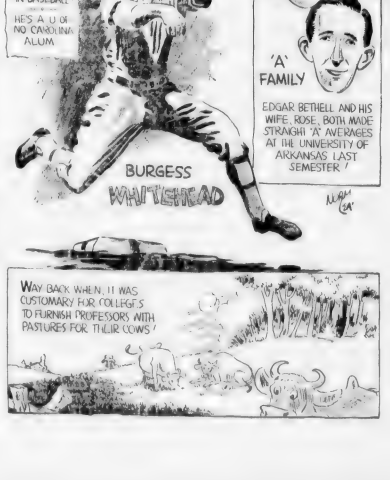
By JANE SANFORD

To answer this week's query your reporter traveled (a la post) to near-by Death Valley and questioned several of Hampden-Sydney's better known students. The question asked—If you were asked to give a definition of a cute, ideal, all-around girl, what would you include as qualifications and characteristics she should have? Do you know any girl who has all or most all of these traits? —was answered in various manners, some very briefly and some quite long and detailed. From these longer ones only a few summarizing statements have been chosen:

Walter (Toad) Thurman— ODK —recently elected president of the H-S student body—In order of importance, I think the indispensable qualities which my ideal girl must possess are a pleasing, cheerful personality that commands attention and respect from both sexes; a certain amount of natural attractiveness combined with a sweet, unspoiled disposition; intelligence, but not to extent of making a person uncomfortable in her presence. She must be a good conversationalist who does not stoop to sarcasm, and she must have a strong sense of values and a religious insight, a sense of humor and friedliness and popularity with both sets. Preferably my Ideal Girl should be about 5 feet 2 inches tall, have dark brown hair and eyes, weight about 110 pounds, and be able to wear clothes with ease and grace; she must be neat, well-mannered, have an unlimited amount of knowledge of social etiquette and apply.

Joe Geyer—President of the German Club and feature editor of the Tiger for the past year—I think that foremost an all-around girl must have a sense of humor with the ability to laugh at herself. Of course, attractiveness is an essential quality; yes, even beauty, but not the Hedy Lamarr type. Any girl can make herself attractive if she watches her appearance and remains pleasant most of the time. I also think that a cute girl is one without affectation. She must be willing to enter into activities readily and yet retain a certain amount of reserve. All in all I think the girl that is down to the earth pleasant with a slight bit of female mystery thrown in will win in the long run the title of the ideal, all-around girl. (Incidentally, I know a girl who has most of these qualities, but I don't think I'd better mention her name.)

Bill (General) Hay—President of the Athletic Association—To begin with from my lowly point of view (5' 5") the size of my Ideal Girl (sigh) doesn't make so much difference. But she should be neat, for I rather admire neatness in girls; she should have either black or brown hair, naturally curly and well taken care of. If a girl will change her hair-do ever so often, it will sort of help a boy's interest up a little, I believe). Since eyes are a great asset to her personality if used correctly, Miss Ideal should be the wide awake, bright-eyed girl, and one who has preferably blue or black eyes. She should have a sincere, jolly personality and eagerness to take part in most any activity. I think she should "get around" a fair amount, but should not be one to talk about the places she has been for the impression which she might wish to make. Consideration should be her middle name.



Bob Dabney—A feature writer on the Tiger satff and assistant business manager of the Kaleidoscope, the H-S annual. — There probably isn't any one stereotype of a cute, ideal, all-around girl, but there are certain characteristics and attributes which she does display. She is naturally pleasing to look upon because she possesses a moderate degree of beauty, has an erect posture, and wears neat-looking clothes. Her good disposition, understanding, congeniality, and personal charm make her quite popular and give her a wholesome personality. She is the kind of girl "you are proud to introduce to your mother" for she is also moral, spiritual, intelligent, efficient, faithful, loyal, and a true-blue American, if you please. I'm rather inclined to believe that I do know of such a girl.

Walter Spryo—Vice-president of the Athletic Association and vice--president of the sophomore class—My ideal is Nancy Pierpont!

Harry (Buddy) Murdock—Captain of the '41 basketball team and the '41 baseball team—My idea of the ideal girl is that she should not necessarily be beautiful, but should be attractive, neat in appearance at all times, self-composed anywhere, semi-athletic, very considerate of others especially a date and in regard to his financial circumstances.) She should be energetic, healthy to a normal degree, have an intelligent personality, be friendly and not "two-faced", well-mannered, and last, but not least, affectionate.

Jim Peden—President of the sophomore class and vice-president of the student body—"Cottie Radspinner is the Ideal Girl in my life!"

Lucian ("Buck") Crocketi—Sports editor of the Tiger and Manager of the HS track team—she should be a good-looking 5' 4"—5' 7" medium blonde with a good figure; smart, but not intellectual; dance well; like bridge; dress well; know bands and records; know something about boys' sports; be prompt, not be promiscuous, and not use horrible red fingernail polish. I know several who have most of these traits.

• Sports Slants •

By LILLY BEC GRAY

Over the Net!

Congratulations to the volleyball winners—it really was fun while it lasted and we're all for more and better volleyball tournaments! This idea of hall competition really had good effects. Indeed there were many competitors present who, no doubt, would not have ventured onto the court had not this method been utilized. And they were good, too!

Swing that Mallet!

On with the game—come one, come all to the croquet game on the lawn—summer brings in one of the nicest outdoor games that we have—so get out and play! As yet no champions hold sway. The title is ready to be awarded. The only requirement is to be there and offer your own challenge.

Flash—They're Off —

The big track meet is about to take place—the sophomore gym classes, altogether, have been working for days on the great event. There will be high jumping, broad-jumping, relays, timed racing, distance throws, etc. Come to see your favorite event.

Onward Farmville!

That was just the bestest A. A. installation ever—not only solemnity but pulchritude as well—congratulations to the new A. A. council, and we're right behind you in everything you attempt. Bulls-Eye!

Robin Hood Invades

Who is that? Surely it couldn't be Robin Hood and his merry band. But they are merry, and the arrows are really whizzing. Oh, of course! It's the archery gang practicing up again. Everyone should go out for this fine sport right away—just truck right down to the athletic field and they'll tell you what to do. The tournament field has been changed from Longwood to the athletic field. This change was made in order to enable more to enter the contests. No excuses now!

Hit that Ball!

Yes, it's almost time for the tennis tournament, so all you eligibles be ready, and all you 'not so good yet' people be practicing up. Will it be green and white or red and white? Time will tell.

Aquabelles—

Been swimming lately? Well, here is your golden opportunity! The pool is open every Friday afternon, besides Saturday night, which should give you plenty of time to brush up on those neglected strokes or learn some new ones before the beaches open or you leave for camp. Perhaps you will be a star of the houseparty or save someone's life—you better be prepared for whichever it is!

Giddap Horsie

You don't have a car? Well—Get your old walking shoes for these beautiful spring days, and just spend all your spare time enjoying the lovely countryside. There are woods, mountains, or for just a short hike, Longwood. With picnics and May Day practices coming up, you will have plenty of chances to exercise yourself in walking.

And speaking of May Day—that great event is less than two weeks off—all the costumes are nearly finished, and the hard practice is really beginnig—morning, noon, and night from now on we will really be working, but the final result is bound to be more than worth the effort, so go to it!

For the Draft

Along with everything else, may we again remind you of the Spring Horse Show and the Intermediate and Beginners' Riding classes. Don't forget to sign up right away! Maybe you'll have a chance to train the cavalry, for the army this summer or maybe you'll be drafted, you never can tell exactly what will happen next these days, so be prepared!

Notice to Sun Bathers

If you must burn yourselves up, and some people simply must, please use only the roof over the Dining Room, and please don't stay out too long, now that the sun is getting so hot.

Well, that's about all, but we'll be seeing you around—'Bye now—

Eight Sororities Elect New Officers

Elections in all of the sororities on campus have taken place recently.

Allene Overbey will succeed Nancy Pierpont as president of Sigma Sigma Sigma. Other officers of the chapter are Eleanor Folk, who succeeds Helen Seward as vice-president; Louise Sanford, who succeeds Rachel De Berry as recording secretary; and Jerry Smith who succeeds Jane Lee Hutcheson as corresponding secretary. Harriett Scott was elected treasurer.

Jo Ware succeeds Louise Painter as president of Pi Kappa Sigma, while Jeanne Sears will replace Boonie Stevenson as vice-president. Ellen Royall succeeds Kay Phillips as recording secretary; Peggy Hughes remains as corresponding secretary; and Gerry Ackiss will fill the former position of Ruth Winstead as treasurer.

Polly Keller was re-elected head of Alpha Sigma Alpha and will have as her assistants Winifred Wright, who succeeds Betty Fahr as vice-president; Gene Hardy Kilmon who replaces Ethel Carr as recording secretary; and Kitty Powell, who succeeds Roberta Latture as treasurer.

Anne Turner will succeed Faye Brandon as president of Alpha Sigma Tau, while Charlotte Greeley replaces Anne Turner as the new vice-president. Ada Claire Snyder was chosen corresponding secretary, replacing Louise Hall; while Katherine Hawthorne will succeed Charlotte Avery as corresponding secretary. The new treasurer will be Marie Thompson who will undertake the past duties of Lillian Turner.

Lillian Wahab of Norfolk was elected head of Mu Omega sorority at their last meeting to succeed Dorothy Menefee, of Roanoke. Other officers include Betty Reid, vice-head; Peggy Lou Boyette, secretary; Mary Evelyn Pearsall, treasurer; Anne Moore, Alumnae secretary; and Margaret Wright, chaplin.

Betty Peerman of Danville, was reelected head of Gamma Theta sorority for the coming year. Nancy Dupuy will serve again as vice-head; Martha Cottrell, secretary; Charlotte Phillips, treasurer; Betty Youngberg, Alumnae secretary; and Mary Lilly Purdum, chaplin.

Phi Zeta Sigma elected Martha Frances Cobb, president; Nahrea Coleman, vice-president; Estelle Smith, recording secretary; Lucille Cheatham, corresponding secretary; Sara Seward, treasurer; and Sue Marshall, Pan Hellenic representative.

Ann Price will head Theta Sigma Upsilon with Mary Charlotte Jones, vice-president; Mary Anna Motley, secretary; Mildred Bowen, treasurer; Kitty Dunton, Pan Hellenic representative and Nuttie Johns, alternate.

Partridge Elected President of F. T. A.

Esther Partridge, of Norfolk was elected president of the J. L. Jarman Chapter of Future Teachers of America on Wednesday evening, April 16, at 7 o'clock. She succeeds Margaretta Gerlaugh, of Martinsville. Esther has been secrtary of the organization during the preceding year.

Rachel Abernathy is the newly elected vice-president; Nell Richards, secretary; Lillian German treasurer; and Miriam Hanvey, librarian.

Archery Practices Announced by Hurt

Archery practices will begin next week, according to Nell Hurt, manager for the Spring Tournament.

Five points toward the Color Cup will be awarded the winning class, Red and White was victorious in the fall.

Practices this spring will be held on the athletic field three times a week. The exact time is indefinite as yet, but will be announced next week.

Hannibal Finds a Peer In In S. T. C. Austin Venturers

At long last we have chanced upon a story which we feel is complementary or at any rate comparable to the well known one of Hannibal crossing the Alps. It all began when General B. Reid and General S. Cline drew up plans to make a strategic transversal across Afton Mountain in B. Reid's "Myrtle".

Their starting point was Staunton, about a hundred miles from their destination, Farmville. After having been well equipped with crackers and cheese which they later exchanged for gas and with all the calm and certainty of generals, the two lonely officers took off. Perhaps they used a piece of strategy Hannibal would never have approved of but there was the mountain and "Myrtle" wouldn't take it going, so they backed all the way up. Many inquisitive tourists stopped them to offer their help, but they felt they must stick to the plans they had mapped out and refused "foreign aid". Besides, General Cline was rather suspicious of the people offering their assistance. Of them she said "Trash—pure trash". It was only after they had been stopped by W. and L. boys to have their pictures taken and only after children had stopped their gaping and country farmers had offered them water for "Myrtle" and then felt sorry, and offered fried chicken and cakes that they really started home in full force.

But all was not to continue without fear. At one turn in the road Myrtle was almost lassoed and both generals felt an uneasiness for themselves. At another time in the trip when a rest period was taken they found that water was leaking into their oil and, since all the filling stations were closed because it was Sunday, they were at a loss as to what to do. Finally, though, they resolved to carry on so "Stonewall" Reid and "Lightfoot" Cline pushed forward. (This gesture was unnecessary since by that time the car was in perfect running condition.)

After trudging over ninety six miles of mountain—alone and fearless—the two Southern heroines made a triumphal entry into State Teachers College at Farmville. False teeth dropped, mouths flopped open and a general "oh" pervaded the town as tiny Myrtle scooted on to her destination. In three and a half hours; Myrtle had accomplished a notorious porney under the able generalship of Reid and Cline. Both were quoted as saying, "what a trip" as they hopped out of "Myrtle" and locked her up for the night.

Special for S. T. C. Girls
Cold Plate Lunches
25c—30c—35c
Try One!
CALL 200 WE DELIVER
COLLEGE SHOPPE

Spring Is Here!
Have your clothes cleaned regularly
at
DeLUXE CLEANERS
Phone 77

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

S. T. C. Girls, Enjoy Healthful Recreation and Bowl
STEVE'S BOWING ALLEY
FARMVILLE, VA.

'MOTHER'S DAY' MAY 11TH
Come and see our large selection
MOTHER'S DAY CARDS
5c and 10c
NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c Store

NYLON HOSE
98c and $1.19
ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

FARMVILLE HORSE SHOW
Sat., May 3rd
10 A. M. to 5 P. M.
Ball Park -- Wilck's Field
COLLEGE GIRLS 25c
ADULTS 35c
Prizes and Ribbons

COME IN AND SEE—
Helena Rubinstein's
KEYS TO BEAUTY
(three lipsticks)
Price—$1.00
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

Expert Hair Styling
Long, Natural Permanents
Vanity Beauty Shoppe
Phone 360

ANKLE BRACELETS
Identification Bracelets
$1.00 up
(One name engraved free)
MARTIN THE JEWELER

TRY OUR NEW DRINK
"Juicy Orange"
Shannon's
PHONE 224

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
American Huaraches—Al white and natural $1.99. White and tan and all white play shoes and Sandals $1.98.
Farmville, Virginia

GENUINE STEERHIDE
HUARACHES
Hand made in Old Mexico and imported. Nationally advertised at $2.98
Now—Special—Only $2.49
BALDWIN'S

TO AMUSE OURSELVES

Teasing Tid-Bits . . .

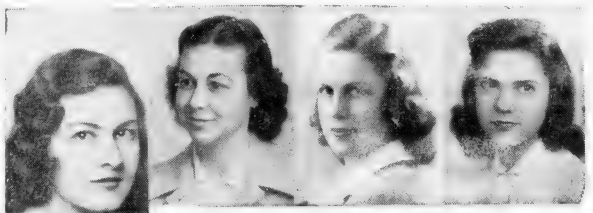
Those tantalizing odors drifting through the halls Sunday afternoon around 5 o'clock may be attributed to a tea given by the Mu Omegas in their chapter room. The hostesses were Boo Burham, Margaret Wright, Peggy Lou Boyette, and Lilly Bee Gray. Besides the active member and new pledges there were present Miss Leola Wheeler and Mrs. J. M. Watkins. .

Back to Nurture . . .

The Phi Zeta Sigmas will have their annual spring banquet at Longwood on Thursday, May 1 at 6:30 o'clock.

Eventful Eats . . .

Last week-end was a big event in the life of Gamma Thetas who celebrated their thirtieth anniversary with a week-end house party at Longwood. Guests at the banquet Saturday, April 26 at 6:30 o'clock included Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Florence Stubbs, and Miss Grace E. Mix. Mrs. Louise Geddy Mackey, a founder, was among the many alumnae who returned for the occasion. Those who gave toasts were Mary Parrish Viccellio, Ruth Woody, Mary Katherine Dodson, Mary Harvie, Charlotte Phillips, "Miggie" Mish, Ella Banks Weathers, and Hannah Lee Crawford.



Banquet a la Mu Omega . . .

Saturday, May 3, the Mu Omegas will give their spring banquet at Longwood at 6:30 o'clock. Twenty alumnae are expected to add to the gaiety of the event.

Government Entertains

Officers of the '40 Student Government Association entertained the newly elected officers in the council room at 10 o'clock last night, Tuesday, April 27.

Apple Blossom Princesses

Pretty girls and apple blossoms will be in abundance for the 1941 Apple Blossom Festival to be held at Winchester, Va., Thursday and Friday, May 1 and 2. Four of the beauties who will be in the court of Queen Shenandoah XVIII are shown above. They are, from left to right, Miss Frances Leigh Ellett of State Teachers College, Farmville; Miss Marine Aleshire, of Madison College, Harrisonburg; Miss Ella Camerian Dickenson of William and Mary, Williamsburg; and Miss Helen Tucker Andrews of St. Agnes School, Alexandria.

Tonics Tune the Tired So the Week-Enders Proclaim

By the Checker-Upper

Again dances were the favorite destination of S. T. C. week-enders, and last week saw various and sundry places alluring to our "trippers of the light fantastic"

Tonic for the Tired . . . Dancing to the smooth playing orchestra of Tommy Dorsey at V. M. I. Easters were Dot Lawrence, Ruth Palmer, Nan Duer, Helen Gilliam, Virginia Barksdale, Madge McFall, Hunter Edmunds, Helen Lewis, Jane McGinnis, Ora Earnest, Barbara White, Anna George, Kay Spencer, Liggie Ellett, Elizabeth Carter, Virginia Hill, and Helen Hardy.

More Mental Memoirs . . . Nancy Bondurant, Rosa Courter, and Helene Stras saw to it that STC was represented at the dances at V. P. I., while to Roanoke College in Salem, Mary Frances Bowles journeyed for the same purpose.

Charm Aplenty . . . At the dances at Randolph-Macon College in Ashland were seen Elizabeth Ann Parker and Mary Owens West, and to Charlotesville treked Martha Smith and Coralie Gilliam for the dance at Virginia.

Bridal Business . . . The matrimonial market seems to have been feverishly active the past week, for going to Tappahannock for a wedding were Emily Hoskins, Ann Burgwyn, Jo Ware, and Elizabeth Warner, and to Bristol to try to catch the bride's bouquet was Dorothy Sue Crumley. Dot Menefee likewise ate wedding cake in Roanoke.

Secrets for Sunny Living . . . The usual caravan to Richmond consisted of Crews Borden, Lilwyn Bennett, Gerry Beckner, Theresa Fletcher, Sydney Bradshaw, Louise Boatwright, Gertrude Burwell, Ethel Carr, Betty Fahr, Dot Darracott, Mickey Lawrence, Nelle Quinn, Mildred Eades, Lucy Call, Mattie Jolly, Bocnie Stevenson, and Anne Stewart. To the same garden spot of the universe for an AST luncheon went Charlotte Avery, Inez Jones, Carroll Costello, Frances Powell, Ann Turner, and Marie Thompson. To see T. Dorsey score his second hit in Virginia in the past week-end at a concert given by his orchestra at the Mosque Sunday went Betsy Bullock, Kitty King, Doris Taylor, Emma Louise Crowgey, Clara Louise McConnell, Evelyn Bourne, Pat Whitlock, Nancy Pierpont, and Mary Elizabeth Petticrew.

To Fredericksburg for a visit traveled Jo Canada, Marjorie Garrison, and Roberta Grigg, and visiting in Staunton were Sara Cline, Esther Atkinson, and Betty Reid. Lynchburg was invaded by Nancy Wolfe, Lois Harrison, Sarah Chambers, Charlotte Greeley, Doris Alvis, Baylis Kunz, Jo Brumfield, and Marie Kelley; and moving still farther west to Roanoke were Harriett Cantrell, Cynthia James, Virginia Campfield, Stella Harman, Kitty Price, Nancy Sale, Margaret Bowling, Louise Painter, May Winn, and Mary Elizabeth Petticrew.

S. T. C. Debaters Lose To Visitors

Washington and Lee University and "College of the Holy Cross", Massachusettes gained decisions last week in debates, held on this campus Wednesday, April 16 and Friday, April 18.

Frank Johnson and John Fitzpatrick of W. and L., debating on the affirmative side of the national Pi Kappa Delta question, defeated Margie Rice and Myrtle Jenkins Wednesday night April 16. Dr. D. M. Allen, Dr. Herman Bell, and Mr. John Webb, all of Hampden-Sydney, acted as judges.

Frank Burkley and Leo Kelleher, upholding the negative side for Holy Cross, won over Anne and Jack Cock debating for Farmville. Mr. T. J. McIlwain, superintendent of schools for Prince Edward County rendered the decision. Irving White accompanied the Holy Cross team.

Time of Stress Motivates Men To Succumb To Make-Up

Whenever a girl is preparing to face an important occasion, she wields the make-up. Last week end twenty-seven young men "out" 1 or succumbed to lip rouge and powder to enhance their charms. These braces in time of stress are quite unusual for so many of the manly sex, but then there was a play contest cup at take.

The Make-Up Department of the Dramatic Club transformed sweet innocent girls to hard, henpecking wives and kerr old women. The bristley faced boys became smooth cheeked youths, men of the world, and even sixty year old Dutchmen. Some of these high schoolers walked down the hall pass the post office to the crowded make-up room with all the dignity and possessiveness of a month old freshman.

No doubt the actors and actresses can tell many a tale about the time they were being made up, but these are the impressions of one of the - - - - (what am I?)

The young men in high school have the slightest eyelids, mouths that move at the wrong time, more beard then enough for their he-man pride and a dread of women in their hair.

The young women in high school have eyes, mouths and cheeks, know how they want them made up, and an ability to get the most out of a beauty kit, more poise and sophistication than silly college girls, and a lot or no personality outside of plays.

MAY DAY SCHEDULE

April 30—Wednesday

7:00 gym—Mass Rehearsal
Prelude (Solo, Forests Rivers, Mountains, Plains, Oppressed)
8:00 Folk (all eight groups)
Primitives (Mexican, Indian, Negro)
Court (Queen, Maid of Honor, City of Nations)

May 1—Thursday 7:30 gym—Dress Rehearsal
Note—If Wednesday practices don't go well, practice will be continued at the same hour on Friday and Saturday.

May 5—Monday Longwood 3 o'clock Mass rehearsal
May 6—Tuesday—Longwood—3 o'clock—Dress rehearsal
May 7—Wednesday—Longwood—3 o'clock—Mass rehearsal
May 8—Thursday—Longwood—2 o'clock—Dress rehearsal
May 9—Friday—Longwood—2 o'clock Mass rehearsal
(Everyone in dances will be excused from class for rehearsal)
May 10—Saturday—Performance—Longwood—5 o'clock P. M.
(Everyone in performance must be there at 4)

STATE
"Your Community Center"

Last Day Today! May 1
JEAN ARTHUR — CHARLES COBURN
"THE DEVIL AND MISS JONES"

Friday-Sat. May 2-3
BARBARA STANWYCK — HENRY FONDA
"THE LADY EVE"

Next Monday, Tuesday, Wed. May 5—6—7
MICKEY ROONEY — SPENCER TRACY
"MEN OF BOYS TOWN"

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

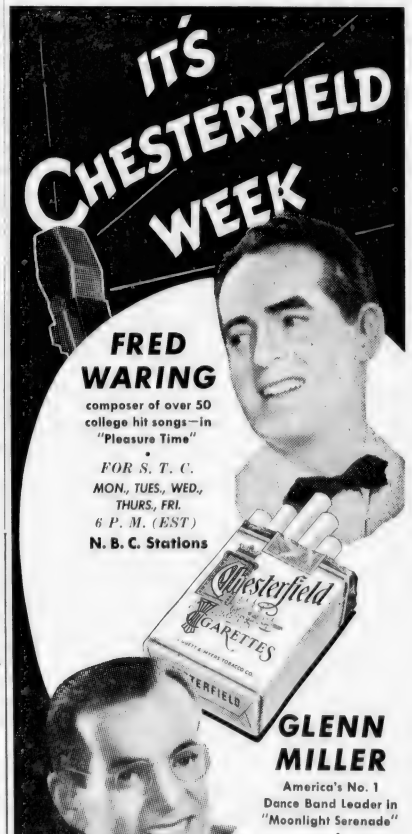
Have New Summer Dresses Made And Your Old Ones Altered!
Reasonable Prices
MRS G. N. GILLISPIE
Across from Davidson's

BUTCHER'S
The convenient store for faculty and student body.
Good things to eat and drink

Visit the . . .
A & N
FOR ALL
Athletic Equipment
Come in and see our
Tennis Equipment
And other sport wear

Come to see us
FOR
A complete Line
OF
SANDWICH SPREADS, PKG. CHEESE & JAR CHEESE
The Economy Food Store

SPECIAL PURCHASE
of
White Evening Dresses
$5.97 to $12.97
Evening Sandals
$2.95 $3.95
DOROTHY MAY STORE
Home of "Carol King"
The College Headquarters



Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

KLEANWELL
Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management — Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Copyright 1941, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Note Change:
Dinner Will Be At 6:30 P. M. May 10

The Rotunda

May Day Will Begin At 5 O'clock May 10

VOLUME XX — FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 7, 1941 — NO. 27

May Day Festival Begins Saturday at 5 O'clock

A.K.G. Recognizes Five Juniors; Taps At Chapel Service

Membership Based Upon Leadership Character, Service

Anne Ayers, Nancy Dupuy, Jane Engleby, Nancy Naff, and Elizabeth Ann Parker were tapped by Alpha Kappa Gamma, nations' leadership fraternity for women, before a majority of students and faculty in chapel Thursday morning, May 1. All five of these girls are members of the junior class.

Eligibility for Alpha Kappa Gamma is based upon character, qualities of leadership, and service to the school. A member must have an average scholarship rating and must have proven her worth to the college.

Anne Ayers, of Roanoke, has been chiefly concerned with the Virginian, Farmville State Teachers College's annual. During her sophomore year Anne was assistant photographic editor, and this year she acted in the capacity of business manager. For 1941-'42 session, Anne has been selected as editor-in-chief. She also served on the Sophomore Commission and has been active on the Y. W. C. A. membership committee. Anne is a member of Pi Gamma Mu and the Cotillion Club.

Nancy Dupuy, of Greensboro, North Carolina, finds her main interest in the College's athletics. She served as president of the H2O Club this past year, and is secretary-treasurer elect of this organization for next year. She has been a member of the varsity hockey team for two years, a member of the varsity swimming team, and has been active on the class volleyball and basketball teams. She has been secretary of her class for the last two years, and will be so during the coming year. This year Nancy acted as chairman of the "Rec" committee. She will be dining room hostess next year. Nancy is a member of the choral Club, Junior A Cappella Choir, and the Cotillion Club.

Jane Engleby, of Roanoke, is

Continued on Page 4

Wolfe, Pierpont Portray New Role In May Day Theme

Court To Represent Nations; Bradshaw Is Only Solo Dancer

Nancy Pierpont, of Salem, and Nancy Wolfe, of Lynchburg, will reign over the May Day festival Saturday, May 10, as the Spirit of America and Spirit of Great Britain, respectively. Both of these girls, seniors, were elected by the student body to these honors.

The titles—"Spirit of America" and "Spirit of Great Britain"—were adapted this year in preference to those of May Queen and Maid-of-Honor since this year's theme deviates from the customary one.

Queen's Court

Twenty-three girls, eight seniors, nine juniors, three sophomores, and three freshmen will compromise the queen's court. Senior court members are Martha Smith, Cape Charles; Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, Roanoke; Helene Stras, Tazewell; Pat Whitlock, Mount Airy, N. C.; Betty Fahr, Richmond; Frances Ellett, Roanoke; Rosa Courter, Amelia; and Louise Painter, Roanoke.

Juniors in the court are Allene Overbey, Chatham; Mary Lou Shannon, Richmond; Peggy Bellus, Farmville; Anne Boswell, Petersburg; Cottie Radspinner, Richmond; Nancy Naff, Roanoke; Dorothy Lawrence, Salem; May Wertz, Roanoke; and Dorothy Robbins, Johnsontown.

Sophomore attendants include Jeanne Sears, Norfolk; Helen Wiley Hardy, Farmville; and Jerry Smith, Newport News. Betty Bridgeforth, Kenbridge; Dreama Waid, Fincastle; and Sarah Hardy, Farmville, are the freshmen representatives in the May Court.

Bradshaw Opens Fete

Ann Bradshaw, representing the spirit or the land in the abstract, will do a solo dance at the opening of the May Day Program. This will be followed by the forest dance. Girls who make possible this dance are Elizabeth McCoy, Mallory Davis, Ellen Ebel, Helen Hardy, Jean Martin, Edna Brown, Alice Seebert, Mary Wamsley, Ann Williams, Louise

Continued on Page 4

Pictured above, left to right, are Nancy Wolfe and Nancy Pierpont, who will reign as the "Spirit of Great Britain" and the "Spirit of America", respectively, at the annual May Day fete, Saturday, May 10.

May Day Committee Chairmen

Shown above are the chairmen of the May Day committees. Standing, left to right, are Dell Warren, Marjorie Gooden, May Wertz, Mary Elizabeth Petticrew and Madge McFall. Seated, left to right, are Sarah Hall, Dorothy Lawrence, Jane Engleby, and Nan Duer. Pat Gibson, theme chairman, was not present when the picture was made.

Years Have Revolutionized May Day, Ancient Roman Fete

By SARAH TRIGG

In the beautiful amphitheatre at Longwood, our annual May Day festival will again be celebrated this Saturday, May 10. May Day, a custom of ancient Rome, holds a precious symbolism for us. It is a reminder that another glorious school year is over.

Winter has left traces, but all around there is a rejuvenation of life. Yellow Jessamine trails from tree to tree, the banks are blue with iris, and the air is sweet with wild grape and honeysuckle.

So as we view the festive celebration of May Day, we pay a tribute to the beauty of nature as did the Romans in their worship of Flora, goddess of the fruits and flowers.

In contrast to our one afternoon program, the Romans celebrated an entire week. The traditional dancing around the May Pole is in accordance with the custom of the Roman children who twined garlands around the columns of the temple of Flora, and then joined hands and danced around the figure.

May Day has been a tradition on our campus for thirty years or more. The occasion itself has changed in manner and custom considerably from its original beginning. Not only has it been revolutionized, but also it has steadily improved as each successive year has gone by.

It began as a short entertainment in front of the infirmary; then it progressed to the front campus of the Rotunda including the street and the Episcopal church site; still later it was viewed from the slope in front of Longwood; and finally it is given in the dell.

This location is a masterpiece of nature. It is closed in by a circle of fresh leafy trees and penetrated by errant shafts of sunlight. The velvety grass forms a fitting carpet for the dancers and the court.

An equal change has taken place in the history of the performers. Then, as now, the queen and court were chosen by the student body, but quite often school pupils participated.

An when this day arrives, we shall drink of it as a toast to loveliness of spring.

May Day Program

Saturday, May 10

12:45 Lunch

4:00 P. M. Members of cast due at Longwood

5:00 P. M. May Day

6:30 P. M. Dinner

8:30 Annual dance

Annual Schedules Dance For May 10

Roanoke Collegians Will Furnish Music

The Annual staff announces that the Annual Dance will be on May 10, the night of May Day. Dancing, for which the Roanoke College Collegians will play, will be from 8:30 to 12:00.

The floor committee chairman, Caroline Eason with her committee composed of Madge McFall, Mary Willson, Gay Ward Brown and Dorothy Rollins, has decided that the decorations in red and white will carry out the theme of the Annual's work for this year. Dorothy Rollins who is in charge of the decorations will show the theme by means of sketches showing the various phases of annual staff work.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. MCcorkle, Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Miss May Wertz, Miss Anne Ayers and Miss Virginia Bedford will compose the receiving line.

Tickets at fifty cents, stag, and one dollar, date bid may be received from any member of the Annual staff. The table in the hall will also be open the Wednesday and Thursday preceding the dance, for the sale of tickets.

Theme Will Convey Making of America

Pierpont and Wolfe Will Reign Over Fete; 288 To Participate

Longwood will again attract attention when the college's annual May Day festivities begin Saturday evening, May 10 at 5 o'clock. This fete will center around the theme "America In the Making".

Deviating from the traditional May Day theme, this production will portray through dances and pageantry the ideals of the United States and the debt of this nation to those who have served to make it what it is today.

Pierpont Will Reign

Nancy Pierpont, of Salem, will reign over the fete, carrying out the theme by portraying the "Spirit of America"; and Nancy Wolfe, in the capacity of Maid of Honor, will represent the "Spirit of Great Britain". Assisting in this immense undertaking will be the May Court composed of twenty-three girls and two hundred and sixty-five dancers.

Part I

Part I of the presentation portrays America in its earliest stages. A solo dance by Ann Bradshaw will depict the spirit of the land. The dances of the forests, rivers, plains, and mountains will reveal the American nation in the abstract; America before it was settled. Carrying forward the historical fact of the settlement of the U. S., a dance group will show through rhythmic movement the people who first sought America as a haven for refuge.

This "oppressed" group will join with those depicting the land groups in a dance. Here the theme is carried forward by showing how the land was permeated by the oppressed.

Part II

Part II of the program concerns the different nationalities whose contributions to varying degrees have been embodied in the land of America. The spirit of these lands will be revealed through the means of dances and costumes.

The first dances present the foreign influences of Sweden, France, Holland, Denmark, England, Germany, Ireland, and Russia. These groups will present folk dances.

Indian, Negro, and Mexican dance groups will depict through the medium of dance those parts of our own country exerting influence in the building of America. These primitive groups will embody in their dances the essential qualities which they have contributed.

Regal Procession

After these dance groups, Nancy Wolfe, as the "Spirit of Great Britain", will enter the Longwood dell, followed by the May Court, who will represent the different nationalities in the court of nations; and then Nancy Pierpont as "Spirit of America" will enter. Nancy will be crowned at this time.

Following this ceremony, the Court members will dance. Festivities will conclude with the grand finale of all the May Day cast.

Miss Emily M. Kauzlarick, assistant professor of physical education, assisted by Miss Leola Wheeler, professor of speech, have completed preparations for the event, and rehearsals are now being held.

Committee Chairmen

Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, of Roanoke, is serving as general chairman of May Day. Working with Mary Elizabeth are Marjorie Gooden as business manager, assisted by Dorothy Gaul. Pat Gibson was the theme chairman of May Day.

May Wertz, chairman of the music committee, is being assisted by Jean Moyer, Sarah Chambers, Forrestine Whittaker, and Emily Owen.

Dorothy Lawrence and Nan Duer are general chairmen of the costumes. Assisting them are Kay Spencer, Gay Ward Brown, Corilda Chaplin, Sara Seward, Mary Jane Ritchie, Esther Atkinson, Elizabeth Summerfield, Elizabeth Townsend, Ellen Royall, Cottie Radspinner, Peggy Hughes, Libby Carter, Mary Lou Shannon, Nellie Moss Newsome, Elizabeth Rapp, and Alice Seebert.

Jane Engleby is in charge of properties. Her committee is composed of Virginia Alexander, Joe Newman, and Gay Ward Brown. Sara Hall has charge of transportation and Dell Warren has charge of staging.

Madge McFall is general dance chairman. Rosalie Rogers, Nell Pritchett, Betty Younzberg, Nancy Bondurant, Dot Childress, Margaret Finney, Sara Currie, Mary Harvie, and all the club members of Orchesis are helping Madge.

May 10 Viewed By Many As Climax of Long Preparations

May the tenth. Yes, you know May Day! Preparations that started the last of March will be climaxed at this time. Instead of the usual sprites, fairies, or English lassies that enliven the dell, this year the S. T. C. girls will have a patriotic May Day—one which will be in keeping with the times. Miss Kauzlarich thought that it would be more appropriate with world conditions as they are for the theme to be "America in the Making" rather than a timeless May Day celebration. This theme was approved by the students in a student body meeting.

It is surprising to note that there will be 288 dancers participating. This means numerous practices and many hours of work, not only for dancing but also for making the costumes. Imagine making over 300 costumes hereat school. Seventeen Home Ec. majors are in charge of the large costume making problem, while 24 other girls are in charge of the dances. There is still another part of May Day preparations that is too often overlooked—that of providing music. Six girls are playing all the music for the dances and the court.

The May Day Court this year is also different. The Queen will be the "Spirit of America" and instead of having a Maid of Honor, the "Spirit of Britain" will do the crowning. The beauties in the court are dressed as people of other lands—thus making it a court of nations. These costumes were ordered and are extremely colorful and attractive.

With all the work that has gone towards making May Day something special this year, S. T. C. can be proud of "America in The Making."

May Day and Democracy

When we're counting our many blessings, we must count May Day. For while we are celebrating and feting this day, the countries across the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans will be engaging in combats in which many lives will be lost.

Yet this pageant will not remove our minds from this world crisis. Rather it will remind us that we are a nation steeped in the democratic way as we see presented before us a spectacle exhibiting the growth of our country. It will confirm our belief in the ideal of an orderly international society living in accordance with the democratic way of life.

With the world tottering about us and all that we value in our customary way of life hanging in the balance, it is especially significant that we should direct our thoughts toward the best in Americanism. Dean Herbert E. Hawkes, of Columbia College, reminds us of this when he wrote "what we all need now more than ever is faith in the validity of our essential traditions, a conviction that during the past two hundred years our way of life has been on the upward grade, and that the contributions to this development are due to men of vision, high purpose and widom. This is no time to emphasize the seamy side of our past, or even of our present, if there be such. A nation, like an individual, has a right to be taken at its best rather than at its worst, until the contrary is proved."

Indeed, then, we feel that our May Day theme is one whereby we may show that we are part of America; and that as a part, we are conscious that faith in America was never more important what with our free institutions being attacked by foreign philosophies.

Honor . . . Questioned?

Each of us has our own code of ethics by which we model our lives. Included in this code is our sense of honesty. However, many of us do not interpret honesty to its fullest extent. If the offense is not so great we are inclined to ignore the honor of the act.

Many of the honor fraternities, sororities, and clubs require fines for unexcused absences from meetings. They also require dues. Reports from these various organizations show that we are neglecting or are shunning these responsibilities.

This is only one instance where our honor is being tested. Let's resolve now to check our code of ethics, and include these as well as other items of honor, which we may be misinterpreting as such.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 7, 1941

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Sara Cline — Editor-in-Chief
Mary Lilly Purdum — Managing Editor
Texie Belle Felts — Business Manager

Associate Editors

Ella Banks Weathers — News Editor
Mary Parrish Viccellio — Feature Editor
Anne Cock — Sports Editor
Jane Sanford — Social Editor

Reporters

Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Faye Nimmo, Charlotte Phillips, Elizabeth Rapp, Dorothy Sprinkle, Sara Trigg, Margaret Wright, Lilly Beck Gray, Miriam Jester, Bridget Gentile.

Assistant Business Managers

Elva Andrews — Circulation Manager
Mary Keith Bingham ..... Advertising
Helen DeLong ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Mary St. Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Ellen Hudgins

Gleanings

By MARY HUNTER EDMUNDS

The menace of Japan to our possessions in the Far East, which has been lying dormant in our minds for many years with only an occasional development thrusting it into the upper recesses of stark realization, is becoming more real every day. A short excerpt from the New York Times last week tells a revealing story. A Japanese Consul General paid an unexpected visit to the Philippines, and simultaneously there was an evident effort on the part of the Japanese merchants there to liquidate their business, discounting prices on goods as much as fifty per cent to accomplish this fact. The Japanese deny that any trouble is brewing and say that it is due to poor business conditions. However, with recent developments what they are, any move on the part of Japan may be significant.

Japan has just recently freed herself from the danger of attack by Russia in signing the Russo-Japanese neutrality pact. This agreement having been secured, Japan is in position to push ahead with what Japan regards as her "manifest destiny", that is the creation of a Greater East Asia Co-prosperity Sphere under Japan's leadership.

Japan has always fought western domination; she has always feared that she too would be parceled out to western powers as China has been. From the beginning she has been on the defense, building up her industrial and military machine in order to be strong enough to meet the West on its own level. She believes that it is her destiny to control the Far Eastern world, and incidentally she is using as her model the United States. In 1906 President Theodore Roosevelt, confirmed by the British, agreed that Japan should be entitled to establish a "Monroe Doctrine of the Far East". This commitment, recorded in the nation's archives, is the legitimation of their present course.

What this sphere of influence will include and how it will operate is only a speculative matter at the present time. It will depend entirely on the course of events. But Japan is awaiting her opportunities. She has an eagle eye on the South Seas, and should even India be suddenly cut adrift and need the guidance of a stronger nation, well, Japan would be generous enough to lend her aid.

Foreign Minister Matsuoka's friendly visit to Germany recently and the unwritten understanding between the two countries may or may not mean much. Japan may be seeking to use Germany to oust the British in the East as she used the Allies in the last war to put out the Germans. It is all a part of her policy to eliminate white dominance in her area of the globe. But it is evident that if Germany should in case of victory attempt to secure European possessions in the East, Japan would turn against her too. Japan is in truth pursuing a policy of her own, a lone hand so to speak. Mr. Matsuoka says, "Japan isn't pulling chestnuts out of the European fire for anybody".

The realization of only a nominal tie-up of Japan with Germany may seem encouraging, but just the singleness of purpose on the part of Japan shows her determination to secure her goal. Just this determination makes us fear for our possessions in the East and the possibility of war to safe-guard them.

Two thousand American soldiers were landed in Manila Harbor the other day. Planes are being sent more than 7,000 miles to watch over the 7,083 islands of the Archipelago. All talk of Phillipine independence is dead, and the islands are clinging tenaciously to the remaining ties to the United States as Japan's southward expansion becomes more and more threatening.

It may be that our bit to the present conflict will be contributed in the East rather than in Europe.

Senior Personality

RUTH LEA PURDUM
President of Senior Class

Possessed of a true executive ability, enviable poise and "My Jack", Ruth Lea, we predict, will be equally at ease teaching school or running a home in Culpeper. Her capacity for handling little jobs- big jobs and middle - sized jobs goes toward making her the fine leader she is, as does her knack for getting things done with a minimum of lost motion.

Flea's real interest in class and school affairs, her clear, straight-thinking mind and innate common sense are readily recognizable in her work—whether it be presiding at class meetings or working on an Alpha Kappa Gamma project. Too, we've never seen her beserk or get into a dither. The future will in all probability find this "four-year prexy" using her executive ability to expertly manage a husband and to run a couple of women's clubs on the side—if she isn't running for the state legislative.

Looking 'Em Over

Memos of a Week-End

Rumors have reached us that Laurie Hardin is the "Sweetheart of S. A. E. Chapter at Sewanee" . . . Bouquets, rice, old shoes and stuff to Evelyn Reveley . . . M. K. what is it to be, with or without the hoops? That dress certainly has something! either way you will wow 'em at Ring Dance with it! . . . Congratulations Dreama Ann on leading the figure at Tech. You and the other lucky chillluns have your hands full memorizing that four page thesis of the figure . . .

On the Cuff:

We wonder why Bess Windham had a call from Bobby cancelled on her Friday night. . . . Maybe on account of "Jess" because.

It seems that Jennie Noel is "Coo"ing it again. Come Spring!

Wonder how Martha managed to get a date with the Billy Russell in his old home town last week end.

Ann Turner, is your date as hard to keep up with every day as he was on the dance floor? . . .

It would be nice to know how Elizabeth Williams classifies Tom in her extra-curricular activities.

In what stage is the Coberly-Tinlin affair by now?. . . .

Barbara White, why don't you just live at home? Then maybe that young man would bring you up for classes every day.

Could it have been Mary Harvie's own roommate that was snaking her at the Commercial Club dance? Or was I just seeing things!

Wonder what would happen to Sara Hardy if there were more brothers in the Blanton family. .

And have you heard? Gracie Hutch is so interested in dramatics that she was terribly upset about missing the Senior play at H. S.

Then we've been kinda wondering why Sarah Massie had rather miss V. M. I. Easters than spend two weeks away from those admirers.

You know, it's a shame about the way May Day practices are bothering some people. Poor Jerry Smith is having a time managing all of her dates and practices at once. You have our sympathy, Jerry.

Senior Smashes Atoms To Expose Feelings of S. T. C.

By PAT GIBSON

... a very disconcerting fashion requests have piled up that I write a column baring to the world at large the innermost secret of my heart—what I like best about Farmville. To call such a request insane would be rude, so it must be termed unanswerable—which is the truth. My first thought was to write on the "Spirit of S. T. C."; that is, until I realized that to rave on about a spirit would be ruinous, or practically so; for Mr. Daniel Webster says a 'spirit is something in the abstract, something mediating between body and soul." And since it have been unfortunate enough not to have done such, how I ask you, can I write about it?

Recently someone said that column writing had drifted to a level of reporting the signs of times which cannot be covered in news stories. In the years to come, it may be possible to look back on successive columns and recall what one thought about things then and wonder if life was ever really like that. Thus it is that I wonder if there will ever come a time when my memories of life at Farmville shall be so dulled that I cannot recall the "friendliness" so characteristic of our Alma Mater—that certain "everybody-knows-everybody-and-speaks-to - everybody" quality that makes you feel right at home and, even more amazing, makes you anxious and eager to come back after a vacation, no matter how exciting and eventful that holiday may be.

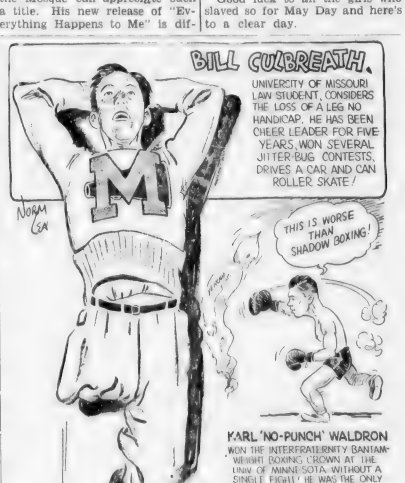
Now, I suppose, is the time to get scientific about this whole thing, convert oneself into a human atom smasher, and expose the various components of this rather intangible "feeling". But just as it is easier to fight for one's principles than to live up to them, so it is easier to know one's feeling than it is to explain them. One might become trite and mention bull sessions and midnighttum and ad nauseam, basking on the rocky roof, little-known-breaks-of-well-known - rules (for the fun of it), Shannon's tete-a-tetes whether it be for romantic or nutritional purposes, bridge and more bridge, the gentle art of skipping classes unnoticed, and finally, the adroit manipulation of the old "interest" line as being the alphabetical gap between a deserved C and begotten A.

Never a sentimentalist or ecstatican, still I am rather inclined, I think, to link up "What I Like Best About Farmville" with fond recollections of High Street in the rain, Longwood, and the surrounding country inflame in the autumn, the quiet, peace and contentment within these red brick walls in contrast to the world-wide upheavel of today, spring, like a lacy gown, upon the campus, stimulating talks of life and its problems, the pleasure which comes of delving into and learning before unknown, vespers in Joan Court, the spirit of athletic contests, the joy of true friendship and the eternal presence of Joan of Arc.

And so it is that the thing I like most about college still remains undefined and undefinable. It is no clearer than it was before I started, but it is there. That is the important thing. Isabel Rose had the right word for it when she said "Few people have learned the art of collecting happy memories: they collect old china and prints and books—all good and pleasant, but fragile and perishable. But happy memories are indestructible possessions which nothing can take from us."

Platter Chatter

By JEANNE SEARS



The spring bouquet goes to Tommy Dorsey—this is well deserved, too.

Maybe we could cast a little light on the subject of his splendid band going to the top again with a dash of band news I pumped out of Lowell Martin, one of Mr. D's trumpeters. Tommy went in a definite slump a couple of years ago, and while vacationing in Florida decided to reorganize his group. Snatching a few young and unexperienced but adventuous musicians, he remained in the Sunny South for four months. Making a return debut in New York at one of the leading hotels two years ago, he copped the title "King of Sweet Swing".

All those who heard him at University of Virginia, V. M. I. and the Mosque can appreciate such a title. His new release of "Everything Happens to Me" is different. But definitely! The tune- a bit in the minor- the vocal-new high for Frank Sinatra- the band- is certainly smooth. He played at Carolina this past week end and is heading for V. P. I. Ring Dances this week end coming up. Another note about our maestro too—he is playing at the Cavalier Club, Virginia Beach for a week starting July 24, and following his brother, Jimmy Dorsey, who gives "I Understand" to sooth the savage Jimmy's number Bob Eberle does the vocal and well, too.

A turn to the world situation abroad Bea Wain gives us "My Sister and I". It's a sweet tune with a sympathic note about our foreign refugee friends-sad but true.

Good luck to all the girls who slaved so for May Day and here's to a clear day.

Dean's List Is Announced

Sixty-Six Juniors And Seniors Listed

Miss Virgilia Bugg, registrar, has announced that sixty-six juniors and seniors are on the Dean's list for the winter quarter. Forty-five of these were on the list last fall quarter.

To be on the Dean's list a student must make a grade of all A's and B's except on floor work in gym for the preceding quarter and must have an average of C for all college work.

Those whose names appeared on the list for this quarter are

Abernathy, Rachel, Dolphin; Allen, Marie Bird, White Gate; Ashworth, Helen, Danville; Ayers, Anne, Roanoke; Barksdale, Virginia, Roanoke; Bellus, Margaret, Farmville; Booth, Carmen, Danville; Carlton, Mabel, Farmville; Chaplin, Corilda, Falling Springs; Cline, Sara, Roanoke; Coleman, Esther, Greenfield; Coleman, Nahrea, Crewe; and Courtney, Thelma, Winchester.

DeBerry, Rachel, Blackstone; Eason, Caroline, Richmond; Edmunds, Mary Hunter, Danville; Felts, Texie Belle, Boykins; Fletcher, Patsy, Warrenton; Ford, Carolyn Frances, Virgilina; Fowlkes, V. Bliss, Danville; Francis, Natalie, Boykins; Garrett, Annie Elizabeth, London Bridge; George, Anna, Portsmouth; German, Lillian, Richmond; Gibbony, Carrie, Farmville; Gibson, Patricia, Long Island City, N. Y.; and Gray, Helen, Chatham.

Hall, Margaret, Wilmington, N. C.; Hunt, Arlene, Nathalie; Hutcheson, Jane Lee, Farmville; Johnson, Dorothy, Suffolk; Jolliffe, Mary Jane, Stephenson; Keck, Frances, Danville; and Kibler, Rachel, Alberta.

Latture, Roberta, Lexington; Lawrence, Mrs. Margaret, Richmond; Moyer, Jean, Portsmouth; Nelson, Caralie, South Boston; Noblin, Emma, Farmville; Nunnally, Edith, Richmond; Overbey, Allene, Chatham; Parker, Elizabeth Ann, Portsmouth; Partridge, Esther, Norfolk; Pedigo, Phyllis, Covington; Peerman, Elizabeth, Danville; Phillips, Catherine C., Hampton; Phillips, Louise, Hampton; Pickral, Agnes, Chatham; Pierpont, Nancy, Salem; Power, Lula, Charlottesville; Prosise, Mary M., Wilson; and Purdum, Ruth Lea, Danville.

Quillen, Evelyn, Farmville; Reynolds, Dorothy, Farmville; Richards, Virginia, Petersburg; Roberts, Martha, Norton; Rollins, Dorothy, Arlington; Shelton, Mrs. Nellie R., Farmville; Sibold, Sarah, Newport; Sprinkle, Dorothy, Buchanan; and Vincent, Elizabeth, Suffolk.

Whelchel, Martha, Hampton; Whitlock, Patricia, Mt. Airy, N. C.; Winn, Flora, Wilson; Winstead, Ruth, Newport News; and Worsham, Marion, Danville.

BEST SHOE REPAIRS
Electric Shoe Shop
(MAIN STREET)

STATE
"Your Community Center"
THREE DAYS
Thurs.—Fri.—Sat., May 8-9-10
ALICE FAY DON AMECHE CARMEN MIRANDA
"THAT NIGHT IN RIO"
(In Technicolor)
Next Mon.-Tues May 12-13
JOAN BLONDELL ROLAND YOUNG
"ROCHESTER"
"TOPPER RETURNS"

Pictured here are the members of the May Court. Standing from left to right are Dreama Waid, Sarah Hardy, Martha Smith, May Wertz, Dorothy Lawrence, Cottie Radspinner, Rosa Courter, Helen Wiley Hardy, Jane Saunders, Jeanne Sears, and Allene Overbey. Seated from left to right are Betty Fahr, Mary Lou Shannon, Helene Stras, Louise Painter, Pat Whitlock, Jerry Smith, Liggie Ellett, and Anne Boswell. Nancy Naff, Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, Peggy Bellus, Dorothy Robbins, and Betty Bridgeforth, also members of the Court, were absent when the picture was made.

Reporter Scoops Comments Regarding H-S' Opinions

The Rotunda last week published a column wherein Hampden-Sydney students were given a chance to comment on the question—If you were asked to give a definition of a cute, all-around girl, what would you include as qualifications and characteristics she should have? As a follow-up, your reporter has rounded the campus and invited some of our readers to air their views on the boy's opinions as printed in last week's paper, if they would prefer such features in the future and what they thought of the column in general.

Dawn Shanklin: I think it's an attractive idea. I only wish their ideal girls had been taller.

Lois Harrison: The viewpoints of the boys from H. S. were very good. I particularly like the ones chosen as the ideal girl.

Sarah Chambers: I liked the fella that had variety in his girls and didn't just stick to one—a sort of chance for the masses.

A. Patterson: It makes me wish I were somebody's ideal.

Helen Lewis: Their idea of an ideal girl sounded pretty perfect. Hope they found them all at S. T. C.

Kitty King: I liked it, and would like to see more of it.

Julia Eason: Yes, I like it, it gives the paper variety.

Kathryn Kennedy: I think it's fun to hear what other schools have to say.

Nancy Maclay: A good point—if they will let us contribute to their paper sometimes.

Coonie Boatwright: I enjoyed the topic last week, and would like for it to continue.

Frances Wilson: I think it is the proper spirit of cooperation between the schools.

Patsy Connelly: I think it would be nice for them to contribute, if they would choose a less personal topic. (Editor's Note: We invited them to comment on this question.)

Dot Gaul: I think H-S did well with the topic and in my opinion gave honest views.

Laurie Hardin: I certainly did did enjoy last week's column, and I'm glad to see these schools cooperating.

Jeff Rowe: I enjoyed it more than anything else in The Rotunda last week.

Connie Knighton: It just depends on the topic. Last week's contribution was very interesting.

Louise Bell: I think their opinions last week were too frank. They expect too much of girls.

Gertrude Wright: I think it adds interest to the Rotunda.

Ella Banks Weathers: Seeing the H-S opinion on different matters will make us sit up and take notice once in a while.

Ann Ware: I like their contribution. It is interesting to get the masculine viewpoint.

Betty Younberg: I'm all for it.

Kitty Parrish: I think it was very interesting, and will be glad to continue hearing their views.

Sara Hall: I like it because it gives us the opinion of H-S boys toward S. T. C. girls. I would be glad to see this continued in the future.

Ann Fitchette: I liked it, and I want them to contribute to our paper; but a better topic could be chosen.

Colonnade Announces Short Story Contest; Deadline Is October 3

Allene Overbey, editor of the Colonnade has announced the annual short story contest to run through the summer. October 3 is the date set for the dead line.

Judges for the contest will be appointed from the advisory board, the student staff and from the student body at large. Prizes of five dollars, three dollars and one dollar will be awarded to the first, second and third place stories respectively.

The stories will be judged according to setting, plot, character development and portrayal and climax.

All material must be typed and becomes the property of the Colonnade when it is handed in. It connot be returned to the author. The staff retains the rights of moderate revision.

May 29 is the tentative date for the Senior issue.

Old Homestead Tourist Home
All Modern Conveniences
(2 doors from S. T. C.)

Hop Says . . .
LET US CLEAN YOUR EVENING DRESSES FOR THE MAY DAY DANCE
DeLUXE CLEANERS
PHONE 77

Look Nice For May Day
Shampoo, manicure and finger wave .85
Long, natural permanents $2.50 to -7.00
Upon presentation of ad a fine dollar permanent for $3.50
PHONE 331
Weyanoke Beauty Shop

Come in and see us for "MOTHER'S DAY" GIFTS
Lynn, the Jeweler
MAIN STREET

May Day Practices Similar To Songs

If repetition is rhythm, then May Day practices could out do Kay Kayser anyday.

Do it Again is Miss Kauziarich's golden rule. Look at Me Now is definitely not what the cutupers would say. While a Cigarette Is Burning all play bridge-from honeymoon and three-handed to the dummy kind.

Now and then the dancers move like rivers or stand like mountains, but Once in a While they Russian with the Folk dances. Over and Over Again the May Dayers Court as time marches on, but I do mean over Plains. It is plain to see that I Do, Do You? At half past ten the bedraggle dancers (?) murmer I've Been Working on May Day All The Live Long Night, as they trug their way home. But through it all, they*Stay as Sweet as You Are*.

Ask anybody why they will not let more than fifteen girls ride in the truck at a time? Could be, but no I shouldn't say, that one of the joys of practice at Longwood is that anybody can occupy the throne. Again, the poison oak and resounding music bring all to life; even if the scratching doesn't, the dancers and members of the court will always Remember May Day practices and years from now they will Lafayette.

French Circle Elects Viccellio President

Mary Parrish Viccellio, a member of the freshman class, from Chatham, was elected president of the French Circle for the coming year. Kitty Powell was elected vice-president; Dorothy Bellus, secretary; and Texie Belle Felts, treasurer.

COME IN AND SEE—
Helena Rubinstein's
KEYS TO BEAUTY
(three lipsticks)
Price—$1.00
A real graduation Gift
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

SPECIAL! Visiting Cards (.85 per Hundred)
New samples of Rytex stationery 100 sheets—50 envelopes $1.00 (with name)
MARTIN THE JEWELER

"Remember Mother"
—on—
Mother's Day
NEWBERRY'S 5c—10c—25c Store

$750 Offered for Best Student Short Story

Redbook magazine is again offering $750 for a short story, not over five thousand words, by an undergraduate and published in a college magazine during the year 1940-41. $500 will be given to the author and $250 to the board of the magazine submitting the story. The prize-winning entry will be published in Redbook Magazine as an "Encore of the Month" The winner of last year's contest was Andy Logan whose story, "The Visit", was submitted by the Swarthmore Dodo and appeared in Redbook for March, 1941.

The editorial boards of college magazines are invited to submit entries in the contest. The editors of Redbook will be the judges of the fitness of the story for publication in this magazine and their decision will be final. Each magazine may submit one entry and the issue containing the story should be sent to the College Story Editor, Redbook Magazine, 230 Park Avenue, New York City, before July 1, 1941.

The Colonnade submitted entries in Redbook's contest last year, and plans to enter the contest this year.

Methodist To Hear College Choir May 11; More Recitals Slated

On Sunday, May 11, the State Teachers College Choir will give a sacred recital at the Methodist church in Farmville. The different groups of the music department of the college will be featured during the program.

The program includes: Intermediate Choir, "Hear My Prayer", James; Solo, "Spirit of God", Niedlinger, Virginia Richards; Senior Choir, Ave Verum, Mozart; Senior and Junior Choirs (a) Jubilate, Amen, Bruch, (b) Allelujha Mozart; College Choir, The Artisan, War.

Sunday, May 18, the College Choir will motor to Portsmouth and Norfolk where they will present programs at the Monumental Methodist Church and Epworth Methodist Church, respectively.

Student Standards Will Conduct Survey

Students Standards has announced that within the next week it will conduct a survey regarding the types of lyceums and speakers students prefer. These results will be tabulated and referred to Dr. J. L. Jafman who will consider these suggestions when he schedules the lyceums for 1941-'42.

Under the direction of Lucy Turnbull, a calender is being made whereby all meeting, plays, social events, and contests may be scheduled. This calender will be placed in a glass case on the wall outside of Mrs. Watkin's office.

Collegiate Digest Features Winners

1942 Contest Open To S. T. C. Students

Best photographs taken by American collegiate amateurs in the 1940-41 school year are reproduced in a special edition of Collegiate Digest, The Rotunda's weekly rotogravure section distributed today.

Purpose of the Salon Edition is to pay honor to the high artistic and technical excellence of the work of camera artists on U. S. college and university campuses. The Salon Edition published winners selected from 926 prints submitted by student and faculty photographers in 40 states. This is a new all-time record for entries.

A board of judges made up of recognized leaders in the fields of photography and art selected the winners. The record-breaking number of entries is an accurate indication of the widespread interest being taken in photography on campuses in all sections of the country, the judges pointed out.

Top honors for any one school went to Los Angeles City college, whose department of photography is one of the finest in the nation. Aggregrate entries from LACC topped those of any other school, and it will be noted that several of the prize-winners came from LACC.

The special honor award photo on the front page of Collegiate Digest, "Negro," was given prominent position because it combines photographic excellence with great reader appeal.

The editors of Collegiate Digest, always active in furthering the interests of good photography, have announced the Salon Edition will be featured again next year. Students of Farmville State Teachers College are invited to enter the contest. The deadline for this fifth national contest will be about April 1, 1942.

Waid Elected Alpha Phi Sigma Head; Key Awarded To Willson

Dreama Waid, of Fincastle, was elected president of Alpha Phi Sigma last Wednesday, April 30. She will succeed May Bartlett.

Helen Wiley Hardy will succeed Mary Willson as vice-president; Louise Bell will replace Hallie Hillsman as recording secretary; Rose Mary Elam will fill the office of corresponding secretary; Ann Ware will succeed Sue Marshall as treasurer; and Nell Quinn will replace Texie Belle Felts as reporter.

At this meeting, Mary Willson received the scholarship key award for holding the highest average among the upper classmen in Alpha Phi Sigma.

Give Mother the gift that she will Appreciate
With us you will find gifts for all mothers!
Davidson's, Inc.

May Court

Continued from Page 1

McCorkle, Jeanne Strick, Mary Garrett, Gloria Pollard, Jerry Smith, Peggy Allen and Elizabeth Brown.

River Dancers

Those depicting the rivers in the abstract are Elizabeth Barlow, Katherine Burge, Hester Chattin, Mildred Chattin, Pat Gibson, Marian Heard, Shirley McCalley, Carolyn Minnick, Louise Phillips, Lois Steidtmann, Helen Watts, Aseita Altomare, Alice Belote, Ruth Dugger, Mary S. Edmunson, and Ann Bradshaw.

Prairie Dancers

Prairie dancers are Hallie Hillsman, Rosa Courter, Sally Hutchinson, Dearing Fauntleroy, Ella M. Pilkinton, Jane Hobson, Patsy Fletcher, Mary E. Petticrew, Jeanne Sears, Madge McFall, Jane Lee Hutchinson, Mary H. Edmunds, and Louisa Sanford.

Mountain Dancers

The mountains make up an essential part of America. Those who will depict these through the medium of dance are Freidia Dekker, Lilwyn Bennett, Mildred Droste, Ruth Dugger, Grace Ellerton, Dorothy Gaul, Lulie Jones, Shirley Pierce, Gloria Pollard, Hatcher Rodgers, Mickey Lawrence, Rachel Ammen, Sara Hardy, Blanche Steel, Arlene Wright, Betty Henritze, Jerry Smith, and Helen McIlwaine.

Oppressed Dancers

The Oppressed dance group composed of fifteen girls will depict those peoples who sought America as refuge. These dancers are Evelyn Krenning, Helen Lewis, Elizabeth Goodwin, Mary L. Boatwright, Sadie Vaughan, Marjorie Gooden, Kathryn Kennedy, Jeanne Strick, Jean Hatton, Rozelle Eckford, Ann Francis, Ethel Carr, Harriette Walker, Ann Covington, and Betty Sexton.

Folk Dances Included

Realizing that America was founded upon the contribution of different nationalities, the folk dancers will portray their influences. The English folk dancers are Nancye Bruce, Nelle Quinn, Betty Henritze, Sarah Trigg, Elizabeth Tennent, Rosalie Rogers, Mary Frances Trevillian, Josephine Starling, Eloise Lupton, Sarah Hall, Betsy Trigg, Sadie Vaughan and Nancy Dupuy.

The Irish dancers are Evelyn Krenning, Frances Owen, Maxine Compton, Marion Heard, June Smith, Mary E. Pearsall, Miriam Jester, Amy Read, Louise Turner, Ann Murfee, Nelle Pritchett, Polly Pride, Anne Rucker and Rachel Clark.

Showing the influence of the Dutch are Jane Hobson, Mary L. Boatwright, Beth Johnson, Jane Smith, Rachel Ammen, Jane Seymour, Delia Gregory, Mary E. Grizzard, Lulie Jones, Kathryn Kennedy, Gladys Wilson, Moody Anderson, Estelle Gills, and Helen Watts.

The Danes also contributed to America's growth. These dancers are Virginia Ellett, Louise McCorkle, Mildred Droste, Hallie Hillsman, Juanita Smith, Elizabeth Hillsman, Aseita Altomare, Eveline Looney, Jo Brumfield, Baylis Kuntz, Ann Sawyer, Nancy Langhorn, Ruth Kirkpatrick, and Doris Alvis.

German folk dancers are Dorothy Gaul, Harriette Walker, Stella Edwards, Caroline Barzanin, Mary Martha Perry, Blanche Steele, Irene Hawkins, Trudy Hale, Jean Arrington, Louise Andrews, Elinor Johnson, Elizabeth Barlow, and Louise Phillips.

Russia has its place, too, in American growth. Russian folk dancers include Ruth Dugger, Shirley Pierce, Jeanne Strick, Helen Gilliam, Frances Adams, Mickey Lawrence, Mary Bugg, Frieda Dekker, Dorothy J. Bozeman, Mary Rucker, Helen Macfindoe, Jenny Clardy, Trudi Hale and Marie Luerkert.

French dancers are Ann Rucker, Nell Richards, Jean Kellam, Charlotte Gresham, Edith Wood, Margaret Campbell, Mamie Snow, Pauline Gough, Elizabeth Walls, Margie Culley, Elsie Oaks, and June L. Hutchinson.

Swedish folk dancers will be Sydney Bradshaw, Anne Fitchette, Caroline Caldwell, Florence Carr, Helen Watts, Helen Ewell, Alice Wells, Mimi Weger, Gertrude Hale, Elizabeth Summerfield, Mickey Lawrence, Doris Alvis, and Aesita Altomare.

Primitives Represented

The primitives of America, too, are recognized as contributing to our country's development. Showing the Indian Influence are Ann Bradshaw, Peggy Allen, Margie Gooden, Jerry Smith, Helen MacIlwaine, Ethel Carr, Mary E. Petticrew, Madge McFall, Jeanne Sears, Patsy Fletcher, Louisa Sanford.

The Negro element will be depicted by Jeanne Arrington, Ann Murfee, Ellen Goode, Estelle Gills, Helen Gilliam, Mary E. Pearsall, Ruth Dugger, Elizabeth Barrett, Doris Alvis, Anne Covington, Jane L. Hutchinson, Helen Watts, Mary Garrett, Aseita Altomare.

Mexican dance groups will show Mexico's influence. These dancers are Hallie Hillsman, Nancye Bruce, Alice Seibert, Harriet Walker, Mallory Davis, Mary S. Edmunson, Shirley Pierce, Betty Sexton, and Mary H. Edmunds.

Near East Viewed By Pi Gamma Mu

The Near East was the topic for discussion at an open forum followed by a formal reception of Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity, Tuesday night, May 6, in the Student Building Lounge. Frances Keck, a senior, and Betty Peerman, a junior, gave talks about the history and current situation of the Near East.

The definition of the "Near East" was the first thing discussed by Frances. The geography and the people of this area, the industries, and why other countries are interested in this section were also brought out in her talk. "In examining the geographic and economic background of the Near East, you will find that all the nations have tried to get spheres of influence in this section for selfish motives. Yet, I don't believe that they can ever stand out as independent powers, but rather need a guiding influence", Frances emphasized.

The Near East from the World War up to the present time, stressing the importance in the present war, was the center of thought in Betty's talk. "It is important, on the main part, because of its position as both a pathway to the Far East and to the Suez Canal and Africa", she said. "Because of the present situation in Iraq, the scene of the war will probably shift to this area with Germany trying to cut off Britain's oil supply and form a pincher movement on the Suez from both sides. The big question at the present is what will Turkey do. She more or less holds the key position in this area."

Ruth Lea Purdum presided and Mary Jane Jolliffe was general chairman for the forum. Marjorie Holt, assisted by Ina Baron, was in charge of refreshments.

A. K. G.

Continued from Page 1

the new president of the House Council. This past year she served as secretary of the council. Jane has worked on the Freshman and Sophomore Commissions and has been treasurer of her class for three years. At present, she is acting as chairman of the May Day property committee.

Nancy Naff, also of Roanoke, is the new president of the student council. Nancy has been active on the student council since her freshman year, having been treasurer this past year. Her activities have also been numerous in other fields, for she has been a member for two years of the Y. W. C. A. membership committee, has served as Social Editor of the Rotunda this year, and has been selected a member of the May Day court for three years.

Elizabeth Ann Parker, of Portsmouth, has not confined her activities to any particular field, but rather has been active in many. She won the diamond key for debating given by Pi Kappa Delta, honorary forensic fraternity, and was recently declared the Grand Eastern tournament winner in extemporaneous speaking for women. She is the new vice-president of the House Council. Active also in the literary fields, Elizabeth Ann will be art editor of the Colonnade next year. She is a member of Pi Kappa Delta, Pi Gamma Mu, and Kappa Delta Pi, having recently been elected vice-president of the latter.

Farmville Professors Elected

District Commander — Dr. John Peter Wynne, who was recently elected commander of the Fourth District American Legion.

Dr. George W. Jeffers who assumed office as president of the Virginia Academy of Science at its annual three-day meeting held in Richmond May 1, 2, and 3. Dr. Jeffers succeeds Dean W. F. Rudd, of the Medical College of Virginia.

J. P. Wynne Legion District Commander

Dr. J. P. Wynne, of Farmville, was elected commander of the Fourth District American Legion, at the annual convention held in Blackstone Monday evening. W. C. Coleburn, of Blackstone, was elected vice commander.

Dr. Wynne is also commander of the Jack Garland Post of Farmville. During the World War he served with the 54th Infantry U. S. A. enlisting in 1918 at the beginning of the war he saw continuous and arduous service until the armistice. He was with the American Expeditionary Force in France from July 1918 to July 1919; in Alsace, he was in the trenches from September 3, to October 15, 1918, and then took part in the heavy fighting of the Meuse Argonne offensive which began on October 26 and ended on November 11, 1918, when the Germans quit.

Colonnade Short Story Contest Scheduled; Rules Are Announced

Rules for judging short stories have been tabulated by members of the English department. Rate your own story for the Colonnade Short Story Contest to be held during the summer months with October 3, the date set for the dead line, according to the following questions.

1. Do the opening paragraphs clearly indicate the nature of the story?

2. Is the outcome foreshadowed clearly enough, but not too clearly?

3. Is every incident clearly related to the others so that nothing could be omitted without injury to the total effect and so that the story moves toward the climax without side-stepping?

4. Has the story unity—i.e., does it have one prevailing mood and is that mood sustained throughout, e. g., pathos, idealism, horror, youthful love with nothing inconsistent with this mood? If the story has a moral, is the moral revealed so unobtrusively as not to seem thrust upon the reader?

5. Does the interest grow stronger toward the close? Is there a genuine climax?

6. Is the end inevitable and not the result of accident or a trick on the part of the author? If the climax is a surprise, does it convince and satisfy you?

7. Does the author generally use direct delineation of action or characters, rather than analysis and comment; and are the talk and actions of every person "in character?"

8. Does the tale show that the author knows well the locality in which the scene is laid, and can picture it widely? Is the author really expressing himself effectively and not merely trying to be clever?

9. Does the style show care and finish? Is it suitable to the story? Is the vocabulary suitable and varied? Does the tale reveal the influence of the study of great fictional writers rather than that of cheap and inferior writers?

Rotunda Rated Good By Collegiate Press

The Rotunda has been awarded a rating of "good" according to the scorebook recently received from the Associated Collegiate Press's 24th All-American Newspaper Critical Service.

All the Rotundas published from September 1940 through January 1941 were entered to be judged. Entries in the first Semester Critical Service for 1940-41 totaled 1375, including 963 secondary school papers and 412 college newspapers.

Papers were judged on news values and sources, news writing and editing, headlines, topography and make-up, department pages and special features.

Receiving an "excellent" rating were the topography and printing of the Rotunda. Headlines, front page makeup and inside news page make-up received "very good" ratings. Copyreading and proofreading also were judged "very good."

Pearsall Names Six To Campus League

Mary Evelyn Pearsall, newly elected Campus League chairman, has announced that six girls have been selected as members of the Campus League for the 1941-42 session.

Nell White and Irma Graff will be the representatives from the senior class, while Eleanor Boothe and Dorothy Childress will be the junior class members. Frances Strohecker and Shirley Pierce will be delegates from the sophomore class.

Keller Will Head Granddaughters Club

Polly Keller, of Staunton, was elected to succeed Nancy Fulton as president of the Granddaughters Club for the coming year.

Eleanor Folk will take over the duties of vice-president, while Harriette Walker will be the treasurer. Lucy Davies will act as secretary, and Julia Eason will be reporter for the club.

GOLF BALLS
AND TENNIS RACQUETS HERE
Second-hand Victrola Records 10c each
WILSON
Firestone Store
THIRD STREET

Green Front
Food Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
Phone 139

Compliments of Overton-
Mottley
Hardware Co.

Jeffers Assumes Presidency of Va. Academy of Science

Group Will Convene In Norfolk In 1942; Makes New Plans

Dr. George W. Jeffers, professor of biology at Farmville State Teachers College, assumed office as president of the Virginia Academy of Science at its annual three-day meeting held in Richmond May 1, 2, and 3.

Dr. Marcellus H. Stow, professor of geology at Washington and Lee University, was named president-elect, to take office at the 1942 meeting. The retiring president was Dean W. F. Rudd, of the Medical College, of Virginia School of Pharmacy.

The academy voted to accept an invitation of the College of William and Mary and V. P. I. to hold the 1942 meeting in that city. Other action included the setting up of a permanent Forestry Section within the academy and ratification of a proposal under which the one-year-old Virginia Journal of Science will continue publication during the coming year with a $500 appropriation from the organization.

During the coming twelve months the academy will devote its major attention toward development of the Virginia Junior Academy of Science and towards a study of the James River Basin.

Junior-Senior Prom Slated for May 31

Mary Katherine Dodson, president of the junior class, has announced that the junior-senior prom will be on Saturday, May 31. Seniors who will be in the figure must wear white.

Mary Katherine Zehmer will serve as general dance chairman, and Irma Graff will be orchestra chairman. Other committees will be appointed later.

Novelist Lectures To Beorc Eh Thorn

Mrs. Marion McCamy Sims, novelist, was guest speaker for Beorc Eh Thorn, English honorary fraternity, at its meeting on Thursday night, May 1.

In her talk, Mrs. Sims discussed the standard requirements for acceptance of stories submitted to magazines. Mrs. Sims herself is the author of Morning Star, The World with a Gence, Call It Freedom, Memoire of Shemalty Sheldon, and The Life on the Hill.

Bliss Fowlkes, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Sara Cline, Dorothy Menefee, Betty Reid, Mary Stuart Wamsley, and Winifred Wright, newly elected members of Beorc Eh Thorn, were initiated at the meeting.

Gresham Announces World Student Fund Lacks $250 of Goal

Charlotte Gresham has announced the results of the World Student Service Fund Drive. This fund will aid needy students all over the world, especially in China.

Last fall $616.60 was pledged by students, faculty, and home department. In November $189.56 was collected; in February, $105.65; in April, $71.15; which is a total of $366.36. The amount that has not been paid is $250.24.

Anyone who has money for the fund may give it to one of the following girls: Yates Carr, 94 Senior Building; Mary Jane Joliffe, 94 Senior Building; Thelma Courtney, 91 Senior Building; Frances Hudgins, 80 Senior Building; Florence Thierry, 67 Cunningham Hall; Dorothy Sprinkle, 67 Cunningham Hall; Mildred Bowen, 25 Cunningham Hall; Polly Hughes, 39 Cunningham Hall; Texie Belle Felts, 58 Cunningham Hall; Jane Saunders, 87 Main; Marie Stowers, 78 Main; Charlotte Gresham, 10 Richardson; or Amy Read, 212 Student Building.

Keller Elected Head Presbyterian Group

Polly Keller, of Staunton, was elected president of the Presbyterian Students Association at their meeting at Longwood Monday night, April 28.

Other new officers elected were Ella Banks Weathers, vice presidents, and Julia Eason, secretary. Both of these girls are freshmen this year.

DUKE UNIVERSITY
School of Nursing
DURHAM, N. C.

The Diploma of Graduate Nurse is awarded after three years. The entrance requirements are intelligence, character, and graduation from an accredited High School. Preference is given to those who have had college work.

The annual tuition of $100 covers the cost of maitenance, uniforms, books, etc.

Catalogues, appplication forms, and information about requirements may be obtained from the admission committee.

Visit the . . .
A & N
FOR ALL
Athletic Equipment
Come in and see our
Tennis Equipment
And other sport wear

MOTHER'S DAY!
Gifts! GALORE—
MAY DAY NEEDS
Evening Dresses— Evening Sandals
Moderately Priced
Sale of June Love Chambray
Dresses, smart looking $3 values ... $1.98
The Hub Dept Store
Charge Accounts Solicited

• Sports Slants •

By CHARLOTTE PHILLIPS

What's fairer than a beautiful spring day in May when one feels as carefree as a bird and as energetic as a spring chicken? You can answer that question for me, girls, 'cause I just don't believe I know of anything finer. That old feeling to know that spring is here and that summer is lurking just behind makes us cognizant of the fact that a little "sporting" will do some good. Now, let's see, what shall we play?

There's Golf

Have you strolled to Longwood lately with your friends, or if you're fortunate, your date? Well, if you haven't had the chance, now's the time to go. Did somebody say why? Why, naturally, 'tis cause the "May Dayers" are tripping the fantastic in anticipation of Saturday's great event.

But the main reason you should travel thither via the "shoe leather express" is that "thar's gold in them thar open spaces". Indeed so. The golf course is your golden opportunity. If you haven't already tried it, don't hesitate to select your clubs and to pay the first tee a visit. Here's to you!

There's Archery—

You know what—every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday at 3:30 o'clock, archery practices get underway. And how those arrows do fly in every direction across the athletic field! 'Tis a wonderful sport and you not only get a little exercise for yourself, but you're helping to push your class colors to the top every time you go out for practice. And I hear the score is to be a close un! So come on chilluns, and see how many bull's eyes you can hit.

There's Volley Ball—

There isn't any reason why we should cease playing those good ole volley ball games simply because the various hall competitors have terminated their activities. Class games still remain to be played and playing a class team isn't as simple as playing a hall team. Why not get a few friends and do down into the gym, pull out the old net, and practice up for the opponents? Can't tell—you might turn out to be the heroine of the game!

There's Swimming—

Speaking of the ole swimming hole—how 'bout that fine pool of ours. It really is the prescription for these warm days. Incidentally, there will be an interclass swimming meet here on Thursday, May 22, which means that more points will be awarded toward the color cup to the swimming team. Here are the rules. Each contestant must have eight half-hour practices before she can compete. So seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen, round up your swimmers and let's swim our way to the color cup!

There's Riding—

Love horses? Who doesn't? Evidently we prefer them, for our campus has certainly been dominated with those strutting their fine riding habits. I'm sure 'most everybody saw those beautiful horses and their excellent riders last Saturday in the Horse Show. Do you think we "S. T. C.ers" could put on a show comparable to that? Well, we might have such a chance 'cause I heard only today that Miss Fox was considering having her Horse Show during our commencement. Wouldn't that be fun? Just think we could show mom and dad that we really had learned to ride. I'm just a-hopin' it will materialize.

There'll Be Picnics—

Of what does the month of May at Farmville remind you? Picnics and just loads of 'em! With the "picnic-fever" descending upon us, let's not forget that Longwood is our property for enjoyment and we should see to it that its grounds are not littered with trash. To the wise I say, watch the poison ivy!

Riders Compete

Members of the riding classes of the college were able to display their skills last week end when they rode mounts in the Horse Show in town. The girls rode local entries in such events as the "Local Three-Gaited Saddle Class", "Pairs of Riders—Ladies or Gentlemen", "Old Virginia Riders Class" and "Horsemanship." Intensive preparation is also under way for their own horse show to take place the latter part of this month.

Badminton Court . . . When?

The A. A. is making plans for a badminton court to be set up in the near future. Just when or where, it is not known, but there's something to look forward to. In the meantime, there's always the croquet court out there between Annex and the Colonnade—on Joan Court, I believe.

HARRIETTE WALKER
Monogram Club President

Walker To Head Monogram Club

Harriette Walker, of Richmond, was elected president of the Monogram Club Thursday night, May 1.

Harriette has served as manager of the hockey team this year. She has been a member of her class hockey team for three years, and was captain of the varsity swimming team this year. She is also a member of the H2O Club.

Martha Roberts, of Norton, will serve as vice-president, and Corlida Chaplin, of Clifton Forge, will act in the capacity of secretary-treasurer.

The Monogram Club has as its purpose the recognition of girls not necessarily outstanding in athletics, but those who do take an active part and are interested in sports. Other qualifications are that the candidate have the essential qualities of sportsmanship and have a scholastic average of "C". Only juniors and seniors are eligible for membership.

Volley Ball Finals Listed For This Week

Volley ball finals are scheduled to be played off this week provided there are no conflicts with May Day practices. Ten points toward the color cup will be the award to the winning team.

This year a new style of practice has been given a trial. Each hall with representative captain has chosen up teams and these groups have played against each other. The best of the players have been selected to play on the class teams which are being matched against each other in the final contest.

The Round Robin tournament is scheduled for this week. It is predicted that games will be played in spare moments such as right after supper or following study hour. All players are asked to please cooperate by coming to the games promptly.

Inter-Class Swim Meet Is Scheduled Here For May 22

Each Class Allowed To Enter One Girl In Listed Events

Dorothy Darracott, manager of swimming, announced this week that the inter-class swimming meet will take place Thursday night, May 22, at 9 o'clock at the pool.

The events included in the meet are the 75 yard medley relay, 100 yard free style relay, 50 yard free style, 59 yard back stroke, 50 yard breast stroke, diving, and comedy stunts such as the balloon relay and comedy diving.

To be able to take part in the meet, each girl must have had at least eight half-hour practices and have made a "C" average or passed all subjects taken during the winter quarter. Each class is allowed to enter one girl in each event. Seniors and sophomores will wear green tank suits, and juniors and freshmen will wear grey tank suits. Seniors and sophomores may get their required practices on Tuesday and Thursday nights; juniors and freshmen may do likewise on Monday and Wednesday nights.

The managers for class teams are: senior class, Pat Gibson; junior class, Harriett Walker; sophomore class, Shirley Turner; and freshman class, Dorothy Gaul.

Anyone wishing to take part in any of these events may do so by seeing her class manager. Points toward the Color Cup will be given the winning colors.

Archery Practices Underway for Contest

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons have been set aside for Archery practice in preparation for the tournament that must be held by the end of the next two weeks.

Three-thirty is the hour for you to come out and aim your arrows with all the arts that have been handed down by Robin Hood and his "Merry band".

New Athletic field is the scene of this interesting pastime where you can shoot away to your heart's content, without fear of answering shots from the enemy.

Five points is the reward that you can present to your class should you be acclaimed the victor of this contest of skill.

Nell Hurt competing for Red and White took top honors in the Fall tournament and is manager for the spring tournament.

Piercing The Points...

Green and White Lead In Color Cup Race; More Points To Be Awarded

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

Indubitably, every S. T. C. girl has noticed the Color Cup that stands on one end of the mantle in the Rotunda. Did you ever wonder just why we have a Color Cup or how long the various teams have had their streamers of Red and White or Green and White on the cup? How close are the teams running this year. Will it continue to have red and white, or will new colors adorn the trophy?

Well, the idea commenced when the athletic program consisted of various seasonable activities, and in order to stimulate interest among the students in school, prizes were awarded in various events to the final winners. In order to have groups working together rather than individuals, two teams were organized—Green and White, and Red and White.

A Color cup was then set up as the final goal to the class teams. If one of the teams had received more points at the end of the school year, their colors would be placed on the cup. A decided number of points was given for each activity in respect to the "clash for the cup."

The A. A. sponsors the color point system under the advisorship of Miss Iler. It has been the desire of the organization to have more participation in sports and better team work rather than individual acknowledgement, therefore, no prizes are awarded to persons winning games. Points go towards that person's team and are added to its score.

To start the athletic season off, there are the great Hockey games on the day of Color Rush. Points are given to the winning team. This year's winner was Red and White, and they started the ball rolling with 10 points to their credit. How times have changed—why, just imagine having a big affair at 6 o'clock on Thanksgiving morning! Well, don't be so taken back, 'cause that's just the way it use to be. We're just fortunate—ours comes the nearest date to Thanksgiving holidays!

Basketball is next on the program, and 10 points went to Green and White as class winner. Also 10 points for having the largest percentage of players who played in at least seventy-five per cent of the varsity games. Last year the same colors won.

Two archery tournaments are held in the spring and one in the fall. This year's fall contest went to Red and White with Nell Hurt winner. Add five more points to the cup! Last year the same team held this sport with Ruby Adams, fall winner; and Myra Smith spring winner.

Not many weeks ago we finished the finals of the ping pong matches in which Green and White was the victor. Helen McIlwaine was second year winner and contributed five more points to Green and White. This now brings the score up to 25-15 in favor of Green and White. What shall the outcome be? ?

Why, there is still volleyball which will give one team 10 points and boy, what a time the hall teams had trying to get in practices. Well, you'd all better do your best and see that the points count for your side.

Also, there will be a swimming class meet on May 22 which will determine the destiny of 10 more points which will end the final points of the year. Last year, class swimming was a tie—the score 24 to 24. But time alone can tell the fate which will be known soon. Who?

It is indeed an honor to have your class colors on the cup. Each class has worked for the various points given so far; and as we look back over the record, there is a sign that other classes, too, felt a certain inward loyalty that made them strive for a part in the "Color Cup".

The winners for the past years have been:

'35-'36—Green and White
'36-'37—Red and White
'37-'38—Green and White
'38-'39—Green and White
'39-'40—Red and White
'40-'41—? ? ?

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

VISIT
Shannon's
On May Day
Good Food—Cool Drinks
PHONE 224

Special for S. T. C. Girls
Cold Plate Lunches
25c—30c—35c
Try One!
CALL 200 WE DELIVER
COLLEGE SHOPPE

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

Spring Is Here!
Have your clothes cleaned regularly
at
DeLUXE CLEANERS
Phone 77

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

BEAUTIFUL PLAIN AND FANCY
White Slips
AND Undies
AT POPULAR PRICES
ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

STRAYER
8 WEEK COURSE
IN SHORTHAND & TYPEWRITING
AN ideal summer course, recommended especially for college students, and high school graduates planning to enter college.
LEARN to take notes on lectures and to typewrite assignments. Improve your opportunity to find gainful employment by specialized training for secretarial duties.
BEGIN JUNE 23 OR JULY 7
COMPLETE courses leading to Secretarial Diplomas. Review and speed building classes for commercial graduates. Training for employment in business and government.
STRAYER Employment Service secures positions for graduates. Over 2000 employment calls annually.
Ask for Catalog and Rates
STRAYER COLLEGE
13th & F STREETS WASHINGTON, D. C.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?
ΤΛΣ
THEY ΛOOK ΣWELL
what the men will say when they see your fingernails beautified with
DURA-GLOSS Nail Polish
10¢ Everywhere
Send for complete booklet on nails. What to do about splitting nails. How to give yourself a Professional Manicure. Ask for "Your Fingernails and their Care." Write—Manicure Dept. Lori Laboratories, Paterson, New Jersey.

Home Runs Are Numerous

Where the Travelers Go . . .

With the coming of the week-end, the usual migration from S. T. C. headed for places hither and yon; dances and "home" reigned supreme . . .

Deep South . . . Our most important migratory move was made by Thelma Courtney and Jane Lee Hutcheson, who went all the way to Natchitoches, La., to represent S. T. C. at the Sigma Pi Rho convention. (This sorority was founded here, ya' know).

Twilight Enchantment . . . Nelle Quinn went to Annapolis to attend the dances at the Naval Academy, while Helen Gilliam, Mary Katherine Zehmer, and Lauriston Hardin went to Raleigh to trip the light fantastic at N. C. State.

Just for Fun . . . Blacksburg claimed some attention, too, for Margaret Thomas, Nell Hall, Patsy Fletcher, and Mary Keith Bingham attended the Senior dances.

Magic Melodies . . . Betty Clemmons took in the dances at Wake Forest, N. C., while Broadnax Harrison went to Richmond for the Medical College dances.

Dance 'Til Dawn . . . Seen at the Roanoke College dances were Emma Louise Crowgey, Libby Bernard, and Leona Moomaw. Katie Crider and Hester Chattin went to Danville for a dance.

Sunlit Gaiety . . . Since our May Day is later than usual, several girls were able to take in those at other colleges. At Randolph-Macon in Lynchburg were Madge McFall, and Jeanne Sears. Anne Barnett, Frances Ellett, and Charlotte Greeley attended the Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester. Among the students attending the science convention in Richmond were Marian Harvey, Irma Graff, Nell Hurt, and Crews Borden. Margaret Wright motored to Sweet Briar to see May Day there.

More Traveling Teachers . . . Nancy Dupuy and Martha Whelchel visited in Greensboro, N. C.; and Constance Loftin went to Salisbury, N. C. Louise Hurff was in Durham.

City Slickers . . . As usual, many girls flocked to Richmond for various and sundry reasons. Among them were Mae Dunnavant, Caroline and Julia Eason, Mary Haymes, Jean Hatton, Peggy Hughes, Patricia Jackson, Betsy Jennings, Betty Jackson, Ruth Kersey, Louise Applewhite, Irma Anderson, Iris Bryant, Betsy Bullock, Emma Broyles, Betty Boutchard, Alice Leigh Barham, Carmen Booth, Mary Frances Bowles, Sydney Bradshaw, Louise Boatwright, Lucy Call, Mary Frances Cobb, Theresa Fletcher, Vivian Gwaltney, Lillian German, Elizabeth Glasgow, Shirley McCalley, Nona McGuire, Edith Nunnally, Allene Overbey, Emily Owen, Martha Old, Frances Owen, Helen Ott, Ada Nichols, Gloria Pollard, Katherine Price, Elizabeth Anne Parker, Pearl Thompson, Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, Rosalie Rogers, Catherine Radspinner, Jeff Rowe, Ann Sawyer, Mary Lou Shannon, Keith Smith, Nell Scott, Lucy Turnbull, Lucy Tucker, Anne Williams, Dell Warren, and Sarah Elizabeth Whisnant.

Home Runs You Can't Beat 'Em . . . In the same direction went Frances Wilson, Marian Worsham, Shirley Turner, Virginia Rose, Martha Smith, Jerry Tittmus, Helen McIlwaine, Frances Parham, Louise Andrews, Anne Boswell and Anne Kelley to Petersburg.

"Last" words . . . Roanoke took Elizabeth Carter, Geraldine Beckner, Doris Lowe, Jane McGinnis, Helen McGuire, Shirley Pierce, Louise Painter, Elizabeth Rapp, Evelyn Renfro, Elizabeth Summerfield, Mary Owen West, and Eleanor Steffey.

Scholarship Society Plans Reception

Beta Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi met in the Honors Room, April 23, 1941. At this time the committees for the Spring reception which is to be held May 16, at 8:30 o'clock P. M. were appointed.

Freshmen and Sophomores, whose scholastic average is above the upper fourth in their class, are invited to this reception which is given annually in the Spring quarter.

The chairman of the committees are refreshments, Sarah Sibold; decorations, Mary Jane Jolliffe; and invitations, Thelma Courtney and Sarah Chambers.

Pope-Barnette Will Wed This Summer

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Barnett announced Saturday the engagement of their daughter, Miss Anne Neville Barnett, to Mr. George Henry Pope, son of Mr. Henry C. Pope of Harrisonburg and the late Mrs. Mary J. Pope. The announcement was made at a small informal tea at their home in Berryville.

Miss Barnett is a graduate of Berryville High School and a sophomore at State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Mr. Pope is a graduate of Shepherd State Teachers College, Shepherdstown, West Virginia and is now a member of the faculty and Director of Athletics of Berryville High School.

The wedding will take place in the late summer.

MOTHER'S DAY GIFTS

EVENING DRESSES FOR MAY DAY DANCES

$5.97 to $14.97

New Cotton Sport Dresses

$2.95

Dorothy May Store

Home of "Carol King"

The Way I See It

By JANE SANFORD

Herbs and Spice . . . .

The spring banquet of the Mu Omegas was held at Longwood, May 1 at 6 o'clock. Many alumnae rcturned for the ocassion, the sixteenth anniversary of the sorority. Other guests included Mrs. Weller (Jean's mother), Mrs. Boyette (Peggy Lou's mother), and Mrs. J. M. Watkins and Miss Leola Wheeler. Toasts were given by Mary Jane Joliffe, Brookie Benton, Dot Johnson, Anne Ayres, Margaret Wright, and Mary Martha Peery. May Bartlett was toastmistress.

Urban . . .

Streaming spaghetti was enjoyed by the Pi Kappa Sigmas on Thursday, May 1, at 5:30. The supper was given by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Graham at their home in Farmville. Besides the active members and pledges those present were Mr. M. L. Landrum and Miss Rachel Royall.

Nature Dipped . . .

Greatly looked forward to, the picnic at Longwood, May 6 at 5:30 for the old and new members of the Student Council, YWCA Cabinet, and House Council was a great success. This picnic is given each year by Miss Mary Cox for the "combined forces" of these three major organizations.

Spring Fiesta . . .

The Virginian Staff held their spring banquet at Longwood on May 2 at 6 o'clock. This banquet was given to the old members of the staff by the new members. The guests included Miss Mary Cox, Miss Bedford, and Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McCorkle. The retiring and new heads of the Rotunda and the Colonnade were also present.

Suburban . . .

The Phi Zeta Sigma spring banquet was held at Longwood, May 1, at 7 o'clock. Among the guests were Miss Frances Collay, a founder of the sorority, and her mother, an honorary member. Miss Carolyn Cogbill, Miss Grace E. Mix, Miss Lila London and Miss Wilhelmina London were also present as well as the actives of the local chapter. The toasts were given by Martha Frances Cobb, Jane Lee Sink, Marjorie Holt, Sue Marshall, Julia Hutchinson, and Lucille Cheatham.

Strictly Rural . . .

Miss India Dunnington, of Farmville gave a supper party at the Dunnington's Cabin on the Farmville Lake Sunday, May 4 at 5 o'clock. The STC girls and their dates who were guests included Nan Duer, Billy Hay; Helen McIlwaine, J. B. Jackson; Nancy Pierpont, Walter Spryc; Marian Worsham, Bill Tracy; Jeanne Warwick, Johnny Pancake; Helen Hardy, Henry Winston; Betty Fahr, Buck Thompson; Dot Robbins, Powell Tynes; Hattie Cantrell, Randy Cary; Sarah Goode, Kossen Gregory; Sara Hardy, Charlie Blanton; Pat Whitlock, Billy Willis; Nancy Bondurant, Lewis Johnson; and Louise McCorkle, "Scrub" Newbill.

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

Patronize

Patterson Drug Co.

—AT—

Money Saving Prices

—FOR—

Drugs and Toiletries

Expert Prescription Service

Clean Fountain

Featuring Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream

238 MAIN STREET

Junior-Frosh Picnic Scheduled for May 12; Juniors Are Guests

Come the afternoon of May 12, Longwood will find itself roaring with the fun and frolic of the pleasure-bound freshman and their guests—the juniors—for the freshman picnic will be in full swing.

Anne Fitchette, Lee Foster, and Lulie Greenhow Jones, are co-chairmen of the picnic.

Elizabeth Tennent, chairman of amusements, and her merry group composed of Betty Bridgeforth, Mildred Corvin, Ruth Dugger, Virginia Ellet, Ruth Hillsman, Sara Jeffreys, Faye Nimmo, Betty Gray Smithdeal, and Ann Steward will see to it that a "good time is had by all".

Mary Evelyn Pearsall and Ella Banks Weathers, co-chairmen of the foods committee, will round up their band of cheerful workers—to be specific, Lois Alphin, Mary Keith Bingham, Evelyn Chenault, Lucille Cheatham, Mildred Droste, Mildred Eades, Theresa Fletcher, Sue Harper, Lorraine Hurst, Beth Johnson, and Mickey Lawrence, to prepare that most important of all picnic necessities, the eats.

And in order to have the eats distributed (?) Sydney Bradshaw and Nona McGuire and their committee will serve on the serving committee. Those enlisted in this service are Jean Arrington, Louise Bell, Dorothy Bozeman, Nancy Hutter, Doris Lowe, Helen Ott, Nelle Quinn, Elsie Smith, Ruth Woody, and Gertrude Wright.

Lucille Lewis is list chairman.

Dorothy Gaul, president of the freshman class, is ex-officio member of each committee, and will lend a helping hand wherever needed.

BUTCHER'S

The convenient store for faculty and student body.

Good things to eat and drink

S. A. Legus, Tailor

Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing

We call for and deliver

All Work Guaranteed

Phone 203

Come to see us

FOR

A complete Line

OF

SANDWICH SPREADS, PKG. CHEESE & JAR CHEESE

The Economy Food Store

KLEANWELL

Cleaners & Tailors

Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling

Main St. Opposite P. O.

Phone 98

Under the management of

"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Planters Bank & Trust Company

Farmville, Virginia

Member: Federal Reserve System

Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

SOCIAL CALENDAR FOR MAY

May 9—8:00	Movies of Ridgecrest Summer Camp
May 10—5:00	May Day—Longwood
8:30	Dance—Gym
May 12	Junior-Frosh Picnic
	Sigma Sigma Sigma Picnic
May 14—5:00	Gamma Theta Picnic
May 15—5:00	FTA Picnic
—5:00	Alpha Sigma Tau Picnic
	Mu Omega Picnic
	Beore Eh Thorn Picnic
May 16—8:00	Kappa Delta Pi Reception
May 19—5:00	Alpha Kappa Gamma Picnic
May 20—5:00	Pi Gamma Mu Picnic
May 22—5:00	YWCA set-up conference
May 31—8:30	Junior-Senior Prom

Farmville S.T.C. Girls Eagerly Await V.P.I. Ring Dance Weekend

Miss Henrietta Sadler of Westhampton College in Richmond will reign as "Miss Liberty" at the 1941 Ring Dances at VPI on Friday and Saturday, May 9 and 10. A "Miss Liberty" was chosen to reign as queen of the occasion in accordance with current defense spirit.

Farmville STC was among the twenty-five colleges in Virginia and the District of Columbia asked to select a Miss Liberty representative from their student bodies, and the nominee from this college was Mary Lou Shannon, a member of the junior class. The final decision was made by the Tech junior class and was based on the integrity, personality, beauty, leadership, and true American spirit of the candidates.

Miss Sadler, who was the final choice is a popular and prominent student on the Westhampton campus. She is president of the YWCA at Westhampton, a member of the Mortar Board, an honorary society for leadership, and a member of the May Court.

Among the STC girls who will attend the Ring Dances sponsored by junior class at VPI, are Helene Stras, Dreama Anne Waid, Dot Childress, Broadnax Harrison, Mildred Eades, Betty Page Harper, Jean Moyer, Catherine Rucker, Yates Carr, Gertrude Burwell, Suste Pearl Crocker, Alma Oakes, Helen McGuire, Nellie Moss Newsome, Anne Stewart, Vivian Gwaltney, Louise Hall, Edith Sibold, Elizabeth Walker, Lilly Bee Gray, and Betty Gray Smithdeal.

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Careful Management Courteous Service

Interest paid on Savings Deposits

The Rotunda

VOLUME XX — FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY MAY 14, 1941 — NO. 28

Gleanings

By THELMA COURTNEY

In recent weeks a couple of prominent men have voiced their firm beliefs that America is on the wrong track, that this is not our war and that England cannot possibly win the present conflict. In answer to these proclamations and pessimistic statements such people as Dorothy Thompson, Walter Winchell and other much-read columnists have resorted to impassioned arguments and name calling in answer to this opposition to their views.

Charles A. Lindbergh is the leader and the most outspoken of this group of appeasers, idealist, prophets or whatever you choose to call them, and he has naturally received the greatest amount of criticism mainly because of the position he had as Colonel in the Reserves. He was forced through true army codes to resign this position when his commander in chief, the President, said he was unfit to continue service in the United States army if such were his beliefs.

Lindbergh Condemned

Immediately people of all sorts began calling him Pro-Nazi, traitor and all those vile names that come to angry minds before they have looked at both sides of the situation. The opinion expressed by many was that since he was in such a position he did not have any right to express his opinion before the public. This is not actually the true case, for being in the Reserves simply means that one has prepared himself for service and has stated that he is willing and ready to serve at the shortest notice from his government. Had he been in such active service he could be readily criticized for speaking as he did concerning the outcome of the war, but he was really speaking as a private citizen and therefore the question of whether or not he could speak freely in a free country must be answered in the affirmative whether or not we agree with what he has said and what he maintains he will continue to say.

Arguments Listed

Whether or not we agree with his views we should stop and consider them and why he says them other than, as Miss Thompson maintains, to get a little publicity. It hardly seems fair to say right off that one who states what he thinks and gives his reasons for it is just doing so for publicity. It seems that those reasons which he gave were naturally ones that would occur to an air-minded person such as Mr. Lindbergh—that is the fact that England is much more easily attacked by air from the French-German bases than Germany is, the distance being much less and the amount of fuel and endurance naturally being less.

Such arguments as his should and can be reasoned with and against, but it is not such a good display of reasoning when we call one a Nazi just because he has put himself in a position in which most of the pro-Nazis have put themselves. There must be some reason for these too quick answers to what Mr. Lindbergh has said and there are many possibilities of which one can only make a guess as to the real answer to the situation. Can it be that those who jump up in fury against him are afraid he is right, afraid he can prove what he says and are afraid to give him a chance? That is one possibility, we hope not the real reason, but then it may be. Another possibility is that they really think he wants Germany to win. This however does not in any way fit in with what he has said, in that he believes in an ideal sort of freedom from those influences which are the characteristics of Nazism.

Too Late for Questions

The third and probably most logical cause for their trying to shut him up, to get people not to listen to his words, is that they are afraid a defeatist attitude will be built up in this country. Whether or not this should be our war, whether or not we should help England win for our own sakes is certainly a very debatable question, but the fact remains that it is too late to ask those questions now. We have already made it our war and we cannot suddenly back out. Wherever it leads us

Continued on Page 3

Mary Katherine Zehmer, newly elected president of Choral Club for 1941-'42.

Zehmer Elected Choral Club Head

Dupuy, Hawthorne, Kennett Are Officers

Mary Katherine Zehmer, of Richmond, was elected president of the Choral Club for next year at its regular meeting on Monday night, May 12. Virginia Richards was president this year.

Mary Katherine has been active in the choir since her freshman year. This year she was a member of the Madrigal Singers. She is also active in athletics, being manager of archery for next year.

Other officers elected were Nancy Dupuy, vice-president; Frances Lee Hawthorne, secretary; and Margaret Kennett, treasurer.

Nancy, a junior from Greensboro, N. C., and a transfer student last year from the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, has been a member of the Choral Club for two years.

Frances Lee, a freshman from South Boston replacing Amy Read, who was secretary and treasurer last year, was elected to the club this year. Margaret Kennett, a junior from Hardy, is a member of the Choral Club and Irene Alderman's Intermediate A'Cappello this year.

Annual Spring Art Exhibit Set For May 19-24 In The "Rec"

Spring is the time of year when a young man's fancy is given a lot of attention; it is the season for new clothes and housecleaning and such. But at the Farmville State Teachers College, it is the season for the annual art exhibit.

At this time artists of every mien. . . . freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors. . . all have a part in the memorable display of handiwork upon which we look and marvel. This year the event is scheduled for May 19 through the 24th and will be held in the "rec".

Perhaps you've noticed with no little amazement the professional way in which certain of your friends have been going out to sketch. . . or maybe you've pondered on the earnest way in which your best friend constructs an extremely decorative bull pup out of a wad of clay. Or you may even have become amazed at the skilful wielding of ordinary crayons to produce a real masterpiece.

The thing for you to do, in such case, is to come to the exhibit; for there will be, in addition to these phenomenon with which you are already acquainted, many other attractive displays. The advanced classes in color and design will contribute many drawings, as will the freshman and senior classes in water color.

There will be, too, one section of the exhibit devoted to crafts, and you can see woven work, carved plaques, modeled bowls and all sorts of cute animals, as well as hand done books and portfolios. The craft exhibit will be shown only on Wednesday the 21st from two 'til five. And at this time, as an added attraction, there will be a demonstration class conducted just to let you know how it's all done.

Confidentially, the art department is in a whirl over this annual "coming out party"; and it promises to be an event you can't miss. So come on down to the rec. . .support local talent. . .because needless to say, "the public is cordially invited!"

Final Issue Of Colonnade Features Seniors

Will Be Dedicated To Class of 1941; Wynne Contributes

The final issue of the Colonnade for this school year, which is dedicated to the seniors of 1941 is soon to be released. In the main, the contributions are from the members of the senior class and reveal strikingly their talent, and their feelings as they leave their Alma Mater.

Dr. J. P. Wynne, head of the Department of Education, will be the guest editorialist from the faculty and will give a message to the graduates. Proving his capability and his value to this school, Dr. Wynne has accepted an invitation to serve on the faculty at Harvard University during the summer session.

Pat Gibson will be the student editorialist and will write concerning the new and different world conditions which this year's seniors will face. Caralie Nelson, out-going president of the Student Body, reminisces delightfully in "Things I Shall Remember". "Seventh Day", a story, will be contributed by Anna Johnson, who has written often for the Colonnade. Margie Rice, a member of the Board of Contributors, will write "On Privacy in a College Dormitory". Poetry will be contributed by Edith Nunnally, Bess Windham and Frances Hudgins. "Cast and Forecast", a page for your scrapbook, will be arranged by Cottie Radspinner.

Mrs. Margaret R. Lawrence, a member of the Board of Contributors, submits a group of outstanding children's poems of which the middle pages will be composed. These will be illustrated by Dorothy Rollins, guest artist from the senior class. Mrs. Lawrence will also contribute "Even Tenor", a character study.

A special feature in the book reviews will be Professor John Beaty's recent book, "Image of Life", in which he defines his term, "decadent sentimentalism", as he used it in his criticism of the Colonnade. His criticism appeared in the March issue. Professor Beaty is now head of the Department of English at the Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas. Although he has been at the University for some years, he remains a loyal Virginian and retains his Virginia property.

Colonnade Short Story Contest Is Announced

Annual short story contest sponsored by the Colonnade will run through the summer months. October 3 is the deadline.

All material must be typed when handed in and cannot be returned to the author. Character development and portrayal, setting, plot, and climax will be the basis for judging the stories.

Prizes of five dollars, three dollars and one dollar will be the first, second and third place stories respectively.

Kappa Delta Pi Entertains May 16

Extend Invitations To Honor Students

Invitations have been received for the annual reception of Beta Epsilon chapter of Kappa Delta Pi to be given Friday, May 16, in the student lounge at 8 o'clock. Kappa Delta Pi is a national honor society in education.

Kappa Delta Pi was installed at S.T.C. in 1938. It recognizes as its aims scholarship, character, and service with additional emphasis on a professional outlook. There are 122 chapters in teachers colleges and schools of education in the United States.

The reception is given in honor of the freshmen and sophomores whose averages for the year are within the upper quartile.

Freshmen and Sophomores who have received invitations are Lois Alphin, Elva Andrews, Anne Barnett, May Bartlett, Louise Bell, Dorothy Bellus, Nellie Brooke Benton, Mary St. Clair Bugg, Margaret Caroline Caldwell, Mary Lucille Cheatham, Imogen Claytor, Hazel May Colgate, Dora Maxine Compton, Patsy Connelly, Mildred Corvin, Marie Davis, Barbara Drewry, Helen Elizabeth Duncan, and Catherine Dunton.

Stella Edwards, Anne Ellett, Helen Ewell, Eleanor Polk, Martha Hammock, Helen Wiley Hardy, Frances Hawthorne, Jeanne Haymes, Mary Fidele Haymes, Betty Henritze, and Virginia Hill.

Ruth Hillsman, Myrtle Frances Jenkins, Betsy Jennings, Sarah Elizabeth Johnson, Evelyn Jones, Mildred Lawhorne, Doris Lowe, Louise McCorkle, Mary Moore McCorkle, Susie Lyle Moore, Charlotte Morris, and Faye Nimmo.

Betty Overcash, Agnes Patterson, Frances Patterson, Martha Pharis, Belle Pursell, Nelle Quinn, Amy Read, Mary Rosalie Rogers, Jeff Rowe, Alice Seebert, Emily June Smith, Jane Elizabeth Smith, Jeraldine Smith, Mamie Snow, Lois Steidtmann, and Jeanne Strick.

Elizabeth Tennent, Sarah Trigg, Mary P. Viccellio, Dreama Waid, Edith Grey Walden, Mary Stuart Wamsley, Ann Ware, and Betty Watts.

Miriam Weger, Betty Faith White, Mary Barnes Wilson, Mildred Louise Wilson, Mary Gladys Wilson, Violet Mae Woodall, and Winifred Wright.

Cole's of Richmond will be the caterers for the reception.

Holton and Cogbill Selected As Officers

Samuel M. Holton, associate professor of education, was elected vice-president of the Farmville State Teachers College chapter of the Virginia Education Association at its meeting last Wednesday night, May 7. Miss Carolyn Cogbill, principal of the elementary school, was selected secretary.

Mr. Holton will succeed Dr. J. P. Wynne, director of teacher-training, as president in May. He will serve for a term of two years. Miss Cogbill succeeds Miss Bessie H. Jeter, associate professor of home economics.

Boswell Named Head Of Cotillion Club

Mary Lou Shannon, of Richmond, who was elected figure leader of the Cotillion Club for next year.

Rosebro Selects Y. W. Committees

Larger Membership Will Extend Service

Frances Rosebro, president of the Y. W. C. A., has announced the members of the new Y. W. C. A. committees for the next school year. Several of the committees are larger this year than they have been in previous years.

The chairman, advisors, and new members of the committees are church cooperative committee, chairman, Polly Keller, advisor, Miss Mary C. Hiner; members, Catherine Bodine, Margaret Bowling, Mary St. Clair Bugg, Martha F. Cobb, Texie B. Felts, Sue Marshall, Susie Moore, and Lillian Wahab.

Library committee, chairman, Juanita Leftwich, advisor, Miss Rachel Royall will have as its assistants Geneva Brogan, Arlene Hunt, Miriam Hanvey, Catherine May, Nancy Powell, Ruth Rose, and Gene Seymore.

Membership committee chairman, Dorothy Childress will have as advisor Miss Rachel Royall; and as members Sydney Bradshaw, Natalie Carroll, Mildred Eades, Lucy Davis, Constance Figg, Irma Graff, Charlotte Greenly, Katherine Harman, Mary Verdle Haug, Nancy Hutter, Anne Lyons, Anne Moore, Jack Parsons, Nancy Saunders, Jane E Smith, and Margaret C. Thomas.

Sarah Chambers, chairman of music committee, has Mrs. Adele Watkins for her advisor; and her assistants include Carolyn Beard, Gerry Beckner, Nancy Dupuy, Buff Gunther, Nellie Johns, Mary Moore McCorkle, Mildred Morris, Mary Jane Ritchie, Virginia Rose, Louise Sanford, Elsie Stessel.

Continued on Page 4

Moomaw Announces "Rec" Committee

Leona Moomaw, chairman of the "Rec" committee, has announced that Ella Banks Weatherly is to be her assistant and that Miss Rachel Royall will be advisor.

Other members of the committee are Estelle Smith who will be in charge of the booth with her assistants Betty Laird, Virginia Firesheets, and Eleanor Feagans.

Jean Weller, head of music committee will be assisted by Charlotte Rose and Theresa Fletcher; Dorothy Sue Simmons, head of equipment, has as her aides Lois Alphin and Gertrude Wright; and Sue Harper and Jocelyn Gillum will look after the miscellaneous items.

Shannon Selected As Figure Leader For Spring Dance

Cantrell Voted Business Manager; Lawrence, Secty.

In a spirited election Anne Boswell, junior from Petersburg, was elected president of Cotillion Club last night, May 13.

Mary Lou Shannon, of Richmond, was chosen leader for the Spring dance. Dorothy Lawrence, of Salem, will serve as secretary-treasurer and Harriet Cantrell, of Roanoke, as business manager.

Anne, who is succeeding Boonie Stevenson of Richmond, has been a member of May Court for the two past years, served on the Founders Day Committee this year and is vice-president of the Pan-Hellenic Association for the coming year.

Mary Lou, who will take Nancy Pierpont's position, has been in the May Court and Mardi Gras Court for three years. She also has worked on the Sophomore Commission.

Dorothy was in May Court this year, chairman of the May Day Costumes, and Pan-Hellenic representative. She will serve in Louise Painter's office.

Harriet was a member of the Music committee for Cotillion Club this year. She was also on the photographic staff of the Virginian and a literary editor for the Colonnade. Outgoing business manager for this past year is Faye Brandon.

Two dances are sponsored every year by the Cotillion Club. Jimmie Cannon's orchestra furnished the music for Fall Cotillion, and Enoch Light played for the Spring Dance.

Novel May Day Wins Approval of Crowd

By MARY P. VICCELLIO

Quite novel and interesting was last Saturday's May Day! So completely was it a variation of the conventional May Day that one stamps it "original". That the idea was timely and the whole presentation delightfully different cannot be denied, and even the most skeptical of us was pleased with the entire fete.

With intermittent waves of cool breezes and rays of a hot, downpouring sun, the day proved ideal for a top-notch performance. Long before the appointed hour the spectators benches were filled. Mothers and Fathers, eager to see their offsprings trip the light fantastic demonstrated their eagerness by their early arrival. Family alone did not compose the audience, though. Children eager to see the queen of the May and thoroughly pleased when the folk dancers played ring around the roses, rather obstreperously made their presence known. All in all, the audience was a motley crew of onlookers.

"America in the Making"—the theme of May Day is one we shall not soon forget, for its timeliness and novelty were truly refreshing. With the court as a hub and the folk dancers as spokes a symbolic wheel of all nations was formed. All of this was uniquely done to a musical background which showed much precision in timing and arrangement. The costumes added much to the colorfulness of the occasion. The May Court, consistent with the idea, wore the dress of the country each represented.

For those of us who like the conventional, this was a new and interesting experience.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Sara Cline ..... Editor-in-Chief
Mary Lilly Purdum ..... Managing Editor
Texie Belle Felts ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Ella Banks Weathers ..... News Editor
Mary Parrish Viccellio ..... Feature Editor
Anne Cock ..... Sports Editor
Jane Sanford ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Faye Nimmo Charlotte Phillips, Eliabeth Rapp, Dorothy Sprinkle, Sara Trigg, Margaret Wright, Lilly Beck Gray, Miriam Jester, Bridget Gentile.

Assistant Business Managers

Elva Andrews ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Keith Bingham ..... Advertising
Helen DeLong ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Mary St. Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Ellen Hudgins.

Typists

Chief Typist ..... Thelma Courtney
Typists—Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Dorothy Gaul

WEDNESDAY, MAY 14, 1941

Editorial Comment

Attention Please!

Every season of the year brings with it innovations to which we have learned that we must adapt ourselves. The forms these changes demand are varied. But the one which concerns us just now is the fact that this spring weather necessitates our opening all the windows and, in some instances, the doors in order to secure better atmospheric conditions.

Naturally, this means that the passage of the halls as well as the grounds around the classrooms must be quiet. Because the majority of our classrooms are neighboring the dormitories, we must observe quiet during the class hours. Loud talking, laughing, playing radios and vics, and other forms of disturbance are distracting to the class and cause loss of time.

In view of this condition, we hope that no more need be said.

Optimism or Pessimism?

The appearance of the program for the commencement exercises of the fifty-seventh graduating class in this paper week before last recall to mind the fact that in a scant two weeks we will be in the midst of our final exams. And the thought of these remind us that we have approximately fourteen days in which to complete term papers, read parallel, conclude extra-curricular activities, and to make-up missed tests.

We are not taking the attitude of a pessimist, but are merely suggesting that time be budgeted so as to include both work and play.

A Toast To All

The columns of this paper have had a lot to say about May Day. We waxed enthusiastic this past January when plans for adopting such a program were first formulated and presented to the student body. Just about everything which could be said in regard to such was expressed. Those who witnessed the festival need not be told of the success which it enjoyed. But we do feel that the time is appropriate to express the student body's appreciation to those who made May Day possible—a distinct contribution to our college.

WOMEN AND NATIONAL DEFENSE

By Marguerite W. Zapoleon, Specialist in Occupations for Girls and Women

Defense against the insidious warfare of today requires action on many fronts. On most of them, American women are already busily engaged. They are serving in the armed forces of the country, in Government agencies, in industry, in schools and colleges, in women's clubs, and in volunteer organizations.

Women in the Armed Forces

We usually think only of the men in the armed forces of our country, but besides the women who type and file and perform housekeeping functions in the Departments of War and Navy, there are 1,135 women serving as regular nurses in the Army Nurse Corps. An additional 450 reserves have already been added to the regular staff, and by July this number will be increased to 4,000. In the armed forces are also some 90 civilian nurses and 222 women medical technologists, working as dental hygienists, therapy aides, and dietitians. Much publicity has been given to the new hostess jobs in the Army, created as an innovation to supply a woman's service in connection with leisure-time activities in Army camps. But since 10,000 women applied for the 100 available hostess jobs, it may be well not to direct too much attention to this new opening for women.

Women in Defense Industries

Let us look to the industrial front. While the list of defense occupations prepared by the U. S. Employment Service contains few in which women are customarily employed, the Women's Bureau has indicated those for which women are suited and can be trained. Women are already operating lathes, punch presses, and other machines. They are assembling parts and inspecting and folding parachutes. We even find them operating over-head cranes. And they are working as is their wont in their usual occupations in increasing numbers as men workers are drawn off for selective service or obtain work in the heavier industries.

Women's Activities in Schools and Colleges

Our schools and colleges are eager to contribute their share to national defense.

Many women's colleges have undertaken defense projects. Russell Sage College, for example, has substituted for nonessential extra-curricular activities a program which requires each student to master one of the following emergency skills: elementary nursing, emergency feeding and nutrition, aviation, auto and abulance driving and repair, elementary business knowledge and skills. In addition, the physical education program is being expanded, forum and radio discussions of defense issues are being arranged, and opportunity is given students to participate, if they wish, in activities of war relief organizations.

Women and National Defense Activities of the Government

The U. S. Office of Education is responsible for the administration of funds appropriated by Congress for defense training. Although women as well as men were eligible under the law for training under the program which began last summer, the types of courses offered were those in which few women are likely to enroll. Here and there, however, women were admitted in local training courses in machine shop, welding, airplane ground work, drafting, etc. Altogether 595 women were trained by February 1, as compared with some 300,000 men. We should not forget, however, that there are approximately 50,000 girls enrolled annually in the regular federally reimbursed industrial and trade day classes.

The enthusiasm and eagerness with which American women are seeking to serve augurs well for our national defense. For no matter how well prepared are the front lines of defense, upon the women of the country depends, to a far greater extent than their numbers indicate, that all-important spirit which in times of stress, we term morale.

Determination And Stamina Characterize Youth of America

"Where there's a will, there's a way," and there is a will here at school. According to the statistics there were one hundred and twenty-three girls on the N. Y. A. payroll last month. Each month, of course, the pay roll varies as some of the girls go to the country to teach or are unable to work. There are very few unusual jobs, but there are four girls that work in the Farmville High School and one girl that works in the Public Health office. For one session, the N. Y. A. payroll is $12,405.

At other schools, there are some mighty ambitious students, too. Take John Briley of Emory University. For four years he was the sole owner and operator of a flourishing worm farm. While he studied, Briley employed eight boys to dig common earth worms. These he kept in dirt-filled barrels in his garage, fattening them with corn meal, bananas and coffee grounds. His supply could hardly meet the demands of local fishermen and he made more than $2,000 on the part-time project in four years.

Then there is Ernest Atkins, a freshman at Emory who is paying his way through college with five jobs. An experienced soda jerker when he reached college, he immediately landed two part-time jobs in that field. Then he landed an NYA job working in the dormitory office in Alabama hall. After that, he decided he didn't need any sleep, so he started throwing the morning paper. Finally, he became campus agent for a cleaning firm. He sleeps four hours a night, goes to Saturday night dances, and sleeps late Sunday morning. And his grade average is B plus!

Senior Personality

DOROTHY ROLLINS

Former president of Kappa Delta Pi

"Dotty" Rollins is one of the few among us who can whisk off a beautiful water color one day, create a ring the next, and design a dress the following day. And yet, we do not find anywhere a more modest person. If asked whether she painted a certain clever pinnochio, she will merely smile "uh-huh", amazed that we even noted her work.

Since Dotty is versatile as well as talented, her pen gives her brush a merry chase for first honors in creating. Her writings, many of which have appeared as features in The Rotunda, display her unusual knack of putting ordinary words into beautiful and expressive language, and then interspersing it with all that clever and subtle wit that is so characteristic of her.

Whenever there is work to be done, you can be sure that she is busy helping, for she is always ready to lend a willing and capable hand to assist in any school activity. We appreciate her for her willingness as much as we admire her for her ability and versatility.

In toto, Dotty is one of the few people who are fortunate enough to have that perfect blend of talent, character, friendliness, generosity, and wit that go to make her a capable and ever-willing worker, as well as a true friend.

Looking 'Em Over

Orchids to: The queen, maid of honor, and court, as well as all participants of May Day—to the Annual Staff for sponsoring such a superb dance.

Rah! Rah! for S. T. C. ! ! ! The best represented school at Ring Dance—with Dreama leading the figure, too ! ! ! That's a mighty pretty miniature! And speaking of miniatures, have you seen Peggy Lou's, Louise Hall's and the rest? Helene showed up Saturday afternoon to be in the Court after being in the Ring Figure and receiving a miniature Friday night—Some of the girls collected college jewelry over the week end ended up with fraternity pins. How 'bout it, Sydney? ! ! !

Strange Sights: Kitty Price going down the receiving line with two dates !!! The girls who grabbed a certain Staunton boy around the neck and wouldn't let anyone break !!! Lucy Davis' Charlie minus two front teeth!!! What happened, Lucy? !!! (You are referred to Hunter Leach for further info.)

Standbys and Newcomers What would a dance be like without Jeanne's Bro, Pritch's Sam, and Patsy's Yehudie?? We wonder!!! At long last we've met Campy's Jack and Nona's Bill. . .

Speaking of Snakes: Nancy Hutter was doing all right with Charlie Wilson. . . And how 'bout Patsy Fletcher. . . Really now!!! Did you see Laurie Hardin? Hmmm! We don't know the technical name for the deadliest reptile, but the name goes for May Bartlett. Bill Cline, Senior Dance date of Jean Weller, called May Sunday and invited her to Finals at N. C. State. Proof enough, yes?

Afterthought: The visitors weren't doing so bad for themselves either—for instance—Miss South Carolina—and how 'bout those visiting late daters!! Whew!

We Wonder: What A. P. thinks about Stuart's week end date—no wonder he preferred T. Dorsey. If "Miss Liberty" could also be responsible for Dot's wandering Lebo!! If Carolyn Harvey has made up her mind about Rosser yet? We're waiting; and it looks like M. K. will take up whenever (if ever) you drop off!

Why?? Was Ella Marsh so excited Thursday over Jimmy's coming? Flip Boyette couldn't come to the dance? Jerry had George to the dance? Could Neil be mad?? Billy Baskerville was with Anna B.?

Represented: We see that V. M. J always manages to get here—Just one representative, but what a representative! Congrats Charlie!!! And V. P. I. had two dignitaries here. Buddy Dance, president of present Junior Class and Jack Catlin, president of class '43. Jack was mighty attractive Nancy.

Poison Ivy to: The girls who danced barefooted at the dance Saturday night!!! The jitterbugs who stepped on everybody's feet —- The girls who didn't take care of their dates!!!

Just Noted: Helen Lewis in a storm trying to look out for Bob, Wally, and Howard, etc! She made a good job from all appearances.

Painter and Billy Spong enjoying themselves. Meanwhile we eagerly await developments in the Sowder's comeback. Billy Russell recommending a nice slider plus mint juleps for short intermissions during S. T. C. dances! Among those favorite couples we liked to see were Peggy Lou and Dave, Allene and Jack, Sprye and "PP", Tracy and Marion, Dot and Jack, Hunter and Paul, Ella Marsh and Jimmy, Jeanne and Bro, May Winn and Webb, Sadie and Bob, Virginia Alexander and Bill Beerbower, Cottie and Jimmy Peden, Grace and P. T.

"Sugar" Lugar really lived up to all expectations. Nice going, Hatton—We are all awaiting Parham's Horace's arrival

BRIGHT SAYINGS OF THE KIDDIES—"The real trouble with our youth today is that they were out the night before."

"It is better to remain silent and keep professors in doubt than to say something and let them be sure."

THE WORLD WAR HIT PARADE—

Begin the Barrage
Toorpedo Junction
Gunboat Serenade
Beat Me, Joey, Three to a Shelter
Hellelujah, I'm a Bomb
Old Black Bomber
Shiptide
Call of the Cannon
Hell Hell, the Gang's All Here
Whispering Tanks

Little Bird Chatter: We hear that in a belated answer to that recent Question of the Week affair concerning ideal girls and such Bill Patterson assumed the role of the mad bar-tender and mixed jiggers of charm and common sense in a glass filled with the milk of human kindness and then garnished all this with "a generous hunk of unadulterated beauty" to produce his ideal girl. . . . Spose that's why so many of our young damsels are running around with magazines and books on charm and common sense and similar literature all of a sudden!!

Last Minute Thoughts: Betty Fahr was indeed radiant yesterday afternoon, for she was with the object of her affection. . . at the moment anyhoo. Mention must be mare in this column of Anne Roberts and Bill Armes (we hope we have the right man—he's one of H.-S's famous twin cheer leaders). For further reference we refer you to the "Rec". Time: Sunday night 'bout 8:45 P. M.

Gene Hardy Kilmon is reported to be doing a good job of snaking a hometown girl. If there's any snaking in the question, we wager Gene Hardy isn't the one. The young man to whom reference is made is Pete, better known as G. H.'s Annual Dance date.

• Sports Slants •

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

Green and White has stepped forth with colors flying. The scores on the "color cup" clash have been released so now is the chance for each and every one to perk up and show the other sides just how the games are played. Now 'bout May 22 we will be looking for some real competition for this date marks the class team swimming meet which will take place in the pool at 9 o'clock, so if you are a "backer of the colors" come down and help your team! There is still one more week to trim yourselves up—The Juniors and Freshmen may take their work-outs on Monday and Wednesday nights, while Sophomores and Seniors can dip on Tuesdays and Thursdays. It's all for the fun of sports, so take a try at it even if you aren't the fastest girl in school. After looking over the merry-maids in all the classes, I see a good bit of competition. What do you think?

Off on a stroll? No? Oh, yes this is Spring and now is the season for picnics! The calendar is really full of them too—Last Monday the Freshmen entertained their sister class at a picnic at Longwood. And talk about eating—well there wasn't a bit of food left by the time the last one departed—and then there was a nice bit of hiking back to school—speaking of hiking—the days are certainly good for this sport. Have you started a regular "walking around" after dinner each evening? Some have made it a regular habit—not a bad idea, I should say!

Volley ball games will be completed this week announced Sarah Wade Owen manager. Everyone must have their practices—and by chance you haven't just arrange a game with your hall captain,do so now. There has been quite a bit of playing from super to "lights out"—and even then Jane has a time "breaking it up"! Keep up the interest and support your team. That's what we have to have around here to keep the sports alive—and after all it's for your enjoyment!

If you know what's going on around here, you'd surely hear about the archery practices each Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday afternoons at 3:30 o'clock. If you're in doubt about the place or equipment just meet on the athletic field and there you'll find the gang. Why not learn how to shoot one of those arrows—it's really a wonderful sport and if you've missed the chance to play the game, just try your bit now. The Spring tournament will take place real soon and to the colors will go five more points. Will "you" or "you" be the one to hit the bull'seye?

The spring riding schedule has really been full. Why riders are even rising at such early hours as 6 o'clock and walking to the stables where they start on a long trip! S. T. C. was well represented last Saturday at Fairfax Hall where a riding show was held—congratulations to German and White for such a nice performance. We're proud of that ribbon you brought back. And while all of you riders are taking your "work-outs", don't forget that during Finals at Farmville there will be a Horse Show at Longwood on Friday, May 31. This show will be presented by the S. T. C. Riding Club and in it will be displayed all forms of horsemanship.

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

Special for S. T. C. Girls
Cold Plate Lunches
25c—30c—35c
Try One!
CALL 200 WE DELIVER
COLLEGE SHOPPE

BEAUTIFUL PLAIN AND FANCY
White Slips
AND Undies
AT POPULAR PRICES
ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

MEET ME AT . . .
Shannon's
Good Food—Tasty Drinks
Phone 224—We Deliver

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—273

SANDALS from South America, Mexico and America. Novelties you'll want. Comfortable and so little to pay—$1.98 and $2.45.
THE HUB DEPT. STORE

NEW COTTON DRESSES from $2.95 to $7.97. Cotton slips $1.00. Wedgies in white and colors $2.45.
DOROTHY MAY STORE

White And German Cop Third Place In Horseshow May 10

Honors Won In Paired Class; Held At Fairfax Hall

Representing the S.T.C. Riding Club at the annual horseshow at Fairfax Hall last Saturday, May 10, were Lillian German, Nelle White, Buff Gunter, and Mary Frances Wynne.

Their first entry was in the c'ass of Horsemanship for school girls. Fairfax Hall placed in this event. Nelle White and Lillian German achieved third place honors in their entry in the Paired class for school girls. In this event they rode new, unfamiliar horses.

The entire morning program consisted of judging of riders, while the afternoon was given to the showing of horses. Because of our May Day program in Farmville, the group did not stay for the afternoon schedule. Mr. M. L. Landrum was in charge of transportation, and Miss Stella Fox, riding instructor, was chaperone for the group.

Class Swim Meet Set For May 22

The Inter-class swimming meet will take place next Thursday night, May 22, at 9 o'clock at the pool. Dorothy Darracott, manager of swimming, has announced that Patricia Gibson, Harriette Walker, Shirley Turner, and Dorothy Gaul will act as class team managers for the seniors, juniors, sophomores and freshmen respectively.

Each class is allowed to enter one girl in each event scheduled. Seniors and sophomores will wear green suits; Juniors and the freshmen will wear grey suits. The pool is opened on Monday and Wednesday nights for "Red and White" pratices, while "Green and White" may work out on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Eight one-half hour practices and an average of "c" or passing in all subjects taken the previous quarter are the requirements for those wishing to take part in the meet.

Events included in the meet are the 100 yard free style relay, 50 yard free style, 75 yard medley, 50 yard backstroke, 50 yard breast stroke, and diving.

Fifteen New Girls Added To Choir

Fifteen new members were added to the Choir at a recent meeting held April 28 in the choir room.

Among those chosen were Charlotte Rose, Carolyn Beard, Mary Vendle Houg, Louise Bell, Nelle Quinn, Josephine Starling, Margaret Thomas, Sue Harper, Louise Parcell, Nancy Williamson, Le Reine Thornton, Blanche Colavita, Nellie Moss Newsome, Frances Snell, and Katherine Kennedy.

Some of these girls were chosen for their good work in the Choral Club. Others were chosen for the interest shown toward music.

NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store
Stationery
Supplies
for
EXAMS

S. T. C. GIRLS
ENJOY HEALTHFUL
RECREATION
STEVE'S BOWLING ALLEY
FARMVILLE, VA.

Sport Calendar

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday—Archery Practice, 3:30.
Monday afternoons — Senior Life Saving, 3:30.
Friday afternoons — Freshman Swimming Exam., 3:30.
May 22 — Interclass Swimming Meet, 9:00.
May 31—S. T. S. Horse Show at Longwood, 2:00.

Choir Will Present Recital In Portsmouth And Norfolk May 18

On Sunday evening, May 11, the State Teachers College Choir presented a sacred recital at the Farmville Methodist Church, featuring the different groups of the Music Department of the college. The program included several numbers which were used in the recent Spring Festival of Music.

The same program with slight variations will be presented at Monumental Church, Portsmouth, Virginia, on Sunday, May 18, at 11 o'clock and at Epworth Methodist Church, Norfolk, Virginia, at eight o'clock that evening. Margaret Anne Foreman, of S. T. C., and Edward G. Fields of Hampden-Sydney, will be soloists on these occasions.

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet To Hold Conference

Both old and new cabinets of the Y. W. C. A. will convene in their regular annual set-up conference at the Longwood cabin, Wednesday, May 21. At this time the tentative program of the organization for next year will be discussed.

After this meeting, at five o'clock the old and new committee members, including the freshman committee members, will be served Longwood buns and cocolas. This social hour will take the place of the usual picnic, stated Frances Rosebro, president.

Gleanings

Continued from Page 1

all are going to have to follow it and see it through. Therefore any attempt to build up a "you-can't-win" attitude on the part of even a minority of people would be a destructive force within the nation.

Though Mr. Lindbergh may believe what he says is true, and though he should not in anyway be deprieved of the freedom of speech granted to every American citizen, it is quite possible that he should learn to keep a few of his thoughts to himself now that America is backing England in every possible way. We have chosen our course and our government has made its steps in the direction that it feels is best. We must all go in that direction together if it is to succeed, while those who believe we are going to destruction must learn to suffer in silence, to wait and see ! ! ! !

Visit the . . .
A & N
FOR ALL
ATHLETIC EQUIPMENT
and
OTHER SPORT WEAR
COME IN AND SEE OUR
TENNIS EQUIPMENT
IF YOU ANTICIPATE
CAMPING TRIPS
SEE US FOR
FULL EQUIPMENT

Sports Round-Up . . . . .

What Do You Think of the Status Of the Sport Program at Farmville?

As we make our way into the Athletic activities at S. T. C., we find that each sport is planned and worked on before it is presented to the participants. This backing organization is the A. A., and to it and its adviser, Miss Iler, we owe our thanks for giving us the pleasure of sports on our campus.

But often we find that public opinion will help straighten up some loose ends; and in order to find your thoughts on our school athletics, we present this question to you this week: What do you think of the Sport program at Farmville? . . . What can be done to improve it?

Many persons have expressed there feelings . . . these we offer to you.

Dot Johnson. . . "In comparison to what's offered at other schools, Farmville has more equipment and advantages in the athletic program. What we need is more active participation".

Mildred Droste. . . "We have a grand variety of sports offered, but we do need those new tennis courts that we've been hearing about!"

Ella Marsh Pilkinton . . . "I think that if varsity members would not participate in class games, we would have more people coming out for class sports."

Frances Parham. . . "It's All Right! We can't have improvement without participation."

Sarah Wade Owen . . . As it has been "sayed" before, "we must have a good representation of people in all the sports."

Mary Parish Viccellio . . . "There should be more emphasis placed on "solo" sports such as tennis, golf, etc, so we will be able to enjoy them during their seasons."

Jean Hatton . . . "This year's sports program has been better than I've ever seen it . . . only more cooperation could be made between the girls and the A. A."

Betty Bouchard . . . "We've room for lots more people in every sport around here. Everyone can have a part in a sport if she would only take the time."

Polly Keller . . . "We have a very adequate sport program offered, but why don't more take advantage?"

Elizabeth Anne Parker . . . "Add new tennis courts to our campus . . . we really need them!"

Beezie Townsend . . . "I would love to see horseback riding given a place in the curriculum as a physical education course."

Charlotte Phillips . . . "Each and every part of the program of activities is well organized, and it is up to the students to take part."

"Mow" West . . . "I think that the volley ball games where we have hall competition has done more to bring out new girls into the game."

Nancy Naff . . . "The standard of cooperative spirit in the games is high, just keep it that way!"

Kay Spencer . . . "A good baseball team would certainly interest a lot of girls around here. Why not have one?"

Jane McGinnis . . . "Our sport program is large enough for the number of girls that take part, but we should put more interest into riding."

Sara Hardy . . . "We are very fortunate to have the equipment which we do have here in school —a beautiful pool—new athletic field—and the promise of tennis courts for next year."

Well, here we have quite a few pointers. How 'bout this idea of more participation? Why not? We want our activities to live, and in order to do this we must be a part of them. Support your teams and make them a necessary part of your sport program!

Hop Says . . .
LOOK SPIC AND SPAN
FOR COMMENCEMENT
Have your clothes cleaned
DeLUXE CLEANERS
PHONE 77

MAKE GRADUATION
BEAUTY APPOINTMENTS
WELL IN ADVANCE
Vanity Beauty Shop

Visit the . . .
A & N
FOR ALL
Athletic Equipment
Come in and see our
Tennis Equipment
And other sport wear

COME IN AND SEE—
Helena Rubinstein's
KEYS TO BEAUTY
(three lipsticks)
Price—$1.00
A real graduation Gift
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

SPECIAL! Visiting Cards (.85 per Hundred)
New samples of Rytex stationery 100 sheets—50 envelopes $1.00 (with name)
MARTIN THE JEWELER

STRAYER
8 WEEK COURSE
IN SHORTHAND & TYPEWRITING
AN ideal summer course, recommended especially for college students, and high school graduates planning to enter college.
LEARN to take notes on lectures and to typewrite assignments. Improve your opportunity to find gainful employment by specialized training for secretarial duties
BEGIN JUNE 23 OR JULY 7
COMPLETE courses leading to Secretarial Diplomas. Review and speed building classes for commercial graduates. Training for employment in business and government.
STRAYER Employment Service secures positions for graduates. Over 2000 employment calls annually.
Ask for Catalog and Rates
STRAYER COLLEGE
13th & F STREETS WASHINGTON, D. C.

Plans of Seniors Revealed In Recent Questionnaire

With an object partly animate and partly inanimate with life, a whole world has been changed. This thought is current as this year's senior class nears the final stretch and makes plans to enter new races in different communities. It's an outcome well worth betting on, so we'll start hailing up facts we ripped out as a result of a poll taken out of the senior class.

The majority of the graduation class plans to teach. Some of the affirmative answers were suffixed with comments that we would include here, were there no such verb as censor in Webster's. But since it is so, we can only say that generally the teaching profession is the most popular one. Some few of the seniors wanted to do graduate work; while others expressed a preference for office, laboratory, and domestic (aha!) work. Yes, the number planning to seek the royal road to romance was not so small as to be overlooked. And then there was one perfectly ambitionless senior who plans to do nothing after graduation.

Those that plan to teach seem to think from three to five years a sufficient length of time. Some plan to teach until marriage, others as short a time as possible. There was only one senior who wanted to teach six years.

In reply to the question of matrimony, the affirmatives were definitely in the lead. Very few plan to be O. M.'s (three guesses!) Some, less certain of marriage than others, appended such expressions as "Someday", "I hope", "later" and "maybe", "perhaps" to their answers.

It was rather amazing to find the one thing each senior would remember with most pleasure. Everyone had a different remembrance which she held dear to her. It was generally agreed that the friends made here would never be forgotten. Other souvenirs ranged from meeting the "man I love" to Christmas dinners and "hanging of the green". Bull sessions, student teaching, getting my frat pin, Christmas vacation, Spring Cotillon, H. S. boys, sorority, Saturday nites, A. K. G. tapping, convention trips, and getting mail were other popular brain indentures.

Purdum, Dodson And Eason Attend A. K. G. Regional Convention

Ruth Lea Purdum, outgoing president of the local chapter of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honor society for leadership, Caroline Eason, new president of the local chapter, and Mary Katherine Dodson, the in-coming vice-president of the national society, attended the regional A.K.G. convention which was held at Pawley's Island, South Carolina May 10 and 11.

There were delegates from Queen's College, Columbia College, University of South Carolina, and Farmville State Teachers College. In hearing the reports from the other colleges, Caroline Eason stated that good ideas have been received for next year. Plans are now being made for the Joan Circle to cooperate with the Red Cross in their relief work for war zones.

Caroline Eason and Mary Katherine Dodson will be the delegates to the convention to be held next October at Columbia, South Carolina.

Thompson Will Head Commercial Club

Marie Thompson, from South Hill, was elected to succeed Ethel Beasley of Petersburg as president of the Commercial Club. Katherine Dunton will succeed Betsy Jennings of Roanoke as vice-president. Frances Hoback from Richlands will take secretary Marie Thompson's place. The treasurer, Katherine Hawthorne, of Kenbridge was reelected. The faculty advisors are Mr. Merle Landrum, Mrs. J. P. Wynne, and Miss Ottie Craddock.

The installation of new officers took place Tuesday, May 13.

When you entertain

The six-bottle carton

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

Y. W.

Continued from Page 1

Mary Parrish Viccellio, and May Wertz.

Prayers Committee, under the chairmanship of Frances Lee Hawthorne, has as advisor, Miss Mary Finch; and as members, Eleanor Boothe, Hazel Callahan, Mildred Corvin, Anne Cover, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Ellen Hudgins, Myrtle Jenkins, Betty Laird, Dorothy Marrow, Warwick Mitchell, Jeff Rowe, Lillian Turner, Ella Banks Weathers, Gladys Wilson, and Violet Woodall.

Public Affairs committee, with chairman, Amy Read and advisor, Miss Mary C. Hiner will be assisted by Doris Alvis, Martha Hammock, Virginia Hill, Miriam Jester, Margaret Mish, Betty Reid, Carolyn Rouse, Anne Beale Scott, Dorothy Sprinkle, and Florence Thierry.

Harriette Walker, chairman of publicity committee announces that Miss Mary Finch will be her advisor and that Rachel Abernathy, Caroline Bargamin, Elizabeth Gates, Lillian German, Betty Ballard Jones, Connie Knighton, Alice Seebert, Anne Turner, and Winifred Wright will be her assistants.

Service committee, in charge of chairman, Nell Richard, and advisor, Miss Winnie Hiner, has as members Elizabeth Bernard, Evelyn Cannon, Mary Garrett, Viola Garrett, Elsie Oakes, Nell Pritchett, Ann Roberts, Rosalie Rogers, Rosaura Sosa, Blanche Steele, Lois Steidtman, Elizabeth Walker, Margaret West, and Mildred Willson.

Sing committee chairman, Polly Hughes, with her advisor, Mrs. Adele Watkins, has Rachel Ammen, Lena Butterworth, Dorothy Darracott, Mary Katherine Dodson, Ellen Ebel, Jane Ford, Louise Foster, Betty Henritze, Ruth Hillsman, Gene Hardy Kilmon, Emily Mahood, Nellie Moss Newsome, Agnes Patterson, Betty Peerman, Charlotte Phillips, Louise Phillips, Ella M. Pilkinton, Gloria Pollard, Margie Rice, Lillian Sifin, Rebecca Spicer, Anne Ware, and Margaret Wright to aid her in enacting Saturday night sings.

Social committee, with chairman, Nancye Allen and advisor, Miss Lucille Jennings, lists Dorothy Anderson, Emma Louise Crowgey, Jocelyn Gillum, Mary Harvie, Jean Hatton, Grace Hutcheson, Nancy Langhorne, Elizabeth McCoy, Leona Moomaw, Sarah Wade Owen, Frances Parham, Lucie Ellen Powell, Jane Scott, Frances Strohecker, and Shirley Turner as members.

Town Girl committee, under chairman, Hannah Lee Crawford and advisor, Miss Lucille Jennings will have Sadie Vaughan, Mamie Snow, and Nancye Bruce.

DUKE UNIVERSITY
School of Nursing
DURHAM, N. C.

The Diploma of Graduate Nurse is awarded after three years. The entrance requirements are intelligence, character, and graduation from an accredited High School. Preference is given to those who have had college work.

The annual tuition of $100 covers the cost of maitenance, uniforms, books, etc.
Catalogues, appplication forms, and information about requirements may be obtained from the admission committee.

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

The Way I See It

By JANE SANFORD

Called to the "Wilds" . . .

Many STC girls turned into agile athletes around 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, May 6 to join the members of the Hampden-Sydney Monogram Club at a picnic at Bear Creek Lake. These girls and their dates included Helen Gilliam, John Gouldin; Crews Borden, John McCraw; Sara Hardy, "Buddy" Murdock; Martha Smith, Billy Russell; Nancy Pierpont, Walter Spyre; Elizabeth Williams, Tom Miller; Betty Fahr, Elmo Berry; Jean Upshur, Bill Baker; Jeanne Sears, Booty Shelton; Lucy Call, Guy DeMuro; May Wertz, Tom Currie; Dot Darracott, Ken Hart; Mary Anna Mottley, Rod Bouton; Ann Price, Bill Armes, Coralie Gilliam, Bobby Schultz; Elinor Johnson, Johnny Dunlap; Jo Canada, Billy Baskerville; Aggie Mann, Wiley Umstead; Ruth Hillsman, John Dunn; Ruth Loving, Syd Weed; Lillian Ann Turner, "Toad" Thurman; and Jane Cabell Sanford, Bill Patterson.

The chaperones included Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Smith and Mr. and Mrs., D. E. Brackett.

Vitamins Plus Gusto . . .

The Tri-Sigmas gave their spring picnic at Bear Creek Lake Tuesday, May 13 at 4:30 o'clock. Active members and pledges attended.

Sampler Sampling . . .

The Junior-Frosh picnic was given at Longwood Monday, May 12, at 5 o'clock for the members of the two classes.

Gab and Grub . . .

The members of Gamma Theta sorority gave their spring picnic at Bear Creek Lake this afternoon, May 14 at 4:30 o'clock.

BUTCHER'S

The convenient store for faculty and student body.

Good things to eat and drink

S. A. Legus, Tailor

Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing

We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed

Phone 203

Come to see us
FOR
A complete Line
OF
SANDWICH SPREADS,
PKG. CHEESE & JAR CHEESE
The Economy Food Store

KLEANWELL
Cleaners & Tailors

Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling

Main St. Opposite P. O.

Phone 98

Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Planters Bank & Trust Company

Farmville, Virginia

Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

CAMPUS CRUISERS . . .

Although the home port proved favorite, another week-end saw STC anglers shoving off for more dancing waters (with plenty of hooks and lines). Most all of the catches were made at Blacksburg, but closer by at Hampden-Sydney there were many hooks baited to make the Big Ones bite. As usual other charted courses led to familiar shallow waters. . .

GOLDishery . . .

Doin' credit to their tackle at the VPI Ring Dances were May Bartlett, Dot Childress, M. K. Ingham, Vivian Gwaltney, Jean Moyer, Sara Currie, Emma Louise Crowgey, Nancy Bondurant, Helene Stras, Broadnax Harrison, Lilly Bee Gray, Betty Page Harper, Dreama Waid, Yates Carr, Catherine Rucker, Gertrude Burwell, Virginia Howell, Evelyn Bourne, Louise Hall, Nellie Moss Newsome, Ann Holland, Helen McGuire, Elizabeth Walker, Susie Crocker, Alma Oakes, Ann Stewart, and Edith Sibold.

South-See-ers . . .

Seven miles south at Hampden-Sydney College Helen Hardy, Winifred Wright, Esther Atkinson, Jane Lee Hutcheson, Louise McCorkle, Sara Hardy, and Jane Sanford looked for fish to fry at the Chi Phi Parties.

Ye Old Salts . . .

Anna George, "Buff" Gunter, Lulie Jones, Kitty King, Nancy Naff, Mary Lou Shannon, Allene Overbey, Margie Rice, "Jac" Parsons, Shirley Turner, Nell Scott Mary Keith Bingham, Virginia Campfield, Agnes Patterson, Ethel Carr, "Miggie" Mish, Christine Pittard, Ann Bradshaw, Margaret Bowling, Mallory Davis, and Helen Dawson caught the windjammers for Richmond.

Notice To Seniors

Senior Song Practice—Each night after dinner
Senior Chapel Service—May 23
Senior Commencement Practice May 30
May 31
Senior Banquet—Longwood, 6:30 P.M. May 31

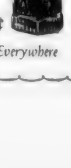
Seniors get your invitations mailed now. Seniors please watch for notices concerning any of our commencement activities.

STATE
"Your Community Center"

Wed.-Thurs. May 14-15
WALLACE BEERY LARAINE DAY
"THE BAD MAN"

Fri.-Sat. May 16-17
JOHN GARFIELD IDA LUPINO
"THE SEA WOLF"

Next Mon., Tues., Wed. May 19-20-21
JAMES STEWART HEDY LAMARR
LANA TURNER JUDY GARLAND
"THE ZIEGFELD GIRL"



WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

TOO POSITIVELY DIVINE

how you'll look if you beautify your fingernails with

DURA-GLOSS Nail Polish 10¢ Everywhere

The Rotunda

Watch for Your Colonnade Monday, May 26

VOLUME XX — FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 21, 1941 — NO. 29

Gleanings

By MARY HUNTER EDMUNDS

The third-ranking Nazi landed upon a desolate Scottish moor last week, and the world received its greatest shock since the war began. The mystery of why the tall, handsome, close friend of Hitler, Rudolf Hess, should place himself in the hands of his country's enemy in time of war is still a mystery. A flood of interpretations, officials and unofficial, have sought to explain the incident.

Some say that Hess has quarrelled with the Fuehrer and is fleeing for his life where he will be safest. Others claim that he is insane. Some persons believe him to be the Trojan horse of modern times. The Germans now declare that he went to England on a self-appointed peace mission, while the British would have us believe such an action on the part of a high German official is an indication of the crumbling of the Nazi regime. Each person can take his pick of the explanations. No one is entirely satisfactory, yet neither is any one impossible.

Regards Flight "Doubtful"

In the first place, Adolf Hitler and Rudolf Hess were inseparable. Imprisoned together after the "beer cellar putsch" of Munich, Hess wrote "Mein Kampf" as Hitler dictated it. His devotion to the Fuehrer has been unquestioned, and was singularly rewarded by his being declared successor after Goering in the event of Hitler's death. Of course, matters move very rapidly in a totalitarian state with a ruthless man at the head, and one cannot say that it is impossible that Hess feared another "blood purge". But the fact that Hess left his family in Germany would not seem to indicate that he fled to save his life.

Hess Not A Madman

Perhaps Hess is mentally deranged as the first Nazi official reports claimed. But he made a skillfully conceived flight to Scotland, and an accurately-drawn map found in his pocket indicates that he came down to earth in his parachute at a point only about three miles from his desired destination. This does not sound like the impulsive actions of a madman. Yet the whole affair is so fantastic that we cannot help wondering.

Trojan Horse Theory

That Hess is a part of a carefully constructed Nazi plot was immediately the cry of far-sighted persons everywhere. They believe that nothing is too extravagant for the fertile brain of Hitler to conceive nor too daring for him to attempt. However, Sir Norman Angell, British economist and Nobel Peace Prize winner, says of Hess, "He's too expensive to the Nazi people to be used as a Trojan horse."

Is No Treaty Maker

There are those who believe that Hess came to Britian on his own initiative because he believed that he could persuade certain English friends, the Duke of Hamilton being mentioned by name, of the futility of the present war and could in two days make peace with England and be escorted back to Germany by the British. Letters, which he is alleged to have left in Germany, do indicate his intention of returning to the Reich within two days. But with no authority in Hess's hands for making a treaty, this argument loses much of its force.

The British propaganda machine would have us believe that the Nazi regime is ripe for an internal explosion, that Hess was merely one Nazi "who saw the handwriting on the wall and got out while the going was good".

Story Still Incomplete

Frankly we cannot know what to believe. We can only take our choice of the censored intimations. Obviously there is much of the story yet to be made public, and it may never be. We can only know what the propaganda machines of England and Germany want us to know, and each is trying to capitalize to the uttermost on the bewildering flight. Even if the mystery is never solved, even if the whole story is never told, Rudolf Hess has certainly made himself one of the most spectacular figures in this war, and his action, whatever its outcome, will be written in history as the most fantastic of all times.

House Council Rules for Exams

Jane Engleby, president of the House Council, announces the following rules for the students to abide by during exam week.

Regulations

Study hour starts at 7 o'clock and lasts until 10 o'clock. There must be absolute quiet after 10:30 P. M.

No radios may be played during study hour or after 10:30 P. M.

Busy signs are good after 10:30 p. m. as well as during study hour.

Everyone must stay in her own room unless it is absolutely necessary to study with someone else. Those girls who do not have exams on certain days or do not have to study must abide by the rules.

A Student Government "F" will be recorded on the reports of anyone who breaks the above rules.

Jr.-Sr. Prom Committees Chosen

Orchestra Will Be Named Later

Mary Katherine Zehmer, chairman of Junior-Senior dance, announces that the following girls will head and compromise the committees in charge of the prom which the junior class will give the senior class in the college gym, May 31 from 8:30 to 12 o'clock.

Nell Hurt will be chairman of the floor commitee and she will be assisted by Gay Ward Brown, Peggy Hughes, Anne Ayers and May Turner Winn. In charge of tickets will be Gay Ward Brown and she will be aided by Irma Graff and Ellen Royall. Elizabeth Anne Parker has charge of the decorations and she will be assisted by Corbie Radspinner, Anne Turner, and Lillian German.

In the receiving line will be Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Mr. Charles French, classman of the senior class, Ruth Lea Purdum, senior class president, Miss Rachell Royall, junior classman, and Mary Katherine Dodson, junior class president.

The officers of senior and junior class with their dates will lead the figure in which all seniors

Continued on Page 4

Rice Named Head Of Debate Club; Parker Counselor

Swertfeger Elected Coach; Nichols Will Advise Group

Margie Rice, Richmond, and Elizabeth Ann Parker, Portsmouth, were elected president and counselor respectively of the Debate Club for next year at the regular meeting held Tuesday night, May 13.

At the same time, Dorothy Marrow was elected vice president; Geraldine Beckner, secretary; and Betty Faith White, treasurer.

Dr. Floyd F. Swertfeger, of the education department, has been selected to succeed Miss Mary P. Nichols as debate coach. Miss Nichols will succeed Dr. James E. Walmsley, faculty adviser for Pi Kappa Delta, who has been forced to resign because of additional work he must carry next year.

Margie, a junior this year, has been a member of the Debate Club for two years and has recently been issued a bid to Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity.

Elizabeth Ann, also a junior, is the outgoing vice-president of the Debate Club and is a member of Pi Kappa Delta, in which she holds the "Degree of Special Distinction". She attended the Dixie Tourney at Winthrop College, S. C. last fall, the Shippensburg Tournament in Pennsylvania this past winter, and the Grand Eastern Tourney at Winthrop this spring where she was proclaimed Grand Eastern impromtu speaker.

Dorothy and Geraldine, both sophomores, have participated in campus debates during the course of the school year.

Betty Faith, a sophomore, having successfully completed the requirements for membership, was initiated at the meeting.

Funeral Is Held For H. D. Jarman

Funeral services for Henry D Jarman, 88, brother of Dr. J. L. Jarman, were held May 19 at Charlottesville. Mr. Jarman lived in Farmville for a short time. He retired from active duty six years ago.

Several of the S. T. C. faculty attended the funeral service.

S. T. C. Debaters Win High Honors Of Pi Kappa Delta

Degrees of Special Distinction and Honor Bestowed On Four

Jack Cock and Frances Keck have been awarded the "Degree of Special Distinction in Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary forensic fraternity. Anne Cock and Thelma Courtney have attained the "Degree of Honor." These awards were bestowed Thursday, May 15, at the meeting of the society.

The "Degree of Special Distinction" is the highest honor Pi Kappa Delta confers on debaters. The holder of this title becomes eligible to wear the diamond key, symbol of special distinction.

The "Degree of Honor" is the next highest honor and entitles the bearers to wear the emerald key.

Requirements Listed

In recognizing members for the honor of "Special Distinction", Pi Kappa Delta requires that each candidate shall have participated in eighteen inter-collegiate decision debates on three different national questions and shall have won over half of them. Each candidate for the Degree of Honor shall have participated in twelve inter-collegiate decision debates on two different national questions and shall have won over half of them.

Special Distinction Bestowed

Jack, a senior from Hampton, has been secretary of Pi Kappa Delta for two years, is a member of the Debate Club and has been participating in intercollegiate debating for three years. She attended the Dixie Forensic tourney at Winthrop, South Carolina last fall, and the Pi Kappa Delta South Atlantic Provincial tournament at Montevalo, Alabama this spring.

Frances, a senior from Danville, debated for two years at Averette Junior College and has debated here for two years. She was treasurer of Pi Kappa Delta this year and also treasurer of the Debate Club. She attended the Shippensburg tournament at Shippensburg last winter, and the Grand Eastern tourney at Winthrop this spring, where she was awarded the Grand Eastern title in the "Response to the Occasion" contest.

Win "Degree of Honor"

Anne, also a senior from Hampton, is the out-going president of the Debate Club and has been doing intercollegiate debating for three years. She attended the Shippensburg tournament last fall and the Provincial tournament in Alabama this spring.

Thelma, a senior from Winchester, was vice president of Pi Kappa Delta this year and is a member of the Debate Club. She attended the Shippensburg tournament, the Provincial tournament, and at the Grand Eastern tourney was proclaimed "Grand Eastern After Dinner Speaker".

Pi Kappa Delta on this campus is the Virginia Alpha chapter and has the distinction of being the only chapter in Virginia.

Wright Named Head Of Honor Fraternity

Winifred Wright, sophomore from Farmville, has been elected president of Gamma Psi, honorary fraternity in art, to succeed Anne Turner, of Richmond.

Lillian German was elected vice-president to succeed Harriette Walker. The secretary will be Geraldine Beckner, who will take the place of Patsy Fletcher; and the treasurer will be Anne Turner, who will replace Dorothy Rollins.

Gamma Psi sponsors the appreciation of art, and is responsible for bringing art exhibits to this campus.

Class of 1941 Schedules Traditional Chapel Program For Friday, May 23

On Friday, May 23, the class of '41 will present its own Chapel service composed of songs written by members of the class, and several traditional Class Day songs. Seated upon the stage will be Dr. Jarman, Mr. French, classman of the seniors, and the officers of the class.

Ruth Lea Purdum, class president, will give a short farewell speech on behalf of her class, to which Mary Katherine Dodson, president of the junior class, will respond. Mary Katherine will then announce the name of the senior who has been chosen to be an honorary member of the senior class.

The remainder of the program will be in song, after which the seniors will form an archway under which the juniors will march to the strains of the Alma Mater.

This ceremony is the first of the traditional rites of the school at the close of the year at graduation time. This will be the first time that the Juniors have had the privilege of marching to "Alma Mater".

The songs which will be used were written by Betty Beale Fahr, Bess Windham, Madge McFall, and Frances Hudgins. In addition to the original songs, the traditional songs, "Joys We Have Known" and "Farewell To Thee", will be sung.

Ruth Lea Purdum who will preside over Senior Chapel Friday morning.

This is the "goodbye" of the seniors to the school. Wearing their caps and gowns, they sing their songs of friendships and farewell to the "friends we have known."

May Wertz is in charge of the music, and Dorothy Rollins the decorations.

Virginian Dedicated To Dr. J. E. Walmsley

Emphasis on Informal Theme; Snap Pages Resemble Life Magazine

The fortieth edition of the "Virginian", yearbook of the college, was presented to the student body in chapel on Tuesday, May 20, by May Wertz, editor-in-chief. The "Virginian" is dedicated this year to Dr. James Elliott Walmsley, head of the history department.

The fortieth edition of the "Virginian", yearbook of the college, was dedicated to Dr. James Elliott Walmsley, above, during the chapel services yesterday, May 20.

Dr. Walmsley is advisor for the Debate Club and Pi Kappa Delta, and is a public speaker of prominence in this vicinity.

Dedication Read at Chapel

The dedication and portions of the opening page and the appreciation page were read to the student body, after which a copy of the Virginian was presented to Dr. Walmsley. The yearbooks were distributed from the Chemistry Building immediately after chapel.

The theme of the book continues the informality of last year's annual in page style, pictures, and copy. There are no division pages, and organizations are presented in chronological order as to their place in the school year. Following the dedication page is an opening page containing reminiscent thoughts of college life in 1940-41, and snapshots typifying the informality of campus life.

The following pages feature important fall happenings—the installation of the freshmen, the Big-Sister-Little-Sister reception, the signing of the honor code, and the major organizations on the campus.

New Feature Added

A new feature was the preface to each heading of a few significant words concerning the organization or event, which connected each writeup, continuing the theme of a story of the year.

The covers, orginal in their material and design, were enthusiastically received by the student body. The material is a burlap weave with hard finish, and in the center is featured the typical pose of the Main Building—girl leaning over the balustrade on the second floor, peeping into the heart of all activity—the Rotunda. The colors of the cover picture, black and ocean blue, were repeated on the title and subtitle pages.

Snap Pages Resemble Life

The pages of snaps near the back of the book were planned in the style of Life Magazine. Bleed pages, balanced pictures, one line captions of an impersonal note, and short introductory paragraphs were combined to make the most attractive snap pages ever planned for the Virginian.

Mr. T. A. McCorkle is advisor for the Virginian. May Wertz, served as editor-in-chief, with Anne Ayres as business manager. Subscriptions to the 1941 Virginian, including those ordered by the college for distribution in the high schools, reached 745.

1941 Grads Plan 4-Day Program

Banquet and Dance Initiate Events

Four years of study will be climaxed Tuesday, June 3, when Honorable J. Gordon Bohannon, of Petersburg, will deliver the commencement address to the graduating class of 1941. This is the fifty - seventh commencement exercise of Farmville State Teachers College.

Preceding this final program there will be an array of traditions and celebration. Friday night, May 30, the senior class will go to Longwood for its banquet. The junior class will entertain the graduates at the annual Junior-Senior Prom, Saturday, May 31, in the gymnasium.

On Sunday evening, June 1, Rev. John E. Marion, Jr., pastor of Grace Covenant Presbyterian Church in Richmond, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon. Monday, June 2 at 10:30 o'clock will mark the senior class day exercises to be followed by the formation of the traditional Daisy Chain.

At 8:30 p. m. Monday evening a reception will be held in Student Building Lounge for the graduates, their families, and their little sisters. At 10:30 P. M. another tradition, the Lantern Parade, will be observed.

The address of Mr. Bohannon and of the two honor graduates, Caralie Nelson and Jean Moyer, on Tuesday morning in the college auditorium, will conclude commencement week.

Pierce Named Sports Editor of Rotunda; 16 Added to Staff

Shirley Pierce, freshman from Roanoke, will be sports editor of The Rotunda for the 1941-42 session, announced Sara Cline, editor-in-chief. Shirley replaces Anne Cock, retiring senior.

To the editorial staff have been added the names of Elizabeth McCoy, Amy Read, Elsie Smith, Maggie Mish, Lulie Jones, Jane Smith, and Gladys Wilson.

Continued on Page 4

Dramatic Club Moves Into New Workshop

Gene Hardy Kilmon, head of the costume group of the Dramatic Club has announced that costumes and other properties are being moved into the new Dramatic Club workshop.

Mr. Hurt's old shop, located back of the dinning hall on the route from Cunningham Hall to the laundry, is being rearranged as the new shop for the club's use. It is an outgrowth of a project started by Miss Leola Wheeler, professor of dramatics, in connection with the federal theatre project which distributes costumes to college dramatic clubs for redistribution to the high school clubs at various times.

The new shop is to be a general headquarters for these costumes where dust proof, rat proof and moth proof cabinets have been built to accomodate them. The sewing machines and all dramatic Club properties will also be stationed here.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Sara Cline ..... Editor-in-Chief
Mary Lilly Purdum ..... Managing Editor
Texie Belle Felts ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Ella Banks Weathers ..... News Editor
Mary Parrish Viccellio ..... Feature Editor
Shirley Pierce ..... Sports Editor
Jane Sanford ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Faye Nimmo Charlotte Phillips, Dorothy Sprinkle, Sara Trigg, Margaret Wright, Lily Beck Gray, Miriam Jester, Bridget Gentile, Jane Smith, Elsie Smith, Amy Read, Lulie Jones, Gladys Wilson, Margaret Mish, and Elizabeth McCoy.

Assistant Business Managers

Elva Andrews ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Keith Bingham ..... Advertising
Helen DeLong ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Mary St. Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Ellen Hudgins, Betty Reid, Nancy Belle Bruce, Lee Foster, Anne Brooks, Jean Strick, and Jerry Beckner.

Typists

Nell Pritchett ..... Chief Typist
Assistant Typists—Mildred Droste, Faye Nimmo, Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Dorothy Gaul

WEDNESDAY, MAY 21, 1941

Editorial Comment:

Praise or Criticism?

The familiar strains of "Joys We Have Known" which have filled the halls for the past week recall to mind that another school year is about to end and that another class is on the eve of graduation. In nine days the majority of us will leave Farmville, but to those of us who remain here for the commencement activities, a certain duty is expected.

Farmville will welcome to its campus the parents and friends of the 1941 graduates. To those of us who will be here, it will be our duty to extend to these visitors all the courtesies and respect which are characteristic of well-mannered people. We must recognize this occasion as one of the climaxes in the senior's life, and therein exert and direct all efforts toward making this commencement most successful.

Besides the friends of the graduates, we will welcome to our campus guest speakers. A fine program has been set up, but unless we feel an individual responsibility toward making this program a success, the desired outcome cannot be attained. The manners we display will characterize our college and by them we will reflect the entire student body.

Where Is Our Sense of Honor?

Dr. Jarmans' word for it is cooperation. Our whole life is built upon it here at Farmville. We have unhappiness, misunderstanding, and punishments only when individuals or groups fail to share in the responsibilities of our college community. We are surprised that some of our fellow students have been so uncooperative. We refer to those girls who have taken books from the Reserve Book Room, Browsing Room, Stacks and Reference Room.

Where is our sense of honor? Do we fail to see that honor applies to this as much as it does to stealing or cheating? The books that were taken are needed now. Let's be honorable.

Let's return those books at once.

Parade of Opinion

By A. C. P.

Censorship—

Bigwigs in Washington, according to an article appearing recently in a national periodical, are seriously considering formation of a censorship bureau in our nation's capital. Apparently army and navy officials are sponsoring the move, in an attempt to stem foreign disruption of America's armament setup.

Is there a need for censorship in the United States press? Is there a justification for such censorship? We reply in the negative to both questions as posed.

There is as much for curtailment of the press as there is for a secret police faction. It is the right of every American to know what is being done by his government, in which he is the most important cog. Legislation passed, bills proposed, mobilizations planned—these are the specific business of each and every American.

One hundred and fifty years ago our forebearers lived through chaotic warfare and unending suffering that they might institute a government of, by, and for the people. The nation's founders provided for freedom of speech, religion, and press. To what depths do we degrade these tests if we permit subjugation of any?

America is being led into war because not everything is told in the releases emanating from European press centers. Reuters and Deutsches Nachrichten Buro divulge only what England and Germany wish disclosed. The result is stark confusion—two stories each day told one in direct contradiction of the other.

Biased news views fill every newspaper because not all the facts are brought to light. This is in opposition to every principle of Americanism. Distortion, one-sidedness, suppression, tight-lipped informative federal sources—these have no place in the American scheme of things if the American press is to maintain its high position in the world.

To what use are we putting our great press bureaus, like the Associated Press and the United Press, if we have to accept the whims of a man or a board as our bases for opinion? Americans have the right to run their government as they want it run; to this end were instituted our houses of legislature and our governmental checks in the three branches.

A free press is a voice of a free people, and it is not to turned to the exclusive use of money-hungry war mongers and grafting politicians. True it is, possibly, that patriotism and a tendency to take sides in the European conflict have a hold in the United States at the moment. All well and good, but the fact remains that America does not want to go to war.

Adolf Hitler built his empire on censorship and oppression. The people of Germany listen to the government radio programs, read the state newspaper, abide by the maxims laid down by a single man. Censorship is not yet fact in the United States, but it is a vivid potentiality. We must not recognize its birth.

Easy Road to Totalitarianism

"Within the last decade the world has been given a brilliant demonstration of what can be done by regimented education. The totalitarian powers have taught us what can happen when school, press and radio are all focused on the inculcation of one series of ideas. I have had some apprehension lest, as the emergency sharpens, we might be tempted to emulate them. The necessity for the defense and the preservation of democracy is so compelling that it is to some people an attractive idea that it might be saved by drawing up a series of formulas which could be driven into the minds of school and college students. Such attempts, it would seem to me, miss the whole point at issue: namely, that there can be no single definition of democracy, that it is essential that people who live under it differ in their ideas and that the aim of education in a democracy is to open people's minds, not to sell them hermetically once and for all."—Harry Woodburn Chase, chancellor of New York University.

Senior Personality

BOOONIE STEVENSON

Out-going President of Cotillion Club

Her friendly greeting and sincere interest in everyone makes Boonie the lovable character she is. You can chat with her about any subject and she is always willing to listen—quietly giving advise to help solve your problems.

From hall president to president of Cotillion has been her curve of interest in college. As president of the Cotillion Club this year, she adds the graciousness and dignity the office requires; as secretary of the class, she knows her "minutes"; and as a house council official, she always issues a warning before giving a call down, (which has kept many of us off "campus").

Quiet but forceful, showing crazy moments, but never overvidulging in mischievous entanglements — these characteristics make each of us, who know her, pride her friendship and make each of us aware that she has made this college a sunnier place.

Platter Chatter

By JEANNE SEARS

A twelve-inch platter on our popular list inevitably means something super. This week under the Tommy Dorsey banner pairing "Without a Song" and "Deep River" is something extra special. The first a slow, smoky version of an old familiar, the latter a Cy Oliver arrangement that rates swing classic citation. Mr. Oliver has a brand new conception of the spiritual, putting together a string of magnificent solos in a tidal wave of rhythm. I recommend this with no qualifications.

The Tony Pastor camp chalks up a new tune "Hurry Back to Sorrento." The flipover is "Helen of Troy"—both new and destined to go up in the next few weeks.

Course you've heard Alvino Rey's "Nighty Night" in Shannons. Well this new band with the guitar that practically speaks English, turns loose on "Woodland Symphony" and "Oh For Heaven's Sake". The first is a harmonied sketch with slow even tempo, and for contrast the second is a jive of "The Arkansas Traveller" done by Yvonne King and Skeets Herfurt.

Jan Savitt moves into the lime light after an engagement in Texas—The release—a deluxe twosome "Horizon" and "We Go Well Together". Bet you didn't know he used to play with Stokoswki and the Philadelphia Symphony.

Artie Shaw is planning a return trip to Mexico in tunes. Sure hope he finds another "Prenesi" both sides of "Lets Get Away From It All"—Sorta like a vacation and all on one record too done by the entire band—Connie, Frank, and the Pied Pipers. Bound to be a real hit and the vocal department does itself up right.

There's a wonderful program on Saturday afternoon from Frank Daley's Meadowbrook. Sammy Kaye, Gene Krupa, T. and J. Dorsey, and all the others have been on—just listen from 4 to 5.

Guess maybe with exams we'll all be singing for our theme "Everything Happens to Me". Good Luck to all you 900 and see 'ya- - -

Impressions of a Senior Upon Approaching Graduation

By DOROTHY ROLLINS

A senior is a curious animal. The fact that she's been around for four years seems to have aged her not a bit. On the contrary, the poor creature appears even more juvenile than when she first registered for her course.

Who else but a senior would sit up late at night howling with mirth at some incident of rat cap days! Who else but a senior would spend hours with the gang in lusty bull sessions on the war situation, and then philosophically pile into bed after wolfing a cheese sandwich. Who else but seniors would wander up the hill in the twilight singing sad farewell songs, and then in the silence break into sheepish laughter to try to cover up that funny feeling that suddenly has welled up inside.

Four years! Looking at the words, or saying them over to oneself, the time they represent seems long. One can imagine the minutes, hours and days that made up that span and feel that certainly the time must have gone slowly to crowd in all those moments.

But what senior, least of all a Farmville senior, can look back on her college career with anything but surprise and regret that it has ended so soon! All too recently it seems we were the most dreadful rats, whose suckerstick supported pigtails quivered with awe when a soph barked an order.

It must have been yesterday that we became second year girls ourselves, and presided in sheet-clad glory over freshmen summoned to rat court; surely it was no more than the other day that we were juniors . . . glorying in new privileges and our own dorm.

How can we believe that the fateful scythe has cut down our stay at S. T. C. to these short remaining weeks? And yet, no one can be an escapist as not to face the future we have before us. Jokingly we tease each other about teaching in one house schools, about what we'll do to Johnny if he tries to throw the furniture; but beneath the banter each of us feels the seriousness of being on our own at last.

Such things as "the register", the core curriculum, budgets, all become mingled as we think of next year's probation period. Looking ahead we have little we can cling to with assurance. Who, then, can blame us for looking back into priceless memories of laughter tempered now and then with tears, bull sessions, which sometimes yielded some really good philosophy, work, play, fun, and above all the Farmville spirit of friendly tolerance and well being that living and working with real people has wrought?

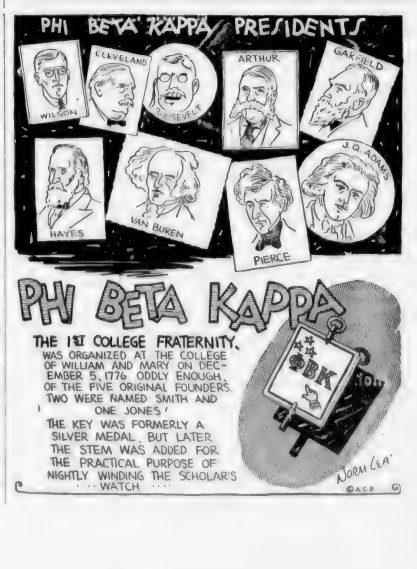
Surely, fortified by this preparation for life, a senior can accept, even welcome, graduation as another challenge, for our Farmville days, proverbially, can never be taken away . . . they are ours to turn to, profit by and cherish.

Looking 'Em Over

By A. THOMAS KATT

Questionnaire

If your score is:



30 or more you must be the Tom Katt.

25 or more you snoop.

18 or more you're a good observer.

9 or less you probably make the Dean's List.

1. Did Mary Sue think the "Rec" was pretty cozy Sunday afternoon?
2. Why did "Mow" West send back her K. A. pin?
3. Why did Margaret James suddenly have to study when Bill arrived Sunday? Could it be hometown competition?
4. Is there anything to this Liz Warner-L. Timberlake affair?
5. Did you know Anne Rogers and V. M. I. are still going strong? He came down Thursday.
6. Is Genevieve Cooke doing nicely? Answer yes. First it was "Smitty", then Fred, now John—and is he handsome! Congrats!
7. Has Jo Ware made up her mind about Mono?
8. What two girls ran and left dates—Junie Chitwood and Mutt Eason to face the consequences Saturday night when Miss Mary caught them playing in the post office? For further information, see Clara Louise McConnell——
9. Did you know that credit is due Evelyn Bourne for carrying on the heaviest correspondence of the year?
10. And what about the wreck Ann Holland caused in Blacksburg during Ring Dances? The story is this—He tried to hold her hand and she didn't understand; he tried again, and crash——the month old Buick was in ruins.
11. Is Meatball hitting a new high with Anne Roberts?—Tis so—they were last seen together at the Kappa Sig picnic.
12. Did you know that Huffy's Reece is trying to get her to accept a ring-not a miniature this time—but a glorious diamond?
13. Were you aware that Evie Bourne and her Super special Techman called "Bucket" are nearing the Real Thing? She's got a miniature 'n everything.
14. Was that glow on Mooch's face Sunday because of the presence of her poison oak or Mr. Atlas Mathews?
15. Has anyone noticed the gleam that spring has brought to Ruth Woody's eyes?
16. Did you know that Farham's week-end consisted of Horace, Horace and more Horace?

• Sports Slants •

By LILLY BEC GRAY

Summer is here,
Be of good cheer.
If you want to be cool
Come dive in the pool—

But definitely, my charming mermaids, it really is the thing to do—just rush right down before the big interclass swimming meet on Thursday. And you seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen—yes everybody be ready to win those extra points for your color cup. Everybody is counting on you. Note to heat wave sufferers: Meet you at the ole swimming hole—we guarantee instant relief from any heat waves you may mention.

Hi Ho Silver and Away!!!

Staying over for graduation? Well, we hope so. And if there are not enough attractions already, please add this one to your list! There is going to be an extra-special, nothing-like-it-before Horse Show of our own Riding Club. We know you must be real excited by now, but we'll just give a few more hints about this stupendous event. First of all, there will be an exhibit of horses, then formations, the types and kinds of riding—and now the big surprise—real skits—on horseback.

Let me remind you, while we're still speaking of horses. There are not many hours left for riding, but sign up for the few remaining days 'cause the schedules are already full. Who knows—you may run into Sea-Biscuit this summer, so be prepared!

Swish. . . . . Bull's Eye!!!

Careful—you may get hit with all those arrows whizzing—but these energetic people are practicing for the Archery tournament which will be held at the end of this week. Certainly do hope all you archery enthusiasts will be there working for your colors—we're betting on you, and the score is bound to be mighty, mighty close. . . Good Luck!

And Speaking of Food (if anyone was)

How 'bout some of those picnics—they were really all right. Congratulations on keeping Longwood so clean all you hikers, and on the subject of walking. . . Thank you, Dr. Jarman, for extending such a kind invitation to the student body to come see your garden—it really is lovely and we hope everyone will take advantage of the opportunity some of these fine evenings after supper.

Wow! Look at that Suntan!

She must have spent a month on the roof—no? Oh, of course, she's been playing tennis—fine game and another mighty fine way to get sun-burn—not half as boring as lying on the roof two or three hours. Just in case your tennis isn't all that it could be, why not join Mooch McIlwaine some afternoon at four on the tennis courts and get some hints!

Been to Longwood since May Day? Everyone should be rested up by now, and all ready for ye ole golf game—so gather up the gang and practice this last week so you can show the folks back home how professional you've become. How 'bout that?

Six Feet Under???

If studying gets you down, and you're six feet under in books just now, take a little time out and limber up with your favorite sport—they're all right here, so come and get 'em.

Riding Club Sets May 30 For Final Horse Show of '41

Parade, Skit, And Contests Included; To Award Trophies

Farmville S. T. C. Riding Club will present its final horse show of the year at Longwood on Friday, May 30. The show is given as a part of the commencement exercises and will be the largest show of the year.

To begin the celebration, a parade will be held and will be led by D. L. Jarman and Dr. Gammon, of Hampden-Sydney, in the head cars. Following the leading cars will be other cars of celebrities. Majorette for the next phase of the parade will be May Wertz, who will lead the students. All members of the Riding Club will participate in the parade.

The show is planned so as to be the most elaborate of the year. The riders will be dressed in varied costumes such as cowboy outfits, side saddle outfits, as polo players, and western riders. The first part of the program will be put in the form of a pantomine with the riders taking part in the skit.

The second event of the program is the riding contest. In this event the riders are placed in various classes according to their skills.

There will be no admission charge to see the horse show. Ribbons and trophies wil lbe given to the riders of the school.

Students in the major attractions include Helen Seward, Nell White, Elizabeth Goodwin, Buff Gunter, Beezie Townsend, Rebecca Spicer, Katherine Gosney, Catherine May, Katherine Spencer, and Polly Hughes.

Riding Club Announces Rules For Contest

To all riders who are interested in participation in the contest given by the S. T. C. Riding Club at Longwood Friday, May 30 at 2 o'clock please note the order and arrangement of the classes.

1—Class for beginners
2—Class for intermediates
3—Class for advanced
4.—Open to any student in the school who is capable of riding, whether she takes lessons or not.

If anyone is in doubt as to which class she should be placed in . Miss Fox can place her according to her ability. Any student who has definitely decide to enter the contest should sign up on the A. A. bulletin board before Friday noon. This list of entries should be completed at once.

An entrance fee of twenty-five cents is charged for each of the above classes you enter. This money will be spent by the Riding Club for the ribbons and trophies presented to the winners. This entrance fee is payable at any day after lunch in the Riding Club room to Nell White.

Notice

All library books are due May 26 and must be returned to the library. Books may be charged as reserved over night and returned at 8 o'clock the next morning.

Swim Meet Slated For Tomorrow Night

Thursday night, May 22, at 9 o'clock marks the event of the inter-class swimming meet which will take place at the pool. The events to be included are 75 yard medley relay, 100 yard free style relay, 50 yard free style, 50 yard back stroke, 50 yard breast stroke, diving and comedy stunts, and comedy diving.

Each girl must have a "C" average or have passed all subjects taken in the winter quarter and must have 8 half hour practices in order to compete. Seniors and sophomores may get their practices on Tuesday and Thursday nights; juniors and freshmen may do likewise on Monday and Wednesday nights.

Those girls meeting the above requirements to date are Peggy Hughes, Nancy Dupuy, Irma Graff, Harriette Walker, Ruth Dugger, Shirley Pierce, Gloria Pollard, Dorothy Darracott, Dorothy Gaul, Rosalie Rogers, Catherine May, and Frances Parham.

Points towards the color cup will be given the winning colors.

Bradshaw Elected President of Orchesis

Anne Bradshaw, a sophomore of Hampton, was elected president of Orchesis for the year 1941-42. Louisa Sanford, a junior from Newport News, was elected secretary and Harriette Walker, also a junior, of Richmond, was elected costume chairman.

Orchesis is a modern dance Club. Requirements for becoming a member of Orchesis are the desire to learn and know something about dancing, the ability to create modern dance steps, and to have a "C" average.

NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store
College Students
We Thank You!
For the business you gave us the past year!

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

STRAYER
8 WEEK COURSE
IN SHORTHAND & TYPEWRITING
AN ideal summer course, recommended especially for college students, and high school graduates planning to enter college.
LEARN to take notes on lectures and to typewrite assignments. Improve your opportunity to find gainful employment by specialized training for secretarial duties.
BEGIN JUNE 23 OR JULY 7
COMPLETE courses leading to Secretarial Diplomas. Review and speed building classes for commercial graduates. Training for employment in business and government.
STRAYER Employment Service secures positions for graduates. Over 2000 employment calls annually.
Ask for Catalog and Rates
STRAYER COLLEGE
13th & F STREETS WASHINGTON, D. C.

Green Front Food Store
Staple and fancy groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
Phone 139

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoes"
Only First Class Material Used
All Work Guaranteed

S. T. C. GIRLS
ENJOY HEALTHFUL
RECREATION
STEVE'S BOWLING ALLEY
FARMVILLE, VA.

Visit the . . .
A & N
FOR ALL
ATHLETIC EQUIPMENT
and
OTHER SPORT WEAR
COME IN AND SEE OUR
TENNIS EQUIPMENT
IF YOU ANTICIPATE
CAMPING TRIPS
SEE US FOR
FULL EQUIPMENT

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

BEAUTIFUL PLAIN AND FANCY
White Slips
AND Undies
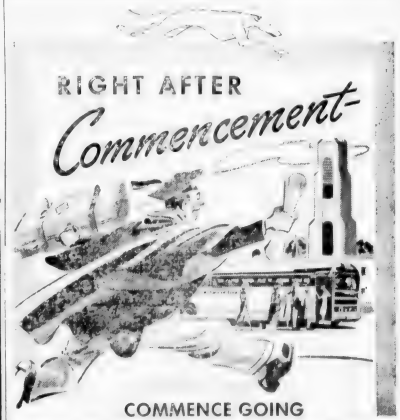
AT POPULAR PRICES
ROSE'S
5c—10c—25c Store
On the Corner

Special for S. T. C. Girls
Cold Plate Lunches
25c—30c—35c
Try One!
CALL 200 WE DELIVER
COLLEGE SHOPPE



MEET ME AT . . .
Shannon's
Good Food—Tasty Drinks
Phone 224—We Deliver

WILLIS, the Florist
Flowers for All Occasions
PHONES 181—873

Prices and styles that suit you: Evening and Graduation Dresses $5.95—$9.95.
Evening Saddles ..... $1.95—$2.95
THE HUB DEPT. STORE

NEW CAROLE KING DRESSES ..... $3.97—$6.50
COCOANUT STRAWS $1.49
DOROTHY MAY STORE

Shoes for All Occasions
LOAFERS IN NATURAL AND TWO-TONE
$2.95 and $3.95
NEW RUBBER SOLE MOCCASINS
$2.95
CASUAL SHOES FOR PLAY
LOVELY COLOR ASSORTMENT
$1.95
DAVIDSON'S
SHOE DEPARTMENT

COMMENCE GOING
GREYHOUND
Here's one thing most everybody learns in college—you can go most places for less money by Greyhound! And the time to put that learnin' into practice is the day you leave college—whether you're headed for home, away somewhere on a summer vacation, or off to a new job in far parts. Don't waste time—to the nearest Super-Coach to start saving money every mile you travel. In other words, graduate to Greyhound!
GREYHOUND BUS STATION
Continental Hotel
Phone 78

Sample One-Way Fares

Abingdon	$3.70
Roanoke	2.00
Norfolk	2.65
Newport News	2.65
Petersburg	1.25
Wytheville	3.05
Washington	2.80
New York	5.65
Knoxville	5.00
Portsmouth	2.65
Winston-Salem	2.65
Bluefield	3.75
Harrisonburg	2.90
Covington	2.80

YOU CAN CHECK YOUR TRUNK FREE ON YOUR TICKET

"For Whom the Bell Tolls" Viewed Uncertain at S. T. C.

"Tick, tock" went the old grandfather's clock, and it stopped short when the old man died." Our library clock is subject to no such limitations. Seemingly, it stops whenever it feels the inclination to do so, whether it be nine at night or six in the morning. Then just when we have been blaming our late arrivals for classes on the excuse that we were going by the library clock, it blasts our lovely alibi by becoming five minutes fast. Someone even whispered that it was "four-faced," for sometimes all four faces disagree on the time.

All these observations and heresies brought us to the conclusion that our library clock must be eccentric. But we wondered, too, what lay behind these peculiarities, for in other respects it seems normal, and certainly contributes to the beauty of our campus. To Mr. Graham we went, and he gave us the story.

The tower clock with its secondary system was made and installed in the summer of 1939 by the Howar Clock Sales and Service Corporation of New York at a total cost of $2,545. The company's vice-president, who was in Virginia on a vacation, personally supervised the installation. The driving power of the system is a series of weights rewound by an automatically controlled electric motor which is synchronized with the time mechanics of the clocks.

There are really four clocks, you know. When the electric service is interrupted by any cause whatsoever (as the cutting off the wrong switch in the library), the automatic control is immediately cut out. This makes it necessary for an adjustment to be made before the clock can start again.

It is interesting to note that one must wait twenty-four hours and must start the clock at the same time it stopped or cut off the whole mechanism and with the hands run it up twenty-four hours. This explains the mystery of those long striking periods. The clocks can not be run back even a minute!

Mr. Graham says that the service man is to come next summer; and through an independent system of clock control with a separate switch board they hope to remedy the present situation.

If you are still interested, Mr. Graham will be glad to conduct you to the tower room of the clock and show you its intricate mechanism. You will no longer be amazed or amused by its eccentricity. But then, what will we do without the library clock as a subject of conversation?

Students Conduct Survey at College On Lyceum Program

Evelyn Quillen, chairman of Student Standards' Survey Committee, Miss Helen Draper, and Rosalie Rogers are promoting a survey of the Student Body for their opinion regarding lyceum programs. This committee has investigated lyceum programs of various colleges in view of improving our programs.

Their plans are to be based entirely on what the Student Body prefers. The questionnaires which every student has been requested to fill out are being distributed and collected by the hall presidents.

Questions asked are what do you think of lyceum programs? Do you think lyceums would be more beneficial and interesting to you if, instead of four or five programs, there were two or three with nationally known speakers or artists?

In order that lyceums may be more instructive and interesting to the individual student, Student Standards Committee is promoting this survey that they may know what the Student Body considers most entertaining and educational.

Junior-Senior Prom

Continued from Page 1

wearing white evening dresses will participate. Favors will be given out by the senior class president and vice-presidents' little sisters who are Mary Lilly Purdum and Eleanor Folk.

The name of the band playing will be announced at a later date, while the theme of decorations will be a surprise.

Anyone staying over for graduation may attend the dance. The tickets will go on sale next week. The price of stag tickets will be fifty cents each, and date tickets are one dollar.

Graduation Gifts—Bracelets pins, necklaces, and other lasting gifts. New samples of Rytex stationery

MARTIN THE JEWELER

BUTCHER'S

The convenient store for faculty and student body.

Good things to eat and drink

The Way I See It

By JANE SANFORD

These past few pre-exam days have been filled with out-door parties, barbecues, and lotsa last minute trips. . . Last week-end saw much of our female population catching refreshing pauses in various and sundry places. . .

Saddles and Satin — Tossing care to the winds for the horse show and hop at VPI in Blacksburg were Florence Carr, Dell Warren, Allene Overbey, Margaret Wright, Nancy Bondurant, Agnes Patterson, Helens Sitras, Ann Kelley, and Frieda Dekker.

Designs for Dreams—To Charlottesville for the Rotunda Dance at the University of Virginia went Ann Page Francis, Ella Marsh Pilkinton, and Catherine Philips, while to Lexington for the VMI hop went Anne Garrett and Anne Sawyer. Nelle Quinn and Ellen Scott treked to Richmond for the dances at the University, while down south to Chapel Hill, N. C. Lilwyn Bennett journeyed for the dance at N. C. State.

College Commuters—Anne Boswell, Sara Cline "Beezie" Townsend, Ann Lyons, Maria Cheely, and Frances Hoback paid a visit to Petersburg, and to "the great cosmos" of Lynchburg for the week-end travelled Jean Arington, Doris Alvis, Edna Brown, Gay Ward Brown, Nancy Wolfe, Louise Hall, Lulie ones, "Bumpsie" Minnick, Betty Reid, Virginia Campfield, Sara Jeffreys and Polly Hughes. Roanoke, that "garden spot of the universe", claimed week-enders Harriet Cantrell, Elizabeth Tennent, Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, Louise Painter, Anne Pulley, Jean Schulkcum, Charlotte Greely, and Betty Henritze.

The Misses Going to Town—Joining the traditional caravan of Richmond week-enders were Betty Albright, Betsy Austin, Betty Boutchard, Lucy Call, Sara Currie, Ethel Carr, Mildred Eades, Shirley McCalley, Frances Parham, Jerry Smith, Ann Pitchette, Jean Hatton, Mary Harvie, Emily Hoskins, Ruth Palmer, Catherine Radspinner, Sarah Wade Owen, Ruth Dugger, and Helen Dawson. Jeanne Sears saw Duke walk away with the honors at the Southern Conference Track Meet in Williamsburg Saturday, and Dorothy Rollins went to Washington, D. C. for her share of relaxation.

Home-ward Ho!—Preparing the family for those unexpected "good grades" (post exam time) were Sarah Massie Goode, "Boo" Barham, Betty Bridgeforth, Lena Butterworth, Ann Bradshaw, Esther Atkinson, Rozelle Eckford, Betsy Bullock, Kay Spencer, Helen Ott, Eleanor Forlk, Dearing Flauntleroy, Hester Chattin, Hunter Edmunds, Ann Covington, Anne Ellett, Chubby Heard, Marion Worsham, Nancy Pierpont, Roberta Grigg, Mildred Corvin, Bliss Fowlkes, Imogen Clayton, "Tol" Dew, Mary Katherine Dodson, and Sara Hall.

Weller Will Head Pan-Hellenic

Council Positions Rotate Each Year

Jean Weller of Charleston, West Virginia, was installed Wednesday afternoon, May 21, at 4:30 p. m. as president of the Pan-Helenic Council for the coming year.

She is the Mu Omega representative to the council. Active in her sorority, she has proved herself accomplished also in music as a member of the Madrigal group of the College Choir.

Other officers installed to serve for the coming year are Anne Boswell, vice president representing Pi Kappa Sigma; Carroll Costello, secretary representing Alpha Sigma Tau; Kitty Dunton, treasurer representing Theta Sigma Upsilon; Sue Marshall, chairman of programs representing Phi Zeta Sigma; Mary Lou Shannon, chairman of publicity representing Sigma Sigma Sigma; Mary Harvie, keeper of records, representing Gamma Theta; and Mary Jane Ritchie, chairman of rushing, representing Alpha Sigma Alpha.

Each office of the council is held in rotation by the representative of the sororities according to the time of their establishment on the campus. The term of office begins and ends with the formal installation service.

F. B. I. Agent Warns Students of Foreign Activity In U. S.

Mr. C. E. Hennrich, special agent for the Virginia Branch of the Federal Bureau of Investigation of the United States Department of Justice, addressed members of the student body and faculty in chapel, Saturday, May 17.

Explaining some phases of the part of the F. B. I. in the national defense program, Mr. Hennrich said, "'Nearly every day our newspapers contain stories of sabotage or espionage."

"More people than it is imagined belong to organizations whose sole purpose is subversive activity," he continued.

Mr. Hennrich concluded his address with the advice, "don't be a dupe and don't join any organizations unless you know definitely what they are and how they operate. We know what happened to some European nations because of subversive activity. We must save our country from a similar fate."

Rotunda Staff

Continued from Page 1

New members of the business staff are Betty Reid, Nancy Belle Bruce, Lee Foster, Anne Brooks, Jean Strick, and Jerry Beckner.

Nell Pritchett, of Petersburg, was appointed chief typist. Nell succeeds Thelma Courtney, retiring senior. Also added to the typing staff are Mildred Droste, and Faye Nimmo.

These girls were selected after a four weeks' apprenticeship.

Campus Calendar

May 23—Y. W. C. A. Association meeting .... 5:00 p. m.
May 27—Exams begin
May 30—Exams end
May 31—Junior-Senior prom 8:30 p. m.
June 1—Baccalaureate sermon, 8:00 p. m.
June 2—Seniors class day exercises ..... 10:30 a. m.
Lantern Parade 10:30 p. m.
June 3—Commencement exercises ..... 10:30 a. m.

"Gifts That Last" At LYNN'S

Sterling Chain and locket ... $1.00
Vanities ..... 50c up
Bracelets, necklaces, rings. Many fine quality gifts at reasonable prices at

LYNN' S

COME IN AND SEE—
Helena Rubinstein's
KEYS TO BEAUTY
(three lipsticks)
Price—$1.00
A real graduation Gift
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet" Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

Come to see us
FOR
A complete Line
OF
SANDWICH SPREADS, PKG. CHEESE & JAR CHEESE
The Economy Food Store

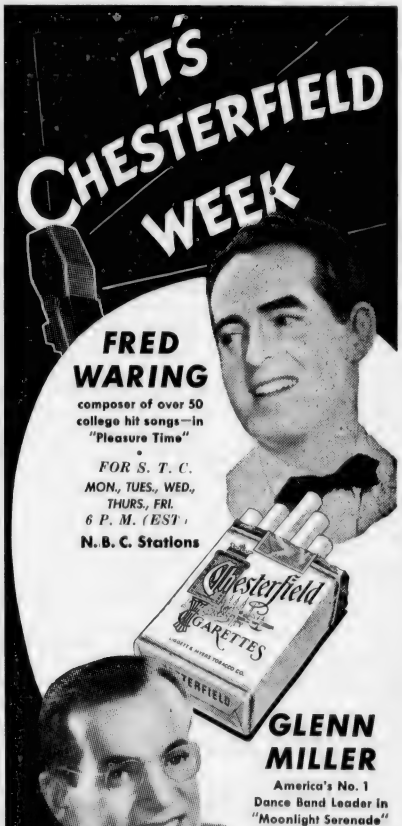
KLEANWELL
Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

FOOD LOOKING DRILL



how men will describe you if you beautify your fingernails with

DURA-GLOSS Nail Polish 10¢ Everywhere

Send for complete booklet on nails. What to do about splitting nails, How to give yourself a Professional Manicure. Ask for "Your Fingernails and their Care." Write Manicure Dept. Lee Laboratories, Paterson, New Jersey

IT'S CHESTERFIELD WEEK

They really Satisfy

Copyright 1941, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

The Rotunda

VOLUME XX THE ROTUNDA, TUESDAY, JUNE 3, 1941 NO. 30

A Message to the Seniors

From Dr. James Elliott Walmsley

'In this sign shalt thou conquer' was not spoken to one who had finished but to one who realized that great things done were but the Commencement of the greater things yet to be done. The measure of that greatness is the crying need of a world "where there is no vision," and the greater need the greater the work of the one who conquers, by virtue of a vision of what must and shall be done.

A world reeling from the onslaught of heathen fury looks askance at you, graduating seniors, and in a tone "cold, edged with dear-bought wisdom" asks "what can you do?" Your Alma Mater puts her future into your hands, for as you rise or fall so does she rise or fall. Each of you carries away with you some of the heart's blood of teachers who have worked with you rather than for you, who have joyed with you at success and grieved with you over failures. You must make good. It is the challenge of today, June 3, 1941.

And what is this great task in which you shall conquer? You must outwork the power of brute force; you must out think the minds of those inspired from below, you must give "toil and blood and sweat and tears" to what your trained mind tells you is the everlasting right. A world cannot be rebuilt with half-way measures, with paltry ideas, with petty thoughts of victory and revenge. Only a just world can survive and this is your heaven-sent task to make this a more honest world than the one we of the passing generation have put into your hands.

If you learned from science, natural or social, that there are immutable laws of nature and nature's God, and that no mere man can trifle with such laws, if you learned to think honestly, then can you lead a world into a peace of even justice.

If you learned from languages, your own winged words that move mountains, then can you give a reason for the faith that is in you, and you can lead struggling folk into the joy of a better, nobler life.

If you learned from the arts that the mission of art, music, and the drama is to uplift, to purify, to ennoble, to inspire, then can you call into the service of a new and better world that spiritual grace and power than seem to have vanished in smoke and ruin.

Finally, if four years with the traditions of the past, with those who loved you and dreamed great dreams of you, if all this and these have given you knowledge, skill, and power, your challenge is to use it all unreservedly, willingly, even joyfully, for a world that is waiting hopefully for you.

God helping, you can do no other.

Summer School Has Faculty of 31

Will Offer Two New Courses First Term

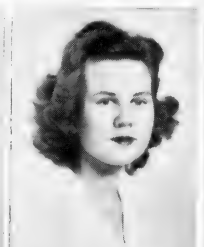
Thirty-one faculty members will comprise the staff of the summer school session which will open June 16 and close August 23. Ten of these instructors are heads of the various departments of the college and four are visitors for the summer session only.

Additions to the faculty for the second term will be Miss Jessie A. Patterson, supervisor of music in Warwick County; Miss Emma Dietrich, who will be added to the geography department; and Miss Lottie Thorpe, who will assist in the physical education department.

Two new courses will be offered during the first six weeks term. One will be a course in audio-visual education which will be taught by Mr. Edgar M. Johnson. Mr. Johnson is now studying at Columbia in preparation for the approaching term. A library of films for use in the study was recently installed here. Mr. Johnson will be assisted by Miss Alice Carter and Miss Georgianna Stephenson in directing the workshop course.

Six courses in commercial education will be offered as well as courses in French, Spanish and home economics, if there is enough demand.

Fifty Years' Service By Miss Rice Receives Tribute From Faculty



In the preface to a book of letter from her friends, a committee of the faculty pays tribute to Miss Minnie V. Rice:

"With the close of the present session of the State Teachers College at Farmville Miss Minnie V. Rice completes fifty years of useful service as a member of the faculty of this institution. Having previously devoted a decade to teaching elsewhere, she is now rounding out three score years in educational work. This is a record of which one might be proud. As carried on by Miss Rice, however, with her deep sense of true values, her devotion to scholarship in the field of the humanities, and her skill as a teacher, this record of service stands as an inspiration to her students, her colleagues and her friends. They are proud to have an opportunity to congratulate her and pay her a tribute of admiration and affection.

In these fifty years Miss Rice has contributed permanently to the progress of the institution in many ways besides teaching. Typical of these are her long service on the Committee on Admissions and her good work in the Virginia Normal League. In the former her power of careful and exacting attention to detail has helped maintain and advance the academic standards of the College. In the latter, while administering funds

Continued on Page 4

Caralie Nelson, of South Boston, and Jean Moyer of Portsmouth, who delivered the valedictory and salutatory addresses respectively.

Dr. Jarman Awards 138 Girls Degrees At Final Exercises

Grads Candidates For A. B. and B. S.

Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of State Teachers College, Farmville, awarded either the degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science to one hundred and thirty-eight girls today at the final exercises of the fifty-seventh graduating class.

Those receiving degrees were Jacqueline Adams, Kenbridge; Thelma Irene Alderman, Galax; Marie Bird Allen, White Gate; Aseita Altomare, Blue Point, N. Y.; Louise Parham Applewhite, Jarratt; Carol Lee Averitt, Stonega; Eugenia Charlotte Avery, Holdcroft; Dorothy Anne Bailey, Wakefield; Alice Leigh Barham, Portsmouth; Ethel Lemoine Beasley, Petersburg; Nancy Goode Bland, Boydton; Catherine Blount, Salisbury, N. C.; Carmen Louise Booth, Danville; Virginia Crews Borden, Charlottesville; Jean Bourne, Wytheville; Iris Christine Bryant, Branchville; and Ruth Louise Bryant, Dry Fork.

Josa Virginia Carlton, Roanoke; Ethel McAlister Carr, Richmond; Rebecca Yates Carr, Charlottesville; Sadie Eloise Cobb, Charlotte Court House; Anne Renalds Cock, Hampton; Anne Lillian Cocks, Farmville; Genevieve Ashby Cooke, Richmond; Rosa Jackson Courter, Amelia; Thelma Sawyer Courtney, Winchester; Martha DeMoval Crawley, Cumberland; Katie Whitehead Crider, Chatham; Susie Pearl Crocker, Zuni; and Dorothy Sue Crumley, Bristol.

Continued on Page 4

Class Day Program Presented Monday

At ten o'clock yesterday morning, June 2, the seniors had their last exercises at S. T. C. as students here.

Ruth Lea Purdum, president of the senior class, opened the exercises with an expression of welcome to the visitors. Following this, Anna Johnson read the history of the class of '41, and then the entire class sang their class song, which was composed by their treasurer, Betty Beale Fahr.

Betty Beale Fahr and "Chubby" Heard distributed the little gifts of remembrance to each member of the graduating class. These gifts were small tokens that will recall endearing college incidents in later years.

Ruth Lea Purdum presented the symbol of office to the president of the incoming senior class, Mary Katherine Dodson.

The college, Mr. Raymond French, senior classman, and the alumnae association were the recipients of gifts from the seniors. To the college, they gave a motion picture camera. Upon Mr. French was bestowed luggage, while the Alumnae Association received a check. Miss Mary Peck, president of the Alumnae Association, inducted the graduating class into the association, and gave them a welcome as alumnae.

The farewell song, written by Madge McFall and Bess Windham, concluded the exercises in the auditorium, as each senior lent her voice to express her love of her Alma Mater, and her poignant regret in leaving her.

From the auditorium, all of the seniors and their little sisters marched to the colonnade, where they lined up for the traditional "daisy chain" march. The daisy chain is made each year by the little sisters. All of the seniors with their little sisters beside them marched slowly and solemnly to the front campus, singing the traditional daisy chain song and formed the letters '41.

Eason Formulates Orientation Plans; Selects 48 Leaders

Program Includes Freshmen, Sophs

Twenty-four seniors and twenty-four juniors have been selected to hold orientation classes next fall and to act as advisors throughout the year. Each group, consisting of not more than thirty students, will be under the guidance of a faculty member, one senior, and one junior.

Following up the new plan initiated last year, the program for the coming year will be extended over two years. It is the intention of the program to try to make the freshmen and sophomores feel that there is a member of the faculty to whom they can go for help in working out their college and personal problems. The usual orientation classes will be held for freshmen and all new students.

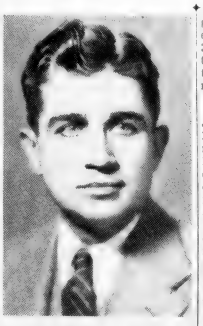
Senior orientation leaders will be Polly Keller, Louisa Sanford, Gene Hardy Kilmon, Martha Cottrell, May Wertz, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Lucy Turnbull, Gay Ward Brown, Anne Boswell, Nancy Dupuy, Buff Gunter, Gerry Ackiss, Mary K. Dodson, Dot Lawrence, Polly Hughes, Elizabeth Anne Parker, Betty Peerman, Lucie Ellen Powell, Peggy Hughes, Josephine Ware, Marty Roberts, Margie Rice, Ellen Royall, and Louise Phillips.

Orientation leaders from the junior class are Agnes Patterson, Ann Ware, Ella Marsh Pilkinton, E'eanor Folk, Miggie Mish, Dot Childress, Nancy Allen, Libby Bernard, Brookie Benton, Margaret Bowling, Anne Ellett, Fiddle Haymes, Charlotte Gresham, Mary Harvie, Grace Hutcheson, Frances Mallory, Amy Read, Kitty Parrish, Jerry Smith, Betty Youngberg, Mary F. Bowles, Leona Moomaw, Jacqueline Hardy, and Nancy McClay.

Caroline Eason, vice-president of student government, is in charge of orientation for freshmen and sophomores next year.

28 Diplomas Given For Primary Work

Twenty-eight diplomas were given this morning, June 3, to students who have been at Farmville two years majoring in primary education and elementary work which their certificates recognize.



Those who received diplomas were Dorothy Ethelwynn Allen, Farmville; Ann Holmes Brooks, Hopewell; Ann Mason Greenough Burgwyn, Tappahannock; Carroll Camille Costello, Richmond; Mary Anne Dryden, Jeffs Post Office; Ivey Mae Hale, Long Island; Lois Christine Harrison, Warfield; Jeanne Alice Haymes, Langley Field; Louise Elizabeth Hendricks, Long Island; and Frances Ernestine Hughes, Farmville.

Margaret Ann Lyons, Petersburg; Betsy Emma Moore, Chatham; Frances Gilmer Patterson, New Canton; Roberta Fox Payne, Haymarket; Charlotte Stockley Phillips, Melfa; Ella March Pilkinton, Richmond; and Katherine E. Price, Wytheville.

Florence Bernice Pride, Petersburg; Eva Lewis Rhodes, Windsor; Edith Jeanette Sibold, Newport; Nancy Carolyne Stargell, Schuyler; Elva Margaret Stephens, Gretna; Stella Marie Stowers, Gratton; Lucy Lee Sydnor, Crewe; Ruby Wellington Trice, Toano; Frances Moore Valentine, Brunswick; Margaret Ligon Watkins, Norfolk; Myrtle Virginia Watts, Brunswick.

Farmville Graduates 166 Girls Today; Miss Rice Honored

Bohannon, Marion, Nelson and Moyer Address Grads at Fifty-Seventh Finals

Above is Rev. John H. Marion, Jr., pastor of Grace Covenant Presbyterian Church, Richmond, who preached the baccalaureate sermon Sunday, June 1. Below is Hon. J. Gordon Bohannon, of Petersburg, who delivered the graduating address on Tuesday morning, June 3.

One hundred and sixty-six girls graduated from State Teachers College, Farmville, today June 3. Of these, one hundred and thirty-eight received degrees and twenty-eight were awarded diplomas.

Commencement Speakers

Caralie Nelson, valedictorian; Jean Vernon Moyer, salutatorian; Hon. J. Gordon Bohannon, commencement speaker; and Dr. John H. Marion, who delivered the baccalaureate sermon, made the principal addresses during the commencement exercises May 31-June 3.

Jean Moyer, of Portsmouth, opened the final exercises of commencement week in the auditorium this morning, June 3, at 10:30 A. M. Jean emphasized that "if we are to be happy, to bring happiness to others, and to serve to the best of our ability, we must carry out with us across the threshold of college life the truths that we have learned with the conviction that they are just as necessary after college as they have been during these past four years."

In conclusion she said that "an undaunted faith in God and in your fellowman will enable you to reap the fruits of your labor".

Nelson Questions

Caralie Nelson, of South Boston, spoke of the "Challenge of Uncertainty." She carried forth this topic by asking, "Why do we feel a sense of insecurity?" The main arguments which she offered for this feeling were growing up, having a college education, world conditions, and the fact of graduation.

Caralie continued by saying that "this is not a gloomy picture, but a challenging one. If we can leave one child when we teach to know a finer life for one day, we have accomplished something." She concluded her speech with a note of optimism, emphasizing that although many intellectual beliefs have been upset and world conditions are in an uncertain state, the spiritual realm cannot be destroyed regardless of the fall of the material realm.

Miss Minnie V. Rice, who is celebrating her fiftieth year of teaching at S. T. C., was presented a book this morning containing letters from the administration, members of the faculty, former students and other friends. The presentation was made by Dr. Jarman.

Honorable J. Gordon Bohannon, of Petersburg, address the graduating class this morning.

The Rev. A. H. Hollingsworth led the invocation at the baccalaureate sermon. Dr. John H. Marion, from Richmond, delivered the commencement message to the seniors.

In his baccalaureate sermon, Dr. Marion emphasized that young people ought to rebel and never lose their rebellious spirit. In conclusion he stated, "If both as future leaders and present day leaders, we are to be successful in making real and vital this Christian revolution, we must get our minds and eyes fixed upon the will and purpose of the great Leader of us all."

30 Students Receive Recognition As Honor Graduates of 1941

Thirty girls were recognized by Dr. J. L. Jarman at commencement exercises this morning, June 3, as honor graduates in the Class of '41.

For a student to be an honor graduate she has to have an average as high as a "B" for the entire course.

The honor graduates are Marie Bird Allen, Alice Leigh Barham, Carmen Louise Booth, Thelma S. Courtney, Rachel W. DeBerry, Carolyn Frances Ford, Mrs. Frances Walmsley Gee, Hazel Patricia Gibson, Marjorie Eileen Holt, Virginia A Howell, Katherine E Jarratt, Mary Jane Jolliffe, Frances Elizabeth Keck, Rachel Wilson Kibler, Roberta F. Latture, Ernestine Meacham, Jean V. Moyer, Caralie Nelson, Edith Nunnally, Agnes P. Picking, Mary Marshall Pierce, Ruth Lea Purdum, Dorothy Rogers, M Lucille Royster, Martha Ann Saunders, Mrs. Nellie Bynum Shelton, Sara Mae Sibold, Elizabeth Vincent, Sarah Elizabeth West, Martha B Wheeler.

For special work Dr. Jarman has conferred this distinction to the graduates at the time degrees are awarded.

Lantern Parade Ends Senior Activities

At ten-thirty last night, immediately following Miss Mary's reception, the seniors in their caps and gowns and the little sisters in white lined up on third floor main for the annual "lantern parade".

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Published weekly by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia, nine months a year

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

STAFF

Sara Cline ..... Editor-in-Chief
Mary Lilly Purdum ..... Managing Editor
Texie Belle Felts ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

Ella Banks Weathers ..... News Editor
Mary Parrish Viccellio ..... Feature Editor
Shirley Pierce ..... Sports Editor
Jane Sanford ..... Social Editor

Reporters

Jack Cock, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Anna Johnson, Shirley McCalley, Faye Nimmo Charlotte Phillips, Dorothy Sprinkle, Sara Trigg, Margaret Wright, Lily Beck Gray, Miriam Jester, Bridget Gentile, Jane Smith, Elsie Smith, Amy Read, Lulie Jones, Gladys Wilson, Margaret Mish, and Elizabeth McCoy.

Assistant Business Managers

Elva Andrews ..... Circulation Manager
Mary Keith Bingham ..... Advertising
Helen DeLong ..... Advertising

Business Assistants

Mary St. Clair Bugg, Dorothy Childress, Hannah Lee Crawford, Ellen Hudgins, Betty Reid, Nancy Belle Bruce, Lee Foster, Anne Brooks, Jean Strick, and Jerry Beckner.

Typists

Nell Pritchett ..... Chief Typist
Assistant Typists—Mildred Droste, Faye Nimmo, Doris Alvis, Betsy Bullock, Dorothy Gaul

TUESDAY, JUNE 3, 1941

And So Farewell—

Today you go out as seniors and with you goes a part of the vital part of this State Teachers College—the Farmville Spirit. The vista that lies open to you offers a challenge and a threat—a challenge for doing well the tasks that befall you and a belligerent threat of a spinning, modern world.

Opposed to your chances of success and happiness are the steadily rising forces of the "isms" and the unrest of a country unsure of its fate. This should urge you to level-headness and unprejudiced installation of love and peaceful standards. Aiding you are the optimism and hope of a young America, who, although sensing the undercurrent of the prevalent world-wide disturbance apparently makes this factor recessive and says that in the end, right will dominate and the happiness and security that is her birthright will, in its time, be unquestionably her own.

Never before has the need of sacrificial, important service so pervaded that entire country. Persons in whom the whole nation can place its trust and confidence are essential. Because of the war and what it entails the chance to act now is two fold, and directly or indirectly there is an opportunity for influence and guidance. Whatever you do, do it well, and as Edward Bach's grandmother said to him—"so live that the world may be made more beautiful by your having lived in it."

"At college, if you have lived right, you have found enough learning to make you humble, enough friendship to make your hearts large and warm, enough culture to teach you the refinement of simplicity, enough wisdom to keep you sweet in poverty and temperate in wealth. Here you have learned to see great and small in their true relation, to look at both sides of a question to respect the point of view of every honest man or woman, and to recognize the point of view that differs most widely from your own. Here you have found the democracy that excludes neither rich nor poor, and the quick sympathy that listens to all, and helps by the very listening.—LeBaron Russel Briggs.

And We Are the Seniors

A big round, white dome that beckoned to the drove of mamas, papas, and daughters—girls in white who pointed our way around to Room 45; laughter—yells and "Hello's" from one old girl to another that had nothing to do with us in embryonic state of college life. These were our first impressions of Farmville in September, 1937. You remember, don't you, all that business of registering, matriculating, finding rooms which at first were only numbers, but soon became very impotrant ones? For then life to us was a series of numbers: mail box, table in the dining hall, locker, number after number for classes and class rooms. Naturally we were confused! It was told that one of us actually began unpacking her bags in Mr. Coyner's Room 26. Luckily someone came to her rescue before psychology class the next day.

That first student body meeting was a great event for us, for through the introduction of the major officers, we were able to distinguish a few more faces and begin to feel a part of this huge school. Along with this came the election of Ruth Lea Purdum as president of our class. Esther Atkinson was our vice-president; Billie Lewis, secretary, and Betty Fahr, our treasurer. Mr. French consented to be our classman, and we were launched on our way.

Rat week first. Shall we ever forget those three days of rubber gloves, plaited hair, frequent trips on bended knees to repeat, "Oh. Sophomores, with your sacrosant, salient, sententious, sensibleness"—or May Page's Big Rat Court! We found among other things, that Jamie Lee Peake had a wonderfully deep voice; the Cock twins knew millions of crazy tricks; we were comparatively safe from a sophomore blitzkrieg as long as we sat quietly (?) in our closets during free hours. After it was all over, we laughed and said, "Gosh, it was fun!" Then suddenly we were taking exams, and Christmas was here with Mr. French's party in the "Rec" complete with toys and everything.

We combined our talents for our first production, "The Three Little Pigs", which Emily Hoskins directed. Remember "Happy" as the "Mad Hatter"? But we had talents along other lines also, especially in Saturday night round-ups. "How to Win Your Man and Hold Him" read by Dot Perkins to that eagerly attentive third floor White House audience was a winning ticket. Second place goes to the great trial of White House conducted by Cock, Garrett and Cock, over the case of the sewed sheets. Poor Alma's conviction was the tragedy of the hall. In athletics we were topnotch basketball players, and with the Juniors, captured the coveted color cup.

Remembrances of these freshman months are very dear: taking a short cut to the laundry via the fire escape—those two days when classes were suspended on account of sickness—sitting on the back steps waiting for orders from the drug store—tying the linen zig-zag across the hall. With such memories we left Farmville for a summer of fun and frolic.

Sophomore! The word made us swell with importance! A different September, this. Our job was to greet new girls and be "rays of sunshine" to homesick "Rats". Wasn't it fun to run downtown at all hours just because we could go?

Later we concentrated our efforts on our circus stunt and came out valiantly, winning the first place with the "Roman Circus Maxims". Caralie directed the skit and once more represented us in the Queen's Court. Our next original work was the production, which Chubby Heard directed. "Paging Frannie", starring Virginia Howell, was the bill of fare at "Ma Murphy's Boarding House."

Cunningham Hall was our destination that third September. For the first time we had a dorm all to ourselves. How we loved it! Ruth Lea, Es, and Betty Beale remained our officers with Boonie Stevenson as our new secretary. We broke away from bull-sessions long enough to scout through the new library. Strangely enough, all those windows we thought the architects had misplaced in the spring fitted perfectly. We paused long enough in our ramblings to resolve whole-heartedly to make the Dean's List so that we'd have more week-end to spend in foreign parts.

Early that fall Alpha Kappa Gamma recognized Caralie Nelson, Ruth Lea Purdum, and Liggie Ellett as members. We immediately headed into circus practices. Florence Lee consented to direct the theme, and with "A Circus in Miniature", we wrestled "honorable mention" from the judges. Another Christmas brought our annual party—this time in the Lounge. A huge, glittering tree, Jean at the piano playing carols, Mr. French's gift of twenty pounds of hard candy—all lent that

Continued on Page 4

Senior Personality

MARTHA WELCHEL

Out-going President of Student Standards

Executive ability, poise, and neatness are all characteristic of Martha. Her ability to get seemingly impossible things done has made it possible for us to enjoy many privileges this year that we have not had before. We are all indebted to her for the fine job she has made of Student Standards.

Her performances in Dramatic Club plays has shown her historic talent and interest.

No one who knows Martha has missed being asked, "Let's go for a walk". Her love of sports has been manifested in swimming and riding.

You can't be around Martha long without a friendly discussion or argument over current affairs, a "C" average, or the core curriculum. Sometimes her sudden change to the opposite side just to add new impetus to the discussion completely baffles her friends.

Her sincere interest in people, her ability to get things accomplished should make her an excellent teacher.

There is no doubt that the college is a better place for her presence here.

Major Officers of '41 Bid Final Farewell

CARALIE NELSON

Out-going president of Student Government

It is so hard to say goodbye today; most of my attempts are choked by tears. I shall always appreciate the privilege of having been able to serve the student body during the past year. We love our Alma Mater and the years will find it becoming even dearer if we work for her—you as students and faculty—we as alumnae. I repeat what a former senior said to me. "May God keep the watch between me and thee while we are absent one from another."

JEAN MOYER

Out-going president of the Y. W. C. A.

Candle light, bowed heads, and the words "not by might, nor by power but by my spirit saith the Lord of hosts"—this will always be in my heart as a challenge for a life of greater service. As I've worked with you and for you in the Y. W. C. A., I've felt that we've been one in Christ. This sacred tie which binds us shall never be severed if we as alumnae and you as members of the student body and as members of the faculty continue to work for the high ideals and standards of our Alma Mater.

ROSA COURTER

Outgoing President of A. A.

We've had such fun in our four years,
We're kinda blue to leave,
But with you to follow us,
There's really no cause to grieve.

FRANCES ELLETT

Outgoing President House Council

As I leave Farmville, I take with me memories of the most wonderful years of my life. Through my college experiences I have learned to live, to know

Continued on Page 4

Do You Remember?--Red Letter Days of Class '41 Are Recalled

We Were Freshmen 1937-1938

In the year that rats wore rain coats bathing caps, rubber gloves, and said everything to "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More" Ruth Lea Purdum was elected president of the Class of '41. That same year the Freshman Commission included Frances Ellett, Martha Whelchel, Helen McIlwaine, Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, Ethel Carr, Patricia Whitlock, and Alice Lee Barham. Mr. Raymond French was elected classman.

Freshman production caused much excitement what with its unusual title — "Sausages and Sweepstakes."

We Were Sophomores 1938-1939

October 12, 1938—Helen McIlwaine and Caralie Nelson head Sophomore Circus stunt.
November 5—Sophomores win the circus stunt; Caralie Nelson is in Court of the Circus Queen.
November 21—Souphomores win hockey game with freshmen.
January 5—Ruth Lea Purdum, sophomore class president, presented Mr. R. H. French in chapel as sophomore classman.
February 2—Sophomores present "Paging Frannie" as class production.
March 30—Ruth Lea Purdum is elected president of the junior class. Betty Fahr, Esther Atkinson, and Boonie Stevenson hold minor offices.
May 24—Frances Ellett is chosen editor of the 1939-'40 Handbook.
May 25—Green and White wins Color cup.

We Were Juniors 1939-1940

October 11—Liggie Ellett, Caralie Nelson, and Ruth Lea Purdum were tapped by A. K. G.
October 18—Helen McIlwaine chosen class captain of hockey team.
October 25—Yates Carr was appointed assistant business manager of the Colonnade. Frances Keck was issued a bid for membership in Forensic Club.
Our class won first place in the water carnival.
November 1—Pat Gibson was in the Circus Queen's Court.
November 8—Rosa Courter was general chairman and director for the Junior Production. Caralie Nelson and Ruth Lea Purdum appeared as representatives of Farmville in 1940 edition of "Who's Who".
November 15—Helen McIlwaine, Marian Worsham and Rosa Courter were selected to be class runners in the annual color rush.
December 6—Red and White conquered on Color Rush Day.
December 13—Nancy Wolfe was elected to represent Junior Class in Mardi Gras.
January 10—Ann Benton, Betty Fahr, Anne Lee Gardner, Louise Painter, Nancy Pierpont, Mary Gray Thompson, Nancy Wolfe, and Elsie Berrye Yates were elected to represent junior class in May Court.
January 17—Mary Sue Edmonson was appointed to act as general chairman of the interclass swimming meet.
January 25—Junior class production, It Can't Happen Here. But It Did!, was presented.
January 31—Juniors: Rosa Courter, Pat Gibson, and Jean Moyer were tapped by A.K.G. Dot Rollins was elected president of Beta Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi.
February 21—The Junior Sing Stunt, The Highwayman, was presented.
March 6—Pat Gibson, Elizabeth West, and Josa Carlton, were appointed editor - in - chief, managing editor, and business manager, respectively, of the Rotunda.
Yates Carr was appointed business manager of the Colonnade.
Mary Sue Edmondson was chosen captain of the junior class basketball team.
March 20—Caralie Nelson, Jean Moyer, Liggie Ellett, and Rosa Courter were elected president of the Student Body, Y. W. C. A., House Council, and A. A. respectively. Ruth Lea Purdum, Esther Atkinson, Betty Fahr, and Bonoie Stevenson were reelected president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively of incoming Senior class.
April 3—Mary E. Petticrew was elected president of H2O Club.
April 10—Martha Whelchel was elected head of Student Standards.
April 24—Virginia Richards and Elsye Berrye Yates were elected heads of the College Choir and Choral Club respectively.
A. K. G. tapped "Boo" Barham, Marion Heard, Dorothy Rollins, Elizabeth West, and Martha Whelchel during chapel services.
May 8—Boonie Stevenson was elected president of Cotillion Club.
May 22—Mary Elizabeth Petticrew was elected president of Orchesis.

Senior President

MARY KATHERINE DODSON

An extremely contagious smile, an arresting twinkle of the eye, and a general happiness are but few of characteristics that make us love Dodson, better known to her friends as D. D. Although an exception to the adage that "great things come in small packages", she has poise and judgment that make her an outstanding addition to any assemblage.

She is equally at ease helping the freshmen with class meetings, hitting new dramatic highs in "sing", doing the conga at a pep rally, or efficiently presiding over the junior class meeting. She seems to put a part of herself into each of her tasks, making sure that they are done well and correctly.

None have more fun than she, whether it be by some noisy scheme in the dining hall or whether it be by the simple fun had in quietly talking or playing bridge, yet few have the power to move as deeply as she.

So to Mary Katherine Dodson, a girl of great spirit and animation, with a knack at getting along and a sincere interest in people—we raise our hearts in salutation, our new senior president.

We Are Seniors 1940-1941

September 25—Nancy Wolfe represented S. T. C. at Tobacco festival in South Boston.
October 2—Yates Carr and Mary Elizabeth Petticrew were elected to direct senior stunt in circus.
October 9—Yates Carr and Faye Brandon were tapped by A. K. G.
October 30—Helen McIlwaine reigned as Circus Queen. Yates Carr, Rosa Courter, "Liggie" Ellett, Pat Gibson, Chubby Heard, Jean Hoyer, Dot Rollins, Boonie Stevenson, Libby West, and Martha Whelchel were selected to represent S. T. C. in the 1941 edition of "Who's Who". Yates Carr and Dorothy Rollins were selected as co-chairmen for Mardi Gras.
November 7—Senior installation.
December 4—Ruth Lea Purdum led Senior Dance figure.
December 11—Elsye Berrye Yates was elected to reign as queen of Mardi Gras. Members of the court elected from the Senior Class were Betty Fahr,

Continued on Page 4

Vacation Days Ahead Mean Camp Days To "S.T.C.'ers"

As the last days of school come to an end, thoughts turn to vacation days . . . . . the time each year which brings rest, peace, and comfort to many. This welcome season is spent by numerous persons at summer camps where knowledge learned elsewhere is applied for others. Looking over the many students here at S. T. C. we are glad to see the interest they show in camp work.

Leaving on June 29 for an eight weeks stay at Camp Farwell is May Wertz. This marks May's second season. She will help instruct in music, swimming, canoeing, and junior sports. Camp Farwell, noted for its wonderful spirit, is open to girls aged from six to eighteen years. The camp is located at Wells River, Vermont. At the end of the camping season, the director will accompany the counsellors on a trip into Canada.

Ellen Ebel and Lucy Davis have both picked the same camp for the summer season . . . . . Camp Alkusiana, located at Milboro Springs, Virginia. "Ebo", a second year counsellor will assist in water sports, while Lucy will begin her first season helping with nature lore. The work of each counsellor is to help in recreation with the underprivliged children during the period July 2 to August 13.

Camp Shenandoah will have as its tennis and handicraft counsellor Cottie Radspinner. Shenandoah is located at Milborough Springs Virginia, near Clifton Forge, and has a season of eight weeks. This will be Cottie's first year.

Peggy Hughes leaves June 29 for a six weeks stay at Camp Pocahontas, Richmond Girl Scout camp, located at Bon Air, Virginia. Peggy, assistant water front director, has spent five years at Pocahontas as a camper and this will mark her second year as a counsellor. The camp accomodates about seventy-five girls with ages ranging up to seventeen years. Also at Pocahontas we find Alice Belote sighed up. She will be chairman of all camp programs for the season. This is Alice's first year here.

Pat Gibson is at present undecided whether or not she will further her scholastic knowledge at Columbia University or join the campers. . . . . but, perchance she does, the camp is Swatonah in the Pocono Mountains, Pennsylvania. Pat will be director of acquatics on the water front.

Located about six and a half miles from Richmond is Camp Merriewood Harrison, where Harriett Ball will spend the season instructing children aged from seven to twelve years. This is Harriett's first year, and she will leave on June 13.

Lillian German will return again on July 2 to instruct archery at Richmond Day Camp sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. for underprivileged children.

Traveling to the state of Maryland will be Lois Harrison who will work with athletics of the girls at Wincooshi. The season begins on July 1 and ends on August 22.

Back to Virginia and on the coast at Cape Henry Virginia, will journey Mildred Droste and Mary Evelyn Pearsall to Camp Goodspeed. Mildred will assist Shirley Pierce, third year instructor of aquatics, serving as a Senior Life Savior. Mary Evelyn will assist as an art instructor and Senior Life Saver. The season begins on July 29 and continues for eight weeks, but a special counsellor's week will be held preceding the season.

Only several blocks away from Goodspeed is Mrs. White's "Seashore Camp" where Nancy Pierpont will teach swimming on the waterfront for two months.

Mary Kathryn Zehmer will journey for her first season at Camp Mont Shenandoah located in the Shenandoah valley of Virginia about the middle of June. She will assist in archery instructing for the eight week period.

Red and White Victors in Color Cup Race

Red & White Cops Class Swim Meet

Dugger, Gaul, And Dupuy Led Teams

The inter-class swimming meet was won by Red and White over Green and White 36-17. The event took p'ace Thursday night, May 22, at 9 o'clock.

The 50-yd. free style was won for Red and White by Ruth Dugger, freshman. Other participants were Frances Parham, sophomore, and Nancy Dupuy, junior.

First place went to Red and White with Dorothy Gaul, freshman, winning the 50-yd. back stroke. Shirley Turner, sophomore, and Harriet Walker, junior, were the other contestants.

Nancy Dupuy, junior, crossed the line first in the 50-yd. breast stroke for Red and White. Her competitors were Ellen Ebel, sophomore, and Gloria Pollard, freshman.

Points went to Red and White for first place in the 75 yd. medley relay. Dorothy Gaul, Dorothy Darracott, and Ruth Dugger, all freshmen, composed the winning team. Shirley Turner, Frances Parham, and Ellen Ebel, all sophomores, were the opposing Green and White team.

Gloria Pollard, Dorothy Darracott, Shirley Pierce, and Ruth Dugger, all freshmen, made up the winning Red and White team for the 100-yd. medley relay. Shirley Turner, Ellen Ebel, Rosa'ie Rogers, and Frances Parham, all sophomores, composed the competing Green and White team.

Dorothy Gaul, freshman, won first place in the diving event for Red and White. Frances Mallory, sophomore, won second place for Green and White. Others participating in this event were Dorothy Darracott, Gloria Pollard, Nancy Dupuy, and Harriett Walker.

The winning of this event gives 10 points toward the color cup to Red and White.

Mary Katherine Zehmer who won the archery tournament for Red and White.

Even Classes Win Archery Tourney

Archery Champ Amassed 134 Points

Red and White chalked five more points toward the color cup last Thursday, May 22 when the final archery tournament was played off on the athletic field. The contest started at 4:30 and continued until 6 o'clock.

Buff Gunter, Mary Katherine Zehmer, and Nell Hurt represented the juniors; Ellen Ebel, the sophomores; and Sara Jeffreys, Dorothy Darracott, and Ruth Dugger, the freshmen. These contestants were qualified to participate in the tournament because they had received a sufficient number of practices.

A close victory was the result of the contest as Mary Katherine Zehmer scored one hundred and thirty-five points for first palce. Second place went to Dorothy Darracott with a score of one hundred and thirty-three points.

Eight Girls Receive Athletic Awards

The annual awarding of blazers took place last Saturday, May 24, in chapel. Crews Borden, who made the awards, explained that white blazers with the college seal are presented to girls with at least thirty-four points. White blazers with an old English "F" are awarded to those having fifty points.

To receive these points one must participate in hockey basketball, volleyball, tennis, pingpong, swimming, and archery including both varsity and general teams. This year no girl reached this requirement; however the blue blazer was awarded to eight girls. This award is made on the basis of two years participation on varsity team or for being a member of a championship basketball squad.

Girls meeting the requirements for the blue blazer include Jean Carr, Rosa Courter, Ann Ellett, Pat Gibson, Virginia Hill, Dot Johnson, Frances Parham, and Martha Roberts.

S. T. C. Horseshow Features Parade

Gunter, White Win First Place Awards

The S. T. C. Horseshow and Exhibit, held Thursday, May 29, at Longwood, was the opening event of the commencement exercises. Preceding the show a parade, led by the colored high school Drum and Bugle Corps, was held in Farmville. The town people of Farmville, Hampden-Sydney and State Teachers College were represented in the parade, as well as the Horse-Owners Club of Farmville. The judges for the show who were also in the parade were Miss Elizabeth Burger of Farmville, and Mr. R. W. Moss of Chase City.

The exhibit was opened with a skit in which Elizabeth Gunter, Catherine May, Katherine Gosney, Rebecca Spicer, Helen Seward, and Lulie Jones participated. The girls showing different forms of riding were Jane Scott, as a jockey seat; Nell Scott, side sadle seat; Aline Markland, five-gaited saddle horse; Ann Berry and Elizabeth Goodwin, riding as farmer and farmerette.

Those who participated in the wedding on horseback were May Frances Wynne as minister, Mae Wertz and Polly Hughes as bridesmaids; Li'lian German as maid-of-honor; Elizabeth Townsend, father of bride, Kay Spencer as bride; Nelle White as groom; Louisa Sanford as best man. Family and guests were composed of the members of the local Horse-Owners Club nd other town riders.

Following this was the formation composed of Elizabeth Townsend, Nelle White, Elizabeth Goodwin, Elizabeth Bunter, Hel-

Continued on Page 4

Green And White Defeated 35-25: Won Last Events

Captures Points For Swimming, Hockey, Archery

The color cup was presented to the Red and White team Saturday, May 24, during chapel for receiving the largest number of points throughout this past year in sport participation.

Red and White received a total of thirty-five points to that of twenty-five for Green and White. Red and White was winner of the cup last year.

Points received this year for the Green and White team were: basketball class team—10 points; basketball varsity—10 points; ping-pong—5 points.

For Red and White points were received for: hockey class team—10 points; swimming class team—10 points; swimming varsity team—5 points; archery—10 points. The points for archery and swimming were won last week.

Each year the colors of the winning team are placed on the trophy, which sits on the mantle in the Rotunda.

This year volley ball was not included in the color cup race as in previous years due to lack of participation on class teams. In order to make up a class team each girl must have at least eight scheduled practices. The junior class was the only class reaching this requirements, therefore class competition was impossible.

In considering points for the cup, it is necessary to find out just how much participation occurs in that particular sport.

• Sports Slants •

SENIOR SIDE LIGHTS

Four long years our seniors joined in college life here at Farmville. A lot can happen in this length of time, and to many there were days of sorrow as well as weeks of pleasure. The activities on our campus helped bring each closer to what we know as the "Farmville Spirit". Yes, the seniors of '41 have a real quality which will live with them for many years. The athletic activities have helped bring about this strong trait and so we will now look back over some of the histories of our "sporty" seniors.

About four years ago our school was welcomed by tall, slim, dark ROSA COURTER who entered into sports with zeal. During that short first year she played varsity squad basketball, was a member of the volleyball team and participated in the school water carnival. As time passed on, sophomore, junior and senior years rolled by and now Rosa has many exciting days to look back on. Having played on varsity basketball for three years she became captain for the season 40-41. A member of the H20 club, participant in class meets and varsity swimming team, active in class hockey and the riding club all go to make her what she is.

HELEN McILWAINE, known to her many friends and classmates as "Mooch", entered S. T. C. and at the same time the sports of the college. Possessed of an athletic quality, Mooch during her freshman year played on the hockey and baseball teams. She has that certain swing that makes a ball and racket meet . . . keen ability in tennis has been her chief characteristic, and too, ping pong is a real sport with her. The years did go by pretty fast, but she was always there with colors flying, either on the swimming team, golf course, volley ball team, in the track meet, practicing for a dance demonstration or instructing a number of determined tennis fans. Her ability and service will live in the memories of all who know her.

Whether one is tall, medium, or short doesn't really matter because we've seen them all. To our campus came FLORENCE LEE, small but able and ready to go at all times. She played hockey, volley ball, and baseball her first year, and from then on she kept on going. She has been a member of the basketball team and hockey team for the last three years, participant in the ping pong tournaments, volley ball team and through her work and cooperation athletic determination has grown

Grace and poise is a fine characteristic and with it we find MARY ELIZABETH PETTICREW, who for four years has worked and given something . . . more than we will ever realize to the modern dance club of S. T. C. This senior year, she was president of Orchesis. A member of the H20 club, active in water activities, volley ball, and baseball. Mary Elizabath leaves us, but will carry with her that true spirit which she showed during four years of college life.

PAT GIBSON was into about every bit of college life and to the athletics she played her part. For four years she added her part in the varsity basketball game, played hockey, baseball, and volleyball. She was manager of swimming her sophomore year as well as a member of the H20 club. Pat will remain in our memory for a long while for her sincerity and attitude.

Special for S. T. C. Girls

Cold Plate Lunches

25c—30c—35c

Try One!

CALL 200 WE DELIVER

COLLEGE SHOPPE

Success to the Seniors AND Graduating Sophs

It Has Been a Pleasure To Serve You

ROSE'S

5c—10c—25c Store

On the Corner

We Wish You A Very Happy Vacation

Shannon's

We Hope To See You In September

MARTIN THE JEWELER

S. T. C. GIRLS—

WE APPRECIATE YOUR BUSINESS

S. T. C. STUDENTS:

We Appreciate Your Patronage

STEVE'S BOWLING ALLEY

FARMVILLE, VA.

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop

"From old to new with any shoes"

Only First Class Material Used

All Work Guaranteed

WILLIS, the Florist

Flowers for All Occasions

PHONES 181—273

Green Front Food Store

Staple and fancy groceries

Fruits and Vegetables

Phone 139

BROOMSTICK SKIRTS $1.19

Slips, Panties and Costume Jewelry for the "Sweet Girl Graduate"

DOROTHY MAY STORE

We Appreciate Your Patronage During the Past Year!

Hope to see You Again in September

THE HUB DEPT. STORE

ADIOS

TO THE

Graduating Class of '41

We are proud to have had you with us for the last four years, and hope that your short stay has been a pleasant one. May we hope for each one of you, many years of success and happiness, and may you in the years to come look back upon your stay in Farmville and think of it as a worthwhile venture.

DAVIDSON'S

Class 1941 Bids Farewell at Chapel

On Friday morning, May 23, the first of the traditional rites of S. T. C. at graduation time, was observed by the seniors of '41 when they presented their Senior Chapel.

Robed in caps and gowns, the class marched into the auditorium to the Alma Mater. Dr. J. L. Jarman, Mr. Raymond French, classman, the class officers, Ruth Lea Purdum, president; Helen Seward, vice - president; Boonie Stephenson, secretary; and Betty Fahr, treasurer; and Rev. A. H. Hollingsworth, who conducted the devotions, were seated upon the stage.

To the delight of the seniors, as well as to that of the other classes, Dr. Jarman sang his challenge to the class in "Be the Best of Whatever You Are" and "Keep on Hopin'".

The class president, Ruth Lea Purdum, bade farewell to the remaining classes, and expressed the regret of the seniors at leaving, but their joy in their wider opportunity for service.

Mary Katherine Dodson, president of the junior class, responded in behalf of her class. She then announced that Liggie Ellett, out-going president of the House Council, had been selected as the honorary member of the in-coming senior class.

Opening with "Green and White" the seniors presented a farewell song program, concluding with the traditional "Joys We Have Known," and "Farewell to Thee".

As the seniors formed an archway with their caps, the juniors marched underneath, having the privilege of marching to "Alma Mater".

Cogbill Announces Sorority Averages

Miss Carolyn Cogbill, advisor of the Pan-Hellenic Council, announced the winter quarter averages for the sororities at S.T.C.

The averages are Mu Omega, 1.87; Phi Zeta Sigma, 1.86; Gamma Theta, 1.73; Alpha Sigma Tau, 1.719; Theta Sigma Upsilon, 1.711; Sigma Sigma Sigma, 1.65; Alpha Sigma Alpha, 1.62; and Pi Kappa Sigma, 1.59.

Seniors Entertained At Reception Monday

Miss Mary White Cox entertained the seniors, their parents and friends at a reception Monday night June 2, at 8:30 o'clock in the Student Building Lounge.

In the receiving line were Miss Cox, Dr. J. L. Jarman, Ruth Lea Purdum, Caralie Nelson, Jean Moyer, Miss Rachel Royall, Mr. Charles French, and Mary Katherine Dodson.

Officers of the student government for next year assisted in serving and receiving at the door.

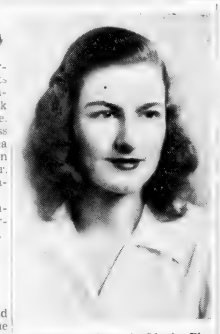
Seniors Attend Tea Sunday Afternoon

Miss Mary White Cox, head of the Home, entertained the graduating seniors and sophomores, their guests, and members of the faculty, administration, and home department at a tea in the parlor of the senior building Sunday afternoon, June 1, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Eva H. Warren, Mrs. Hallie Laing, and Miss Rachel Royall received at the door.

Members of the student council for next year assisted in serving.

Horse Show



Continued from Page 3

en Seward, and Kay Spencer.

In the Horsemanship classes four ribbons and a trophy were given in each class. In the Beginnes' class Carolyn Huddle placed first; second, Patsy Smith; third, Boonie Stevenson; fourth, Charlotte Andrews. In the Intermediate class May Wertz placed first; second, Rebecca Spicer; third, Catherine May; fourth, Catherine Gosney. Nelle White placed first in the Advanced class; Lillian German, second; Elizabeth Gunter, third; Aline Markland, fourth.

In the Open Class any girl in the college who wished to participate could do so. Elizabeth Gunter placed first; second, Lillian German; third, Aline Markland; fourth, Gloria Pollard.

The Pagasus Riding Club of S. T. C., with Miss Stella Fox as instructor and director, which sponsored the show wishes to thank the local town riders for their courtesy and participation in the show.

Pictured above is Liggie Ellett who was selected as honorary member of the Class '42.

Tribute to Miss Rice

Continued from Page 1

for student aid, she has dealt sympathetically and effectively with human and personal problems and helped many needy students in securing training for their life work. In the church as a Christian teacher, and in state and national organizations as a progressive educator, she has exemplified the spirit and influence of the Farmville institution. In Virginia she has worked as a pioneer in the use of the direct method of teaching Latin. In the class room she has not only shared her scholarship and imparted to her students something of her own proficiency, but as her many students testify, she has also molded their characters and imbued their souls with the fineness of her own spirit.

To have known and worked beside such a teacher with such a record and to have the opportunity to render homage to her is an honor and privilege for which we are happy and grateful."

Committee—Martha W. Coulling, Lila V. London, Sarah B. Tucker, Carrie Brown Taliaferro, James M. Grainger, chairman.

Alpha chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma will be hostess for the first regional meet of that sorority next fall. The meeting will be held at Farmville the last of October or the first of November.

Degrees Awarded

Continued from Page 1

Rachel Wiles DeBerry, Blackstone; Helen Virginia Dooley, Bedford; Nan Ellen Duer, Toano; Jane Frances Dudley, Farmville; Sally Kerr Dunlap, Lexington; Mary Sue Edmondson, Baskerville; Frances Leigh Ellett, Roanoke; Betty Beale Fahr, Richmond; Patsy Bordon Fletcher, Warrenton; Carolyn Frances Ford, Virginia; Natalie Francis, Boykins; Nancy Louise Fulton, Danville.

Annie Elizabeth Garrett, London Bridge; Mrs. Frances Walmsley Gee, Farmville; Anna Davis George, Portsmouth; Margaretta Gerlaugh, Martinsville; Hazel Patricia Gibson, Long Island City, N. Y.; Coralee Miller Gilliam, Pamplin; Annie Elizabeth Glasgow, Roanoke; Marjorie Gooden, Lynchburg; Gene Grabeel, Rose Hill; Effie Louise Grant, Newport News; and Helen Gray, Chatham.

Gertrude Henkel Hale, Front Royal; Martha Louise Hall, Roanoke; Nell Sue Hall, Roanoke; Harriette Ann Haskins, Hampton; Marian Lee Heard, Danville; Marjorie Eileen Holt, Matoaca; Emily Hume Hoskins, Lynchburg; Virginia Asenath Howell, Church Road; Frances Eugenia Hudgins, Nutbush; Emmo May Hutchinson, Harbarton; and Julia Sarah Hutchinson, Craddockville.

Betty Lou Jackson, High Point, N. C.; Margaret E. James, Kendall Grove; Katherine Eppes Jarratt, Stony Creek; Anna Margaret Johnson, Covesville, Mary Jane Jolliffe, Stephenson; Martha Jane Jones, Monterey; Frances Elizabeth Keck, Danville; Elva Mae Kibler, Chase City; Rachel Wilson Kibler, Alberta; and Evelyn Krening, Wytheville.

Roberta Fulton Latture, Lexington; Mrs. Margaret Robinson Lawrence, Richmond; Florence Whiting Lee, Hampton; Ruth Loving, Boykins; Mary Hille McCoy, Monterey; Madge Vass McFall, Danville; Helen Randolph McIlwaine, Petersburg; Bertha Dotger McLaughlin, Charlotte, N. C.; Jean Bruce Martin, Lanexa; Ernestine Henley Meacham, Richmond; Dorothy Lee Menefee, Roanoke; Genevieve Rachel Moody, Petersburg; and Jean Vernon Moyer, Portsmouth.

Caralie Nelson, South Boston; Edith Burnell Hatchett Nunnally, Richmond; Alma Louise Oakes, Kenbridge; Emily Louise Owen, Jarratt; Louise Earle Painter, Roanoke; Mary Elizabeth Pettlcrew, Roanoke; Catherine Curle Phillips, Hampton; Agnes Evangeline Pickral, Chatham; Nancy Clayton Pierpont, Salem; Frances Beatrice Pritchett, Petersburg; Mary Marshall Proslse, Wilson; and Ruth Lea Purdum, Danville.

Evelyn Quillin, Farmville; Virginia Gray Richards, Petersburg; Dorothy Buhrman Rollins, Arlington; M. Lucile Royster, Goode; Martha Anne Saunders, Blue Ridge; Nancy Hope Saville, Murat; Helen Kevan Seward, Marion; Mrs. Nellie Russell Shelton, Farmville; Sarah Mae Sibold, Newport; Virginia C. Simmons, Farmville; Dorothy Juanita Smith, Rice; Keith Marshall Smith, Richmond; Martha Virginia Smith, Cape Charles; Pattie Venable Smith, Charlotte Court House; Florence Boone Stevenson, Richmond; Alfreda Strick, Farmville; and Virginia Sydnor, Mannboro.

Mary Pearl Price Thompson, High Point, N. C.; Evelyn Marie Thorington, Cape Charles; Lucy Bridgforth Tucker, Drakes Branch; Jean Snow Upshur, Cheriton; Elizabeth Vincent, Suffolk.

Dell Kennard Warren, Midland; Georgia Virginia Watson, Farmville; Helen Wentworth Watts, Lynchburg; Mary Annabel Wescott, Onley; Sarah Elizabeth West, Portsmouth; and Roberta Elma Wheeler, Lynchburg.

Martha Bearden Whelchel, Hampton; Forrestine Whitaker, Hilton Village; Evelyn Patricia Whitlock, Mt. Airy, N. C.; Lora Elizabeth Williams, Portsmouth; Bess Rouse Windham, Petersburg; Ruth Whedbee Winstead, Newport News; Nancy Jane Wolfe, Lynchburg; Reba Mary Woodbridge, Chatham; Marion Land Worsham, Danville; Elsye Berry Yates, Suffolk; and Anna Lathrop Young, Hebron.

Graduates Leave Gifts To College

In accordance with previous custom, the senior class and graduating sophomores presented at class day exercises their gift to the school. The seniors presented a motion picture machine to the school and also a check to the Alumnae Association. The graduating sophomores are adding to the silver that was presented last year and are giving a silver water pitcher and a pair of silver candlesticks.

The motion picture technicolor camera is to be used to record such traditional and endearing typical incidents as May Day, the horse show, the color rush, hockey games and all activities that spell S. T. C. These pictures will be a permanent record of the life here at our beloved Alma Mater. Also, they will be shown in many high schools in order to create an interest in our school by depicting the true life here.

The alumnae check is to be used to help publish the Alumnae Magazine. Ruth Lea Purdum presented this check to Miss Mary Peck, president of the alumnae association.

The sophomores' gift of silver will be used at all college teas and entertainments.

Do You Remember?

Continued from Page 2

Louise Painter, Nancy Pierpont, and Nancy Wolfe, Mary E. Petticrew was elected May Day chairman.

January 22—Nancy Pierpont and Nancy Wolfe were elected to be May Queen and Maid of Honor, respectively. The senior court members elected were: Martha Smith, Mary Elizabeth Petticrew, Helene Stras, Anne Benton, Betty Fahr, Frances Ellett, Elsye Berrye Yates, Louise Painter and Faye Brandon

February 5—Thelma Courtney and Helen Seward were tapped by A. K. G.

February 22—Senior class presented annual sing entitled G. W. T. W. or Gee Whiz.... Twice Widowed!

March 6—Senior Class captured first honors in the annual Sing contest.

April 9 — Frances Eliet was selected to represent S. T. C. at the annual Apple Blossom Festival to be held in Winchester.

May 23—Senior chapel.

May 24—Senior Sing.

May 31—Junior-Senior Prom.

June 3—Graduation.

Officers Bid Farewell

Continued from Page 2

people, and to help others. It has instilled in me a great challenge to grow spiritually, metally, and physically. This is the beauty of living. Finishing four years in college is not the end but only a beginning—the beginning of a search for the best, a desire to always live and grow.

COME IN AND SEE—
Helena Rubinstein's
KEYS TO BEAUTY
(three lipsticks)
Price—$1.00
A real graduation Gift
SOUTHSIDE DRUG STORE

S. A. Legus, Tailor
Cleaning—Pressing—Repairing
We call for and deliver
All Work Guaranteed
Phone 203

C. E. CHAPPELL CO.
Visit us for the
BEST FOUNTAIN SERVICE

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

Patronize
Patterson Drug Co.
—AT—
Money Saving Prices
—FOR—
Drugs and Toiletries
Expert
Prescription Service
Clean Fountain
Featuring
Southern Dairies "Velvet"
Ice Cream
238 MAIN STREET

Come to see us
FOR
A complete Line
OF
SANDWICH SPREADS,
PKG. CHEESE & JAR CHEESE
The Economy
Food Store

KLEANWELL
Cleaners & Tailors
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling
Main St. Opposite P. O.
Phone 98
Under the management of
"CHARLIE" JOHNSON

Planters Bank & Trust Company
Farmville, Virginia
Member: Federal Reserve System
Federal Deposit Ins. Corp.

GRAY'S DRUG STORE
PURE DRUGS MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA
Quality—Price—Service

Congratulations!
Seniors
AND Graduating Sophomores
NEWBERRY'S
5c—10c—25c
Store

APPRECIATION
To the Member of the Faculty and the Student Body:
For the Business You Gave Us This Year
BUTCHER'S

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

And So We Are Seniors

Continued from Page 2

"super" air to the occasion.

What does the date January 24 bring to your mind? Oh, you're right—the big snow and all of us snowbound on the hill. Remember that Yankee, Pat Gibson, vowing twenty-nine inches of snow wasn't anything to get excited about, braving the deep to break a path for Charlie, and bringing breakfast over to us in boxes? And after trenches were made, we all rushed downtown to buy riding pants and boots!

Elections had a special significance for us that spring, for our girls became the major officers. Caralie was elected president of the student body; Jean Moyer of the Y. W. C. A.; Liggie Ellett and Rosa Courter of the House Council and Athletic Association, respectively. Pat Gibson became editor-in-chief of the Rotunda with Libby West and Josa Carlton as assistants; "The Colonnade" chose Yates Carr as business manager. Student Standards looked to Martha Whelchel for leadership, and the Dramatic Club to Boo Barham. Twice more Alpha Kappa Gamma found among us leaders—Jean Moyer, Pat Gibson, Rosa Courter, Boo Barham, Martha Whelchel, Chubby Heard, Dotty Rollins, and Libby West. Senior chapel, our tearful departure from the auditorium under the arch of academic caps, and our serenade to the seniors that night brought us to the realization that we were in the final round of our college life.

At the head of the list this time with no one to look up to, we as seniors accepted the challenge of the class of 1940 to "carry on" in their footsteps, and with the same officers, set about our task. After Dr. Jarman officially installed us as seniors, Friday became our Day of Dignity as we marched down the chapel aisle, careful to keep our caps from taking a tumble. (Footnote on installation: That was the night the entire town was plunged into darkness, and we had to group our way over to the Rotunda lighted by an old-fashioned lantern. 'Twas so confusing to Miss Taliaferro she mistook a flashlight for a candle and wasted several breaths trying to extinguish that modern convenience.)

Circus time came once more, and Helen "Mac" reigning as queen, represented "Miss America" in the patriotic pageant.

Senior dance was another milestone in the direction of June. Dotty's decorations of caps, diplomas, and A's on teaching (fond hope of every senior) laid a fitting background for the figure led by Ruth Lea and Jack. Our honorary member, the "Ma dame", returned to assisted with the figure.

"G. W. T. W." translated into "Gee Whiz, Twice Widowed" by Painter as heroine "Crimson Sahara" and Gibson Girl "Rhett Butler", made our fing' 'ing a real success.

The annual Spanish Masquerade Ball brought forth Elsye Berrye Yates as queen of the Mardi Gras celebration. We were feeling in the mood for queens, so Mary Elizabeth Petticrew headed the committee on arrangement for the May Day program. Nancy Pierpont as the "Spirit of America" reigned over the pageant of nations with Betty Fahr, Louise Painter, Liggie Ellett, Martha Smith, Helene Stras, and "Petty" as representatives in the court.

Graduation! What a meaning the word carries. Commencement—yes—but the end of so many things: hours of study mingled with play—mobs at the post office—skipping across the street for vespers in the Episcopal Church. Four years—our college generation—have given to each of us different experiences to be recorded in diaries and cherished throughout our life—Chubby's rare representation of "Only a Bird in a Guilded Cage"—classes with Martha the Reformer who can always challenge an opinion—The Hall Twins deciding what to wear the next day—Caralie and Jean off on a lark—friendships.

We accepted the challenge of the class of 1940 and leave it in turn as a rightful heritage of the class of 1942—The challenge and the privilege of "carrying on." And with it, one phrase which we chose early in our college life as a guide in all our undertakings: "Be the best of whatever you are."

START

DETECTED ERRORS ON THIS FILM MARKED OUT IN PERMANENT INK.

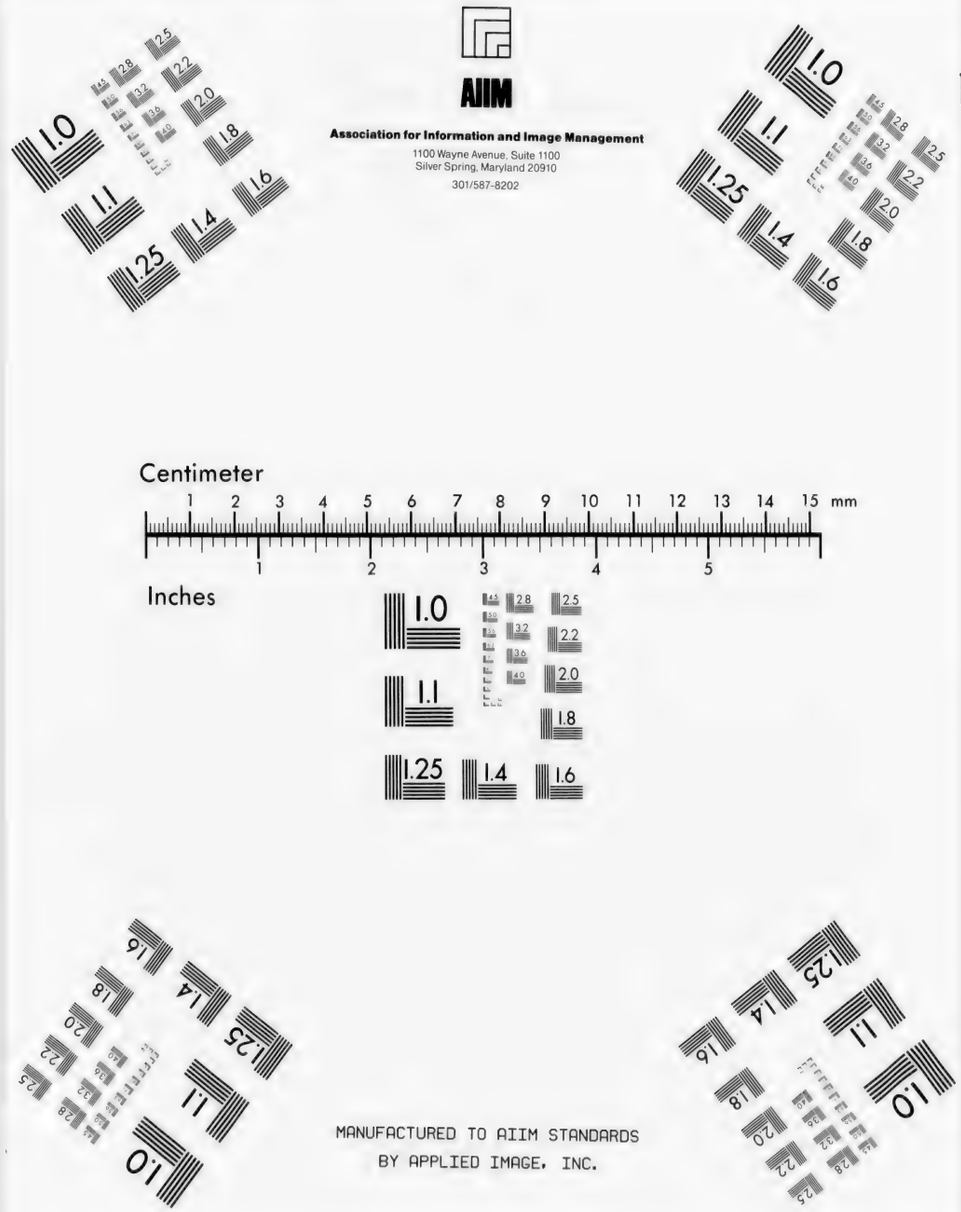
THE CORRECTIONS FOR DETECTED ERRORS APPEAR AT THE END OF THE ROLL AND ARE PRECEDED BY A RECORD ADDITION SHEET.

Microfilmed by TPS Imaging Solutions

110 Vista Centre Drive, Forest, VA. (804) 385-4600

R-139C

CERTIFICATE OF AUTHENTICITY



THIS IS TO CERTIFY that the microphotographs appearing on this Film-File (Roll Number 03 **)
starting with "The Rotunda" Vols. 14-16 1933-1937
and ending with _____ are accurate and complete reproductions of the records of (Company and Department) Longwood College Library
_____
as delivered in the regular course of business for photographing.

Date Produced: 10 / 19 / 95 (Month) (Day) (Year)
Camera Operator: Daryl Crouch
TPS Job No#. RP19546
Camera: Type MRG No#. 2
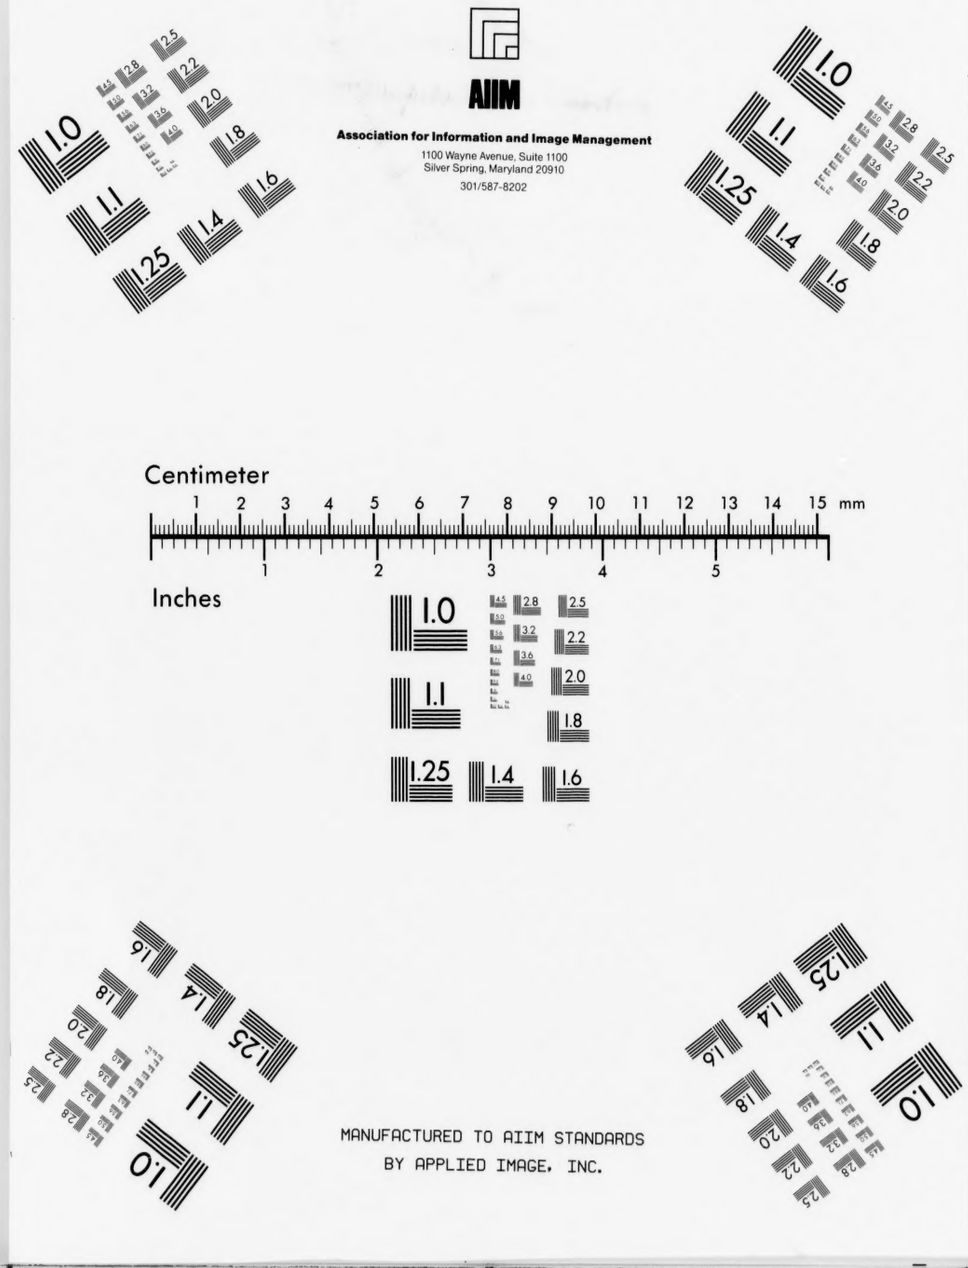
Film Unit No#. MRG-2
Original Box, Tube, Container Number(s) _____

Microfilmed by TPS Imaging Solutions
110 Vista Centre Drive, Forest, VA. 24551 (804) 385-4600
1259 Williamson Road, SE, Roanoke, VA 24013 (703) 342-3659

R-126B D.C.



B² A B¹ B¹ A B²

AIIM
Association for Information and Image Management
1100 Wayne Avenue, Suite 1100
Silver Spring, Maryland 20910
301/587-8202
Centimeter
1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 mm
Inches
1 2 3 4 5
MANUFACTURED TO AIIM STANDARDS
BY APPLIED IMAGE, INC.

B2 A B1 B1 A B2

B 2
A
B 1
B 1
A
B 2

B2
A
B1
B1
A
B2

AIIM
Association for Information and Image Management
1100 Wayne Avenue, Suite 1100
Silver Spring, Maryland 20910
301/587-8202
Centimeter
1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 mm
Inches
1 2 3 4 5
MANUFACTURED TO AIIM STANDARDS
BY APPLIED IMAGE, INC.

B2 A B1 B1 A B2

CERTIFICATE OF AUTHENTICITY

THIS IS TO CERTIFY that the microphotographs appearing on this Film-File (Roll Number 03 **)
starting with "The Rotunda" Vols. 14-16 1933-1937
and ending with "The Rotunda" Vols. 17-20 1937-1941
are accurate and complete reproductions of the records of (Company and Department) Longwood College Library

as delivered in the regular course of business for photographing.

Date Produced: 10 / 19 / 95 (Month) (Day) (Year)
Camera Operator: Daryl Crouch
TPS Job No#. RP19546
Camera: Type MRG No#. 2
Film Unit No#. MRG-2
Original Box, Tube, Container Number(s) ____

Microfilmed by TPS Imaging Solutions
110 Vista Centre Drive, Forest, VA. 24551 (804) 385-4600
1259 Williamson Road, SE, Roanoke, VA 24013 (703) 342-3659

R-126B D.C.

B 2 A B 1 B 1 A B 2

END

Microfilmed by TPS Imaging Solutions

110 Vista Centre Drive, Forest, VA. (804) 385-4600

R-140B

